The extent of adulteration is fully 15 per cent., of which 2 per cent. is of a character injurious to health. But to furnish 65,000,000 people with food, drink and drugs costs not less than $6,760,000,000, and it is found that the amount of adulteration reaches the immense sum of $1,014,000,000 annually. As at least 2 per cent. of the whole is deleterious to health, $135,200,000 constitutes the annual amount paid by the American people for sacrifice of their lives or injury of their health. As there exists no more serious or exhaustive drain upon the resources of the people than the adulteration of their food and drug products, the Federal Government should enact a law to prevent the transportation of misbranded, poisonous, or deleterious food and drug products from one state or territory into another, not interfering with the police powers of the state. This being done, the various state laws would become effective, and by systematic effort on the part of officials or honest dealers and manufacturers adulterations would be reduced to a minimum and millions of dollars saved annually to the country. The cost of execution of such a law would be moderate, and should be borne by the manufacturers of food and drug products.

TORONTO MARKET.

HOUSE trade this week has been less than usual, as fewer buyers are in town. Travelers have mostly departed, however, and orders are coming in from them and per mail. Both these classes are for very small parcels, as retailers do not seem to have broken heavily into their stocks Nevertheless, the sorting trade this season is expected to be brisk, because dealers have bought very lightly in advance, and as soon as they experience an increase of trade they will be forced to sort up often and in a general and extensive way. Fall orders to date are over 25 per cent. less than last year. This must be made up by an increase in the sorting orders.

Payments are entirely satisfactory, however. This, of course, is a natural result of close sailing to the wind by retailers generally. They have bought less and sold more and consequently can pay for more.

Woolen underwear has taken a boom since the price of wool stiffened. Jobbers and retailers seem to have become satisfied that prices could go no lower under present circumstances and they have bought more freely. Quite a number of manufacturers have cleaned out stock lots and overmakes to the jobbers at prices which has further accelerated this activity. Woolens and other Canadian staples are all active and no further drop in prices is to be reported, nor is one expected.

MONTREAL MARKET.

The cooler weather during the past week has had the effect of bringing in a number of country orders, both from travelers and merchants, direct for all lines of fall and winter fabrics.

The warehouses have also continued to receive a number of direct visits from buyers personally who have placed good sorting orders. In fact, it is the general impression that travelers who have just started out on their sorting trip will meet with much better success than on their placing one.

Prices are fairly steady, notably so on cloakings, blankets and woolen goods of all kinds, all of which have met a decidedly improved demand.

Remittances continue much the same as they were, but better returns are expected next month.

The Collar Expanded

Our latest specialty for the tea trade is a 1-lb. Folding Caddy, on which we have just been granted a patent by the Dominion Government. It is in appearance an exact representation of a regular China tea chest with matting, and as a tea package beats everything on the market for three reasons :

1st. Because it is much cheaper than a hand-made box.

2nd. Because being a knock-down box it takes up little or no room, and

3rd. Because being a machine-made box there is no paste or glue to taint the tea, which has been one of the greatest objections to the old style tea caddies.

VALENCIA RAISINS BADLY DAMAGED.

DISAPPOINTING has heen the Valencia raisin crop this season. When the crop was sufficiently advanced for an opinion to be formed of its extent with a reasonable degree of certainty, the promise was for a good crop of good quality. And up to within a few weeks ago there appeared to be every probability of these predictions being realized. Then came rumors, duly chronicled in THE GROCER, of damage to the crop by rain.

This week THE GROCER is in possession of data from a reliable source giving more definite information in the premises.

It shows the injury to be of a serious charaacter. The crop itself is placed at 600,000 quintals or hundred weights, but of this quantity one-half is held to be damaged.

As far as quantity is concerned the present crop is about the same as that of 1892, but it is 300,000 boxes less than the crop of 1891, and over 1,000,000 boxes less than in 1890. Last year's yield, it will be remembered, was a small one and insufficient for the demand.

With half of the present year's crop damaged and the market bare of 1893 fruit, it is obvious what kind of a market may be expected for the season 1894-5.

Already the market is strong, and greater strength is expected to develop in the near future.

It is evident that the trade will require to be watchful if it is to avoid having damaged fruit palmed off upon it.

THE APPLE SITUATION.

AN uncertain quantity has been the apple situation all the season. All crops whose weal or woe depend upon the whims of the weather always are to a greater or less extent, but this year the situation regarding the apple crop seems to have been more than usually susceptible to change.

Leaving aside the early conditions, a few weeks ago the crop in Canada was being retarded in its growth by the drouth, resulting in the p omise of smaller quantity of exportable fruit than was anticipated. Then the rain came, and with it an improvement in the quality of the fruit. But within the last few days a hurricane sweeps over the country, and again an uncertainty is created. Returns at the time of writing are not to hand regarding the area of Sunday's wind storm, or wh t damage it may have done to the apple crop. But in districts just west of Toronto heard from large quantities of apples were blown from the branches. In some places it is estimated that the trees were deprived of one-third their load. The apples, however, that were thrown to the ground were largely worm-eaten and deformed fruit. If this proves to be characteristic of all places where the storm touched, the quantity of exportable apples will probably not be materially reduced. At any rate there is no possible danger of a shortage of common fruit. But even if the quantity of fruit suitable for the export trade should be largely reduced, it will probably result in an appreciation of values.

If all accounts are true an advance in prices would be particularly welcomed by some people. While the drouth was obtaining, some buyers, it seems, sent their agents through the country purchasing all the fruit they could lay their hands upon. Then, when it became evident that the crop was turning out better than was expected some of them became alarmed and have been looking around for somebody to assume their contracts.

As the season advances, the situation in Europe does not change for the benefit of the Canadian exporter. True, mail advices received this week state that Canadian apples that have been sold in England have realized good prices, but cables bring the intelligence that the prices obtained on the London market on Friday last would not allow shippers a profit. Furthermore, private advices state that while the apple crop both in England and on the Continent is short, it is turning out better than was anticipated. Then it must be remembered that the United States will this season have a larger quantity of apples for export than ever before.

One authority in London (Eng.) estimates that the United States, from two ports alone, will send nearly 2,000,000 barrels of apples to the English market. But this is probably a wide guess.

Last year England all told took but 110,-038 barrels of apples from the United States and Canada together, while her total imports from all countries were but 1,175,000 barrels. Granted that the apple crop in Great Britain is the shortest in 20 years, it is obvious that even the attempt to place the quantity of apples on that market, as it is said the United States proposes to do, would send prices down to a point that would stop further shipments.

The United States will ship large quantities of apples to Great Britain. No one doubts that, but a large quantity does not mean nearly 2,000,000 barrels. In the meantime, however, the situation does not appear to be very promising for the Canadian exporter.

A MISTAKEN IDEA.

AN impression appears to obtain in some quarters that the paramount object of the convention held in Toronto last week was to deepen the canals on the St. Lawrence system in order to bring the entreport of the country some hundreds of miles further west—to Toronto, for instance.

This is a mistaken idea. Anyone who followed the discussion scarcely needs not be told this, while the co-operation in the deliberations of delegates from Chicago, Duluth, Minneapolis and St. Paul gives the assertion a further denial.

The convention was to discuss ways and means of enlarging and deepening the waterways from the head of inland navigation to the sea, and thus creating the desideratum of lower freights for the products of the "Golden West."

There are men who dream of seeing ocean vessels of mammoth proportions loading and unloading freight at Toronto, Hamilton, Chicago, Duluth and other inland cities. And he would be a rash man who would say that such things cannot be. But it is another thing to ascribe as the object of the convention's existence the furtherance of this scheme.

What the convention was concerned about, and what the association which emanated from it has set i self to accomplish is the getting of the big grain-carrying vessels that ply the upper lakes down to the entreports without breaking bulk and not the entreports into the upper lakes. And this will redound to the advantage of the entreports as well as to the farmers, the vessel-owners, and the trade of the country in general.

DISHONEST DEBTORS.

IT is a serious thing when the tide turns against a man in business. But it is a still more serious thing when the merchant thus placed resorts to dishonest practices in order that out of the wreck he may save unto himself the lion's share, leaving the remnants for his creditors to gather up.

One of the methods commonly pra tised for accomplishing this end is the transference by the insolvent—yes, and by the solvent, too—of real estate to his wife.

Sometimes the court defeats these little games. We had an evidence of this in Toronto last week.

Joseph Dilworth carried on for a number of years a, seemingly at least, successful retail drug business in King street. Not satisfied with his drug business alone, he started a so-called wholesale grocery warehouse in Front street, still retaining his drug business. The "wholesale grocery warehouse" is alleged to have been nothing short of a supply house for the Patrons.

At any rate, as a wholesale grocer, Mr. Dilworth's career was comparatively brief. In a word, he failed; and dragged down with him his drug business, but the building in whi h the drug business was carried on he tried to save by conveying it to his wife. Against this the creditors demurred And last week the courts sustained them, declaring the transfer fraudulent and void. It is, however, but fair to state that Mrs. Dilworth had a claim for $4,300 against her husband's estate, which the court allowed.

The man who conveys any part of his assets to his wife or anybody else is a thief, and the law should treat him as such; but the trouble is he is looked upon more as an acute financier than what he really is, an appropriator of other men's goods.

The law should do with the man who attempts to defraud his creditors out of $4,000 the same as it would with the man who steals $4: Put him in jail.

WORKING GROCERIES AND MEATS TOGETHER.

VERY few of the New Brunswick grocers handle liquors, nor have they for many years. It is a separate trade with them. On the other hand they differ from the western trade in that they go extensively into fish and meat. Nearly all the best stores have butcher shops attached. These are the cleanest and sweetest shops THE GROCER has ever seen. They usually have separate entrances, but are connected with the grocery store by a wire screen door which permits a free passage of air but excludes the flies.

These, however, do not give much trouble to business men who take pains to keep down the nuisan e. In fact, the presence of numerous flies or their deposits is frequently a sign of a careless dealer. One who is too lazy to exterminate flies is generally too indolent to look after his business.

It is natural that groceries, vegetables and meats should run together. The one would draw trade to the other. It is an easy trade to handle and there is no dead stock, unless it be a few decayed vegetables. In cities and towns, as well as in all large villages, the retail butchers are supplied by wholesale dealers, who buy the live stock and slaughter them. They will cut meat in any style and supply any quantity to suit retail buyers. The retailer usually receives his supply every morning, but he can often have his order increased later in the day, if necessary. With a good refrigerator he can carry an overstock from day to day. Many of them prefer doing this, to improve the meat. Very fresh meat is always tough. A day or two in the cooler makes it tender, and much more delicious. This does not mean that it should be frozen; that spoils it.

There is not much experience required to handle meat purchased from wholesale dealers in small quantities. We know of one grocer who spent an hour every day at his wholesale butcher's slaughter-house in cutting up carcasses and learning the details. Another man sent his clerk there. This is advisable but not necessary.

WE HAIL THEE!

THE American Grocer is always a welcome guest at the table of the CANADIAN GROCER, but the current number is seven times welcome. In fact, we cannot enthuse too much over it. No grocery paper ever came out of the United States like unto it; and it will take a mighty clever publisher to ever get out a better one. The American Grocer has just been celebrating its twenty-fifth birthday, and in order to fittingly commemorate the occasion, it appears with 94 pages. But it is not the size that is the unique feature of the journal. It is its appearance and subject matter that first draw forth one's admiration. The cover is a beaut ful exemplification of the lithographer's art, and the articles, which show patient research into many matters appertaining to the grocery trade, are ably written and profusely illustrated. The 1894 special number of the American Grocer will be kept in the archives of THE CANADIAN GROCER for inspiration and reference.

OCEAN TO OCEAN.

Mr. J. Cameron, representing several trade journals published in Toronto by The MacLean Publishing Co., was in town on Friday last. The journals are THE HARDWARE MERCHANT, THE CANADIAN GROCER, BOOKS AND NOTIONS, THE DRY GOODS REVIEW and PRINTER AND PUBLISHER. He got a large list of new subscribers in town, and many renewals. The journals are all very helpful to the respective businesses, and should receive large circulations. Mr. Cameron will go as far as Victoria.—Elkhorn (Man.) Advocate.

Mr. J. Cameron, representing the MacLean Publishing Co., Toronto, Trade Journal Publishers, was in town last week. He is going through to the coast, and states that so far he has met with nothing but praise of the several journals published by his company. As regards PRINTER AND PUBLISHER, we may say we are more than satisfied with it, and consider no printer should be without it.—Virden (Man.) Advance.

IT'S COMING.

IT'S coming. October 5th will see it. That is, the Fall Number of THE CANADIAN GROCER will make its appearance on that date. We have told you all about its handsome and unique cover and the special features it would contain. In another week it will be in your hands. And when you get it "read, mark, learn and inwardly digest" its contents. Peruse the advertisements; they will give you information for buying and pointers on how to write your own "ads." The special articles will of course interest you, and the markets always receive your careful attention.

A BAD FAILURE.

THE failure of the British American Starch Company, Brantford, is a bad one. The general creditors will get nothing.

At the adjourned meeting held 19th inst. at the office of Assignee Reid the statement presented showed liabilities of $113,190.45, of which $65,580.68 was secured. The mortgage and interest indebtedness is $16,718.73. The assets are $50,700.98, leaving a deficit of $13,628.21.

The estate is to be wound up, and negotiations are said to be in progress with a view to induce one of the existing starch companies to take over the plant and stock.

The trouble with the concern from the first was that it never had sufficient capital to carry on the business. The principal men who composed the company had plenty and to spare of this world's goods, but they refused to put enough into the starch factory to make it successful. It is said that in the first place they took over the business because they were compelled to, and in the second place rumor has it that they were never altogether satisfied with the management. Those who had business with the firm were not, of late years at any rate, obligations being frequently ignored.

FIRMNESS IN CANNED GOODS.

"THERE is," said a leading Montreal broker to THE GROCER, "considerable uncertainty at present regarding the future of values on several staple lines of canned goods. At present the best instances of this uncertainty are tomatoes and corn in the vegetable department, and salmon in the fish. In the latter connection occurrences of the present week tend to make matters still more confused. The stock of old salmon which has been carried over from last year is a fair-sized one, and in view of this, and the fact that there have been receipts of new pack salmon this week, holders of old stock have in some cases manifested an anxiety to realize, and are at present offering goods 10c. lower, at $1.15 to $1.20. If advices from the Coast are reliable, however, I fail to see the reason why prices on salmon should decline, or, in fact, why new pack red salmon should have changed hands in Montreal, as it has done this week, at $1.25. According to advices received on Monday, packers in British Columbia are now asking on the coast the equivalent of $1.40 to $1.45 laid down here, while I know for a fact that two carload lots of pink fish were sold since the opening of the week at $1.27 actual cost laid down here. Now everyone knows the relative standing of red and pink salmon, and the above offers on the first named are therefore hard to reconcile with these latter facts.

"In regard to corn and tomatoes, packers predict all sorts of fancy prices on the former. They are now asking 85 cents for it and say that they expect to get 95 cents before Christmas. They are equally strong in their views on tomatoes, and in justice it may be stated that even the sceptical traders now admit that the pack of this vegetable is much shorter than usual this year. I consider, therefore, that these three lines of canned goods present many interesting possibilities."

STREET PEDLARS.

ON Thursday evening last the Montreal Retail Grocers' Association held a well-attended meeting, when the question of a tax on street fruit pedlars was discussed and steps were taken to endeavor to make the City Council impose such on this class of people, who are really seriously injuring legitimate traders. Strong speeches were made by Messrs. John Scanlan, S. Demers, B. Connaughton, W. Levesque and Ald. Turner, ex-Ald. Gauthier and ex-Mayor McShane, the discussion eventuating in the following:

Resolved, that the sum of $100, as imposed, be paid in advance for licence fixed for pedlars' waggons and hand-carts, and that the Chief of Police and Mayor have not the right to issue permits or break rates, and that each waggon have a special number.

The petition is as follows:

To His Honor the Mayor and to the Aldermen of the City of Montreal,

The petition of the undersigned respectfully submits:

That they are an incorporated body according to law, known under the name of the "Montreal Grocers' Association":

That your petitioners are contributing a large amount in the revenues of the city of Montreal, as they are paying large sums of money for water and property taxes;

That, moreover, to have the privilege of doing business they are obliged to pay another very high tax;

That the high rentage and the expenses for the numerous staff required for the direction of their business also bears considerably upon your petitioners;

That the said association has, on many occasions, complained of the dreadful competition brought by the pedlars against the grocers of Montreal;

That these pedlars of all kinds, not paying either business or water taxes, the most of them not paying any licence whatever, bring against your petitioners an unjust and disloyal competition;

That the same pedlars are generally offering for sale merely inferior goods, thus injuring public health, and, besides, they are an annoyance to the whole population of the city.

That under these circumstances, it would be advisable to put an end to that unfair trade and give protection to the whole community and all taxpayers who are doing an honest and regular business;

Wherefore your petitioners respectfully request you to pass a by-law to the effect of putting an end to that state of things, either by imposing a high tax upon any pedlar of provisions of any kind, or by absolutely prohibiting that unfair trade carried on by pedlars, so that the general public and grocers of the city of Montreal suffer no longer from the same.

This has been signed by almost every retail grocer in Montreal, and will be presented at the next meeting of Council.

OUR BACKBONE DID IT.

A Nova Scotia subscriber speaking of the relations between Canada and the States said to THE GROCER that the abrogation of the Washington Treaty was, at first, thought to be a pretty severe blow to Nova Scotia fisheries—"which" he said "are our most important industries. We did suffer a good deal during the time Canada allowed Americans to fish on our coasts. Since the armed cruisers were put on and have kept them off, our own fishermen have had the ground to themselves. They are now perfectly happy. They are better off than under the Treaty. Less fish are caught and the offerings in the United States markets being smaller we can get better prices. Even after paying the duty we make more. Of course, under heavy runs such as we had this spring, prices go down. The reduction in duty will be a help.

There is nothing like keeping a stiff upper lip and letting the Americans see that we do not care what dut es they impose. They have seen that they could not impose on us, and as they need our products at lower prices they have reduced duties on nearly all of them."

DRY GOODS.

TORONTO MARKET.

DRY GOODS remain quite active, and the colder weather this week has induced a more cheerful feeling. Travellers are all out and are sending in very fair orders, showing that retailers have commenced to break their fall and winter stock. This is still further evidenced by the increasing number of letter orders received. The demand is very general.

Dress goods are in good demand, with serges leading. Bright-finished, small-effect goods are also fairly active. Sedans are good property for those who cater to the cape and mantle trades.

Heavy woollens in socks, mitts, underwear, blankets, etc., are moving freely and at steady prices.

Caldecott, Burton & Spence show a great drive in 39-inch henriettas. These goods have been falling in value for some time, but the market has taken a turn upward, hence it will be safe to venture. A new shipment of trimmings is just to hand, including jets, braids, swansdown, and some fluted effects which are now in taste in the French market.

Holiday goods are already moving with Samson, Kennedy & Co. Dolls, albums, note books, perfumes, scrap albums, fancy baskets, brushes, and brush sets, and Christmas tree ornamentations are in profuse display. Art plushes for fancy cushion covers, etc., are shown in new and delicate patterns at a low price. A new and taking line of Swiss embroidered pillow shams, d'oylies, tray covers, and smaller goods is shown. Some are in cream, but most are in white. This open style of fancy linen seems to be catching on. Another line in which they excel just now is their display of dress trimmings. Narrow silk, tinsel and jet gimps are selling for early fall dresses. Beaver and astrachan edgings are taking for the later trade. Wave braids are still in favor in spite of predictions to the contrary. Large buttons are forging to the front again.

WHAT BRAVE YOUNG CLERKS DO.

IT is a common remark among a certain class of young men that "the world owes them a living," remarks an exchange. It is hardly the most industrial class that put in this claim, nor those who seem to do the most for their fellows. But for some mysterious reason they seem to think the world is greatly in their debt, though it appears so slow to recognize their claims.

Does it not rather seem as if the truth was just the other way? So many years at the beginning of life, and towards its close, if prolonged to old age, must be spent in helplessness and entire dependence upon others. Would not an honorable nature desire to make some return to the world for so much kindness and care? Such an army of workers are constantly busy in the four corners of the earth to supply us with the most simple necessaries and luxuries of life that common gratitude would seem to call on us also for some contribution to the world's working force.

How the old pioneers toiled in this new land to fight back the wild beasts, hew down the forests, build up the highways and towns and cities for our comfort to-day! The wor'd owed them a living. And so it does to the hardy sailors who cross the perilous seas to bring to our doors the products of other lands, or the men who build their ships, and those who toil hard with brain and hand to invent and make the machinery which works over the earth's productions with endless forms for our convenience. It is a great debtor to those who handle the products in the marts of trade, and so make them accessible to millions of homes. Those who contribute to the moral growth of the world are no less its benefactors, and the world acknowledges all their claims. It is a general principle everywhere that "the laborer is worthy of his hire." The whole sentiment of the community is against one who would defraud his workman.

But the principle works both ways. The world also despises and laughs at the man who expects wages without work. It feels he has neither justice nor common sense on his side. A good roof and food and clothing are excellent things, but the world does not step up and present them to those who sit idly in the shade and demand them as a right. It is an idle complaint that some millionaire has his portion and ought to be compelled to give it back. He never had a portion to lose.

But the brave boys working hard and hopefully to-day in humble positions are laying up a score which the world will be glad to settle by-and-by, and they will have the high and keen satisfaction of knowing that the "living" was honestly won. They did not take it as a tramp does his crust. The finer and better the work and the more brains worked in with it the higher the reward.

HOW TO WIN TRADE.

You've got to push yourself out at times to win trade, says an exchange. What's the use of saying that if you've the goods they'll sell themselves? I know better. Give me my pick of the clerks along the street, and with ordinary prices I'll agree to put a new store in shoes, clothing and groceries on its feet in any city in a year's time. The clerks I would select are people who have learned how to forget their own likes and dislikes and cater to the whims of the people who buy, and make those whims valuable for their employers. A disagreeable salesman, who feels it his duty to consult his own preference and put forward his own personality at all times, is a bad man in a store. He will not only lose sales—he will drive trade out of the store, never to return. The clerk who succeeds needn't bow down to a customer and sacrifice his own respect, but he can't lord it over customers and insist on doing their buying for them, and he can't pick and choose customers and deal pleasantly with this one and be sharp and crabbed with one he doesn't like.

THE VALUE OF SALT.

SODIUM chloride, or common salt, is a necessity of animal life, remarks an exchange. Wild animals of the herbivorous class make regular excursions of many miles to "salt licks," or other places where it abounds. The human body contains salt in large proportion. The blood tastes of it, and in greater or less quantities it is found in all the many fluids and juices manufactured by the various glands of the body. That its presence is not accidental but designed is shown by the study of some of the essential factors of the organism when deprived of it. Recent experiments have proved that the white corpuscle of the blood swells and bursts quickly in distilled water. Protoplasm is inactive, and the cilia, or fringe-like edges of certain cells, stop their motion when deprived of sodium chloride, while in a salt solution they remain active and intact. It is stated that by the passage of salt through the body the absorption of food is stimulated and the activity of tissue changes and growth is increased. It is a matter of common observation that the swallowing of salt produces thirst, which is but saying that certain organs are stimulated to activity thereby, and consequently demand more fluid in order to continue their normal activity. Many children doubtless suffer from an insufficient supply of common salt, especially when artificial foods are used. Such children are often weak and poorly nourished. Their digestion proceeds slowly, absorption of digested products is delayed, and they become emaciated. The doctor is called, and with the order to add "a pinch" of salt to the milk or other prepared food, the appetite improves, the digestion is stimulated, and the proper condition of nourishment returns. It is more than probable that the chlorine element of the hydrochloric acid of the gastric juice is supplied by this salt. In this fact persons who live largely on a vegetable diet may find a reason for a weak digestion and insufficient activity, for the mineral matter found in vegetables consists for the most part of potash salts, which do not satisfy the demands of the animal organism. The water of mineral springs is chiefly efficacious in that it supplies both salt and water to the blood in increased quantity. The salt tends to increase tissue changes, and the greater supply of water hastens the excretion of the waste products which are thereby generated.

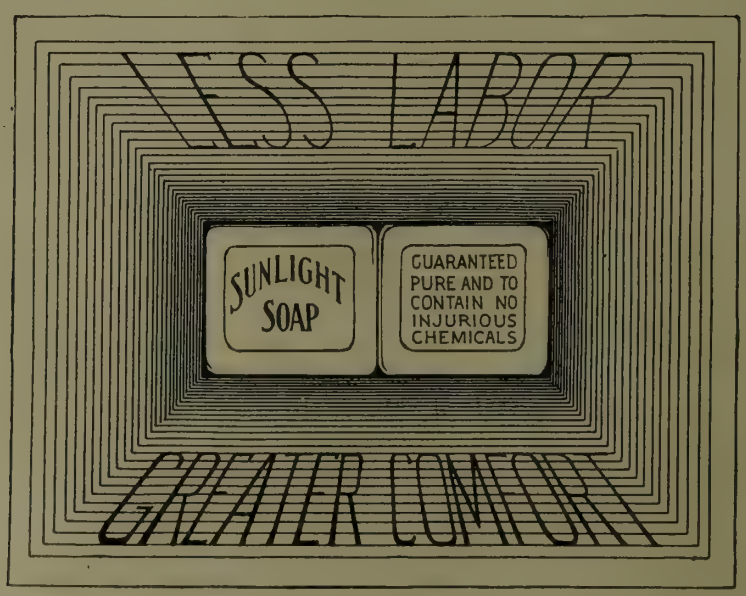
GROWTH OF BEEF PACKING.

THE growth of beef packing operations in the United States has been largely increased in late years, chiefly incident to the business of pork packing, says Cincinnati Prices Current. Exact statistics have not been made available with reference to this industry. The introduction of refrigerator cars for the safe transportation of fresh product has effected great changes in the beef trade of the larger towns and cities throughout the country, the local killing of animals giving way in a great measure to the more economical methods reflected by the dressed meat operations of large concerns.

Cattle killing for commercial supplies of beef is chiefly prosecuted at Chicago, Kansas City, St. Louis and Omaha, with considerable in the aggregate at other places. The total number of cattle killed in these four centres in 1880 was about 750,000; in 1885 it had advanced to 1,450,000; subsequent years showed an important increase, reaching a total of 3,375,000 in 1890; the following year no gain was shown, but there was a fair increase in 1892 and 1893, reaching a total in excess of 4,100,000 in the latter year. These figures, while they embrace animals slaughtered for local requirements, are instructive as illustrating the important extension of beef production for commercial distribution in these centres.

The exportation of beef has greatly enlarged in late years, although the total for 1893 was decidedly reduced in comparison with several years previously. In 1890 the total reached 398,000,000 pounds, the maximum recorded; for ten years ending with 1892 the annual average was 261,000,000 pounds; in 1893 it was 290,000,000 pounds, having a value of nearly $25,000,000; the annual average exports for ten years ending with 1892 was $21,000,000.

BEST TO BUY, BECAUSE BEST TO USE.



The sales of "SUNLIGHT" SOAP testify to its popularity with those who use it, and it is no idle boast or exaggerated statement to say that over Five Million Dollars' worth of SUNLIGHT SOAP was sold during the year 1893. CONCERNING RETAILERS.

A new grocery firm has commenced business in Belleville. Elliott & Petty is the name.

Shield & Son, Broadview avenue, Toronto, have just completed alterations in their store whereby increased capacity is obtained and a number of improvements are made.

The bright and attractive grocery store of J. H. Greenshield, King and Berkeley streets, Toronto, is being enhanced by the aid of the painter and decorator's art.

E. Burt, formerly buyer for the Muskoka Mill and Lumber Company, with his partner Mr. Thompson, of Penetanguishine, will open a first class grocery, crockery and provision store in the town of Bracebridge, Muskoka district, under the style of E. B. Burt & Co. The handsome store this firm will occupy is owned by Samuel Armstrong, ex-mayor of Bracebridge. Mr. Burt decided to open in Bracebridge on account of the many advantages it afforded, and with his long knowledge of the grocery business gathered at home and abroad he will no doubt do well. A stock of clean, fresh groceries will be kept constantly on hand.

BRITISH COLUMBIA SALMON.

B. C. Commercial Journal, September 18: There is no change worthy of note in the situation since our last review. The markets continue firm. Another salmon vessel has arrived, the Corryvrechan, 1,299 tons, which will load on account of Robt. Ward & Co., Ltd., when her cargo of coal is discharged. The Corryvrechan and Rimac are the only salmon vessels that will load for London. The remaining four, City of Glasgow, Clan Robertson, Northernhay, and Senta will load for Liverpool.

Early this season the Liverpool buyers made free purchases when new brands were offered at low prices, and later they bought heavily of established brands at considerably higher figures. Consequently the bulk of the pack for the United Kingdom will go Liverpool. Last season six vessels carrying 253,833 cases went to Liverpool and four vessels carrying 148,332 cases to London.

The Canadian Co-operative Commonwealth held its regular meeting in the rooms on Carrall street, on Tuesday night, their being a large attendance of members. Arrangements were made for the disposition of 2,000 barrels of fish a month, and the Society has concluded in view of the large number of applicants for admittance to the colony, to take the curing and barrelling of fish. The Committee of Management have already made the purchase of from 800 to 1,000 fish barrels, and have engaged coopers to proceed to the colony in order to continue the construction of the latter. By the next boat going North, a large cargo of provisions will be despatched, together with a number of fishing nets and boats. Several applications have been received from good practical agriculturists and fishermen, to join the Northern Colony, and the Commonwealth would seem to have a prosperous future before it.—News, Vancouver.

LEMONS IN NEW YORK.

THE supply of lemons in this port, says the N. Y. Journal of Commerce, is placed at 42,000 boxes, against a quantity of 66,500 boxes corresponding period last year, and 50,000 boxes same time the year previous. The stock in transit consists of only 10,000 boxes, the Gleadowe, the next vessel to arrival, having 7,000 boxes, and the Gladiolus following, 3,000 boxes, both of which shipments are of Sicily fruit. Of the present available stock a very small portion consists of really prime grades, and as a similar condition of affairs is noticed relative to the goods in the hands of the trade generally, there is naturally a strong feeling where sound and attractive fruit is possessed. The importation at this port for the crop year beginning September 1, 1893, to date have been 1,956,617 boxes, and to all ports 2,651,717 boxes, against a total quantity last year to 1st inst, of 2,646,000 boxes, thus showing a very slight difference in favor of the present season. In view of the present favorable statistical position the opinion is entertained that market values will be held up without important variation to the close of the season. The new crop Malaga is now in course of preparation for market, though it is doubtful if any considerable quantity of the fruit will arrive here much before the 15th prox. Some few shipments via Liverpool may possibly be made, though present values ruling here and the character of the demand are not likely to influence the importation of any large parcels by this indirect cause. New Malaga, however, are usually given a good reception, as the appearance of the fruit is desirable, and they possess excellent keeping quality, though the merits of the fruit fall considerably below Sicily and other grades. As an evidence of this and for the purpose of realizing more remunerative prices some in the trade take advantage of the ignorance of many buyers by repacking the fruit in Sicily boxes, adopting style, etc. So common has this practice become, and so many advantages gained by the deception, that it has suggested to some Sicily shippers the wisdom of preparing the fruit at primary sources with the view of making the goods more attractive when presented through the auction rooms. To carry out this scheme we learn that several of the leading packers in Sicily are at present in Malaga, and have already made large purchases of the fruit there with the intention of packing same in regular sizes, and adorned with fancy papers, etc., for the purpose of giving the goods a Sicilian appearance, thus aiding materially their sale, and the realization of better prices upon their arrival in this market. The season for the sale of Malaga, however, promises to be much shorter than usual the present year, as new crop Sicily will enter the market at an unusually early period. From information received we learned that shipments will be made from primary sources during the first half the coming month, and the arrivals here may be expected about the 25th prox. The quality of the crop this year, it is said, will be superior to that of last, a fact that will be appreciated when the fruit of the past season and the heavy losses incurred by the melting process is considered, The period of the year has now arrived when the demond has settled down to the legitimate, and few opportunities are presented for speculation. The supply at present is sufficient to piece out the requirements of the trade for some time to come, and during the coming month the additions of new fruit will give to the trade renewed assortments, and check any tendency toward a scarcity. As an item of interest it may be said that the coming crop of Florida will considerably exceed that of last year, some authorities placing the total yield at 125,000 to 150,000 boxes.

GROCER HAMILTON GUILTY.

The charge preferred against Robert Hamilton by Eby, Blain & Co., of having obtained goods under false pretences, was proven at the Assize Court Tuesday and a charge of guilty was returned by the jury. Sentence was deferred.

The case occupied three days. Evidence showed that the accused in February last made a statement of his affairs to Mr. Blain, of Eby, Blain & Co., in which he represented that he owned a house valued at $4,000, upon which there was no encumbrance. He valued his book debts at $1,900, and estimated his stock at $1,100. Outside of Eby, Blain & Co., to whom he at that time owed $1,100, he claimed that his liabilities were $250 only. He failed in August last with assets amounting to but $700 and liabilities exceeding $3,000, of which $1,100 was due to Eby, Blain & Co. It then transpired that the property, which he claimed to own, was, and had always been, in his wife's name. The judge, in summing up the evidence, charged heavily against the accused, and the jury returned a verdict as already stated.

PERSONAL MENTION.

William Ince, Jr., was elected chairman of the Gratuity Fund Committee of the Toronto Board of Trade on Monday.

J. W. Larkin, Nobleton, Ont., called on THE GROCER when in Toronto a few days ago. He reports business good in Nobleton.

Henry C. Boomer, of Warren Bros. & Boomer, returned Monday from a six weeks' trip to Great Britain. He had a pleasant time, and his increased avoirdupois and generally healthy appearance show it. He reports that excessive rains have done much damage in the agricultural districts in Great Britain.

P. C. Larkin has returned from London, where he was visiting the exhibit of "Salada" at the London Fair. He is well pleased with London. He speaks of it as the most delightful city in every way that he has ever seen, and says if he ever made a change from Toronto, London would be the place of all others he would choose to live in.

Capt. Charles A. Smylie, of Young & Smylie, New York, the great American licorice manufacturers, was in Toronto this week on his regular rounds of the trade. Mr. Smylie is an officer in the 12th Regiment, New York, known as the best drilled and disciplined volunteer corps in the United States.

W. G. Walker, grocer, McCaul street, Toronto, is a happy man. Recently his father transferred his interest in the business to him, and a week or so ago he became possessed of the best wife in the Dominion. The happy couple have just returned from their honeymoon trip. THE GROCER tenders congratulations.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Sept. 27, 1894.

GROCERIES.

THE after Exhibition quietude still obtains. For sugar the demand has dropped off materially, but no change has taken place in prices. Teas are still active and firm. Green Rio coffees are still scarce. Canned goods are quiet, but firm, with some lines tending upward in price. Rice continues in fair demand. Syrups and molasses are quiet. The first regular shipment of new season's Valencia raisins arrived on the market this week, and they are going readily into consumption at firm prices. Currants are quiet, but higher in the primary markets. Choice butter is scarce and firm, and cheese is quiet and steady. There is a good business doing in cured meats at the advanced prices. Oranges are scarce, there only being a few Jamicas on the market. Dried and evaporated apples have been offering more freely during the week, but not many transactions have been reported. A further advance is reported in eggs.

CANNED GOODS.

The Packers' Association will advance the price of tomatoes and corn 2½c. per dozen Oct. 1. During the past week nothing particularly new has developed. Business is still quiet and devoid of any specially striking features. Tomatoes and corn have been slow at 85 to 90c. Extra sifted peas have been in good demand at $1.45 to $1.50, but ordinary kinds are quiet at 80 to 85c. Receipts of new season's salmon are arriving more freely, while the demand on the other hand is scarcely as good as it was. Prices, however, continue firm at $1.25 to $1.35 for first-class red fish in tall tins, and $1.55 to $1.60 in flat tins. In lobsters there is a fair trade doing at $1.85 to $2 for talls, and $2.30 to $2.50 for flats. Canned fruits continue quiet at these quotations: Peaches, $3 to $3.25 for 3's, $2 to $2.25 for 2's; raspberries, $1.65 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.90 to $2.10; apples, 3's, $1 to $1.10, gallons $2.65 to $2.80, and preserved fancy quarters at $1.35 to $1.40. Canned meats and sardines are quiet.

COFFEES.

Green Rio's are still scarce, and a fair business continues to be done in Maracaibo coffees in consequence. In New York the market for Brazil growths has been gaining gradually in tone all the week. At first the improvement seemed to be principally a reflection of the advancing tendency on options, but later developments disclose the fact that there has been a strong and persistent demand from roasters for desirable grades, No. 7 in particular being called for, a grade that is still exceedingly scarce and indifferently offered by those fortunate enough to hold it. Other qualities have been benefited to some extent, and the low grades are now spoken of with greater favor, and the difference in value as compared with the standard is smaller than heretofore.

RICE.

There is still a good demand for fancy imported Japan rice. "B" rice is also moving fairly well, but medium grades are neglected. The market still rules strong. The present season is said to be the most satisfactory in regard to profits that the trade has experienced for a number of years. We quote: "B," 3½ to 3¾c.; extra Japan, 5¼ to 5⅜c.; imported Japan, 5¾ to 6¼c.; tapioca, 4¼ to 4½c.

SPICES.

European advices report higher prices in ginger, cloves and pepper. There is no change here, but business has been more active than for some time. We quote: Pure black pepper, 12 to 14c.; pure white, 20 to 28c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 25 to 27c.; cloves, 25 to 30c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, 20 to 25c. per lb.

NUTS.

Business continues quiet and featureless, and will, of course, remain so until the new season's goods arrive. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 11½c. lb.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c. a lb.; Terragona almonds, 12½ to 14c.; peanuts, 11 to 12c. for roasted and 8 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 13 to 14c.; Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 11 to 12c.; filberts, 9¾ to 10½c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

SUGAR.

The feature of the market this week is the scarcity of yellow sugars, the representatives of some of the refiners not having shown samples of these kinds for several days. Some of the wholesale houses are completely cleaned out in consequence. The scarcity, however, is only temporary, it being anticipated that by the end of the week fresh supplies will be on the spot. The demand for sugar shows a further easing off, but prices remain much as before. We quote granulated at 4⅜ to 4½c., and yellows at $3.45 up.

N. Y. Journal of Commerce, September 25: For raw sugars the position continues somewhat unsettled, and probably will be in that condition until all the free goods have been sold out and good fair test is made over stock subject to duty. The present light melting wants admit of slow demand for material, and unless the outlet for refined stock expands pretty soon it looks as though production would have to be curtailed. It was a quiet day for refined goods. The decline of Saturday did not seem to have any effect to break up the indifferent attitude of buyers, and orders came forward in the old slow, unsatisfactory manner, and business was exceedingly dull for all grades.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Both syrups and molasses are quiet at unchanged prices. We quote: Molasses—New Orleans, barrels, 26 to 28c.; half-barrels, 30½ to 32c.; Barbadoes, barrels, 28 to 32c.; half-barrels, 30 to 34c. Syrups—Dark, 25c.; medium, 28 to 30c.; bright, 35 to 40c.; very bright, 45 to 50c.

TEAS.

The market continues brisk at firm prices, although nothing particularly new has developed. Young Hyson teas are this week receiving a large share of attention from retailers at about 16 to 18c. for low grade, 24 to 27c. for medium, and 33 to 38c. for high grades. Low grade China Congous at about 16 to 18c. are also receiving a good deal of attention. Retailers are pretty well stocked up with Japan teas, and there is a temporary falling off in the demand in consequence, although there is still a good business doing, particularly in the medium kinds, at about 16 to 20c. Indian and Ceylon teas are quiet but strong in price.

DRIED FRUITS.

The first direct shipment of Valencia raisins, new season's crop, arrived in Toronto this week, and they came upon a bare market, the few hundred boxes received via Liverpool a couple of weeks ago having been cleaned out. The idea as to price is 5½ to 6c. for off-stalk and 6½ to 7c. for fine off-stalk. Demand is good. A cable received by P. L. Mason & Co. from Arguimbau states that one-half the crop of Valencia raisins has been damaged by rain, and that prices are firmer. The situation in Valencia raisins is referred to more fully in the editorial columns.

There is not anything worthy of special note in regard to the local currant market. Business is light and less than it was a week ago on account of the arrival of new season's Valencia raisins. A cable to J. L. Watt & Scott from Patras quotes currants 1s. per cwt. dearer. Quotations here are unchanged: Provincials, 3½ to 4c. in brls., half brls., 3⅝ to 4⅛c.; Filiatras, 4 to 4¾c. in brls., and 4½ to 5c. in half barrels; Patras, 5 to 5½c. in barrels, 5¼ to 5¾c. in half brls., 5 to 6½c. in cases; Vostizzas, 6½ to 7½c. in cases, 6¾ to 7¾c. in half cases. In prunes business is still confined largely to a few odd cases of "B" brand. For the lower brands there is no enquiry. We quote: "A," 9c; "B," 7 to 7½c.; "U," 5¼ to 5½c.; bags, 3¾c.; casks, 4½ to 5c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

Market continues firm for good butter, but offerings are light, with the desired kind scarce. Low grade butter, however, continues to accumulate, jobbers being willing to take almost any price that they can get. There is a good demand for creamery butter in the absence of a supply of choice dairy tubs. No transactions are heard of on export account. We quote jobbing prices as follows: Dairy—Choice tubs, 17 to 18c.; straight store, 15 to 16c.; crocks, 19c.; bakers' butter, 12 to 13c.; pound rolls, 20 to 21c. Creamery—Tubs, 21 to 22c.; pound prints, 24 to 25c.

There has been no change in cheese, demand still being light and prices 11 to 11½c. There is neither pressure to sell nor to buy.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Active and firm continues to be the provision market, but no new features have developed. We hear of a transaction in two carloads of long clear bacon at 8½c. Receipts of dressed hogs have been fairly liberal during the week, and prices are easier. As high as $7 was paid in a few instances for something choice, but $6.50 to $6.75 is the ordinary range.

BACON—Long clear, 8½c. for car lots and 8¾ to 9c. for small lots; breakfast bacon, 12½ to 13c.; rolls, 9 to 9½c.

HAMS—Large, 22 lbs. and over, 11c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 12½c.; small hams, 13c.; pickled, 11 to 11½c.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 9¼c.; tubs, 9¾c.; pails, 10c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess $19; Canadian short-cut, $19 to $20; shoulder mess, $14.50 to $15; clear mess, $15 to $15.50.

GREEN FRUIT.

Rodi oranges are not to be had, but there are a few Jamaica oranges arriving, and for them there is not much demand. The demand for lemons is moderate only. In peaches there is a demand for good stock, but other kinds are not wanted and sell at almost any price. Receipts are beginning to fall off. There is a good demand, and for the latter receipts better prices have been realized. Grapes are in liberal supply and demand is good, but prices are low. The quantity of tomatoes coming forward is not large, but demand is fair for those of good quality. Good varieties of pears are in active request. We quote: Oranges, Jamaicas, $1 per basket and $6 per brl. Lemons, $3.50 to $4.50. Bananas, $1 to $1.50. Muskmelons, $1 to $1.50 per brl., and 30 to 40c. per basket. Cucumbers, 20 to 25c. per basket. Tomatoes, 20 to 35c. per basket. Peaches, 30 to 75c. per basket. Pears, 40 to 90c. per basket. Apples, $1.50 to $2 per brl. Grapes, 1½ to 3c. per lb. Sweet potatoes, $3.50 per brl.; Jerseys, $4 per brl. Crab apples, 25 to 40c. per basket.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Quiet at $1.35 to $1.40 for hand-picked.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Offerings are gradually getting more liberal, and at the same time more varied, although 8c. appears to be the ruling idea with the factories. Jobbers quote 8½c.

DRIED APPLES—As far as offerings are concerned, the conditions are similar to those relating to evaporated apples. As to price, we hear of transactions in barrel lots at 6c., but there is yet no well-defined price basis.

EGGS—Demand is brisk, and fresh stock is higher at 14 to 15c. The desired kind are scarce, but eggs of inferior quality are plentiful.

POTATOES—The market has assumed, unexpectedly, an easier attitude on account of liberal receipts and good quality thereof. Those who have carloads on hand bought a week or so ago stand to lose money. As to price, 55c. is now the idea for carload lots on track, and 65c. for small lots out of store.

ONIONS—New season's Spanish and Valencia onions arrived on the market this week. We quote: Spanish, 90c. to $1, inside figure being for 10 case lots; Valencias, $3 to $3.25 per case.

POULTRY—There is a fair supply and prices are steady. Chickens are quoted at 50 to 55c.; ducks at 50 to 60c., and turkeys at 10 to 11c. per lb.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

The fish trade continues unsatisfactory on account of the large proportion of big fish coming in. Ciscoes are scarce and higher. Demand is beginning to open up for Labrador herring, and the cold weather is expected to create a better demand for finnan haddie. Digby herrings, new stock, are on the market. Oysters are in fair demand and lower. We quote: Salmon trout, 6 to 6½c.; skinned and boned codfish, 6½c.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c.; boneless cod, 5 to 8c.; Labrador herring, $2 50 per half keg; ditto, split, $3; blueback herring, 4c.; blue pickerel, 4 to 5c. lb.; yel. ditto, 6 to 7c. per lb.; white fish, 7c.; pike, 5c. lb.; haddock and cod, 5½c. per lb.; steak cod, 5 to 6c.; finnan haddies, 8c.; Digby herring, medium, 14 to 15c.; ditto, lengthwise, 14c.; large halibut, 10c.; ciscoes, $1 35. Oysters, $1.35 to $1.40 per gallon.

SEEDS.

The United States markets for timothy seed have shown a marked decline the past few days, in which the markets here must sympathise. Alsike has experienced practically no change since our last quotations, but with more varied receipts there is a wide range in quotations, prices paid ranging from $5 to $6.30 per bushel, the latter being for really fancy quality, while inferior grades are bought at proportionate values. We quote timothy at $1.80 to $2 20 per bushel, f.o.b. points of shipment.

SALT.

Trade is brisk with a good many car lots moving. We quote: Barrels, 90 to 95c.; coarse sacks, 58c.; fine sacks, 60c.; dairy, $1.50; rock, $10.

HIDES, SKINS, WOOL AND TALLOW.

HIDES—There is a good demand for all the best select buff hides offered, and the market is firm at the advance. Local dealers are paying 3½c. for green. Cars of prime buff are held at 4¼c. The Chicago market was reported a trifle easier to-day.

LAMBSKINS—Are in good demand and steady at 45c.; pelts, 45c.

CALFSKINS—Are quiet. Dealers quote 6c. for No. 1 and 4c. for No. 2.

TALLOW—Is steady. Local dealers are paying 5½c. and 5¾c. and selling at 6c. and 6¼c.

MONTREAL MARKETS.

MONTREAL, September 27, 1894.

GROCERIES.

THERE is a satisfactory volume of business passing at present in all staple lines of groceries. The chief notable features at the time of writing are a firmer feeling on yellow sugars, continued activity and strength in tea, firmer values and an active demand for both raisins and currants to arrive, and strength in both canned vegetables and salmon. With this condition of affairs ruling on leading lines, it is not at all surprising that jobbers should be experiencing a good enquiry from their customers. In fact, the general tenor of value at the moment is steady on all lines of goods.

SUGAR.

The sugar market on spot fully retains its firm tone despite the easier feeling in New York, and prices here are well maintained at both the refineries. This is notably so in the case of yellows, for which jobbers are experiencing an active demand, and with light stocks generally, this means a good demand from first hand as well. In fact, it is doubtful now if orders could be accepted at 3¼c., and we quote 3⅜ to 3⅞c., as to quality, the outside figures for bright yellows, in which a good volume of trade is passing. Granulated furnishes no special feature, trade being fair and prices steady at 4¼ to 4⅜c. at the refineries and recent advices from New York note further business in refined goods, and, of course, this is having its effect on the raw sugar market at that centre as it places holders of the latter stock at a great disadvantage. It is in this connection that influence may be exerted on Canadian values, for any radical decline in the price of raw supplies would be apt to have sympathetic influence on our markets.

SYRUPS.

The firm feeling in syrups on the market is well maintained. Reference was made some weeks ago to the fact of light stock in refiners' hands here. Well! they have not had material replenishment since, and with this fact in mind, coupled with the fairly active demand now experienced, prices are firmly maintained. We quote 2 to 2½c. for bright grades, and 1¼ to 1½c. for dark.

MOLASSES.

The molasses market shows no improvement, ruling quiet with prices barely steady. Barbadoes in round lots are still quoted a 27½c. in car lots 29c., and single purchasers 30c. Porto Rico is unchanged at 24 to 25c.

TEA.

The tea market continues active and strong all round. Importers are experiencing as great a demand as ever from jobbers, and the latter are busy as nailers supplying orders from their own customers. Large transactions have transpired in all descriptions during the week from China blacks to Japans, the former at prices ranging from 10 to 21½c., and the latter all the way from 16c. for medium up to 23c. for fine. In fact the outlook all round appears to be a healthy one. A scarcity of April and May pickings of Japans is one of the features of the market, and it is doubtful if any large quantity could be had here. We quote Japans as follows: Low grades, 11 to 13c.; medium, 14 to 17c.; fine 18½ to 23c., and choice 24 to 31c.

COFFEES.

There is nothing new in the coffee market. The advance in Mocha coffee recently noted is maintained, and fair-sized lots of both Mocha and Maracaibo have changed hands. We quote: Maracaibo, 18¾ to 21c.; Rio, 19 to 21c.; Java, 24 to 30c., and Mocha, 23½ to 29c.

SPICES.

The spice market is steady under a fair demand. We quote mill prices as follows: Penang black pepper, 6 to 7½c.; white pepper, 10 to 12½c.; cloves, 7½ to 9c.; cassia, 9 to 10c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.; Jamaica ginger, 15 to 22c.

DRIED FRUITS.

The market rules strong, and if anything values are higher. The chief business transpiring at present is in stock to arrive, for the available supplies on spot are very limited. The Drocona, the first direct steamer, sailed from Denia on the 22nd of September, and she should therefore be here by the middle of October. No definite information is at hand as to the extent of her cargo. Advices from primary centres are firm, both on currants from Patras and raisins from Denia. An active business is passing in raisins to arrive by this steamer at the following range: Ordinary off-stalk, 4½c.; fine off-stalk, 4¾c; selected, 5½c.; layers, 5¾ to 6c. Advices received on Monday stated that currants had advanced 1s. 9d. Provincials are selling freely to arrive at 3¼c. in barrels, 3⅜c. in half-barrels, and 3¾ to 4¾c. in cases, according to quality. There are no further advices on prunes or dates, and no great activity can be anticipated on these for a month.

RICE.

A good demand is experienced for rice which has led to a satisfactory volume of business during the past week. We quote: Standard, $3.45 to $3.70; Japan, $3 95 to $4.25 and Patras, $4.25 to $4.75.

NUTS.

The nut market is very quiet. Stocks of Grenoble and Terragona are practically exhausted, and prices on them are purely nominal. Sicily Filberts have been moving at 7½c. while Pecans are quoted at 8c. Brazil nuts are steady at 9 to 10c., and Cocoanuts $4 per bag.

CANNED GOODS.

The canned goods market does not furnish anything very new this week except that advices confirm what has already been published regarding scarcity and firmness of corn for which packers are now asking 85c., and hold that buyers will not be able to repeat at this price very long. The firmness which we noted over a fortnight ago in Toronto is fully maintained for, as we noted last week the pack is turning out to be smaller than usual. Advices on new pack salmon continue very firm. New pack red salmon have sold here at $1.25, which is a low price considering the fact that at the asking price on the Coast they cannot be laid down for much less than $1.44. One car load of pack salmon has also been placed to arrive at $1.27, which makes the above price for red fish look all the cheaper. We quote: Lobsters, $6 to $6.50 per case; sardines, $8.50 to $9.50; salmon, $1.15 to $1.30 per doz; tomatoes, 95c. per doz.; peaches, $2 to $2.10 per doz.; corn, 95c. to $1 per doz.; and marrowfat peas, 85 to 90c. per doz. Australian canned meats: Boiled mutton, $1 86 to $1.90 per doz. 1-lb. tins, and $3.10 to $3.15 per doz., 2-lb. tins; roast mutton, $2.05 to $2.10 per doz., 1-lb. tins, and $3.35 to $3.40 per doz., 2-lb. tins; corned mutton, $2.05 to $2.10 per doz., 1-lb. tins, and $3.35 to $3.40 per doz, 2-lb. tins.

FISH.

The fish market during the past week has been more active, there being a better demand for small lots of all lines. Prices generally, except on green cod, are steady. Recent sales of these, however, have been made at $5 to $5.50 for No. 1 Cape Breton. No. 1 shore herring are moving freely at $5.25 to $6. There is a good demand for B.C. salmon, sales of No. 1 transpiring at $10.50. No. 1 Labrador is quoted at $12 per brl. New fresh haddies are commencing to arrive, and meet a ready sale at 4 to 4½c. Fresh cod, 4c. There have been fair receipts of finnan haddies, which meet a good demand, and supplies are fairly well cleared up at 7 to 7½c. per lb. Boneless cod are steady at 6 to 6½c. per lb, and fish 3¼c. Shell oysters have been in active demand, and sales to arrive have been booked freely at $3 to $3.50 for Malpreques.

GREEN FRUIT.

APPLES—The chief feature in the apple trade is, of course, the deal on export account. In this connection nothing very new is to report, except that exporters' ideas and holders' views in the country are rather more at variance than they were. For instance, a shipper wired a round order to a buyer in the West, stipulating that he would pay $1.25 for the fruit picked, and the answer came back that the holders were firm at $1.50, which is considered altogether too high for this market. For the fall varieties which are selling here, $1.75 to $2.50 is the range.

ORANGES—These are very scarce here. The bulk of supply consists of Jamaica fruit, which is selling at firm prices. Lots of 100 brls. have sold at $5 per brl., and we quote the jobbing range $5 50 to $6 per brl. A few Rodi are offering at $4 50 to $5 per box.

LEMONS—The lemon market is firm under moderate stock and a fairly good demand. Values are steady at $1 to $3.

FLOUR AND FEED

THERE is a litt'e demand for flour, but business is still quiet, and prices easier. There is also a slightly better demand for cereals. Very little hay and straw are selling, and good straw has been hard to obtain. The price of wheat on the local market remains much as before owing to the farmers preferring to feed their wheat than sell at the ruling prices. Feed dealers complain of bad collections, which show no sign of improvement. Cooler weather is coming on and the demand for flour for family use should soon increase. With flour at the exceedingly low price that it at present is, and bread having risen 1c. per loaf, the retail dealer should do more than the average trade during the coming winter.

THE MARKETS.

TORONTO.

FLOUR—Trade is firm, and a slight local reduction in price in all lines is reported. We quote as follows: Manitoba wheat patents, $3.45 to $3.55; strong bakers', $3.20 to $3.25; Ontario, $3 to $3 15; straight roller, $2.80 to $2.90.

SHORTS—The demand remains good. City mills that have any to offer are selling at $16 to $16.50.

BRAN—It is still scarce. Good bran is selling at $14 per ton.

SCREENINGS—A fair demand is reported. City mills are selling at $12 per ton.

OATS—Steady but quiet. Sales are reported at 27c. for winter. Mixed were also offered west at 27c.

BARLEY—Trade quiet. Sales were reported at 43c. per bushel.

WHEAT—There is not so much fall wheat coming in this week. Prices are unchanged at 53c. for red, and 54c. for white.

STRAW — Trade remains quiet. No changes in prices are reported and that which is offering is mostly of inferior quality. In car lots it is selling at from $7.50 to $8 per ton.

HAY—There has not been much loose hay selling. Prices are reported at $8 to $10 per ton.

BREAKFAST FOODS—In oatmeal trade is fair and prices unchanged. We quote: Standard and rolled oats, $4 to $4.10 per bag; granulated, $4.05 to $4 15; granulated wheat, $4 per barrel; cornmeal, higher at $3.75 per barrel.

MONTREAL.

There was a good demand for flour, and the market ruled active and steady with very large volume of business doing, in fact, millers state that the turnover was the largest for some time past. We quote as follows: Winter wheat, $3.25 to $3.40; spring wheat, patents, $3.25 to $3.40; Manitoba patents, best brands, $3.45 to $3.55; straight roller, $2.80 to $2.90; extra, $2.55 to $2.60; superfine, $2.40 to $2.50; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.20 to $3.30; Manitoba strong bakers', best brands, $3.30 to $3.35.

The demand for feed continues good, and sales were made freely at firm prices. Bran, $16; shorts, $18; mouliffe, $22 to $24. There was no change in the situation of the oatmeal market. The demand was fair and prices steady. Standard, brls., $4; granulated, brls., $4 05 to $4.10; rolled oats, brls, $4.05 to $4.10; pot barley, per brl., $3.90, split peas, per brl. $3.40.

ST. JOHN, N.B.

The flour market has nothing of interest. Sales are slow and values not firm. Feed flour is, however, in demand, and cannot be got. Middlings are in rather better supply. Oatmeal is 5c. below price of last week. Cornmeal is firm, with light demand. Millers are not working full time; in fact, supply of corn is small, and millers, on account of demand and high figures, are not inclined to buy largely. P.E.I. oats are quoted higher than either New Brunswick or Ontario. Beans are firm. Manitoba flour, $4.20 to $4.25; best Ontario, $3.40 to $3.55; medium, $3.25 to $3.35; oatmeal, $4.20 to $4.30; cornmeal, $3 10 to $3.15; middlings on track, $22 to $23; bran, $18 to $19; oats, N.B., on track, 37 to 38c.; P.E.I., 41 to 42c.; Ont., 38 to 40c.; small lots, 40 to 45c.; hand-picked beans, $1.60 to $1.65; prime, $1.50 to $1.55; pot barley, $3.85 to $4; hay, $8 to $9 on woodboat; by rail in usual way it is higher, at $10 to $10.50 on track.

MARKETS—Continued

GRAPES—The first lot of Almeria grapes was offered this week consisting of 40 to 50 kegs. They are firmly held at $5 per keg. Blue Concords sell at 1⅞ to 2⅛c., and Niagaras, $2.50 upward.

PEACHES, PEARS, ETC.—The receipts of these have not been heavy and prices are steady in the whole. Peaches sell at $1.50, and pears and plums are normal at the time of writing.

FIGS—Nothing is to note in connection with these as yet, and no further advices from primary centres are cited. The first shipment of new fruit is expected at New York the end of the week and there will possibly be some offers made on account.

SPANISH ONIONS—The first lots of new Spanish onions have been received this week, and are selling freely at 90 to 95c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The firm feeling in the egg market is strongly maintained, for various reasons. In the first place, advices from Great Britain continue favorable regarding consignments which have recently arrived, while the fact that receipts during the week from the West have been exceedingly light is taken to mean that purchasing on American account is sweeping supplies pretty clean in Ontario. The spot market here is active, and a large volume of business is passing at 11 to 12c. for round lots and 12½c. to 13c. for single cases.

HONEY—The honey market is quiet and steady. Choice strawed stock is moving at 8 to 9c.

ONIONS—A fair business is doing in onions, there being a good demand for small lots at $2 per brl. for red and white.

BEANS—Demand is slow at $1.20 to $1.45 per bushel for choice stock.

PROVISIONS.

Demand for general supplies of provisions is good and the market rules fairly active and firm. We quote: Canadian short cut, heavy, $21 to $22; do., light, $19 to $20; hams, city cured, per lb., 10 to 13c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 9½ to 10c.; bacon, per lb., 10 to 12c.; lard, common refined, per lb, 7¼ to 7½c.

BUTTER.

The butter market is much the same. The volume of business passing is not large, in fact the only business to note is a small one on local account. No further news is to report from the country, and previous quotations can be repeated, as follows: Finest late made creamery, 19 to 19¼c.; finest July creamery, 18 to 18½c. Finest Townships, 16 to 16½c.; fine Western, 15¼ to 15½c.

CHEESE.

The tone of the cheese market is rather easier in view of lower prices paid last Saturday in the country, and the fact that the ruling figure at the warf on Monday was from an ⅛c. to ¼c. lower. It is doubtful, however, if a buyer could fill a large order for finest Western goods for less than our quotations. At the same time it is admitted that business on London account was put through recently on a basis which it would be difficult to repeat to-day, viz, 11c. or thereabouts. In the absence of anything definite the range appended, 10¾c. to 10⅞c. is a fair one for such Western goods as are on spot. For Eastern makes, however, the case is somewhat different, owing to the dealing at the wharf already mentioned. The offerings amounted to 4,300 boxes, which sold at a range of 9¼ to 9⅜ with possibly a fraction more for one lot. This, as stated, is a decline on last Monday's basis, and of course has its influence. The public cable remains unchanged at 51s 6d, while private advices indicated an indifferent feeling. There is information from Ontario to the effect that country purchases of an important nature had transpired some time ago, which involve the transfer of a large line of August and balance, possibly 25,000 boxes from first hands. It is understood also that negotiations were going on regarding another large line of stock, probably 10,000 or 12,000 boxes, which may be closed by this time. We quote: Finest Western colored, 10¾c. to 10⅞c.; finest Western white, 10¾c.; finest Townships, 10½c.; finest Eastern colored, 10⅜c. to 10½c.; finest Eastern white, 10¼c.; cable, 51s. 6d.

ASHES.

There is no change in the ashes market, which rules quiet but firm. We quote: Firsts, $4.20; seconds, $3.80 to $3 85; and pearls $7.50 per 100 lbs.

MONTREAL TRADE NOTES.

Hart & Tuckwell were the first house to receive Almeria grapes this fall. They received this week a lot of 50 kegs.

Stewart, Munn & Co. have several shipments of Newfoundland and Nova Scotia shore herrings arriving.

The Canada Sugar Refinery reports that stocks of syrup in Montreal are very light and likely to remain so for some time.

Munn's boneless codfish, this season's catch, put up in two pound bricks, is said to be the finest ever seen on the market.

Vipond, McBride & Co. received on Wednesday 1,150 packages California peaches, grapes and pears, which they offer at public sale.

There is an active demand for bright description of yellow sugar, according to L. Chaput, Son & Co., who are having lots of orders.

Latest advices to Stewart, Munn & Co. state that some herrings are being caught in Labrador, and the firm expect a shipment in a week or so.

Laporte, Martin & Co. are now receiving every week consignments of new crop Valencia raisins of all leading brands, and also all kinds of canned goods.

Coverhill, Hughes & Co. expect a large consignment of all leading brands of Valencia raisins on the direct steamer which is due on the 10th of October.

It is claimed that there are only one or two lots of low-priced Japan teas available in Montreal, and it is just possible that ere this is published they also have left first hands.

Tetley & Co., of London, Eng., received many congratulations for their exhibits in London and Ottawa. Orders have increased considerably within the last few days in those districts.

Now that the season for fresh fish is about closing, Marshall's fine selected Scotch salt herring are in good demand. They are

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Sept. 27, 1894.

TRADE during the past week has been good. The fall business is beginning to set in in earnest. The call for lumbermen's supplies, which is an important factor in the grocery trade here, has now commenced. The river boats, coming as they do from the agricultural centres of the province, have full cargoes of apples and large quantities of plums, one schooner having as many as five hundred boxes. Considering supply, demand for plums is good, and prices continue firm. Apples are, however, a drug.

CANNED GOODS—The Forrest Canning Factory, of Nova Scotia, is not offering vegetables this season, but will be in the market with canned apples. This firm's condensed milk is increasing in favor. D. W. Hoegg, the New Brunswick packer, is offering canned peas somewhat below the association prices. Of corn he will have a large pack, but of peas he will have but a fair output while tomatoes are not a feature with him. Apples and blueberries will have a large output. The association is now offering freely all lines, but buying is not as active as usual. The experience of late years has not been favorable to holding stocks. In salmon, however, appearances are now in favor of higher prices, and holders are not anxious to sell. Several buyers have been disappointed in getting their orders filled, packers being short. Buyers held off expecting a decline as in former years, and got caught. Beef is firm at high prices. We quote: Corn, peas and tomatos, 95c.; gallon apples, $2.40; oysters, 1's, $1 35 to $1.40; 2's, $2 20 to $2 25; corned beef, 1's, $1.75; 2's, $2.75 to $2.80; salmon, new, $4 80 to $4.90 per case; haddies, $5 50.

SPICE—Values in cassia and allspice are higher, while holders are daily looking for pepper and cloves to advance. The feeling is firm. Quotations here are unchanged.

DRIED FRUIT—New evaporated apples are now to hand, and new dried are being offered. Valencia raisins are firm at advance of last week. The new ones are expected to arrive daily. The prospects are that cleaned currants, which were sold here for the first time in any quantity last year, will be much more freely in use this season. Canadian yellow onions are now here, and Egyptians are out of the market. While old loose muscatels are rather easier, the new will come in higher. We quote: Sultana raisins, 7 to 7½c.; London layers, $2 to $2.10; loose muscatels, 6½ to 6¾c.; prunes, 5½ to 6c.; currants, brls., 3 to 3½c.; cases, 4 to 4½c.; evaporated apples, new, 10 to 10½c.; dates, 5 to 6c.; figs, 10 to 12c.; onions, $2.75 to $3.

GREEN FRUIT—Just at this time business in these lines is on the rush, sales have to be made quick, and this season prices are low. Apples are very slow. Daily active sales continue to keep the price down, but better things are expected when once the soft fruit is sold. Plums find good demand. American peaches in baskets have not been arriving in good condition, and importers are not bringing forward as many as usual. Prices are rather below last quotations, as is the figure for bananas. Grapes are in good demand and low, quantities of Nova Scotia pears are now coming forward. Peaches, $1.75 to $2 per basket for American; Canadian, $1 to $1.25; Bartlett pears, $3.25 per bushel; Jamaica oranges, $6.50 per brl., $4 per box; Messina oranges, $5.50; lemons, $4.50 to $5.50; bananas, $1.50 to $2; apples, $1 to $2.75; New Brunswickers, $1 to $1.25; Nova Scotia fall fruit, $1.25 to $2; Gravensteins, $2.50 to $2.75.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Cheese appears in better demand, though buyers will not talk prices at all as they are now in Ontario, there being still June's and July's in the market to supply the trade. Buyers are unwilling to pay the price asked for late makes. Holders are however confident with apparent good reason. Butter is very firm and prospects are good, buyers through the country eagerly picking up what little lots offer. Eggs are rather slow, buyers being afraid of case goods. Cheese 10½ to 11c.; creamery butter 23 to 24c.; dairy 19 to 20c.; eggs 11 to 12c.

FISH—Dry fish continues firm. A large variety of pickled fish are now on hand to choose from. Values as last week. Fresh fish are to hand in fair quantities and curing houses are being well supplied. Shad are rather more plentiful than they have been. We quote: Large cod fish, $4.25 to $4.35; medium, $4 to $4.10; small, $3 15 to $3 25; pollock and haddock, $1.70 to $1.75; bay herring, $1.35 to $1.45, half brls.; kiffl.ng, $1.75; wolves, $2 to $2.10; canso, $5.25; shad, $5.50 to $6; medium smoked herring, 9 to 10c.; lengthwise, 8 to 9c.

MOLASSES—The Barbadoes is feeling firmer on account of rather light stock, the same being true of other markets. We quote: Barbadoes, 27 to 28c.; Porto Rico, fancy, 42 to 43c.; choice, 35 to 36c.; Antigua, 27 to 28c.; St. Croix, 27 to 28c. Syrup, 35c.

SUGAR—Though firm at advance of last week shows no change in price. We quote: Granulated, 4¾c.; white Ex. C., 3⅞ to 4c.; bright yellows, 3¾ to 3⅞c.; yellows, 3½ to 3⅝c.; dark, 3⅜ to 3½c.; Barbadoes, 3½ to 3¾c.

PROVISIONS—Demand for lumbermen's supply is tending to make more active business. American clear is still with them the favorite. Stacks here are not large and prices are firm with prime mess rather higher. Cottoline is also higher. We quote: Clear pork, $21 to $21.50; mess, $17.25 to $17.75; prime, $13.50 to $14.50; plate beef, $13.50 to $14; extra plate, $13.75 to $14.25; pure lard, 10 to 11c.; compound, 8½ to 9½c.; cottolene, 10¼ to 10¾c.

ST. JOHN TRADE NOTES.

W. H. Geary, representing Ewing, Herron & Co., of Montreal, has been in the city during the week. He reports good sales.

D. W. Hoegg, of Fredericton, whose brands of canned goods are so favorably known, visited the trade here during the past week.

G. F. Stone, of Digby, has been in the city buying stock for a new and larger store into which he intends moving.

W. Blewett, representing Arch. Campbell, of Toronto Junction, manufacturer of Monarch brand of flour, called upon THE GROCER during the week. H. B. White is the representative here.

TRADE CHAT.

On Tuesday night of last week some person entered T. J. Widden's grocery store, Port Perry, by a cellar window, and were rewarded for their trouble by the large sum of four cents, which was in the till.

Hop picking commenced in the Chilliwack district, B.C., on the 17th inst.

St. Lawrence river fishermen say the fishing has never been so bad as this season.

W. C. Caverhill, general merchant, of North Bay, was drowned in Lake Tallon Thursday night, 19th inst.

H. T. Johnston, of the Star Grocery, Ridgetown, has a tomato on exhibition weighing one pound seven ounces.

A cable from London says: There were 82,935 cattle, 3,590 sheep and 157 swine imported from Canada in the year 1893.

Deposits in the Post-office Savings Banks of the Dominion during August amounted to $582,264 and the withdrawals to $508,967.

Mayor Stevens, of Napanee, has gone out of the manufacture of potash, and has converted the large building into a barrel factory.

An effort is being made to get a fruit cannery established at Okanagan Mission. At a meeting held there to discuss the scheme it was said that the statement made by Mr. Hutcherson, of Ladner's Landing, that Bartlett pears did not do well in the Okanagan Valley was incorrect as they have done very well on the Aberdeen ranches.—News, Vancouver.

The Ames-Holden Co., boot and shoe manufacturers, Montreal, have been granted authority to increase their capital stock from $40,000 to $200,000.

Some of the Quebec leather factories which have been going slow of late are reported to be again looking up, as orders are beginning to come in pretty lively.

The New England Homestead estimates the Maine corn pack for 1894 at only 9,000,000 cans, against 14,616,000 in 1893 The details are given on the first page of this this issue.

The grocery store of Booth Bros., 591 St. Urbain street, Montreal, was burglarized Friday night. The thieves entered the building from the rear, and succeeded in getting away with $65 worth of goods.

C. J. Gregoire, grocer, Montreal, has taken an action for $5,000 against the authorities of that city for false arrest. He alleges that he was arrested on a charge of incendiarism at the instance of P. O. Cerat, secretary of the Fire Commissioners, and discharged.

The Gravenhurst merchants have formed a local organization for their protection against dead beats. Each member of the combine pledges himself under penalty of $20 that he will refuse to give credit to anyone who is owing another merchant and refuses to pay his indebtedness.

Tuesday of this week the canning company at Delhi packed the largest number of cans ever put up since they have been in the business. At night when they finished work their indicator stood at 39,976 cans. If these cans were laid end to end, they would reach very close to three miles.

The trade returns for August are not of a very encouraging character. The exports for the month are valued at $11,107,892, as against $13,572,817 for August of last year. The imports show a slight increase; but for the two months there is a falling off of half a million dollars. The duty collected during July and August amounted to $3,009,887, as compared with $3,745,834 in the corresponding months last year.

The complaint of the Montreal grocers against the unlicensed peddlers is having a good effect. Special Constables McNully and Hogg are looking after street vendors, and already a number of those without a licence have been brought before the Recorder. The way the thing is worked is this. One man takes out a licence to peddle and receives it along with a badge. He keeps either one and hands the other over to a confederate. When arrested the claim invariably is that the missing part of the licence was left at home, but when taken there to get it of course it cannot be found.

UNSATISFACTORY RETURNS.

THE Board of Trade returns for the past month again appear unsatisfactory, as both imports and exports show a considerable decrease. Allowance, however, must be made for the facts that the American tariff was scarcely settled and that the war in the far East stopped some trade to China and Japan during the past month. The imports are valued at £31,638,521, which is less than in August, 1893, by £3,364,251, equal to 9.6 per cent.; the exports of British and Irish produce amount to £18,581,240, a decrease of £948,938, or 4.8 per cent.

With the exception of animals, tobacco, oils, and articles received by parcel post, all classes of imported goods are less in value than last year, especially articles of food and drink and raw materials. Wheat, barley and oats are each more in quantity, but less in value. Wheat flour, peas, beans and Indian corn are less, both in quantity and value. The receipts of wheat and wheat flour in the harvest year expired with August were equal to 22,432,751 qrs., compared with 22,566,654 qrs., and 23,147,518 qrs. respectively in 1893 and 1892. Of barley 8,877,000 qrs. were landed, but in 1893 5,021,139 qrs., and of oats 5,226,508 qrs., as against 5,222,147 qrs. During the past month Russia and the Argentine Republic each sent more wheat, but from the United States less was received.

The increase in refined sugar is 387,375 cwt. derived almost entirely from Germany; but of raw sugar there was a heavy fall of 569,000 cwts., caused mainly by the lessened shipments from Java, the British East Indies and Philippine Islands. Of tea China sent only 6,764,000 pounds, compared with 11,744,000 pounds in August, 1893. Considerable decreases are also found in the landings of india rubber, nitrate of soda and hewn timber.

As to the exports of British and Irish produce, articles of food and drink, raw materials, machinery and mill work, and articles by parcel post are each higher in value; all other classes are lower, especially yarns and textile fabrics and metals. The decrease of cotton yarn and piece goods is more marked in value than in quantity. As to woollens, the expected revival of demand from the United States, which has at last been experienced, had not taken place in August. Of linens, however, that country took 8,038,000 yards, compared with 7,240,000 yards. Of metals only copper and zinc show any increase. Of the others the export of iron in the aggregate is less by 40,000 tons and £207,000 in value.—London Times.

STORE LEAKAGES.

MERCHANTS who do not keep a close watch over their business, says an exchange, are sometimes unable to account for their small incomes. They imagine they ought to be making a fair profit all the time; but the end of the year shows little or no improvement. There are several ways in which little leaks may go on for a long time, entirely unobserved by the proprietor. The following incident was reported the other day by a Winnipeg paper, showing one of the leakages which may exist about a store business :

A prominent retail grocer was somewhat surprised on Thursday on being visited by an ecclesiastical father, who planked down $75 in cold cash on the counter of the store, and remarked that he (the grocer) should keep the amount as his own. Not being fully decided as to what the meaning of this unusual action could be, the dumbfounded grocer interrogated the rev. father, and learned that the amount was the pilferings of one of his clerks, who is a parishioner of the rev. father, and who confessed the theft of the money. It is hardly necessary to comment on the surprise of the grocer. The amount came like so much found money, and swelled the receipts of that day to a goodly sum.

Under the system in which most stores are conducted in this country, there is abundant room for continuous pilfering with little fear of detection, and undoubtedly many retailers lose heavily in this way, even to the extent of ultimately causing failures in some cases. In the grocery trade, for instance, the margin of profits is small, and it would not require a very great leakage of this nature to change a small profit into a loss. If the leak is not discovered and stopped, it may continue month after month and year after year, and finally failure is brought about. Many a reckless clerk could easily squander enough money without being observed, to bring a small business to ruin. Probably very few of the leakages of this nature are ever discovered, and undoubtedly the annual loss to the trade from pilferings is much greater than most merchants believe possible. Sometimes it is the clerk in whom is reposed the fullest confidence, who is the chief cause of the loss. The greater the confidence, the more easily will the dishonest clerk be enabled to carry on his thieving.

All clerks are not dishonest. There are, we hope, a large majority who would not think of appropriating funds of their employers. At the same time, business men should be on their guard for these leakages. They do not need to be continuously keeping a suspicious watch upon their clerks, but should rather try to carry on business in such a way as to make thieving either impossible or very difficult. In the larger stores, where a number of clerks are kept, it is comparatively easy to prevent the appropriation of cash by the employees, by a system which excludes the clerks from handling the cash. In the small stores, where perhaps only one or two clerks are kept, and where the proprietor cannot, of course, always be present, there is greater danger of the existence of these leakages, as the clerks must be allowed to receive payment for goods sold, make change, etc. Hence the great need of care in selecting clerks for such stores.

Another way in which a leakage may occur is in sending out goods through an accomplice, which have not been paid for. This is more likely to occur in the larger city stores. In wrapping up a parcel, it is a comparatively easy matter for a clerk to put in some articles which have not been paid for. To avoid any probability of this practice, some of the stores have all goods sent to the parcel room for wrapping up, while the invoice, together with the cash, goes to the cashier.

FOR THE EDDY CO.'S PRIZE.

The E. B. Eddy Co.'s married men's prize was shot for on Saturday by all the married officers and men of the 43rd. The competition was keen as the prize was a complete set of indurated fibre-ware, etc., etc., etc. The winner was Lieut. J. E. Hutcheson, superintendent of the Ottawa Electric Railway. He made the handsome score of eight consecutive bull's eyes at 500 yards, which beats the record for the Eddy Co.'s prize, which was shot for by many regiments and battalions from one end of Canada to the other.—Journal, Ottawa.

Geo. M. Elliott, grocer, Goderich, in remitting subscription to GROCER, writes: "I am very fond of THE GROCER, and gather many valuable hints therefrom. I am waiting very patiently to see the Fall Number."

Eighth Year

The Canadian Grocer

Fall Trade Number 1894.

THE McLEAN PUBLISHING CO

RETAILERS

HAVE you ever figured out the return on $2 invested in a year's subscription to THE CANADIAN GROCER? No? Well, here's the way to figure it. We will suppose you read it regularly and carefully every week. The first week you see an item stating that John Jones & Co. are making a cut on canned goods; you wire for five cases—lowest saving on each case 10 cents—total profit 50 cents; cost pointer, 3½ cents. Next week you read that the Sultana raisin market opened at a higher price than a year ago; you raise prices on stock on hand and make a profit at the very least of $5—cost of pointer, 3½ cents. The third week you read that molasses will go higher and you promptly order a supply. Sure enough up it goes. You make $25 out of an item that cost you 3½ cents. Here now is a total saving of $30.50 on an investment of 10½ cents. Seems too good to be true, doesn't it? Still hundreds and hundreds of our subscribers can testify that the above is correct. Better invest right away if you have not already done so.

ADVERTISERS

DO you know how to advertise? We mean, to advertise legitimately, scientifically and intelligently? Very few people do. Experience is, of course, the best teacher; lacking this, you must take the experience of advertisers who spend from $1,000 to $200,000 each year. No one can say, in the face of such enormous outlays, that it does not pay. Lots of money is thrown away, but it should not be charged to advertising account, but to inexperience. The largest advertisers in THE CANADIAN GROCER started with the smallest space. To get a return you must look after your advertisement, change it every week, tell your probable buyer something that will interest him, not about yourself but about your goods, make your space so interesting, full of information, new goods and bargains, that he will look for it every week, and your year's advertising will be paid for in three months' time, or less. We sell you the space, and we hold the ears of your probable buyers. Have you noticed that within the last two years we have doubled the advertising on THE CANADIAN GROCER? Do you know why? It is because we now have the circulation and the attention of the best buyers in every city, town and village in Canada. We have worked hard and spent money freely in securing this circulation.

Dear Sir: When in Toronto some time ago you gave me a sample box of English Army Blacking. I resolved to test same, and was so pleased with the result that I consider it my duty to compliment you on the high state of perfection to which you have brought this blacking. I have tried all the famous French and American Blackings, and am not exaggerating a bit when I say that none of them bear comparison with the English Army Blacking. I have spoken of its qualities to a few of my friends, and they are very anxious to know where it can be purchased. I am very glad to know that you are able to manufacture a grade of blacking which can surpass that of foreign manufacture. Yours respectfully,

GLIMPSE AT A FISH-PREPARING FACTORY.

THE inventive genius has been kind to the palate of man as well as careful for his bodily comforts. This is patent to everyone who can glance back ten or twenty years and compare the articles that were then to be found in the average grocer's store with those that are there to-day. In no respect is this probably more striking than in canned goods. Among the manufacturers who have kept in the van of this movement is that of Marshall & Co., Spring Garden Works, Victoria Bridge, Aberdeen, Scotland.

Like many of Great Britain's leading manufacturing firms, Marshall & Co.'s inception dates back many years, and upon the word of reputable Aberdeenshire men who have made

FRONT VIEW OF FACTORY.

Toronto their home, its integrity is as high as the years of its existence is long.

Beginning business in a comparatively small way, Marshall & Co. grew steadily in importance and in favor of consumers at home and abroad, until to-day it is not only one of the oldest but one of the most prominent manufacturing firms of the kind in the world. The firm's manufactures are varied, among them being fresh herring, kippered herring, herrings a la sardine, herrings in tomato sauce, herrings in shrimp sauce, herrings in anchovy sauce, preserved bloater herrings, red herrings, white or salt herrings in tins, kegs and barrels; dried ling and cod, in tin-lined cases and oak, whole and half puncheons; real finnan haddocks, meats, soups, vegetables, potted meats, Scotch oatmeals, pearl barley, etc. Some of these lines, although only of comparatively recent introduction to Canada, are well-known and fast friends. This is particularly true of canned fresh herrings, kippered herrings and preserved bloaters.

For such extensive lines as these enumerated, extensive works are necessary, and the firm has them. They are situated on both sides of the River Dee, and give regular employment to 250 hands. The preserved provision works face the Dee towards the south end of the harbor, cover nearly two acres, are square in plan, built of the native grey granite, for which that part of the country is so famous, and appear to be as substantial as the "everlasting hills," which in fact may also be said of the firm itself. In the centre of the buildings adequate yard space is provided, while the quay in front provides ample wharfage. The buildings were erected specially for the business, and are well lighted, well ventilated and commodious. In this building the beef, mutton, veal and game are prepared and canned. Each tin put up is tested and lacquered. The factory has three vertical steam engines and two boilers for working the machinery and hoists of the factory. "Cleanliness," remarks a writer who once visited the works, "is strictly enforced throughout, and nothing about the works is more agreeable than the firm's rigor in this matter."

On the opposite side of the Dee, at Point Law, is the firm's great pickled or salt herring curing establishment. In the herring season the firm's curing yards at this spot are one of the sights of Aberdeen. There hundreds of "braw Hieland lasses" are employed in assorting, gutting and packing herrings. The fishing boats come right along side and discharge their

"crans" into the receptacles provided for the purpose. In the foreign markets, Marshall & Co. as fish curers and preparers are particularly well known and many thousands of barrels and kegs are exported annually. They are also extensive curers by the smoking process, and have a fine outfit of kilns for that purpose. The accompanying cuts are illustrations of some of Marshall & Co.'s departments.

While the firm's success is largely the result of the ingenuity, integrity and enterprise of its members, there is another important factor: That is the superior quality of the fish to be found in the sea in that part of Scotland, the cattle that are to be found in the Highlands, and the sheep that roam in the Aberdeenshire pasture lands.

The fishing boats employed by the firm number several hundred. The fishing is confined to about one month in midsummer, when the fish are in their prime condition; and while some firms in similar industries extend the catching period, Marshall & Co. are so solicitous for their good name that they refuse to be induced to follow the example of others. It is no wonder that the firm should have carried off the highest awards for canned fish at Sydney, 1879; Melbourne, 1880, and Adelaide, 1881, and become the manufacturers and contractors to the Royal Navy.

The original founders of the firm have passed away, but their mantle has fallen upon the present partners, A. W. Ledingham and W. M. Ledingham, who are universally regarded as pillars of the industry of the port, and are among the most genial and courteous of Aberdeenians. And to this latter peculiarity THE GROCER is able to testify from experience.

HOW TO REMEMBER FIGURES.

FEW of us there are who are adepts at remembering figures. And in our moments of perplexity blessed would we have called the man who would have advanced some simple method whereby we would be enabled to strengthen ourselves in this particular weakness.

A writer in Business, named James C. Moffet, has some advice to offer, which cannot but be helpful in the premises. He starts with the premise that according to the laws of mental association we can recall knowledge only by connecting the unknown with the known. Just here lies, he proceeds, the whole secret of a good memory for figures, words, ideas or anything else. We must always proceed from the known to the unknown, and recently acquired knowledge should be firmly associated with facts we already have a strong hold upon. To apply this to figures: We should associate a figure with an article that it belongs to, so that when we think of the latter we will also recall the former. To remember the price per yard of a particular piece of dress goods, for instance, we should always recall its price whenever we look at or think of that piece of goods. This will stamp it indelibly upon one's memory. The reason we never forget the price of a certain widely advertised three dollar shoe is because we always think of the price and the shoe together.

REMEMBERING PRICES.

Suppose, however, one wishes to remember the prices of a dozen or a hundred different patterns and qualities of dress goods, how is he to do it? Simply by distinguishing one piece from another and connecting the price with the article. If there is a difference in price between two pieces of goods, there must necessarily be some difference in quality or design, or possibly both. The first thing to be done, then, is to ascertain what this difference is, and then the association can be made more easily and intelligently. Differentiating one article or object from another is one of the most valuable habits a person can acquire; it is the basis of all scientific observation and the first step in memorizing.

THE PRACTICAL METHOD.

Whenever we run across a salesman in a store, or a drummer on the road, who remembers without effort the price of every article he handles, we will probably find out if we inquire that he does so because he has acquired the habit of never looking at an article in his stock or sample case without recalling its price. The two go always together. This is the reason we recollect some dates and forget others; those we forget have not been indissolubly connected with the events to which they refer. Were the mental operations of those persons who are supposed to be "blessed" with phenomenal figure memories, or heads for dates, carefully analyzed, it would be discovered that they had acquired this habit, most likely unconsciously, of storing away and recalling figures and facts together. Those dates that the poorest memories retain are those that are so closely associated with the events to which they refer that they are being continually recalled with their events.

No one should rely when memorizing upon mnemonical aids if they can possibly avoid doing so. The use of what mnemonicians call a "figure alphabet," can only be of service to one who is preparing for an examination and wants to retain certain dates and figures in his memory for only a few days, until the ordeal is over. The natural way is to connect what you want to remember with what you already know by means of its resemblance or contrast, or by contiguity in time or place. This last principle is that which we see in operation when we endeavor to commit anything to memory by repetition; we repeat a series of words together so that we recall them again because they have been placed side by side.

AVOID REPETITIONS.

Speaking of learning by rote, it may be remarked that there is no type large enough in a printing office in which to say that words and figures must not be repeated in memorizing oftener than is absolutely necessary, as the mind should be trained to grasp instantly and tenaciously what it wants to master. If the memory is to be strengthened, the work of learning by heart must be done energetically. The mind, like the body, should be developed by vigorous exercise.

If we have a series of figures to remember, and nothing concrete with which to connect them, we should associate them one to another. This, of course, may at first prove very difficult, but one peculiarity of the memory that will soon make itself apparent to any one who takes advantage of the foregoing hints, is that the more we strive intelligently to remember figures the easier becomes the process. In fact good memory is really all a matter of habit. To put the whole thing in a nutshell, it may be said that all who wish to master "the art of never forgetting" must form the habit of recalling their figures with their facts or with each other. When this has been accomplished they will discover they have learned the true secret of a good figure memory.

WEALTH AND PROSPERITY

MONTREAL

Its Shippers, Wholesalers and Manufacturers.

MONTREAL is the chief entrepot of the Dominion, has always been, and its citizens aver it is likely to remain so. Her annual imports were valued at $57,000,000 and her exports at $54,000,000 in 1893. During that year there was cleared from her harbor 804 seagoing vessels, the tonnage of which was 1,151,777, and some 5,000 inland vessels with a tonnage of 1,000,000.

A port with a trade of these dimensions takes no mean rank compared with other of the world's great centres of trade; and the record shows that it is constantly expanding from year to year.

Montreal's future is assured, and, in fact, was so from the early days of its history when the fur traders selected it as the most advantageous site for their annual gathering, though other places made great bids to get it.

The city owes a great deal of her success to her unequalled geographical position, the merits of which appear to have been recognized long before the white man ever set his foot in Canada, for even then it was the home of a prosperous, if primitive, community, as the narratives of the early voyagers attest.

This position gives the city command of many natural arteries of communication, and supplemented as it is by great artificial means for carrying goods both to and from the port, the surprise is not that Montreal's trade is what it is, but why it is not more. The record of each successive year, however, shows that the enterprise of her merchants, whose financial resources are more than equal to those of any other two or three cities, is steadily remedying this. A noteworthy fact also is their conservative spirit, so that if the city has made great strides it is based, owing to this disposition of her traders, upon a safe and solid foundation.

The banks of Montreal are the leading institutions of the kind in the Dominion, and managed by shrewd, able financiers, they supply the much needed sinews of war with which Montreal's enormous trade is carried on. The increase in their capital account from $13,457,000 odd in 1858 to $27,555,000 odd in 1891, the increase in circulation from $6,205,000 odd in the same year to $14,312,000 odd in 1893, and the increase in deposits from $6,123,958 in 1858 to $58,882,336 in 1891, is a record showing plainly how satisfactory the expansion has been. If the financial pulse of Old England is in Threadneedle street, the financial pulse of Canada is in Place d'Armes square, and the Bank of Montreal is that pulse. Montrealers may well be proud of having the third greatest financial institution in the world. The story of the increase of the paid-up capital of this great institution is, as a leading banker puts it, one of the most remarkable things in the history of banking. In 1829 its capital was $850,000; in 1841, $2,000,000; in 1845, $3,000,000; in 1855, $4,000,000, and it went on increasing in a greater ratio each successive year until it now stands at $12,000,000, the largest capital on the American continent, and one of the firmest banking institutions in the world. The beneficial influence that this great bank can exert in times of stringency was never more evident than last year. Then the banks all over were calling in their loans, and a regular crash of most disastrous consequences was only averted by the action on the Montreal Stock Exchange by the Bank of Montreal breaking its usual rule not to finance Stock Exchange speculation, and offering to help the distressed brokers to tide over the evil day. Its great resources enabled it to take this step which a weaker institution would not have dared to do with the business conditions as they were, and the commercial world in a very feverish state.

Next to the Montreal is the Merchants' bank, with a paid-up capital of $5,799,200, and a rest of $2,570,000. The Bank of British North America is perhaps the second bank in the Dominion in point of financial resources. Its stock, however, is all held in England, and in this sense it occupies an unusual position among Canadian banks. The Molsons, the Ville Marie, the Hochelaga, the People's, and the Jacques Cartier, all sound and flourishing institutions, cannot be forgotten either, nor the ably managed branches of the various other banks whose headquarters are in other cities. In fact, looking over the roll of banks doing business in Montreal, and the funds at their disposal, one has to admit that Montreal merchants are well provided with banking facilities.

Next to the money to buy and sell the merchandise, the essential is means of forwarding it to its destination. In this respect Montreal possesses peculiar natural advantages, and they have been supplemented by comprehensive artificial ones. It was a Montreal merchant, John Molson, the founder of the family of that name so intimately identified with the commerce of the city, who utilized the St. Lawrence for steam navigation. From this beginning—the primitive accommodation—has sprung the great fleet of inland vessels that come to and go from the wharves of Montreal every summer. It was another Montrealer also, Sir Hugh Allan, who systematically developed the trans-oceanic trade of the city with Great Britain. A small sailing vessel, the Jean, was the ancestor of the great fleet of ocean leviathans that now line the Allan docks every summer. The increasing business done by the Allan's soon attracted competitors, and the next candidate for patronage was the Dominion and Mississippi Steamship Company. This was followed by the Beaver Line, a company owned and operated entirely by Montrealers, and finally, as the trade of the "Royal City" expanded, communication was opened with other places in Great Britain and on the continent. There are now eight lines of steamships sailing out of Montreal—the Allan, Dominion, Beaver, Donaldson, Thompson, Head, Johnston and Hamburg American, affording weekly communication with Liverpool, London, Bristol and Glasgow, and fortnightly sailings for Hamburg, Antwerp and Bremen. There is also a tri-weekly service to the West Indies by the steamers of J. S. Vipond & Co., while Quebec Steamship Co. and the Black Diamond Line do a large gulf and coasting trade with the lower ports. The latter company also operates the colliers that carry the product of the great Nova Scotia coal mines to Montreal. In this connection the Dominion Coal Co. have put in appliances which places Montreal equal if not ahead of any port on the continent for the unloading and quick despatch of coal cargoes. In the inland forwarding trade there is the Richelieu Co., the Montreal Transportation Co., the Kingston and Montreal Forwarding Co., and the Ottawa River Navigation Co.

It is almost needless to refer to the two great systems of Canadian railway, as every reader knows all about them. It may be stated, however, that they have their headquarters in Montreal, and that the Canadian Pacific have erected two enormous grain elevators right on the wharves in their east end yards. These elevators have a capacity of many millions of bushels. Other elevating facilities for the vast quantities of Canadian and American grain that pass through Montreal are supplied by the Montreal Elevating Co., which, in addition to their fleet of floating elevators working in the harbor, have two great stationary establishments on the canal, which, like those of the C.P.R., are in direct communication with the docks and the yards of the Grand Trunk. The two railways, it may be stated, give employment to over 15,000 men in Montreal. In addition to the communication they afford, there is the Central Vermont, Delaware and Hudson, and New York Central roads, which connect with New York, Boston and other American centres. In a word, Montreal is in close touch with the entire continent, through the great railway systems centering there and her unequalled water communication.

The trade that these great banking and forwarding institutions cater to comprises everything from the export of grain and produce to all kinds of manufacture. Montreal is not only the greatest shoe manufacturing centre in Canada, but is the greatest cotton, cigar, tobacco, rubber and clothing manufacturing centre in the Dominion. The capital invested in these is approximated at $59,000,000 odd, and they employ a vast industrial army of men and women, whose wages probably aggregate in the vicinity of $20,000,000 odd, and the probable value of the goods they turn out may be set at $130,000,000 odd. These figures show that Montreal is not simply a great commercial and trading centre, but is a great manufacturing city as well. The municipality only takes real estate, and the city's realty taxed and exempt is valued at $140,000,000. The facts we have above outlined will convey some rough idea of the great and elastic resources of Montreal, for only a rough idea can be afforded in a sketch of this kind.

INCEPTION OF WHOLESALE GROCERS' ASSOCIATION.

It was about seventeen years ago that that important body of business men, the Montreal Wholesale Grocers' Association, met in the office of Lockerby Bros., then known as Kirk, Lockerby & Co., for the purpose of organization. Up to that time each member of the trade acted on lines of his own, and, of course, the result was more or less friction. At the time mentioned, however, Messrs. Childs, Lockerby, Kinloch, Hebert, Lindsay and other leading members of the trade came to the conclusion that wholesale groceries was a sufficiently important branch of the business world to be represented by a regularly organized association, and the meeting above referred to was the result. For the first ten or eleven years the association was not affiliated with the Board of Trade, and, as a consequence, did not exercise the weight in the business world that it now does. Seven years ago, however, in consequence of representations that were made to it as well as to other trade associations by representatives of the Board of Trade, it became an affiliated branch of that body, and since that time, owing to the representation that it has on the Executive, has been able to secure the backing of the combined influence of the entire business community for any reforms in trade matters that it has desired to secure. At present, with two or three exceptions at the outside, every firm in the wholesale grocery trade of Montreal is a member of the association. The present office holders, which we append, will show plainly that it numbers all the leading firms on its roll.

The firm of the President, Geo. Childs, of Geo. Childs & Co., is one that has witnessed fewer changes in its personnel than perhaps any other firm in Montreal. Thirty-one years ago the business was started by its present leading partner, Geo. Childs, on St. Paul street. It has made two moves since—first, to St. Francis Xavier street, and, finally, to the present commodious premises that the firm at present occupy at 152 and 154 McGill street. Mr. Childs has had his two sons associated with him in the management of the firm's extensive business, the ramifications of which extend from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and which requires a large staff of employees as well as a full force of travelers to handle. In addition to occupying the presidency of the Wholesale Grocers' Association for a number of years, Mr. Childs has filled several other public offices, and is a director of a number of leading business companies also.

HUDON, HEBERT & CO.

The firm of the Vice-President, C. P. Hebert, of Hudon, Hebert & Co., is a wealthy concern; in fact, one of the wealthiest in the trade. It does an enormous trade in general groceries, and also in flour and provisions, and wines and spirits, a unique feature in connection with it being that it does all its great business direct from its warehouse, not employing a single traveler. The business was originally founded by E. V. Hudon in 1837, and has had several changes of title since then. In addition to C. P. Hebert, who has held office on the Executive of the Board of Trade and the Grocers' Association for a number of years, there are several other partners—Mr. Hudon, the senior partner of the concern, and C. Hebert, jr., and one of Mr. Hebert's son's-in-law. The firm up to the present year occupied the large warehouses facing on St. Paul and Commissioner streets. This year, however, they have secured the three large warehouses at the corner of St. Sulpice and De Bresole streets, and facing also on Le Royer streets. This site gives them exceptional advantages for the receipt and transmission of goods, facing as it does on three different streets. The premises in question are now undergoing extensive alterations and repairs which, when finished, will make one of the most complete grocery warehouses in the country. The firm will take possession of their new premises some time during the present or following month.

LOCKERBY BROS.

The firm to which the Treasurer, Mr. Lockerby, belongs—Lockerby Bros.—is the direct descendant of one of the most influential of the English wholesale houses. Douglas, Kirk & Co. was the original title of the great business of which D. W. Lockerby is now the chief director. Twenty-two years ago Mr. Douglas, the senior partner dying, John Kirk, the junior partner, took the present head of the business, D. W. Lockerby, into partnership. In 1886 Mr. Kirk retired and Mr. Lockerby then took his brother into the firm, and it assumed its present well known title, Lockerby Bros. The firm's warehouse is the large one at the corner of St. Peter and Sacrament streets, and it does a very large business, restricting its attention to regular groceries.

L. CHAPUT, SONS & CO.

Chas. Chaput, the first named of the directors, is a member of the well-known firm of L. Chaput, Sons & Co. This is another of the leading French-Canadian houses, and financially one of the very strongest, while it is one of the most enterprising in the trade. The conservative manner in which they carry on their extensive business is a feature that the trade generally admire. This firm was founded by L. Chaput many years ago, and at present the head of the firm is Charles Chaput, L. Chaput having retired from the business. Associated with Charles Chaput in the management are E. St. Denis, L. N. St. Arnaud and L. E. Geoffrion. The firm's headquarters are at No. 2 to 6 De Bresole street, and also faces on St. Dizier and Le Royer streets as well. The reader has only to pay the warehouse a visit to realize that it is in every respect a modern establishment.

KINLOCH, LINDSAY & CO.

Wm. Kinloch, another of the directors of the association, is a member of the oldest wholesale grocery firm in Montreal, Kinloch, Lindsay & Co. This firm can trace back its history for fifty-one years, when it was known under the title, Kingan & Kinloch, so that in addition to being a member of the oldest firm, Mr. Kinloch is also the oldest of the active wholesale grocery merchants of Montreal. In 1864, the present junior partner, who can give many other senior partners a handicap of a few years, entered the firm, but the style of the firm was not changed to its present title till 1874. It occupies large premises at 80 St. Peter street, opposite the Board of Trade, and it is noted as one of the most conservative houses in the trade. Tea of all kinds, of which it handles very large quantities every year, is its leading specialty, and what Mr. Lindsay does not know about tea would fill an extremely small book.

CAVERHILL, HUGHES & CO.

H. H. F. Hughes, or, as he is more popularly known, Fred. Hughes, the other director, is a member of one of the younger houses in the trade, Caverhill, Hughes & Co. This firm is an amalgamation of two houses, Caverhill, Hughes & Co. and Turner, Rose & Co., which took place a few years ago. It was then known as Caverhill, Rose, Hughes & Co., but in 1893 Mr. Rose retired, and the firm assumed the old title of Caverhill, Hughes & Co., with Mr. Caverhill and Mr. Hughes as the two sole partners. The former gentleman attends to the financial portion of the firm's business, while Mr. Hughes looks after the business part. It is in every respect one of the most enterprising firms in the trade, and is in the first rank in point of the quantity of its yearly turnover of goods.

N. QUINTAL & SON.

Forty-one years ago N. Quintal founded the business now known as that of N. Quintal & Son. Thirty years later he admitted his son as a partner. The firm transacts a large business in all kinds of groceries throughout the Dominion, but the bulk of its trade is its enormous turnover of fish, molasses, and the other heavier lines of groceries, as well as flour and provisions, in the Province of Quebec. The firm's warehouses are 270 and 274 St. Paul street, where a large staff are employed.

RANSOM, FORBES & CO.

In the extensive warehouse at 156 McGill street, Ransom, Forbes & Co. transact their large business. The partners are Mr. Ransom and Geo. Forbes. The former received his early education in the trade with J. A. Mathewson & Co., while Mr. Forbes, previous to his partnership with Mr. Ransom, was a trader on his own account for many years.

CARTER, GALBRAITH & CO.

The firm of Carter, Galbraith & Co., whose large warehouse stands at the corner of Foundling and St. Peter streets, are the direct successors of the enterprising firm of Wood, Carter & Co., who formerly occupied premises on the other side of St Ann's Market. The firm, therefore, can date its history back for quite a number of years. About four or five years ago, Wood, Carter & Co. dissolved partnership, Mr. Wood taking the provision business proper, which was an extensive branch with the firm, while Mr. Carter took control of the grocery end. The latter gentleman associated with him Wm. Galbraith, who had been previously associated with J. A. Mathewson & Co., and the firm assumed its present title of Carter, Galbraith & Co. Both the gentlemen show a large experience, and Mr. Galbraith is one of the veteran members of the Dominion Commercial Travelers' Association.

J. O. VILLENEUVE & CO.

As traders the firm of J. O. Villeneuve & Co., 1,260 St. Lawrence street, can go back for over thirty years, but their life in the ranks of the wholesale grocers proper only dates back a few years. The firm was founded by the present mayor of Montreal, J. O. Villeneuve, and has always done a large trading and supply business with retail grocers, provision dealers and country traders. J. O. Villeneuve is a member of the Harbor Commission, and also sits for the county of Hochelaga in the Provincial Legislature, in addition to being mayor of the city.

J. A. MATHEWSON & CO.

One of the oldest and strongest firms in the trade is that of J. A. Mathewson & Co., which was founded as far back as 1834 by Samuel Mathewson. In 1831 it removed to the premises built by J. A. Mathewson, Sr., on McGill street, where it has been located for fifty years. J. A. Mathewson has associated with him in the management of the firm his three sons, and it does an enormous trade, especially in the Townships and up the Ottawa valley. Outside of the grocery business proper, Mr. Mathewson is well known for his unassuming and whole souled benevolence to the poor of the community.

STOREKEEPING OUTSIDE CIVILIZATION.

By the Editor.

Alfred (Fred) Brick.

VASTLY different is storekeeping in Canada to-day and storekeeping in Canada a century ago. We learn this from the historian ; we learn it from tradition. And the modern merchant, in spite of the evils with which he has to contend, congratulates himself that his lot was cast in the latter part of the nineteenth century, if he goes so far as to make a comparison.

But marked as has been the development of business and business methods in Canada during the past hundred years, there are .parts of the country where the primitive storekeeping methods of a century ago still obtain. And some of them are neither the planting of generations ago, nor the property of Rip Van Winkles ; they are the product of the exigencies of to-day. They are as adaptable to their environment as were their prototypes in the days of Simcoe, Brock, Durham and other celebrities who, in the early history of the country, played important parts in fashioning and shaping its destiny. Taking into consideration their surroundings and the office they have to fulfil, they are as modern as are the department stores that have developed within the last few years in the larger centres of population.

One of these primitive stores is to be found away up upon the banks of the Peace river, four hundred miles north of Edmonton, N.W.T., and the nearest railway point. Its proprietors are two brothers, T. A. and Alfred Brick. And primitive indeed is their manner of doing business ; one more so probably never existed since white man first set up storekeeping in the country. The only difference, probably, is in the character of the goods found in stock, and in some of the customers. Canned goods and other latter-day commodities are to be found upon the shelves, and the customers, instead of being all Indians, are Indians and half-breeds. No white men buy at their counters for the simple reason that the pale-faced settlers' zone has not reached that part of the country yet. Neither does the white man's currency yet circulate in this northern latitude. Barter, in all its primitive fulness, obtains. But if they are devoid of dollars and cents whereby values may be computed, they are not without a unit of value. That unit of value is what is termed a "skin," and upon that basis Brick Bros. sell and poor Lo buys.

Discourse as one may upon the advisability of storekeepers exercising caution, buying frequently and keeping their stocks fresh, all must be unheeded by Brick Bros., no matter how desirous they may be of being in the modern swim. The hustling commercial traveler does not call upon them once a week, month or even year. In fact, he never calls. Brick Bros. have to come to the wholesale markets themselves. And this they do once a year, and during the summer months. Toronto is their headquarters for supplies, and the duty of selecting these this year devolved upon Alfred Brick, the younger brother. He spent two weeks in the "Queen City" making his purchases, and on the evening of the day before he started for his long journey home I had a pleasant and interesting hour's chat with him. I found him a bright and intelligent young man who had not yet seen a quarter of century of life. He had none of the appearance or manner of a man who had spent about half his life outside the pale of civilization. The cause of his going there was not his own volition. Until about twelve years ago he was a school boy in Toronto. Then he, with the other members of the family, accompanied his father to the Peace river, where the latter went as an Anglican missionary to the Pagan aborigines. About two years ago Alfred and his senior brother, T. A., began storekeeping 400 miles north of Edmonton, with a general stock adapted to the wants of their aboriginal customers. And now they are starting a branch store 300 miles further north, with T. A. Brick in charge. It is hardly necessary to say that telephone communication will be established between the two stores at present. The distance is so short that communication for the time being will be kept up by the aid of boats in summer and dog teams in winter.

To get their supplies from the wholesale houses in Toronto to the store on the Peace river, is no small matter, and requires the combined aid of the modern carrier, the railway, and the primitive, the horse team and the cumbersome river boat. The distance every package of goods has to be taken is nearly 3,000 miles. Of course, the greater distance is traversed by rail—some 2,500 miles—to Edmonton, but to go the remaining four hundred miles consumes four times as much time as it takes to make the railway journey. The freight charges for the transportation of goods from Toronto to Brick Bros.' store on the Peace river aggregates from ten to eleven cents a pound, while the time occupied in the journey is some five weeks. One could make several journeys across either the Continent or the Atlantic in the meantime. The manner of carrying the goods from Edmonton, at the end of the railway service, to the site of his store, I will let Mr. Brick tell in his own words.

"After the goods reach Edmonton by the C.P.R., we team them overland 90 miles to Athabasca Landing. Each team of horses will take about 2,500 pounds. Athabasca Landing is the great divide for the distribution of freight. The freight that is destined for the Northwest goes up the river, and that for the North goes down the river. All the Hudson Bay Co.'s freight coming in at Edmonton for distribution among its several stations is teamed to Athabasca, and sent up and down the river as I have described.

"At Athabasca we take a boat 47 feet long by about 12 feet beam. While on the river the boat is towed by Indians, four of them on the line. The Indians pick up the tow line about 4 o'clock in the morning. Three stops are made per day for rest and meals, and we go into camp for the night about 8 o'clock. In this way we make from 20 to 28 miles a day.

"Towing a boat is about the only thing an Indian is good for," parenthetically remarked Mr. Brick, as, with a smile, he momentarily raised his right hand from where it had been resting on his knee. "He is not any good for general or farm work, but in towing a boat he beats the white man hollow."

Where the river flows into the lake, the Indians leave the tow path, enter the boat and man the sweeps, eight of which there are in all. The river and lake route from Athabaska Landing to Brick Bros.' store occupies from 18 to 20 days in traversing.

"What remuneration does an Indian get for towing and rowing the boat so many days?" I asked.

"Each Indian gets so much for the trip. It is reckoned in skins and he takes it out in trade, for you know we never use money up there."

"Tell me something of the way in which you do business?" I asked.

"It is all barter. An Indian will come in with his pile of furs and throw them down on the floor of the store. After examining them we tell him, in a lump sum, how many 'skins' we will allow him for his pile."

"Do you sometimes experience difficulty in striking a bargain?"

"Yes; sometimes blows are struck, but nothing serious ever happens. If the Indian is satisfied with what we offer him he will start in to take out the amount in goods. He generally begins with clothing for himself. Next ammunition and then tobacco and tea. He will have those things before anything else. If, after getting these, he has still a balance coming, he begins to think about his wife and children. They are very fond of jewelry, particularly brooches and ear-rings.

"Do you find your customers as a rule honest?"

"Far from it," rejoined Mr. Brick, emphatically. "But of course you will strike one amongst the crowd now and then who will have a little consideration for the man into whose pocket he gets his hand and leave something, but most of them won't leave anything. The Indian, I can tell you, is no fool. He is as sharp as a steel trap, and will get the best of you in a deal unless you keep your eyes open. One favorite trick of his is this: He will buy, say, a comb and a match box, costing half a 'skin' each. Then he will pretend that he has changed his mind and hand back one of the articles and try to get something worth a 'skin' in return for it. But just attempt to cheat him and see how you will get disappointed; you can't cheat him."

"I suppose you get good profits?" I remarked.

"Yes; fair," quietly replied Mr. Brick; "but the great drawback is the heavy freight rates entailed in shipping goods from the wholesale centres to our store."

"Do you do much business on credit?"

"Yes; that is to the trustworthy Indians. We have been there long enough to know who can be trusted and who can not. An Indian wants goods in the fall when he is preparing to go off trapping, but he has no 'skins' to pay for them. So he brings a horse to us and leaves it as security for two-thirds value of the goods received. In the winter, when he comes back from the hunt, the first thing he will do is to redeem his horse. Then whatever surplus he may have is expended on supplies."

"Sometimes, I suppose, you make bad debts?" I further ventured.

"Yes, but very few. And those that we do make are seldom on account of the dishonesty of the Indian. Not at all. As long as an Indian can pay his way he will. When he is unable to meet his obligations it is generally because the hunting season has turned out bad."

The furs obtained in that part of the country, Mr. Brick informed me, are bear (black, brown and cinnamon), beaver, fish otter, martin, mink, wolverine, skunk, muskrat, etc. "But the market price of furs is very low now," he added. "We sell our furs in Edmonton, and prices there last spring were lower than ever before."

All packages of merchandise taken into the Northwest Territories are examined by the Mounted Police in order to prevent intoxicating liquors from entering. The examination is done by means of steel needles several feet in length, which are thrust into the packages here and there. Proprietary medicines, such as "pain killer," beef, iron and wine, etc., can be taken in freely. "Pain killer" is the Indian's substitute for whiskey. He drinks it with gusto, and seems to prefer it without any dilutant. Sometimes he adds water, but it is apparently more with the intention of increasing the quantity of the beverage than toning down its firey properties.

Brick Bros. find it necessary during the winter months to make occasional trips to Edmonton. The river of course being frozen over, recourse is had to snowshoes and dog trains. The accompanying illustration shows Alfred Brick, a companion, and the dog train with which they made the journey last winter to Edmonton. It takes from eight to ten days to traverse the 400 miles between their store and that place. At night they are compelled, of course, to sleep out upon the open prairie. But rigorous as the weather may be, it causes little or no inconvenience to the travelers. With their showshoes as shovels they throw back the snow to make places for their beds and a fire. Then, when supper has been partaken of, the travelers wrap themselves in their furs, lie down in their snowy couch, and sleep as soundly and comfortably as any storekeeper inside the pale of civilization does.

"I suppose," interjected a lady who had become interested in our conversation, "that the Indian wives do all the heavy work?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Brick, and added with a laugh, "but sometimes the woman is the boss; but even then, like a good and faithful spouse, she does the heavy work."

"Oh, I would not mind that if I was boss," remarked the aforesaid lady, with an emphasis on the latter "I."

In case any of The Grocer's readers should desire to write these far-distant storekeepers, I give their address: "Brick Bros., Peace river, via Edmonton." It is not as ambiguous as was the letter addressed by a woman in Ireland to her son in America: "Pat O'Neil, America," for a letter addressed to Brick Bros. as directed will get there in time, although it may take a long time. From Edmonton there is no regular mail carrier. Whatever mail matter there may be for, say Brick Bros., depends on the first reputable traveler that is journeying northward for its forwarding. He carries it as far as he goes. If it is a hundred or two hundred miles, or whatever distance it may be. Then it gets a further lift towards its destination when the next traveler comes along bound in that direction, and so on.

HAMILTON

Her Resources, Merchants and Manufacturers.

HAMILTON is not a city set upon a hill. She is at the foot of one—or rather at the foot of a mountain—and the waters of Burlington Bay lave her feet. But if the city is not elevated the ambition of its citizens is, hence the cognomen, "Ambitious City," given by a traveler some forty years ago, and retained to this day. And the name was not inappropriately given. Hamilton is an ambitious city. The position she occupies to-day as second in population in Ontario and third in the Dominion demonstrates this, while a still better evidence is the fact that in proportion to population she is the largest manufacturing city in the Dominion; and this has led to her being dubbed with a second cognomen, the "Birmingham of Canada."

Burlington Bay and the future site of Hamilton was a little late in being revealed to the gaze of the early explorers of the country. The Fleur-de-Lis of France had floated in the breezes of Lakes Simcoe and Huron some time before La Salle, in skirting Lake Ontario, found the little sylvan lake known to us to-day as Burlington Bay, with its overhanging banks, rich foliage and towering mountain reflected on its bosom. That was over two and a quarter centuries ago. And although the handiwork of man has marred much of its original grandeur, Burlington Bay and its environment is still of rare beauty, while the hands that razed the forest trees and built habitations for the white man are relieved of any disabilities. If they destroyed one kind of beauty it was only to create another. Hamilton is a lovely city. The little park known as the Gore, in the very heart of the business part of the city, with its inviting shade trees, pretty flowers, well-kept grass plots, and tempting seats, where tired clerks, wearied shop girls, worried merchants, and hardworked mechanics can find rest during the noon-day hour, is a standing rebuke to the parsimonious policy of most cities. Many of the public and private buildings of Hamilton would do credit to a city much larger in population. Seldom is the heart of the visitor saddened by the eye meeting hovels of poverty, while frequently is the heart gladdened by the comfortable houses of brick or stone which stand in the midst of well kept and sloping lawns, while the fringe of substantial and handsome residences of the wealthier citizens form a background of picturesque beauty not soon forgotten.

The site of Hamilton was intended by Nature as the resting place of a city. And when she was forming its physical features and that of the adjoining country, she exercised a peculiar care in the carrying out of her purpose. When building the great Niagara escarpment she brought it on in a straight line until it reached the vicinity of the Hamilton of to-day, when she caused it to describe a half circle. And in the amphitheatre thus formed nestles the city of Hamilton. A city's possibilities for greatness are governed to no small extent by its contiguity to navigable waters. And again was Nature kind to Hamilton, for in creating Burlington Bay she created the best and most sheltered harbor on Lake Ontario.

It was foreordained that a city should spring up on the spot where the "Ambitious City" stands, but the cause of which the Hamilton of to-day is the effect was the massing of troops on its site in the war of 1812-14. And an enterprising farmer named George Hamilton took advantage of the prominence that the place had obtained through being made a military rendezvous, and laid out his acres of forest and field into village lots. That was in 1813. And the result is the to-day city of 50,000 inhabitants, with its 170 factories, 14,000 artizans, many busy warehouses and stores and exceptional educational advantages.

The growth of Hamilton has not been spasmodic. It has been gradual, although its development has probably been more marked during the last fifteen years than during any other time in its history.

Hamilton has had the fortunate peculiarity of applying her skill and capital in promoting those industries which were most likely to take root in her midst, until to-day the factories, workshops, mills, etc., of the "Ambitious City," turn out almost every kind of article that is required in the Dominion. There is scarcely an important branch of industry that is left unrepresented. Her factories equipped with modern machinery, and the latest labor-saving devices to miminize the cost of production, maintain a daily output of innumerable articles of metal, wood, leather, textile fabrics, glassware, pottery, clothing, cured meats, and canned meats, fruits and vegetables. The total capital invested in manufacturing industries in the city is $8,360,000.

Important as is Hamilton as a manufacturing centre, she is scarcely any less so as a wholesale centre, goods from some of her warehouses going out to all parts of the Dominion. And among the wholesale trades it is the grocers that take first rank.

The general financial condition of the city is sound. The best evidence of this is its peculiar freedom of late years from serious failures.

Hamilton has 90¼ miles of streets, 90 3-10 miles of water mains, 40 miles of sewers, and 35½ acres of public parks. The area of the city itself is 3,696 acres. The citizens are blessed with an excellent system of waterworks, the city is lit by both electric light and gas, while an efficient and well-appointed electric street railway system branches out into all parts of the city.

The lines of railway running into Hamilton are the Southern Division of the Grand Trunk and Hamilton and Northwestern Division of the same system, thus giving access to all parts of the Province. But the fact that the city is without railway competition does not redound to its commercial advantage. It is, however, but a matter of time before the city's shortcoming in this respect will be remedied. At the moment the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo and the St. Catharines and Niagara Central Railway companies are negotiating for an entrance. With these railways touching the city, the merchants and manufacturers of Hamilton will not only in all likelihood obtain cheaper freight rates, but the one will give the "Ambitious City" connection with the Michigan Central railway, and the other will put it in touch with the large railway systems of the United States, while both of these railways will bring in cheaper coal, an important consideration to Hamilton on account of the large quantity of fuel that is necessarily required for use in her many factories. The Hamilton and Dundas street railway system brings in large numbers of customers from the outlying country; and the city will still more be benefitted in this particular when the Hamilton, Grimsby and Beamsville electric railway is in operation, as it soon will be. This railway will run into the very heart of the far-famed Niagara district, and, besides bringing many customers into the city, will convey large quantities of fruit and produce to the Hamilton market.

The "Ambitious City" is fairly well off as far as communication with the outside world by water is concerned, steamboats running out of Burlington Bay at regular intervals for Chicago, Sault Ste. Marie, Toronto, Montreal, etc.

The seal of prosperity has been set upon Hamilton. It must be evident to every one who will consider her natural advantages and the class of men who are making and selling goods there. She is bound to grow; and it would be a rash man who would place a limit upon her possibilities.

Subjoined are sketches of Hamilton's wholesale grocery houses and the principal manufacturing industries allied to the grocery trade.

LUCAS, STEELE & BRISTOL.

This firm of wholesale grocers may be termed the offspring of the old house of G. J. Forster & Co., founded away back in the "fifties," and the present partners are wont to point with pride to an old but well preserved mahogany desk upon which samples have stood every day for some two score of years, except holidays and the day of Mr. Forster's death. When the original founder of the house died the business was carried on by Messrs. Lucas and Park, under the style of Lucas, Park & Co. In 1881 Messrs. Bristol and Steele entered the firm, the same title still being retained. Eleven years later Mr. Park retired, and then the firm name was changed to its present style of Lucas, Steele & Bristol. The firm carries a full line of groceries, and it caters to the territory in Ontario lying west of Toronto, and to Manitoba, the Territories and British Columbia. The firm's specialties are teas, coffees and spices. Hillwattee is the firm's leading feature in teas, while it carries full lines of Indian, Ceylon and Japan teas, the last named particularly, at prices that will retail at from 25 to 50c. In coffees the brand that the firm pushes particularly is the L. P. & Co. blend No. 1, packed in 25 and 50 pound air-tight cans. In spices they handle none but pure, and L. P. & Co. is again the brand which the firm centres its efforts upon in this line. Lucas, Steele & Bristol moved into the warehouse they at present occupy some thirteen years ago. It is peculiarly adapted for carrying on a wholesale grocery trade, having been built for the purpose. It is built of grey stone hewn from the adjacent mountain, of which one of the partners says it is a part, and is therefore just as solid. And it looks it, the walls being built as for a fortress, while massive stone pillars in the cellar support the ground floor. The building is in the shape of a big "L" with the cellar running around to Merrick street under Calder & Co.'s building. An open court yard entering from MacNab street gives the firm excellent facilities for loading and unloading goods. The building is four stories high and has a frontage in MacNab street of about 80 feet. The sample rooms are large and general offices are well ventilated and lighted and spacious. And all that is said of the offices applies with equal truth to the warerooms. Lucas, Steele & Bristol pride themselves upon the success with which they fill orders: Every order coming in before 5 p.m. is shipped on the day which it is received, and in order to assist in the premises the firm has for two years issued a freight time table, prepared especially for it by the G. T. R., which informs the trade when goods can be shipped from Hamilton on the various trains and at what time they will reach their destination. Every grocer and general merchant in Western Ontario, whether a customer or no, has a copy of this time table. As a result of this scheme there has been a large increase in the number of the firm's letter orders during the last couple of years.

JAMES TURNER & CO.

The foundations of this firm were laid over forty years ago by John and James Turner. The present partners are Alexander Turner, Lloyd T. Mewburn and Alex. G. Osborne. The firm's business is an extended one, reaching away out to the Pacific, a representative going through to the Coast twice a year. But James Turner & Co. centre their energies chiefly to cultivating business in Western Ontario, their staff of travelers covering the territory between the Niagara and Detroit rivers and north to Sault Ste. Marie and the islands. The firm carries a general line of groceries, and its chief specialty is "Ram Lals" package tea, Indian growth. The firm is agent for several well known standard articles, among which may be mentioned "Bensdorps" cocoa, Marshall & Co.'s fish goods, Batcher's jams and jellies. James Turner & Co.'s place of business is in Main street, near the Board of Trade, and is commodious and convenient. The ample proportions of the sample room would make glad the heart of many a wholesaler, while the business offices are well-lighted and complete in every respect.

THE F. F. DALLEY CO., LTD.

Edward Dalley was the original founder of this firm. This was in 1846. He continued the business till 1870, when it was taken over by his sons. Then the firm's name became F. F. Dalley & Co., and thus it continued to be till 1893, when a joint stock company with a capital of $90,000 was formed. Then the style of the firm became the F. F. Dally Co., Ltd., the directors being F. F. Dalley, president; E. A. Dalley, vice-president; J. B. Brown, secretary, and John R. Vert. The firm's leading manufactures are "English Army" blacking, a recent venture; ladies' shoe dressing, tan dressing, men's tan waterproof dressing, baking powder, spices, flavoring extracts, patent medicines. When Edward Dalley started business the factory was an unpretentious building in James street, on the site of where Pratt & Watkins now do business. The gradual development of the business necessitated several moves, until last year the firm located in its present premises, Nos. 75 to 83 Hughson street north. The building is of brick, three stories high, and is in the form of an open square, with the wings running back 180 feet. The floor space is 85,000 square feet. Steam is the motive power, and the same agent heats the building. The offices and warerooms front on Hughson street, while the mills, boiler and engine house, etc., are situated in the wings. The shafting radiates all over the building. The firm's business connections extend all over the Dominion from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and it is now engaged in opening up agencies in the leading trade centres of the United States, while enquiries have been received within the last few weeks from the West Indies.

W. H. GILLARD & CO.

The Ambitious City has for a long time been one of the great distributing points for groceries, and notwithstanding the keen competition of these days, the drive and energy of her merchants enable her to maintain and strengthen her hold upon this important trade. The firm of W. H. Gillard & Co. is one of the foremost engaged in this business. They are conspicuous for push, up-to-date ideas, and a thorough knowledge of their business. W. H. Gillard, H. N. Kittson and H. C. Beckett comprise the firm. Mr. Kittson is president of the Hamilton Board of Trade. W. H. Gillard has been identified with the grocery trade since 1856, and his wide and varied experience enables him to lend to the business a mature judgment and thorough knowledge of every branch of the trade; while H. N. Kittson and H. C. Beckett are both recognized as pushing men, up to the times, and the firm deserves the success which it is evidently achieving. The firm do a strictly wholesale trade. No Granger or P. of I. accounts are on their books. Their travelers are competent, reliable men, who recognize that the welfare of the customer is the welfare of the house. Goods are not misrepresented, they are delivered exactly as sold and satisfaction given the consumer. The travelers of the firm cover the Province of Ontario and the Province of Manitoba and the Territories, while their special tea travelers cover the principal cities and towns from Ottawa to Vancouver. The tea business of this firm is conducted as a separate department, and is rapidly increasing in volume. Their special brands of teas are the Imperial Breakfast Congou, Russian Congou, 400 Select, and Dalu Kola Congou. The firm is a large and judicious user of printers' ink, and prompt despatch, close prices, good goods are the leading articles in its business creed.

LUMSDEN BROS.

It was some twenty-two years ago that this firm first saw light, namely, in 1872. Its first premises were in King street. Subsequently it moved to York street, and later still to NcNab street, where business is still carried on. Lumsden Bros. own the building they are now in, and having erected it for the special purposes of their wholesale grocery and spice manufacturing departments of their business it has many conveniences that it probably otherwise would not have. It is of brick with stones and basement. The firm carries a general line of groceries and owns the Standard Spice Mills which are located in the same building. Lumsden Bros., specialty in the manufacturing line is Jersey Cream Baking Powder in which they do a large business. In November last the firm began the manufacture of shredded cocoanut, and it is working up a nice trade in this line. The firm has agencies in London, Toronto, Montreal, Kingston, Halifax, Winnipeg and Vancouver.

JOHN A. BRUCE & CO.

This firm of wholesale seed men was established in 1850, and during the 44 years it has been in existence has managed to steadily increase its trade. Bruce & Co. not only send their seeds all over the Dominion, but they are large exporters as well, sending grass, clover and garden seeds to Great Britain, France and Germany. Their trade in grass and clover seeds is the heaviest part of their business. Their offices and warehouse are at King and MacNab streets. Their building has a frontage of 30 feet on the former street and 130 on the latter, and covers seven floors.

HAMILTON BISCUIT AND CONFECTIONERY CO.

While the present firm is only about eighteen months old, it is the successor to one of the oldest biscuit manufacturers in Canada, namely, the late Z. Pattison, who is reputed to have been the first in the country to apply machinery to the making of biscuits. After Mr. Pattison's death the business was bought by John Stevens, W. H. Kerner and John Davidson, the last named of whom had been with the late proprietor for over seventeen years. In February last J. S. Reid bought out J. Stevens' interest, and in June last R. F. Woodhouse acquired W. H. Kerner's share in the business. The present partners are, therefore, Messrs. Davidson, Reid and Woodhouse. In biscuits, the firm's specialties are "Social Tea," "Grandma's Cookie," and soda biscuits in three pound red boxes. During the last four months the firm's output of soda biscuits has more than doubled, necessitating the putting in of another revolving oven.

W. G. DUNN & CO.

It was about 25 years ago that this firm came into existence. Its principal manufactures are baking powder, mustard, spices and coffee. W. G. Dunn is in England the greater part of his time, he having started a factory in Croydon some years ago. The factory in Hamilton is under the management of Mr. Dunn's son. Among the commodities manufactured at Croydon are Saline, an effervescent draught, which is being sold extensively in Canada. It has also found its way into Africa, India and Australia. The Hamilton factory does its business entirely through the wholesale houses of the country. The factory is on Main street, and was erected ten years ago. It has three floors, and is 30 by 75 feet. The old factory building in which the firm began business still exists, and is utilized for storage purposes.

WALTER WOODS & CO.

Brantford was the place where this firm had its origin, but it has been in Hamilton some nineteen years, having moved there in 1875. At that time the firm confined its energies to the manufacturing of brooms, but now, besides manufacturing brooms and whisks, it handles a variety of goods whose number is legion. The firm's leading lines are woodenware, brooms, brushes, cordage, split baskets for fruit, imported French and German pipes, trunks, bags, purses, broom corn, etc. Walter Woods & Co.'s warehouse is in McNab street. It has five floors and a frontage of seventy feet with a depth of sixty feet.

T. LAWRY & SON.

This firm of pork packers was established in 1850 by T. Lawry. In 1882 he took his son, T. H. Lawry, into partnership, and the style of the firm then became T. Lawry & Son. The firm's chief manufactures are turned out under the brands "L and S" and "Imperial." The firm's trade extends from the Atlantic to the Pacific, but its domestic business is small compared with its foreign trade, large quantities of meats, etc., being exported every year to England, Ireland, Scotland and the Continent. Lawry & Son's factory ranges from two to four storeys in height, is 300 feet long by 100 wide. The killing capacity of the factory is 1,000 hogs per day and the number of hands employed is 200.

HAMILTON COFFEE AND SPICE CO.

The present proprietors of this industry are John I. McLaren and W. E. Duncan, W. A. Mighton having died in July last; Mr. McLaren is manager. It was in 1888 when they assumed control, and since then the business has gradually increased, until it is to-day four times as large as it was six years ago. The firm manufactures and imports coffees, spices, mustards, cream tartars, baking powder. The article which is the company's particular specialty is "Ocean Wave" baking powder, the manufacture of which was begun with the inception of the firm. The firm's representative in the north is Robert Moncur, while W. S. Clay takes the route of the late W. A. Mighton. The rest of the traveling is done by members of the firm, and they between them cover the ground from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

BALFOUR & CO.

While the style, of Balfour & Co., has only had an existence of five years, the firm itself is really a continuation of one that was founded some 60 years ago, and in which the name of Balfour usually figured. About a year ago Balfour & Co. took over the business of Stuart, Harvey & Co., since when their business has largely increased, the firm to-day doing one of the largest trades in Hamilton. The firm employs five travelers, and its trade extends through Western and North-Western Ontario, and out through Manitoba, the Territories and British Columbia to the Coast. Balfour & Co. study to buy only the best goods, and give strict and prompt attention to letter orders. The firm's warehouse is centrally situated in James street, and is three stories high. The sample room and offices are replete with modern appliances and conveniences necessary for the successful carrying on of an extensive wholesale grocery trade such as that of Balfour & Co.

LONDON

Its Wholesalers and Manufacturers.

LONDON, Ont., is no mean city. One feels this as he steps off at it. He knows it for a fact before he has been many hours in there. What the greater London is to the world, the lesser London is to Western Ontario—the metropolis.

It is known under the caption of the "Forest City," and some dub it "London in the Woods." Why they should I can not see, unless it be because of the forest of beautiful maples and other handsome shade trees that in the summer line its streets and spread their leafy arms out in the pretty little parks, coaxingly inviting one to find rest in their cooling embrace.

London was founded in 1793 by Governor Simcoe, who performed a like office for the Queen City of the West—Toronto. But it was not till 1826, or thirty-three years afterwards, that the town site was surveyed and the first cabin in the "forest primeval" built.

History tell us that its founder "judged the site eminently calculated for the metropolis of all Canada." And although it has never risen to that eminent position, it is questionable whether the founder of London contemplated the pretty little city which to-day is the mistress of Western Ontario, and to whom the country for miles around makes obeisance.

Governor Simcoe was as wise in the selection of city sites as he was in the administration of the affairs of the country. London is an ocular demonstration of this. Planted in the centre of a district rich in agricultural possibilities, London gradually developed, until to-day she is the hub of the trade for twenty-five miles around.

One drawback to London has been her distance from any large body of water. The north and south branches of the River Thames have their meeting place within the city's limits, but that is not the great inland lake system with which Canada has been so richly blessed. The nearest harbor is Port Stanley. This is twenty-seven miles distant, and running to it is a line of railway owned by the city of London, and operated since last year by the Lake Erie and Detroit River Company. This season the experiment is being tried of bringing freight by water direct from Montreal, and shipping it to London via this road. There is no regular line running, only occasional steamers calling, but a start has been made, and it is to be hoped it will develop to the commercial advantage of the "Forest City."

The possibilities of a city largely depend upon its railway facilities. Where railways do not converge population and trade do not gather to any extent. London has the facilities in this respect. Seven lines have their entrance and their exit there. These are the Canadian Pacific, the Grand Trunk, the Michigan Central, the Lake Erie and Detroit River, the London, Huron and Bruce railway, the St. Mary's branch of the G.T.R., and the line to Port Stanley. About fifty-five regular passenger trains, not taking into account the special trains, arrive at and leave the city daily, and over one hundred and twenty-five freight trains pull in and out of it on an average every twenty-four hours. This is unequalled by any city in Canada; and if there is one thing Londoners are proud of it is this. Although all the lines are not competing lines, yet the advantage to shippers of so many tapping the country is obvious, wholesalers being able to ship out orders more promptly than any other city in the country. London's bill for freight alone aggregates something like $600,000 per annum.

If London is noted for its railways, it is noted also for its retail stores. Their number in proportion to population is large—about five to every hundred of inhabitants. To one unacquainted with the business peculiarities of the city they would probably appear too large. But that they are not is evident from their healthy and fine appearance.

The grocery stores are large, have well-stocked and well-arranged shelves and windows. In a word, the grocery stores of London appear to be run by men who know their business and have the energy and push to put their knowledge to good account.

A peculiarity that strikes one as he first makes a tour of the city is the comparatively insignificant number—judged from what is seen in other cities—of small and poverty-stricken looking grocery stores. And what is true of the grocery and other stores is true also of the private dwellings of the citizens—hovels are a rarity in London.

Where there are so many healthy retailers a correspondingly healthy condition may be expected among the manufacturers and wholesalers. If there are hard times in the country they do not seem to have found a resting place among the manufacturers and wholesalers of London, as far as those in grocery and allied trades are concerned at any rate. Enlarged trade is what one hears on nearly every hand and enlarged factories is what greets the eye not infrequently. There are about 206 manufacturing establishments, employing about 7,000 hands, in the city; the capital invested is estimated at $7,500,000 and the value of the manufactured product is placed at $15,000,000 annually.

The development of London's wholesale trade may be said to be only of the present generation. Thirty years ago there were only three wholesale houses in the city. Now there are scores. Of purely wholesale grocery houses there are five. The aggregate business of the wholesale houses of all kinds in the city is estimated at $12,000,000.

Speaking of the wholesale grocery houses particularly, they are conducted by sharp, pushing and solid men. As a rule their territory is confined to Western Ontario, although the field of many of the manufacturers is the Dominion.

The position London occupies to-day has not been attained by spasmodic leaps and bounds. Her development has been steady, and like the oak in character. Only once was she cursed with a land boom. That was away back in 1855, and that retarded the growth of the city for several years. "We never wish for another," said an old citizen who was relating the circumstance to me.

A fairly good summer's trade has been done, and I did not hear anything like the grumbling I have heard among merchants in some other places. In fact, I cannot remember having heard even one out and out complaint. I suppose there are some who complain about hard times, but I did not hear them. In fact, there must be, for one of London's most respected and oldest citizens remarked to me: "People talk of hard times here, but I don't see why they should. Business has been fairly good, we have never had so many buildings being erected, and we never had as many excursions and picnics." And the evidences I could both see and hear were certainly a corroboration of his testimony.

Among the Forest City's glories is its water, which its citizens aver is the best in Ontario.

EDWARD ADAMS & CO.

This house claims the honor of being not only the oldest in the wholesale grocery trade in London, but of the Province of Ontario as well. It was founded in 1844 by the late Edward Adams, and had a retail branch in connection. The place of business is to-day on the original site, the only difference being that the adjoining building to the west has been taken in. In 1850 the late A. Cleghorn, who, coming from Montreal when a youth, had been with Mr. Adams from the first, became a member of the firm. In 1866 Mr. Adams retired, and the business was continued by Mr. Cleghorn under the old firm name. In 1889 Mr. Cleghorn died. Then the two sons of deceased, Edward and Andrew, with Mr. Screton, assumed the proprietorship of the firm, style remaining unchanged. Since then there has been no change in the composition of the firm. Edward Adams & Co. carry a regular line of groceries, and make a specialty of China and Japan teas. "Fan" blend is their leading line. Their warehouse is four stories and basement. The firm employs six travelers. Their routes are: Simon Metcalfe, G.T.R. west; W. Turnbull, Air line and M.C.R.; W. Boyd, L.G. and B. and the north country; Robert Lind, G.T.R. east and city; Dan McLeod, main line G.T.R.; W. Richards, suburbs, etc.

M. MASURET & CO.

The wholesale grocery firm of M. Masuret & Co. have been in business in London about eighteen years. M. Masuret is sole proprietor, and has had long experience in the grocery trade. Previously to settling in the "Forest City," he carried on a jobbing and retail trade in Sarnia for twenty years. They carry a full line of groceries, and their travelers cover the country from Simcoe to Windsor and north to Kincardine and Wiarton. Ed. Morley covers the main line west to Windsor and the Sarnia branch; L. Heath, M. C. R. to Amherstburg; A. C. Patterson, Wiarton and Goderich branches; A. E. Whittiker, the L. H. & B.; Fred. Griffith, city. The warehouse of M. Masuret & Co. has its front and back respectively abutting on Dundas and Carling streets. It is spacious and well lighted and ventilated, and has unusually good facilities for loading and unloading goods.

T. B. ESCOTT & CO.

This firm's place of business is in York street. The business was established in London in 1886, by T. B. Escott, who is sole proprietor. Like many others, Mr. Escott came to London from the West. Chatham was his former abiding place, and there he carried on a jobbing and retail grocery business, four stores being devoted to the latter and one to the former branch of the trade. The building the firm occupies is of white brick, is four stories high, is 120 feet deep by 40 feet wide, and was built expressly for T. B. Escott & Co. It consequently has many facilities which it otherwise would not have. All the loading and unloading is done under cover, the drays driving into the building from York street. T. B. Escott & Co. carry a full line of groceries and are sole agents in Canada for Grand Mogul tea. The firm's travelers confine themselves to Western Ontario. Their different territories are: W. E. Eardley, west of St. Thomas on the M.C.R., and all west of

A. M. SMITH & CO.

This firm last year received extended newspaper notice on account of its having purchased Ontario's exhibit of cheese at the World's Fair. The firm was founded in 1886, and carries a full line of goods appertaining to a wholesale grocery house and some lines of proprietary goods, but its specialties are Shield's Chop brand tea and Prime "Columbia" cheese. A. M. Smith & Co.'s business turnover is about $600,000 annually. Their warehouse is five stories high, has a frontage of 35 feet, and runs back 200 feet. The firm employs six travelers—five outside and one in the city.

ELLIOTT, MARR & CO.

A full line of groceries is carried by this firm at its warehouse in the Waterloo block, or as some choose to call it, the wholesale block. The firm is about five years old, and prior to its formation the senior partner was a member of the retail grocery firm of Elliott Bros., in Dundas street. "Beaver" brand Japan tea is one of the firm's specialties.

THE M'CORMICK MANUFACTURING COMPANY.

The nucleus of this biscuit manufacturing firm was formed in 1856 by T. McCormick, who continued to run it independently till some fifteen years ago, when the present joint stock company was formed. The original building was a small and unpretentious affair, and was located in Dundas street. From thence it was moved to Clarence street, and finally settling down on its present site in Dundas street. This was about 20 years ago. Since then three distinct additions have been made, making the factory three times as large as it was when Mr. McCormick first occupied it. The factory is a detached building, is four stories and basement, and is brick. On an average about 150 hands are employed in the factory. Mr. McCormick is still head of the firm, and Capt. A. W. Porte is managing director. The latter finds time to attend to the duties of president of the Western Fair. The firm manufactures a general line of biscuits, has eight travelers, and is represented by commission men in different large trade centres. The factory on an average employs about 150 hands, the number in the busy season running up to 175.

C. R. SOMERVILLE.

Mr. Somerville makes a specialty of the manufacture of three articles. They are Mexican Fruit chewing gum, pop corn and paper bags, and these he sends to every part of the Dominion. Mr. Somerville began business about eight years ago. Then he employed six hands, now he has 60. Then they had hand power. This soon developed into steam power, and now electricity is the motive force that drives the factory's machinery. Within the last couple of months Mr. Somerville has made extensive alterations in his factory system. The head offices and factory in Dundas street have been overhauled and enlarged. The factory proper has been run back to a depth of 170 feet, electricity for both lighting and motive power has been put in, a plate glass window has been placed in the business office, and a new system of heating and ventilating the building adopted. The last named particular will bear further explanation. The system is what is known as blast heating or cooling. Air from the outside of the building is drawn through a flue which runs up through the roof. A powerful fan drives it through coils of pipes heated by steam in the winter and cooled by water in the summer. After passing through these coils of pipe the air is forced on through various flues into the different parts of the building. The chewing gum factory has heretofore been in the Globe building, but the enlargements and improvements noted have enabled Mr. Somerville to place this as well as his pop corn and paper box branches of manufacturing under one roof. The basement has been lengthened with the building, running back the whole distance. This will be found a great convenience, as Mr. Somerville buys in large quantities everything he requires for his diversified manufactures.

I. M. MAYELL & CO.

This is understood to be the oldest spice and extract manufacturing firm in Western Ontario. It was established in 1875. The firm's specialties are baking powder and French mustard. The latter has only recently been added to the firm's list of manufactured goods, but it is already becoming well known on the market. It is put up in glass packages with a blue label, and this latter fact has caused it to be dubbed "Blue Label" mustard by the trade. The baking powder is put up in fancy glass packages, glass "sealers," and tin boxes. The firm has three travelers and its products are to be found in grocery stores from Halifax to Vancouver. In the former city Mayell & Co.'s business is in charge of a firm of brokers.

P. M. LAWRASON.

Until within the last three years Mr. Lawrason devoted the whole of his business to oils. Then he added the manufacture of soap, and it appears to have been a wise move. Owing to the increase in business Mr. Lawrason has found it necessary to enlarge his factory twice within the past year, and now he is putting in a new press, and is contemplating the erection of an additional wing of 70 feet deep by 15 feet wide to the present factory. P. M. Lawrason's soaps are sold, to use an expression of one of his travelers, "from ocean to ocean," a particularly good business being done in Montreal and the Maritime Provinces. His special brands of soap are "Our Own Electric," "Supreme," and "Wonderful." He makes other lines of laundry soap; also toilet soaps.

THE LONDON SOAP CO.

This concern was started some twenty-five years ago by Charles Churcher. He was succeeded by H. D. Long, who formed a joint stock company. At his death, some four years ago, the ownership passed into the hands of Mr. McMechan, who still continues it under the old firm name. In order to comply with the requirements of a growing business, it has been found necessary to enlarge the factory considerably within the last few months. An addition 15 x 46 feet has been added to the north end. Another story has been added to the whole factory, a new roof has been put on, and the exterior walls, which were formerly frame, are now white brick. To all intents and purposes the building is a new one. The firm is at present making a specialty of "Sweet Home" laundry soap, wrapped in red and yellow papers, accompanied in a box with a piece of music, "Home, Sweet Home," and bags. Other brands of soap made by this firm are, "Crown," "Glycerine," "World," "Eureka Electric," "Family," "Rugby," "O.K.," "Twin Bar Castile," "Twin Bar Oatmeal," "Twin Bar Prairie Flower," "Tecumseh."

D. S. PERRIN & CO.

One of the enterprises which is most closely connected with the prosperity of the Forest City is the large biscuit and confectionery establishment of D. S. Perrin & Co., founded over 30 years since. The business has gradually increased from comparatively trifling dimensions until at present this firm ship their goods from Halifax to Victoria. Few people have any idea of the space covered by D. S. Perrin & Co.'s factory. The frontage on Dundas street is over 60 feet, and on Carling street 100 feet, the factory premises running through from Dundas to Carling streets, a distance of 200 feet, thus giving a superficial area for factory premises proper of over 50,000 square feet. This does not include the extensive box factory, lumber and coal yards, stables, etc., on the north side of Carling street. Over 600 different varieties of biscuits and confectionery are manufactured, and when it is remembered that during the busy season of sugar alone some 600 barrels per month are consumed, some idea may be formed of the output of this establishment. The latest evidence of enterprise on the part of this firm is their purchase of the exclusive right to use the "Holmes'" chocolate coating and cooling machines in the Province of Ontario.

LONDON BRUSH FACTORY.

This factory was started twenty-two years ago by Thomas Bryan, and is still conducted by him. The brushes, etc., made by this factory are designed specially for grocery and hardware trades. During the last few years a number of brush factories have collapsed, but that owned by Thomas Bryan has steadily grown, and to-day its manufactures are found away out to the Pacific Coast. The factory is in Dundas street, is four stories high, has a frontage of 67 feet and a depth of 80 feet. Thirty hands are employed on an average, and electricity is the motive power.

GORMAN & ECKERT.

This firm manufactures spices, baking powder, coffees, extracts, and French mustard. It began business ten years ago under the style of Gorman, Ditson & Co. Five years ago Mr. Ditson withdrew and removed to Winnipeg, where he started a similar industry. Mr. Gorman, who had hitherto not been actively engaged in the business, then became so, and the firm name was changed to its present style. The firm originally occupied a small building in Talbot street, moving about five years ago to the building it now occupies in Dundas street. This building was formerly occupied by C. S. Hyman & Co. as a boot and shoe factory. It is five stories high, is 120 feet deep by 35 feet wide, is of brick and fitted up with the most modern machinery appertaining to the spice trade. Gorman & Eckert make a specialty of French mustard and baking powder. The mustard, which is their chief line, and of which there is only one other manufacturer in Ontario, is put up in fancy glass packages chiefly. The baking powder is put up in glass packages of different sizes and shapes and in tins.

DOMINION OATMEAL MILLS.

These mills were established about 25 years ago. The mill building is four stories, with a frontage on Talbot street of 80 feet by 200, on the G. T. R. track. It is very conveniently situated for the handling of grain and shipping of manufactured goods, being situated on a side track of the G. T. R. on one side, where grain shipped in or produce for shipment is handled, with a driveway on the other side where the grain bought on the local market is unloaded and goods for the local trade is handled.

View of Harbor of St. John.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

Office of the Canadian Grocer,
St. John, N.B., Oct. 2, 1894.

ST. JOHN is the commercial centre of New Brunswick. Though but the seventh city in point of population it has a greater number of fine grocery stores than any other city in Canada. They carry better stocks, they sell higher priced goods, and they make more attractive displays. Other cities have a few stores that it would be hard to surpass in America, but the great number of St. John stores are of this class.

Such stores are usually an indication of well-to-do customers, and inquiry proves this to be the case in St. John. Other cities have a number of wealthy people, but they have a greater number of poor people also. In St. John the wealth is more equally distributed. There are few very rich and there are no poor people. It is said that no family in St. John keeps a carriage and liveried coachman, but they all live well and enjoy life. Average families in New Brunswick are better off than their cousins in the other provinces. Their savings show this. In 1892 they averaged $21.22 per head of population and in 1893 $22.32. This makes the average wealth nearly three times as great as Ontario's and ten times that of Quebec. These are the deposits in the postal and other Government savings banks in which the interest paid is only 3½ per cent. In addition to these there are nearly $12,009,000 on deposit in the chartered and other banks in St. John alone. The percentage of failures to the number in business has been smaller than in other provinces.

To many in the west these figures will probably be a revelation. It has been drummed into them, by papers which favored annexation, that the Maritime Provinces were in a bad way, and unless they had free United States markets they would soon be on the verge of starvation. As a matter of fact it would be very much more difficult to induce them to vote for annexation than the ultra loyal Toronto people. In the west it is generally supposed that Attorney-General Longley of Nova Scotia is the leader of this movement. This is not the case. One of his right-hand men, and an intimate friend of The Grocer in Nova Scotia, offers $5,000 to any one who can prove that Mr. Longley ever spoke or wrote one word in favor of annexation. Some years ago he had a series of articles in a London paper on the future of Canada. Our best policy, he contended, was to remain as we are, a portion of Great Britain; but, if Britain were to cast us off, annexation would be better for us than independence.

The experience that some western business men have had in this province has not been encouraging, but it has been their own fault. They have sold goods without inquiring as to the financial standing of the buyers. A number failed, and with no insolvency law here, the local creditors being on the spot, got everything. The losses made by New Brunswick merchants, who look carefully after their credits, are small. A dry goods house in St. John say that their losses from bad debts are not more than one-half of one per cent. They favor a Dominion bankruptcy law, and the Board of Trade petitioned the Government to pass the bill last session.

A feature of this year's business has been the great number of American tourists who have visited the city and provinces and who have spent their money freely at the hotels and in buying clothing and novelties. It was stated by a Boston paper that about 150,000 people bought tickets there and in New York, for the Maritime Provinces. Though this seems hardly possible, there can be no doubt but that this number will be far exceeded in time to come. The provinces cannot but be popular as a summer resort with their warm bracing days and cool nights; a feature which the Americans are beginning to appreciate. The number of Western people who spend the season here is steadily increasing, and several new houses went up this year at seaside places. It would pay western business men to spend their vacation here. Besides the vacation they would learn something of the products and resources of Eastern Canada, which might lead to future business. A merchant in North-western Ontario might find a market for a produce for which there is no profitable demand in his own locality; or he may find something here which may sell well in the west. These are not theoretical suggestions. There are men in the west who are doing a profitable business with the Maritime Provinces, which was suggested and begun in this way. The railways are only too anxious to assist by giving the lowest rates that will let them out with a profit.

St. John has a Board of Trade which goes a step further than the majority of similar organizations. Besides dealing promptly with matters affecting the interests of its members it is ever on the alert to develop new enterprises that will increase the trade of the city and province. The following prepared by the secretary, Ira Cornwall, will give some idea of St John's resources and advantages: The harbor is never frozen or impeded by ice; vessels are always certain of return cargoes; marine insurance rates to and from all points are as low as

City of Halifax.

THE general depression in business has had no appreciable effect on the trade in Nova Scotia, and much less in Cape Breton and Prince Edward Island. While Western Ontario has been complaining of hard times we have been doing an excellent business and have been making money. The future is also bright. Our fisheries have been good. Our mines are being worked to advantage, and the output promises to increase. Lumbering operations are likely to be more active than ever. Railways are being built and new country opened. The extent and value of our animal and agricultural products are growing. In this last particular we have been behind Ontario and Quebec, but as more attention is being devoted to their development we hope soon to make as good a showing as these provinces. Infact there is no reason why we should not do better. The country is well watered and the grass is always fresh, being seldom dry and parched as it is sometimes in the west. There is no province of Canada that has as varied natural resources as Nova Scotia. The tourist trade is another important factor in business which made itself much more manifest this year than ever before. It is only beginning, and from what THE GROCER knows of the American tourist travel it is more than likely that it will grow beyond the most sanguine expectations. The number who were attracted hither this year is variously estimated at 100,000 to 200,000 people. Hon. Mr. Baker, of the Yarmouth S.S. Co., which runs three boats a week from Boston to Yarmouth, thinks they will have carried nearly 40,000 passengers alone, and this is only one line. Putting it at the lowest estimate, 100,0000, and the average amount spent in steamship fares, railway transport, carriages and the numerous purchases of clothing and souvenirs for themselves and friends left at home, at $20—which is a low figure—we have $2,000,000 distributed among the people of the province in four months. The "Land of Evangeline," made famous by Longfellow, is the great attraction, but numbers of the travelers this year extended their trip through the province to Cape Breton, which has numerous delightful summer resorts.

With all this we are not resting on our oars. The Halifax Board of Trade is looking for more, and in doing so they should have the support of the western part of Canada. For some years they have been endeavoring to induce the Government to make Halifax the terminal winter port for the Canadian subsidized steamers carrying the mails. At present they steam by, and land passengers and freights for Canadian points at Portland, thus building up a foreign port with trade and traffic that really belong to Canada. As Mr. G. J. Troop, president of the board, in his annual address points out, there is a great advantage to a port in its being made the terminus of lines of Atlantic steamships, and by shows this by actual figures in the case of the Canada and Newfoundland S.S. Co., whose steamers sail from Halifax. This company alone expended here last year $77,693 in wages and for supplies, etc. He might have gone further and pointed out that not only are Halifax and Nova Scotia interested, but so is the whole of Canada, in retaining all these disbursements in the country. It should be considered, and is really, part of the protective system. The North-west, for instance, will benefit, for it supplies much of the bread stuffs consumed here. The men employed on and about the ships must eat, and the horses of the teamsters must be fed. They use goods made in Ontario and Quebec. Then there are the ship's supplies. The more Canadian coal they use, the greater number of men will be required to mine it. These miners must be fed by the North-West and supplied with clothing, etc., by Ontario and Quebec. When the steamers go to Portland, all these expenditures pass into American coffers. Then there are the expenditures by the passengers, which in the aggregate are considerable. If the other parts of Canada look at the matter from this standpoint—and THE GROCER thinks it is the only just one—they will unite in urging the Government to insist that all vessels receiving Dominion subsidies make Canada their terminals, and not a United States port.

Nova Scotia has acted very generously, indeed, in all Dominion matters since Confederation. They have contributed their share of the cost of building and enlarging the canals, and of extending the Canadian Pacific along the north shore and out to the western coast without a murmur, because it was in the interests of the western country. They have not been treated quite as liberally by the authorities who control the Intercolonial railway, which should be looked at in the same light as the western canals—a public highway, in which the whole country is interested.

THE GROCER trusts that during the next session of Parliament western members will be found supporting those from the Maritime Provinces in insisting on the terminal port question being settled at once.

THE ARTIFICIAL WATERWAYS OF CANADA.

By W. L. E.

N more efficient waterways reposes the solution of the problem of low freights. The question of low freights is local to no one country; nor to one continent, for that matter. In Europe, in Asia, in America, men are applying themselves with more or less zeal to the task of securing the desideratum with the factors recognized to be the most potent.

Canada, always in the van in matters of transportation, is an active participant in the world-wide agitation that is going on for greater efficiency of the waterways. And well might she be. Like unto her no country has been so blessed with a natural system of inland navigation.

But when Nature made the rivers and lakes of our great inland waterways, she bequeathed to man certain duties, the performance of which were necessary before he could enjoy to the full her beneficence. These were the deepening of shallows and the building of canals to circumnavigate cataracts and rapids. To the task thus assigned him, Young Canada has not been remiss. Rivers and harbors have been dredged, and canals have been built.

Canal building in Canada may be said to have been first seriously undertaken in 1826, when the building of the Rideau canal, which had been suggested in 1812 for military purposes, in order to connect Montreal, by the waters of the Ottawa, with Kingston, on Lake Ontario, was begun. The canal was finished in 1834. Circuitous indeed was the way in which the desideratum was to be secured, but it was bred of the necessities of war times when the St. Lawrence was a risky waterway to travel. The length of this canal and its water stretches is over 126 miles, while to reach Montreal from Kingston, via it and the Ottawa river and its system of canals, means the traversing of over 245 miles. This system was held by the Imperial Government till 1856 for purposes of defence, when it was handed over to the Canadian authorities. The depth of water on the Rideau is five feet.

The chief canal system of the country is, of course, that known as the St Lawrence. From the Straits of Belle Isle to Port Arthur, the beginning and ending respectively of the St. Lawrence system of inland navigation, the distance is 2,260 miles, and of this distance 71¾ miles consist of canals. These canals are: Lachine, 8½ miles; Beauharnois, 11¼ miles; Cornwall, 11½ miles; Farran's, ¾ mile; Rapide Plat, 4 miles; Galops, 7⅝ miles; Welland, 27 miles; Sault Ste. Marie (Canadian), ⅔ mile.

The Chambly canal system extends from the Rivers St. Lawrence and Richelieu, 46 miles below Montreal, into Lake Champlain, a distance of 81 miles. The canal proper is 12 miles long and its depth of water seven feet. By this system access is had to the Hudson river and thence to New York.

The Ottawa river canal system connects Montreal and the city of Ottawa. The canals on this system are Ste. Anne's, Carillon and Grenville, and their aggregate length is scarcely two miles. At Ottawa, as already pointed out, the system connects with the Rideau river and the Rideau canal, which runs to Kingston. Depth of water on the sill on these three canals is nine feet.

The Culbute locks and dams in the Upper Ottawa river comprise two locks and three continuous dams, all built of wood, and reduce the Chaudiere, the Des Chenes, the Chats and other rapids there to smooth water, and make the river navigable. Depth of water, five feet.

The construction of the Trent Valley system of canals, which have proved the source of much debate among politicians, was conceived by the generation preceding the present. Construction was begun in 1837. Since then work has been done on various sections, but still completion seems to be a long way off. At present the system is only efficient for local use. Its purpose is to connect Lakes Ontario and Huron, and the distance between the two is 235 miles, of which 155 miles are available for light draught vessels. The depth of water on sill is five feet.

The Murray canal is the youngest but one of Canada's canals. It cuts across the Murray isthmus, is five-and-a-half miles long, has a depth of 12½ feet, has no locks, and was opened in April, 1890.

The Burlington canal connects Lake Ontario and Burlington bay and is half a mile long.

The St. Peter's canal, Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, gives access from the Atlantic to the Bras D'Or lakes, and is 2,400 feet long, with 18 feet of water on sill.

The Sault Ste. Marie canal, although Canada's baby canal, is the most perfect in the Dominion's system. Its construction is now practically complete. There is one lock 900 feet long and 60 feet wide with a depth of water on the sills of 20 feet 3 inches at the lowest recorded water level. The length of the canal is two-thirds of a mile, and its total cost about $3,000,000.

Canada's canal system had cost her, up to the 30th June, 1893, a total of $71,310,793. It was expended as follows:

Lachine canal	$ 9,686,684
Beauharnois canal	1,611,690
Soulanges canal (under construction)	291,572
Williamsburg canal (being enlarged)	2,940,551
Cornwall canal " "	4,649,575
St. Lawrence river canals, surveys, etc	943,178
Murray canal	1,247,470
Welland canal	23,762,295
Sault Ste. Marie canal (under construction)	1,475,344
Ste. Anne's canal	1,170,216
Carillon and Grenville canal	4,025,553
Culbute canal	379,494
Rideau canal (including Perth branch)	4,560,286
Trent canal	1,088,484
St. Ours lock	121,538
Chambly canal	637,2 7
St. Peter's canal	645,995
Total	$59,210,132

In addition to the above there has been expended from income:

Renewals
Repairs
Staff and maintenance
Grand total	$71,410,793

Large as is the above total expenditure, it will be much larger before many years if the present position of the public mind towards increasing the efficiency of the canals already existing, let alone the construction of new ones agitated, is any criterion.

When the St. Lawrence system of canals was designed, it was contemplated to afford a depth, at all stages, of nine feet. The inadequacy of such a depth is well known. In 1871 it was decided to enlarge the canals on this system, in order to afford a navigable depth of twelve feet throughout. Subsequently, however, it was decided that the depth should ultimately be increased to accommodate vessels of 14 feet draught. This was over twenty years ago, and although the practical work of deepening the canals to 14 feet has been going on at various periods since then, the undertaking is far from complete, the Lachine canal being the only one in the system that has yet been deepened to 14 feet, the others still having a depth of but nine feet. All the locks are built to accommodate vessels drawing 14 feet of water. A few weeks ago, it will be remembered, the Dominion Government let a contract for the deepening of the Lachine canal to 15 feet. The agitation, now active, for the deepening of the canals on the St. Lawrence river to 20 feet, needs only to be merely mentioned here. The Welland canal is navigable to vessels of 14 feet draught, so that the only barrier to vessels of a like draught going through from Port Arthur at the head of Lake Superior to Montreal, or to, in fact, Liverpool, is the St. Lawrence river canals.

The following table shows the tons of freight passing through each canal, the tolls collected, and the number of trips of vessels through each canal for the year ending December 31, 1893:

NAME OF CANAL.	Tons of traffic passing through.	Tolls collected.	Number trips vessels passing through.
Lachine, Beauharnois, Cornwall, Williamsburg } St. Lawrence canals	966,755	$66,067	10,412
Welland	955,554	195,803	2,615
Chambly	270,766	20,959	2,696
Ste. Anne's, Carillon, Grenville } Ottawa River canals	647,011	43,066	2,667
Rideau	93,366	4,987	2,690
Murray	13,729	585	843
Trent	22,513	725	1,291
Ste. Peter's	59,042	3,155	1,891

Compared with the previous year there was in 1893 an increase of 2,257 in the total number of vessels passing through the canals of the country, 1,931 in number of Canadian vessels and 326 in number of United States vessels. The tonnage increased by 300,190 tons. The increase in the quantity of freight carried was 129,210 tons, and in the number of passengers 6,103. Both the total tonnage and number of passengers carried was the largest recorded. The revenue received by the Government last year from the different canals aggregated $357,090. This, while the largest since 1884, is not the largest since Confederation. The greatest aggregate was in 1874, when the total receipts were $510,000.

Much as Canada has done of the work allotted her by Nature, there is yet much to be done. We are now in the morning of a canal-building and canal improving era born of the necessity of cheaper transportation to the seaboard of the grain and produce of the interior of the continent. And Canada cannot afford to take her ease in the matter. Her first duty in the premises is to complete the deepening of the St. Lawrence river canal system to fourteen feet. That accomplished, many vessels that are now prohibited from doing so, through insufficiency of water, would then be able to get through to Montreal and to the side of the Atlantic liners without breaking bulk. This needs to be done quickly. By the time that is done we shall probably have gathered sufficient data to determine how much further we shall be warranted in going in acquiring a still greater depth in our canal system.

TORONTO

Its Beauty, Commercial and Shipping Advantages.

THE germ of the Toronto of to-day was planted nearly 150 years ago, when the French erected Fort Rouille on a part of what is now the Industrial Exhibition grounds. The importance of the site as a commercial centre was even then recognized, for the object of building the fortifications was to conserve the then important trade of the continent—the fur trade—to the French and keep it out of the hands of the English.

Governor Simcoe, too, recognized the adaptability of the site as a centre of government, population and trade. In his trip around Lake Ontario he might have chosen places which possessed greater natural advantages from a warrior's point of view, but not, he evidently thought, for the purpose which he had uppermost in his mind.

The site where Toronto stands was intended for a commercial centre by Nature. It would never have placed a big basin of water at her feet and a rich agricultural country surrounding her if it had not so intended, nor flanked it on either side with a river—the Don and Humber rivers respectively.

From her birthday in 1793, when she was christened Little York, till she was ordained a city in 1834, and given a new name—Toronto—her growth was steady in spite of the devastations of war and the curse of hard times. For the fifty years following it was rapid, during the latter quarter of a century being particularly so. Ten years after Governor Simcoe had said: "Here build ye the capital," the population of Little York had only reached about 450, but by the time Little York became Toronto and a city, there were about 9,000 people within her walls. During the next decade the population doubled, and by the end of another ten years it had doubled again. By 1871, the population was 56,000. Ten years later it had reached the 100,000 mark, and to-day it is not far from double the latter figure.

The only natural advantage, probably, which has assisted Toronto in becoming the most important city and port on Lake Ontario, is the bay, with the island, like the arm of a giant, encircling and protecting the harbor from the stormy billows of the lake. This arm, though once joined to the shoulder of the mainland, is now stronger and more efficient than it probably ever was, thanks to the joint expenditure of money by the civic authorities and the Dominion Government. The bay is about three miles long by one and a half wide. The first vessels to plow it were probably those bearing the illustrious founder of the city and his party, and the first vessel built in the neighborhood was the Toronto Yacht. This latter event took place in the closing year of the 18th century, and the craft to which belongs this honor plied between Little York and Niagara.

The period of navigation proper did not really dawn till after the war of 1812-14. The first steamboat to enter Toronto harbor, and also to make regular trips to and therefrom, was the Frontenac. She went into commission in 1816. Other vessels followed, until now there daily flits in and out one or other of the two entrances to the harbor during the navigation season, among many others, such magnificent palace passenger and freight steamers as the Chippewa, Cibola, Chicora, Macassa, Modjeska, Empress of India, Garden City and the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Co.'s boats. These boats run regularly to and from Niagara, St. Catharines, Hamilton, Montreal and intermediate points, and the passenger and freight traffic is enormous. Toronto is the green fruit centre of the country, distribution being made therefrom to nearly all parts of the country, and during the regular season thousands of packages daily are landed at the wharves, by the Niagara and

St. Catharines boats particularly. Of late years, although there has been a marked increase in the number of steamers, there has, on the other hand, been a decrease in the number of sailing vessels entering the port. The total number arrivals of all kinds last year was 2,577. It comprised 1,350 steamers, 188 propellers, 1,039 schooners. This, compared with the previous year, was an increase of 59 in the number of steamers and 12 in loaded propellers, while in light propellers it was a decrease of 39, and in schooners of 371. Now that the United States tariff is more favorable to Canada's products of the field, forest and mine, a revival in Toronto's shipping industries may be expected.

First in the Province of Ontario as a steamboat centre, Toronto is also first as a railway centre. Nominally there are eight lines of railway converging in the city, while in reality there are only two—the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific—these between them having absorbed the Northern, Credit Valley, Toronto, Grey and Bruce, Wellington, Grey and Bruce, Ontario and Quebec, Great Western, and Midland railways. Besides this, the Niagara boats bring the city in direct communication with the New York Central and Michigan Central railways.

The first line of railway to enter Toronto was the Ontario, Simcoe and Huron Railway, afterwards called the Northern. This was in 1853. With the completion of this line was inaugurated a new system of transportation which developed so rapidly as to almost completely supersede the old system in a few years. In pro-railway days farmers could only bring their produce to market in the winter and when there was sleighing, on account of the bad condition of the roads. Yonge street and other leading thoroughfares would then be alive for many miles out into the country with hurrying and bustling teams going to the city with their produce or returning home well loaded with groceries and other necessaries of life, as well as a supply of whiskey, which in those days was accounted more of a necessity than tea. Even with the building of this one railway there began to be a marked change in the old manner of marketing produce, the farmers taking it to the railway stations instead of teaming it long distances.

A couple of years later the Great Western gave Toronto an outlet to the west, and the Grand Trunk to the east and west. This and the subsequent building of the other lines running into the city largely helped to make Toronto what she is to-day —the commercial hub of Upper Canada.

While well provided by both rail and water facilities for communicating with the outside world, Toronto is none the less well equipped with a system of urban transit. A belt line of steam railway some, fourteen miles in circumference, is operated by the Grand Trunk, while suburban trains are run to outside points of interest, and to outlying municipalities at regular intervals each day, Sunday excepted. But the most perfect transit system of all is the street railway. This much, however, could not be said until within the last year, as it was only about two years ago that the work of changing the system from horse cars to electric cars was begun. The work of transfer is now practically completed, and the Queen City can to-day boast of having, according to the testimony of travelers, one of the best, if not the best, street railway system on the continent. There are in all nearly ninty miles of track, and for one fare, by aid of the transfer system, a passenger can ride to any part of the city.

Could Governor Simcoe come among us to-day, he might well say that the founding of Toronto was one of his greatest and most successful acts. Aside from her prominence in trade and size in population, her beauty shines forth resplendent. Among her three hundred miles of branching streets are to be found avenues of entrancing beauty, viewed when the trees are clothed in their summer garb. But let an outsider speak—Albert Shaw, the editor of the American edition of the Review of Reviews. In the August issue of that magazine, in the course of an article referring to Toronto, he said: "It would be hard to find anywhere a community of equal population so commodiously housed. Well-shaded streets and green bits of lawn and garden are characteristic of the whole city. Considering the rapidity of its growth, Toronto's air of completeness and finish is altogether unusual. Many towns of slower growth have found it far more difficult to make the march of public improvements and facilities keep pace with the growth of population and urban territory." All the main thoroughfares are paved with asphalt, and this material is gradually superseding cedar blocks and macadam as a material for road beds.

Toronto has about 222 miles of sewers and 225 miles of water mains. The assessed value of the city is over $150,000,000, an increase of more than $100,000,000 during the decade.

The exports and imports of the city of Toronto during 1893 were $3,478,269 and $21,088,930 respectively.

The Clearing House returns last year aggregated $316,037,473. This was exclusive of the Bank of Toronto, which is not affiliated with the Clearing House. There are fourteen distinct banks, some of which have their headquarters in Toronto, doing business in Toronto. Their capital and surplus aggregates about $20,000,000 and assets about $90,000,000. Some of the banks have a number of branch offices scattered throughout the city, materially assisting the expedition of local business. The first bank to establish in Toronto was the Bank of British North America, and that was in 1837.

Toronto has always been more or less of a manufacturing centre, but even as late as 1847 there were hardly two dozen factories within the city's limits. The most important in that day was the furniture factory of Jacques & Hay, the latter of whom was father of Major J. D. Hay, of Davidson & Hay. In 1859 the annual report of the Board of Trade enumerated the successful establishment of manufactures of soap, leather, candles, whiskey, ale, cigars, ground coffee, spices, mustard, nails, boots and shoes, tinware. To-day there are probably 500, and numbered among them are some of the largest on the continent.

The wholesale trade has kept pace with the development of the city in other respects, and the grocery trade has no need to be ashamed of the extent to which it has shared in this growth. Forty years ago there were only two or three wholesale grocery houses. Now there are a dozen, besides a large number of brokers, some of whom carry stock. The rating of these houses is good, only three going below $50,000, while one touches $400,000. Of retail grocery stores there are between seven and eight hundred, some of which would vie in soundness, extent, attractiveness and modern facilities with those in any other city on the continent.

JAMES A. SKINNER & CO.

This firm first saw the light of day in Hamilton. This was in 1850, and James A. Skinner was the founder. The business was removed to Toronto nearly three years ago, and is now carried on in Wellington street. The warehouse the firm occupies was built expressly for it, and it is one of the largest in the city. It is seven stories high, including the basement, has a frontage of 87 feet and a depth of 125 feet. A branch house is situated in Vancouver. James A. Skinner & Co. claim the honor of being the first house in Ontario to send travelers out to the Pacific coast. Their staff of travelers numbers nine. The white ware and common ware are kept and packed in the basement. On the ground floor is the chief sample room for the display of such staple lines as lamps, crockery, glassware, etc. Samples of fancy goods, dinner, tea and chamber sets, etc., are on the second floor. In the rear of the same floor are situated the white china and the travelers' rooms. On the third floor are kept the stocks of dinner, tea and chamber sets, and there all these lines are packed and prepared for shipment. Glassware is stored on the fourth flat, and there orders are packed. The fifth flat is where all the lamps, lanterns and lamp goods are kept and put up for shipment. The sixth flat is known as the package room. The building is equipped with two electric elevators—one passenger and one freight—and both give access to each floor. James A. Skinner retired from active participation in the business some eighteen or twenty years ago, since when all the responsibilities of management have devolved upon his son, Robert B. Skinner.

STEEL, HAYTER & CO.

This firm is known as the pioneer in the Indian and Ceylon tea trade in not only Canada but in the United States as well. Ross W. Hayter came to Toronto in 1888 as the representative of Octavius, Steel & Co., of Calcutta and London, a large firm of tea growers and importers, establishing business here under the style of Steel, Hayter & Co. About two years ago Mr. Steel died, when the business was taken over by P. R. Buchanan & Co., of London, England, style remaining unchanged. Up till quite recently the firm has imported tea for the wholesale houses besides doing a wholesale trade itself. These two interests having been found to frequently clash, together with the fact that the business had assumed large proportions, it was resolved a few months ago to separate the two departments. The importing business is still being looked after by R. W. Hayter, while the wholesale department, which has been removed to different premises, is under the management of H. C. McCuaig, who was Mr. Hayter's chief assistant from the time the business was opened up in Toronto. Mr. Hayter has the advantage a good many tea men have not: He has had his training as a planter as well as a seller of teas, having spent twenty years on plantations in the Assam and Sylbet districts, India.

WARREN BROS. & BOOMER.

This business, which was originally carried on by Charles Moore & Co., was founded in 1856. Mr. Moore dying, the firm name in 1876 became Warren Bros., and in 1882, on Henry C. Boomer's entering the firm, Warren Bros. & Boomer, its present style. The present partners are Charles D. and Wm. A. Warren, Henry C. Boomer and Edmund G. Williams. The firm handles all lines of groceries, but its principal business is in staple groceries, particularly sugars, coffees, Mediterranean dried fruits and teas. In green Rio coffees Warren Bros. & Boomer make regular direct monthly importations, and in this particular they are said to stand at the head of the trade in Canada, and in sugars they stand among the largest. Their business is largely confined to Ontario, east and west. The firm's place of business is at 35-37 Front street east. Not counting the cellar the warehouse is four stories high. Its frontage is 56 feet and depth 180 feet. There are two entrances in the rear, through which goods are received and shipped.

J. W. LANG & CO.

This firm was originally Kinnear & Lang, being started in 1871 by T. Kinnear and J. W. Lang. In 1880 the former retired, and the business was then continued by the latter when the style became J. W. Lang & Co. The original place of business was in the Market square. From that the firm moved to No. 33 Front street east, and about three years ago to its present warehouse at Front and Church streets. The firm carries a full assortment of general groceries, paying particular attention to teas and canned goods, and its business extends all over the province of Ontario, particularly in the northeastern and northwestern portions. J. W. Lang & Co.'s warehouse, which is three stories high, has a frontage of 70 feet on Front street and a depth of 120 feet on Church street. All heavy goods are taken in at lane in rear of the premises, while the shipping entrance is in Church street.

PHŒNIX SPICE MILLS.

These mills have since July last been the property of G. F. Marter & Son. They are situated at Jarvis and Esplanade streets, having been removed there within the last few weeks from No. 17 Jarvis street. The present premises are both more convenient and larger than those formerly occupied. The main entrance is in Jarvis street, while the shipping and receiving entrance is in Esplanade street. The number of flats occupied are five. The firm's leading manufactures are Barton's baking powder, mustard in 1 and 4-lb. jars, ¼ and ½-lb. tins, and in pails, and flavoring extracts. Marter & Son mean to push business. Since they assumed the proprietorship they have put on two more travelers, making the total staff now four, while the business has already assumed double its former proportions. New machinery has been put in, and other conveniences added. Steam is the motive power. Owing to the cessation of manufacturing, consequent upon removing, the firm has been unable to keep up with its orders, but it expects to be able to soon catch up.

CHRISTIE, BROWN & CO.

The nucleus of this business was started by William Christie away back in the fifties. In 1868 the firm became Christie, Brown & Co. by the entering of Alexander Brown into partnership. With the formation of the company the factory was removed to 746 Yonge street, at present occupied by Joseph Tait. These premises becoming too small, the firm in 1872 removed to a building in Francis street. Two years later Christie, Brown & Co. built the nucleus of their present factory at Frederick and Duke streets, and removed there. In 1878 Mr. Brown retired, since when the business has been carried on by Mr. Christie alone under the old firm name. Since the original factory was built in 1878 about a dozen different extensions have been made, while last year a new wing was added, which in itself doubled the capacity of the factory. The factory occupies nearly one-fourth of the entire block, having a frontage of 200 feet in Duke street and 131 feet in Frederick street. The firm employs 280 hands, included in which are ten travelers, and its business extends over the Dominion and Newfoundland. As with all biscuit manufacturers, soda biscuits is Christie, Brown & Co.'s chief staple article, while its total number of different kinds of biscuits is 420. The firm consumes annually over 30,000 barrels of flour. A branch is situated in

ROYAL DOMINION MILLS.

These mills are situated at Bay and Esplanade streets, and are owned by Michael McLaughlin, who last year was president of the Dominion Millers' Association. The original owner was H. J. Boulton, who founded the mills in 1867, and ran them till 1876, when the present proprietor succeeded him. Since then the milling capacity has been doubled and the storage capacity increased ten-fold. The addition made last year alone for storage room and office accommodation was twice as large as the original building. This mill has a frontage of 66 feet on the Esplanade, and 220 feet on Bay street, and there are six floors. The capacity of the mill is 600 barrels per day. The Royal Dominion Mills make a specialty of manufacturing high grades of flour from the best Manitoba wheat, and also high grades of flour from Ontario wheat. The "Queen" brand of flour made by this firm took, it will be remembered, the gold medal at the World's Fair, Chicago, last year. These mills do a large trade in Toronto and the eastern part of the Dominion. Their exports are confined to low grade flours.

TAYLOR, SCOTT & CO.

Messrs. Taylor and Scott founded this firm about eight years ago, and they carried it on till about eighteen months ago, when Mr. Scott retired. Mr. Taylor has since continued the business as sole proprietor, style remaining unchanged. Mr. Scott died shortly after serving his connection with the firm. The firm manufactures brooms, brushes and woodenware of all kinds, making a specialty of the first and last named articles. The "Northern Queen" washboard is an article in which a particularly large business is done. Taylor, Scott & Co. send their manufactures all over the Dominion, and have worked up a nice export trade with England and Scotland, especially in the "Northern Queen" washboard. The firm's offices and warerooms are at 120 Bay street, and abutting on the lane in rear are the factories, two in number. One is 96 by 50 feet and four stories high, and the other is 60 by 40 and contains five flats. These factories are fitted up with improved machinery and are lit by electricity, which is generated on the premises. One hundred hands are employed in the factory. Taylor, Scott & Co. are also selling agents for the manufacturers of the Detroit Pail and Tub Co.

TORONTO SALT WORKS.

These works are situated at 128 Adelaide street east. They were started in a small way in 1887 by C. R. Cooper, the present proprietor, in King street west. The present premises were first occupied about five years ago. The only line which Mr. Cooper manufactures is the "Acme" brand table salt, but he does an extensive business in other kinds of salt, being agent in Toronto for the Windsor Salt Co. and the Livonia Mining Co.'s rock salts. The business of the Toronto Salt Works extends all over the Dominion, and a good trade is done with the West Indies in Acme table salt. The firm's business has doubled during the last six months. Among the articles other than salt for which the Toronto Salt Works is agent is Churche's "Bug Finish," which is fast coming into favor with man and disfavor with potato bugs.

PERKINS, INCE & CO.

It was away back over 50 years ago that this house was founded, making it the oldest in the grocery trade in Toronto. To be exact, it was established in 1843, and its first warehouse was at what is now the south-east corner of King and Jordan streets. The firm name was then F. Perkins & Co. In 1845 Mr. Perkins erected a warehouse in Front street on the site of the firm's present place of business, and a part of it stands to this day. For many years this was the first building standing on the south side of Front street. On moving to Front street the firm name became F. & G. Perkins, and in 1855, when Mr. Ince, Sr., the present head of the firm entered the house, the style became F. & G. Perkins & Co. In 1874 F. Perkins retired, when the firm name was changed to Perkins, Ince & Co., and as such has since remained. G. Perkins died in 1875, when the late Mr. Young entered the firm, and by these two the business was carried on till the latter's death some two years ago. Since then Mr. Ince has had associated with him in the partnership his two sons William and James. Perkins, Ince & Co. ship goods to every part of the country, and carry a full line of groceries. They make a specialty in teas, particularly Japans, of which they passed nearly three thousand packages through the Customs in one day lately, believed to be the largest consignment ever passed through the Toronto Customs house in one day. The firm is also a large importer of rice and foreign dried fruits.

EBY, BLAIN & CO.

It was in 1880 that this firm was organized, the partners being Joseph F. Eby and Hugh Blain. The firm's first warehouse was at No. 11 Front street east, where Steele, Hayter & Co. now do business. Two years later, when W. Ramsay & Co. retired from business, Eby, Blain & Co. moved into the warehouse at the southwest corner of Front and Scott streets. Three years ago, when Sir Frank Smith made his adieu to the wholesale grocery trade, they moved across the street to his warehouse, where they still do business. Their building is 50 feet wide, extends to the Esplanade, a distance of 360 feet, and covers over an acre of ground. The front of the building is three stories high, dropping to two stories at the Esplanade. There is also a large basement. The sample-room and offices are among the finest on the continent. Eby, Blain & Co. handle staple and fancy groceries. Teas are the chief feature of their business, special attention being given to blends, to be noted among which are "Queen's," "Crown," "Standard" and "Recherche." The firm handles all kinds of teas, but, next to the blends, its energy is spent on the Indian and Ceylon growths. The firm is also agent for Higgins' Eureka salt, Batcher's jellies and jams, Truro Reindeer condensed milk and coffee-and-milk, Chase & Sanborn's coffees and Orient package tea. Eby, Blain & Co.'s business extends all over the Dominion, and they have two resident representatives in the North-West to look after the trade in Manitoba, the Territories and British Columbia. Eby, Blain & Co. are now applying for power to organize a joint stock company, with a capital stock of $150,000, in 1,500 shares of $100 each.

DAVIDSON & HAY.

This is a continuation of one of the oldest wholesale grocery houses in Toronto. The style of the firm preceding the present one was Fitch & Davidson. In 1886 Mr. Fitch retired from the business, and Mr. Hay entered the firm, the style then becoming Davidson & Hay. John I. Davidson is the well-known colonel of the 48th Highlanders, while J. D. Hay is major of the Royal Grenadiers. The firm does a general wholesale grocery trade, and its business is a progressive one. Davidson & Hay's warehouse is in Yonge street. It is four stories high and has a cellar the full length of the building, which is 217 feet. The sample room, offices and warehouses are all well lighted and complemented with modern appliances. The elevators are run by hydraulic power. The facilities of the firm for receiving and shipping goods are excellent, the entrance for the one being off Wellington and that of the other off Front street. The firm centres its energies upon cultivating trade in Toronto, the Province of Ontario and in Winnipeg. Davidson & Hay also do a large lumber business. Their mills are at Cache Bay and they cut in the neighborhood of 25 to 30 million feet of pine per year, the greater part of which is exported to the United States and to Great Britain.

PURE GOLD MANUFACTURING CO.

Mr. Jardine, the present head of the company, started this business some eleven years ago. He has now associated with him in the partnership J. D. Roberts, who left the road fourteen months ago to assume the management of the business. His membership in the company is an event of a few months ago. The Pure Gold Co. manufactures a general line of spices, flavoring extracts, blacking, etc. Its leading lines are: Pure Gold baking powder, Pure Gold flavoring extract, Pure Gold coffees and spices, "Golden Age" soap powder, "Boss" stove polish, Peerless washing compound, Pure Gold tomato catsup. The "Golden Age" soap powder is the firm's latest line. All pure goods made by this house are labelled with the firm's trade mark, "Pure Gold." Mixtures, on the other hand, do not bear this mark, merely having the name "mustard," "coffee," or whatever it may be thereon, together with the firm's name. The catsup was a new venture with the firm last season, but this year it has put in new machinery capable of turning into pulp 75 tons of tomatoes per day, and the output will be three times as large as in the experimental year. "Pure Gold" goods are sold all over the Dominion and in Newfoundland. They also go regularly to Trinidad, the firm having secured a large customer there that formerly did its business with a house in London, England. The firm employs ten travelers and from 50 to 60 hands in the factory. The factory is half as large again as when the firm started business, having taken in additional premises and made several improvements. The building is four stories high and 50 feet wide by 180 deep.

T. KINNEAR & CO.

The head of this house has climbed up to his present position from a clerk in a retail store. The present business was established fourteen years ago at 49 Front street east, where it was carried on till nearly four years ago, when the firm removed to the present premises, No. 47, one door west, which the firm had purchased. The warehouse is convenient, commodious, well-lighted, and fitted up in attractive modern style, Kinnear & Co. having expended some $5,000 in making it so, after having purchased the premises. The building is 36½ feet wide by 182 feet deep, and the main part is four stories high. The facilities for receiving and shipping goods are ample. All heavy goods are taken in at the cellar doorway in the rear, while light goods are taken in and orders shipped from the side entrance in Front street. Kinnear & Co. carry a full line of general groceries, but make a specialty of teas, spices and brooms. They employ seven travelers, and confine their energies to catering to the trade in the Province of Ontario.

D. GUNN, FLAVELLE & CO.

This is the successor of the old house of Morrison & Taylor, established over forty years ago, D. Gunn taking over the business some eighteen years ago. The firm name then became D. Gunn & Co., and as such it continued to be until about seven years ago, when J. W. Flavelle became a partner. Then the style was changed to D. Gunn, Flavelle & Co. Two years ago Mr. Flavelle retired, and J. R. Dundas and Andrew Gunn entered the house, style remaining unchanged. The firm's chief industry is pork packing, its meats—the "Maple Leaf" brand—having a Dominion-wide reputation. Another feature of the firm's business is the pickling of eggs, it putting down on an average about a quarter-million dozen annually. Gunn, Flavelle & Co. also do a large commission, and export large quantities of butter and eggs every year.

OUR NATIONAL FOODS.

The original manufacturer of the breakfast foods which are known under the name of "Our National Foods," was F. C. Ireland. Up to 1889 the business was carried on under the style of F. C. Ireland & Son. In that year a joint stock company was formed with the style of the Ireland National Food Co., Ltd., and the old premises having become too circumscribed for the growing demands of the business, the firm removed, in the year of its incorporation, to its present mills near the C. P. R. station, North Toronto. The building occupied by the firm is 90 x 75 feet, is three stories high, with basement, and is equipped with the most improved plant. The capacity of the mill is 150 barrels per day of the firm's various lines. A compound tandem Wheelock engine of 100 horse-power furnishes the power. A railway siding laid direct into the premises affords excellent facilities for receiving grain and shipping goods. In addition to the mills in Toronto the firm operates a large elevator at Grand Valley, from which point they take a large quantity of the grain required for the factory. The company manufacture everything in the cereal food line, its specialty being a superior quality of specially prepared breakfast food, put up only in packages of attractive appearance, bearing the name and trade-mark of the company, and known throughout the Dominion as "Our National Foods." The directors of the company are: S. F. McKinnon, president; Geo. D. Morton, M.D., vice-president; H. M. Pellatt, secretary-treasurer; F. C. Ireland, Thos. Wamsley, J. L. Spink, with W. A. Strowger as managers. The company so far has confined its attention altogether to the home markets, its goods being now well and favorably known from Victoria to Halifax, but the company expects in the near future to place its goods both in the English and Australian markets, having had enquiry for samples and prices and receiving favorable comments upon the goods.

TORONTO SOAP WORKS.

These works were originally started by Rodger McClay. He in turn was succeeded by Davidson & Scott, who some four years ago gave place to the present proprietors, W. A. Bradshaw & Co. Since the latter firm assumed control the works have been located on Lombard street until a few weeks ago, when they were removed to a building in Defries street, which affords the firm better facilities than it has hitherto possessed. The building is three stories high, and is 125 by 60 feet. The factory has been fitted up with all modern appliances for making boiled soaps. Three soap tanks, each having a capacity of 40,000 pounds, have been put in, and there are two boilers and a 40 horse-power engine. Fifteen hands are employed. The firm makes all kinds of laundry soap, and its special brands are Ammonia, Marble and Bradshaw's Good. The last named is an oval bar, and is now being placed on the market for the first time.

TORONTO BISCUIT AND CONFECTIONERY CO.

The year 1890 saw the birth of this company, although the business it took over was established a number of years before. The present proprietors are H. C. Fortier and C. J. Peter, and since the day they took charge the business has made rapid progress, the number of hands, for instance, having more than doubled during the four years. Then there were 40 employed; now there are over 100. The factory, which is four stories high and 50 feet wide by 180 deep, is no longer sufficient for the demands that are made upon it, and before the end of the year the company expect to be occupying newer and more commodious premises. The firm manufactures all kinds of biscuits and confectionery and jams and jellies. Soda biscuits is their leading line. The firm's consumption of flour is 40 barrels per day, and of sugar 15 to 16 barrels. In confectionery, the firm's leading lines are "B. & F. P." and "Menthol" cough drops. The latter has been placed on the market for the first time within the last few days, and the peculiar medicinal property claimed for them is their efficacy for relieving cold in the head. The company has ten representatives on the road, and they sell goods from Halifax to Winnipeg.

SLOAN & CROWTHER.

The business of this firm was established about twenty years ago. The present proprietors are John Sloan and W. C. Crowther. The firm handles a general line of groceries, making the importation of teas and the sale of canned goods and spices specialties. Sloan & Crowther confine their energies largely to catering to the trade in the Province of Ontario, and in pursuance of this they have nine or ten travelers gathering in orders. The firm's place of business at Scott and Front streets is one of the most convenient in the city. The office and shipping rooms are well adapted for carrying on a wholesale grocery trade. There are three for shipping goods and one for receiving, while the offices, sample rooms and ware rooms are equipped with modern appurtenances and well lighted and ventilated. The building is four stories high, and has a frontage of 40 feet in Front street and 200 feet in Scott street.

P. C. LARKIN & CO.

It is now about four years since this firm was established by the present proprietor, P. C. Larkin. For some fifteen years previous to that, Mr. Larkin was with Fiffin Bros., of Montreal, representing that firm in Toronto. It was when that firm retired from business that he established his present business. P. C. Larkin & Co. began business as general grocers, but later on, the presence of one branch of the business, viz., Salada Ceylon tea, becoming so great, they have for some time devoted themselves exclusively to the handling of teas. The sale of Salada package tea, which is their leader, is rapidly increasing, and the firm anticipates that in a short time it will demand all its attention. Salada is sold in nearly every grocery store in Toronto, and is found as far west as Vancouver. In towns of 3,000 inhabitants, and under, the sale of this tea is placed in the hands of one storekeeper only, and should any of the tea remain unsold, it can be returned, when the money will be refunded.

MC ALPINE TOBACCO CO.

This industry was started about seven years ago. The factory is situated at Walter and McMurrick streets, and is 200 feet long by 60 feet wide with an "L" 35 feet wide and 75 feet long branching off the north end. There are four stories and cellar. One hundred hands are employed, and the aggregate annual wage bill is $40,000. There are four travelers, and resident agents for the Maritime Provinces and for Manitoba, the North-West Territories and British Columbia. The McAlpine Co. pays especial attention to the manufacture of high grade tobaccos, especially the chewing kinds. Its "Beaver" plug is on sale in every market from Halifax to Victoria. The directors consist of E. A. McAlpine, president; G. L. McAlpine, secretary-treasurer, and John S. Williams, general manager. The late Joseph R. McAlpine, who died in 1890, was the original vice-president.

A. F. MACLAREN & CO.

This firm is the manufacturer of MacLaren's Imperial cheese. The business was originally started by Mr. MacLaren in 1891. He began in Stratford, but removed to Windsor two years later. While there he started a branch factory in Detroit for the manufacture of cheese for the United States market. In May of the present year Mr. MacLaren removed his Windsor branch to Toronto in order to secure better shipping advantages. Then Wright & Copp, who since the factory was started in Stratford had controlled its output, were taken into partnership, and the firm assumed its present style of MacLaren & Co. Since then Mr. Copp has died, and the present partners are A F. MacLaren and Henry Wright. MacLaren's cheese carried off the highest award at the World's Fair, having scored "Perfection," in order to do which it had to make 100 points. The cheese is put up in four different sized pots, and its sale has been increasing so rapidly of late that for ten days recently the firm was compelled to stop filling new orders until it had caught up with the old. The firm's business not only extends all over Canada, but shipments are made to England, while several orders have been received from distant China. Lately enquiries have been received both from Malta and Germany. Mr. MacLaren, as a cheese expert, stands the acknowledged head on the North American continent. Some say he was born in a cheese box. At any rate, he had not been born many years before he was making cheese to put in the box.

H. P. ECKARDT & CO.

This business was started in 1887 at the present stand, No. 3 Front street east. The firm handles general groceries, but makes a specialty of the direct importation of teas. By this means the firm is able to avoid the costs of the middlemen incidental to buying tea in London or New York. Eckardt & Co. also make a specialty of fancy groceries, giving particular attention to table delicacies. Their business has steadily increased since its inception, but it is during the past year that the growth has been the most marked, their sales during that time having almost doubled. The firm has made special preparations for the fall and Christmas trade. Eckardt & Co. are the selling agents for, among other lines, Diamond crystal salt, A. & M. Smith's preserved fish, etc., Webb's perfect starch, and Heinrich's gelatine.

R. & T. WATSON.

Since this firm was established some twenty-one years ago its growth has been steady and marked. When it first began the manufacturer of confectionery the firm's place of business was in Yonge street, and it was small and unpretentious. After that the firm was in Adelaide street for some time, removing to its present premises, 75 Front street east, about eleven years ago. R. & T. Watson's building has a frontage of 60 feet and runs back to the Esplanade, a depth of 375 feet, and the main part is five stories high. The firm manufactures over 500 different kinds of confectionery, and consumes about 8,000 barrels of sugar annually. The employees number 135. The lines to which the firm is at the moment paying the most attention are cough drops, bala licorice and gypsey carmels. The machinery is of the most perfected kind, and is driven by two 60-horse-power engines. The firm makes all its own paper boxes, and for this work, too, the machinery is of the most modern kind. For the manufacture of chocolate the Messrs. Watson bring in their own raw material, namely the beans, and husk them and grind them on the spot. The products of this firm are sold all over the Dominion.

PARK, BLACKWELL & CO.

The original of this firm was established 35 years ago by James Park, the present head of the firm. In 1883 the style became James Park & Son by the admission of Andrew Park, son of the founder. In 1892 a joint stock was formed, when the style became Park, Blackwell & Co., with James Park and C. S. Blackwell as managers, and Andrew Park as superintendent of the business office. The company's packing house is at No. 111 Front street east, where about 50 hands are employed. The building in which this is situated is 40 by about 375 feet, and is three stories high. The wholesale and retail branch is in the market and is 41 by 47 feet. The firm handles all kinds of meats, and makes a specialty of preserved meats such as sausage, canned meats, cooked beef and pork hams, which are in use by customers all over the Province. The company does an extensive provision and commission business all over the Dominion. The local trade is also large, especially in butter and eggs, most of the hotels being supplied from this house.

ADAMS & SONS COMPANY, LTD.

It was about fifteen years ago that the chewing gums of this firm were first introduced into Canada, and the business grew so extensive that about three years ago a branch factory was started in Toronto. The machinery is a duplicate, only on a smaller scale, of the parent factory in Brooklyn, N.Y. The firm is continually introducing new lines under its Tutti-Frutti brand, and these are sold all over the Dominion. W. H. Law is the manager in Toronto. The firm has recently adopted a unique method of pushing trade: To every customer who purchases $15 worth of Tutti-Frutti it presents a cash register and combination money drawer, and it is figured that the net result to the purchaser, after he has disposed of his gum, will be a profit of $11.50.

GOWANS, KENT & CO.

This firm began business in 1871 under the style still obtaining. The original founders were John Gowan and Henry Kent. On the latter's death, some years ago, his place in the partnership was assumed by his two sons, John G. and James G. Kent. The business was first started in Hamilton, but was removed to Toronto a few years after its inception. In the "Queen City" the firm's first warehouse was where THE GROCER is now situated. About twelve years ago Mr. Henry Kent built Nos. 14 and 16 further east, especially with a view to their adaptibility for carrying on a wholesale glassware and crockery business. Into these the firm moved, and now it not only occupies these, but No. 12 and part of No. 10 as well. The warehouse is four stories high without the cellar, and has a depth of 108 feet. Gowans, Kent & Co.'s sample rooms are among the most handsome on the continent. They are finished in oak. Large plate-glass mirrors form the background, and in many instances, especially in the cut-glass room, the shelving is formed of the same, while overhead are canopies of white oak set with incandescent electric lights, which, when turned on, make a striking effect not soon forgotten. Last year the sum of $15,000 was expended in fittings alone. The firm makes a specialty of lamps and lamp goods of the various kinds, and it is agent for the "Pittsburg" lamp. The firm handles English earthenware of all kinds, and French and German fancy china goods. A line of goods the house is pushing just now besides those enumerated is Elite Limoges French China. Gowans, Kent & Co. have eleven travelers, and besides this they have a resident representative in Vancouver and a resident buyer in Staffordshire, the centre of the pottery district. It is almost unnecessary to say that the business of this house extends from ocean to ocean.

SMITH & KEIGHLEY.

This business was started in 1846 by the present honored head of the firm, A. M. Smith. In 1855 he took John Smith into partnership, when the style of the firm became A. M. Smith & Co., and in 1870 he, with Mr. Keighley, formed the firm which still exists as Smith & Keighley. The firm's leading specialty is Mediterranean dried fruits, of which it is among the largest importers in the city. One order for currants alone placed the other day aggregated about seven carloads. Among Smith & Keighley's other leading lines are foreign rice, Porto Rico and New Orleans molasses, and Porto Rico, Java and Mocha coffees. Tea blending is also quite a feature with them. Their business extends all over the Province of Ontario, and they do a large trade with Winnipeg houses. Their warehouse is at No. 9 Front street east. It is, with basement, four stories high, and is 40 feet wide by 280 feet deep.

TODHUNTER, MITCHELL & CO.

This firm is proprietor of the Dominion Cocoa Mills, Adelaide street east. The firm's inception dates back some 20 years, and it was started a few doors west of its present premises. Todhunter, Mitchell & Co. manufacture coffees, cocoas, chocolates, flavoring extracts, baking powder, etc. In coffees their leading brand is "Excelsior," the demand for which has steadily increased since the brand was first put upon the market some fifteen years ago. French chocolate and Homœopathic cocoa are the firm's chief brands in these respective lines. The last-named article, on account of the excess of oil being removed, is particularly adapted for the use of invalids and for people with weak digestive organs. Todhunter, Mitchell & Co. study to keep up the standard of goods throughout, and their trade now extends from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The firm's factory is 70 by 120 feet and is four stories high, while an additional warehouse is employed in another part of the city for storage purposes.

THR COWAN CO., LTD.

The original of this business was J. W. Cowan & Co., which was established in 1876 by Mr. Cowan. For the first 10 years of its existence the firm confined its energies to teas and coffees only, taking up the manufacture of cocoas and chocolates about eight years ago. The original place of business was in Church street. From there the firm moved to the old "Caffin block" in Front street. This place becoming too small after an occupancy of five years, J. W. Cowan & Co. removed to Mincing lane to a building that had been specially built for them. This in turn becoming too small, a removal was made in 1893 to the present premises, No. 470 King west. The building now occupied is 95 by 100 feet, and ranges from two to three stories in height. The firm manufactures cocoas, eating, drinking and confectioners' chocolates, icing, roasted and green coffees, etc. Its chief brands are Hygienic cocoa, cocoa essence, Queen's Head, Royal Navy, Diamond and other chocolates, chocolate ginger, crystalized chocolate ginger, etc. The company is now a joint stock affair, having been incorporated a few years ago.

CHARLES BOECKH & SONS.

It was away back in 1856 that the honored head of this firm started the foundation of the present well-known and extensive business. Since then the firm as well as its trade has increased, Mr. Boeckh having associated with him in the proprietorship his two sons, Charles and Emil C. In fact, it is upon them that now devolve the duties of active management. Parliament street saw the first factory of the firm, next Berkeley street. In 1876 the factory was removed to York street, and finally in 1887 the present factory in Richmond street was built, or rather the two factories, for the brush and broom factories respectively are separate and distinct buildings. Both these factories are five storeys high, and 100 by 40 feet. The broom factory was the other night damaged by fire. The factory hands number about 100. The offices and show rooms are at York street. Boeckh & Sons manufacture all kinds of brushes and brooms, making a feature of leading lines of household brushes, dusters and corn brooms, specially adapted for the grocery trade, their variety in this line being large. Having recently purchased a large stock of broom corn, the firm is at the moment in a position to fill with promptness all orders. Boeckh & Sons deal extensively in woodenware, and are agents for the manufactures of W. Cane & Co., of Newmarket. The firm employs six travelers, and has a resident agent in Winnipeg, while its trade extends from Newfoundland to British Columbia, and in some particular lines it is doing a growing trade with the United States.

THE MORSE SOAP WORKS.

On the west bank of the Don, on the east end of Front street, Toronto, stand the Morse Soap Works owned and operated by John Taylor & Co. The structure is of brick—main building 60 x 120 feet—four floors and a considerable wing addition, also of brick. The rapidly increasing business of this firm required the erection of the present annex, which is about same size as the main factory. A walk through the works is bewildering to any one unaccustomed to the business, for household soaps, in every variety of progress and in immense quantities, are on every floor, while the seventy operatives herein employed are busy transferring the huge blocks—or frames—into slabs, and finally into "Best," "Eclipse," or "Mottled" bars, as the case may be. The boiling room contains five mammoth kettles with a capacity of over 100 tons a week, and is fitted throughout with steam pumps, and other modern appliances for the convenience and conduct of the business. In the toilet department the air is redolent of sweet odors and the finest of perfumed tablets in trays tiered about on either side. John Taylor & Co.'s "Heliotrope," "Infant's Delight," and "33 per cent. Glycerine," soaps are specialties in their line. This firm's list comprises nearly 200 varieties of toilet soaps alone, which find a market in every hamlet in Canada, and are fairly well known in the West Indies and Newfoundland. A box-making plant, comprising the very latest inventions, is an important branch of the business and employs 15 girls.

CERTAIN occasions have a good many of us for putting on new or special garbs. THE GROCER has its, and with this issue appears one of them.

The present number is better than its predecessors. We have fortunately been able to say this with every issue. When we shall no longer be able to say this we do not know. Practice makes perfect, and the more experience we have in getting out special numbers the better we shall make them. In fact this is our policy with regard to our regular as well as to our special issues. "We never sleep" when there is anything to be done that will redound to the benefit of either our subscribers or our advertisers.

Our circulation is by several hundreds larger than it was at the beginning of the year, and it is increasing appreciably every week, while, as a medium for reaching buyers, sellers are more and more realizing its efficacy. Our increasing advertising patronage demonstrates this.

But let us return to our muttons. The present special issue is not only better, but it has cost more money and time than any of its predecessors.

The handsome, unique and striking design on the front cover was sketched especially for THE GROCER. Our artist was enjoying a holiday in the Bermudas when he received the order to prepare a design for the cover for this issue, and while rambling through a plantation ruminating on what it should be, he ran against the big, happy-faced negro whose picture is portrayed on our cover, he having there and then sketched him as he was in the act of devouring a banana.

In the large budget of reading matter presented the feature is, of course, the sketches of some of the business centres of the Dominion, together with the leading wholesale grocers and manufacturers allied to the grocery trade in each. The list of firms is not as complete as was originally intended, several houses who did not see fit to furnish our reporters with the desired information necessary to writing an intelligent sketch of them having failed to mail the promised information in time for publication. But in spite of this, however, never in the history of the country has such full information regarding the leading cities of Canada and their business firms been published within the covers of one volume.

THE CANADIAN GROCER to-day regularly visits storekeepers in many places that are seldom visited by travelers. The value of THE GROCER to advertisers is therefore obvious.

The object of this special issue is to let the trade know what we are doing, and to enable manufacturers and wholesalers to talk through the advertising pages with a larger number of buyers than they ordinarily can, for a copy goes to every grocery and general merchant in the Dominion—something which is really of more value to our advertisers than to ourselves.

If the special articles in this issue are worthy of perusal, so are the advertisements. No grocery paper on this or any other continent has its advertisements "set up" as artistically and attractively as THE CANADIAN GROCER. And what is true of its regular issues is doubly true of its special issues. The advertisements should, therefore, be perused as religiously as are the special articles, for, after all, it is likely that from them will be derived the most direct benefit.

AN IMPORTANT TRADE EVENT.

A CONVENTION of Maritime Province boards of trade was opened in St. John, N.B., yesterday. During its session papers will be read and discussions will take place on such timely topics as pedlars and hawkers, freight rates, exportation of products through Canadian ports only, treatment of insolvent estates, shortening terms of credit, duties on cornmeal and kerosine, to what extent may wholesale houses do retail trade, and would it be to mutual advantage of wholesale and country merchants that retail trade be left to latter?

THE GROCER has special reporters in attendance, and next week a full report of the proceedings will be published.

WHAT IS THE CIRCULATION OF THE CANADIAN GROCER?

THIS is a question that we are asked every day, and one that we sometimes hesitate before answering. The reply we give is usually disbelieved by many advertisers who do not know us well. Why should they disbelieve us? Because, not knowing, they rank us with the army of dishonest publishers who live on the inexperienced advertisers by systematic lying on circulation. We believe the majority of these publishers would rather tell the truth about their circulation, but they are compelled to lie. We know and are prepared to prove that THE CANADIAN GROCER has double, and in the majority of cases four times, the circulation of any financial or trade paper in Canada. Therefore, to get business, these papers are compelled to claim double our circulation. If advertisers would only think for a moment they would see how absurd are the statements made by some of these publishers. There is a French commercial paper in Montreal claiming a circulation of 10,000 copies weekly, whereas there are only 1,200 French grocers and general storekeepers in business in the whole of Canada. Where do they get the 10,000 circulation? The paper is of no use to English grocers, as not one per cent. of them can read French. Probably (?) they mean 10,000 yearly.

Our books are open for inspection by advertisers at any time. The best way to find out the circulation of THE CANADIAN GROCER is to ask your customers if they take it, and ask your travelers if they see it in the hands of those they call upon. We give herewith a list of 800 places that THE GROCER reaches every week. This list was made up roughly from our subscription sheets, and some places may have been missed. Still, we think it quite large enough to convince advertisers that we cover the field.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, October 4, 1894.

BUSINESS is a little more interesting than a week ago. The volume is, on the whole, larger, and a better tone generally prevails. Travelers' reports are more reassuring than they have been for some time. The interest is still chiefly centred in dried fruits. New season's currants are in some hands, and Sultana raisins are due here this week. The position in Valencia raisins continues to gather strength, and the demand is active. Strength is still the characteristic of the tea market, and demand is keeping up well, although it is probably not so keen as it was. Some advances have taken place in certain packs of canned tomatoes and corn, and the canned goods market generally is steady. Dark sugars are still scarce and wanted, but the demand for other kinds is small. Green Rio coffees are still—as before—scarce. Offerings in dried and evaporated apples are increasing in liberality, but demand is good, and evaporated are the only kind that can so far be said to be weak. In green fruit the chief interest lies in the fact that new fancy lemons are arriving. The fish trade is improving. Choice butter is dearer, and eggs are steady.

CANNED GOODS—As anticipated the Packers' Association have advanced the price of certain brands of tomatoes and corn 2½c. per dozen. The lines affected are A. C. Miller, Delhi, Boulter and Aylmer. The advance is in pursuance of a rule of the association which stipulates that when a packer has sold 30 to 50 per cent. of his pack his price must be advanced according to the discretion of the Selling Committee. And when each packer's output reaches the percentage at which the advance was in the first instance ordered he falls into line. The packers are doing a fair business in canned vegetables, particularly in corn. Wholesalers report tomatoes and corn quiet at 85 to 90c. Ordinary brands of peas at 80 to 85c. are quiet, but a fair enquiry is still heard for extra sifted at $1.45 to $1.50. Little or no attention is yet being paid to canned fruits. Peaches, $3 to $3 25 for 3's, $2 to $2.25 for 2's; raspberries, $1.65 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.90 to $2.10; apples, 3's, $1 to $1.10, gallons $2.65 to $2.80, and preserved fancy quarters at $1.35 to $1.40. Salmon is in fair demand and firm; $1.25 is the lowest quotation heard for good red fish, running 10c. higher, while "clover leaf" in flat tins is quoted at $1 55. The run of cohoe salmon on the Coast began last week and the canneries are now packing. The prices being asked for cohoes by the packers is about the same as the figure wholesalers paid for sockeye fish. This gives a pretty good idea of the strength of the market. There is not much demand for lobsters, evidently principally on account of the high prices. We quote $1.75 to $2.00 in tall tins and $2 25 to $2.75 for flat tins. Canned mackerel in first hands is higher and canned corned beef has been advanced by the packers.

COFFEES—There is a good enquiry for Rio coffees of the better grades, but they are unobtainable. In consequence of the scarcity of Rios, more than usual attention is still being given to other kinds of coffees. We quote green, in bags, as follows: Rio, 21½ to 22½c.; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 21½ to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 32c.; Mocha, 27 to 28c; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 22c. N.Y. Journal of Commerce says: "A great many of the trade appear to have reached a point where they no longer care to even talk about the market for Brazils. Buyers have manifested a position of very positive indifference again all this week, and placed business within such narrow circles as to prevent sufficient negotiation for testing values, and affairs drifted in a stupid form that was simply discouraging."

RICE—The demand has fallen off, except for fancy imported Japan, which is still selling well. We quote: "B," 3½ to 3¾c.; extra Japan, 5¼ to 5⅜c.; imported Japan, 5¾ to 6¼c.; tapioca, 4¼ to 4½c.

SPICES—No further advances are announced in the primary markets, but prices are still firm On the local market demand for pickling spices keeps active. We quote: Pure black pepper, 12 to 14c; pure white, 20 to 28c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 25 to 27c.; cloves, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, 20 to 25c. per lb.

NUTS—The local market continues featureless. In New York walnuts are in fair demand and firm. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 11½c lb.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c. lb.; Terragona almonds, 12½ to 14c.; peanuts, 11 to 12c. for roasted and 8 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 13 to 14c.; Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 11 to 12c.; filberts, 9¾ to 10½c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

SUGAR—That the heavy part of the sugar was nearing its close has been in evidence the past couple of weeks. At the moment it is particularly clear, the demand for granulated being limited. Dark yellows are the only kinds that are wanted, and they can scarcely be had. For the first time in several days a little is being offered this week, but this is not general with the refineries. Refiners' views regarding prices are still unchanged, a bid for 1,000 barrels at 1-16c. below the ruling figure not being entertained. The idea for granulated with wholesalers is 4⅜ to 4½c., while the lowest for yellow sugar is 3½c.

SYRUPS—There is scarcely anything doing, and there is still a scarcity with refineries. We quote: Dark, 25c; medium, 28 to 30c.; bright, 35 to 40c.; very bright, 45 to 50c.

MOLASSES—A little more business has developed in this line. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 26 to 28c.; half-barrels, 30½ to 32c.; Barbadoes, barrels, 28 to 32c.; half-barrels, 30 to 34c.

TEAS—Demand on the local market continues good, particularly for low and medium grade Congous and Young Hysons. Japans are also still active. Indian and Ceylon teas are receiving moderate attention. Prices ruling are: Young Hysons, 16 to 18c. for low grade; 24 to 27c. for medium, and 33 to 38c. for high grades; China Congous, 16 to 18c.; Japans, 16 to 20c. Good prices are understood to have been realized for shipments to arrive from London. Packlings are getting scarce, and are likely to go higher in price. Pekoes are much higher. Nothing in the way of nice orange pekoes under 10½d. in London, and pekoes at 9 to 9½d.

DRIED FRUITS—The Valencia raisin market, according to cable advices, continues to gather strength on good sound fruit, which is gradually getting scarcer in the primary markets. Mail advices received by Warren Bros. & Boomer estimate that 20 per cent. of the crop is entirely lost, and that 35 per cent. is more or less damaged by rain. New season's Valencia raisins are arriving regularly on the local market, and demand is good, especially for future delivery at 5c. for off-stalk, 6½c. for fine off-stalk, and 7½c. for Ondara layers. For immediate delivery off-stalk is quoted at 6c. Early shipments of new season's Sultana raisins are arriving this week, and they are quoted at 6c. The position in currants continues strong. A few houses have received shipments of new season's Patras currants, which are being sold at 5c in half-barrels. Shipments of barrels and cases are also being received. Advices from Barff & Co. state that considering the comparatively small quantity of prime fruit no decline is anticipated, as the fruit is sure to meet with a good reception in the foreign markets. Quotations for all fruit are unchanged, being as follows: Provincials, 3½ to 4c. in brls, half brls., 3⅝ to 4⅛c.; Filiatras, 4 to 4¼c. in brls, and 4½ to 5c. in half brls.; Patras, 5 to 5½c. in brls., 5¼ to 5¾c. in half brls., 5 to 6½c. in cases; Vostizzas, 6½ to 7½c. in cases, 6¾ to 7¾c. in half cases. Prunes are quiet and unchanged. We quote: "A," 9c; "B," 7 to 7½c.; "U," 5¼ to 5½c.; bags, 3¾c.; casks, 4½ to 5c Shipments of new season's French prunes have arrived on this market during the week, and the price for the few that have been wanted has ruled at 7 to 9c. It will probably be at least two weeks before shipments of new season's figs arrive on the market.

BUTTER AND CHEESE—The scarcity noted for some weeks past in choice dairy butter is more pronounced than ever. Buyers who have been through the country lately aver that there is not more than 5 per cent. of choice butter in the stocks that are being held; and we hear of actual experiments where only about 6 per cent. of choice was obtained. For this reason transactions in round lots are nil, wholesalers being afraid to purchase. In consequence of the scarcity, the price of choice dairy tub butter is about 1c. higher. Low grades continue to accumulate. Good dairy butter should be coming in more freely shortly. Some of the cheese factories have closed down and there is now a good supply of grass. Creamery tub butter is still in brisk demand, on account of the scarcity of the dairy-made article. There is some creamery tub on the market selling as low as 20c., but it is early make. Creamery pound prints, on the other hand, are for some reason a little easier, the prices having a wider range. We quote jobbing prices as follows: Dairy—Choice tubs, 18 to 19c.; straight store, 15 to 16c.; crocks, 20c.; low grades, 12 to 13c.; pound rolls, 21 to 22c. Creamery—Tubs, 20 to 22c.; pound prints, 24 to 26c. Cheese market is slow, with factories holding for higher prices. We quote wholesale price for August and September makes at 11c.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS—The provision market continues active, and we hear of carloads of mixed meats moving. Long clear bacon and hams are part cularly in demand. There are a good many dressed hogs coming in and all are taken around $6.25. Bacon—Long clear, 8½c. for carload lots and 8¾ to 9c. for small lots; breakfast bacon, 12½ to 13c.; rolls, 9 to 9½c. Hams—Large, 22 lbs. and over, 11c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs, 12½c.; small hams, 13c.; pickled, 11 to 11½c. Lard—Pure Canadian, tierces, 9¼c.; tubs, 9¾c.; pails, 10c. Barrel pork—Canadian heavy mess, $19; Canadian short-cut, $19 to $20; shoulder mess, $14.50 to $15; clear mess, $15 to $15 50.

GREEN FRUIT—Oranges are practically all cleaned out. Lemons are in fair demand; Floridas are arriving this week. Peaches of the late variety kinds are still coming in, and all are being taken. Grapes are in brisk demand at higher prices. Pears are in fair demand and easier. Tomatoes are slow and easier. Apples are easier on account of liberal deliveries. Sweet potatoes are in good demand. We quote: Lemons, Moores and Rodis, $5, Floridas, $4 to $4.50. Bananas, $1 to $2. Cucumbers, 20 to 25c. per basket. Tomatoes, 20 to 30c. per basket. Peaches, 50c. to $1 per basket. Pears, 40 to 50c. per basket. Apples, $1 to $2 per brl. and 10 to 20c. per basket. Grapes, 1½ to 2½c. per lb. Sweet potatoes, Jerseys, $3.25 to $3.75 per brl. Crab apples, 25 to 40c. per basket. Quinces, 40 to 50c. per basket.

COUNTRY PRODUCE—Beans are quiet and firm at $1.40 to $1.50 for hand-picked. Evaporated Apples—Offerings are still more liberal with prices weak Factories' views are as a rule around 7½ to 8c. f.o.b., and jobbers are selling at 8½ to 9c. Dried apples—Stocks are coming forward freely, but the local demand is good, and this keeps prices steady. We hear of transactions at 5½c. delivered here. Jobbers are getting 6½c. Eggs—Supply is more liberal than a week ago. The local demand is good, and a good many are going to the States from country points. Prices are in consequence steady. Strictly new laid are quoted at 16c.; first at 14 to15c., and seconds at 12 to 13c. Potatoes—Market has been very dull, although some signs of an improvement are to be noted during the last few days. Carload lots are down to 50c. on track, and 40c. f.o b., outside; small lots out of store, 55c. Onions—Spanish are in fair demand at 95c. to $1 per crate, and Valencias at $3 to $3 25 per case. Yellow Danver onions are a little easier on account of liberal offerings, 1c. per lb. now being quoted. Hops—Sales of new are reported at 10c., and old are quoted at 4½ to 6c.

FISH AND OYSTERS—Trade in fish is more satisfactory. For finnan haddies a rapidly increasing trade is reported. White fish continue scarce and large size salmon trout plentiful. Lake Erie herring are still unobtainable. We quote: Salmon trout, 6 to 6½c.; skinned and boned codfish, 6½c.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c.; boneless cod, 5 to 8c.: Labrador herring, $2.50 per half keg; ditto, split, $ 3; blueback herring, 4c.; blue pickerel, 4 to 5c. lb.; yel. ditto, 6 to 7c per lb.; white fish, 7c.; pike, 5c. lb.; haddock and cod, 5½c. per lb.; steak cod, 5 to 6c.; finnan haddies, 8c.; Digby herring, in bundles of 5 boxes, 15c.; ditto, lengthwise, 14c.; large halibut, 10c.; ciscoes, $1.35. Oysters, $1.35 to $1.40 per gallon.

SEEDS—The market for alsike is fully 50c. per bushel lower in order to meet the views of the foreign buyers. We quote, f.o.b. points of shipment: Alsike, $4 to $5.80; timothy, $1.50 to $2.25; red clover, nominally $5.25 per bushel.

SALT—Trade has been good the past week, largely on account of the fact that the winter pork packers have resumed operations. We quote: Barrels, 90 to 95c.; coarse sacks, 58c.; fine sacks, 60c., dairy, $1.50; rock, $10.

MONTREAL MARKETS.

MONTREAL, October 4th, 1894.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market has been characterized by a great deal of activity during the week, the strong disposition of values on many of the leading staples, no doubt, inducing buyers to take hold with a fair degree of freedom. The result has been a satisfactory week for the jobbing houses. The most active lines have been tea, low grade yellow sugars, new crop dried raisins and currants to arrive, and canned goods. Values on all these are firm. In sugars no yellow can now be had under 3⅜c., while in dried raisins jobbers have been asking ¼c. advance. In teas the scarcity of low grade Japans continues a leading feature, while in canned goods corn and tomatoes are firm with a higher disposition and the same tendency characterizes B. C. canned salmon with the result of improving values on held stocks of old on spot.

SUGAR—The leading feature in the sugar market locally is the activity and firmness in low grade yellows, and both refineries are refu ing orders for any grades below the value of 4⅜c., being sold completely out of them. Jobbers' stocks also are small and the result is that from sheer force of necessity demand has increased for higher priced sugars, giving the market generally a very firm tone. The demand for granulated has also ruled fairly active with good free movement, both from first and second hands, at steady prices. The tactics of the Sugar Trust in New York are attracting some attention here, but whether its manipulation of the New York market will have any radical effect on the market in Canada is at best problematical. We quote spot prices at the refineries 4¼ to 4⅜c. for granulated and 3⅜ to 3⅝c. for yellows with positively nothing lower than the inside price.

SYRUPS—There has been no special change in the syrup market. A fairly good demand has been experienced, and as stocks in first hands, as previously noted in these columns, continue light, values are held firm. Sales have taken place freely at the refineries at 2 to 2⅛c. for bright and 1¼ to 1½c. per lb. for dark domestic syrups. The supply of American offering is light, and prices on it are more or less nominal at 17½ to 23c., as to grade.

MOLASSES—There is only a moderate demand to note for molasses, and business is confined mainly to jobbing sales. During the past eight or ten days only a few wholesale lots have changed hands, the basis on which they took place showing no change. We quote round lots ex store 27½c., car lots 29c., and single puncheons 30c.

TEA—The activity in teas that we have recently noted continues, and a good volume of trade has been put through since our last report. No special change is to note in the tendency of values, but they are firmly maintained, and advices from primary centres are as stiff as ever, late cables from Japan reporting that supplies are small and prices advancing. The demand is still principally directed to Japans, round lots of which have changed hands at 14 to 17c. for medium grades. In black teas some fair-sized lots of Ceylons and Indians have left first hands at 13 to 16c. In low grade Japans prices are nominal, as there are only a few lots available. We quote Japans as follows: Low grades, 11 to 13c; medium, 14 to 17c.; fine, 18½ to 23c.; choice, 24 to 31c.

COFFEE—The coffee market is without special change, but values are well maintained on the whole. The only large business has been in some good sized lots of Maracaibo at quotations. Demand for other goods, however, is of a steady character. We quote: Maracaibo, 18¾ to 21c.; Rio, 19 to 21c; Java, 24 to 30c., and Mocha, 23½ to 29c.

SPICES—The spice market has been fairly active since our last during the few cold days that have intervened, and prices rule steady to firm. Cloves are strong in tone, and sales of Amboina have been made at full figures. We quote mill prices as follows: Penang black pepper, 6 to 7½c.; white pepper, 10 to 12½c.; cloves, 8 to 12c.; cassia, 9 to 10c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.; Jamaica ginger, 15 to 22c.

DRIED FRUITS—The firmer tendency noted in dried fruit last week is well maintained, and a good fair business has been transacted. The actual volume of trade, however, in a wholesale way has not been so large, as jobbers having provided themselves p etty well ahead are now disposed to hold off until after the arrival of the first direct steamer. There is nothing to add to the tenor of advices from primary centres to which we have referred before. It is felt, however, that the damage to the growing crop of raisins will lead to offers of large quantities of inferior fruit, and this fact also has its influence in making buyers proceed cautiously. To arrive by the first steamer raisins have been selling from the jobbing houses at rather firmer prices, and we quote a higher range in consequence as follows: Ordinary off stalk, 4½ to 4¾c.; fine off-stalk, 4¾ to 5c.; selected, 5½ to 5¾c.; layers, 6 to 6¼c. In currants values are also firm, and a fair volume of trade has been transacted at steady prices, viz., 3¼c. in barrels, 3⅜c in half-barrels, and 3¾ to 4¾c. in cases, as to quality to arrive ex Dracona. Some moderate sized lots of old prunes have been offering this week at 4½ to 6¼c., as to quality. There are no definite advices yet with regard to new crop. Several of the importing houses have consignments of figs on the way, but no definite particulars are yet to hand regarding them as they are to far off. They cannot be laid down, however, allowing for the increased duty on the higher goods much under a range of 10 to 13c. as to quality.

RICE—There has been a fairly active business in rice at steady prices. No special feature is to report. We quote: Standard, $3.45 to $3.70; Japan, $3.95 to $4.25, and Patras, $4.25 to $4.75.

CANNED GOODS—There has been no important change in the ruling conditions of the canned goods market. Canned vegetables, as we have already noted, are firm on some of the staple lines, notably corn and tomatoes. An order for a 1,000-case lot of the former was accepted at 85 to 87c., but an offer of 85c. was refused for a good-sized lot of a leading brand of the latter. Demand from second hands is not specially active. In canned fish salmon continues to be the strong line, and it is doubtful if any held goods could be had this week for less than $1.25, as the very firm feeling regarding new pack salmon has stiffened up holders' ideas. We quote: Lobsters, $6 to $8 per case; sardines, $8.50 to $9.50; salmon, $1.25 to $1.35 per doz.; tomatoes, 95c. per doz; peaches, $2 to $2.10 per doz; corn, 95c. to $1 per doz., and marrowfat peas, 85 to 90c. per doz. Australian canned meats: Boiled mutton, $1.86 to $1.90 per doz. 1-lb. tins, and $3.10 to $3.15 per doz. 2-lb tins; roast mutton, $2 05 to $2.10 per doz., 1-lb tins, and $3.35 to $3.40 per doz., 2 lb. tins; corned mutton, $2.05 to $2.10 per doz., 1-lb. tins, and $3.35 to $3.40 per doz., 2-lb. tins.

FISH—Owing to the large arrivals of North Shore and Cape Breton herrings during the past week, which amounted to 1,000 barrels, by schooner and train, the market has been weak and prices have declined 50 to 75c. per barrel, sales of round lots of North Shore herring having been made at $4.50 and Cape Breton at $5 55, and in a jobbing way at $4.75 for the former and $5 50 for the latter The arrivals of green cod have also been larger, and as the demand is limited the market is weak, and prices are 50c lower at $4.50 to $5 for No. 1. Fresh haddock are scarce, owing to the recent stormy weather which has prevailed in Halifax, and some dealers have not been able to get their orders filled; consequently prices are firm at 4 to 4½., and cod at 4c. Bloaters, 60 in a box, are selling at $1 20 to $1 25 per box.

CANNED GOODS—In this line business has been quiet. Tomatoes in a jobbing way are 5c. higher at 85 to 90c., but some sales of 500-case lots have been made from canners at 77½c

GREEN FRUIT.

APPLES—The receipts of fall apples have been very large of late, and as the demand for them has only been limited there is a glut of stock on the market at present; consequently prices are very irregular as dealers state buyers can secure stock pretty much at their own figures. The general feeling is weak and the impression is that values for good winter fruit will go still lower. Private cable advices from Liverpool to-day were steady with no change in prices to note. We quote: Fancy snows at $2.50; St. Lawrences at $2.25; fameuese at $1.50 to $3, and fall stock at $1.25 to $1.60 per barrel. The next car of California fruit will arrive here on Thursday, consigned to Messrs. John Barry & Son, who will dispose of it by auction at the Montreal Fruit Auction Company's rooms.

ORANGES—The principle supplies here are Jamaica fruit which are selling fairly well at $5.25 to $5.50. A few Rodis yet remain and are held for $4.50 per case.

LEMONS—There is a fair demand for lemons at steady prices. Common fruit are selling at $1.50 to $2, and good to fancy, $2.50 to $3.50 per box, as to grade.

GRAPES—No fresh supplies of new Almeria grapes are to note. The lot we referred to last week has been almost all turned over at $5 to $5.25. Niagaras are selling steadily at 2½c., and Concords at 2 to 2¼c., while Rogers are moving at 2½c.

CRANBERRIES—These are not a plentiful article, and prices are firmly held in consequence at $10 to $10 50 per brl.

SPANISH ONIONS—New Spanish onions are selling well at a rather higher range, viz., 90c. to $1 per crate as to quality.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Demand for eggs is well maintained, and prices have advanced ½ to 1c. since our last report, and a large volume of business is doing. We quote 12½ to 13c. for round lots and 13 to 13½c. for smaller quantities.

GAME—The demand for partridges is good, and all the offerings so far received have been taken at 50c. for No. 1 and 30c. for No. 2 per brace.

ONIONS—Receipts of onions have been liberal, but they have met a fair enquiry, and prices, though rather lower than last quoted, are steady at $1.50 to $1.75 in round lots and $1.75 to $2 in smaller quantities.

SWEET POTATOES—Receipts of these have been fair and they are selling fairly well at $2.75 to $3 per brl.

POTATOES—Receipts of these have been large, but the quality is not very choice. Prices are rather firmer on the whole for good stock, and we quote 50 to 60c. per bag.

BEANS—Only a small business is doing at $1.20 to $1.45 for fair to choice stock.

HONEY—Demand is quiet at 7 to 7½c. for extracted and 11 to 14c. for new comb stock.

HOPS—Sales of new early varieties have been made at 9 to 10c., but this is no fair critereon of the actual position of the market.

TORONTO.

FLOUR—Business is quiet. No change is reported in prices. We quote as follows: Manitoba wheat patents, $3.45 to $3.55; strong bakers', $3.20 to $3.25; Ontario, $3 to $3.15; straight roller, $2.80 to $2.90.

WHEAT—The market is reported steadier. Red wheat is quoted at 53c. and white at 54c. per bush.

HAY—Business quiet, and the prices quoted are $7.50 to $9. Car lots of baled, $7.50 to $9 per ton.

BARLEY—The market has been dull. That which has changed hands through the week has been quoted at from 42 to 44c. per bushel.

OATS—Business is quiet. Sales during the latter end of the week are reported at from 30 to 30½c. per bushel.

BRAN—The demand is still greater than city mills are able to supply. Good bran is selling at $13 to $14 per ton.

SHORTS—A good business is reported. Mills are offering at $16 to $16.50 per ton.

SCREENINGS—The lack of good screenings and the increased demand has caused an advance in price, and they are now quoted at from $13 to $13.50 per ton.

MONTREAL.

Considerable enquiry from abroad for flour, and several sales have been made, including one of 3,000 sacks by the Lake of the Woods Milling Co. The demand from local and country buyers was good for car lots, and a fairly active business was done in this way at steady prices. Winter wheat, $3.25 to $3.40; spring wheat, patents, $3.25 to $3.40; Manitoba patents, best brands, $3.45 to $3.55; straight roller, $2.80 to $2.90; extra, $2.55 to $2.60; superfine, $2.40 to $2.50; Manitoba strong bakers, $3.20 to $3.30; Manitoba strong bakers', best brands, $3.30 to $3.35.

The demand for feed was good, and the market rules active and firm. Bran, $16 to $16.50; shorts, $18; mouillie, $22 to $24.

A fair jobbing trade was done in oatmeal at unchanged prices. Standard, brls., $4; granulated, brls., $4.05 to $4.10; rolled oats, brls., $4,05 to $4.10; pot barley, brls., $3 40; split peas, brls.,$3.40.

ST. JOHN, N.B.

In flour the feeling is unsatisfactory, prices ranging very low except in feed flour, of which enough cannot be got, the almost entire demand for cornmeal having been turned to a demand for feed flour. Demand for cornmeal is light. Oatmeal is easy. Middlings are in good supply. Beans continue firm, but advance slowly. Timothy seed is higher. Oats are firm, and an advance would not be a surprise. Hay easy. We quote: Manitoba, $4.20 to $4.25; best Ontario, $3.40 to $3.55; medium, $3.25 to $3.35; oatmeal, $4.20 to $4.30; cornmeal, $3.10 to $3.15; middlings, on track, $22 to $23; beans, $18 to $19; cottonseed meal, 30c; N.B. oats, 37 to 38c.; P.E.I., 41 to 42c; Ontario, 38 to 40c., all on track; beans, hand-picked, $1.65 to $1.70; prime, $1.55 to $1.60; split peas, $3.65 to $3.85; pot barley, $3.85 to $4; round peas, $3.65 to $3.75; hay, on track, $10,50 to $11; timothy seed, American, $3.10 to $3.25; red clover, 11½ to 12c.; alsike, 13½ to 15c.

PROVISIONS—A fair amount of business is transacted in provisions, and the market is moderately active and firm. Canadian short cut, heavy, $21 to $22 ; Canadian short cut, light, $19 to $20 : hams, city cured, per lb., 10 to 13c , lard, Canadian, in pails, 9½ to 10c. ; bacon, per lb., 10 to 12c.; lard, com. refined, per lb., 7¼ to 7½c.

BUTTER—The butter market is fairly steady. Last Saturday the first scramble for September creamery set in, some pretty full figures being paid, as high as 20½c. in the country being quoted. It would be unwise, however, to accept these transactions as the basis at which business in a general way is possible on spot. Finest fall made creamery, 20¼ to 20½c.; earlier makes, 18½ to 19½c.; finest Townships, 16 to 17c ; finest Western dairy, 15½ to 17c.

CHEESE—There is no great change in the cheese market, and the business that is put through is generally on a steady basis. On the street there is not much doing, but at the wharf on Monday 5,000 boxes were offered, and they were sold at 10¼ to 10⅜c. This is about steady as compared with last week's prices. Shippers did not speak of much encouragement, while the public came on Monday at a decline of 6d. to 50s. 6d. It is now within one shilling of where it stood at the same time last year, viz., 49s. 6d. Reports generally regarding the fall make now in progress state that it is good. Finest Ontario Fall made, 10⅜ to 10¾c.; finest Ontario Augusts, 10½c.; finest Townships, 10⅜c.; finest Eastern, 10¼ to 10⅜c.; cable, 50s. 6d.

ASHES—There is no change, the market being quiet and prices firmer under light offerings. We quote : First, $4.25 to $4.30; seconds, $3.85 to $3 90, and Pearls $8 per 100 lbs.

MONTREAL TRADE NOTES.

Gillespie & Co.'s cables from Denia do not note any further change in the raisin market, but state that the firm tone is fully maintained.

Advices to canners' agents here hold that the crop of tomatoes and corn in Ontario is only half what it was last year, and that the pack of it will be so much lighter in consequence.

"If the Trust closes down as it threatens to do in New York," said a sugar broker, "the Canadian market may feel the influence of an American demand."

Both the refineries here report that they are practically sold completely out of any yellow sugars under 3⅜c., which is their best figure now.

Latest advices to J. Alex .Gordon & Co. state that teas are scarce and advancing in Japan.

Stewart Munn & Co received the first cargo of Newfoundland shore herring last Saturday consisting of 600 brls. They are selling it in wholesale lots at $4.50. The quality is much better than last year.

Laporte, Martin & Co. have received this week some choice consignments of leading brands new crop Valencia raisins. They request their patrons to inspect them.

There are only two firms who have any prunes on this market at present—Lightbound, Ralston & Co. and Geo. Childs & Co.

Caverhill, Hughes & Co. received invoices this week of full lines of all leading brands of new crop currants and raisins, which they now have on the way ex Dracona.

Some good round orders for Batcher's well-known peels have been booked during the week by Rose & Laflamme for Toronto account.

W. R. Wonham & Sons have booked some very large orders in Toronto and Hamilton during the week for Marshall's Scotch salt herrings as well as quite a number on local account.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

THE OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., October 4, 1894.

BUSINESS is not as active as it should be at this time of year. Markets are easier, and wholesale houses are not buying largely. Collections outside the city are better than those inside. In flour the feeling appears rather easier, except feed flour, which cannot be supplied in quantities large enough to meet the demand. The demand for cornmeal is light ; mills here are practically closed down. Valencia raisins are being offered from New York spot goods, but by the time this report is being read, our own direct importations will be to hand at a very much lower price than we can get via New York. The quantity of flour arriving via Boston is on the increase, but, except for the lower rate of freight these shipments are not so satisfactory.

SPICE—As reported last week, markets are firm. Nutmegs, mace, pepper and cloves are all higher when bought on importers' account. Prices remain firm at quotations : Cream of tartar, brls., 17½ to 18½c.; boxes, 20 to 25c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.; cassia, 18 to 20c.; cloves, whole, 15 to 20c.; ground. 20 to 25c.; ginger, 18 to 22c.; pepper, 12 to 16c.; bicarb. soda, $2.30 to $2.38 ; sal. soda, 1 to 1½c.

SALT—The stock, which has been light, has been replenished this week, some three cargoes, amounting to about 15,000 sacks, having been discharged, prices from ship side to the trade in wholesale quantities being about 43c. for coarse and 80c. for fine, factory filled. Demand is good, merchants being again able to ship to American ports, if salt is for use of fishermen in their business. Coarse, ex store, 50 to 52c ; factory filled, $1 to $1.10 ; American wood boxes, 20 lb., 20c., 10 lb., 12c.; Canadian, brls., 5-lb. bags, $3.25 ; 10-lb. bags, $3.10.

CANNED GOODS—Some Canadian factories, which are represented here, and which are not in the association, are holding prices rather above the association price, so that these brokers find it impossible to make sale. The new goods will open at about as follows : Tomatoes, $1.05 to $1.10 ; corn and peas, 95 to $1. Corn and tomatoes are at present scarce. Salmon are higher, and a further advance is expected. Some brands of tomatoes and peas were advanced on the 1st inst. We quote : Corn, 95c.; peas, 95c.; tomatoes, $1 ; corned beef, 1 lb. tins, $1.75 ; 2-lb. tins, $2.75 ; oysters, 1's, $1.30 ; 2's, $2.25 ; salmon, $1.30 to $1.35 ; lobsters, $1.75 to $2.

DRIED FRUIT AND NUTS—New Valencia raisins are now here, both direct and via New York. Quality of fruit is good. Prices are firm, and orders cannot be repeated at former prices. Efforts are being made to sell new California loose muscatels, but the price is against them. Malaga, dried, have not yet been quoted. Sultana raisins, 7 to 7½c.; London layers, $2 to $2.10 ; loose muscatels, 6½ to 6¾c.; prunes, 5½ to 6c.; currants, 3½ to 4c., brls.; cases, 4 to 5c.; evaporated apples, new, 10 to 10½c.; figs, 10 to 12c.; onions, Canadian, $2.50 to $2.75 ; new Valencia, off stock, 5c.; layers, 6c. Dried apples are somewhat in demand, but none are yet in the market.

GREEN FRUIT—Except for Gravenstein apples there is little or no demand, and even they feel the influence of the large auction sales daily held. When winter fruit comes and the present over stock of soft gets out of the market a better feeling is expected. Ontario grapes are to hand in large quantities, and are low. Plums are not in as large supply, but there are enough for demand. Apples it is hard to put a price on. No. 1 Gravensteins sell as high as $2.50 to $2.75, but quantities of other grades can be bought from $1 up. Plums, 35 to 50c.; peaches, per basket, $1.75 to $2 ; lemons, $4.50 to $5.50 ; Messina oranges, $5.50 ; bananas, $1 50 to $2 ; grapes, 45 to 60c. per basket ; Bartlett pears, $7 to $7.50 ; sweet potatoes, $4 to $4.50 ; Jamaica oranges, $6 to $7 per brl.; per box, $4.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—Cheese continues in good demand at firm prices. Little later makes than July's have yet gone into consumption, buyers not being willing to pay prices asked for them. Eggs are in very light demand, quality being but fair. Butter is in demand at firm figures, though for creamery since advance of price it is not as great as it was. Cheese, 10½ to 11c.; creamery butter, 23 to 25c.; eggs, 11 to 12c.

MOLASSES—Very firm at quotations of last week. Stocks not large ; good demand. Barbadoes, 27 to 28c ; fancy Port Rico, 43c.; choice, 35c.; Antigua, 27 to 28c.; St. Croix, 27 to 28c.; syrup, 35c.

SUGAR—Is rather easier, with light demand, and prices as last week. Granulated, $4.30 to $4.75 ; white extra C, 3⅞ to 4c.; bright yellow, 3¾ to 3⅞c.; yellow, 3½ to 3⅝c.; dark yellow, 3⅜ to 3½c.; Barbadoes, 3½ to 3¾c.

FISH—Prices are rather easier, large cod being a little off. Arrivals of dried have been large, 200 barrels Shelburne are to hand. Fresh fish are not moving in as large quantities as last week. We quote : Large codfish, $4.10 to $4.25 ; medium codfish, $4 to $4.10 ; small, $3.25 to $3.35 ; haddock, $1.75 ; pollock, $1.70 to $1.75 ; shad, $5 to $5.50 ; bay herring, half-brls., $1.35 to $1.45 ; kippling, $1.75 ; wolves, $2 to $2 25 ; cans, brls., $5.25 ; golden finnan haddies, $1.40 to $1.50 ; medium smoked herring, 9 to 10c.; lengthwise, 8 to 9c.

PROVISIONS—Demand is beginning to be felt, though little is yet being done. Smoked meat will soon again be a feature. P.E.I. mess is higher ; the rest remains unchanged, though feeling is not as firm as it was. Clear mess, $21 to $21.50 ; P.E.I. mess, $17.50 to $18; prime mess, $13.50 to $14.50; plate beef, $13 50 to $14; extra plate, $13.75 to $14.25; pure lard, 10 to 11c.; compound, 8½ to 9½c.; cottolene, 10¼ to 18¾c.

ST. JOHN TRADE NOTES.

There is talk of the Grand Manan men shipping their fish direct to the West Indies.

In future Tuckett's Mahogany chewing tobacco will be sold in 8's rather than 7's, also in 12's.

Large shipments of lambs are reported from Woodstock. One man shipped four cars one week and five the next.

F. S. Simms, the well-known brush and broom manufacturer, is just home from the west, where he bought some 17 cars corn.

Speculation is ripe in Nova Scotia over apples, one firm near Wolfville having bought, it is said, $100,000 worth.

Two new brands of soap have made their appearance here, Richards' Pine and Telephone, the first selling at $5 per box, the other at $4.

Jardine & Co., agents for The Ireland National Food Co., report increasing demand.

F. H. Estabrooks landed this week 150 sacks finest selected Venezula cocoanuts, which he is prepared to sell right.

Some 2,500 barrels flour have lately been landed here via Boston. Though this way is cheaper, it is not as satisfactory as all rail. Your correspondent talking to a large biscuit house here was told that they would not again import in that way, as barrels were not fit for refilling. There are also frequent delays.

A new bedding for horses is now in this market called Peat Moss. It is put up in St. George, N.B., in bales of about 175 lbs., and sells at $15 per ton.

Fairbank's Gold Dust paking powder has made its appearance here. It sells at $4 75 per case, and can be got from C. & E. Macmichael.

The demand for boneless codfish is on the increase. It is reported that there is nothing better than the brands bearing the name of John Sealy.

Another new article of merit in the market is Paterson & Son's Worcestershire Sauce. In this both price and quality are such as suit. C. & E. Macmichael are again to the fore.

Maconachie's pickles, although only in this market for a short time, are rapidly coming to the front. J. Hunter White is the agent.

Merchants here are pleased again to be able to ship salt to American ports after a few days' suspense, salt for fish being free as before. Our merchants regularly have cargoes coming that way.

Somewhat of a disappointed feeling is the outcome of a better understanding of the tariff arrangements with the Spanish West Indies, it now being understood that only codfish is free while our ports are more interested, and very largely interested, in other grades, such as hake haddock and smoked fish. It is expected the Government will at once take steps towards the effecting of better concessions from a Canadian point of view.

Our latest specialty for the tea trade is a 1-lb. Folding Caddy, on which we have just been granted a patent by the Dominion Government. It is in appearance an exact representation of a regular China tea chest with matting, and as a tea package beats everything on the market for three reasons :

1st. Because it is much cheaper than a hand-made box.

2nd. Because being a knock-down box it takes up little or no room, and

3rd. Because being a machine-made box there is no paste or glue to taint the tea, which has been one of the greatest objections to the old style tea caddies.

THE ROBERT HAMILTON CASE.

ROBERT HAMILTON, the Toronto retail grocer found guilty of defrauding Eby, Blain & Co., was Friday last sentenced to the Central prison for three months.

Judge McDougal, in sentencing the prisoner, intimated that his term of imprisonment would have been made greater had it not been for his previous good character.

But the humiliation and degradation of being branded a criminal is greater punishment to Robert Hamilton than can the mere incarceration be, whether the term be three years or three months. The ends of justice have, therefore, been as well served by the shorter as they would have been by the longer term.

The fall of Robert Hamilton one cannot help regretting. It would be inhuman to do otherwise. For more than a score of years he has been in business in the city of Toronto, and during that time, although he has changed his store once or twice, he has never gone out of Queen street or out of the block in which he started. He was, therefore, well known, and by the general public was thought to be prosperous. His store was clean and attractive; his delivery wagon was kept busy; his private house was better than that inhabited by most merchants; and he had a nice private vehicle in which, with wife and children, he was accustomed to take regular drives in and about the city.

For a man who had been in business twenty years or more these things were not surprising.

But if the surface was pleasant the interior was rotten. This, to the surprise of everybody, was learned in August last, when Hamilton assigned. Of all the assets that the estate could scrape up, the nominal value was only $7co, against liabilities of $3,000.

The $4,500 house he said he owned was not his. It was his wife's.

And it was because he misrepresented in this particular that he got both $1,100 worth of goods on credit from Eby, Blain & Co. and a three months' sentence in the Central Prison from Judge McDougal.

What he got he deserved; and he has only his previous good record to thank that he did not get more than he did. For him to plead that when he told the firm that he owned the house in question he did not do so with the intention of defrauding it, neither "washed down" with the jury nor with the public. He falsified, and with the undoubted object of getting the goods that he could not otherwise have obtained.

Eby, Blain & Co. are to be congratulated upon the steps they took to prosecute Hamiton. It is better for the wholesale, it is better for the retail trade, that this man should be weeded out of the business world, for there is all too much of misrepresentation of assets, not among retailers only, but among all classes of business men.

THE APPLE SITUATION.

LARGE was the quantity of apples that last week left Canada and United States ports for Great Britain.

There were in all over 70,000 barrels, some 50,000 of which were shipped from Montreal and Halifax.

The effect these large shipments will have on the English market is awaited with interest, not to say anxiety.

The prospects for the apple exporting trade are still not of the best from a Canadian point of view; and although large quantities have already gone out, and with some profit to the consignors, yet it is worthy of note that those who are known as the old time exporters have, as a rule, so far this season, been resting on their oars, apparently awaiting developments. With the enormous crop there is in the United States, they do not expect to do much, any how; but on the little they expect to do, they propose to make a little money.

Further information regarding the effect of the recent wind storm upon the apple crop has been received. The storm was general, but the fruit blown down is understood to have been largely confined to worm-eaten and deformed kinds, and the little of exportable quality that fell was about balanced by the trees in some places yielding more abundantly than it was first estimated they would.

While, in view of the large supply of apples our cousins to the south have themselves, Canadian exporters will naturally not send as much fruit as usual to the United States, yet there is one kind in which they expect to send a good many. That is, snow apples, which, for some reason or other, our cousins cannot or do not grow to any extent.

THE CHANCES ON CHEESE.

"IT would be interesting to know," said a leading Montreal cheese dealer, on Saturday, to THE GROCER, "just how the owners of the large stocks of cold storage cheese held in Canada feel at present."

THE GROCER coincides with the query, and is disposed to believe that they feel anything but comfortable. An approximate estimate places the quantity of cheese so held at about 500,000 boxes. The goods range from summer make to late August and first half September, and the cheapest of them, allowing for carrying charges, etc., could not be sold at much less than 10¼ to 10½c., and let the seller out with any profit at all. On the other hand, the average first cost of the August goods and September goods has been fully 10½c. Adding to this the carrying charges, buyer's commission, freight, etc., it would take an 11c. market to let the holder of the cheese out, and at present such a price seems to be very far off indeed.

To be plain, buyers have run the price of the August cheese up altogether too high, and it looks very much at present as if some cheese dealers stood to make a pretty heavy loss, unless the market improves. There is not much encouragement for them in this connection at present. In fact, rather the reverse; and it is hard to understand on what ground buyers have based the figures they have paid.

Cheese in the country has cost this year from ¼ to 1c. more than it did last year, which is a pretty big advance on a million or so of cheese, being about 70c. a box more, or an extra cost of over $700,000 this season. On the other hand, the make has been greater all through, for despite the talk of drouth during August and the early part of September in Ontario, that province, from fairly reliable reports to hand, may be expected to turn out an increased make of fall cheese. The same facts apply in Quebec, while the shipments to date are fully 100,000 greater than last year, and the make in Great Britain 30 per cent greater. There is also a large quantity of cheese yet to dispose of in Canada and the States, so that, all in all, the outlook for holders of high-priced cheese is not very cheering.

The one good point in the situation is the higher prices farmers have been receiving. Of course, this is of no interest to the middleman, but the fact that the farmers and cheese producers generally have $700,000 more to spend this year than last must be decidedly interesting to those tradesmen from whom the farmers buy merchandise.

MR. WILSON'S ATTACK ON CANADA.

THE statement made by a Mr. Wilson in the Investors' Review of London to the effect that Canada's financial position is perilous, emanates from a pen that is either ignorant of the Dominion's condition or that is actuated by malice.

Canada's financial position is not perilous. No nation to-day occupies a better position in the financial world than does the Dominion of Canada; and if her position is perilous, what must that of other countries be? We may as well put sackcloth and ashes on for them at once.

The premier position of Canada in a financial sense was evidenced, during the recent panic that swept over the globe, more than ever before.

Great Britain, the United States, Australia were all in the throes of a struggle with Hard Times; while Canada pursued the even tenor of her way, interested, but not materially affected.

The managers of the Canadian banks, men who ever have their fingers upon the pulse of the country, at the last annual meetings dwelt upon, in glowing terms, Canada's immunity from the financial panics that were sweeping over the world, and the refrain was taken up and sung by the financial press and by public men both in Great Britain and in the United States.

The solidity and utilitarian character of the banking system particularly came in for remarks of approval.

Further proof that the opinion of Mr. Wilson is not the opinion of financial men generally in England is evidenced by the high standing of Canadian securities on the London market.

The wheels of commerce are not revolving as rapidly as desired, but little else could be expected with a cloud of depression hanging as it now is over the civilized world.

But that is a different thing from being in a "perilous state."

Canada's position was never unhealthy. And whatever quietude there may have been during the past few months, evidences of a re-awakening are not wanting.

The country has been blessed from one end to the other with abundant cereal and fruit crops, while of cheese and butter the output was never so large.

Then, with regard to the storekeepers, the outlook has improved for them.

First of all, the farmers' ability to buy, in view of the abundant crops, is better.

Next, the merchant has been pursuing a more careful policy with regard to his purchases and to his credits; and the result is that both the amount he owes and the amount he has on his books is probably smaller than ever before, while, to crown it all, better business methods are gradually developing.

Turn which way one may, none of the evidences denote a "perilous state." The banks are Gibraltars of strength, while the manufacturers, the merchants, the farmers are all putting on new life. And all we want now to make the trade of the country brisk is a little more confidence as a lubricant.

But perhaps, after all, Mr. Wilson may be laboring under the impression that Canada is a part of the United States. Other English journalists have been guilty of equally ludicrous mistakes regarding this country. Perhaps this may explain the why and the wherefore of his attack on Canada's financial standing. But in any event, he did not know what he was writing about.

THE FIRMNESS OF DRIED FRUIT.

"THE opening of the dried fruit market this fall has been interesting," said one of the leading Montreal importers to THE GROCER last Saturday, and this journal agrees with him.

Since the opening of the season the tone has been firm on both raisins and currants, the two lines that Canadians import in the greatest supply, and recent advices do not indicate anything calculated to induce a change in the direction of lower prices. This is especially the case on dried raisins, and during the past two weeks prices, in consequence of the great firmness reported from Denia have stiffened from ¼ to ½ a cent on all leading brands of good merchantable fruits. This strength has led to the execution of considerable orders by the second direct steamer from the Mediterranean to Montreal, at 1s. advance on the prices paid for similar lines of fruit by the first vessel, which is due at Montreal on the 15th of the month.

MARITIME BUSINESS MEN.

Conference of Boards of Trade held at St. John.

SUBJECTS CONSIDERED.

PEDLARS AND HAWKERS.
RAILWAY FREIGHT RATES.
STANDARD TIME.
CANADIAN WINTER PORT.
INSOLVENT ESTATES.
TERMS OF CREDIT.
WHOLESALE SELLING CONSUMERS.

THE conference of Maritime Boards of Trade, held under the auspices of the St. John, N.B., Board, on Thursday last, was a great success. Representatives were present from the leading Boards in New Brunswick, and so were Mr. Troop, President of the Halifax Board, and Mr. Curry, of the Amherst. A number of important questions were discussed, many of which are of equal interest to business men in other parts of the Dominion, such, for instance, as licensing pedlars and hawkers, railway freight discrimination, insolvency, terms of credit, wholesalers selling to consumers.

Standard time was a subject which created much discussion. For the information of readers in other parts of Canada, it may be said that there are several times in the Maritime Provinces. The railways all work on eastern standard time, while every city and town has also a time of its own, based to some extent on the sun. Halifax is, according to the sun, 52 minutes ahead of railway time; but, for convenience, it has been enacted that it should be exactly one hour ahead. In all the hotels throughout the Provinces, there are two clocks—one labelled "Standard Time," and the other "Local Time." In some places there are two local times, and when engagements are made they always specify which time, and there is much confusion. There was so much difference of opinion as to which time it would be advisable to adopt, that a decision on the matter was postponed indefinitely. The majority seemed to favor "Standard," which means that there would be but one time in Canada, East of Port Arthur and Detroit.

Pedlars and hawkers, with waggons and packs, infest New Brunswick, especially the border and northern parts. They are usually of the very worst class, being the scum of European and American cities. They pay no taxes; the authorities have no control over them; they commit crime, and easily evade arrest by skipping over the border; they cheat; they sell shoddy goods to the unsophisticated farmer, fisherman or laborer. Mothers frighten their children by telling them a pedlar is coming. There are two remedies: High licence fees and every pedlar wearing a badge, or to prohibit them entirely. There is a Provincial law for regulating this traffic, but it is inadequate, and a resolution was adopted asking the Legislature to give municipalities power to license and collect $40 annually from non-resident pedlars and $10 from residents, and to compel each pedlar to wear a badge and not to cry his wares on the street. Some of the St. John merchants opposed the proposition, on the grounds that it was an interference with trade and that it was degrading to wear badges, but the outside representatives were solid in their opposition to them. It was pointed out that the Local Legislature had no power to pass an act of this kind which would interfere with trade; but, while admitting this to be the case, it was felt that it was worth taking chances on, especially as the hawkers were not likely to carry the case to the courts. The resolution does not, of course, apply in any way to commercial travelers, though it was stated that some of the Montreal and Toronto travelers were not far removed from pedlars.

The town of Woodstock having but one railway, and consequent arbitrary freights, the Board of that town asked the Conference to support them in an effort to obtain redress, which they did. The Conference also gave its support to the Newcastle Board in its efforts to secure more equitable rates to and from Northern New Brunswick points.

Two of the strongest speeches of the meeting were made by the mover and seconder of a resolution requesting the managers of the C. P. R., I. C. R., and G. T. R., and the various Boards of Trade throughout the Dominion to support the Maritime Provinces in their efforts to make a Canadian port instead of Portland, the winter terminal point for the subsidized line of steamers. This is the most important question agitating the Maritime Provinces, and especially in their relations with other parts of Canada. They hold that it would be advantageous to the Dominion generally; and that as the provinces had made sacrifices in entering Confederation and in afterwards paying their share of the subsides for building railways and canals in the west and for ocean steamers, western Canada should assist them, especially as they had so far received no direct benefit from the monies thus spent in developing the west. Some pretty strong things were said of the selfishness of the Montreal and Ontario Boards of Trade, and the scant courtsey with which they had treated the representatives of the Maritime Boards; at other times during the conference the speakers rather harped on the disadvantages of Confederation. When the Government decide, as no doubt they will, that the terminus must be on Canadian soil, the question will then be whether Louisburg, Halifax, St. John, or St. Andrews shall be the point. The feeling seemed to be that the trade would be divided between St. John and Halifax.

There is no Insolvency Law in New Brunswick, and it was decided to ask the Legislature to adopt one similar to the Ontario Act for the equitable distribution of insolvent estates.

The long credit system was condemned and wholesalers and retailers were urged to curtail credits.

It was decided to organize a Maritime Board of Trade, composed of representatives from New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island Boards, to meet semi-annually.

The practice of wholesale houses selling to consumers was severly condemned, and it was recommended that in future the name of any firm doing so should be reported to the different Boards of Trade. The mover and seconder of the resolution considered that hotels were consumers. This, in brief, was what the Conference did.

The conference idea originated with Mr. Hatheway, President of the St. John Board, whose portrait is given. He is a young wholesale grocer, possessing the elements that should lead to more than ordinary success. While watching the details of his own business carefully, he takes a great interest in affairs generally. I do not think he took the presidency of the Board for the honor, though he must appreciate that, but because he felt that in forwarding the interests of the business men of St. John he was doing a duty, and at the same time indirectly helping himself. He thus sets an example to many business men who cannot see beyond their nose. They do not see that in promoting the interests of the community they help themselves. If they did, there would be more successful Boards of Trade, and practical men would be at the head of affairs in many towns where there are now fadists. Mr. Hatheway is a shrewd business man, and if I am not much mistaken St. John will one day have reason to congratulate herself on having made him president. He makes a good chairman; says but little, and displays more than ordinary tact.

He has a very capable assistant in Ira Cornwall, the secretary. His training in newspaper work on the Hamilton (Ont.) Spectator, under the late Hon. Tom White, and on the Montreal Gazette, fitted him for his present work. He knows how to advertise St. John and its advantages, and he does it well. He represented New Brunswick at the Indian and Colonial Exhibition and as agent general of the Province made it much better known in Great Britain. It would have paid the Government to have kept him there. He could do more to advertise Canada—because he knows how—than half the present representatives, because they were appointed for political services, and as a rule do not.

The Mayor of St. John, George Robertson, is an ex-president of the board. He is a different stamp of man from many mayors. He was elected not by ward-heelers, as is frequently the case, but because he was well fitted for the position. He is a very successful retail grocer, but he has a good partner, and most of his time is devoted to civic affairs. He is an excellent speaker; always thoroughly posted on his subject, he places it before his audience in clear, concise sentences and in a way which carries con-viction.

Portraits of others will appear later.

J. B. MacLean, of THE CANADIAN GROCER, was present as a guest of the St. John Board.

WHAT THEY DID.

In opening the Conference, Mr. Hatheway said he would like, as chairman of the St. John Board of Trade, to extend a hearty welcome to those delegates who had come at their request. To the delegates from Newcastle he extended the kindliest greeting, and recognized them as a capable band of merchants who are anxious to advance the interests of the province, in every way possible. To the delegates from Moncton he also extended the kindliest greeting. They felt that Moncton, being the centre of the railway system of New Brunswick, and also increasing rapidly in manufactures, added to the influence of the business men of that city. He extended a welcome also to Fredericton and Woodstock, the centre of lumbering and dairying industries. They were not here to ventilate any particular grievance. Whatever the future of Canada was, the desire was that New Brunswick should have a foremost place. It remained largely with them whether laws would be enacted that would help to give the Province its foremost place.

Mr. Hatheway asked that a President and Secretary be appointed, and Mr. Hatheway was elected chairman, and Ira Cornwall secretary. The first topic:

Railway Freight Rates.

Was then discussed, and W. A. Saunders, in moving a resolution, felt that the rates of freight charged to merchants in Woodstock have been too high in comparison with what have been charged in other places. He felt that they had not had that chance of competing with their neighbors that they should have had. He then moved the following resolution:

"Whereas, the town of Woodstock has a population approaching 4,000 souls, and contains a number of manufactories, and is the centre of one of the finest agricultural sections of Canada;

"And whereas, said town is served by but one line of railway, and is practically a non-competitive point, from a railway point of view;

"And whereas, an arbitrary tariff is charged on freight going to that town, which is a source of great grievance to the manufacturers, merchants, business men and citizens of Woodstock, in their opinion impeding business;

Therefore be it resolved, that in the opinion of this conference the Board of Trade of the town of Woodstock has just cause for dissatisfaction with the arbitrary rate on freight carried by rail between McAdam Junction and Woodstock;

"And further resolved that this conference support the Woodstock Board in its efforts to obtain redress of this grievance."

J. T. Garden, of Woodstock, in seconding the resolution, said that there was no competition whatever with the C.P.R., and that they had simply to grin and bear it. They were charged 24 cents per 100 lbs. on small quantities of freight, and he thought it a mistake for the railway company to take advantage of any town, or any section of the province, to which a large volume of freight was daily being sent.

T. C. L. Ketchum cited cases where excessive freights had been charged, and instanced a car of flour taken to Edmundston through Woodstock at $24 cheaper than one could be delivered at Woodstock for. The freight from Liverpool to St. John via Halifax was $12 90, while the freight from St. John to Woodstock was $22.78.

W. H. Thorne asked if there was not a regular tariff of rates from all the different points of Canada and New Brunswick to Woodstock direct, and did the same complaint arise as to shipments from Woodstock to other points?

J. T. Garden said that he believed the rate for 100 lbs. from Montreal to St. Stephen, St. Andrews and McAdam was 54 cents per 100 lbs. and freight to Woodstock 79 cents. Hay could be shipped from a point on the new railway to Boston and Bangor very much cheaper than by the C. P. R. from Woodstock.

James Carr pointed out that the expense of shipping by the C. P. R. was nearly one third more than by other railways.

A. I. Teed also quoted instances of excessive rates.

J. J. McGaffigan said that the railways charged these excessive rates because of non-competition. They want all the freight they can get, and where there is competition they bring down their rates and get the freight.

J. S Neill said that in Fredericton they were in the same position a few years ago. They were at the mercy of the C.P.R. Now they had the Canada Eastern Railway connected with the I. C. R. at Cha ham Junction, and to-day they got the same rates as St. John. The difficulty now could be got over by building a railway from Woodstock to Fredericton and then on to St. John and have a competing line. They would then have the C.P.R. by the horns, as they now had Woodstock. There was water communication by summer, and when the winter came on up went the rate of freight to Fredericton, the winter competition being removed. He thought the three cities should co-operate and get a line of railway from St. John to Woodstock direct. If the river were dredged through to Woodstock, they could have summer competition.

W. S. Fisher asked if the Woodstock Board expected any relief from the new line of railway from Bangor to Houlton. He thought a line from Houlton to Woodstock would be better. The C. P. R. said: "We will meet all competition that may arise and exist, and propose to do so, and where we have a corner we propose to utilize it to our advantage."

Hon. Mr. Lindsay thought the people of St. John might see that there was a fair rate between St. John and Woodstock. It looked to him dishonest that railways should take advantage of a town's position.

President Hatheway agreed with all that had been said and that the arbitration rate was from McAdam to Woodstock.

Mr. McGaffigan remarked that the people of the North Shore had been complaining about the arbitrary rate charged on deals in the winter time over the I. C. R. to St. John. At the request of Mr. Hatheway this was left for a separate resolution.

W. A. Saunders regretted he was not in a position to give details. The rate from St. John to Fredericton on dry goods was 15 cents, from St. John to Woodstock 42 cents. The freight rates affected the exports to a great extent. The new line from Houlton to Woodstock was being surveyed, and they would soon be able to ship freight from other ways. Being so close to the border it was very hard to keep the volume of trade.

The resolution was carried unanimously, and it was agreed that a copy be sent to the Canadian Pacific.

P. Hennessey wished to move a resolution. The rates charged by the I. C. R. taxed the North Shore people very unjustly. The tariff was 5 cents more per barrel of flour between Campbellton and Berry's Mills than to Moncton and St. John. They asked for a uniform rate of delivery of goods all along the line. He was sorry to find that the Government were ready to take advantage and make discriminating charges against the very people who were to reap the greatest benefits from the building of the I. C. R. It was this advantage held out to them that induced them to agree to confederation. It was a breach of faith on the part, of the Government. He moved, seconded by D. Morrison :

Resolved, "That the meeting, composed as it is of the several Boards of Trade of the Province of New Brunswick and convened in the city of St. John, its commercial centre, view with disfavor the discriminating policy of the Grand Trunk and Intercolonial Railways in freight matters against the northern portion of the Province which the I. C. R. runs through;

"And whereas the I. C. R. charges 5 cents per barrel more freight to deliver flour and meal at the north shore stations, viz., from Campbellton to Berry's Mills than at Moncton, St. John or Halifax : Therefore this meeting wishes to express its disapproval at the present tariff of the I. C. Railway simply because it discriminates to the advantage of its customers in one section to the disadvantage of those in another section ; and be it

"Further resolved, That copies of this resolution be mailed to Hon. Mr. Haggart, Minister of Railways and Canals, and to the manager of the G. T. Ry. for the purpose of bringing before their notice the injustice under which the north shore section of the Province is suffering by so unfair a freight tariff, and that this Board of Trade ask that a more equitable freight tariff be introduced in place of the unjust one now in existence."

Mayor Robertson remarked that it was difficult for any railway under the control of a government or corporation to arrange their tariffs, because railways, like all other enterprises, must, if they are going to live, take into consideration competition and the competitive points. It was almost impossible for any railway to have an equalizing rate per mile. He took much pleasure in endorsing the resolution asking the Government to take steps to do ample justice to the North Shore. The northern part of the province was closed to navigation during the winter season, and if a fair rate were given to St. John and other Bay of Fundy ports it would receive the advantage of this water communication during the winter time, and great advantages accrue to the whole of the province. The shipments of lumber to the Argentine Republic are constantly increasing, and the class of lumber that we furnish will always find a market there. A better rate would enable us to ship all the year round.

The resolution was carried unanimously.

W. FRANK HATHEWAY

(President St. John Board of Trade).

Pedlars and Hawkers.—Should License Fees be Increased, and should the Legislature be Dominion or Provincial ?

D. Morrison, in moving the following, seconded by Mr. Hennessey, remarked that the pedlars were becoming so numerous that they were a nuisance :

"Whereas the present Pedlars Act of this province is inadequate to regulate the sale of wares by pedlars or hawkers :

"Be it therefore resolved, That this conference shall influence local legislation to so amend the Act whereby county municipalities shall be empowered to deal with pedlars or hawkers by causing each pedlar or hawker before entering on business to register his name with the Secretary-treasurer of the county in which said pedlar or hawker proposes to do business, and that the said Secretary-treasurer be empowered to issue licence duly numbered and collect from each non-resident pedlar or hawker the sum of $10 as a yearly licence tax.

"And further resolved, That every licensed pedlar or hawker under this law shall, when receiving his licence, be provided by the secretary-treasurer with a badge, on which shall be displayed the number of his licence, and he shall wear the same in a conspicuous place upon his hat, or on the outside of his outer garment, at all times when prosecuting his business as such pedlar or hawker ; and he shall not carry out his wares to the disturbance of the peace and comfort of the inhabitants of the municipality.

Mr. Morrison remarked that there was great difficulty in tracing these pedlars, being foreigners. It was difficult to have them registered unless they paid a licence. Collectors of rates of each parish should look after this and prosecute pedlars who have no licence and who are selling contrary to the Act.

J. V. Ellis would like to hear some argument in support of the resolution. It carried to his mind an idea that a St. John commercial traveler would have to go round the country with a badge on his back. Was a line to be drawn between people who sold by samples and the men who sold goods which they carried about with them ? The law in St. John was inoperative ; he never saw a man wearing such a badge.

Mr. Morrison said the resolution applied to pedlars, chiefly foreigners. It was difficult to keep trace of them. All that was asked was that the different municipalities should have some law relating to them ; the cities and incorporated towns already having such laws.

Mayor Robertson said there was a special by-law in St. John to take charge of these gentlemen. The reason Mr. Ellis had not seen any of the badges was because the Mayor and the Chief of Police kept such men out of the city. The last year, owing to the dull times in the United States, there has been a vast number of these hawkers. One class of men got a licence and established headquarters and sent out an army of pedlars. These are charged $20 for residence and $40 for business licence, and the full amount was exacted. Notwithstanding, there was a number of complaints of the pedlars cutting out the small shop-keepers who pay rates and taxes and are good citizens. It was only fair for the taxpayers and property-owners that these outsiders, who have no intention of being citizens, should pay handsomely for the privilege of remaining in the city. It does not apply to representatives of commercial houses who come here with samples and are in the legitimate trade of the country.

J. J. McGaffigan said he knew Mr. Morrison's resolution did not aim at the commercial travelers. He was well acquainted with the class of people referred to. He met them frequently as he travelled through the country. Only the other day, he saw several teams at one time at Boiestown.

W. A. Saunders said this matter came before the municipality of Carleton, and they found it was a pretty hard thing to handle. These pedlars carried every conceivable kind of merchandise with packs, carts and teams. As they did not carry any great stock on hand, if they were seized it was all right. When the matter came before them, they found it was necessary to get a licence from the Secretary-Treasurer. It seemed to him that the licence was too small, and that it should be increased. It seriously affected legitimate business.

H. H. Pitts said this matter had been before the Legislature. There ought to be a general law of the Province, and any community could take advantage of it if they desired. It would be conceded that the thing had become a nuisance. The wording of the resolution did not leave the responsibility on anybody. Let it be more definite, and word the resolution so that there would be somebody to carry it out.

In answer to Mr. Hatheway, Mr. Pitts stated that the law should be a Provincial one, and should give each community the privilege of adopting it or not. There was a discussion in the House last year as to whether it should be general or not. He thought next year it would be made a general thing. As to commercial travelers, he thought there were some whom it would be well to put a badge on, as they were going beyond legitimate business. It has been suggested that commercial travelers who sell small parcels and do a retail trade should have a tax put on them.

T. H. Hall said that every person had a right to go into business if they kept within the law. He did not see why a pedlar should be obliged to put a band on his hat to distinguish him and show him everywhere as a pedlar. If he had paid his licence had he not the same right as a retailer or a wholesaler? If anyone doubted him when he was going round, all that was necessary was to ask him to show his licence.

Hon. T. R. Jones asked whether in case this resolution were adopted by the Board of Trade, they intended to apply to the Dominion Legislature or the Provincial Legislature for the remedy they were seeking.

Mr. Morrison replied that the resolut on stated the Provincial Legislature.

Mr. Jones, continuing, said the Provincial Legislature had no power to pass a law affecting trade and commerce. It was a matter for the Dominion Parliament. If there was Provincial legislation, there would be endless litigation and trouble and parties prosecuted.

J. D. Creaghan said the objection was not so much that these people interfered with the local trade, but they were all foreigners, Polish Jews and all conditions of men, and it was desirable that they should be taxed and their names should be registered. As to Mr. Jones' argument regarding the powers of the Provincial Legisleture, the Attorney-General had disproved that by passing an Act precisely as this one here.

Mr. Lindsay contended that it was a matter for the municipalities to deal with. An Act providing for that was passed before confederation. There had been no legislation since then, except the Act of 1894, which makes it the duty of the collector to collect the fees.

W. S. Schofield asked whether the substitu ion of a clause requiring pedlars and hawkers to produce their licences when demanded, would not be better protection than the clause that they should wear a badge. It seemd to him that in any class of people who were authorized to do business, and the law recognizing their business, it was hard that any particular man should be picked out and marked with badges. He suggested that the clause be removed in order to secure an unanimous vote.

H. H. Pitts hoped the mover of the resolution would not alter that. The officials of the I.C.R. wore badges. The pedlar was not better, nor as good. The pedlars should be as marked as poss ble as the business was not a legitimate one.

; D. Morrison said the matter was purely a local one, and he did not see why the board or the local Legislature could not deal with it. The County of Northumberland brought the matter up and passed a measure in the Lower House, but it was thrown out by the Upper House. They only asked for the same powers and rights that they had in in orporated cities to deal with pedlars and hawkers.

Mr. Jones said if the bill was passed in the local Legislature they would have more law on that account than they ever had before. The proper way was to apply to the Dominion Government for a bill that would regulate all these matters.

Vivian H. Tippet thought it highly desirable that these men should were badges and as a matter of protection to our wives and families they should be looked after. They were generally Polish Jews of the very lowest description; they looked so much alike it was hard to tell one from the other.

C. A. Everett: If these men are such a bad class of pedlars, why license them? Why not put and end to them? (Hear, hear.)

J. V. Ells agreed with Mr. Jones as respects the powers of the Provincial Legislature. He failed to see any difference between commercial travelers and men who carry their stock on their backs and on teams. Pedlars were not all Polish Jews, and it was entirely a matter of trade. If it aimed at Polish Jews, it should be so expressed; it took even our own people. If narrow lines of legislature were allowed to go on, we would come back to the old system of living.

J. D. Creaghan thought the resolution was comprehensive and covered the whole scope. A commercial traveler was not a Jew, nor a Greek, nor a Pole. He was established in the country.

James Carr, of Woodstock, was not aware that any part of the Province was harassed as much as the border, but he could not say he was in favor of badges. If pedlars did not produce a licence they could be prosecuted at once. They might have a badge and that be overlooked.

Mr. MacLean, of THE CANADIAN GROCER, gave a resume of the city of Toronto's experience with pedlars. He said that a few years ago the city council had passed a by-law excluding the pedlars from plying their avocation on certain central streets. To oppose this, the pedlars had organized. They carried the matter into the courts, and in the Supreme Court they succeeded in getting the by-law declared ultra vires. The civic authorities, however, he said, were still of opinion that the by-law was intra vires, and had carried the matter before the Privy Council, where it still rested. Regarding badges, he said that largely through the instrumentality of the Retail Grocers' Association, the pedlars in Toronto were now compelled to wear badges, although they at first fought hard against doing so.

Mr. Morrison thought it important to have a badge to show who these pedlars were. There was an unanimous opinion from the counties that are not incorporated that these pedlars should be controlled. It was the duty of St. John people to protect legitimate trade. These Poles, Jews and foreigners came here and contributed nothing whatever to the internal taxation of the country, and we had to compete against these people and contribute to taxation. Therefore it was not unfair to ask them to contribute a licence fee towards the revenue of the country. The complaints came not only from the mercantile people, but from the people that were trading with them.

G. W. Allen said that if the pedlars were guilty of criminal offences, surely the criminal laws should deal with them. If they could sell goods cheaper than other people, why not let them? If the charges made by Mr. Tippett were correct, those were matters for the criminal laws. This resolution did not go far enough, one way or the other. If a resolution was brought to prosecute these pedlars we might look into it; but a measure of this kind, neither protectionn or free trade, he for one should oppose.

Mr. Jones said if the gentleman would offer in his resolution, to apply to the Dominion Government for the relief sought instead of to the local Government, he would support the resolution. If a bill were passed by the local Legislature it would not hold water, it would only get the small traders of the country into the courts and the lawyers would reap the benefit. The bill would be ultra vires. The amendments that had been passed to the old Act, passed before confederation, did not interfere with the fundamental principles of the bill. They were only as to the penalties.

The Chairman then put the resolution, which was carried, and it was agreed that a copy be sent to the Provincial Secretary.

The Adoption of Standard Time.

Robert Cruikshank proposed the following resolution:

"Whereas, very great inconvenience, annoyance and loss have been caused, and are now being caused throughout the whole of the Province of New Brunswick by the use of so many different methods of reckoning time;

"And whereas, a uniform time would greatly add to the comfort and convenience of the traveling community and the general public; therefore.

"Resolved, That it is the opinion of this joint conference that the general adoption of Eastern Standard time, as now in use on the Intercolonial Railway, should be substituted and used all over the Province of New Brunswick, and that the use of what is now known as St. John, or local, time should be discontinued, and only one time known and used, and that steps be taken to secure its adoption by legislation or otherwise."

Mr. Cruikshank said that the adoption of standard time arose from several conferences on the subject of time. It was decided that Greenwich, England, should be the starting point for this time. The longitude of St. John was 66 degrees. It was found necessary by men who had considered the subject in connection with railways that time should not be altered in going from one place to another. It was also found necessary to adopt a certain parallel to regulate the time for this country. The Intercolonial Railway had adopted a time of its own. It was then decided that the 75th parallel of longitude should be adopted. The change had caused much loss of time and it was decided that something should be done at this conference to have one time for all general use instead of two or three. In Moncton and other places where standard time was used, it was found to be greatly in the interests of the people. The present system of time caused a great deal of inconvenience and annoyance, and so far the only objections to the change had been made on the score of inconvenience. At the time the change to decimal currency was made, a great outcry was raised, but a provision was made for a certain day in the year for the change to come into operation, and no one would now think of going back to the old currency. There was no reason why the same plan should not be adopted in regard to this time.

Mr. Harris was quite in accord with the resolution. It had been found to work well at Moncton.

T. S. Simms said it would be better if they all adopted the same time as Halifax.

W. H. Jarvis said if that were done they would still have two times, and the railways would still retain the eastern standard time.

It would be better to adopt the eastern standard time which all the local railways now use.

C. A. Everett said if we had eastern standard time we would have one time from Detroit to the Atlantic Coast, and favored the mover of the resolution putting in the word "eastern" standard time. This was agreed to.

Hon. Wm. Lindsay opposed any change. Did the railways want to rule them in the matter of time? It would mean confusion to the laboring men.

J. V. Ellis was not in favor of changing the time. If adopted, it would be very uncertain in its operation, especially to men who were employers of labor. There were economic reasons why work should be done by the sun.

Geo. W. Allen was in favor of the adoption of standard time, on the ground that there were only two days in the year when the sun was right.

H. A. Drury said from his experience eastern standard time should be universally adopted in the Maritime Provinces. Ninety per cent. of the people visiting the Maritime Provinces were familiar with the eastern standard time.

S. Schofield said that a change was not advisable All legislation on matters of this kind ought to be directed in the interests of the largest number of people. This change was suggested simply because the railways had adopted a different time. It would only benefit the traveling portion of the community, which was a very small percentage of the population as compared with the resident population. It was undesirable that the larger portion of the population should be inconvenienced for the smaller. They had no evidence as to the working of the system. Moncton was a town where standard time was used, but the representative from Moncton did not give them any information with regard to the practical working of the system there.

J. W. McCready, of Fredericton, did not think there was any evidence before the conference that there was any annoyance, confusion, loss or damage to any person or class of persons by the present system of time. The resolution should state facts so there should be some evidence behind it to support it. If they passed a resolution at all they should pass a resolution adopting standard time after reciting some evidence. There was no necessity for such a thing; there was no demand for it by the country or the city.

J. V. Ellis thought there was no reason in this resolution, except that the local time did not agree with the sun time. The present time of the sun was most convenient.

Andrew Malcolm thought more inconvenience would be caused be the eastern standard time than by the sun time; they would have 36 minutes less sun during the work day.

H. H. Pitts suggested the mover withdraw the resolution altogether. There was evidence of strong feeling against it.

J. F. Merritt said that Halifax, Yarmouth and other places had adopted a time one hour ahead of the railroad time here, and they found it worked admirably. If a change were made it would suit the people of the city better to adopt the same time as Halifax and Nova Scotia ports had adopted.

T. S. Simms thought if every town would adopt the 60th parallel, or the Atlantic standard time, then the railroads would come to it.

Mr. Spurr moved that the question be given the "three months' hoist" as there seemed to be a disagreement; which Mr. Pitts seconded.

On being put to the meeting it was decided on vote of 15 to 10 in favor of postponing the question.

IRA CORNWALL
(Secretary St John Board of Trade.)

Maritime Board of Trade.

Mr. Troop, President of the Halifax Board, said that as they had been successful in bringing together the local boards of trade of this Province, and what he had seen convinced him that to widen the circle could not fail to be of the greatest importance to the Maritime Provinces, he therefore moved, seconded by Mr. Everett:

"Resolved, that in the opinion of the delegates here assembled, it is desirable that a Maritime Board of Trade should be organized, representing all the local Boards of Trade in the Maritime Provinces

"Resolved that a committee of five be appointed from among the delegates here assembled, whose duty it shall be to report to the meeting this evening a brief scheme for the immediate organization of such Maritime Board."

Messrs. Troop, Halifax; Everett, Morrison, Newcastle; Teed, St. Stephen; and Mayor Robertson were appointed the committee.

Mr. Troop submitted the report later in the session, saying he did so all the more readily because the Governor had endorsed the action of the Board in anticipation, and he congratulated the chairman on having a gentleman presiding over the affairs of the Province who expressed views that they were all delighted to hear.

The report was as follows:

"The committee appointed to prepare a scheme of organization for a Maritime Board of Trade respectfully recommend adoption of the following constitution:

1. This body shall be known as the Board of Trade for the Maritime Provinces.

2. It shall be composed of delegates selected by the various Boards of Trade throughout the Maritime Provinces.

3. It shall deal with all matters of trade and commerce affecting the interests of the Maritime Provinces or of any section thereof, as well as matters affecting the interests of the whole Dominion.

4. The officers shall be a president, a vice-president for each of the Maritime Provinces, a secretary, a treasurer and a Board of Directors, upon which there shall be at least one member from each Board of Trade affiliated with the body.

5. Meetings of this board shall be held semi-annually, in the month of ——, at such places as may be selected by the board at its meeting.

Your committee recommend that the first meeting be called by the president of the Halifax Board of Trade at such time and place as he finds will be likely to best accommodate the various boards.

The report was adopted, and a copy will be sent to each Board in the provinces.

Mr. Thorne moved, seconded by Mr. Spurr, and carried, that the session adjourn until 8 o'clock.

The Lieutenant-Governor.

On resuming in the evening, the President introduced the Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick, Hon Mr. Fraser who said he had much pleasure in being present. The gathering together of so many of the intelligent business men of the country could not but produce results beneficial to the commerce and industry of the province. Many years ago he was a member of the Board of Trade at Fredericton. At one meeting a delegation was appointed to visit the city of Detroit, where there was a great meeting of delegates in reference to commercial matters between the United States and Canada, and among the delegates from the city of Fredericton were the late Judge Fisher and the late John Pickard. The greatest speech made at that meeting was that of the late Joseph Howe, and Canada came out with honors. Coming back to the present meeting, his Honor said that he was present in his representative capacity, because he thought it proper and right in an assembly of this kind to do so after receiving an invitation, and that he would by his presence give every countenance possible to the gathering of the intelligent minds of the country. "It is only by rubbing against each other, by the interchange of thought and business opinion, that one can arrive at a satisfactory result with regard to anything. One Board of Trade may take one, and another may take another view. Where a large majority of the Board of Trade of any community approve and pass any resolution with regard to any particular subject with which they have been dealing, it ought to carry great weight, and if you call together Boards of Trade, as you have done here, nothing but good can result."

Shortening Terms of Credit in the Interests of Legitmate Trade.

Mr. Joseph Finley moved the following resolution:

"Whereas the long credit system at present in vogue in this country is a serious drawback to healthy business;

"Therefore, resolved, That in the opinion of this meeting it would be greatly in the interest of the country at large if credits were curtailed and goods sold on shorter time by both wholesaler and retailer."

Mr. Finley said the resolution should be supported on four grounds: 1st. On the ground of economy. The short time buyer could buy goods considerably less than on the long-credit system. 2nd. It was strongly in the interests of legitimate trade. The shortening of credit would reduce a great deal of undue competition. The resolution should be sustained on this ground if on no other. The shortening of credit would revive legitimate trade. 3rd. It was the best help towards the collection of accounts. A short credit account was more easily collected than a long one. 4th. It would avoid accumulation of stock. The short time buyer was a most careful man, and it was seldom, if ever, that they would find an accumulation of stock when the short-time buyer knew he had to pay in 30 or 40 days.

Ward Pitfield, in seconding the resolution, said if anybody wanted a reduction of credit it was the dry goods people. While Mr. Finley's terms were 3 to 4 months, their terms were from 3 to 9 months. It would be beneficial if the terms of credit were shorter, but the difficulty was to carry it out, as St. John only controlled a small portion of the trade of the Dominion. There was a pernicious system in the dry goods business of dating ahead, such as taking an order in June and dating the goods 1st November. Similar resolutions to the one moved were on the minutes of the Boards of Trade of Canada, not once but many times. It would do no harm to vote on this subject, and to vote unanimously, but at the present time, he thought, it was impracticable. The trade of Great Britain was run on long terms of credit, such as six months from 1st April for goods shipped in January to Canadian clients, from nine to twelve months to people engaged in the Australian trade, and in South Africa credits extended as long as fifteen months. He seconded the resolution, and asked the conference to unanimously place it on the minutes.

Mr. Pitts favored the resolution.

W. S Fisher was pleased with the resolution. As Mr. Pitfield said, the carrying out of the matter was a different thing. They could not stand on their own merits; they had to be guided by and follow the people of the Upper Provinces. The cause of failure, as a rule, was not that the man had been extravagant or not done sufficient business, but heavy losses, because he did not collect promptly. The trouble was not so much as between the wholesaler, manufacturer or capitalist and the retailer as between the retailer and the consumer. The retailer felt compelled to give unlimited credit to his clients. If the country merchant were more careful, not so anxious to give credit, he would be the better able to pay the jobber or merchant promptly. We should follow the method of trade adopted in the United States, which is on the short-time principle.

J. J. McGaffigan said the root of the question was the consumer. The consumer had to do with lumbering and farming interests. This took up a large portion of 6, 8 and 12 months, and while these people were waiting for returns, the jobbers in the cities had to suffer. They had to compete with English and Western credit, and if a man could buy for cash he would do so, and take the discount. It was not a question of ability to pay, it was inability to pay. He had to wait until the material grew. The lumberman had to go into the country with materials, pay for supplies, pay for materials to bring logs to market, and as he had to wait until he made a return, he was not able to meet bills in 30, 60 or 90 days. The men who labored with him did the same thing and got their support out of the store. They had to take more risks than the jobber in this country. If the jobbers were to identify themselves more with the people they would know that there were in the country honest, straight, upright men, who took more risks than the jobber and did all they could to pay their bills, but it was impossible.

The chairman then put the question which was carried.

The Treatment of Insolvent Estates.

W. H. Thorne, in moving the resolution, said the want of an Insolvent Act for the equitable distribution of the assets of insolvent estates was a great disadvantage to the legitimate traders throughout the province. In insolvent estates an agent for the insolvent came to St. John, asked them to accept a compromise of 25 cents or so, as the case might be, in the dollar. The majority to whom this appeal was made, with a leniency toward the trader, were inclined to accept the compromise without looking into the affairs of the insolvent at all. This had militated against the interests of the traders throughout the province, as well as creditors in other parts. These traders who came to grief asked for a compromise, and then put their goods on the market at a lower rate than any legitimate trader could buy them. In the absence of an Insolvent Act it was incumbent upon them to find some means of removing these difficulties. If there was an Insolvent Act it would be unnecessary to ask the conference to commit themselves to any such resolution as proposed, but it was desirable to have an expression of view upon the question. Mr. Thorne then read the resolution, as follows:

"That in the interests of legitimate traders it is desirable that we have an Insolvent Act, or an Act for the equitable distribution of insolvent estates."

Geo. A. Schofield seconded the resolution, and said that the present position of the matter in the Dominion was that an Act was passed by the Senate, would be introduced to the House of Commons at the next session, and would probably go through in some form or other. It was not worth while to press upon the Executive of the Dominion Parliament to pass an Act to provide for equitable distribution. If it did not, the Provincial Legislature should take the matter up, and not leave them as they had been, to the injury of the good name of this province and of Nova Scotia.

The resolution was carried unanimously, and it was agreed to forward a copy to the Provincial Secretary.

North Shore Lumber Freights.

J. J. McGaffigan then proposed the following:

"Resolved that in the opinion of the conference of these New Brunswick Boards of Trade, a special lumber rate on the I.C. Railway from the North Shore ports during the winter season to the open winter ports of the Maritime Provinces would add greatly to the business of the railway, and would largely develop the export lumber trade and enable that section of our province to participate in the Canadian export lumber trade to the United States, West Indies and South American ports in the winter season."

Mr. McGaffigan said that some time back they had tried to bring the matter before the Intercolonial Railway, and they were told that they could get no satisfaction from the parties at Ottawa who then managed the railway. Since then, however, there was a head of the railway at Moncton, and he knew that the interests of that section of the country had suffered in the years gone by. He understood that in order to get the lumber to British markets they were giving excessive rates to steamships and sailing vessels, and if they had anything like a fair rate on the I.C.R. they would not force a market in Great Britain, and in certain seasons of the year, owing to several sections of the country being closed to navigation, they could largely develop that trade through the open winter ports.

Mr. Hatheway said he knew personally of large quantities of shingles that had left by the way of Grand Trunk, and railways of the States of Vermont and New Hampshire, to Boston and other ports.

Mr. Thorne, in seconding the resolution, said that although there had been considerable discussion on this subject, there had been but a slight concession made, and it was not sufficient to induce them to ship. It was acknowledged on the part of the department that while the through freight rates from Halifax to all points in Canada and Ontario was at a rate that did not pay them, the rate proposed by the North Shore lumber merchants would give them a profit. There would seem to be no reason why concessions should not be made by the railway to enable the merchants to ship during the winter season a great deal of their lumber through the port of St. John.

Mayor Robertson said it was a very hard case that the whole lumber country on the northern shore should be deprived of the United States market.

J. D. Creaghan thought it was proper for the I.C.R. to give a special, low rate, the duty on the logs, etc, being now taken off. It would increase the traffic to St. John, and serve the city especially.

The President put the question, which was carried unanimously.

To What Extent may a Wholesale House do a Retail Trade, and Would it not be to the Mutual Advantage of the Wholesale Merchant and Country Storekeeper that the Retail Trade be Left to the Latter?

J. D. Creaghan moved, seconded by Mr. Hennessey, the following:

"Whereas the practice of selling merchandise at retail by the wholesale trade is detrimental to the mutual interests of both the wholesale and retail trade of this Province, tending to increase the cost of selling and commercial risk of the former, while compelling the latter to seek business advantages outside this Province which might naturally be expected from the wholesale firms of Canada if a different system of trading be established;

"And whereas the practice of selling goods to private persons by wholesale firms has been going on for a long time;

"Be it therefore resolved that this conference disapproves of this manner of doing business and recommends that any wholesale firm in Canada who shall hereafter do a retail trade as above described, in the Province of New Brunswick, shall be reported to the different Boards of Trade of this Province by the aggrieved merchant to be dealt with at their next meeting."

Mr. Thorne sympathized with the mover and seconder. It was one of the most difficult problems that he had to deal with in his business, where the consumers were very often the largest purchasers of many lines of goods that were never kept amongst the traders in the country districts. That was the difficulty that lay in the way of supporting the resolution from his own standpoint. He protected traders as far as possible, but a very large number of articles that were kept in stock in St. John were not kept by the retailers throughout the country, and people were forced to send to St. John for the purpose of finding exactly what they wanted.

H. H. Pitts said there were three words that should be omitted in this resolution—"in St. John." This thing was not in St. John. It was not the travelers from St. John, but those from Montreal and Toronto, who sold goods to wholesale merchants, and then went up through the little villages taking their samples and showing them to people, and selling them at the very same cost as they sold to the wholesale merchants. "In St. John," should be "in Canada."

Mr. Creaghan accepted Mr. Pitts's amendment.

J. F. Merritt said his own firm gave strict orders to their travelers only to sell goods to dealers.

Mr. Schofield would like to ask how it was proposed to deal with the case of a wholesale merchant who had no customer in, say, the town of Newcastle. Would their idea be to go so far as to say that, the wholesale merchant doing no business in the town, it would be right to debar him from doing any business at all in the town, there being no shopkeeper willing to buy goods from him?

Mr. Creaghan replied that if a wholesale house came into a town and it did not suit anybody there to buy from them, would that drive the wholesale house into a retail business, to sell goods to a private party? Some time ago he had sold a small party six suits of clothes, and then a large wholesale and very respectable firm in Montreal quoted these same goods 50 cents or so less than he had sold them for. The customer was a lumberman, and not recognized in business at all.

Mr. Ellis asked what difference there was between this and selling a barrel of flour to the city trade.

Mr. Hatheway would be glad if the wholesale merchants would agree not to sell any goods to consumers at all. It was simply a matter of agreement. If the wholesale merchants would agree not to sell to consumers he, for one, would be glad to fall in with such an arrangement. He had often advocated this.

GEORGE ROBERTSON
(Mayor of St. John).

Mr. McGaffigan said this matter had been brought up in the northern part of the province and they had threatened to boycott St. John and other merchants in the province who sold goods in this way. Fishermen clubbed together and got their nets at wholesale prices. The wholesale men did not know who they were dealing with, did not know the people and were not familiar with the section of the country. The merchant heard of the transaction and made a complaint if his own orders were filled with the house who had sold the goods. It was a hard matter to settle. He would like to see the merchants of St. John take the matter in hand themselves and show their determination not to sell goods to consumers in the country.

Andrew Malcolm remarked that in buying goods in Boston, where he was not known, his name was always looked up in the directory to see who he was before prices were even quoted on goods.

Mr. Troop, of Halifax, asked whether it was the intention of the mover of the resolution that it should extend to persons who do a wholesale and retail business at the same time.

Mr. Creaghan replied, "Not at all."

The question was then put to the meeting and carried unanimously.

The Exportation of the Products of Canada Through Canadian and not Through United States Ports was then Discussed.

Mr. S. Schofield introduced the subject by moving the following resolution:

"Whereas it is manifestly the duty, as well as the interest, of each section of the Dominion to assist in promoting the welfare and prosperity of the whole country;

"And whereas it would be advantageous to the Dominion generally that its import and export trades should be conducted over Canadian railways and through Canadian seaports;

"Therefore resolved that the Managers of the Grand Trunk, Intercolonial, and Canadian Pacific Railways, as well as the various Boards of Trade throughout the Dominion, be requested to promote the foregoing idea so far as practicable, especially by utilizing the Maritime Province seaports during the winter season when the St. Lawrence is closed to navigation.

"And further resolved that the Dominion Government also be requested to co operate in every possible way, more particularly when arranging future steamship subsidy contracts, which should always stipulate for the use of Canadian ports only, and thus carry out the policy of 'Canada for the Canadians.'"

Mr. Schofield proceeded to say that it might seem strange that such a resolution should be proposed 27 years after the Confederation of the Canadian Provinces, and 7 years since the opening of the Canadian Pacific Short Line to this City. They certainly, he said, had very great expectations with regard to the benefits that would flow to these Provinces from the establishment of Confederation, and from the opening of that great railway, but they had suffered a very great deal of disappointment, and it was because of that, that the feeling existed to-day that some movement was desirable, and the matter was brought before the Conference in order to obtain its opinion and support that greater benefits might come to this Province than had been realized. Proceeding, he said, that the C. P. R since it had been opened and in operation to this city, was known to have carried very large quantities of the products of Canada to United States ports, and very little had to come to St. John or Halifax. The Grand Trunk Railway had carried nearly all the products that are exported over its road to Portland, Maine, and from that city it had been carried to the old country by steamers subsidized by our own Canadian Government, which was the greatest disappointment of all. A change was demanded, and he might fairly say not only by New Brunswick but by Nova Scotia. These Provinces had rights. They had paid, and were still paying and would always have to pay their share of the interest on the public moneys of the country which had been invested in the C. P. R. and canals and other improvements to the country to the west, and it was natural and right that they should claim to enjoy some of the benefits which resulted from these great public undertakings. He claimed from the Government more particularly, that they should assist this demand and movement in every way they could by subsidies, and, if possible, by Provincial tariff arrangements, so as to encourage the importation and exportation of goods to and from Canada through our own ports. In asking that assistance from the Central Government they were strengthened by the fact that there way a great principle underlying the whole principle of the Government, that is protection which was afforded the manufacturers and all kinds of industries throughout the Dominion. Surely it was only the same principle when he asked for protection for the sea ports and their proper business, handling the imports and exports of their country. He asked the railways for their support. The Intercolonial Railway had been built entirely by the public money of the country, and there could be no doubt that the management of that railway should do all they possibly could to do what he asked. The Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railways had also been very largely aided by the public money of the country, and he was justified in asking the management of these railways to do something for the benefit of all sections of the country. As regards the people of the country generally, they were asked to support this movement on the ground of self-interest. It was to the interest of everybody in every part of the Dominion that the whole should prosper. The Martime Provinces could not possibly prosper as they should do if they were deprived of this trade. The idea was a national one, and on that ground, and on patriotic grounds, they appealed to the public generally throughout the Dominion. The next consideration would appear to be the practicability of the scheme. The most important point in that connection was the distance between the Old Country and, take Montreal. The shortest distance between Montreal and Liverpool was via Portland, Maine, next came St. John, next Halifax, and next New York, that was taking the railway and steamship distances together. From Montreal to Liverpool, via Portland, was 3,147 miles ; via St. John, 3,181 miles (only 34 miles more); via Boston, 3,290 ; via Halifax, 3,319, and via New York (which controlled the largest part of the trade), 3,375 miles. Between the longest mileage, via New York, and the shortest mileage via Portland, there was only a difference of 228 miles. It was a mere nothing in the consideration of the total and it is quite evident that it was not a question of mileage which would cause the province to gain the trade and hold it.

In regard to the ports, Nova Scotia had Halifax and Louisburg both capable of prosecuting business. He was not claiming on behalf of the Board of Trade of St. John that this business should only go through New Brunswick. They were claiming that the Maritime Provinces and Nova Scotia had at least as good ports. New Brunswick had two good ports, St. John and St. Andrews. In a general way there was no question of the practicability of the scheme. They required assistance from the Boards of Trade in order to accomplish this object. They wanted the assistance of their Parliamentary representatives, and if the people were in earnest and laid the matter before their Parliamentary representatives, it followed as a matter of course that they would get their assistance and the matter would be urged upon the Government. Whenever that point was reached, that the object was accomplished or within reach, there was no doubt there would be a friendly rivalry as between the different provinces and the different ports. St. John would like to have as much as possible of the trade, and the same with Halifax. It was wanted for the Maritime Provinces first, and then they could do what they could for their own respective interests.

In regard to St. John, a great deal had been said as to the capabilities of the port, and they had found it necessary to present a great many facts on that subject to the public from time to time, and on one special occasion the Board of Trade, in order to remove a great many erroneous ideas conveyed in regard to the Bay of Fundy and the harbor and port of St. John, appointed a special committee to look into the matter and get all the information possible and report to the Board. That committee performed its work satisfactorily, and at great length. They had prepared a pamphlet on the Bay of Fundy and the port of St. John. This showed that the port, so far as navigation went, was one of the safest north of the Hatteras. There were deep water wharves on each side of the harbor, with 27 feet of water at low tide. The C.P.R. grain elevator was the best in America. He made these remarks with regard to St. John, as Mr. Troop and others had an erroneous idea of the port. He asked that each Board of Trade take a copy of the pamphlet containing the report of the special committee on the subject.

Mayor Robertson said he had the honor to second the resolution. Since 1882 this question had been at various times discussed by the Dominion of Canada and by the mother country. Those who had voted for the confederation of the provinces did so because it was represented that it would benefit the provinces, and those in the Maritime Provinces had been grieviously disappointed. The Lower Provinces were to have the handling of the import and export business, but they had not got it. Neither the Intercolonial nor the Canadian Pacific Railway short line had brought the business as they should have done. St. John had done her part and expended a quarter-of-a-million of dollars upon her harbor, etc. He confessed it was the most difficult problem in the Dominion of Canada. He feared that unless the Government took hold of it with the determination of subsidizing freight lines and giving rates of freight to those who were running the lines to compete successfully with their rivals, that it could not be done. There was not only a Canadian aspect, not only a Maritime Province aspect, but there was an Imperial aspect. There was an Imperial aspect to it from the time that the Intercolonial Railway became a part of the contract. It was guaranteed by the British Government, and the money was raised by that guarantee. He held the Mother Country was to-day more deeply interested in this matter than she was in uniting the different provinces of Canada. At the Intercolonial Conference held at Ottawa the other day, this great question came up, and it was one of, if not the, principal question that came before the conference. Already the Canadian Government had granted a considerable subsidy to a line of steamers from Vancouver to Australia, and an enormous amount of money had been put in the C.P.R. At the discussion of the great question in Ottawa the British Government had a representative in the Earl of Jersey, and he is to report to the British Government, and he (the speaker) judged that the Government of Canada and the people of Canada were waiting with considerable interest as to the result of the report of the Earl of Jersey. They had to consider the possibility of the British Government taking hold of this thing and putting it through and making it a success. The cost of a six months' war with France would give the steamers and divert the trade that goes through the American ports. Mr. Robertson proceeded to read an extract from a paper to the effect that it was as much to the interest of the Australian Government as to the Canadian Government that a subsidy should be granted and a fast line established. The mails would gain several days by the Canadian route from Australia. The present contract for carrying the British mails, and vice versa, by the Peninsular and Oriental and other lines via the Suez Canal would expire in the year 1896, and in that year it would be available for re-distribution and then the Canadian route would become a powerful competitor. The mails from Australia can be delivered at Vancouver in 18 days, carried across the continent by the C. P. R. in five days and across the Atlantic in six days, making twenty-nine days in all. Mr. Robertson thought it was too much for the Government of Canada and the people of Canada to undertake. With all the energy, perseverance and determination of this country, it was sometimes, and he believed in this case it might be, far too much to undertake this tremendous service unless supported by the Imperial Parliament and by the Government of Australia. When the report of the Earl of Jersey came in they would come to the end of the question and know whether they were to have an Imperial highway across the Dominion of Canada or not. He had dwelt at some length upon that aspect of the affair as it was the only aspect that held out any hope for the future. The C.

P. R. had bowed to the strong feeling in Winnipeg, but Mr. Van Horne said it was absolutely necessary to make American connections. The C. P. R. had gone to American ports and had hauled our freight without reference to the national idea and purely on the principle of dollars and cents.

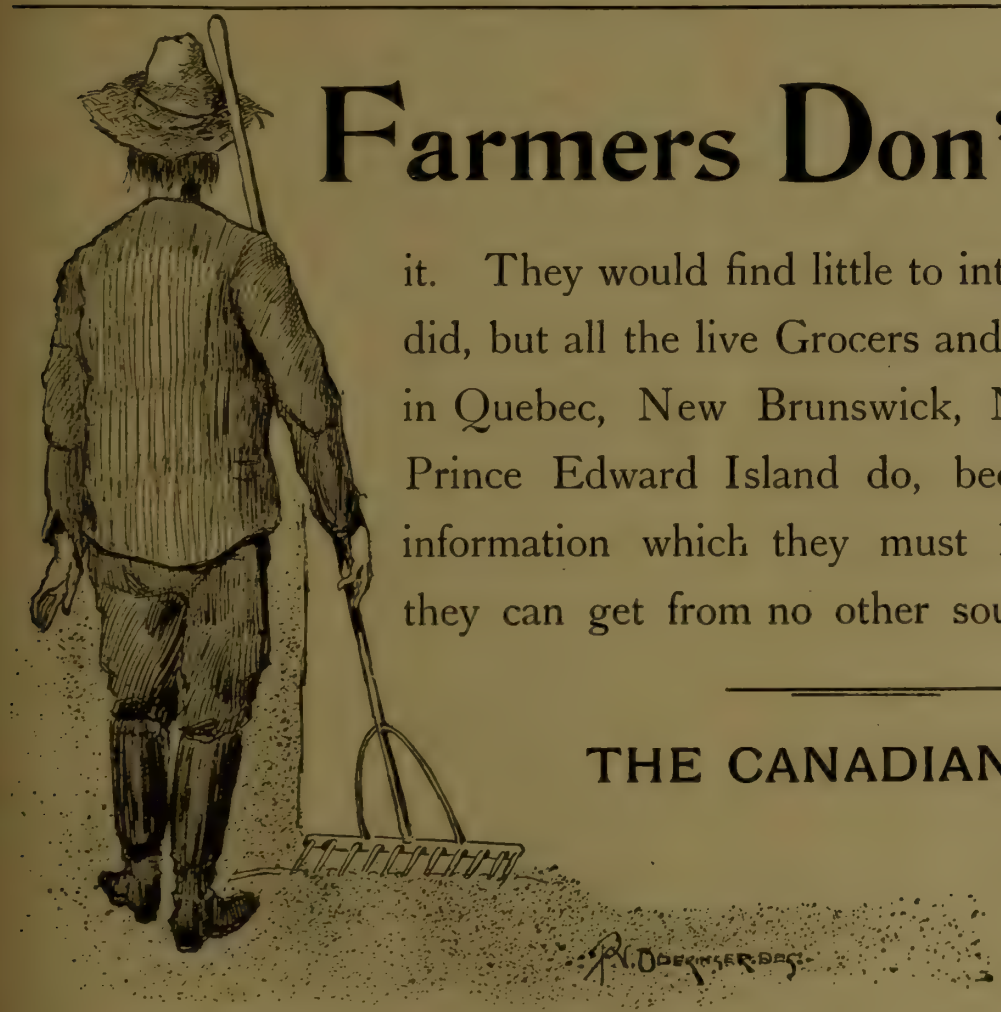
There was still another aspect to the question. The Maritime Provinces had a right to ask the Canadian Government to give the Maritime Provinces' view of the question more consideration than they had yet given it. The other day they had a deep water convention to carry the St. Lawrence route through to Chicago. He did not believe that there was a thought in the minds of the western Canadians about the importance of the Maritime Province to the Dominion of Canada. He regretted to say that he found a great deal of indifference, showing that we were not, with all our Maritime ports, in their thoughts at all. He had said in Montreal latterly: "Canadian as I am, strongly as I have faith in Canada and the Imperial idea, if the present state of affairs continue, if the trade of Canada continue to pass through American ports, I fear that the people of the Maritime Provinces will come to the point not use United States ports, that they must discharge their cargo at either St. John or Halifax, or both. The Government were giving public monies away to support a foreign port.

Hon. Mr. Lindsay said the Government should give a large subsidy to the railroad to carry cheap. Every man would ship by the cheapest route. The freight on the Intercolonial Railway should be so low, that by shipping by this route would be to the advantage of the people to do so.

Mr. Hatheway then put the question, which was carried unanimously.

Delegates at Luncheon.

The St. John Board never does things by halves, and when they decided on a conference they also arranged a luncheon which was a most delightful one. The chair was occupied by Mr. Hatheway, and the vice-chairs by W. H. Thorne, C. A. Everett, W. S. Fisher and W. M. Jarvis. After the bounteous repast, and Her Majesty's health had been toasted, the Chairman proposed "The Governor-General," to which J. V. Ellis, of the St. John Globe,



Farmers Don't Read

it. They would find little to interest them if they did, but all the live Grocers and General Dealers in Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island do, because it contains information which they must have, and which they can get from no other source.

and say that it must not exist any longer." Were we going to stand by and see our seafaring men go to American ports, our greatest interest of ship-building passing away.

A great problem laid before the Canadian Government unsolved, and it would have to be grappled with and solved if they were going to build up a great Canadian nationality. It was the duty of the City of Halifax and of every county of the Maritime Provinces to join St. John in this common object, that the Canadian trade that is being largely developed in American ports shall be diverted to the proper route, and if it could be done by the hands or money or energy of man, it should be done, that we might become in very truth a Dominion from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Hon. Mr. Lindsay said he would like to ask, if in shipping to the Old Country or importing back, the Government were to make the people ship by the dearer route?

Mr. Schofield said that in arranging subsidies with the Dominion and Allan lines of steamers, the Governmsnt should say they must responded, saying he was not sure how far the Governor-General would approve of his answering the toast on this occasion. His Excellency was here, and we found him a gentleman in every sense of the word. We had never a Governor-General who made less distinction among all classes than the present one. Everyone had been deeply impressed with his wife, who had taken such a deep interest in the people. (Applause.)

W. S. Fisher proposed "His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor," to whom he paid a glowing tribute. He was a lawyer and a citizen, and one of whom all had felt proud.

Hon. James Mitchell responded on behalf of the Lieutenant-Governor. It gave him a great deal of pleasure to do so. He would say very little in addition to what Mr. Fisher had. Every man, woman and child knew the name of Governor Fraser, and no man was more popular than he. The newspapers, which delighted to say the very best of a man, told of what a reception he had had on his recent visit to the North Shore. He expected that he would have been at the conference. He felt that he was echoing the feelings of everyone in New Brunswick when he said the present Government occupied a warm place in the hearts of all. Since Governors had been selected from men of New Brunswick we have had men of whom we have felt proud. If Governor-Generals were selected from men of Canada, we could produce as good men as can be sent from England. The gift of John J. Fraser as Governor of New Brunswick was one of the best that could have been given this fair province of ours.

The next toast was "Our Guests from Nova Scotia." The president spoke of the mines of Nova Scotia, its agricultural advantages, and the many other things which made it what it was.

Mr. Troop, president of the Halifax Board of Trade, was received with three cheers and a tiger. He said that if an eloquent speech was expected from him those assembled would be surprised. It was the forte of merchants to do and not to talk. There was a profession whose members could do and talk also. The president's kind references to Nova Scotia had entirely overcome him. Nova Scotia had great capabilities as he was aware, and he could safely say it had the most kindly feelings towards the adjoining province of New Brunswick. When he received the invitation of the St. John Board to attend the conference, an honor was conferred upon him that he had not anticipated, and would not soon forget. The interests of the Maritime Provinces stood in a peculiar position in this Dominion. We had the great-Western Provinces in a measure eclipsing and overshadowing our Maritime Provinces. For 15 years the press had been pointing towards the great western country and "Go west, young man," was the advice given. We felt now that we had interests in the Maritime Provinces. The St. John Board of Trade had struck the keynote in calling together here representatives from the various Boards of Trade, and in showing that the interests of St. John were not different from those of the outlying districts. The question of having such a conference had been discussed by the Halifax Board. He spoke very much in favor of these gatherings, and showed the advantages of them to the cities and towns of a province. As the cities advanced, so must the rural districts, and when representatives from them met the city men, prejudices were torn down and more was thought of the interests of New Brunswick. What would we give in Halifax, he continued, if we had a noble river such as you have behind you! We boast of having a good harbor, but Providence gave us that, and did not give us a river of such grandeur as St. John. The first trip he had made from his home was up the St. John river to Fredericton. He had since traveled the whole continent, but had found nothing of such beauty and with such scenery as the St. John. He saw around the table gentlemen who had been born in the same village in Nova Scotia as he. He had no sectional feelings, but believed in the possibilities of the Maritime Provinces. "But one word of warning. That is, a determination that country must be before party. We have a good country, and have spent a good deal of blood and money. We of Nova Scotia didn't take kindly to the union that made us citizens of Canada. The past is forgotten, and now we are to make the country what it can be. We will work in the interests of trade, and let us do what is best to advance its interests. You have so well undertaken the work of bringing around you gentlemen of the Boards of Trade, that let us hope that from this time forward the circle will be enlarged, and that hereafter we will have Maritime Province Boards of Trade. If ever we have the pleasure of inviting the Boards of Trade to the city of Halifax, we will give them a right royal welcome; and I will tell the board of your sister city of the welcome you have given their president to-day. I wish you every prosperity. Let us remember that we have an important office to fill, a duty to perform. If we respect ourselves, we will be respected by the people who at present overshadow us. Our integral rights as a population can only be secured by a determined purpose of the people of the Maritime Provinces."

Mr. N. Currey, of Amherst, was glad to be present and hear the debates, which he had listened to with pleasure and profit. The Amherst Board of Trade was established only a short time ago, but they had been grappling with such things as freight rates, pedlars' rights, etc. He agreed with Mr. Troop that it would be well to have a Maritime convention. The Insolvent Act was something that might well be dealt with by the Boards of Trade and the merchants of New Brunswick before it was passed by the Government. He didn't like the bill as it stood. A good Insolvent Act was a good thing, but a bad one was worse than none at all. Referring to freight rates that affected the people of the North Shore, there was one thing that should be thought of, and that was the ship railway, which, when completed in two years, would greatly cheapen the rates between the North Shore and S. John.

Mr. W. M. Jarvis said he had been asked to propose the toast of "Delegates from New Brunswick Boards of Trade." Some day he hoped to see a hearty reunion of all Maritime Boards of Trade. This move of the St John Board of Trade was experimental, and some day likely they would call together all the boards. We wanted to see that we were working together for the common good of the province. He spoke of the hospitable and hearty reception the Church of England delegates—of which he was one—had received at Woodstock. Following up along the lines of an editorial he was very much pleased to see in one of the morning papers, we should try to develop a public spirit.

Mr. J. S. Neil, of Fredericton, thanked the St. John Board on behalf of the Fredericton Board for the way they had drunk the toast. He acknowledged the success of this conference He had learned much during his visit to St John. Since the Fredericton Board had been organized, some four years since, it had done much and endeavored to show the capabilities of their city. He referred to the beauty of the River St. John, and advocated an improvement in navigation Thought the river should be given some necessary dredging.

Mr. H. H. Pitts, of Fredericton, said that just as the Boards of Trade understood their strength and usefulness the more would the people recognize them. In commercial union was what was wanted with the Old Country, and he told them that during his visit across the water, he had the privilege of going up the Rhine a short time since. We had just as good country here, but we didn't appreciate it. We have the greatest country in the world, and New Brunswick and Nova Scotia were the best of it. There was nothing like advertising it. New Brunswick and Nova Scotia were self-contained. We had no use for the rest of the country if they had none for us. Send over some of our young men to the Old Country and let them see poverty and vice there, and there couldn't be any better advertisement than that.

Mr. J. W. McCready, of Fredericton, thought he was safe in saying Frederictonians were a happy and prosperous people who lived in a beautiful city. Their business laws were sound and the city was enjoying a fairly substantial growth. The newspapers had quit talking about the west and had learned something of their own country, and the people were beginning to do so also. The west had had so much attention since the formation of the country, because it was necessary. If our young men could be taught to stay home it would be the best thing for the country. There were plenty of room for them and plenty of work.

Mr. Teed, of St. Stephen, said he would like to make a speech but couldn't. He congratulated the St. John Board on the movement it had inaugurated, and could not see why a further movement should not be made. The St. Stephen Board of Trade was formed four years ago, and had reason to congratulate themselves on what they had done. He could not see why a Maritime Board of Trade could not be formed and be a success. While we must appreciate and feel proud of the west, the success of business in the Maritime Provinces must first claim our attention. We must be liberal and willing to give and take in matters of business. The interests of the different sections of the province were identical. If the united Board of Trade could be formed, we would have a body that must make itself felt in the councils of the country. The St. Stephen Board of Trade, as soon as they got accommodation, would be only too glad to have a convention of the boards there.

Hon. James Mitchell was glad to be present as a representative of the St. Stephen board. They lived down on the border, where they could hear the American eagle scream every day. They were proud of their town, and proud to be under the broad old flag of Old England. Perish the day that they should wish for anything better. They were not provincialists down there alone, but Canadians, who wanted to see the whole country prosper, and it would be felt among the nations of the earth.

Mr. Hennessey, of Newcastle, spoke of that portion of the country, whose people were chiefly occupied in lumbering and fishing. The St. John river was the first river in New Brunswick, but the Miramichi was the second. Immense quantities of lumber were shipped from it during the year. A great deal of their money found its way to St. John, as the people of this city did a big business with them. He spoke of the excellent treatment he had received this time in St. John.

Mr. Creaghan, of Newcastle, said it was a pleasure to be in St. John and receive the information he had got at this conference. He was peculiarly struck with the remarks of Mr. Troop, of Halifax, about the St. John river. He thought the Miramichi was the first river of Canada. He had seen 200 sails of vessels anchored in the Queenstown of Canada in the Miramichi. It was a splendid summer port but unfortunately not a winter one. He regretted very much that the people of the North Shore had thought the merchants of St. John were crowding them politically and otherwise as in the matter of stumpage. He thought the agricultural implements, carloads of which came to the North Shore, should be manufactured in St. John instead of Upper Canada.

Donald Morrison, of Newcastle, said that although the Miramichi river was closed in the winter, thousands of dollars' worth of fish were got out of it. He referred to the good feeling that should exist among the people of the Maritime Provinces.

Mr. Saunders, of Woodstock, thanked the St. John Board on behalf of the Woodstock Board for inviting them to this conference. Some fifteen years ago he went into business in Woodstock. He used to come to St. John two or three times a year, but now travelers went through the country, and the merchants did not come to St. John. He thought that was a mistake, as he and others would like to come here and renew acquaintances. Although much had been said of Lieutenant-Governor Fraser, he had found among the St. John Board of Trade many a man who would make a capable Lieut.-Governor.

Hon. Wm. Lindsay, of Woodstock, said our country was a good deal as we made it. Some of the gentlemen had told of the large quantity of lumber that was sent away. They had seen Americans taking the lumber across from this country and manufacturing it, and then bringing it back to us and selling it. He strongly advocated home manufacture. Woodstock was the garden of New Brunswick. He spoke of the good crops, good horses, etc., of Carleton county. He was the oldest trader in the room, having been in the business fifty-five years, and knew this country was what the people make it. In Woodstock they had three sash and door factories, three carriage factories and three machine shops. He was glad to see the young men coming back to this country. He hoped all would study the interest of the country and do all they could for its prosperity.

Mr. Ketchum, of Woodstock, joined with Mr. Saunders in the hearty congratulations on the success of the conference. The Woodstock Board of Trade was only a few months old, but was a lively infant, and had done considerable kicking to remedy grievances.

Mr. Troop, of Halifax, was fully aware, and appreciated that he was in the city of St. John. He proposed the health of Mayor Robertson, who was highly esteemed, and whose reputation was established not only in the Maritime Provinces, but in the far west. At Montreal he uttered a sentiment of which every man in the Maritime Provinces should feel proud. He spoke in plain language on the winter port question. He did not think a foreign port should be built up as the winter terminus, that was, Portland, Me. He thanked Mayor Robertson for what he had said. Lord Aberdeen was present and heard Mayor Robertson say that when the St. Lawrence was closed a Maritime Province port should be chosen for the winter port.

Mayor Robertson thanked Mr. Troop for the kind reference he had made to him. He felt, he was going to say, almost jealous of the privilege his warm friend, the president of the St. John board, had in arranging the grand gathering of to-day. To him should be given all the credit. St. John could boast of an antiquity, being incorporated in 1785. Not more than 40 years afterwards, the Chamber of Commerce was inaugurated, and now, as the St. John Board of Trade, it had taken an active interest in its city. The extent of St. John's commerce and her history gave her a noble position. There was a time in the commercial history of New Brunswick when St. John was more to the rising towns of the province than she was to-day. Now the cities of Fredericton and Moncton competed with St. John, and although there was competition underlying there was a sentiment of good feeling and brotherly love. He had had an opportunity in Montreal of saying a word for Halifax. Halifax had some advantages, St. John had some advantages, that entitled each to the winter port. It was, after all, a matter of competition, and let the best one win. He favored the establishment of a Maritime Board of Trade. In speaking of the success of the New Brunswick men, he said that to those who were trying to rise to the heights of the mercantile trade, a vast amount of the knowledge of the country and the laws was necessary. Honesty was the backbone of trade. Many of the merchants commenced life by carrying a pedlar's pack through the country, but those days had gone by. He spoke of that, as the question had been discussed in the morning. He closed by thanking Mr. Troop for the kind remarks he had made to him and to the city of St. John.

Mr. Teed, of St. Stephen, on behalf of the visiting brethren, proposed the toast of the president and St. John Board of Trade.

President W. F. Hatheway made a short reply of thanks, and also made a short reference to trade matters. A great many years ago he heard a gentleman remark on a railway train that trade was hard and selfish. He had since learned that it was no more hard and selfish than any other vocation in life. The complete success of cities and their happiness lay at the foundation stone of labor and then trade. Rome, Athens and Alexandria rose on the heights of their military forces; but where were they to-day? Where was Venice since it had lost its trade? To-day, England the nation of shopkeepers, stood at the head of the world, and Canada was a part of it. He was proud to be a Canadian, and hoped that no one would ever be able to point with scorn at a resident of this country, but always look on one as a man of probity and honor.

PATRON STORES' SUPPLIES.

DEAR GROCER,—In THE GROCER of the 14th ult. appears an article under the above heading, and, with the exception of one paragraph, every retailer in the country will agree with and thank you for its publication. The paragraph to which I refer reads :

"THE GROCER is yet to be convinced that this short-sighted policy is pursued by the leading and old-established houses. Occasionally, 'in a moment of weakness,' an ordinary wholesaler may sell a bill of goods to a Patron storekeeper, but it is rare, we believe."

Surely this paragraph must have been penned by the writer "in a moment of weakness." Very casual investigation on your part will show the practice among wholesalers—whether "leading or old-established houses" or otherwise—to be very nearly the opposite of your contention.

The writer is prepared to furnish you with the names of the leading wholesale merchants in Toronto and other cities who are systematically supplying Patron stores with goods, well knowing the kind of trade these stores are doing, and in one particular case one of the leading hardware stores in Toronto opened an account with a Patron supply store which had just started in a small place where the house in question had had the custom of the other store for some years, and that after they had been informed of the state of affairs and requested not to fill the order of the P.S.S

The rest of the article is on a line with what usually appears in THE GROCER—good. RETAILER.

[THE GROCER is still yet to be convinced that the "short-sighted" policy of selling to the Patrons "is pursued by the leading and old-established houses." If, however, "Retailer" will supply us with the names of wholesale houses who are pursuing this "short-sighted" policy, we will gladly publish them.—ED. GROCER.]

FORGOT THE PRINCIPAL ITEM.

Burt & Co., of Bracebridge, under date of October 5th, write : "As noted in your issue of 28th ult., we have started our grocery business here, writer having left the Muskoka Mill and Lumber Co., with whom he has been for some years past. In placing our opening order, we forgot one of the principal items, viz., THE GROCER.

We can't weigh without scales, and we can't buy and sell without THE GROCER! so please add us to your list.

BROOM CORN SITUATION.

Wm. S. McDonel, manager of the Windsor Patent Brush Co., Sandwich, Ont., has returned from a purchasing tour of the Western broom corn growing States. He found that the condition of affairs at the source of of supply warranted the large advance of broom corn by the dealers and commission houses. There is not enough on hand to go around, at last year's rate of consumption ; besides, ordinary years one-half of the crop is carried over. The manufacturers in the States have advanced prices 60 to 75 cents a dozen, hardly the difference of price of the raw article in brooms. The Canadian manufacturers have advanced 25 to 40 cents a dozen, being satisfied to do business at a loss till the trade gets used to the advance.

WHAT A DOLLAR WILL BUY.

MR. EDWARD ATKINSON, the American economist, gives in detail the purchasing power of a dollar in Boston markets: "I can change the dollar into dimes, nickles and cents, and passing around through a series of shops in Boston, I first buy four pounds of the coarser but more nutritious parts of beef. Where did it come from? From the plains of Nebraska or Texas, brought through the packing house in Chicago to within a few rods of the door of my office. I buy a few little bones of the breast of mutton, brought from Kentucky; a pound and a half of fish from the Grand Banks; half a pound of bacon from Illinois; half a pound of butter or a pound of butterine from Michigan. I go to another shop and I buy four pounds of flour (from which I can make a pound of bread a day) that has been brought from Minnesota or Dakota, or even from Oregon or California, I buy a pound of sugar produced by the peasants of Germany in the best fields. I buy twenty pounds of vegetables which may have come from the Maritime Provinces of Canada, or from the far away Southern States, according to the season. I buy some oranges from Florida, some grapes from Ohio. I add a little tea from China or Ceylon, a little coffee from Java or South America, salt from Liverpool, pepper from Sumatra, spice from the Spice Islands, and I have expended the almighty dollar. I have placed on my table thirty-six pounds of well-balanced, varied and nutritious food material, which I can then convert, under a flour barrel made into an oven, into the most appetizing and nutritious food with the heat developed by two cents' worth of oil from Pennsylvania or Ohio, and it will give me adequate and complete nutrition for one week — three full meals a day—twenty-one meals for one almighty dollar. That dollar's worth of food, if I bought it to-morrow in Boston, would have been brought more than a thousand miles from the far-away sources that I have named."

THE POTATO CROP.

FROM reports covering the United States and Canada, the Weekly American Agriculturist has compiled its special summary on the potato crop. This points to an extraordinary shortage in America, and only fair yields abroad. It says in part:

Potatoes are a short crop for the third successive year, though not such an utter failure as the Department of Agriculture returns indicate, because those reports have not fully recognized the favorable product and increased acreage in northern New England and in Colorado, while our reports up to September 22nd show that late potatoes are coming out better than was anticipated. Relative to population the supply is the smallest on record.

The total appears to be 165,000,000 bushels, or 20,000,000 bushels less than the bonanza potato crop of '91. The average yield per acre for the whole country is the lowest in our history, only 56 bushels, against 57½ as the next lowest in the crop failure of '90, but the total outturn is larger than last year because of the gain in breadth devoted to potatoes. With the exception of the sections above noted, the whole middle States and the central West are short of potatoes. Quality is uneven; the best yielding sections have the finest quality, while the short sections complain of small tubers of inferior quality. Prices have opened at a correspondingly higher range than usual, and growets exhibit a tendency to hold potatoes for still higher values.

This may mean that they are inclined to market more gradually and avoid a glut, in which case a steady demand at fair prices will be assured. Canada's acreage is slightly greater than last year, the largest gain being in Ontario. Last year's crop was considerably better than the present crop, but in the absence of definite data we employ the Dominion census of '91 as a basis of comparison, knowing that the '91 crop was a fair average. Our reports point to a total crop in Canada of under 45,000,000 bushels, against 52,000,000 to 55,000,000 as the average of good years. Much of the Canada ctop is shipped outside of the county where grown, but to Canadian markets, the proportion available for export to other countries being for the Prince Edward Island crop, 66 per cent.; Nova Scotia, 33; New Brunswick, 20; Ontario, 10, and Quebec 5 per cent. This looks like Canadian exports of 6,000,000 to 7,000,000 bushels of th 1894 crop against 8,000,000 to 9,000,000 bushels in the year of fullest production and most active foreign demand. The Maritime Provinces continue the surplus potato sections of Canada, but their acreage has been slightly decreasing for some years. Farmers are already planning a big increase for 1895, however, as the reduction from 25 to 15 cents per bushel in the United States tariff and cheap water freights enable them to compete with northern New England growers in the Boston and New York markets. Bids made to growers in the United States range from 30 to 85 cents per bushel and in Canada 25 to 60 cents.

A JAPANESE TEA ASSOCIATION.

There has just been established in New York an American branch of the Japan Tea Traders' Association. This association was formed in Japan about one year ago, and is composed of native tea producers, merchants and traders. Its headquarters are at Tokio, and it has two branches in Japan; one in the eastern and one in the western province. Its object is to encourage the productton of Japanese teas and to increase their sale, putting the business on an extensive footing. The president of this association is Viscount Sano, ex-Minister of the Department of Agriculture and Commerce of Japan. The general managers of the American branch are Takenosuke Furuyo and Hikonojo Komada. The first-named gentleman is fresh from a tour of the United States and Canada, where he has made a study of the peculiarities of the great tea markets in different sections. The second-named gentleman, who was one of the judges of tea at the World's Fair, sailed from Japan on September 14 for New York. The Association hopes by establishing a branch in New York to be able to study the wants of the tea market there closely, and to increas its sales in America.

ON THE TRAIL OF THE PEDLARS.

DEAR GROCER,—The Retail Grocers' Association have decided to collect all the information which can be obtained regarding pedlars and hawkers, and the restrictions and by-laws relating thereto. For this purpose it has been thought we could be assisted by your valuable paper, in its many ramifications throughout the land. We desire, above all, accurate accounts of how other progressive centres of business life regulate street pedling, so as to operate in a fair business spirit towards both parties to the controversy. The grocers believe in a live and let live policy, having no desire to unduly hamper any citizen in his efforts to make a living; only, let each and everyone be assessed fairly and pay a just and equitable portion of the taxes.

Any information will be cheerfully received by our Association.

R. A. DONALD,
President.

PERSONAL MENTION.

THE GROCER is pleased to learn that Aaron Wenger, proprietor of the Ayton creamery, is again able to attend to business. Mr. Wenger it will be remembered lost his left foot some months ago through the overturning of an omnibus in which he was riding.

W. H. Rowley, of the E. B. Eddy Co., of Hull, was in Toronto this week.

Frank J. Blackburn, formerly with Eby, Blain & Co., is now with H. P. Eckardt & Co.

J. F. Magor, of Frank Magor & Co., of Montreal, was in Toronto last week en route for the west in quest of fall orders.

George Anderson, cashier of the Pure Gold Manufacturing Co., has returned to his post after a vacation of two months in Manitoba.

Robert Jardine, representative in the Maritime Provinces for the Pure Gold Manufacturing Co., is now making a tour of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

Albert French, representing the Pure Gold Manufacturing Co., is in British Columbia. He is doing particularly well, pushing the firm's new season tomato catsup.

J. Turner Gillard, son of W. H. Gillard, who for the past four or five years has been in a wholesale grocery house, and latterly with a tea house in Toronto, leaves Hamilton in a day or two, where he has been spending a holiday, to fill a position in one of the largest tea houses in New York.

T. M. Cutter, secretary-treasurer of the Acadia Sugar Refining Company, Halifax, was in Toronto last week on his way back from Winnipeg.

Maitland R. P. Montgomery, who has been ill for some months is, his friends will be glad to learn, again back to business with Eby, Blain & Co., and will represent the firm in the city and nearly points.

Thomas McLean, chief clerk of the Toronto Customs, died Tuesday last. Deceased entered the Custom house in 1870, and had held the chief clerkship since 1879. He was highly esteemed by the business community, and his demise is regretted.

J. D. Roberts, of the Pure Gold Gompany, Toronto, started off on his holidays Wednesday. At Ottawa he joins a shooting party bound for the wilds some three hundred miles north of Ottawa. Mr. Roberts will be away a month, and his friends expect to see him come back loaded with bear, fox and wolf skins, miscellaneous game, and of course tales of exciting adventure. Fresh vigor he will, of course, have.

J. S. Leighton, of Orangeville, was in Toronto last week. Mr. Leigton has large business interests in Orangeville, and is prominent there in municipal circles. In reply to a query of THE GROCER, he said that in his part of the country it was the general opinion that the worst of the trade depression had been seen; that the day for contracting bad debts had passed; and that every one was now down to "hard pan."

TRAVELERS VS. GROCERS.

The circles in which the retail grocers and the city travelers, respectively, revolve, are excited over an event that is to come off at the Woodbine race-track, Tuesday, October 16. It is a joint bicycle meet, and among the most important of the events is a team race, grocers versus city travellers. The full programme of events is as follows: One mile, open to travelers and grocers; half-mile, open to travelers only; half-mile, open to grocers only; five mile team race, between travelers and grocers only; two mile race, open to clerks only. Prizes will be awarded for each event.

Attention is drawn to the advertisement of the Compagnie d'Approvisionnements Alimentaires de Montreal, Ltd. (Provision Supply Co. of Montreal). As will be seen from it, this company controls some of the very best and well-known brands of French goods, notably the E. Cusenier Fils, Aine & Cie.'s liqueurs, etc.; J. Denis, Henry Mounie & Cie.'s brandies; La Cie Coloniale chocolates, etc. This firm state that they do the largest import business in French goods, buying direct from the manufacturers, which, with the connection they have, should enable them to quote, as they claim they do, extremely low prices on this class of goods.

WHERE TIME IS NOT WASTED.

MANY boys, remarked an exchange, start out in a business which they do not expect to follow for life, because in that line an opening occurred just when they wished for a place. They are apt to look upon the years thus spent as "time just wasted," when they are at last settled in their chosen calling. But if they have done their duty in it such is very far from the case. The knowledge of business and of men which they have gained, and the working habits they have formed, will be of the greatest service. As the late Mr. Lawson Valentine once remarked: "The great thing to do for a business boy is to throw himself into something; I should not be particular what, so that it gives him a chance to begin, and made him understand that he was to make his way from that point. I should tell him to 'get to work in the quickest possible way,' and I should emphasize this to him, thinking it more important that he should go at it, than that he should go at it in any particular way. Go-at-it-iveness is the first condition, and stick-at-it-iveness the second."

Peter Cooper was a working boy who did not pick and choose a great deal in the matter of what work he should do in his early years. He tried his hand at many crafts before he settled on one which made his fortune, yet he picked up information of great value in each place, which told on his life business. A man who does nothing all his life but make button-moulds or shoe pegs, may make them exceedingly well, but he is apt to be but little in advance of the machine he employs, and the smaller his specialty the narrower in general is his prejudice, in its favor. The man who has mixed intimately with people in their several walks in life is apt to look much more respectfully upon their callings. Mr. Valentine considered a boy's "place" the best business school, yet many who cannot avail themselves of their advantages have been able to pick up among their fellow-clerks a knowledge that served them well instead.

A boy can establish a reputation for himself, even at carting bricks. Someone will know whether he is faithful or not. He is making a reputation for himself even though his toil seems to be in a very obscure corner. It is astonishing how soon a superior boy is known—one of sound principles and thoroughly industrious habits. Such boys are so scarce that the supply is always less than the demand, and people keep a a sharp lookout for them and bid them take a higher seat.

GREAT SCOTT!

The last issue of the Official (Quebec) Gazette contains a notice of an application to Parliament at its next session, by the E. B. Eddy Manufacturing Co., Ltd., of Hull, Que., for necessary powers for the issuance of a series of debentures. We learn from a reliable source that the issue will amount to $500,000 (half-a-million of dollars) to be used in the further expansion of their business and establishment of more and larger branches and agencies throughout the Dominion. We further understand that they have already leased a very large warehouse on Front street, this city. They evidently intend to maintain their claim of "The largest works of the kind and comprising the most unique establishment under the British flag."

HOW CLOVES GROW.

The small evergreen tree from which cloves are taken, remarks an exchange, was originally a native of the Spice Islands, but it is now cultivated in warm climates in all parts of the world. The clove of commerce is the unopened flower of the tree. They are quite small, but grow in large clusters among the branches. After gathering, the buds are smoked by a wood fire, and dried in the sun. Both the taste and smell of the cloves depend on the quantity of oil they contain.

Sometimes the oil is separated from the cloves before they are sold, and the odor and taste are, in consequence, much weakened. If you desire to know something of the form of the bud in the natural state, soak a few cloves for a short time in hot water. The petals of the flower will soften and readily unroll.

A. A. GRAHAM DEAD.

A. A. Graham, city salesman for M. McLaughlin, Royal Dominion flour mills, is dead. Deceased was ill fourteen weeks, and bowel trouble, superinduced by typhoid fever, was the immediate cause of death. He was 46 years of age, and was one of the oldest and best-known travelers in Toronto. For the Royal Dominion mills alone he had traveled the city seventeen years, and had the honor of finding a customer for the first bag of flour these mills sold. The remains were interred in Mount Pleasant Cemetery Saturday last, and in the funeral cortege were many grocers and commercial travelers.

E. Noice, of Minden, is on a pleasure trip to the North-West.

Cavanagh & Riley are opening a grocery store in Winnipeg.

James A. Blain, Gilford, is doing a large business in grain this season.

W. H. Ramsey, Parkhill, has returned from visiting friends in the Ottawa district.

John J. Jack, Dovercourt road, has moved into his new premises Argyle street and Dovercourt road.

T. F. Chamberland, Dovercourt road, has added a new wing to his store, doubling the latter's capacity.

W. G. Davie, of Bobcageon, has sold out his business to W. Davie, his father. The latter is now making extensive alterations in his store, among which is the putting on of an additional forty feet.

Mitchell & Smellie is the name of the new firm that has bought out F. Armstrong, grocer, Fergus.

"Wenger's cold storage at Harriston," said a traveler, "has proved to be one of the most successful in the west. Butter and eggs shipped from there have turned out exceptionally well."

Hewter Bros., dry goods merchants, Walkerton, have enlarged their store, and added a grocery department thereto.

R. A. Anderson, grocer and hardware merchant, Victoria Road, is adding a dry goods department. With this object in view Mr. Anderson erected a new store some time ago.

At Hartney, Man., Sunday night burglars entered Hartney & Dickson's general store and broke open the safe. The firm lost about $1,000, the Ogilvies $800 and the Lake of the Woods Milling Company an unknown amount.

N. S. Bowman, of Conestaga, Waterloo County, has recently fitted up his store with new shelving, and made other improvements in his premises. The shelves are unusually commodious, being three feet wide. "Mr. B. has a great deal of taste, and he has made the best of it," said a traveler.

Mrs. Partington has been equalled if not outdone by a Toronto woman. She had some "commercial travelers" in the house, that she desired to drive out. So, summoning her little girl, she sent her to a near-by drug store with this note: "Please give this little girl 10c. worth of Grocers Suppliment. It is for bed bugs." What she wanted was corrosive sublimate.

EDWARD ADAMS & CO.

LONDON, ONT.

THE PERFECT STOREKEEPER.

BY STRAIGHT MAYUNE.

THE perfect storekeeper does not exist. We all know this, and yet such are our powers of observation, and system of accumulation of facts, that we begin to know intuitively "what ought to be," long before "what is" has ceased to have any power over our actions. We continually commit indiscretions which cost us dollars and cents every day, yet we go on doing them. Then, again, we have different opinions as to what constitutes perfect form in storekeeping, being divided as to lines of conduct, cleaning up, selling and handling of goods.

No one standard of action can possibly be set up, which will appeal to every one of my readers, as a perfect form of storekeeping life. Still, is it not possible for us to line out a few things we do and contrast them boldly against those we might far better attempt? I think so, and trust to meet with approval.

A window up Yonge street presents a most curious spectacle. The store is not what you would call a large one, nor is it one of those small affairs, with about 50 cents worth of almost everything in stock. In this window, in close juxtaposition, may be seen half-box dried apricots, a basket of ancient lemons, some lead and slate pencils, two or three smoked haddies, a few eggs, an open box of soda biscuits, three or four bottles of pop, and some clothes-lines.

Now, I would like to wash and dry that storekeeper first, and then arrange his stock for him. Stores like these only bring discredit to the trade and no profit to the proprietor. I do not say that he should not show his goods because he has not complete packages to show—far from it; we can't all have large stocks fortunately, or else the trade would be further overcrowded; but we can all handle goods as if they were meant to be eaten. This requirement is more often forgotten than remembered. This Yonge street man could take his apricots and cover them with a five cent piece of glass, put a few choice lemons on view, place his haddies on a nice piece of white paper by themselves, keep his eggs on his counter as windows are trying on these articles, keep his biscuits in a closed can or box inside, and generally act more like a sensible man.

I passed a store near Spadina avenue the other day and the proprietor lounged most ungracefully at his door with a pipe in his mouth. Now, I smoke sometimes and enjoy it, but not in the store. Of all the suicidal and foolish practices in vogue among us this is, perhaps, the most general. Customers do not like to see it, even men who smoke will tell you that, and ladies detest it most heartily. Your hands follow your example whenever they have a chance. and you have no legitimate cause of complaint. Nor are these items, evil as they sound, the worst. Your taste is surely vitiated by your excessive indulgence in this habit. Smoking may be a pleasure, but its pleasure-giving ability is largely limited by its over-mastering ability to be boss always,

Which packages ought to be closed and which opened in a store, is a question which can only be answered by your desire to sell goods, taken in connection with your ability to properly cover them up with glass, or other transparent substance. One prize tea essay says: "Never show teas out boldly as they surely lose flavor and briskness," yet we well know of a certain Yonge street grocer who sells more tea than any other Yonge street grocer, because of his fondness for displaying it boldly and well. It may, of course, be averred that the tea is spoiled, but it may as safely be said that the added rankness suits the customers of the aforesaid grocer. A King street grocer displays sugars right out on the sidewalk, and gets them full of dust, dirt, little boys' dirty fingers, and old ladies' Queen Anne gloves; and still he sells more sugar than any other King street grocer. Now, both of these men will tell you that they could not possibly sell as many goods were these things covered with glass. Absurd, you say; so say I; and yet theory versus practice, you know, was always an uneven battle.

The dirtiest store in Toronto is situate on Queen street west. It is not a small store either. There is plenty of room and there would be vastly more did the litter find a fresh resting place. The hands and boss have that red, greasy look so common to careless people, and the counters are sticky and untidy. This shop does a good business and sends out good goods in a fairly promptly manner, and we fail sometimes to understand why splendidly clean places do less, and splendidly dirty places do more. For the sake of the grocery trade cleanliness should rule everywhere. This store presents a most curious jumble at all times, and a passer-by must have curious notions, if he be of an observant mind, regarding the nature of men the grocery business makes. We are not all moulded alike, nor are we above our business, but we desire to be thought human, and being that to be clean, bright, intelligent and fairly well-read. Being this, our places will be models of neatness, and a constant source of pleasure, both to frequenters and passers-by.

The belief is pressing on some of us that the practice should be more general of providing coats and aprons to all the hands. Some prefer black and some white. Taste, of course, must decide, and no rule will be absolute. Certainly there will be additional expense, but my opinion is that this will be more than met by increased advertisement by reason of the noticeable neatness. I have in my mind's eye a bunty little chap in a King street east store, who wears long dirty aprons, and has a red handkerchief, stuck prominently in his hip pocket. The apron could be clean and a nice coat would cover up his his other weakness. Do it himself, you say. Well, so he might, and yet if the store provided these things there would be positively no excuse.

Dirty hands are the greatest and most prevalent eyesore in our stores. I think perhaps nothing is so persistently dirty as handling groceries, and yet dirty hands are an abomination. Surely the water, soap and towels are not so handy as they might be. "No matter if you wash your hands every half-hour, they must be clean," should be a standing maxim in every shop. Wagons, harness, horses, and such like must be clean, bright and attractive; and this can be done without very much trouble.

Of the many departments of our subject included in stock-keeping and handling, it would be unwise to speak shortly, as they are important and some other occasion will be found. Stock must be properly received, examined and tared, then placed in the proper position for being handily sold. Stock should be taken twice a year, and turned over as often as absence of customers from your store allows you. In no case is there necessity for dust to accumulate nor for moth and rust to corrupt.

I delight in a nice window-dresser. They are scarce, you know; indeed it is an open question whether the drawing lessons of our schools taken in conjunction with the prevalent style, which says that you must not have things arranged in an even manner but that all things must be odds and ends, have not completely spoilt our young men. Suffice it to say we have not had a man in our employ who could properly fix a shelf let alone a window for some time, and yet they can sell and handle groceries. The new store on George street shows excellent taste in this direction, and the great pity is that the proprietors have not greater facilities for display. Then, further up, the Scotchman and his fruiterer competitor deserve credit for their magnificent displays of fruit, vegetables, etc. Down on King street M. & Co. show excellent lines in small fancy goods, while further east a rather bold attempt is made to brave the prejudice against open packages by a display of a windowfull each of tea and coffee. Now many of these are mentioned that you may remark the perfect in them, and note the failings as well. Goods must be attractively displayed to sell them, and just so far as you exercise your ingenuity, just as far will your success reach.

Of course the perfect storekeeper mixes his own teas, abjures package teas, grinds his own coffees, makes no bad debts, does not lose his temper, keeps a good, clean set of books, closes up at 7 every night except Saturday, on which night he closes his store at 9 o'clock, perhaps 10, takes his week's holiday and lets each clerk have a week; closes Wednesday afternoon in summer time, pays his bills every 15 days and saves his discounts; takes and pays for THE GROCER, also reads it; belongs to the association, gives it some of his ideas occasionally; believes other people have found things out as well as him; is willing to exchange; has a nice rig, takes his family out driving, calls for an order when so doing (occasionally); does not keep Jim Owen waiting long for an order; buys some of his job lines; does not get mad when they stay with him; lets Charley Shields come in either before the store is open in the morning or after it is closed at night; doesn't get mad with Maxwell for not taking "no" for an answer; nor gets mad when Dack gets mad. In short, a perfect grocer is a garvel of rare water, and when you find him he is a good buyer and seller and reflects credit on his trade, which, after all, is a good trade to live by, as you always have something to eat.

TORONTO RETAIL GROCERS MEET.

PUBLIC holidays having fallen on the August and September meeting nights, the first meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association since July was held on Monday night last in St. George's hall. President R. A. Donald presided, and there was a good attendance.

During the evening English samples of Pangyon, Packling, Packlum & Moning's bargain teas were on exhibition on the President's table.

These names were submitted for membership by Secretary Corrie: J. N. Shank, 118 Dundas street; J. T. Scholes, Sumach and Oak streets; H. Weinberg, 123 Queen street west; John J. Burns, 508 Queen street west.

On motion D. W. Clark and J. S. Bond, the above were duly received into membership.

Vice-President Roberts reported a balance of $40 from the excursion to Niagara Falls, over and above all expenses.

This sum, on motion of J. D. Baid, was ordered to be deposited in the special fund.

A communication was read from the City Clerk re illicit peddling, and it was ordered to be laid on the table.

Hon. Sec. Mills announced that, as instructed, he had waited upon Secretary Bain of the Public Library, re placing a better assortment of books on the shelves of that institution dealing with subjects allied to the grocery trade. Mr. Bain, he said, had promised to make out a list for the inspection of the members of the association, of the books relating to the grocery trade already in the library, and any books that were not there, which the members thought should be there, he would have pleasure in securing as far as possible.

Secretary Corrie suggested that part of the association's funds now lying at interest be devoted to supporting one or more cots at the General Hospital for the use of sick grocers or grocers' clerks. It was decided to lay the matter over for the present.

President Donald suggested having a reunion next meeting night, at which members of the wholesale trade and of the City Travelers' Association might be requested to take part. As, however, the officers for the coming year will be nominated that night, it was thought better to defer the matter.

On motion W. J. Sykes the secretary was instructed to write the Assistant Receiver-General, asking why it was that 20 cent pieces were still in circulation.

The secretary was also instructed to notify the Retail Fruit Dealers' Association that that body would have the co-operation of the Retail Grocers' Association in endeavoring to put a stop to the practices of dishonest fruit shippers.

The association adjourned at 10.30 p.m.

THE GREAT BENEFIT OF SUGAR.

Dr. Vaughan Harley has been making experiments upon himself to ascertain what are the effects of sugar and smoking on muscular work. As a result of unceasing trials, he finds, one day taking nothing at all to eat, another day nothing but sugar and water, and so on, that the human body is always able to do more work after than before midday, that the weakest hour is about 9 a. m., while the strongest is about three in the afternoon. His conclusion is that sugar has a wonderful effect in increasing the amount of work that can be got out of the muscles. Thus a man who eats nothing at all but sugar can do almost as much as a person living on a full normal diet, while if sugar is added to a "large mixed meal" it increases the muscular strength by from eight to sixteen per cent.

A MONTREAL SPICE INDUSTRY.

Ewing, Herron & Co., of Montreal, have in operation one of the most complete coffee and spice mills in Canada. Their goods can always be depended on to be exactly as represented. Years of practical knowledge, both as regards the manufacturing and purchasing departments, place them on an excellent footing, which, with careful personal attention and improved machinery, are utilized in turning out a line of goods second to none. Their brands are known throughout Canada, and constantly increasing sales show an appreciation accorded only to those goods of standard value. Successful coffee blending is an art only obtained by careful study, and one Ewing, Herron & Co. appear to be thoroughly up in. A large demand has been created for Peterman's Roach Food, a product that shows splendid results, and is everywhere highly spoken of. Merchants who may be in Montreal during the fall should give Ewing, Herron & Co. a call, and if possible a trial order.

DEFINING ADULTERATED TEA.

Saturday's Canada Gazette contained the Order-in-Council of 11th September, making the following regulation under the Aduiteration Act, with respect to tea: "Tea shall be considered as adulterated which contains leaves other than those of the tea plant; or previously infused leaves, or leaves of inferior quality to such an extent as to reduce the amount of extract substances soluble in hot water, to less than thirty per cent., or cause the proportion of ash soluble in hot water to be less than two-and-three-quarters per cent.; or any admixture of chemicals or other deleterious substances; or such an amount of mineral matter as will cause the amount of ash to exceed eight per cent. reckoned on the sample dried at 100 deg. C."

REGARDING THE TARIFF.

Few people are there who have anything like a wide acquaintanceship with the tariff of the country in its bearing on different articles which they buy and sell. This is inexcusable. The lists which the Government issue all cannot get, but if all cannot get the Governmental list everybody can Irwin's Hand-book to the Canadian Tariff. At the last session of Parliament, it will be remembered, the tariff was changed materially. These changes have all been taken note of by Mr. Irwin's book which has just been issued; and not only that but the latest rulings are duly chronicled. A feature of the hand-book in addition to its bearing upon the tariff is a resume of the Ontario Commercial Law. Then there are "Hints for Importers," and many tables and other information of value to business men. Every merchant and manufacturer, and in fact everybody, should have a copy of C. W. Irwin's "Hand-book to the Canadian Tariff" in his possession.

Ye Ancient Ballad of Jack and Jill.

(ADAPTED TO DATE.)

Jack and Jill went up the hill
To fetch a pail of water,
Jack had great admiration for
Jill's mother's blue-eyed daughter.

"How tiresome it used to be"
Quoth lovely, laughing Jill,
"To carry those old wooden pails
For water up this hill.

That pail! with cracks twixt every stave,
We could not pause a minute,
But had to hurry all the time
To save the water in it.

So badly balanced! If you gave
A single glance at me,
A dreadful spill upon the hill
There straightway sure would be.

Until that day! that happy day,"
Here Jill gave way to laughter,
"When you fell down and broke your crown,
And I came tumbling after.

Then mother bought an Eddy's pail
Of Indurated Ware,
A perfect dream! No hoop or seam,
And balanced true with care."

"Why, yes," quoth Jack, "my darling Jill,
In June when we are mated,
We'll buy with care our household ware
Of Eddy's Indurated."

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Oct. 11, 1894.

GROCERIES.

BUSINESS is quieter than it was a week ago, but for the season the volume is probably fair. The demand for sugar has fallen to small proportions, and although refiners' views are unchanged, jobbers are taking less than they were a week or ten days ago. Teas are still firm, but in them, too, the briskness is not as marked as it was. Green Rio coffees are practically not to be had. The feature of the market at the moment is dried foreign fruits. Both Valencia raisins and currants are still higher in the primary markets. Canned fruits and vegetables are dull, but there is a fair movement in canned salmon and lobster. Payments are improving, but they are not yet satisfactory.

CANNED GOODS.

There have been no new developments during the week. Canned tomatoes, corn and peas are dull, the two first-named at 85 to 90c., and the last named at 80 to 85c. There is a good demand for red salmon, of which there are now none to be got on the Coast. One house on the street this week sold 500 cases to a fellow jobbing house alone. Prices are firmer on spot, those holding red salmon a week ago at $1.25 are now quoting $1.30 to $1.35, which are the ruling figures for tall tins; flat tins are quoted as high as $1.55. British Columbia papers of the 2nd inst. state that the run of coboes had shown some improvement, the run up to then having been poor. The fish, however, are in good condition. A San Francisco paper, on information furnished by R. P. Rithet & Co., limited, published this estimate of the British Columbia pack: Fraser river, 300,000 cases; Skeena river, 60,000 cases; Naas river, 20,000 cases; Lowe inlet, 8,000 cases; Rivers inlet, 40,000 cases; Alert bay, 1,500 cases. Estimated total pack, 429,500 cases. Canned lobsters are in fair demand on spot at $1.70 to $2 in tall tins, and $2.25 to $2.75 in flat tins. Canned mackerel, which have been scarce, are arriving, and are being quoted at $1 to $1.10. Sales of canned meat continue to fall off.

COFFEES.

Stocks of green Rio on the local market have become so reduced that they are now practically nil, and fresh supplies are almost impossible to get. The attention being given to other kinds of coffee is small. We quote green, in bags, as follows: Rio, 21½ to 22½c.; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 21½ to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 32c.; Mocha, 27 to 28c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 22c.

RICE.

Demand is still fair for fancy imported Japan rice, but trade generally speaking is quiet. We quote: "B," 3½ to 3¾c.; extra Japan, 5¼ to 5⅜c.; imported Japan, 5¾ to 6¼c.; tapioca, 4¼ to 4½c.

SPICES.

Market continues active in pickling spices, but prices are generally firm. We quote: Pure black pepper, 12 to 14c.; pure white, 20 to 28c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 25 to 27c.; cloves, 25 to 30c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, 20 to 25c. per lb.

NUTS.

There is nothing new to report in this line. We quote as follows: Brazil nuts, 11 to 11½c. lb.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c. a lb.; Terragona almonds, 12½ to 14c.; peanuts, 11 to 12c. for roasted and 8 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 13 to 14c.; Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 11 to 12c.; filberts, 9¾ to 10½c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

SUGAR.

The market is dull and wholesalers are willing to take lower prices for granulated than they were a week or ten days ago, 4⅜c. now being the idea, although we hear of sales at $4.35. The refiners, however, are unaltered in their views, still refusing to shade. The Lower Province refineries have been offering a few yellows, but none are yet to be had from the Montreal concerns. This article is still therefore scarce, with prices firm. Yellows are quoted at from 3⅜c. for dark to 4c. for bright.

N. Y. Journal of Commerce, October 9: "Raws are still in a more or less problematical position. Owners or the remaining supply repeat expressions of faith in a demand to come that is likely to want most of the sugars, and, entertaining such views, are very naturally endeavoring to carry until buyers re-appear, with most of stock practically withdrawn because it is useless to attempt selling it at the moment. European advices are tame again, and there is nothing new from West Indies. Under present conditions quotations must remain nominal, and the close was without reported sales or intimation of any. The week opens without apparent change in market for refined goods. The continued absence of orders is the principal feature, and operators have become so used to this that they simply wait with such fortitude as they can command the renewal of interest among buyers. The reported break up of the Westers grocers' organization and probable cut on prices excites only passing comment on the general idea that the influence will not be felt here."

Referring to raws, Willett & Gray's Statistical says: "The only transactions during the week have been those made to go out of the country to Canada, comprising 3,429 bags of molasses sugar from store in New York and a cargo of Philippine Islands sugars arrived at the Delaware Breakwater for orders. Holders have not made any attempt to induce refiners to take hold, knowing that it would be quiet useless to do so in the present state of the refined market. How long this condition will remain unchanged is impossible to say, but probably until it becomes necessary to start up the refineries again, of which there is no indication at present, as the amount of surplus refined sugar in the country, in invisible stock held by the jobbers and refiners exceeds 1,000,000 barrels, or 150,000 tons. The receipts of the week were 5,041 tons, a slight increase over the previous week."

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

No new features have developed, business in both lines being quiet. We quote: Syrups—Dark, 25c.; medium, 28 to 30c.; bright, 35 to 40c.; very bright, 45 to 50c. Molasses—New Orleans, barrels, 26 to 28c.; half-barrels, 30½ to 32c.; Barbadoes, barrels, 28 to 32c.; half-barrels, 30 to 34c.

TEAS.

The market does not exhibit the same briskness as it did a week or so ago, but there is still a fair business being done, especially in Japan and China Congou teas. China green teas are still scarce, with good quality dear. Indian and Ceylon teas are fairly active. Prices ruling are: Young Hysons, 16 to 18c. for low grade; 24 to 27c. for medium, and 33 to 38c. for high grades; China Congous, 16 to18c.; Japans, 16 to 20c.

DRIED FRUIT.

This week's cables from Denia announce a further advance of 6d. in selected Valencias. Other kinds are unchanged but strong. There does not appear to be any probability of the market declining on good fruit, and early purchases will likely get better fruit, those made later being more likely to contain admixtures of the rain-damaged article. On the local market there is a good demand for Valencia raisins, especially for future delivery. We quote immediate delivery: Off-stalk, 5¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾c.; selected, 6½c.; layer selected, 7c. To arrive we quote: Off-stalk, 4½ to 4¾c.; fine off-stalk, 5 to 5½c.; selected, 6c.; larger selected, 6½ to 7c.

There is not much doing in currants, but an improvement may naturally be expected when the direct shipments of new fruits arrive. The steamer Dracona, with the first direct shipment of new season's currants, was due in Montreal Wednesday. A cable received on Tuesday quoted prices 6d. to 1s. above those of the first direct shipment. Quotations for old fruit are still as follows: Provincials, 3½ to 4c. in brls., half brls. 3⅝ to 4⅛c.; Filiatras, 4 to 4¾c. in brls., and 4½ to 5c. in half barrels; Patras, 5 to 5½c. in barrels, 5¼ to 5¾c. in half brls. 5 to 6½c. in cases; Vostizzas, 6½ to 7½c. in cases, 6¾ to 7¾c. in half cases.

Sultana raisins are cabled firm from Smyrna at unchanged prices.

Prunes are quiet and unchanged. We quote: "A," 9c.; "B," 7 to 7½c.; "U," 5¼ to 5½c.; bags, 3¾c.; casks, 4½ to 5c.; French prunes, new season's, 7 to 9c.

Some shipments of new season's tap figs and "oval" figs in boxes are expected on the market this week. New Eleme figs are due next week.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

If anything, butter is beginning to be offered a little more freely, but choice dairy tub is still scarce, while low grade continues to accumulate. The feature of the market is the increased receipts of both dairy and creamery pound rolls, and the lower prices that is the resultant. Large rolls are also beginning to put in appearance. There is no export duty, and the only transaction in round lots that we hear of was in low grade at 11c. Creamery butter is quiet. We quote jobbing prices as follows: Dairy—Choice tubs, 18 to 19c.; straight store, 15 to 16c.; crocks, 20c.; low grade, 11 to 13c.; pound rolls, 19 to 20c.; large rolls, 17 to 18c. Creamery—Tubs, 20 to 22c.; pound prints, 23 to 23½c.

Cheese market is quiet and steady at 11 to 11½c.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Demand continues good for provisions, particularly for long clear for the lumber camps. Smoked meats are not quite so active as they were. Dressed hogs are firmer; $6.50 is the ruling price, although $6.75 has been paid for a few extra choice.

BACON—Long clear, 8½c. for carload lots and 8¾ to 9c. for small lots; breakfast bacon, 12½ to 13c.; rolls, 9 to 9½c.

HAMS—Large, 22 lbs. and over, 11c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 12½c.; small hams, 13c.; pickled, 11 to 11½c.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 9¼c.; tubs, 9¾c.; pails, 10c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess $19; Canadian short-cut, $19 to $20; shoulder mess, $14.50 to $15; clear mess, $15 to $15.50.

GREEN FRUIT.

Oranges continue quiet. There are a few Florida oranges on the market, but they are poor stock, and not much wanted. Lemons are higher and in fair demand. Bananas are in fair demand only. There are still a few peaches arriving, but they are only wanted on local account. Tomatoes are still to be had, but the demand is irregular. Grapes are in good demand. We quote: Lemons, Messinas and Maoris, $5 to $5 50. Oranges, Floridas, $3.75 to $4 per box. Bananas, $1 to $1.50. Cucumbers, 20 to 25c. per basket. Tomatoes, 20 to 35c. per basket. Peaches, 60c. to $1 per basket. Pears, 30 to 60c. per basket. Apples, $1.50 to $2.50 per brl. for well-packed stock. Grapes, Concords, 2 to 2½c. per lb.; Niagaras and Rogers, 3 to 3½c. per lb. Sweet potatoes, Jerseys, $3 to $3.50 per brl. Crab apples, 25 to 40c. per basket. Quinces, 40 to 50c. per basket.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Market quiet, with jobbers asking $1.40 to $1.50 per bushel for hand-picked.

DRIED APPLES—Offerings are liberal. The factories are asking 5c. and jobbers are quoting 5½c.

EVAPORATED APPLES—There are none apparently selling, but 7¾c. seems to be the idea with the factories.

HONEY—Holders are asking 8c. for choice white honey in small tins, but jobbers do not seem willing to make transactions at that figure.

POTATOES—Are quiet and easy at 40 to 45c. on track and 50 to 60c. out of store.

EGGS—There is no change. Demand is fair and prices as before at 14½ to 15c.

ONIONS—Spanish onions are unchanged at 95c. to $1, per crate, and red and yellow domestic are quoted at 1¼ to 1½c. per lb.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

White fish is scarce and higher, while salmon trout is plentiful and cheap. Lake Erie herring are expected this week. The demand for Digby herring is brisk, and an increasing sale is reported for finnan haddies. In white fish the demand exceeds the supply. Sales of oysters are becoming freer. We quote: Salmon trout, 6 to 6½c.; skinned and boned codfish, 6½c.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c.; boneless cod, 5 to 8c.; Labrador herring, $2 50 per half keg; ditto, split, $3; blueback herring, 4c.; blue pickerel, 4 to 5c. lb.; yel. ditto, 6 to 7c. per lb; white fish, 7c.; pike, 5c. lb.; haddock and cod, 5½c. per lb.; steak cod, 5 to 6c.; finnan haddies, 8c.; Digby herring, in bundles of 5 boxes, 15c.; ditto, lengthwise, 14c.; large halibut, 10c.; ciscoes, $1 35. Oysters, $1.35 to $1.40 per gallon.

SEEDS.

Chief interest is still centred in Alsike, but the market is weak, and liable to drop below present quotations at any moment. Timothy is fully 50c. per bush. lower, the fall demand being over, and seed now held will have to be carried over. In regard to red clover, there are no offerings, and in the absence of these quotations are nominal. We quote, f.o.b. points of shipment: Alsike, $3 50 to $5 40; timothy, $1.50 to $2.25; red clover, nominally $5 per bush.

SALT.

Business is much as before—good at steady prices. We quote: Barrels, 90 to 95c.; coarse sacks, 58c.; fine sacks, 60c.; dairy, $1.50; rock, $10.

Grand Mogul tea exhibits were held the past week as follows: Collingwood, Wiarton, Palmerston, Mount Forest, Arthur, Grand Valley, Drayton, Uxbridge, Port Perry, Peterboro', Campbellford, Millbrook, Markham, Streetsville, Brussells, Kincardin, Lucknow, Newry, Listowel, Millbank, Stratford, St. Mary's and Wingham.

The American Packer, a monthly journal devoted to the interests of the canned goods trade of America, will be published in Baltimore, Md., about November 1st. The publishers propose to devote their energies to giving the canner, the broker, the machinery manufacturer, and all others interested in the canning industry, a paper which will furnish them with facts which they cannot afford to let slip by, and which otherwise they would have to do without.

William Hannah & Co., produce dealers, Toronto, have gone into the grain business with J. Clark, of Orangeville, where they have excellent facilities for handling grain, and with a view of increasing the business have erected a new storehouse at Amarault station. They have also leased ground at Crombier station, and are busy erecting another storehouse there, which will be completed in a few weeks. William Hannah & Co. will still carry on produce business in Toronto as usual.

T. B. Escott & Co. advise: "A leading merchant of Kincardine writes: 'Grand Mogul tea is fast supplanting all other teas. It is the best tea we ever drank.' A grocer in Grand Valley writes: 'Our customers are very much pleased with the Grand Mogul tea.' And another at St. Thomas says: 'We can sell hardly any other tea. Grand Mogul is all the go.' A merchant from Lucknow writes: 'The superior quality of Grand Mogul tea and Lion Digestive coffee is showing itself in quick sales.'"

Tetley & Co. write: "We do not believe in boasting; neither do we claim that we sell all the black tea in the Dominion, but we think it worthy of note that the directors of the Western Exhibition, held last month in London, awarded us the gold medal, being first prize for our tea exhibit."

MONTREAL MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Oct. 11, 1894.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market presents few new features in its ruling conditions. The activity in all the leading staples that we have previously noted continues, and a good volume of trade is being transacted. In granulated sugar there has been a reduction of refiners' prices by a 1-16c., but yellows at the time of writing are the same. Syrups and molasses are unchanged. Activity and strength continue to be a conspicuous feature of the tea market, and stocks are not allowed to accumulate. Coffee is firm and there is a scarcity of two of the higher grades. Canned goods show rather more life in a jobbing sense, and tomatoes are firmer and fish are rather easier in tone on several of the staple lines owing to larger receipts. Dried fruits are as firm as ever and a very active business to arrive has been put through.

SUGAR.

The continued easiness in New York resulted late last week in an easier feeling here, and prices are 1-16 lower now at the refineries than they were at the date of last writing, but only on granulated sugar. The scarcity of low grade yellows is as marked as ever and no concession has been allowed in their case as yet though the decline in the higher-priced grade is bound to have an influence on their value. If fact, it is just possible that some modification in their price will take place in them before the week closes. Demand for all kinds of sugar has been rather quiet also during the week, and as buyers generally have stocked up pretty well recently a quiet turn is now looked for. We quote refiners' prices as follows: Granulated, 4 3-16c., and yellows, 3⅜ to 3⅞c., as to quality.

SYRUPS.

There has been a good active trade done in syrups during the week, the only complaint being from sellers, to the effect that prices are cut so close that it leaves them little or no margin. Western buyers have been the heaviest customers of the refineries during the past six days or so. Round lots of dark grades have changed hands at 1½ to 1⅝c., and bright grades 2 to 2⅛c. Stocks of American syrup are small here, and prices are quoted steady at 17 to 22c. per gallon. Of course, buyers of small lots have to pay an advance on the basis above quoted.

MOLASSES.

There is no change or improvement in the molasses market, and until the cool weather sets in in earnest none is looked for. We quote round lots of Barbadoes, ex store, 27½c.; car lots, 29c., and single puncheons, 30c.

TEA.

The activity in tea noted all along continues, and the volume of business to date in this line is said to be greatly in excess of that for several years past. Since our last, round lots of Japans have changed hands at 12½ to 18c. for good to fine goods, and medium at 16 to 20c. A good enquiry continues for black teas, round lots of Congous being turned over at 12 to 15c. In fact, the firm tone of the market is well maintained at the advance noted by us some weeks ago. A satisfactory feature also is the good healthy movement in a distributing way from jobbers' hands, so that stocks are not allowed to accumulate. We quote Japans as follows: Low grades, 11 to 13c.; medium, 14 to 17c.; fine 18½ to 23c., and choice, 24 to 31c.

COFFEES.

The coffee market maintains the firm tone already reported, and, with light stocks, it is likely to continue so. Scarcity of Java and Mocha is a prominent feature, and values on both of these descriptions are very firm. The bulk of the movement at present is confined to Maracaibo, round lots of which have changed hands at 20 to 20¼c. We quote: Maracaibo, 20½ to 22c.; Rio, 20 to 21c.; Java, 25 to 30c., and Mocha, 28 to 30c.

SPICES.

There is no change in the spice market. Demand is fair, and prices are well maintained. We quote mill prices as follows: Penang black pepper, 6 to 7½c.; white pepper, 10 to 12½c.; cloves, 7½ to 9c.; cassia, 9 to 10c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.; Jamaica ginger, 15 to 22c.

DRIED FRUITS.

The market here is quite bare of all kinds of dried fruit, so that the actual movement is small. Business in supplies of both raisins and currants to arrive has continued quite active, however, and it is likely that the aggregate turnover during the last week has comprised fully 12,000 to 15,000 boxes of raisins. Values are very firm all round, and with the tenor of advices from primary centres as they are, the tendency is in sellers' favor. Whether the arrival of the Dracona will have the effect of lowering prices or not is difficult to say, but some buyers are at present holding off in the expectation of

FLOUR AND FEED

THE cooler weather has had an improving effect on the flour and feed business. Cereals are moving better, and a better demand for oats is reported. A demand for cheap wheat for feeding purposes is reported. There is a good trade doing in bran and shorts, and a fair demand for chicken feed is reported. Hay is quiet, and straw is moving slowly. Collections are reported slow, and many of the city dealers are signifying their intention of dealing entirely on a cash basis in future.

Nearly every grocer handles flour, and if he does not he should, for at the present, it will be found to be one of the most profitable lines that he can handle, and a good flour trade will amply reward the enterprising grocer who may think fit to push it.

There are several prominent grocers in Toronto who are making tasteful flour displays in their windows. The gay labels on the paper sacks make an attractive window. Some of them also make use of tickets calling attention to the present extremely low price of flour. By these means, and other advertising, they have captured more than their share of the neighboring trade, and others are now following their example. Without cutting prices the grocer can, at the present wholesale prices, sell flour at a low price and yet obtain a reasonable profit. When flour is high the tendency of the grocer's customers is to buy bread, but at present things are reversed, and as soon as it is found necessary to have a stove for heating the house the housewife will commence to do her own baking. There have been many inquiries during the past week and it will be the grocer's own fault if he allows the profit to be gained by the judicious sale of this line to slip through his fingers. The demand is increasing daily, wholesale prices are low, and a fair margin is being realized. Now, and not four or five weeks hence, is the time to boom your flour trade. Do not wait until your competitors in trade have captured it, and inadvertently some of your other trade besides. If you wish to build up your trade in this line now is the time to do so.

TORONTO.

FLOUR—Trade is improving. Prices are unchanged. We quote: Manitoba wheat patents, $3.45 to $3.55; strong bakers', $3.20 to $3.25; Ontario, $3 to $3 15; straight roller, $2.80 to $2.90.

BRAN—The demand is fair, and the prices quoted by city mills is from $13 to $13 50 per ton.

SHORTS—Trade is brisk, and the supply is somewhat limited. Good shorts are offering at from $16 to $16.50 per ton.

SCREENINGS—There is a very little offering in the city, and the price has advanced $1 per ton. City mills are selling at $13 per ton.

WHEAT—The market was somewhat weaker on the street. Sales are reported at the following prices: 52c for white, 50 to 51c. for red, and 50c. for goose.

BARLEY—There has been a slight improvement in sales, quite a large amount changing hands at from 43 to 48c. per bushel.

OATS—Business remains quiet. Sales are reported at from 30 to 31c. per bushel.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Trade is only moderate in oatmeal. There is little or no export trade, and home competition keeps prices down locally. We quote granulated, standard and rolled oatmeal at $3 90 to $4 in bags; cornmeal, $3.50.

MONTREAL.

In flour a fairly active business was transacted on local and country account, the demand being good for car lots. We quote as follows: Winter wheat, $3.25 to $3.40; spring wheat, patents, $3.25 to $3.40; Manitoba patents, best brands, $3.45 to $3.55; straight roller, $2.80 to $2.90; extra, $2.55 to $2.60; superfine, $2.40 to $2.50; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.20 to $3.30; Manitoba strong bakers', best brands, $3.30 to $3.35.

There was no change in the position of the feed market. The demand continues good and prices are firmly held. Bran, $16 to $16.50; shorts, $18; mouliffe, $22 to $24.

A fair amount of business was reported in oatmeal, there being a good demand for small lots at steady prices. Standard, brls., $4; granulated, brls., $4 05 to $4.10; rolled oats, brls, $4.05 to $4.10; pot barley, per brl., $3.90, split peas, per brl. $3.40.

that result. Recent cables from Denia state that prices have advanced again, and in currants also cable advices are unsettled as to value. We quote: Valencia raisins, ordinary off-stalk, 4½ to 4¾c.; fine off-stalk, 5c; layers, 6 to 6¼c.; currants, 3¼c. in barrels, 3½c. in half-barrels, and 3¾ to 4¼c. in cases, according to quality. California raisins, 3-crown loose muscatels, 4¼c., cost and freight on board here, and 4-crown do., 5½c.

RICE.

The rice market is active, the steady demand from Western buyers being the principal stimulant to the market at present. Owing to the Eastern disturbances the tendency on Japan rice is firmer. We quote: Standard, $3.45 to $3.70; Japan, $4.75 to $5 and Patras, $4.25 to $4.75.

CANNED GOODS.

Business in canned goods has been fair on local account, and a good volume of business has been put through in staple lines at steady values. Tomatoes are firmer, and jobbers have been selling freely at 90c. per dozen, though round lots have been placed for less. Canned mackerel has been in fair enquiry in 1-lb. tins, and quite a free sale has occurred at $1 per dozen. Blueberries have been moving freely also. We quote: Lobsters, $6 to $8 per case; sardines, $8.50 to $9.50; salmon, $1.25 to $1.35 per doz; tomatoes, 95c. per doz.; peaches, $2 to $2.10 per doz.; corn, 95c. to $1 per doz., and marrowfat peas, 85 to 90c. per doz. Australian canned meats: Boiled mutton, $1.86 to $1.90 per doz., 1-lb. tins, and $3.10 to $3.15 per doz., 2-lb. tins; roast mutton, $2.05 to $2.10 per doz., 1-lb. tins, and $3.35 to $3.40 per doz., 2-lb. tins; corned mutton, $2.05 to $2.10 per doz., 1-lb. tins, and $3.35 to $3.40 per doz, 2-lb. tins.

FISH.

Large arrivals and a weaker feeling in herrings has been the chief feature of the market. As a result, prices have declined 50 to 75c. per barrel, sales of round lots of Newfoundland taking place at $4.50, and No. 1 shore and Cape Breton at $5.25. In a jobbing way Newfoundland have sold at $4.75 and Cape Breton at $5.50. Green cod has also exhibited a weaker feeling under free receipts, and prices are lower at $4.50 to $5 per lb. for No. 1. There is a fair movement in salmon, and values rule steady at $10.50 for No. 1 B.C. and $12 for No. 1 Labrador. Fresh fish, especially haddock and cod, have been in good demand, and prices are firmly held at 4 to 4½c. Finnan haddies are well enquired for at 7 to 7½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

APPLES—Receipts of apples have continued heavy and prices have ruled easy at $1.50 to $2 for green stock, and $2 to $2.50.

ORANGES—There is a fair sale for Jamaica oranges at $5.50 to $6 per brl., and Rodi at $4.50 to $5 per box.

LEMONS—Scarce and higher at $1.50 to $2 per box for new common stock, good $2.50 to $3.50 and fancy $4 to $5.

PEACHES—The only kind offering in any quantity are California, which sell at $2 per box.

PEARS—California pears are in good demand at $4 per box and Canadian at $3 to $7 per brl., according to quality.

GRAPES—Supplies are more moderate and prices steady: Blue, 2 to 2¼c; Niagara, 2½c. and Almeria, $5 to $5.50 per keg.

SPANISH ONIONS—Supplies of these continue very light and meet a ready demand at 90c. to $1 per crate.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Demand for eggs is not so brisk and receipts have been showing a larger percentage of inferior stock recently. We quote 13 to 13½c. per dozen for round lots and 13½ to 14c. for single cases, and as high as 15 to 16c. is being paid for fancy boiling stock.

GAME—Receipts of partridge continue small and prices are maintained at 50c. for No. 1, and 30c. for No. 2 per brace.

BEANS—Rule quiet at $1.20 to $1.40 for fair to choice stock.

HONEY—Is in fair demand for extracted at 7 to 7½c. per lb., and new comb 11 to 13c. as to quality.

HOPS—New early hops have sold in a small way at 9 to 10c.

PROVISIONS.

The demand for all lines of provisions continues good, which is usual at this season of the year, consequently the market is fairly active and prices are well sustained. We quote: Canadian short cut, heavy, $21 to $22; do., light, $19 to $20; hams, city cured, per lb., 10 to 13c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 9½ to 10c.; bacon, per lb., 10 to 12c.; lard, common refined, per lb., 7¼ to 7½c.

CHEESE.

The cheese market, so far as spot indications could be judged, exhibit steadiness, but there is no activity to note. At the wharf Monday morning some 4 300 odd boxes were offered, and all were sold, with 10½c. the ruling figure and possibly a fraction more in some cases. We quote: Finest Ontario, fall made, 10⅝c. to 10¾c.; finest Ontario, Augusts, 10½c.; finest Townships, 10⅜c.; finest Eastern, 10¼ to 10⅜c.; cable, 49s. 6d.

BUTTER.

Business is of small compass and whatever operations are going on are confined to purchasing by local jobbers. These have to have a certain proportion of fall creamery for their trade, and to get it are still paying full figures. Though this is the case, however, it is not learned that any scope of the late-made stock in the country is being made at the prices mentioned before. The fact that they have been paid, however, tends to prevent anybody from getting supplies for less money. On spot, also, we understand that a line of 500 boxes late-made creamery changed hands at 21c. Exporters are still out of the market, as their limits don't permit of these prices. However, though this is the case, it is an open question whether fall makes are not a better purchase, even at their present values, than some of the cold storage stock, which, with carrying charges, etc., will cost nearly as much now. We quote as follows: Finest fall-made creamery, 20 to 21c.; earlier makes, 18½ to 19½c.; finest Townships, 16 to 17c.; finest Western dairy, 15½ to 17c.

ASHES.

The market for ashes was quiet but steady. We quote: Firsts, $4.25 to $4.30; seconds, $3.85 to $3 90; pearls $8 per 100 lbs.

MARKET NOTES.

The market here is almost bare of supplies of Mocha and Java coffees.

Heavy receipts of onions have resulted in an over-supply here, and prices are easier.

The s.s. Dracona is expected to arrive next week, and dried fruit buyers are speculating whether the fact will produce a decline in the market or not. Cables from Denia are 10⅛ higher.

Advices from Japan state that any further supplies of Japan rice are absolutely cut off by the war.

Receipts of several thousand barrels of pickled herrings produced a sharp slump in values on those fish.

Caverhill, Hughes & Co. are receiving this week consignments of leading brands of canned fruit and vegetables.

Laporte, Martin & Co. request their friends to write for quotations on new crop dried fruit. They have been receiving consignments for the last fortnight of several leading brands.

Canned tomatoes promise to be firm, and G. Chaput Sons & Co. say that now is the time for their friends to write them and get quotations.

If samples or prices are wanted on Nelson's gelatine etc., Cadbury's cocoa or Maconochie Bros.' delicate prepared fish goods, they can be had from Frank Magor & Co., 16 St. John street, Montreal.

Stewart, Munn & Co. have received several cargoes of pickled herring during the past eight days. The quality is excellent.

BUSINESS during the past week has only been fair. The Fall Number of THE GROCER made a decided hit here, the quality of get-up and matter surpassing even the expectation of its best friends. The fruit men say the cut on the cover is true to life. The attractiveness of the ads. is being particularly commented on by the subscribers. Owing to pressure of other matter this report will be much shorter than usual, but all matters of importance will be touched upon. Full particulars of the meetings of the convention of the Maritime Provinces Boards of Trade will be found in another part of this paper. The following is a statement of the receipts at the custom house for September. They show a decline of $12,275 27 as compared with the same month last year. Figures are: Value of dutiable goods last year, $250,498; this, $208,271. Duty collected last year, $86,745.08; this, $74,639.21. Value of free goods last year, $169,344; this, $91,772. Value of exports also show a large decrease in figures for last year, being $454,158, while for this they are only $280,048. Values in markets show little change.

SALT—No change in prices is reported; stocks though not large are up to requirements. We quote: Coarse, ex store, 50 to 52c.; fine factory filled, $1 to $1.10; Canadian, 5-lb. bags, in brls., $3 25; 10-lb. bags, in brls., $3.10; American, 20-lb., wood boxes, 20c.; 10 lb., wood boxes, 12c.

CANNED GOODS—As mentioned in last issue the Association have advanced prices of vegetables 2½c. per doz. Goods now in stock are reported as last week. We quote: Corn, 95c.; peas 95c.; tomatos, $1; salmon are very firm and two or three cases could be sold here, but packers will not quote. Those who held off from buying find themselves with little or no stock. Price to-day, $1.30 to $1.35; lobsters, $1.75 to $2; corned beef, $1.75 to $2.75; oysters, 1's, $1.30; 2's, $2.25.

DRIED FRUITS AND NUTS—Valencias are now being quoted in some cases at a very low figure. Currants and lemons should be to hand by next report. Evaporated apples are rather low. Quality continues to improve. Demand for nuts is light. Onions are somewhat lower; those here are splendid quality. Sultana raisins, 7 to 7½c.; London layers, $2 to $2.10; loose muscatels, 6½ to 6¾c.; new Valencias, 4½ to 5c.; layers, 5½ to 6c.; prunes, 5½ to 6c.; currants, 3½ to 4c. for brls., cases, 4 to 5c.; evaporated apples, 10 to 10½c.

GREEN FRUIT—Apples continue to arrive in large quantities, and daily auction sales keep the price down. Very few are being sent to the States this season, which is a great change from last. They are quoted about the same in Boston as here, which leaves no place for the duty. Oranges, Jamaica, are rather lower. New quinces are being offered.

Northrup & Co. offer their customers teas in 20 lbs. boxes, special values.

A QUEBEC MATCH FACTORY.

An industry worthy of note is the large plant of Hardy & Dubord, at Beauport, Quebec. Their factory is now complete, and millions of matches are turned out every day. The best pine wood is used. It is kiln dried and free from knots After being cut into suitable blocks, a rapid cutter, working about 150 strokes a minute, is used to form them into double-length strips, making 3,600 strips a minute. These strips are then packed in frames and well tightened up. Then they are put in the drying room, and, after a time, are placed in other frames, the strips being separated to avoid adhesion while dipping. After being coated with sulphur on the ends, they are drawn over the phosphorus roller and dried. Finally, an army of girls get at them and they are cut and packed, when you have the Phœnix and Dominion match ready for use. Hardy & Dubord report rapidly, increasing sales, and duplicate orders in nearly all cases—the best guarantee of success.

TRADE SALES.

These bankrupt stocks were sold at Sucklings this week: The hardware stock of Alexander C. Fraser, of Galt, amounting to $16,938, was sold at 47c. on the dollar, and a coal and wood yard in connection with the same estate, valued at $1,000, was sold at 77½c. on the dollar. Mr. A. J. Colvin, of Galt, was the purchaser of the two parcels.

The boot and shoe stock of P. Habel, of Wiarton, $1,600, was sold to Mr. H. D. Campbell, of Toronto, for 67c. on the dollar.

The general stock of R. Grennau, Aurora, $5,500, was purchased by James Whinnister, of Aurora, at 45c. on the dollar.

The stock of J. T. Hutchinson, Mono Road, $1,600, was sold to J. W. Shields, at 55c. on the dollar.

The stock of boots and shoes belonging to the estate of Foster Chalmers, of Woodstock, amounting to $4,500, was sold to W. L. Ouimette, of Londsboro, at 58½c. on the dollar.

THE BUSINESS MAN.

The business man should be able to fix his attention on details and be ready to give every kind of argument a considerate hearing, says a writer in Business. This will not encumber him, for he must have been practical beforehand in the exercise of his intellect and strong in principles. One man will collect material together and it will remain in a shapeless mass. Another man possessed of method will easily arrange what the first has collected, but such a man as I would describe goes further and in addition builds with the material.

The business man should be courageous. True courage, however, required in civil affairs, is that which belongs rather to the able commander than to the mere soldier. Any kind of courage, however, is serviceable. Besides a stout heart the business man should have a patient temperament; he should likewise have a vigorous but disciplined imagination. Thus equipped he will plan boldly, and with extended view will execute calmly. He will never be reaching out his hand for things not yet within his grasp. Such a man will let opportunities grow before his eyes until they are ripe to be seized. He will think over every possible failure in order to provide a remedy or a retreat. There will be strength of repose about him. He will have a deep sense of responsibility. He will believe in the vitality of truth and in all that he does and says he will be anxious to express as much truth as possible. His sense of responsibility and his love of truth will inevitably endow him with diligence, accuracy and discreetness.

RUST ON BACON.

Prof. W. F. Massey says, in the Practical Farmer, that the rust which spoils the bacon is no doubt caused by a fungus growth, but he has not studied it and cannot give any definite advice about it. But he has never had any rust on meat treated in the following way: Make a strong brine with good salt, strong enough to pop a potato. If boiled and skimmed all the better. When cool drop the hams and shoulders into a cask and filled with brine, first adding to it one pint of black molasses and one-half ounce saltpetre for each 100 pounds of meat. Put the other meat into a separate cask and treat likewise, as it does not need to remain in as long as the hams. Keep meat well covered with brine. The meat, of course, is cold and well trimmed before putting down. After remaining in the pickle four to six weeks, take the hams and shoulders out and hang in smokehouse.

"Who's the 'Co.' in your firm?" asked Smasher of his friend the grocer.

"My wife."

"Ah, she's a silent partner, is she?"

The grocer rubbed his chin for a moment.

"Well," he replied in some doubt, "she ain't so all-fired silent when you come to think of it."—Exchange.

CALIFORNIA RAISINS.

"The prejudice which has existed against California raisins in Canada," said a gentleman to THE CANADIAN GROCER, "has almost entirely passed away, owing to the particularly fine goods that have been in the market this year; and it is an interesting fact not universally known that the variety of grapes from which raisins are made in California is the Muscat of Alexandria, identically the same as that grown in Spain. When these vines are young, and bearing their first crops, and possibly for a year or two afterwards, the crops are much coarser than after the vine reaches proper age, but this applies in Spain exactly the same as in California.

"Until this year what few California raisins have come to Canada have been produced on these young vines. However, circumstances have changed very materially, and this year's California raisins are equal to the very finest produced in Malaga, while fully 50 per cent. better than Denias or Valencias. Valencia raisins are dipped in lye in curing, which cuts the skin and gives the impression that the skin is more tender than the Californias, which are cured without dipping in lye.

"California raisins contain 30 per cent. more of sugar than Valencia fruit, and are much the most economical and satisfactory raisin for consumers. The present price of California fruit is by no means unreasonable, and in view of the admirable keeping qualities the Canadian trade will no doubt find it distinctly to their advantage to cultivate the trade in these lines, especially in view of the adverse reports concerning Spanish fruit.

Canada and the United States have long been the dumping ground for the various trash in the way of Valencias, and the fact that reliable standards of raisins can now be had from California will be a matter of profit and satisfaction to all concerned.

MR. HILL'S "SUCCESSOR."

J. R. HILL is the name of a retail grocer doing business at Brock avenue and Dundas streets, Toronto. Some time since he got a barber to remove a long beard which hung about a foot below his chin. Among his customers was an old pensioner, a native of the Emerald Isle, whom we shall call "Pat." Shortly before he had his whiskers removed Mr. Hill loaned the old soldier fifty cents. A few days after the barber's scissors had shorn Mr. Hill of his beard, Pat entered the store. Perceiving what to him appeared to be a stranger behind the counter, he halted, ejaculated at the same time:

"An' where's Mr. Hill."

"Dead," gravely replied Mr. Hill.

"Dead! An' whin did he doi?"

"A few days ago."

"A few days ago," slowly repeated the Irishman. "Well, an' it's meself that's sorry. Shure, he was as dacent a man as ever broke a piece of bread. An' a good friend of mine was he too."

"Yes, so I believe," interjected Mr. Hill. "He told me before he died that he lent you fifty cents, and he said you were to pay me."

"Did he now? Well, he was roight. An' bees you afther buying him out"

"Yes. And I wish you'd pay me now."

"Can't do it," said Pat, as he began to shuffle about uneasily.

"Well, but you must. Go out and borrow it."

"Shure, I'll try." And he did try, and he got the money, too. Laying the coin in the palm of Mr. Hill's hands, he remarked:

"There now, there 'tis. But say, couldn't you lend us a quarter?"

"No, sir, I cannot," replied Mr. Hill.

"You cannot," said Pat, as he edged up nearer the counter. "Shure you mean you won't. Do you know what I think about you—well, I wouldn't like to tell you. One thing sartin, you're no gentleman. Mr. Hill was, peace to his ashes."

And then a mad Irishman stepped quickly out of the store heaping curses upon the head of Mr. Hill's "successor," while Mr. Hill lay over a sugar barrel convulsed with laughter.

has Windsor Dairy Salt been on the market, but you should see the way it is displacing imported salts among butter-makers. The way it is selling proves its merit. In one town, 23 miles from Toronto, it cleaned the imported article out of every store. They never saw anything so nice as the Windsor; besides, it keeps the trade in our own country. See the point? Let us know what sizes you carry and we will quote you prices. They suit! So does the Salt.

DRY GOODS.

TORONTO MARKET.

SORTING orders are coming in steadily, and all classes of woolen goods and winter dress goods are receiving a certain amount of attention. The warm weather of last week was not conducive to a heavy sale of winter goods, but the weather this week is very different and it must have its effect. The feeling among dealers is much better than it was a month ago, and the prospects for the sorting season are excellent.

Prices in cottonades, denims and shirting continue firm at the recent reduction. The prices of domestic prints are firm in spite of some reports to the contrary. The only weakness in values is where stock lots of such lines as knit underwear, etc., have been sold by manufacturers at clearing prices.

A low line of 16 inch linen towelling has been taking very well with John Macdonald & Co. The stock will last a week yet. A low line of unbleached canton has been attracting much attention during the past few weeks. The latest shipment of this line is now on the way. A special line of Nottingham lace curtains to retail at $1.25 and $1.50 is being shown, and is having an extensive sale. A large line of chenille curtains and covers has just been opened up in a full range of colors. Reduced prices are quoted. Jersey cloakings are shown in full patterns and colorings, mostly in cream grounds with wide straight or wavy stripe. Plain goods are also shown. Plain Campania serges in blacks and navys will arrive on the 15th. A shipment of pongors and pongees just to hand, and are being offered at about usual prices. German Henriettas in blacks are again in full stock, a large shipment having been passed into stock.

Samson, Kennedy & Co. have repeats to hand of velvets and velveteens in black and all colors. Sealettes are also shown, and one special line in a fawn can be retailed at $3.75 It is 56-inches wide, and is both new and valuable. Black, white and gray astrachans are seasonable goods, and are in good demand at present. They have a nice range. Knit shawls, hoods, clouds, wool mitts and all fancy wool goods are being shown, and dealers can always secure everything desirable in this class of goods.

W. R. Brock & Co. have purchased a line of chenille table covers, being a manufacturer's stock, at a price which enables them to sell them at about one-half of the regular wholesale price. One of the latest novelties from the United States market is a line of Josephine draperies, which for design, effect and durability are striking. They can be used for curtains, coverings of all kinds, such as cushion coverings and for all kinds of fancy needlework. It is shown in various shades of green, blue, gold and red, and is procurable either in plain or stamped goods. This promises to be a great fad for the fancy goods trade of this season.

MONTREAL MARKET.

The chief feature in the dry goods trade in Montreal during the past few days has been an enhanced volume of orders from travelers now out. Repeat orders from the North-West and elsewhere which have come to hand freely during the past six days have been a welcome feature, and indicate a better state of affairs. The sorting trip so far, therefore, has been a very satisfactory one with most travelers.

Remittances have plenty of room for improvement, but it is expected that after the farmers get through with their fall work and the crops begin to move, they will mend.

Prices for all classes of goods continue firm, and advices from British and other textile centres indicate a still firmer tendency on all foreign fabrics.

There is an active demand at present for golf cloths, which are being used largely in the manufacturing of ladies' cloaks. Both large and small checks are in favor.

Other lines sueh as wool hosiery, dress goods, meltons and domestic woolens, are generally in good healthy demand, and values as a rule are upward in their tendency.

A MARITIME PROVINCE TRAVELER.

The accompanying cut is a portrait of Robert Jardine, representative of the Pure Gold Manufacturing Co. in the Maritime Provinces. Mr. Jardine is a native of the city of St. John, N.B., his father and uncle, the late Alexander and Robert Jardine respectively, having arrived in that city from Scotland about 60 years ago, starting in the grocery business under the firm name of Jardine & Co. This firm has done and still continues to do a large wholesale and retail business, and is well-known over the whole of the Maritime Provinces. The subject of the present sketch was educated in Glasgow, Scotland, and in St. John. In the former city he also studied civil engineering; but giving a preference to mercantile pursuits he returned after a few years to his native province. Believing that it pays to handle the best lines of goods, he made application for and secured the agency for the Pure Gold Manufacturing Co. of Toronto. In this connection he has been successful in doing a large business in all the leading cities of the Provinces, and the portly figure of Robert Jardine with his good-natured, honest, manly face is well-known and respected from one end of the country to the other.

LABRADOR HERRINGS.

Many a dealer has said, "Oh, Labrador herrings are a thing of the past," and so it seemed; but the connoisseur in this line and the wholesale grocer who looks to turn an honest penny, and please his customers at the same time, will be delighted to hear that there is every prospect of having some of the "real sort" here this year.

"A good sign," so many of the fishermen say, has appeared on Labrador, and several have been fortunate enough in securing good catches of herrings, which are reported as being of excellent size, and fat.

This is good news to the consumer, who has nearly had his taste for "Labrador turkey" vitiated by inferior substitutes.

As a curious coincidence, it is well worth noting that about 8 or 10 years ago, when there were plenty of herrings to be found on Labrador, there were none in Norway; but since that, for the last four or five years, there has been a tremendous glut of herrings caught in Norway; and the curious thing now happens: the catch this year is reported a failure in Norway, and, as stated above, the herrings are showing up again on the Labrador coast.

Can they be the same?

VALUE OF FOREIGN COINS.

The Director of the Mint at Washington has estimated and the Secretary of the Treasury has proclaimed the value of foreign coins, as required by Section 25 of the Act of August 28th, 1894. The changes made are as follows:

	Value July 1, 1894.	Value Oct. 1, 1894.
Boliviars of Bolivia	.457	.464
Peso of Central American States	.457	.464
Shanghai tael of China	.676	.685
Haikwan tael of China	.753	.763
Tien-Tsin tael of China	...	.727
Chee-Foo tael of China	...	.727
Peso of Colombia	.457	.464
Sucre of Ecuador	.457	.464
Rupee of India	.217	.227
Yien of Japan	.493	.500
Dollar of Mexico	.497	.504
Sol of Peru	.457	.464
Rouble of Russia	356	.371
Mahbub of Tripoli	.413	.418

The estimate of the value of coins of countries having a single silver standard is made up on the average price of silver for the three months ending Sept. 29th, 1894, viz.: $0.64127. There have been added to the list the Tien-Tsin and Chee-Foo taels of China.

THE Niagara District Fruit Growers' Joint Stock Company, Ltd., has been given power to increase its capital stock from $10,000 to $20,000.

Thirty-two pound cauliflowers are grown in Penetanguishene.

The Manitoba Patrons of Industry propose shipping their wheat direct to England.

According to the "Woman at Home" the Duchess of Fife is an admirable butter-maker.

While this may be an unappreciative world, a man generally gets credit for paying his debts.

The eleventh annual fat stock show of the Province of Ontario will be held at Guelph on December 11th, 12th and 13th.

Mr. Warner, near the Eau, thrashed and sold eight hundred bushels of beans from forty acres. The price realized was $1.20 per bushel.

Saturday's Brockville Recorder contained this item: "Mr. Cavanagh, salesman for Cavanagh's combination of cheese factories, which includes Appleton, Golden, Ottawa Valley and Valley Queen, was in town yesterday attempting to contract August, September and October makes. The total includes 5,000 boxes, but as yet he has made no sale.

Sir W. C. Van Horne, in an interview in Winnipeg, stated he could not account for the continued low price of wheat. It must go up. Times, hard though they were, were better in Canada than in the States. Speaking of freight rates, the C. P. R. president justified the existing conditions on the ground of long hauls for "empties" and the idleness of the rolling stock part of the year that was specially made for grain traffic.

"I am not a scientist," says a writer in an exchange, "and so cannot explain it, but it is a fact that eggs that have been boiled three minutes or less, can be reboiled the next morning and will not only be fresh, but soft and palatable as though cooked but once. After an egg has been heated and cooled you can cook it till doomsday and it would not get hard. Some property in it resists the hardening process after it is once heated."

A. N. C. Black, private banker of Dutton, is in financial difficulties, and he is away. He was treasurer of the High School Board, and was asked to pay the money, $2,200 over, but failed to do it, and his surety, Mr. J. B. Crawford has paid the money. Mr. Black was one of the best-known men in West Elgin, was clerk of the Division Court and formerly licence commissioner, and was highly respected. He had carried on a banking business in Dutton for twelve years, coming there from Strathroy.

Freight is being hauled by wagon between Winnipeg and some distant Provincial towns to save high railway charges.

Merchants throughout Great Britain are still complaining about the large proportion of underpaid letters from Canada.

The ability of children to ask questions which the wisest parent cannot answer is proverbial. Little Gertrude, entering a butcher's shop for the first time, stood gazing around her in silent absorption. Presently she took her mother by the hand, and, leading her to where hung a string of Bologna sausages, she put a tiny finger on one of the sausages and gravely inquired: "Mamma, what was this when it was alive?"

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Lake of the Woods Milling Co., Ltd., was held in the office of the company, Board of Trade building, Montreal, last week. The President submitted to the shareholders the seventh annual report and statements of account for the year ending 31st August, 1894. The report was unanimously adopted, and a dividend of 6 per cent. was declared on the capital stock of the company for the year ending 31st August, 1894. The following directors were elected: Robert Meighen, W. A. Hastings, John Mather, R. B. Angus and John Turnbull. At a subsequent meeting of the directors, Robert Meighen was elected president and managing director; W. A. Hastings, vice-president and general manager; G. V. Hastings, general superintendent; S. A. McGaw, manager at Winnipeg; F. F. Bray, secretary; B. S. Sharing, assistant secretary.

A NEW SPICE FIRM.

The Canada Gazette of Saturday last contains notice of application for incorporation of the C. A. Leffiton Co. Ltd. The applicants are A. M. Snetsinger, of Moulinette, Ont., agent; A. P. Tippet, commission agent; L. E. Dodwell, commission agent; Donald J. McGillis, merchant; Joshua C. Rose, commission agent; and W. J. White, advocate, all of the city of Montreal. The headquarters of the company will be in Montreal, and the object, according to the notice is to carry on the business of coffee roasters, spice grinders and commission agents and dealers in coffee, spices, and grocers' supplies, with power to acquire and dispose of any patent rights which may be deemed necessary or expedient, for the purposes of the company's said business. The capital stock is placed at $10,000 divided into one hundred shares of $100 each.

THERE WAS DECEPTION HERE.

A good story is told at the expense of a Toronto wholesale tea house. A local retailer, Mr. Blank, had placed an order with the house in question for a quantity of package tea. The blend, as well as the package, was to be specially prepared, and the latter was to have on the label the purchaser's name.

The tea was in due course delivered, and some of it soon went into consumption. One of Mr. Blank's regular customers bought a package, and, emptying its contents into a caddy, threw the package into a garbage box into the yard. That night it rained, and the next morning the lady who had bought the tea noticed that Mr. Blank's label had been washed off, disclosing, to her surprise, the name of a big local department store. She gathered up the package, and took it back to Mr. Blank. He was even more surprised than had been his customer, and, of course, explained the circumstances under which he had bought the tea.

Fortunately, he did not lose a customer; but a wholesaler did.

TO RESUME MOLASSES BOILING.

In its issue of September 15th the Havana Weekly Report states that the managers of the molasses boiling establishment and the exporters have recently operated extensively, because the reimposition of duties in the United States will allow the molasses cooking business to be resumed under more favorable condition than before.

A large number of contracts have accordingly been closed, some, chiefly for exportation, at prices to be fixed at the time of delivery with 2 cents commission per gallon for the dealer and others, for account of the home boilers at from $9 to $10 per hogshead of 175 gallons, deliverable at ports on the Northern coast, with $5 advance per hogshead as an average in both cases.

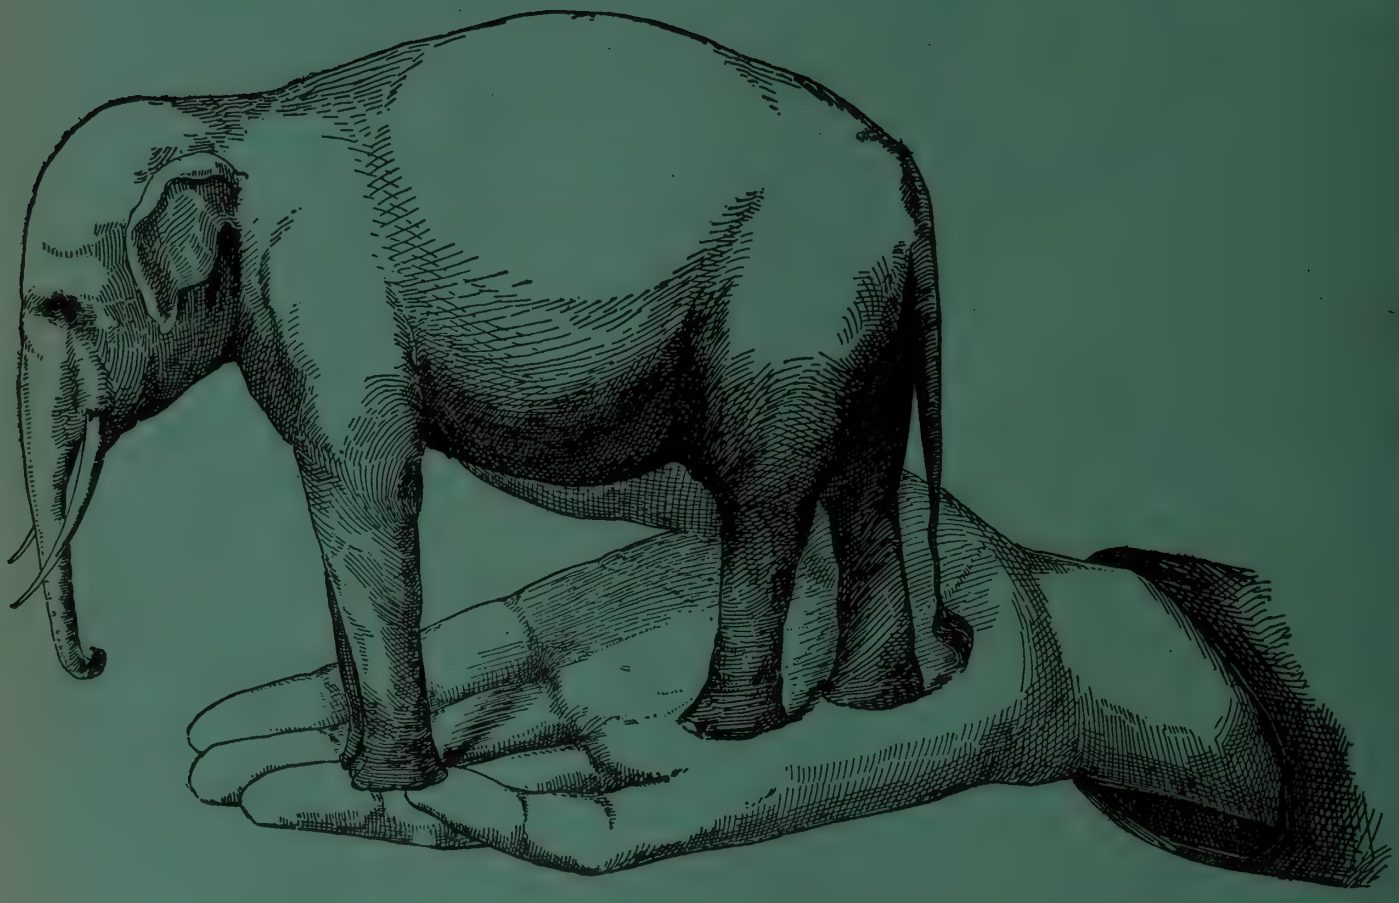
Elephant On Hand



The firm who are trying to "Bluff" us out of our "Name" and "Trade" in "Mexican Fruit" Chewing Gum have an Elephant on Hand. Cost to date, $5,000.

The dealer who buys Foreign Chewing Gums thinking they are just as good as "Mexican Fruit," but finds they don't sell—Elephant on Hand.

The consumer who won't try our Cough Chewing Gum, and as a result takes the Grippe, has a very troublesome Elephant on Hand.

Somerville's "Mexican Fruit," "Pepsin," and "Cough" are Medicinal Chewing Gums, and are positively beneficial to anyone using them; nicely put up, choice flavorings, and without any exception the finest goods on the market. Our increased sales testify that no firm handling our goods exclusively will ever have a Chewing Gum Elephant on their hands in the way of unsaleable stock.

The Collar Expanded

Our latest specialty for the tea trade is a 1-lb. Folding Caddy, on which we have just been granted a patent by the Dominion Government. It is in appearance an exact representation of a regular China tea chest with matting, and as a tea package beats everything on the market for three reasons :

1st. Because it is much cheaper than a hand-made box.

2nd. Because being a knock-down box it takes up little or no room, and

3rd. Because being a machine-made box there is no paste or glue to taint the tea, which has been one of the greatest objections to the old style tea caddies.

BAD MANAGEMENT DID IT.

THE closing act in the failure of the British America Starch Company was enacted Thursday last, when the property was sold by the assignee under instructions from the creditors.

The goods sold were invoiced at $7,200, and the price obtained was $5,000.

George Foster and Dr. Lowery were the purchasers, but rumor has it that they were merely acting for certain local capitalists who are forming a new company.

And thus ends the British America Starch Company.

There are some business ventures that prove unsuccessful, notwithstanding that inherent in them are the properties that should make them successful.

The British America Starch Company is a case in point. THE GROCER has it on the word of a gentleman interested in the industry, that there is a fair profit in the manufacturing of starch. But in spite of this fact the company in question was not able to make ends meet.

It is evident then that there was a screw loose somewhere.

One source of weakness was undoubtedly in the particular of capital, while the fact that some of the wholesale houses were not as favorable for certain reasons to the British America as they were to other companies may have added something to the difficulties in the way of building up a successful trade.

But the principal cause of the non-success of the company is alleged to have been the management.

The men who had money in the company were competent to put in more, one or two of them, at least, almost unlimited amounts more. And because they did not advance the necessary it is surmised that they, like a good many, who had business with the firm, had not much faith in the ability of the management.

Essentials to good management are promptness in the meeting of obligations and courteousness towards those with whom it has business relations; but in both these particulars the management of the British America Starch Co. had plenty of room for improvement.

DECREASED FRUIT IMPORTS.

The official reports show a large increase of imports of foreign dried fruits into the United States during the month of August compared with the same month last year. Of currants there were 626,449 lbs. more, of raisins 170,000 lbs., and of prunes 81,300. Figs was the only fruit to show a decline.

Taking the imports for the eight months ending with August, the rule is decreases rather than increases, currants being the only fruit to show an increase, and in them the gain was 14,300,000 lbs. The decreases were: Raisins, 1,600,307 lbs.; prunes, 5,596,994 lbs; dates, 7,494 lbs.; figs, 81,238 lbs.

GOODS NOT SOLD UNTIL PAID FOR.

JOSEPH Finley, St. John, who introduced a resolution at the request of the committee at the Conference of Boards of Trade at St. John, N. B., is putting his business on a cash basis.

He disagrees entirely with those who think that a cash trade should begin with consumers, and that it cannot begin until the latter have more money.

Wholesale merchants, he says, should first insist on cash in 30 days. This would compel retailers to insist on the same terms. When they do this they will have fewer failures.

Speaking to THE GROCER, Mr. Finley said that his first experience in cash was many years ago when, as a buyer for a millionaire St. John firm, he was on his way to Europe. In New York he called at one of the wholesale dry goods houses, where for the first time he saw very cheap printed calicos. Thinking they would take well he gave an order, stating that he had not the funds, but mentioning the name of his firm, which he thought a sufficient guarantee.

The salesman replied that he knew the firm was good for anything their buyer might order, but drew Mr. Finley's attention to this sign:

GOODS
NOT CONSIDERED SOLD
UNTIL PAID FOR.

He went out and readily got the cash from a friend, bought the goods, and afterwards did an excellent trade in them. He learned that the wholesale house had at one time given extensive credit. They failed in consequence. They were then just starting to do a strictly cash business. They are now among the wealthiest business firms in New York.

MAILING ORDERS TO TRAVELERS.

THE attention of THE GROCER has been again called to the annoyances that are often caused by merchants addressing their letter-orders to the travelers.

In the case in point the letter order did not reach the house till Monday morning, after the traveler had gone out on his route. It was the Saturday week following before the traveler reached the house again; and it was Monday before the order could be shipped.

By the time the goods reached the station of the customer nearly three weeks had elapsed since they were ordered. Then the merchant refused to take them.

The wholesaler in question thus not only lost a sale, but had to pay two freights besides.

The moral is obvious: If retail merchants want their mail orders filled promptly, they must address them to the firm and not to the traveler. It is the only proper way. It is the only safe way.

It might be suggested that the firm send the letter forward to the traveler. But the possibility of the letter and the traveler failing to meet is not certain enough to make it a rule safe to follow, for in the event of the traveler and the letter not meeting the last state would be worse than the first.

The onus for the inconveniences that are frequently occasioned through letter orders being addressed to travelers bears more or less upon the shoulders of all concerned—the traveler, the retailer and the wholesaler.

The traveler naturally desires to be accredited with as many sales as possible, and each retailer is, as a rule, quite willing that every order he places, whether it be in the ordinary way or by mail, shall be totalled up with the traveler's sales. And where there is a feeling of friendship between traveler and customer such desire will always obtain.

There are two ways in which the evil—and evil it is—can be abated. The one is for the retailer to address his letter order to the firm, accompanying it with the request that Mr. Blank, the particular traveler in the habit of calling upon him, be accredited with the sale. The other is for each wholesale house to make it a rule to enter to the credit of its travelers letter orders that come in from their respective regular customers By this means not only would there be fewer annoyances, but it would also assist in the upbuilding of the letter-order department, something all progressive merchants are now trying to do.

TORONTO AND THE PEDLARS.

THE long-pending fight between the city of Toronto and the pedlars will probably come up for the final and deciding round next month before the Privy Council of Great Britain.

The particular point over which the fight is being waged is in regard to the legality of the by-law excluding the pedlars from plying their avocation on certain defined central streets.

The Supreme Court has so far been the only court to rule against the city and in favor of the pedlars, the by-law in its perigrinations through the lower courts having been declared intra vires.

The city has therefore good ground for contending that it is within its power to place a limitation upon the territory in which the pedlars shall do business. Leave to appeal from the decision of the Supreme Court was granted some time ago.

THE GROCER the other day had a talk with Licence Inspector Awde re licensing pedlars. "There would be no difficulty at all," he said, "to regulate the pedlars; neither would the pedlars themselves oppose licence regulations if the farmers and gardeners were restricted to a wholesale market. It is there that the trouble comes in. The Ontario Legislature gives the farmer and the gardener the right to sell either wholesale or retail, and they are even exempt from market fees, unless, of course, they come within the limits of any of the markets.

"Now, then, these people are neither residents of the city nor taxpayers, or even contributors to the market fees. But they do a business that properly belongs to our citizens. Therein is where the grievous wrong is done. I claim that those producers—the farmer and the gardener—should be confined to a wholesale market. And then the cheek of some of those farmers! They will sell a grocer a barrel or so of apples and then go and pedle out the balance of them in the same neighborhood. Worse than that—I have known a farmer to have the impudence to offer and to sell a barrel of apples to a customer of the grocer before he left his (the grocer's) store. Yes, give us power to regulate the farmers and market gardeners and I don't think we'll have any difficulty with the pedlars."

"WE have excellent fish here; it is doubtful if you can get as fine a quality and as great a variety anywhere in the world as you do in St. John," said Mr. Timmerman, the New Brunswick superintendent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, to THE GROCER. "They are far ahead of the fish they get in the west. One soon tires of the freshwater varieties—you would starve on them; but the haddock, mackerel, cod and other kinds caught here are very palatable and nutritious food. There is one fish which is better when got in the back country districts of Ontario and Quebec and the far west: that is, cured cod. There is plenty of it here, but it is not sufficiently cured. It is too fresh and tough and stringy and salty. The same fish is shipped in bales to western buyers, who distribute it to country stores. It may sell freely, but as a rule it is not taken by the consumer for fully a year after it leaves the curing establishment. In this time the bale knocks about the country store. It is generally exposed on a box outside the store to sun and dust, and sometimes the rain. The top fish is always the fist disposed of, and the next one has usually ample time to be properly seasoned. If thrown in water for a few minutes before cooking it comes out fresh and sweet. Cut a piece out and you will find it is so thoroughly mellow that you cannot tell which way the grain runs. The toughness and stringiness have disappeared, and you have a fish that is very highly thought of by connoisseurs. If these fish were brought down here they would probably bring higher prices than they get for them in the west. There, no doubt, many people think that cod would be much more delicious if they could be got fresh. This is not the case."

THE GROCER has often observed that fishermen themselves when they bring in a supply of fresh fish will look around the curing establishments and pick out fish for their own use that have been in stock for a year or so.

RE FIXING PRICE OF SUGAR.

NOT altogether successful have been the efforts of wholesale grocers' associations to regulate the price of sugar.

About three years ago the Dominion Grocers' Guild was compelled to suspend the clause in the rules governing this matter. And now advices from the United States indicate that disintegration is setting in among some of the associations there.

Trouble in the Wholesale Grocers' Association of Chicago seems to be just now largely the cause which threatens to bring this effect about.

This Chicago association was formed in May last, with the avowed object of fixing the price of sugar; but lately the forces opposed to the organization have been augmented by desertions from the ranks of the association, and the situation had become so aggravated that last week it was decided to suspend the rule relating to uniformity of price.

Cutting breeds cutting, just as "like breeds like," and since the members of the Chicago concern began slaughtering prices, other kindred associations have been induced to do likewise. Now their fate is awaited with interest.

The situation at the moment is anything but favorable to permanency of prices, for not only is the Chicago association practically dead and others tottering, but the stocks in grocers' hands are excessive, before the change in the duty they having been induced to buy far in advance of their requirements. Now, as a press despatch puts it, "they are loaded to the brim with sugar," or as Willett & Gray's Statistical remarks, their stocks "have become an onerous burden to carry."

In their haste to unload the dealers take no cognizance of refiners' prices. These are $4.35 net in New York, but grocers in every direction are selling at less than that figure. In Milwaukee 4c. per lb. is the idea with some, while in St. Louis 19 lb. for $1 is the rule for granulated.

Willett & Gray's Statistical opines that this kind of business will have to stop when the grocers are compelled to come to the refiners for fresh supplies. But this remains to be seen. Unfortunately experience does not give much hope for the realization of this possibility.

The average grocer is much like the average woman: When he will he will; and when it is his will to cut the price of sugar he does not let the little matter of the price paid stand in the way of determining the price at which he shall sell. At least this is characteristic of the Canadian grocer; and it has not been demonstrated that his confrere in the States is endowed with more wisdom in this respect than he is.

OUR EXPORT BUTTER TRADE.

THE question of whether our export trade in butter with Great Britain can be expanded or not is attracting more than the usual attention this fall, for the reason that the export business this season has been a very unsatisfactory one.

The question of the expansion of our butter trade in this respect has long been a matter of discussion among butter exporters in Montreal, which is practically the sole centre of the trade. Many suggestions have been advanced, which it was expected would induce the British public to consume more Canadian butter, but none of them have been put into practical effect.

Some five or six years ago, when Montreal exporters saw the steadily-increasing exports of American butter, they attributed the fact to the adoption of the creamery system across the line, which, they claimed, led to the more expeditious manufacture and sale.

They agitated for the general introduction of the creamery system in Canada—a worthy object—and have, it is satisfactory to note, succeeded; for the last two years has witnessed the erection of creameries all over the provinces of Ontario and Quebec; and yet the British customer has not taken to our butter as he has to our cheese, for the expansion in the exports of the former article has been inappreciable.

The reason for this is simple—the goods are held so long that they do not reach the British markets fresh enough.

In the old days of farmers' dairying it was impossible to get the goods forward promptly, and it was hoped that the adoption of the creamery method would do away with this. It no doubt, to a certain extent, would have done so but for the tenacious inclination of the Canadian agriculturist and patron to hold on to his goods in the hope of getting a higher price for them.

On the other hand, it is claimed, and by Prof. Robertson among others, that the "salesman" has some excuse for doing so, as the Montreal exporters who buy the early summer makes of goods put a good bulk of them into cold store on this side after paying a pretty high price for them, and don't ship until late in the fall. For this reason it is argued that the Federal Government should afford cold storage facilities for the farmers to carry their stock themselves.

This may appear all very well in theory, but if the Government wishes to encourage the farming element to become saturated with the pernicious habits of speculation they could not adopt a better method than the one suggested above.

It is quite true, as alleged, that the exporters in Montreal do buy up the early makes at comparatively high figures and put them into cold store. The reason why they do is not far to seek. They are simply speculating on the future of the market, and the prices paid are not all governed by the legitimate condition of the market at the time the transactions occur.

Knowing the disposition of the Canadian factorymen to hang on like grim death; and also that local jobbers and others want a certain proportion of fall makes for home consumption, they figure that the price of these more desirable goods will be advanced to such a level that they will be able to market their cold-storage stock to better advantage in the fall than if they shipped it in the spring.

If the factoryman would sell his stock right along when it is ready for the market it is obvious that this would not pay, for with the fresher stock available at a reasonable price the cold storage goods, allowing for cost of carrying, etc., would be at a decided disadvantage. Besides, though the exporters who speculate have made money, they very often lose quite as much, as, for instance, this season when several are trying to resell some of the cold-storage goods on this side again after carrying them all summer. They are in a position to take this risk, but it is a question whether the ordinary farmer is.

Briefly, the safest and best way to extend our export butter trade is to get our surplus butter on the English market as soon as possible after it is made. Then matters will soon equalize themselves without the necessity for experimenting on theoretical lines. Our Canadian creamery when fresh is equal to any in the world, and if the Britisher gets it that way, he will soon give us practical recognition of the fact, as he has already done in the case of our cheese.

NEW CROP PERSIAN DATES.

"WIND and tide wait for no man," but for one or other of these vessels frequently have to wait. An evidence of this is seen in the case of the vessels that are bringing the initial shipment of Persian dates: On account of the tides they were unable to get away till September 29. And it is expected that it will now be the second or third week in November before the fruit is received on this side of the Atlantic.

Persian dates are this season a short crop, and some people are looking for an actual scarcity ; but in spite of this dealers at the large trade centres do not appear to be much concerned.

More interest in fact seems to be centred in the question as to whether the direct shipments or the indirect shipments will reach New York first.

The fleet to first get away comprised four steamers—three bound for England and one for New York. After the steamers reach Gibraltar the interest in the race will become more exciting than it is at the present stage. It takes from 15 to 17 days ordinarily to steam from Gibraltar to New York, and the consignees of the fruit on board the boats bound for England opine that they will be able to get their fruit into Southampton or Liverpool, tranship to one of the Atlantic greyhounds and reach New York before the direct steamer puts in an appearance there.

According to the N. Y. Journal of Commerce no definite course of action in the disposition of the direct cargo has been decided upon, those usually well informed in the trade being unable to say whether the fruit will be offered at public sale, pooled or placed in blocks among the dealers upon the rebate principle. The indirect goods have sold upon the basis of 13s. 6d. c. and f. for Hallowee via Southampton and 13s. via London, while for Khadrawee and Sair 12s. 6d. and 11s. od. to 11s. 6d., respectively, have been accepted. These prices, says the same authority, are about one shilling lower than the opening quotations of last year.

Last year dates were admitted free into the United States, but under the new tariff there is a duty of 20 per cent., which will offset the lower prices.

TWO PROVINCIAL EXHIBITIONS.

THE provincial Exhibitions held recently at Halifax and Charlottetown give some idea of the progress and resources of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island. The former shows important advances in manufacturing, and the latter marked progress in agriculture. The Island especially bids fair to very shortly stand at the head of the agricultural districts of the Dominion. In fact, it may be said that in dairying they are there already, for their cheese has sold to exporters at better prices than Ontario and Quebec makes. Horses, cattle and sheep show improved breeding. Fruit growing is also being developed. The climate seems specially adapted for plums, and P.E.I. plums are making a distinct name for themselves. In apples they have not yet found the varieties most suitable, though there was a rather good show of cooking stock. Small fruits, such as strawberries and gooseberries, do well, and before very long these products in cans will be a feature on the mainland markets. Both oats and potatoes, for which the island has long been famous, show no deterioration in quality. In manufacturing, outside of cheese, butter and starch-making, there is very little done, excepting in woolen milling, in which much of the wool is used up.

Nova Scotia is naturally the richest province in Canada. It has better and more varied resources than any other district in the Dominion. It is easier to make a comfortable living there than anywhere else. This is why the development has not kept pace with the Island. The Islander must work or starve. He works and does well. A Bluenose need exert himself but little. The farm, the mine, the sea, the woods, are all equally rich, and he makes an easy living, but does not save much. Those who work hard are putting by more wealth than they are in any other part of Canada. The live stock and dairying displays were below the mark and did not show the best the Province has. In fruit and vegetables, however, they had as fine a display as has ever been seen in Canada. Apples came first, King County alone showing 120 varieties. Potatoes and other roots, it will be difficult to beat anywhere. From the partial display of manufacturers of all kinds it is evident that Nova Scotia has before it an important future. It has cheap coal, cheap labor and cheap raw material. Where the latter is imported it costs less to lay it down here than at interior points, because most places are accessible by water.

GROCERIES AT THE HALIFAX EXHIBITION.

THE finest display of biscuits ever made in Canada was that of G. J. Hamilton & Sons, Pictou, N.S., at the Provincial Exhibition, Halifax. It covered an area of about 10 x 35 feet in a corner of the main building. It was arranged so that three faces were shown. The main one inclined upward from about three feet from the outer edge of the space to within a foot of the rear. In it were 230 varieties of confectionery from penny goods to the finest chocolate. The whole background was formed with over 200 kinds of biscuits. Both were put up in flat cases, with 7 x 9 in. plate glass fronts, with the edges tastefully decorated. The base was filled with the various kinds of packages in which the goods are usually sent to the retailers. On stands at the ends were glass jars of druggists' confectionery, containing twenty-five different flavors each of candy, kitchen and plain. The exhibit was one of the most attractive features of the show.

The Truro Condensed Milk Co.'s and J. P. Mott & Co.'s were very popular exhibits, and it was usually almost impossible to get near them, so great was the crowd anxious to try their products. In addition to a very tasty display of their goods—and canned goods always make a fine show—the Truro Co. gave away samples of their coffee, which is all ready with milk and sugar to add the hot water and drink. These goods are destined to secure a firm hold with the trade. Mott & Co. had two pyramids, one showing cocoa beans and all their products and the other spices, all pure. Under the direction of F. J. Ward, two pretty girls served little cups of chocolate. They were dressed exactly as are the housemaids in Mott & Co.'s colored trade mark. If consumers could get as good a cup as they prepared much more cocoa would be used. Many people do not know how to make it.

The E. B. Eddy Co., who never let an opportunity pass to bring their goods to the front, had a very good display arranged by their energetic representatives in Nova Scotia, John Peters & Co. Besides their fibreware and matches there were samples of new papers which show that Eddy is not satisfied unless he is leading in this line also.

Mott & Co. had an exhibit of soap, and a gigantic "Amber" bar attracted a good deal of attention.

The Canadian Packers' Association, Toronto, made a good display of canned fruits and vegetables. It was hardly representative of the association, for every can bore the label of the Simcoe Canning Co., no other brand being shown. Bauld, Gibson & Co. bought the exhibit.

Allworth's Condensed Milk, Aylmer, Ont., formed part of a miscellaneous display by Erb & Co.

In addition to these were miscellaneous displays of flours, meals, liquors, etc., representing a number of different brands.

PEDLARS AND HAWKERS.

R. A. DONALD, ESQ.:

DEAR SIR,—I noticed a letter from you as President of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association, in last week's issue of THE GROCER, with reference to pedlars and hawkers. I am led to believe it is very hard to deal with such as the law now stands. I have been thinking the matter over—I am not a lawyer, only a grocer trying to make an honest living—and I beg to submit the following idea as a remedy, viz.: That the retail and wholesale trade in all their branches should be dealt with something in the same manner as the liquor trade is at the present time, subject to a licence. I would suggest that all retailers pay a small licence, and be compelled to sell their goods on certain conditions only in the premises mentioned in said licence; wholesale houses to be under the same restrictions, but have the privilege of sending out travelers, and sell goods to the trade only, not to the consumer. It may be said this would interfere with the patrons; not at all, only would keep trade in its proper channel, and enable them to carry out one of their own ideas, namely, to have stores in their own locality to supply them. Of course, those who manufacture the goods they sell, also those who raise produce of whatever kind, would not be subject to those restrictions, and the loss of revenue derived at the present time from pedlars and hawkers' licence would be more than made up by the fees collected for licence from the wholesale and retail trade. I would like to have this suggestion thoroughly discussed, and if possible get legislation in that direction passed by the House.

Yours, etc.,

A GROCER.

Oct. 15, 1894.

HE'S NO "BACK-SCRATCHER."

Compliments, when not deserved, are but idle words bestowed by some vain personality in the hope and expectation of being remembered in "kind"—"back-scratching." Merit will always be recognized by every honest man. It courts criticism and can stand the crucial test. We have no patience with sycophants, but the man who has the courage of his convictions and speaks of men and things as he finds them has our admiration. We congratulate the McLean Publishing Company, Ltd., of Toronto, Ontario, upon the highly creditable Fall Trade number of THE CANADIAN GROCER, issued on the fifth instant. It is worthy of the leading trade newspaper of the British North American possessions, and would be an honor to any country, no matter how pretentious the people. However viewed, the work is meritorious. It is pleasing to note that THE CANADIAN GROCER is so practically appreciated by the manufacturing and jobbing interests, as the many pages of advertisements artistically arranged in this special number bear testimony. Our Dominion contemporary is deservedly a success. May its future be still more prosperous; and it will, because it is an honest, fearless and independent trade journal which labors earnestly to serve the entire trade, and these qualities cannot but command the confidence of the business interests in its field of operations.—New Jersey Trade Review.

THE OUTLOOK FOR FISH.

THE fish trade has, of course, felt the effects of the recent depression, and consequent curtailment of consumption in sympathy with the other branches of commerce, says a contemporary. During the summer it has been of only fair average volume. But now it appears to feel the reviving influence of increased demand, coupled with only moderate supply, and the first cargo of 600 barrels of salt herrings to arrive in Montreal, went off briskly at from $4.75 to $5 per barrel. The fish were Newfoundland South shore herring, and were of excellent quality—large, bright and well cured. Consequently they sold readily, and, judging from the demand for the first lots, the outlook for the remainder of the season's business is reasonably promising.

From Labrador comes the welcome news that the herring are commencing to strike back to the coast they have deserted for the past three years. It was just about that period that they left Canadian waters and poured their myriads into every bay and fiord on the Norwegian coast. Now comes the news that the fickle fish are in turn forsaking their Scandinavian haunts. Numbers of a new large herring, evidently the much-coveted Labrador, are being taken in Scotch ports, and the news comes that they are re-appearing on our own coasts, and that one cargo of 1,000 barrels has already been taken and is now on its way to Montreal. It is expected to bring $5 per barrel at least, and it is hoped that it is only the precursor of other and larger catches; for the Labrador herring is the finest of its species, and has always been the prime favorite with Canadian consumers.

The shore cod fishery was somewhat of a failure this year. The ice lingered late on the coast, and the northern fishermen did only poorly. But the bank fishing fleet are doing well, and there are numbers of small green fishers out who bring their own news in with them with their catches, and whose takes it is impossible to estimate. So that it is too early yet to hazard a prediction as to the fishery. Good dry cod brings $3.75 to $4 per quintal; but the old-style bundles of dry fish are being rapidly driven out of city consumption by skinless and boneless cod. The skinless fish is a new form that has become very popular. They are large selected fish, packed at full length, in 100 lb. boxes, and beautifully put up. They sell at $5.50 per box, and in cleanliness and delicacy are far ahead of the bundled fish. The now well-known boneless cod is put up in one and two pound bricks in boxes to suit customers, and sells at about 6c. per lb.

Very little green cod is in the market as yet, and it is not expected in quantity until colder weather. The supply is of importance this year as, if the herring fail, the cod must take their place. At present green cod sells at from $4.25 to $4.50 per brl. of 200 lbs. for good No. 1. Large fish bring $5. Of course the number of substitutes now offering in the shape of other fish and fish products has diminished sensibly the demand for green cod in railroad centres and large cities having ready means of communication with the seaboard. But in the smaller villages of Quebec province the codfish represents an important adjunct to the table, and it is from these points that the principal consumptive demand is felt. This year it bids fair to be fully as good as it was last, and importers have no cause to complain either of the present or prospective demand for their fish.

LIVE STOCK AND MEAT GALORE.

A Liverpool paper gives the following list of live stock and fresh meats landed at that port by 17 steamers from Canada and the United States during one week in September: Cattle, 7,266; sheep, 2,247; quarters of beef, 20,567. This induces the Montreal Gazette to remark: "The English people have a great capacity for beef-eating, but over 7,000 cattle and 20,567 quarters of beef landed at one port from Canada and the United States is a rather large order for the British public. When the market is flooded like this, it is no wonder that prices are low."

INTRADUISIBLES.

Le Moniteur du Commerce, of Montreal, speaks with approbation of an article in the Arena, by Dr. George Stewart, who argues that "it goes without saying" is not a faithful translation of the French phrase "cela va sans dire." In expressions of this kind, says Le Moniteur, the verb "aller" cannot be translated as the verb "to go." For instance, one would not translate "comment allez vous?" by "how do you go?" any more than one would render "le repos ne me va pas" as "rest does not go with me." These French expressions are untranslatable, concludes Le Moniteur; and suggests that "cela va sans dire" is best expressed by "as a matter of course," or, more concisely, "of course." Very good Moniteur; and how would you express the latent and subtle comprehensiveness of kindly interest conveyed in the idiomatic colloquial inquiry, "How goes it?" Is this "intraduisible"?

AN HOUR IN WINDSOR.

WINDSOR, N.S., has been giving too much credit, and many of the merchants have suffered in consequence. Several of them have got into business difficulties. Matters are improving, however, in this respect. The numerous articles in THE GROCER have stirred them up, and they are endeavoring to work into a better state of affairs. Even yet some merchants render accounts once a year only. This might do in a back country town, but in an enterprising place like Windsor the system should be changed. It is a relic of the dark ages.

F. R. Smith, who has resumed business, is working more cautiously. He has a well-assorted, though small, stock of groceries, and is making a good connection through his trade in dairy produce and vegetables. In the past he had given too much credit, but that experience and a few months in a leading grocery store in Boston, have taught him that to make a success in the grocery business a dealer must sell for cash to doubtful customers and at 30 days on the best accounts. He found that the best grocers in Boston carried very light stocks, letting the jobbers do that. They buy frequently and get the cash discount.

W. Smith, who succeeded his uncle in the general grocery business a few months ago, had thirteen years' experience with him, and as he is popular with his customers he is holding this trade and drawing more. He is about to refit and paint the interior and make the store generally more attractive.

Campbell & Kirkpatrick, who succeeded R. H. Coalfleet, say they are working into a good business though general business is quiet.

J. Lawrence did not succeed in the grocery business. It is being wound up and he goes to a situation in Montreal. He is a good salesman and buyer, but gave too much credit. "I was a subscriber to THE GROCER, and if I had followed its advice I would still be in business," was a remark he made.

CHEESE.

The output of the eleven factories in Prince Edward Island will be about 5,000 to 6,000 boxes. About 100 boxes have been sent to Montreal as samples. They are principally June and July makes, being all white cheese. They show good value, and, when it is considered this is but the second year they have been making cheese, it speaks well for the future.

The output of cheese from Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia for the season it is expected will reach 15,000 to 20,000 boxes.

CANNING IN P.E.I.

The farmers of Prince Edward Island are going in more for fruit growing. They produce enough now to supply the home demand, but hope to do a profitable export business. Jones & McRae, Pownal, canned and exported considerable quantities of strawberries, gooseberries, currants and plums this year, and Easton & Cogswell, Georgetown, have a factory under way at Burnt Point, on the Cardigan river, and will be in the market next season.

A DRUMMER'S DISCOMFITURE.

A rather good joke is going the rounds in St. John at the expense of the representative of a sugar refinery, says the Maritime Grocer. Calling on a merchant he found the latter examining a sample of what he (the newcomer) took to be a granulated sugar sample. Scenting competition from a new quarter he assumed a critical air and sniffed at the sample, took some of it in his fingers, and with the air of a connoisseur assured the merchant that there were no centrifugals in it and that it was not worth over three cents. He was quite sure his company could duplicate it at a very low figure. When he finally offered to take a sample and send to his people for that purpose, the owner of the sample, who was also present, observed that that would hardly be necessary, as this particular article came from the Windsor Salt Works. There was a sudden and awful silence for a minute. It was broken by the merchant, who had been laboriously holding his sides as long as he could.

DRY GOODS.

TORONTO MARKET.

SORTING orders from travelers are as numerous as usual, but less bulky than at this season last year. Letter orders are very numerous, but follow the lead of the road orders as to volume. House trade is exceedingly quiet, and what is being done is in jobs and clearances. The lower prices in denims, cottonades and shirtings have induced a considerable trade in these lines.

W. R. Brock & Co.'s leading lines of kid gloves, Ava, Laura, Princess, Josephine, Padella, Prince and Otta are selling well and are much appreciated. Special plum lines are being offered in Cardigan jackets, sweaters and Jerseys. A large shipment of Swiss embroidered handkerchiefs from St. Gall, also Japanese goods from Tokio, have been received. They were bought specially for the approaching holiday trade. Golf cloakings arrived last week. This is the novelty of the season in cloakings, and Stuart and 42nd plaids are shown as well as fancy check backs. They are receiving numerous repeats from retailers for their line of grey flannels to retail at 20 cents. Some clearances in shirts and drawers and in top shirts are being offered.

On the 1st of October S. F. McKinnon & Co. inaugurated a removal sale, preparatory to placing their stock in their beautiful new building, now rapidly approaching completion. This is not a farce sale, but genuine reductions running from 15 to 50 per cent. have been made. In black and colored dress silks, silk velvets, velveteens and dress plushes, some excellent bargains are offered. In dress trimmings and ribbons of all kinds, the stock is new and large, and yet offered at prices which are moving large quantities. Mantle materials in cloth, plush, astrachan curls and sealettes are away down. Some lines of mantles and jackets are reduced 30 to 40 per cent., others 15 to 25 per cent. Hats of all kinds are offered at cut figures, while hat ornaments, such as wings, feathers, etc., are lowered from 15 to 33⅓ per cent., some even 50 per cent.

D. McCall & Co. report a lively demand for walking hats. They control special qualities and makes not found elsewhere. This house is always well up with its sorting stock, and retailers can depend on securing what they want, if it is possible to procure it.

MONTREAL MARKET.

The movement of all goods since our last report has been a fairly active one, and, on the whole, the average appears to be equal to that of last year. At any rate, two or three of the big general houses say that it is so, while one of them claims that they have done a bigger trade, and last fall was an exceptionally good one with them; they say they have no reason to be dissatisfied. It is worthy of note, also, that other houses who make a specialty of one or two lines report that their stocks are worked down to a pretty low level, which is a fair indication. For instance, one house that deals solely in fine dress goods and other ladies' goods say that they were never so low as they are at present at this time of the year.

The city retail trade has been quite brisk of late in consequence of the return wave of people from the summer resorts. The few days of bright cold weather that we have had recently have also been very beneficial in this respect. City collections, however, are complained of, being under the average.

The demand for Priestley's fine dress goods has been an unusually active one this fall with S. Greenshields, Son & Co. Their fine serges and diagonals have been hot selling lines.

The s.s. Sarnia, which arrived this week, brought in another large shipment of cape cloths for Brophy, Cains & Co., also a line of English flannelettes. They are just the thing for the sorting season.

Notwithstanding the great pressure of American orders at primary markets, Thouret, Fitzgibbon & Co. have been filling all orders promptly for French goods, besides having a well-assorted stock on hand. They are in a somewhat enviable position in this respect.

S. Greenshields, Son & Co. have experienced such an active demand for the well-known white and black dress goods of Priestley's make that they have hardly been able to fill all their orders.

Brophy, Cains & Co. report a good season in ladies', gents' and children's underwear. This department is still a well-assorted one with this firm, however, in all prices and all sizes.

Wm. Agnew, senior partner of Wm. Agnew & Co., who is at present on his usual buying tour in Great Britain, writes his firm that velvets and velveteens are in large demand abroad, and that prices have advanced to a noticeable extent.

News, Vernon, B.C., Oct. 4: "Mr. J. Cameron, representing THE CANADIAN GROCER and other trade journals issued by the J. B. McLean Co., of Toronto, was through the Okanagan district last week. Mr. Cameron was in Vernon two years ago, and naturally finds a wonderful growth since that time. The papers he represents are liberally supported in this Province—and deservedly so."

Ye Ancient Ballad of Jack and Jill.

(ADAPTED TO DATE.)

Jack and Jill went up the hill
To fetch a pail of water,
Jack had great admiration for
Jill's mother's blue-eyed daughter.

"How tiresome it used to be"
Quoth lovely, laughing Jill,
"To carry those old wooden pails
For water up this hill.

That pail! with cracks twixt every stave,
We could not pause a minute,
But had to hurry all the time
To save the water in it.

So badly balanced! If you gave
A single glance at me,
A dreadful spill upon the hill
There straightway sure would be.

Until that day! that happy day,"
Here Jill gave way to laughter,
"When you fell down and broke your crown,
And I came tumbling after.

Then mother bought an Eddy's pail
Of Indurated Ware,
A perfect dream! No hoop or seam,
And balanced true with care."

"Why, yes," quoth Jack, "my darling Jill,
In June when we are mated,
We'll buy with care our household ware
Of Eddy's Indurated."

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Oct. 18, 1894.

GROCERIES.

TRADE exhibits more life than it has for some weeks, and although there is no great rush, the wholesale houses are all fairly well employed. The most unsatisfactory feature of the situation is the slowness of payments, but even in this respect it is to be noted that there is some improvement. Sugars and foreign dried fruits are the commodities which are just now attracting the most attention. The market for the former is both stronger and more active, and the interest in the latter centres in the fact that new season's fruits are coming to hand more freely. The first direct shipment of new currants ex s.s. Dracona are due here this week, and most of the houses have been getting in small shipments of new season's figs. In teas the feature is higher prices in low grade Ceylons. Nothing new has developed in canned goods. Rio coffees are as scarce as ever. Further advances are announced in certain lines of spices, nutmegs being from 2d. to 4d. dearer. Quite a little activity has developed in syrups during the week, but molasses remain much as before. In foreign green fruits the principal feature to note is the arrival of Florida oranges and lemons.

CANNED GOODS.

Nothing new has developed either in regard to prices or business. Salmon is, in fact, the only line that is at all attracting interest. Advices from the Coast during the week intimate that on account of the heavy sales of sackeye on English account that there is very little of first-class stock to be had. Dealers are looking for higher prices in high grade salmon. There is a fair demand for salmon on spot, and it would be much greater if people could buy at old prices. Wholesale houses are quoting good red fish at $1.30 to $1.35 in tall tins, with flat tins as high as $1.55; new pack cahoes are selling to arrive at $1.10. Further shipments of canned mackerel have arrived, and we still quote $1 to $1.10. Canned lobsters are in fair demand on spot at $1.70 to $2 in tall tins, and $2.25 to $2.75 in flat tins. Canned tomatoes, peas, corn and fruits are quiet. We quote: Tomatoes and corn, 85 to 90c.; peas, 80 to 85c.; peaches, $3 to $3.25 for 3's, $2 to $2.25 for 2's; raspberries, $1.65 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.90 to $2.10; apples, 3's, $1 to $1.10, gallons $2.65 to $2.80, and preserved fancy quarters at $1.35 to $1.40.

COFFEES.

Rio growths are still scarce, there being very few on this market, and wholesalers are unable to entertain all the orders coming in. We quote green, in bags: Rio, 21½ to 22½c.; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 21½ to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 32c.; Mocha, 27 to 28c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 22c.

RICE.

The season being largely over, there is not much doing. The chief attention seems to be still devoted to fancy imported kinds. We quote: "B," 3½ to 3¾c.; extra Japan, 5¼ to 5⅜c.; imported Japan, 5¾ to 6¼c.; tapioca, 4¼ to 4½c.

SPICES.

Nutmegs are 2d. to 4d. dearer in the primary markets, and further advances have been reported in cloves, pepper and pimento. There are no changes on the local market. We quote: Pure black pepper, 12 to 14c.; pure white, 20 to 28c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 25 to 27c.; cloves, 25 to 30c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, 20 to 25c. per lb.

NUTS.

There is nothing new to note beyond the fact that there have been a few new season's Valencia shelled almonds arriving this week. We quote as follows: Brazil nuts, 11 to 11½c. lb.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c. a lb.; Terragona almonds, 12½ to 14c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 13 to 14c.; Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 8 to 10c.; filberts, 9¾ to 10½c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

SUGAR.

Business has brightened up considerably during the week, there now being a fair turnover for the season. Among the orders going out are some carload lots for shipment up the lakes. The market is somewhat stronger than a week ago with some of the refiners, but there has been no hardening of prices with the wholesalers. Low grade yellows are still scarce, the refiners which had these kinds to sell last week being without them this week and vice versa. Nothing from Redpath, it is said, can be obtained at less than 3 5-16c. laid down here. We quote granulated at $4.30 to $4.40 per 100 lbs., and yellows at 3⅜c. per lb. up.

SYRUPS.

Demand has been active for this time of the year, particularly for medium grade syrups at about 34c. per gallon in barrels and 36c. per gallon in half barrels. We quote: Dark, 25c.; medium, 28 to 30c.; bright, 35 to 40c.; very bright, 45 to 50c.

MOLASSES.

Business is fairly good at unchanged prices. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 26 to 28c.; half-barrels, 30½ to 32c.; Barbadoes, barrels, 28 to 32c.; half-barrels, 30 to 34c.

MARKETS—Continued

TEAS.

There is still a great deal of tea going out. This applies particularly to Japan teas. Medium Japan teas which retail at about 25c. are getting scarce on this market. Indian and Ceylon teas are in fair demand. An advance of 1½d. was cabled from London in the latter tea on Tuesday. In the low grade Indian teas, on the other hand there are some signs of weakness. China teas are scarce and firm, and all offering at fair prices are readily taken. There is a fair demand for China black. Prices ruling are: Young Hysons, 16 to 18c. for low grade; 24 to 27c. for medium, and 33 to 38c. for high grades; China Congous, 16 to 18c.; Japans, 16 to 20c.

DRIED FRUIT.

Valencia raisins are in good demand at these prices: Offstalk, 4¾c.; fine offstalk, 5 to 5½c.; selected, 5½ to 6c.; layers, 6 to 6½c. Offstalk is selling to arrive at 4½c. Selected and layers Valencias are both as dear to arrive as those now in stock. The market continues firm. There have been somesmall shipments of newseason's Malaga raisins on the market during the week, but they have been pretty well cleaned out at $2.50 for London layers, $3 for connoisseur clusters, and $3.75 for dessert clusters. New season's Sultana raisins are in demand at 5⅜ to 8c. California loose muscatel raisins, in 50-lb. boxes, are selling at 7 to 7½c. per lb., and there is a fair quantity going forward. The first direct shipment of new season's currants is expected here every day. The steamer reached Montreal some days ago, but at the hour of writing shipments consigned to Toronto houses had not arrived. We still quote old fruit as follows: Provincials, 3½ to 4c. in brls., half brls. 3⅝ to 4⅛c.; Filiatras, 4 to 4¾c. in brls., and 4½ to 5c. in half barrels; Patras, 5 to 5½c. in barrels, 5¼ to 5¾c. in half brls. 5 to 6½c. in cases; Vostizzas, 6½ to 7½c. in cases, 6¾ to 7¾c. in half cases; new season's Campos, 4¾. in brls., and 5c. in half brls. The local market appears to be fairly well supplied with French prunes at the moment, and there are a good many of them moving at 6½ to 9½c., according to size. Turkish prunes we still quote as follows: "A," 9c; "B," 7 to 7½c.; "U," 5¼ to 5½c.; bags, 3¾c.; casks, 4½ to 5c. New figs are on the market this week. They consist of Elemes, naturals and Comadre taps, and we quote: Elemes, 7-crown, 17c.; and choice, in 10 and 28 lb. boxes, 12½ to 13c.; naturals, 7½c.; taps, 5c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The tone of the butter market is easier. Holders are offering more freely, and pressing for sales. They want to sell in round lots, but dealers are inclined to purchase selections only, there already being an accumulation of low grade butter. Holders' ideas for round lots of dairy tub are about 16c. The demand is still local in character, but choice dairy tub butter is still scarce and wanted, although there are some early makes of creamery butter as low as 19c., which is taking its place. Of dairy pound rolls there are rather more on the market than is wanted. We quote jobbing prices: Dairy—Choice tubs, 17 to 19c.; straight store, 14 to 16c.; crocks, 20c.; low grade, 11 to 13c.; pound rolls, 19 to 20c.; large rolls, 16 to 19c. Creamery—Tubs, 19 to 22c.; pound prints, 23 to 24c. Some round lots of Manitoba butter have been offering as low as 11c. laid down here, but no transactions are reported.

The cheese market is dull, although the factories do not yet seem disposed to take lower prices, the idea with them being 10 to 10½c. There is said to be a good deal of September and latter part of season's makes still unsold. Wholesale houses are quoting 10¾ to 11c. for August and September makes.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

The provision market continues active. Some carloads of mixed meats and long clear have changed hands, the latter at 8½c. The demand for hams exceeds the supply. Prices are a little lower on breakfast bacon, barrel pork and lard. There are a good many dressed hogs coming in, and the idea as to price is $6 to $6.40.

BACON—Long clear, 8½c. for carload lots and 8¾ to 9c. for small lots; breakfast bacon, 12 to 12½c.; rolls, 9 to 9¼c.

HAMS—Large, 22 lbs. and over, 11c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 12½c.; small hams, 13c.; pickled, 11 to 11½c.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 9c.; tubs, 9¾c.; pails, 10c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess $18; Canadian short-cut, $19 to $20; shoulder mess, $14.50 to $15; clear mess, $15 to $15.50.

GREEN FRUIT.

Oranges remain quiet. There are not many coming forward. A few Florida oranges are arriving this week, and they are selling at $3.25 to $3.75. There are a few Jamaicas still to be had. Until the season for small fruits is over no material improvement can naturally be expected. There is a fair trade to report in lemons, and the feature of the market in this line is the receipts of Florida lemons, which are now beginning to come in freely. Bananas are slow. Wholesalers find little sale for apples on account of the free deliveries by farmers. Cranberries are scarce, but the demand is of course yet light. In grapes, both the supply and demand keep good. There is scarcely anything doing in pears. We quote: Lemons, Messinas, $.25 to $3.50; Palmeros, $3 to $3.50; Sorrentos, $4 to $4.50; Floridas, $4 to $4.50. Oranges, Floridas, $3.25 to $3.75 per box; Jamaicas, $1.50 per basket, $8 per barrel. Bananas, $1.20 to $1.40. Cucumbers, 20 to 25c. per basket. Tomatoes, 25c. per basket. Apples, $1.75 to $2.25 per brl. for well-packed stock. Grapes, Concords, 2 to 2½c. per lb.; Niagaras, 2½ to 3c.; Rogers, 3 to 4c. per lb. Sweet potatoes, Jerseys, $3.50 per brl. Crab apples, 25 to 40c. per basket. Quinces, 40 to 50c. per basket. Cranberries, 80 to 90c. per basket.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—There is the usual quiet trade doing at $1.35 to $1.40 for hand-picked.

DRIED APPLES—Demand is slack at 5½c.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Offerings are liberal, but buyers are not anxious to make purchases. The factories are asking 7 to 7¼c., but the idea of buyers is about 6½c., which would bring prices down to the export basis.

EGGS—There is a fair demand and receipts are light, while the quality of the eggs now coming in is fairly good. We quote 15c.

POTATOES—Market keeps quiet at 45 to 50c. on track and 55c. out of store.

ONIONS—Market is quiet. Spanish are quoted at 90c. to $1, per crate, and Valencias are quoted at $2.75 to $3.25 per case.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

White fish is still scarce, and large salmon trout continues to come in freely with demand good. Oysters are moving freely and prices are low. We quote: Salmon trout, 6 to 6½c.; skinned and boned codfish, 6½c.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c.; "quail on toast," cod, 5 to 5½c.; Labrador herring, $2 50 per half keg and $5.75 per barrel; ditto, split, $3; blueback herring, 4c.; blue pickerel, 4 to 5c. lb.; yel. ditto, 6 to 7c. per lb; white fish, 7c.; pike, 5c. lb.; haddock and cod, 5½c. per lb.; steak cod, 5 to 6c.; finnan haddies, 7½ to 8c.; Digby herring, in bundles of 5 boxes, 15c.; ditto, lengthwise, 14c.; large halibut, 10c.; ciscoes, $1 35. Oysters, $1.25 to $1.30 per gallon.

SEEDS.

The Alsike market is still dull with prices 20c. per bushel lower. Timothy is practically unchanged, although the feeling is easy and samples are closely scrutinized, while not any but choicest samples bring the outside figure quoted. Red clover, in the continued absence of offerings, is purely nominal. We quote, f.o.b. points of shipment: Alsike, $3.30 to $5.20; timothy, $1.50 to $2.25; red clover, nominally $5 per bushel.

SALT.

Trade continues good, and prices are higher in barrel and in fine rock salts. We quote: Barrels, 95c.; coarse sacks, 58c.; fine sacks, 62c.; dairy, $1.50; rock, $10.

HIDES, SKINS, WOOL AND TALLOW.

HIDES—Market quiet. Dealers are paying 3½c. for green and selling cured at 4¼ to 4½c.

SKINS—All offerings are taken readily at 50c.

WOOL—There is scarcely any demand from the mills, and the market generally is

There is a good trade doing at unchanged prices. We quote, in 5 to 10 brl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 12 to 12½c.; carbon safety, 15c.; Canadian water white, 16 to 17c.; American water white, 17½c; photogene, 20c.

The Petrolia Advertiser in its weekly report says: "Petrolia crude: $1.05 per barrel. Oil Springs crude: $1.06 per barrel. Refined, 6¾c. in bulk; 9½c. in barrels. In carload lots f.o.b. here. There are so many ways of quoting crude prices these times that it is difficult to convey an idea of the prices in a general way. The Exchange, which should be the only authentic source, is but a branch so to speak. We are informed that oil has been sold as high as $1.08 on the street. $1.05½ was freely offered on 'Change yesterday, but there were no sellers. In quoting Petrolia crude at $1.05 and Oil Springs at $1.06 we may say that these are the minimum of Exchange values, and very firm at that. The horizon is getting brighter every day, and producers will do well to hang on to their crude as long as they can. The stocks on hand are not a month's consumption."

The Windsor Patent Brush Co. have added new lines and improved on old lines formerly manufactured. They can now fit out general stores complete in this department.

W. H. Gillard & Co., of Hamilton, state that their stock of canned fruits and vegetables is very complete and that they are in a position to offer to the trade upon most favorable terms.

F. A. Gonne, of Chatham, writes that grocers generally do not appreciate the benefit that results from an exhibit of a good article at the local fairs. "I exhibited," he says, "Salada tea at our fair, made tea and gave it away, in hundreds of cups, and have quadrupled my trade for this tea."

A new article in the form of liquid mustard is to be placed on the market shortly by Keen, Robinson & Co., the London manufacturers. The goods are of the high standard peculiar to all Messrs. Keen's preparations.

The direct steamer Dracona, which is now unloading in Montreal, has a large assortment of currants and raisins on board for Lucas, Steele & Bristol. Delivery will be made of same at once.

Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, report a much improved demand during the past few weeks for Robinson's patent barley and Robinson's patent groats. A large sample tin will be forwarded free to any reader of THE GROCER writing for same.

There is much rivalry this week between the wholesale grocers as to who would be the first to get new season's figs in store. As Smith & Keighley were the first to get a box into the CANADIAN GROCER obviously the palm belongs to them.

"All along the line and up in the Cross woods the B.F.P. cough drops made by the Toronto Biscuit & Confectionery Co., are to be found in well-regulated grocery stores," say the makers. "They pay a big profit and are reliable to everybody concerned."

The publishers of the Maritime Grocer are to be congratulated upon the general excellence of their Exhibition Number. Points of interest in and around Halifax are profusely and nicely illustrated, while the articles are timely, interesting, instructive and well written.

T. H. Estabrooks, St. John, N.B, is importing cocoanuts direct. He is thus able to supply the trade at $5 per 1,000 less than the majority of dealers, who have to pay the extra duty. This difference is in itself a fair profit. He sells wholesale and retail trade.

A new company is being formed to carry on the business of the British America Starch Co., Brantford. Mr. George Foster, Mr. Cockshutt and Dr. Lowry are the principal shareholders. The last-named takes the place of the former manager, W. Ellis, who retires.

MONTREAL MARKETS.

MONTREAL, October 18, 1894.

GROCERIES.

THERE has been a fair volume of trade in general groceries during the past week, and business on the whole has been of a satisfactory character. With the exception of sugar which is rather duller and inclined to easiness, values generally are steady. Molasses has been placed in a large way during the week and prices are steady, while light stocks both of domestic and American syrups maintain value, the latter being ½c. higher than last week. Holders of tea are not urgent sellers, and will not operate ahead at all as values have an upward tendency notably on low and medium grade Japans. In dried fruit the arrival of the first direct steamer has not affected values which are maintained, while in canned goods salmon show a higher tendency and have sold at an advanced basis of value during the week. In fish a fair trade is doing, the market being well cleaned up of most lines except green cod, which is in large receipts and hard to sell. Prices on it as a result are disposed to sag off.

SUGAR.

There has been no change in the sugar market since our report of a week ago, but business rules on the quiet side in this staple, and the movement is not anything like what it was last month. Granulated sugar has ruled steady at 4 3-16c. at the refineries, while yellows maintain their value at 3⅜ to 3⅞c. as to grade at the factory. The movement from second hands is small, in fact very few lots of sugar appear to be wanted at present in the country, where dealers seem to have stocked up pretty well. Raw sugar in New York continues much the same, but the interpretation put upon the American tariff regarding beet sugar is expected to lead to an increased demand for cane stock.

SYRUPS.

There is a fair trade doing in domestic syrups, which rule steady on the whole. Stocks continue in small compass both in refiners' and jobbers' hands, and the fact imparts steadiness to values. Prices remain at 1½ to 1⅝c. for dark grades and 2 to 2⅛c. for bright grades at the refineries. As pointed out before, stocks of American syrup are practically nil here, and they have been diminished still further during the week. None can now be obtained under 17½c., and we quote a range of 17½ to 22½c., according to quantity, which is an advance of ½c. on prices of a week ago.

MOLASSES.

Rather more enquiry has been noted for molasses during the week, but the fact has not led to much change in the market. For 100 puncheon lots 27½ net cash has been obtained, while we quote car lots as before 29c., and single puncheons 30c.

TEA.

There is no change in the firm sentiment that has actuated the tea market all along, and it continues firm and fairly active, with seller, not very anxious about pushing business. No change is noted in values, but it is worthy of remark that orders for any long time ahead are refused, as there is a feeling that values will advance still higher shortly. Low grade Japans meet the most active demand, and considerable difficulty is being experienced in filling orders for them. Sales of Japans have aggregated 3,500 odd packages during the past few days at values ranging from 13 to 19c. according to grade. Black Congous have been turned over at 12 to 14c. We quote Japans as before: Low grades, 12 to 13c.; medium, 14 to 17c.; fine 18 to 23c., and choice, 24 to 31c.

COFFEES.

The coffee market continues firm in tone, and values are fully maintained under a fair demand. We quote: Maracaibo, 20½ to 22c.; Rio, 20 to 21c.; Java, 25 to 30c., and Mocha, 28 to 31c.

SPICES.

There is a fair demand for spices for the season of the year, and values are well maintained. We quote mill prices as follows: Penang black pepper, 6 to 7½c.; white pepper, 10 to 12½c.; cloves, 7½ to 9c.; cassia, 9 to 10c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.; Jamaica ginger, 15 to 22c.

RICE.

There is nothing new in the rice market. The Eastean war as we have already noted will be apt to restrict the supply of Japan rice, and its feeling is very firm. We quote: Japan, standard, $4.25 to $4.40; crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B, $3.45; English style, $3.30; Patna, $4.25 to $5, and Caroline at $6.50 to $7.50.

DRIED FRUITS.

In dried fruit the chief feature of the week has, of course, been the arrival on Monday of the s. s. Dracona with the first direct cargo of dried fruit—which comprises 66,000 boxes of raisins. Practically all of this or the greater part of it has been sold to arrive, so that the position so far as supplies in first hands are concerned is not much changed, and the market continues bare of fruit. At present writing values continue as firm as ever, so that buyers who have held off expecting to get better terms after her arrival have not made much by it. A fair volume of trade is doing, and quotations are m in-

FLOUR AND FEED

IF you are not already handling flour, you are doubtless thinking about doing so. You are receiving many inquiries from your customers who are starting to do their own baking, now that a fire is needed for heating purposes. If you have not handled flour before you are no doubt speculating as to which are the best grades to carry. You have been offered flour at all kinds of prices, and of different grades, but have not decided exactly what you will need. If you are running a good class of trade you will need in the first place a good staple family flour, that will be serviceable for either bread or pastry. It is best to carry a well-known brand, of medium price. You will also have a demand for a finer class of flour, and it will pay you to have some high grade patent in stock. Another flour that you will find good sale for is a choice pastry, which should be a flour of good color while not possessing the strength of bread flour. There will also be a demand for cheaper fall flours from a certain class of your customers, but, as flour is a commodity about which the housewife is generally particular, it will not be found profitable to push cheap brands. There is always a lot of cheap flour on the market, and in many cases its only recommendation is the price at which it is sold.

If you are not a judge of flour, it will be advisable for you to stick to the sale of brands which are well-known and reliable. Do not let your customers go elsewhere to buy their flour, for they will doubtless take a lot of their other trade with them. Keep your flour where it will be seen, let them know the price you are selling it at. Keep it in a dry place, and away from anything that is liable to taint it. Arrange the ¼ and ⅛ barrel paper bags tastefully where they will be seen to advantage, and do not keep it all in the store room, so that your customers will have to inquire of you before they know that you keep it.

Retailers report a better demand all round, and have hopes of trade improving considerably now that the cooler weather has set in.

FLOURETTES.

Grocers report a much better demand for flour this week.

Palmer & Sons' display of flour in their window has attracted much attention, and they report their sales to be considerable enhanced thereby.

One of the finest flour displays that has been seen in Toronto was that which, until a few days ago, was to be seen in the window of C. Webb, Queen street west.

T. W. Dutton, Parkdale, is displaying a very tastefully-arranged flour window.

THE MARKETS.

TORONTO.

FLOUR—A fair trade is reported. Prices are unchanged. We quote: Manitoba wheat patents, $3.45 to $3.55; strong bakers', $3.20 to $3.25; Ontario, $3 to $3.15; straight roller, $2.80 to $2.90.

BRAN—City mills report a good demand, and are selling at from $13 to $13.50 per ton.

SHORTS — Trade continues fair. No change in price is reported. City mills are offering at $16 per ton.

WHEAT — Little or no change in the market. A fair amount changed hands through the week at 53c. for white, and 51c. for red.

BARLEY—There is a considerable increase in the amount offered this week. Some good sales are reported at from 44c. to 49c. per bushel.

OATS—Trade is quiet. Prices quoted on the street are from 31c. to 32c. per bushel.

MONTREAL.

There is an active demand for Manitoba patents and strong bakers' flour to-day, especially from abroad, and some very large sales were effected. There is also an active local business doing, and millers state that the turnover is one of the largest for the past three months. Winter wheat, $3.25 to $3.40; spring wheat, patents, $3.25 to $3.40; Manitoba patents, best brands, $3.35 to $3.40; straight roller, $2.80 to $2.90; extra, $2.55 to $2.60; superfine, $2.40 to $2.50; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.20 to $3.30; Manitoba strong bakers', best brands, $3.25 to $3.30. The demand for feed continues good, and an active business was transacted at firm prices. Bran, $16 to $16.50; shorts, $18; Mouillie, $22 to $24. A fair volume of trade was accomplished in oatmeal at steady prices. Standard, brls., $4; granulated, brls., $4.05 to $4.10; rolled oats, brls., $4.05 to $4.10; pot barley, per brl., $3.75; split peas, per brl., $3.50 to $3.60.

ST. JOHN, N.B.

There seems to be no bottom to the flour market. Values are lower to-day than ever before, with millers anxious to make sales. Feed flour is in demand, selling faster than millers care to ship. Oatmeal is easier, with lower prices. Cornmeal is also lower with light demand; some American meal is coming into the market. Beans have disappointed buyers, there being a number of cars sold to arrive at least 10c. above price ruling now. We quote: Manitoba flour, $4.20; best Ontario, $3.40; medium, $3.25; low grade, $2.00 to $2.75; oatmeal, $4.20 to $4.25; cornmeal, $3 05 to $3.10; granulated, $3.75; middlings on track, $21.50 to $22; bran, $18 to $19; cotton seed meal, 30c.; oats, local, 35 to 37c.; P.E.I., 41 to 42c.; Ont., 38 to 40c. on track; beans, hand-picked, $1.50 to $1.60; prime, $1.35 to $1.45; split peas, $3 65 to $3 85; pot barley, $3.85 to $4; round peas, $3 65 to $3.75; hay, on track, $10 to $10 50; American timothy seed, $3.10 to $3.25; red clover, 11½ to 12c.; alsike clover, 13½ to 15c.

THE ONTARIO GRAPE GROWING AND WINE MFG. CO.

tained as follows: Ordinary off-stalk, 4½ to 4¾c.; fine off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; layers, 6 to 6¼c. Only a few moderate-sized lots of California raisins have been brought forward to the market. They are costing laid down here, duty paid, 6 to 6¾c., according to quality, so it is difficult to see how they can compete seriously with the Mediterranean fruit. Jobbers are having some call for them, however, and have been moving some small lots at 6½ to 7½c., according to grade.

The currant market continues steady, and the arrival of the Dracona's lot has not had any effect on spot values. The quantity ex that vessel comprised 5,700 odd packages, most of which were already placed to arrive. We quote values as before, 3¼c. in barrels; 3½c. in half-barrels, and 3¾ to 4½c. in cases according to quality.

CANNED GOODS.

There has not been any great activity to note in canned goods since our last report, the chief feature being the more marked firmness of salmon, and we note the sale of 150 case lot at $4.65, while other good sized transactions in red fish have been on the basis of $1.35 to $1.40, which is an advance of 10 to 15c., and we quote the range that much higher. In vegetables there has been nothing special to note, in fact the movement generally from jobbers' hands is not specially brisk. We quote: Lobsters, $6 to $8 per case; sardines, $8.50 to $9.50; salmon, $1.35 to $1.40 per doz; tomatoes, 95c. per doz.; peaches, $2 to $2.10 per doz.; corn, 95c. to $1 per doz., and marrowfat peas, 85 to 90c. per doz.

FISH.

The fish market has ruled rather more active, and jobbers are receiving more orders from the country. Aside from the weakness in green cod, the general feeling is steady. Bloaters have been selling in boxes of 90 to 100 per box at $1 to $1.25. The continued sale off the Atlantic Coast have caused fresh haddock and fresh cod to be scarce. A carload of new smoked herring received on Monday is selling at 13 to 14c. Some sales of Gaspe herring are also noted at $3. On the whole, the market is amply supplied with fish.

GREEN FRUIT.

APPLES—The easy feeling in apples is accentuated if anything under free receipts and continued unfavorable advices both from England and the United States. Fall apples are dull and dragging at $1 to $1.75. Winter fruit, No. 1 Snows, have brought $2 to $2.50 in car lots, and No. 2 ditto, $1 to $1.25.

ORANGES—There are little or no oranges on the market and quotations. The first carload of Florida oranges is expected during the course of the week.

LEMONS—Lemons are very scarce, and the only stock offering which is fine to fancy is held firmly at $4 to $5 per box.

PEACHES — California peaches are in moderate supply and easy at 80c. to $1 per box, and Canadian 40 to 50c. from first hands.

PEARS—California pears are easy at $2 to $2.50 from first hands.

GRAPES—Grapes are in large supply and easy blue grapes selling at 2 to 2½c., and Almira are steady at $5 per keg.

CRANBERRIES — Cranberries are scarce and firm at $10 to $10.50 per brl.

SPANISH ONIONS—There is a ready sale for Spanish onions, which are scarce at 75 to 85c. per crate.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There is no change in the egg market, there being a fair demand at steady prices. We quote ordinary stock 13 to 13½c. in round lots, and 13½ to 14c. in single cases; fancy boiling, 15 to 17c. per dozen.

BEANS—Beans are in slow demand at present, and business is small at $1.20 to $1.40 per bushel of 60 lbs.

GAME—Offerings of partridges continue small, owing to the mild wet weather. Prices are maintained at 50c. for No. 1 and 30c. for No. 2 per brace.

ONIONS—These are moving well at $1.50 to $2 for choice and $1.25 for common stock.

HONEY—Sales of extracted are made at 7 to 7½c., and choice bright single tins fetch 8c. New comb stock is held at 11 to 14c., as to quality, the outside for white clover.

PROVISIONS.

In this branch of the trade there is no important change. The market is firm, and values are well maintained, with a fair amount of business doing. Canadian short cut, heavy, $21 to $22; Canadian short cut, light, $19 to $20; hams, city cured, per lb., 10 to 13c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 9½ to 10c.; bacon, per lb., 10 to 12c.; lard, com. refined, per lb., 7¼ to 7½c.

BUTTER.

The butter market remains quiet and the tone is easy, though no great quotable change is to note. Still it is quite possible that a factory here and there could be picked up for less money than at this time last week. Any spot business doing is on local account, for exporters are getting little or no encouragement. Finest fall-made creamery, 20¼ to 20½c.; earlier makes, 18 to 19c.; finest Townships, 16 to 17c.; finest Western dairy, 15½ to 17c.

CHEESE.

As noted in previous reports new business in cheese is narrow and with the exception of Eastern goods quotations are purely nominal. The reason is simple, anything else has cost fully ½c. more laid down than buyers are prepared to give, and it looks as though we were going to have a dull, dragging market, with trading restricted solely to goods which can be picked up at a concession, for holders of others are hardly in a disposition to take their loss and be satisfied just now. At the wharf Monday 2,000 boxes of cheese were offered, and they were taken at 10c. We quote: Finest Ontario, fall made, 10⅝c. to 10¾c.; finest Townships, 10⅜c.; finest Eastern, 10⅛c. to 10¼c.; cable, 49s.

ASHES.

The market for ashes is quiet but firm. We quote: Firsts, $4.25 to $4.30; seconds, $3.85 to $3.90; pearls $8 per 100 lbs.

MONTREAL TRADE NOTES.

The lamentable death of Mr. Elmenhorst, of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refinery, was the cause of general expressions of regret in the trade.

Stewart Munn & Co. received during the week some large shipments of choice Labrador herring. They show excellent quality.

The receipts of Almeria grapes continue very light so far this fall. Hart & Tuckwell are sellers of a fair line.

L. Chaput, Sons & Co. are experiencing a good demand for their fine stock of Barbadoes molasses.

Stewart Munn & Co. report a good enquiry for their fish specialties. There boneless cod is moving very freely.

Laporte, Martin & Co. were large importers both of raisins and currants by the first direct steamer. They have full supplies of new dried fruit, having been receiving consignments for weeks past.

Caverhill, Hughes & Co. were the recipients of some choice consignments of raisins ex the Dracona. They are all well-known brands.

J. Alex Gordon & Co., among other lines of Pacific Coast specialties, handle some fine lines of California raisins, which they offer to the jobbing trade only.

The first large consignment of Spanish onions, some 5,000 crates, was received on Monday last ex Dracona. Quite a lot of them were placed to arrive at 65c.

The market is rather glutted with green cod this week, receipts between Monday and Wednesday amounting alone to six carloads.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 18, 1894.

THERE is little that is new to report this week. Business is quiet. Beans have rather surprised people, being offered as low as $1.35 delivered at St. John. Among dealers with whom your correspondent has talked there is a great difference of opinion as to the future prospects, one stating he thought beans would be a good investment, while another, and equally large handler, was doubtful, and thought chances where rather against an advance, but the larger number of the dealers agree with the first opinion. The feeling here in tea is not over firm in spite of war and short crop reports. Stocks here are large and holders in the main are anxious to turn goods over, and as yet everything is in buyer's favor. Dealers have been much disappointed over delay in arrival of Valencia raisins. It looks as if goods bought for early shipment would be as late or later than those bought for September shipment. Some reports not favorable to Denia shippers are being expressed. In fact the shippers have everything their own way. Values along almost all lines are easier.

SALT—Stocks are light and hardly equal to the demand, keeping price firm. There is, however, some on the way. The price of late years has been cut so fine that dealers do not care to carry large stocks. Coarse, 52 to 55c.; factory filled, $1 to $1.10; Canadian, fine (in small bags in brls.), 5-lb. bags, $3.25 per brl.; 10-lb. bags, $3.10; American, wood boxes, 20 lb., 20c.; 10-lb., 12c.

CANNED GOODS—The pack in Nova Scotia of canned apples is going to be large. It is expected, however, that the price will be kept up through a demand from the English market. Corn, peas and tomatoes are firm. Buyers are very backward, and no such sales are reported as last year. One of the largest holders of canned goods here, in conversation with THE GROCER, said that out of twelve cars of Canadian canned goods which they had last year, he did not believe they made a cent; and as in most cases large stocks are carried all winter, this is unsatisfactory. This accounts for small orders given this fall. Salmon are very firm. Corn, 95c.; peas, 95c.; tomatoes, $1; salmon, talls, $1.30 to $1.35; flats, $1.60 to $1.65; lobsters, $1.75 to $2; finnan haddies, $1.40; corned beef, 1's, $1.75; 2's, $2.75.

DRIED FRUITS AND NUTS—Valencia raisins are not yet to hand. Much disappointment is expressed by those who bought for early shipment. One car of California dried fruit was sold here during the past week. Car was made up among two or three buyers. It was principally raisins and loose muscatels. The balance were apricots and peaches. The raisins will cost much higher than the old coming here during this fall. Valencias, to arrive, are being quoted lower. Sultana raisins, 7 to 7½c.; London layers, $2 to $2.10; loose muscatels, 6½ to 6¾c.; prunes, 5½ to 6c.; California, 11 to 12c.; currants, 3½ to 4c. for brls., cases, 4 to 5c.; evaporated apples, 10 to 10½c.; dates, 5 to 6c.; figs, 10 to 12c.; onions, $2.50. In nuts there is no change in quotations, though Virginia peanuts are offered lower, while Brazils are higher.

GREEN FRUIT—The market continues overstocked with apples, and prices rule very low. Malaga grapes and quinces are quoted. Canadian grapes continue low. Canadian tomatoes are being offered here in baskets, the frost being later there, and their tomatoes appearing to keep better than ours, making it possible to sell them here at this time of year. Peaches, $1.25 to $1.50; lemons, Messina, $5 to $5 50; bananas, $1.50 to $2; Canadian grapes, 45 to 60c. per basket; sweet potatoes, $4 to $4.50; Jamaica oranges, $6.50 per brl., $4 per box; quinces, $6 to $6.50 per brl.; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $6 per keg.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Eggs show no improvement. Guaranteed fresh stock will find fair demand. Butter is a little off, and from now till the river closes will be easy, but then the prospects are that it wil be firm and advance. Demand good. Cheese quiet at unchanged prices. Factories are offering July, 9¾c.; August and September, 10¼ to 10½c. Eggs, 11 to 12c.; cheese, 10½ to 11c.; dairy butter, 18 to 20c.; creamery, 22 to 25c.

MOLASSES—Stocks are not large. Demand is firm, and firmer prices are looked for. Mr. Fanning, of New York, who sold a large quantity of molasses here last fall, was in the city a few days ago. He expects to again be in the market this year. We quote: Barbadoes, 27 to 28c.; Porto Rico, fancy, 42 to 43c.; choice, 34 to 35c.; Antigua, 27 to 28c.; St. Croix, 27 to 28c. Syrup, 34 to 35c.

SUGAR—One of our large wholesalers talking to your correspondent said this had been a good fall for them in sugar, and that they still had granulated bought ahead for two months at low figures. Some months ago, when at its lowest, they had bought some four thousand barrels. Yellows, not being able to buy so far ahead, they were now out of. Prices are rather easier. Sugars can be bought out of stock at about refinery prices. Dealers are not all as fortunate as one spoken of above. Granulated, $4.25 to $4 35; yellows, 3½ to 3¾c.

FISH—Medium cod firm. No mackerel in barrels are to be had, people here not being willing to pay price. We quote: Large cod fish, $3.85 to $3.90; medium, $3 75; small, $3; haddock, $1.75; pollock, $1.75 to $1.85; shad, $5 to $5.50; bay herring, $1.40 to $1.50; kippling, $1.75; wolves, $2 to $2.25; Shelborn, No. 1 large, $4 25, half brls., $2.25 to $2 40; canso, $5.25, half brls., $2.50; smoked herring, 9 to 10c.; lengthwise, 8 to 9c.

PROVISIONS—Markets continue firm with light demand. A better business is, however, looked for. Clear pork, $21 to $21.50; P.E.I mess, $17.50 to $18; P.E.I. prime mess, $13.50 to $14.50; plate beef, $13.50 to $14; extra plate beef, $13 75 to $14.25; pure lard, 10 to 11c.; compound lard, 8½ to 9½c.; cottolene, 10¾ to 11¼c.

ST. JOHN MARKET NOTES.

John Seely is offering special value in dulse.

Beardsley-Shudded codfish, in small packages, can be had from C. & C. Macmichael.

The Messrs. Northrup report a better demand this year than ever for their "Golden" brand of canned finnan haddies.

J. Hunter White, agent for Buttermilk Toilet Soap, reports increased sales, and he says parties once buying never again allow their stock to run out, it being a ready seller at a good profit.

F. W. Dumoch, general sales manager for Geo. E. Tuckett & Sons, tobacco manufacturers, is in the city on his way home from the Halifax Exhibition, where they received a special prize of a silver medal and a diploma.

WOODSTOCK, N.B., MARKETS.

WOODSTOCK, N.B., Oct. 18, 1894.

A fair fall business is being done. This is the centre for New Brunswick produce. Hay is moving in better shape than before, some large lots for shipping having been bought at $6 per ton. The quantity of oats yet moving is limited; 26c. is the price paid. We quote: Potatoes, 70 to 80c.; beans, $1.50 to $1.75, Cabbage, 4 to 6c.; butter, 17 to 18c. Prospects are for higher prices. Eggs, fresh, find ready sale, 12 to 14c.; turnips, 50c. per brl.; carrots, 60c.; beets, 75c. to $1; tomatoes are out of the market; squash, 1c. per lb.; pumpkins, 5 to 7c.; buckwheat, which is said to be short on account of frost, $1.10 to $1 20 per cwt.; onions, $1.25 per bushel; honey in comb, 10 to 12c.; New Brunswick apples are out of the market. Some fine lots of Fameuse are offered at $1.50 to $1.75; Alexanders, $1.25 to $1.50.

PERSONAL MENTION.

J. H. Wethey, of St. Catharines, was in Toronto this week looking up business.

T. J. Foster, of T. J. Foster & Co., Richards' Landing, Ont., was in Toronto this week.

Fred W. Ward, of J. P. Mott & Co., Halifax, is making his fall trip through Western Ontario. He was in Toronto a few days ago.

Walter H., Howard, and A. E. Clemes, who have been laid up with typhoid fever, are convalescing nicely. The last-named is already able to put in an occasional appearance at the warehouse, and Walter H. and Howard are able to get downstairs again.

Morris Taylor, of John Taylor & Co., Toronto, is visiting the principal points in the Maritime Provinces. He is as popular and has as many friends among the trade in this part of Canada as have his soaps and perfumes, and that is saying a good deal.

TRAVELERS VS. GROCERS.

FIVE hundred people turned out Tuesday last at Woodbine Park to see the bicycle races between the city grocery travelers and the retail grocers. The Committee of Management was composed of Messrs. Morley, Lumbers, Moore, Burns, McCleary and Mulqueen. Messrs. William Wilson and James Lumbers were the judges at the finish, and Mr. Doane was the starter. The time was looked after by Messrs. George Briggs and E. C. Hill. The races were all well contested, especially the city travelers, where the favorite, "Shorty" Thompson, made a grand stand finish with Pearson, and was only beaten by half a wheel. In the race for grocers only, P. J. Mulqueen did not win, but he finished in the first division. This race was won by Panter, Stephenson second, and Morris third. The two-mile race for clerks only was won by Bounsall, Manning second, and Rogers third. After passing the half-mile post on the first round Manning started out to make the pace, and had a lead of 100 yards from that point till he turned into the stretch for the finish, when Bounsall came very fast, and won by about five yards, Manning second, and Rogers third. The team race brought the afternoon's sport to a close, and was won a ter a hard struggle by the travelers, with a majority of 5 points. Summaries :

First race—For grocers and travelers, 1 mile—Lumbers, 1 ; Pearson, 2 ; Burns, 3. Time, 3 08½. Fifteen started in this race.

Second race—Grocers only, ½ mile—Panter, 1 ; Stephenson, 2 ; Morris, 3 Time, 1.38½. Ten starters.

Third race—City travelers, ½ mile—Pearson, 1 ; Thompson, 2 ; Knox, 3. Time, 1.34¼. Ten starters.

Fourth race—Clerks only, 2 miles—Bounsall, 1 ; Manning, 2 ; Rogers, 3. Time, 6.06. Fifteen starting.

Fifth race—Team race, 5 miles, between travelers and grocers, first five to count—Grocers—Panter, 1 ; Stephenson, 3 ; Morris, 7 ; McCleary, 9 ; Mulqueen, 10. Travelers—Pearson, 2 ; Knox, 4 ; Thompson, 5 ; Andros, 6 ; Moore, 8. Time, 16.04. Twenty-eight starters.

TREAT THEM POLITELY.

The philosopher of the Trade Register reminds his friends that they must not forget that it is the poorest kind of policy to discourteously treat the traveling salesman. Deal with him as promptly and pleasantly as if he were your best customer. Don't talk over prices and business with him in the presence of your patrons, but take him to your private office and do business with him promptly, even if you do not buy an order. Travelers will appreciate such conconduct, and even those who so treat them may depend upon getting all the favors that can be given, and they are not few, as dealers know. The traveler saves the dealer time and traveling expenses, and should be treated as a friend.

"What's aiges a fetchin' on neow?" inquired an old farmer as he trudged into a villlage grocery store, carrying a basket of eggs.

"Fifteen cents a dozen," replied the clerk.

"They're paying sixteen up to Simpsonses."

"That's the place to sell them then."

"But he says he's got all he kin handle neow. What's meal a sellin' for to-day?"

"A dollar five," was the reply.

"Simpson is sellin' fur a dollar."

"You had better get you a bag there."

WHOLESALERS' GRIEVANCES.

AT the sixth annual meeting of the Wholesale Grocers' Association of New York, held the other day, President Smith delivered an address, whose substance is probably as applicable to the wholesale trade of Canada as to that of the United States.

In part he said: "The fierce competition in trade, which has been rapidly increasing for many years, has resulted in reducing the profit on standard goods to a non-paying basis, and the greatly-increased use of package goods of uniform quantity, quality and price has widened the sphere of the cutter's work, until he has it now in his power to utterly ruin the jobbing trade and drive it from the field of action. If a cut is made in Valencia raisins, the next turn in the market or a change in grade will enable the jobber to restore the margin of profit, but if a cut is made in baking powder or chocolate it must be continued until the manufacturer comes to our aid, by the adoption of a limited price system in some of its various forms.

"The great question for the manufacturer, the jobber and the retailer to solve is to find a fair basis of co-operation for the distribution of goods that will pay each dealer a fair and reasonable margin of profit. If the manufacturer can deal directly with the consumer then the occupation of the jobber and the retailer is gone, and the capital and men engaged in both classes of trade must find occupation in the manufacturing business. If the manufacturer can distribute entirely through the retailer, then the jobber must abandon his business and become either a manufacturer or a retailer, and of course, if he becomes a retailer it must be on a very large scale, with a central depot and many branches, which would still further demoralize the retail grocery business.

"I contend that it is impossible for the manufacturer to deal directly with the consumer, as it would require a distributing plant many times greater than his manufacturing plant. I believe that for large manufacturers it is equally impossible for them to distribute directly through the retail trade, as in order to reach a million consumers he must have accounts and make frequent calls upon not less than 4,000 grocers, while a million consumers and 4,000 retailers can be reached through about forty jobbers. Hence, I believe that any system that would reduce the jobbers' profits to a non-paying basis, and eventually result in driving him from the trade, would be not only disastrous to manufacturer and retailer, but also opposed to a wise public policy, and to the direct interests of all the people, whose daily needs are and must be supplied through these agencies.

"For many years I have been diligently seeking for a basis upon which these equities could be adjusted. I have read much in relation to the matter in the trade papers, I have discussed the question with manufacturers, jobbers and retailers, and have never heard but one plan spoken of, or even hinted at, and that is the plan known as the limited price and rebate or gratuity system. I have heard some manufacturers and jobbers oppose the plan, who have since become its supporters, and are among its warmest friends.

"Until someone either discovers or invents a better system, we have either got to adopt this one or else continue to handle all goods of this class at a loss; and as more than one-half of our business is done in these goods, it follows that the whole business must become unprofitable, and that it would soon become a question of the survival of the strongest, while the weakest would have to go to the wall.

"Most manufacturers whose goods we handle have conceded the justice of our claim, and have adopted this system. There are others whose goods we have handled for many years at a loss of a vast sum of money in the aggregate, who have as yet refused to consider the justice of our demands.

"It seems to me that the remedy is not only simple but just and equitable, as it cannot possibly be claimed that we are under any obligations to handle goods that have to be sold at cost, or nearly so, and it is our privilege to cease to carry in stock goods the handling of which involves a loss; and I trust that the time will soon come when this destructive policy will be abandoned, and we shall say to all manufacturers, who will not accede to our just and reasonable demands, that our plant is no longer at their service."

Commissioner Larke has received a communication from Hiram Walker & Sons, in which they state that their agent in Buenos Ayres says there is a demand in the Argentine confederation for oatmeal and pearl barley, and suggesting that trial shipments be made. Four thousand pounds of milk are required daily for the Kingston Dairy School, and it is very doubtful whether that amount can be obtained in the immediate vicinity of the city. If enough milk cannot be obtained by the ordinary method of delivery in Kingston the remainder of the milk needed will be brought in by rail from the northern part of Frontenac County.

On account of the recent robberies the Pacific Express Co. has a notice posted in the offices throughout the territory to the effect that it will not receive any money or valuables for transportation, nor issue any money orders until further notice. There is a report that all Pacific express offices in the territory are to be discontinued. This is a sad commentary on the boasted civilization obtaining in the United States.

Bees are being trained as letter carriers by an English farmer. A bee is taken away from home, a letter printed by microphotography is gummed to his little back, and he is thrown into the air. Home he goes, like a carrier pigeon; and the chief advantage he enjoys over his big brother is that he cannot be seen in the time of war, or, if seen, could not very well be shot.

THE INSPECTION OF TEAS.

N.Y. Journal of Commerce: About a month ago there was considerable complaint from the tea merchants in this city that the inspection of Pingsuey teas was more rigid than the law on the matter required. Of late, however, this feeling has changed, and it is now said that the rulings of Mr. McGay, the tea inspector at the appraiser's stores, are just and in harmony with the spirit and the letter of the law, as that law is understood by the tea trade.

A prominent tea merchant said to the writer yesterday: "The recent rulings of Mr. McGay have met the entire approval of the trade. The same high standard of teas that has always been maintained at New York has not been lowered in the slightest, but the merchants feel that the inspector is disposed to be reasonable and conscientious in the discharge of his duties, and that they need not fear unjust rulings."

"What do you hear about the Chicago inspections?" he was asked.

"The Chicago inspections, I understand, are being conducted more rigidly than they have been. I have just received a letter from a prominent tea merchant in that city, stating that the inspection of Pingsuey teas there had become more critical. The letter further states that the Chicago inspector has recently rejected a lot of Pingsuey teas, and that the rejection had been approved by the board of arbitration I think the New York inspector and the Chicago inspector are coming closer together in their views."

A QUESTION FOR WHOLESALERS.

GENTLEMEN,—Believing it to be a fact acknowledged by all first-class dealers, whether by wholesale or retail, and also by Trade Journals in general, that consumers' stores, whether carried on under the name of a "Grange Store," "Patron's Store," "Consumer's Store," or "Farmers' Store," are detrimental to the best interests of not only the manufacturer and producer, but also to those of the wholesale and retail dealers, who must have a legitimate profit in order to succeed; and being satisfied that certain wholesale firms are in the habit of selling goods to such institutions, to the detriment of legitimate retail dealers, we, the undersigned merchants and business men of the town of Manitou, respectfully ask if it is your intention to supply such parties with goods, either directly or indirectly, in the future? This is not a question of mere local importance, but one affecting the whole Province of Manitoba, and if the practice is continued it will be necessary that the names of firms doing that kind of business shall be reported to the Secretary of the Provincial Organization of Retail Dealers, in course of construction, in order to protect their interests by patronizing only such houses as will answer the above question in the negative.

THE above is a copy of a circular that has just been issued by the business men of Manitou. It is addressed to the "wholesale merchants doing business in Manitoba," and is signed by C. R. Gordon, James Huston, Ruttan & Co., E. DePencier (for H. B. Co.), and John Wootton.

The merchants of Manitou evidently mean business in this matter. There is no verbosity or ambiguity about what they have to say. There is no beating about the bush. They tell in a few words what they want and what they intend doing if their demand is not complied with. And from what one can gather, not only the merchants of Manitou, but the merchants of Manitoba are organized sufficiently to carry out what they threaten to do.

While THE CANADIAN GROCER has yet to be convinced that leading and old-established wholesale houses sell to the kind of stores described in the circular, yet it is obvious that there are those who style themselves wholesalers or jobbers who do. And, in spite of the fact that some of them are well-known, it is equally true that regular and legitimate retailers, with these facts patent to them, deliberately place their orders for the whole or part of their supplies with these very houses.

Herein it is that is to be ascribed the reason why the retailers have not ere this been enabled to bring to time the offending wholesalers.

A house that is divided against itself cannot stand: neither can retailers obtain much amelioration of the evils that menace them unless they stand shoulder to shoulder.

Wholesalers can, if they choose, sell to Patron stores or the other Evil One. It would be arbitrary to say them nay. But the legitimate merchant is neither just to himself nor to his fellow business men when he deals with the wholesale house that makes it a practice of supplying with goods the vampires of the Patron store species.

Were these Patron stores born as legitimate competitors in the business world, the merchants of Manitou or any other place would have no right to issue such a circular as that at the head of this article. But they were not. They are illegitimate, and were born in hatred of the legitimate storekeeper and fashioned to accomplish his ruin.

True, most of the ruin has fallen upon the besiegers, but they have wrought enough evil to warrant those doing business within the legitimate circle refusing to patronize those wholesale houses that persist in supplying those who are their avowed enemies.

DRUMMERS ON FREIGHT TRAINS.

EXPEDITION is an all-important matter to commercial travelers; but many an hour are they often compelled to lose every week while waiting for a train to take them another stage on their route.

It would be impossible, of course, for the railways to run trains to suit the convenience of every commercial traveler, but they have it in their power, nevertheless, to give "drummers" better facilities than they now enjoy.

One way in which they could do this is by allowing travelers to take passage on way freight trains.

It would put the railways to no inconvenience; but, even if it did, they should not hesitate to accord this privilege, for many thousands are the dollars that are monthly put in their way by the army of travelers that are continually traversing the country.

Various attempts have been made to secure the desideratum. And now the Jobbers' Union, at a meeting held in Winnipeg, Friday last, have decided to take up the matter. The Canadian Pacific is the particular railway this organization purposes trying its persuasive powers on.

It is a rule of this railway that passengers shall not ride on its trains without first obtaining a special permit. This rule has been the cause of much inconvenience; and the Jobbers' Union, at the meeting referred to, instructed the President and Secretary to communicate with the C.P.R. officials, with a view to a relaxation of the objectionable rule.

The C.P.R. people have had the happy faculty of falling in with the views of the business men of the country in most things, and THE GROCER hopes that they will show their good sense in this instance.

MORE LOSSES ON CHEESE.

THE course of values since the middle of September has been very unfortunate to both producers in the country and exporters of cheese in Montreal.

The latter bought steadily throughout the summer, and finally the climax came during the first weeks of September, when August cheese were bid up fully 1c. above the level for the corresponding period last year, and offers were made to contract September and balance at a proportionate advance on the figures paid for the Augusts.

Nearly all the factorymen in the Belleville district, and quite a few in the Brockville district, disposed of their make at the prices offered them, which was equivalent to 10½ to 10¾c. laid down in Montreal for the August goods, and ¼c. more for the Septembers.

It is understood that fully 150,000 boxes of cheese left first hands on this basis and the factorymen who let go then have reason to thank their stars. There were others, notably the majority in the Brockville district, who held back their Septembers; those west of Toronto who have still got their August and balance; and the makers in the eastern townships in Quebec who were equally stubborn. They were offered even higher prices, but refused, and then the market took its turn, and kept declining ⅛ to ¼c. at a time, but still the factorymen above referred to would not take warning.

The result is that the cheese market at present is in a really serious state with more stock in first hands than was ever known of before at this time of year. This means that there will be forced realization sooner or later.

The first move in this direction was made on Saturday last, when factorymen in different sections commenced to let go at ¼c. less than was possible a month ago.

With all this cheese yet to market the chances are decidedly in favor of still lower prices, so that the losses may be even heavier.

No means of arriving at it accurately is available, but on, say 200,000 boxes, which it is admitted there is west of Toronto, 100,000 east of Toronto, and 50,000 in the Eastern Townships, it will be fully $180,000, which will go a good way to off-setting the extra price realized earlier in the year.

This state of affairs only emphasizes the fact that it is far better in the long run to take the market price when the goods are ready for sale, than to speculate on the future.

THE GROCER has already referred to the position of holders of the cold storage stock in Montreal, and has only to add that the further decline in the market last week makes their situation worse than it was.

Already there have been two failures in London, Eng., and if it goes much lower we may see more.

The only encouraging feature is that prices now are at such a low level for fine fall cheese that they may tempt some fresh people to go in, which would have the effect of relieving the pressure.

It is just possible that some purchasing which has been done around Morrisburg in Ontario and in the French country in Quebec may be on this account.

September cheese at less than 10c. certainly seems cheap enough, but then, everything depends on whether the British buyer considers the matter in the same light.

THE EGG TRADE.

A GREAT bird is the Canadian hen, and none on this continent is like unto her for quality of product.

This has been in evidence for some time, but lately the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa has been giving us a little more light on the subject. This additional light comes in the shape of a blue book, whose title is "Poultry and Eggs."

The figures adduced regarding the numerical strength of hens and chickens are gleaned from the census returns of 1891, and of course lose some of their interest thereby, but they help us to form an approximate idea as to number, and in approximating it is safe to venture that the hen and chicken population is larger in this year of grace than it was over three years ago.

The number of hens and chickens in the country, according to the census returns of 1891, were 12,696,701, but with the incentive to chicken raising that the low price of grain on the one hand, and the fair prices obtaining for eggs on the other, would give, it is safe venturing that the number is now nearer fifteen millions than twelve millions.

Our total exports of eggs in 1893 were 6,805,432 dozen, valued at $868,007. Of live poultry we sent $61,127 worth, and of poultry dressed or undressed, $20,840 worth.

Our largest customer for eggs was the United Kingdom, which took 4,104,632 dozen, valued at $538,044, or 13 11-100c. per dozen. The United States bought 2,664,942 dozen eggs, valued at $324,355.

Until 1891 the United Kingdom was a poor customer for Canadian eggs. True, in 1882 it took $60,000 worth, but for the five years following not an egg does John Bull appear to have taken from us. Then, in 1888, he took $262 worth; the following year he expended $18 on our eggs, and in 1890 he was gracious enough to purchase 3,600 dozen, valued at $820

The birth of the McKinley Bill, with its duty of 5c. per dozen on Canadian eggs, forced Canada, in 1891, to make a special effort to work up a larger business with the Mother Country. And we were so far successful as to induce her to take $84,589 worth in that year. In 1892 the value of the eggs she took from us had jumped up to $592,218, and although in 1893 the quantity she took from us was less in value by $53,271 than the year before, in number of dozen it was greater by 216,977.

There is an obvious lesson in this egg trade with the United Kingdom to all sorts and conditions of men: Fortified with a good article, push and enterprise can often do wonderful things in trade up-building.

But in spite of the outlet that has been found in the United Kingdom for goodly quantities of Canadian eggs, the McKinley law undoubtedly gave our export egg trade a nasty blow—at least as far as its immediate interests are concerned. As will be seen by the figures already quoted our total exports to all countries in 1893 only aggregated 6,805,432 dozen, whereas before the McKinley law went into force our exports to the United States alone had averaged from 14 to 15 million dozen annually for several years.

Now, with the United States tariff 40 per cent. lower, Canada may be expected to gain back at least a part of her diminished trade with that country, for whether there be duty or no duty our cousins to the south take from us 96 to 99 per cent. of all the eggs they import. On the other hand, there is no reason why Canada should not do an increasing trade with Great Britain: There is plenty of room for her to, at any rate, for of all her total imports, only about 3½ per cent. come from Canada.

The cloud which the McKinley law cast over the egg industry in Canada is being dissipated, and the outlook is now better than it has been for some years.

The worst enemy the Canadian egg trade may be said to have is our own people : By improperly caring for eggs, or holding them too long, they do more harm to the industry than even can a McKinley law.

ACTIVITY IN TEA.

REFERENCE has been made before in these columns to the remarkable activity that has ruled the tea market in Montreal during the late summer and fall ; in fact ever since the news of difficulties in the east was received.

It was at first anticipated that beyond quickening the demand to a certain extent the eastern troubles would not have any material effect ; but the course of business each week since has developed unmistakably that buyers have given future possibilities more serious consideration than it was at first supposed they would.

The result of this has been a most active season for Montreal selling agents, who not only have had an active home demand to deal with, but have experienced considerable enquiry from across the lines as well.

The turnover on home account, it is approximated, has averaged 5,000 packages per week with some firms since the activity set in, principally of low grade Japans. This gives a pretty good idea of the movement. Indeed on the latter goods two or three agents at least have sold away ahead of their supplies, in spite of a determination not to do so, owing to the tendency of values at primary markets. The buyers, however, offered them such considerations as induced them to take the risk.

During the past three weeks, also, quite a round lot of stock has been moved on American account from Montreal, sales in this connection, up to Friday last, of Japans and Pingsueys amounting to fully 4,000 packages. In fact, the turnover to date in Montreal has been the largest for many seasons past ; and as stocks there are in small compass, a good, steady market seems assured for some time to come.

It is worthy of note, also, that the green tea market in New York is 2½ to 3c. higher than it is in Montreal, which is apt to have its due effect on the views of holders.

Recent reports also say that steamers that have recently arrived on the Pacific coast have not been able to carry their full cargoes, and late mail advices state that it is not improbable that other steamers will be in the same position, as all the space has been engaged for October.

If this is correct it would not be surprising if there was a shortage in some grades of stock before fresh arrivals come to hand. Besides, if the Eastern war continues, the greatest effect will be seen in next year's crop, as production will be materially interfered with.

COMMERCIAL GROWTH OF FIJI.

WONDERFUL changes have the Gospel and civilization wrought in the condition of savage life. This is evident the world over, but in no part of the globe has this probably been so marked as in the Fiji Islands.

Within the lifetime of men who are still in the land of the living the people of these islands were in the lowest state of civilization, and were noted for little else but their cannibalism.

To-day they have not only forsaken their cannibalism and savage manner of living, but have become proficient in the industries and arts. In the former particular it is evident from samples of their products which have during the last few weeks been on exhibition at the offices of Murdoch, Barber & Co, Toronto, Canadian agents of the Fiji Government.

Among the exhibits are three kinds of sugar — molasses, syrup and first ; rice, coffee, ginger, cocoanuts, dessicated cocoanut, Indian corn, vanilla, fine arrowroot, tobacco, candle nuts, kidney cotton, gum, etc.

The cultivation of sugar was begun on a large scale in 1881, and the industry has proved a thriving one. The exports of sugar in 1891 were 20,470 tons, valued at £327,526 One of the largest sugar refineries in the world, it will surprise a good many to know, is to be found in Fiji.

Tea cultivation is another young industry which is promising well in the islands. Assam hybrid is the plant which finds most favor, and an average of 600 pounds per acre is obtained. The tea manufactured sells readily at 1s. 9d. per lb, and the local demand exceeds the supply.

Some fine specimens of tobacco are grown on the islands, and as nearly all the natives—both men and women—smoke, the home consumption is large. The seeds of the tobacco which is now generally cultivated were originally brought to the islands by whalers.

Compared with Jamaica, Cochin, and African gingers, Fijian ginger is said by experts to be far the richest in active constituents. The samples shown by Murdoch, Barber & Co. are certainly fine

Bananas, oranges, lemons, pineapples, etc., are grown in abundance, and the cultivation of rice has begun with excellent results.

But one of the best evidences of Fiji's changed condition are her churches, public schools, technical schools, public libraries, and other evidences of modern civilization.

Canada's interest in Fiji is all the greater from the fact that the direct line of steamers that now ply between Victoria, B.C., and Sydney, N.S.W., call regularly at these islands.

Hitherto Canada and the Fiji Islands have had no business relations with each other—at least, the Dominion Trade and Navigation Returns do not show that they have ; but now, with steamships plying regularly between the two countries, the possibilities of establishing commercial amenities are said to be good.

THE PEDLAR NUISANCE.

"AMONG the passengers from Pt. du Chene last evening were seven Russian pedlars"

The above item is from the Charlottetown, P.E.I., Guardian, Oct. 12th. It shows how serious the pedlar nuisance is becoming in the Maritime Provinces, and the immediate necessity of an Act which shall impose such heavy licence fees that it will practically prohibit them.

No doubt many of our readers will not agree with this, considering it an interference with trade. If they lived in a district overrun with these people, they would probably see the matter in a much stronger light than we do. In this instance one daily trip of one of the boats which runs from the mainland of New Brunswick to Prince Edward Island has seven of these. Other boats and other trips no doubt carried over more of them.

Apart from the fact that a great number of the pedlars are objectionable characters, they contribute nothing towards the revenue of the country.

In nearly all instances they sell shoddy goods, and as they seldom ever visit the place again, the buyers have no means of redress. The regular dealer pays his taxes, and, as a rule, they amount to a very considerable portion of the entire taxation of each municipality. If he sold shoddy goods he would be brought up for fraud, or he would lose his customers.

SEPTEMBER TRADE RETURNS.

NOT altogether unsatisfactory are the trade returns for the Dominion of Canada for the month of September.

The total value of goods entered for home consumption was $9.358,440, of which $5,296,073 were dutiable goods, $3,578,986 free goods, and $483,381 bullion. During the same month last year the total imports were $12,193,226, of which $6,665,576 were dutiable, $3 779,870 free goods, and $1,747,780 bullion. Omitting the bullion in both instances, the imports last month were smaller by $1,570,287 than September of 1893.

THE WESTERN FAIR TEA EXHIBIT.

IN THE CANADIAN GROCER of October 12th we inserted an item, in good faith, received from Joseph Tetley & Co., stating that they had received the gold medal—being first prize for tea exhibit—at the Western Fair, London A few days after the following letter was received from T. B Escott & Co.:

LONDON, Ont., October 15, 1894.

DEAR SIRS,—We notice in your issue of last Friday, page 34, that a certain tea firm who exhibited at the Western Fair, London, last month, claim to have received a gold medal (as they assert) the highest award given to any tea exhibit. This firm has drawn on their imagination somewhat. In the first place, no gold medal was given to any tea exhibit. In second place, the Grand Mogul tea exhibit received the highest award that was given to any tea exhibit (the silver medal).

Yours truly,
T. B. ESCOTT & CO.,
Sole Agents Grand Mogul Tea.

We immediately wrote Tetley & Co., asking for an explanation ; following is their reply :

MONTREAL, October 18, 1894.

GENTLEMEN,—Your favor of October 16 to hand, and in reply we beg to say that you must have been misinformed in the matter of awards given at the Western Fair.

We hold the medal we speak of, and which was noted in the London papers when the awards were made. It also appeared on our exhibit during the exhibition. When you visit Montreal we will be very pleased to show it to you.

Yours truly.
JOSEPH TETLEY & CO.

The person likely to settle the question was the Secretary of the Western Fair. We accordingly wrote him, and here is his reply :

LONDON, Ont., October 21, 1894.

GENTLEMEN,—In answer to your letter of the 16th inst., allow me to state that the awards were given for the "Displays" or exhibits of teas, as follows :

T. B. Escott & Co., of London, received the "silver medal," this is the highest award given in 1894.

Jos. Tetley & Co., of Toronto, received the "bronze medal," this is the second highest award.

You will notice that the awards were not given for the quality of the teas, but for the "excellence of the exhibits."

Yours very truly,
THOS. A. BROWNE,
Secretary Western Fair.

"Honor to whom honor is due." THE GROCER leaves it to its readers to adjudge to whom honor is due in this instance.

INTERCOLONIAL MANAGEMENT.

AS it is now managed, the Intercolonial Railway of Canada is a credit to the Government. The majority of people are against the Dominion controlling any business of this sort, because the vacancies on it are usually given as a reward for party services.

In the case of a railroad, travelers would expect to find it in a poor state of repair, never on time, and with very impolite officials.

During the present season the thousands of tourists who have used it were much struck by the attention which they received from the conductors and train hands everywhere. "They are more like the employees of a road where competition is keen and where every official feels that the success depends upon himself," was a remark an American traveler made to THE GROCER.

The rolling stock and road bed are said to be in a better condition than they have ever been. The cars are always kept clean. They arrive at and depart from stations to the minute ; in fact, the suddenness with which they stop and start is the only complaint THE GROCER hears among travelers. Should the tourist travel continue to grow as it did this year, the Intercolonial should show a good profit.

The management should aim to make it still more popular with the Canadians. Make us feel that we are each part owners and anxious that it shou'd be a still greater success.

There is one American road which was so badly run down that the management could not raise money to retrack it. A Canadian took hold of it. He made himself popular with all the people along the route. They all took a personal interest in it and it prospered to such an extent that a canal which ran along side lost its traffic and closed up. When the road was on a paying basis the Canadian resigned to return to Nova Scotia. The new management had no interest in the people along the route—in fact, would not listen to any suggestion they made—and they soon lost all sympathy in the line. The road is now in trouble and the canal is again open and is prospering.

PURE SPIRITS FROM BEET SUGAR.

An experiment of great commercial value was successfully concluded at the Columbia Distillery, Omaha, on the 13 h inst., the production of pure spirits from beet sugar molasses. The experiment was in every way successful, and from now on a car load a day of the molasses will be used at the distillery and converted into spirits. The success of the distillation is the more important from the fact that it will afford additional profit to the sugar manufacturing and give new impetus to the great industry.

The molasses used in the test was obtained from the Oxnard factory at Grand Island, and the Columbia is now using a car load a day of the product. The secret of the French system is the conversion of alkaline salts by a chemical process, which transforms into a sort of glucose, which is perfectly adapted for distillery uses.

STREET PEDLARS.

THE GROCER of September 28th published a draft of a proposed by-law which has been submitted to the City Council of Montreal, the object of which is to do away with the street pedlar nuisance.

The matter was advanced a stage recently by the Council referring the proposition to the Market Commissioners, which body has control of all licences of this nature issued by the Corporation. That body has not as yet made any recommendation to the Council, but it will likely take action shortly.

The retail grocers, who not only contribute heavily by way of the business tax to the city's revenue, but pay a heavy licence as well to the Legislature, are bringing considerable pressure to bear upon the Commissioners with the object of securing a favorable report to Council.

They are receiving the earnest endorsation of the Butchers' Association in their efforts, as the latter are equally interested. The latter in addition to the payment of their regular business tax are assessed for heavy market fees as well, and their trade is very much cut into by pedlars of vegetables, etc. Both they and the retail grocers possess considerable municipal political influence, and if they bring all the interests they can control upon the Market Commissioners the chances are that the days of the street pedling nuisance in Montreal are numbered

Every housewife and hardworked housemaid who are called to the door unnecessarily four or five times a day will pray that the efforts of the Montreal grocers and butchers may be crowned with success.

THEY HAD A PLEASANT TIME.

THE REVIEW had a pleasant call last week from Mr. J. Cameron, the travelling agent of The McLean Publishing Company of Toronto, a publishing firm who devote their energies to the publication of Trade Papers. The company publish THE HARDWARE MERCHANT, THE CANADIAN GROCER, BOOKS AND NOTIONS, THE DRY GOODS REVIEW and PRINTER AND PUBLISHER, all of which are very excellent publications and most valuable to the people engaged in those respective businesses. Mr. Cameron took quite a number of new subscriptions and renewals in the Portage. We take THE PRINTER AND PUBLISHER, and know it to be a model of the printers' art and a bond of union between the Canadian publishers that is daily growing in popularity among those for whom it is specially published.—Portage la Prairie Review.

AT LAST.

A very important and interesting jury trial was commenced before Judge Archibald Saturday last in the case of the Hochelaga Bank v. F. D. Shallow. This is an action for $50,000 damages on account of an article published in the Moniteur du Commerce of November 18th, 1887. The allegation is that the article complained of insinuated that the plaintiff had acted without discernment and in a spirit of greed, and had accepted bills of the Central Bank of Toronto to the amount of $5,000 knowing that these bills were without value, and that it had in bad faith hastened to pass them on the public in the Province of Quebec by the medium of its agents. Another ground of complaint is that the plea to the action contained additional and still more damaging statements. The jury is asked to declare whether the publication of this article formed part of a system of blackmail adopted by the defendant with regard to plaintiff, to induce the latter to give advertisements, and thus to extort money from the bank.

BESSIE'S FAITH.

Little Bessie's papa
Is an advertising man,
Who talks his business everywhere,
Everywhere he can.

Little Bessie heard him,
Heard him talking ads,
And became a loyal convert
To that theory of her dad's.

And, like her good papa,
Believed that anything desired
Could be had by advertising
When properly inspired.

One day there came a babe,
To fill the house with joy,
A great big bouncing baby,
A ten pound baby boy.

And when Bessie saw her brother,
As she tip-toed on the mat
And saw the babe, she said, "Mamma,
Did you advertise for that?"

Ye Ancient Ballad of Jack and Jill.

(ADAPTED TO DATE.)

Jack and Jill went up the hill
To fetch a pail of water,
Jack had great admiration for
Jill's mother's blue-eyed daughter.

"How tiresome it used to be"
Quoth lovely, laughing Jill,
"To carry those old wooden pails
For water up this hill.

That pail! with cracks twixt every stave,
We could not pause a minute,
But had to hurry all the time
To save the water in it.

So badly balanced! If you gave
A single glance at me,
A dreadful spill upon the hill
There straightway sure would be.

Until that day! that happy day,"
Here Jill gave way to laughter,
"When you fell down and broke your crown,
And I came tumbling after.

Then mother bought an Eddy's pail
Of Indurated Ware,
A perfect dream! No hoop or seam,
And balanced true with care."

"Why, yes," quoth Jack, "my darling Jill,
In June when we are mated,
We'll buy with care our household ware
Of Eddy's Indurated."

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Oct. 25, 1894.

GROCERIES.

BUSINESS remains much the same as a week ago. On the whole there is a fair trade doing, and travelers' reports are, if anything, of a brighter character. In point of strength, the tea and canned salmon markets are the most prominent, greater firmness being shown in each. As far as actual business is concerned, foreign dried fruits are the cynosures. All week the different warehouses have been steadily receiving shipments of new Valencia raisins, currants and figs, and fair quantities are going out again to the retail trade. Canned vegetables are occupying much the same position as a week ago, business being quiet and steady at unchanged prices. No relief has yet come to the bare Rio coffee market. There is just a fair business doing in sugar at steady and unchanged prices. There is some demand for medium syrups, and a little business is reported in New Orleans molasses. Shipments of Almeria grapes are beginning to arrive, and prices for them in England are much higher.

CANNED GOODS.

Telegraphic advices from the coast continue to speak of short pack of cohoe salmon, and the allotment of at least some sales agents for this market is 20 per cent. lower than last year, while during the week an advance of 10c. per dozen has been asked and obtained from wholesale houses here. Freights advanced yesterday, and this will add to the cost of late shipments. On the local market the demand continues fairly active at $1.30 to $1.35 for good red salmon in tall tins and $1.55 in flat tins. There is some second quality red salmon to be had at $1.20 to $1.25. Canned mackerel is in fair demand at $1 to $1.10. Lobster is quiet and unchanged at $1.70 to $2 ; $2.25 to $2.75 in flat tins. There is no particular movements in canned fruit to be noted yet. Tomatoes, peas and corn are in quiet but steady demand at unchanged prices. We quote : Tomatoes and corn, 85 to 90c.; peas, 80 to 85c.; peaches, $3 to $3.25 for 3's, $2 to $2.25 for 2's ; raspberries, $1.65 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.90 to $2.10 ; apples, 3's, $1 to $1.10, gallons $2.65 to $2.80, and preserved fancy quarters at $1.35 to $1.40.

COFFEES.

Advice notes of shipments of green Rio coffees have been received, but the goods will not be here for some time. In the meantime the local market is still bare of this kind of coffee. There is considerable enquiry for Rio coffee, and a good business will undoubtedly be done in it when supplies are to hand. We quote green, in bags : Rio, 21½ to 22½c.; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 21½ to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 32c.; Mocha, 27 to 28c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 22c.

N.Y. Journal of Commerce, Oct. 23rd : "Brazil grades get no infusion of life at the distributive end of the market to stir up general business, and affairs are still more or less unsatisfactory to both the jobber and importer, with the exact working basis somewhat uncertain. Invoices on spot are more or less neglected, but a rather stiffer tone on firm offers to-day seemed to excite a little more interest among buyers. The reports of business accomplished, however, do not amount to anything, and the valuation basis remains nominal."

RICE.

There is nothing new to report. We quote: "B," 3½ to 3¾c.; extra Japan, 5¼ to 5⅜c. ; imported Japan, 5¾ to 6¼c. ; tapioca, 4¼ to 4½c.

SPICES.

Business continues fairly good at unchanged prices. We quote : Pure black pepper, 12 to 14c.; pure white, 20 to 28c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 25 to 27c.; cloves, 25 to 30c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, 20 to 25c. per lb.

NUTS.

No new features have developed yet, either in regard to business or to prices. We quote as follows : Brazil nuts, 11 to 11½c. lb. ; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c. a lb. ; Terragona almonds, 12½ to 14c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green ; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack ; Grenoble walnuts, 13 to 14c.; Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c. ; Bordeaux walnuts, 8 to 10c.; filberts, 9¾ to 10½c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots ; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

SUGAR.

Not much life is exhibited. A few car-load lots are moving, but business is largely confined to small lots. Ruling quotation for granulated is still $4 30 to $4 40, and yellows range from 3⅜ to 4c. per lb. The market is from ¼ to ⅜c. below that of New York, and the Canadian refiners, while doing but little business at the moment, still refuse to make concessions.

N. Y. Journal of Commerce, Oct. 23 : The demonstrations already made go to confirm the impression that both outside refiners and the Trust are in want of raw sugars against any increased call that may be made upon them in matter of meltings. It looks, however, that at the break already made holders conclude that in view of the beet and domestic crops becoming available it is just about as well to consider bids, and in a general way the tone is still a trifle slack.

Willett & Gray's Statistical: "Raws nominally unchanged. Refined unchanged. Total stock in all the principal countries, 459,151 tons, against 340,650 tons at same dates last year. Afloats from all countries to the United States estimated, 55,000 tons, against 85,000 tons last year. The refineries remained closed, or working at the lowest point, the meltings for the week being again but 10,000 tons, which is more than sufficient for the demand, except for a few special grades which are somewhat delayed. The conditions at the West remain the same as last week. The wholesale grocers find it impossible to reduce their stocks very rapidly even by the cutting of prices, for the reason that the retail dealers of the country have not yet disposed of their large holdings to consumers."

SYRUPS.

There are some bright syrups selling, and a fair business is being done in dark United States syrups at 28 to 30c. The Canadian refineries have no dark syrups to offer. We quote: Dark, 25c.; medium, 28 to 30c.; bright, 35 to 40c.; very bright, 45 to 50c.

MOLASSES.

There are a good many molasses of New Orleans kinds selling at about 28c., but there is nothing special to note in regard to other sorts. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 26 to 28c.; half-barrels, 30½ to 32c.; Barbadoes, barrels, 28 to 32c.; half-barrels, 30 to 34c.

TEA.

Demand continues good, although not so active as it was. A cable quotes an advance of 1d. in London on all grades of Ceylon teas. Japan teas apparently continue to gather strength. Medium kinds that were selling here recently at 16 to 17c. are now worth 18 to 19c., and it is difficult to get quality for the money. Japan teas promise to be a scarce article next spring, as the only teas coming forward in this kind now are what have been bought and held there. Young Hysons of medium and high grades have advanced from 3 to 8c. per lb. from the lowest price. Prices ruling are: Young Hysons, 16 to 18c. for low grade; 24 to 27c. for medium, and 30 to 38c. for high grades; China Congous, 16 to 18c.; Japans, 16 to 20c.; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 35c.

DRIED FRUITS.

New season's fruits continue to arrive and some houses have now in their warehouses what they term their heavy shipments. The demand for Valencia raisins is fairly good, although there are not as many moving as the trade anticipated there would be when the new fruit came to hand. There is still a scarcity of selected fruit, the bulk of it for this market being on the Avlona, the next direct steamer. Offstalk, 4½ to 5c.; fine offstalk, 4¾ to 5½c.; selected, 5½ to 6c.; layers, 6 to 7c.

As with raisins so with currants the bulk of the shipments are coming on the Avlona. The new currants that are on the market are in fair demand at from 4c. up. We quote new fruits: Filiatras, half barrels, 4½c., barrels, 4c.; fine Filiatras, half brls., 4¾c., barrels 4¼c.; Patras, 5½ in cases; Casalina, 5½ to 6c.; Vostizzas, 7c. Old fruit appears to be pretty well cleaned up.

New season's Sultana raisins are in moderate demand at from 5½c. up.

All the houses are this week well supplied with new season's figs, except in 6 and 7 crown, which are yet to arrive. There is a fair demand. We quote: 14 oz., 10½ to 11c.; 10 lb., 11 to 12½c.; taps, 4½ to 5c.; 18 lb., 15c.; 28 lb., 20c.

Turkish prunes are quiet and unchanged. "A," 8c; "B," 7c.; "U," 5¼ to 5½c; bags, 3¾c.; casks, 4½ to 5c. French prunes are quoted at 6½ to 9½c., according to quality.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The condition of the butter market continues unsatisfactory, with buyers and sellers apart. In fact there do not appear to be any transactions at all at the prices asked. the demand is still largely for local consumption, although a little low grade and medium butter seems to have gone out on eastern account. Inferior butter is accumulating on the local market, and the only kind wanted is choice, but even for this buyers' views are lower. Most of the butter coming forward is on consignment—buyers not feeling disposed to devote time to the inspection of stocks offered. A cable received by D. Gunn, Flavelle & Co. on Thursday last quoted Canadian dairy butter in London at 60s. per 112 lbs., which is between 12 and 13c. Buyers claim that until sellers' views get down to an export basis, business must remain in its present unsatisfactory condition. We hear of ten to twelve car-loads in all of Manitoba butter being offered at 10c. f.o.b., but no sales are reported. The freight from Winnipeg to Toronto is about 1½ to 2c. per lb. There is quite an accumulation of summer-made creamery butter in different parts of the province. Besides this there are the large quantities in cold storage in Montreal, some of which has been re-shipshipped to this market. There is a fair demand locally for creamery butter. The fact that the cheese factories will be closing down in a short time does not help the situation in butter. We quote jobbing prices: Dairy—Choice tubs, 17 to 18c.; medium, 13 to 14c.; crocks, 20c.; low grade, 10 to 12c.; pound rolls, 18 to 19c.; large rolls, 16½ to 17c. Creamery—Tubs, 20 to 22c.; pound prints, 22 to 23c.

Cheese keeps dull, with prices much as befors ; 10 to 10½c. is being asked by the factories, and jobbers are quoting 10½ to 11c.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

The provision market continues active, but prices are declining, although not so much so as they would were it not for the fact that there is not a sufficient quantity of newly cured product to meet the demand. Dressed hogs are in liberal supply, with prices lower at $5.25 to $5.75.

BACON—Long clear, 8¼c. for carload lots and 8½ to 8¾c. for small lots; breakfast bacon, 11 to 12c. ; rolls, 8¾ to 9c.

HAMS—Large, 22 lbs. and over, 9 to 10½c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 12c. ; small hams, 12½c.; pickled, 10½ to 11c.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 8¾c.; tubs, 9½c. ; pails, 9¾c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess $18; Canadian short-cut, $18 to $19; shoulder mess, $14 to $14.50; clear mess, $14.50 to $15.

GREEN FRUIT.

The usual seasonable demand is beginning to set in for oranges. Floridas are practically the only kind of oranges on the market just now, and they have been poor in quality until this week. There is an abundance of lemons on the market, and they are of all sorts and conditions. Demand is fair for them. Bananas are in fair demand. Grapes are in brisk demand and higher. The first shipments of Almeria grapes are arriving this week. These grapes are arriving this week. These grapes have advanced several shillings in the primary markets lately. In cranberries business is fairly good for the season. A feature of this season's trade is the impetus that has been given to trade in the Nova Scotian cranberry by the tariff, which on account of being higher is keeping the Cape Cod and Jersey berries out of the market. Tomatoes are still coming in and there is a good demand for them. We quote: Lemons—Verdilli, $2.50 to $4 ; Maoris, $6 ; Malagas, $3.75; Floridas, $4 to $4.50. Oranges, Floridas, $3 to $3.75 per box. Bananas, $1 to $1.50. Cucumbers, 20 to 25c. per basket. Tomatoes, 25c. per basket. Apples, $1.75 to $2.25 per brl. for well-packed stock. Grapes, Concords, 10-lb. baskets, 25c.; Catawbas, 4c. per lb.; Niagaras and Rogers, 10-lb. baskets, 30c. Sweet potatoes, Jerseys, $3.50 per brl. Crab apples, 25 to 40c. per basket. Quinces, 35 to 50c. per basket. Pears, 25 to 50c. per basket, and $3 to $5 per brl. Cranberries, Nova Scotian, $10 to $11 per brl.; northern, 35 to 50c. per basket.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Business is much as before—quiet—with prices unchanged at $1.35 to $1.40 for hand-picked.

DRIED APPLES—There have been some transactions at 5c. f.o.b., and jobbers are getting 5½ to 6c.

EVAPORATED APPLES — Are offering freely, everybody seemingly wanting to sell. There have been some transactions in round lots at 7 to 7½c. f.o.b. outside, but business is on the whole quiet. Jobbers quote 7½ to 8c.

HONEY—Business is still on the quiet side. We quote comb at 12 to 13c. and extracted at 8 to 9c.

HOPS—Market is dull. Yearlings are selling at 8 to 10c. and new at 12 to 14c. Pressed hops are quoted at 16 to 18c.

EGGS—Market is a little firmer. Strictly fresh are scarce and in demand at 16c.; case eggs sell at 14½ to 15c.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

Ciscoes are getting plentiful, although the price remains as before. The demand on the other hand is not so good as it was, on account of the mild weather. White fish are scarce, there being practically none on the market. There is a fair demand for salmon trout, and supply is not as liberal as it was. Fresh herring are beginning to come in again, and a fair demand is reported for them. An improved demand is reported for Labrador herring. Trade is good at unchanged prices. Demand for finnan haddies is good but supply is light. We quote: Salmon trout, 6½c.; skinned and boned codfish, 6½c.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c.; "quail on toast," cod, 5 to 5½c.; Labrador herring, $2 50 per half keg and $5.50 to $5.75 per barrel; ditto, split, $3; fresh herring, 1½c. each; blueback herring, 4c.; blue pickerel, 4 to 5c. lb.; yel. ditto, 6 to 7c. per lb; white fish, 7 to 7½c.; pike, 5c. lb.; haddock and cod, 5½c. per lb.; steak cod, 5 to 6c.; finnan haddies, 7½c.; Digby herring, in bundles of 5 boxes, 15c.; ditto, lengthwise, 14c.; large halibut, 10c.; ciscoes, $1.35 to $1.49. Oysters, $1.25 to $1.30 per gallon; select, $1.60.

Deliveries are limited on account of farmers being busy, and prices are unchanged. We quote, f. o. b. points of shipment: Alsike, $3.30 to $5.20; timothy, $1.50 to $2.25; red clover, nominally $5 per bushel.

SALT.

Business continues to improve, there having been a marked increase in the volume of business during the week. We quote: Barrels, 95c.; coarse sacks, 58c.; fine sacks, 62c.; dairy, $1.50; rock, $10.

HIDES, SKINS, WOOL AND TALLOW.

WOOL—There is no enquiry from the States, and business generally is quiet.

TALLOW—Is in good demand at the moment. Dealers are paying 5½ to 5¾c., and selling at 6¼c.

PETROLEUM.

Trade is good with prices firm but unchanged. We quote, in 5 to 10 brl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 12 to 12½c.; carbon safety, 15c.; Canadian water white, 16 to 17c.; American water white, 17½c; photogene, 20c.

The producers of crude are now getting something nearer the legitimate value for their product. Crude jumped to $1.10 on Wednesday, and 1,000 barrels were sold at that figure, the buyer offering the same price for 5,000 more. Yesterday 700 barrels of Petrolia crude changed hands at $1.11¼ with Oil Springs about 2c. better. The market is firmer than ever, and we shall be very greatly surprised if it does not touch $1.15 before our next issue."

The American Cereal Co, Chicago, have appointed Wright & Copp, Toronto, their Ontario agents for the sale of Pettijohn's California Breakfast Food, and in order to save time and trouble all orders should be sent to them for execution. "There is an exceptional growing demand for this product," write the firm.

The manufacturers of MacLaren's "Imperial" cheese have been working night and day to fill orders, and they expect to supply the demand in a few days. The company regrets having disappointed so many of its customers of late, but it is now in a position to control a larger output, having made extensive alterations in the factory.

In these days the man who still pursues the old-time methods of cleaning fruit is at a decided disadvantage. Sieves and sacks have long been used for this purpose, but they have at length being superseded by a mechanical device called "The Grocers' Fruit Improver," manufactured by Beamer & Ryan, of Brampton, Ont, a cut of which is shown in their advertisement. It is strong and durable, and so easily and quickly operated that a barrel of currants can be thoroughly cleaned in about half an hour. Old fruit, raisins, prunes, etc., can be polished and cleaned with remarkable speed, which means an immense saving of time to the grocer, besides the increased value of improved fruit.

MONTREAL MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Oct. 25, 1894.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market has furnished a fair degree of activity during the past week. One of the chief features has been activity in tea and dried fruit. Sugar has ruled rather dull, while syrups and molasses have been steady. Coffees are firm and spices about the same. Canned goods show no material change, and the same is to remark about fish. On the whole, the week has been a fairly satisfactory one in all lines of groceries.

SUGAR.

The sugar market has been the single dull spot in the grocery market, and business has been of small volume, contrasting sharply with the activity of a few weeks ago. Sales of granulated from the refineries have transpired at 4 3-16c. in round lots and 4¼c. in smaller quantities. Yellows have changed hands at 3¼ to 3⅜c., as to quality.

SYRUPS.

Stocks of syrup in refiners' hands are very low, in fact one refinery is completely sold out of them, and the other is disposing of the output as fast as it is ready. Jobbers also are doing a good trade. Dark grades have been placed at 1½ to 1⅝c., and bright at 2 to 2⅛c. per lb. at the factory.

MOLASSES.

The molasses market is quiet with a fair amount of business doing in a small way at steady prices. Sales of Barbadoes are reported at 27½c.; ex store, car lots at 29c., and single puncheons at 30c.

RICE.

The demand for rice in spot continues good and the market is active. We quote: Japan, standard, $4.25 to $4 40; crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B, $3.45; English style, $3.30; Patna, $4.25 to $5, and Caroline at $6.50 to $7.50.

SPICES.

The cool weather has increased the movement of spices, and a larger volume of trade is to note than a week ago. We quote mill prices as follows: Penang black pepper, 6 to 7½c.; white pepper, 10 to 12½c.; cloves, 7½ to 9c.; cassia, 9 to 10c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.; Jamaica ginger, 15 to 22c.

COFFEES.

There has been an active business in coffees with a good demand for fair sized lots of stock. We quote: Maracaibo, 20½ to 22c.; Rio, 20 to 21c.; Java, 23 to 29c., and Mocha, 26 to 31c.

TEA.

The situation of the tea market is much the same as it was a week ago. Demand continues good for most goods especially low grade Japans of which the supply is very scant and prices in consequence have a firmer tendency. We note the sale of several round lots of Japans at 13 to 14c. Advices from primary markets continue strong and importers state that there is every indication of values going still higher. We quote Japans: Low grades, 13 to 14c.; medium, 15to 18c.; fine 19 to 23c., and choice, 24 to 31c.

DRIED FRUITS

The firmness of this market is fully maintained, further reports from Denia stating that prices have advanced another shilling since our last report. Business here has not been specially active, for, as we noted last week, most of the Dracona's cargo was sold to arrive. Currants continue much the same as they were. We quote: Valencia layers, 6 to 6¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; and ordinary, 4½ to 4¾c. California raisins, 6 to 7½c., and currants, 3¼c. in barrels; 3½c. in half-barrels, and 3¾ to 4½c. in cases.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been no material change in the canned goods market since our last. The only sales of importance have been some hundred case lots of salmon at $4.65 per case. Prices, as a rule, are steady, and notably so on vegetables. We quote: Lobsters, $6 to $8 per case; sardines, $8.50 to $9.50; salmon, $1.35 to $1.40 per doz; tomatoes, 95c. per doz.; peaches, $2 to $2.10 per doz.; corn, 95c. to $1 per doz., and marrowfat peas, 85 to 90c. per doz.

FISH.

Rather more business has been doing in fish, a good many orders coming in both from the city and country. The feature of the market has been the large arrivals of green cod, there being six carloads received, and in consequence a weaker feeling has prevailed, prices being still lower, sales of some fair-sized lots transpiring at $4.12½ to $4.25; but in a jobbing way quotations are $4.50 to $4.75. In herrings there is no change, except that some sales of inferior Gaspe stock have been made as low as $3, but good fish are still selling at $3.50. Newfoundland herring bring $4.50 to $4.75, and North Shore $4 75 to $5, while Cape Breton are firm at $5.50 to $6. Salmon are moving well at $10.50 for No. 1 B.C. and $12 per barrel for No. 1 Labrador. The first carload lots of smoked herrings sold at 13 to 14c. per lb. Haddock continues scarce and firm at 4 to 4½c. per lb., and finnan haddies are steady at 7 to 7½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

APPLES—Receipts of apples continue heavy and prices are lower, sales transpiring at $1 to $1.75 for fall fruit, and $2 to $2.50 per brl. for winter apples.

ORANGES—The bulk of the good now offering are Floridas, which sell well at $4 per box. Jamaicas are held at $7 per brl.

GRAPES—Receipts of grapes are heavy and prices lower; blue, 2½c.; red Niagara, 2½c.; Delaware, 3½c.; Malaga, kegs, $5.

SPANISH ONIONS—Spanish onions are in good demand at 75 to 80c. per crate, but round lots can be had for less.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The tone of the egg market is steady and values show no change. An active business is doing, but dealers state the movement is not as large as it should be for this season of the year. Sales are made at 13 to 14c. for ordinary stock, and 15 to 17c. for fancy boiling stock per doz.

BEANS—This market is quiet with demand slow. New crop beans are offering at $1.25 to $1.30 per bushel of 60 lbs.

HONEY—The market is steady, sales of extracted being reported at 7 to 8c.

HOPS—Little doing in hops. New crop have sold at 7½ to 10c., and yearlings are quoted at 5 to 6c.

GAME—Partridges are easy, selling as low as 25c. per brace, but fine conditioned birds are quoted at 50c. for No. 1, and 30c. for No. 2.

ONIONS—Canadian onions are in good demand, but the heavy receipts have glutted the market. Prices are easy in consequence at $1.75 to $2 per brl.

PROVISIONS.

The demand for provisions is slow and market rules quiet and steady with no change in prices to note. Canadian short cut, heavy, $19 to $20; Canadian short cut, light, $17 to $18; hams, city cured, per lb., 10 to 13c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 9½ to 10c.; bacon, per lb., 10 to 12c.; lard, com. refined, per lb., 7¼ to 7½c.

BUTTER.

The demand is restricted to supplying local wants, and the basis on which such business is done is not possible for shippers. Reports from the country show that the later make is pretty well out of first hands. A buyer who returned from a tour of a fairly representative creamery section on Saturday, states that factorymen have marketed all their August make and a big percentage of their Septembers. On the other hand the stock in cold storage must be heavy, while the exports are 40,000 packages behind those of last season. The home consumption of creamery, however, has largely increased during the last two seasons. At present local jobbers are paying 21c. on spot for late made creamery, but shippers say they are not in it at that level. Fine Western dairy, which is acceptable over the local grocers' counters, has brought 18½c. and better. There is little Townships arriving, and it sells at 19c. or thereabouts. We quote: Finest fall-made creamery, 20¼ to 20½c.; earlier makes, 18 to 19c.; finest Townships, 18½ to 19c.; finest Western dairy, 16 to 18½c.

CHEESE.

The cheese market is dull and heavy, and prices are unsettled, and it is difficult to quote anything except Eastern goods. Of these the transactions at the wharf this morning afford a fair idea of value. The offerings by boat and rail aggregated 5,000 boxes, and the ruling price was at ¼c. decline on last Monday. For Ontario and Townships makes any goods now here have cost considerably more than buyers are prepared to give. We understand that Ontario goods have been bought recently on the basis of 10¼c. here, but they were probably Augusts, while a leading combination sold recently at that price in the country for last half August and balance. It is very unlikely, however, that with late purchases west of Toronto a buyer would be prepared to do business on that basis to-day. The cable now stands at 48s. 6d., one shilling below the level for the same time last year, and private mail advices from Great Britain state that only immediate wants are being satisfied, as there is no disposition to deal ahead at all. We quote: Finest Ontario, fall made, 10⅜c. to 10½c.; finest Townships, 10⅛ to 10¼c.; finest Eastern, 9¾c. to 9⅞c.; cable, 48s. 6d.

ASHES.

Receipts of ashes are light and the market is quiet and firm. We quote: Firsts, $4.25 to $4.30; seconds, $3 85 to $3 90; pearls $8 per 100 lbs.

FLOUR AND FEED

MANY Toronto grocers are making a run on flour, and are using various means to enhance their sales. The consequence is that there has been quite a lot of rivalry between neighboring dealers, and each of them has been displaying his flour to the best advantage and selling at the lowest prices. It will be well to remember that flour is at present one of the best-paying lines that the grocer handles, and while we do not wish any dealer to charge exorbitant prices, we fear that indiscriminate cutting and the handling of cheap flours for advertising purposes will ruin the flour trade in the grocery store.

Retail dealers report an increase in their sales of flour since the cooler weather set in. Cerea's are moving better. Bran and shorts are in fair demand, and business in flour and feed is somewhat better all round.

Now that the new oats are in, and the demand is on the increase, the following hints on how to tell good oats, given by the Mark Lane Express, will doubtless be found useful: Good oats are clean, hard, dry, sweet, heavy, plump, full of flour, rather like shot, and have a clean and almost metallic lustre. Each oat in a well-grown sample should be nearly of the same size, and there should be a few small or imperfect grains. Then, again, the hard pressure on an oat should leave little or no mark, and the kernel, when pressed between the teeth, should leave little or no mark. The skin should be thin, for it will be found that the size of the kernel will be less in proportion than when the skin is thick. The color of the oat is not very material, but white oats are generally thinner in the skin than black. Again, black oats grow on inferior soils. Short, plump oats are preferable to large, long grains. In all bearded oats there is an excess of husk, but oats are not necessarily bad because they are thick-skinned and bearded. They must, however, contain a less amount of flour per bushel than thin-skinned oats without beards, and so are worth less money. It is a question of degree in value received, rather than of badness of quality.

A. O. Foreman, grocer, Queen street west, is making a tasteful display of flour in his window.

THE MARKETS.

TORONTO.

FLOUR—Trade is quiet and featureless. There has been no change in prices. We quote: Manitoba wheat patents, $3.45 to $3.55; strong bakers', $3.20 to $3.25; Ontario, $3 to $3.15; straight roller, $2.80 to $2.90.

BRAN—Local millers report a fair demand, and quote selling at $13 per ton.

SHORTS—A slight falling off in trade is reported, and city millers are offering at from $15 to $16 per ton.

SCREENINGS—The demand is good, and local millers are selling at $15 per ton.

WHEAT—Business is dull and prices generally unchanged. Wheat on the street is selling at 53c. for white, 51c, for red, and 50c. for goose.

BARLEY—The market is quiet with prices unchanged. Sales are reported at from 31 to 31½c. per bushel.

OATS—Business is quiet, with sales at from 31 to 32c. per bushel.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Trade is quiet although if anything improving. We quote. Rolled oats and standard oatmeal, $3.80 to $4 per brl.; granulated, $3.85 to $4 45 per brl.; cornmeal, $3 50.

HAY—Receipts of hay have not been large. Prices remain unchanged at from $8 to $9 per ton for car lots of baled, and $8 to $9 for loose.

STRAW—Is steady at $8 per ton.

ST. JOHN, N.B.

Flour continues to go lower. Demand is fair, although that for feeding is perhaps not as active, but is still good and aids much in selling better brands. Cornmeal, as noted elsewhere, is rather lower. According to the opinion of those who should know, the price at the mills is now below cost, and unless a change in corn happens, meal is likely to advance again. Oatmeal and beans are both easier. In oatmeal this was expected, but in beans it was a surprise. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.20 to $4.25; best Ontario, $3.35 to $3.50; medium, $3.25 to $3.35; oatmeal, $4.10 to $4.20; cornmeal, $3 00 to $3.05; granulated, $3.75; middlings on track, $21.50 to $22; bran, $18 to $19; cottonseed meal, $30; oats, local, 35 to 37c.; P.E.I., 41 to 42c.; Ont., 38 to 40c. on cars; beans, hand-picked, $1.55 to $1.60; prime, $1 45 to $1.50; split peas, $3.65 to $3.85; pot barley, $3.85 to $4; round peas, $3 65 to $3.75; hay, on track, $10.50 to $11; American timothy seed, $3.10 to $3.25; red clover, 11½ to 12c.; alsike clover, 13½ to 15c.

MONTREAL.

There has been a good enquiry from abroad for flour and cables in some cases showed an advance of 6d., but the volume of business transacted was small owing to the rise in ocean freight rates, agents now being firm at 10s., as against 8s. 9d. a day or two ago, and the only sale reported was one lot of 500 sacks. A fairly active local trade was reported and values show no change. We quote: Winter wheat, $3.25 to $3.40; spring wheat, patents, $3.25 to $3 40; Manitoba patents, best brands, $3.35 to $3.40; straight roller, $2.80 to $2.90; extra, $2.55 to $2.60; superfine, $2.40 to $2.50; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.20 to $3.30; Manitoba strong bakers', best brands, $3.25 to $3.30. The demand for feed was active and a brisk business was done at firm prices. Bran, $15.50 to $16; shorts, $17; Mouillie, $22. There was no change in the situation of the oatmeal market, business being quiet and principally of a jobbing character at steady prices. Standard, brls., $3.90 to $3.95; granulated, brls., $3.95 to $4; rolled oats, brls., $4 to $4 05; pot barley, per brl., $3.75; split peas, per brl., $3.50 to $3.60.

week, and both it and the St. Lawrence are being pushed to fill their orders.

With the cooler weather bloaters are being put up now 90 to 100 to the box.

L. Chaput, Sons & Co. note some good-sized sales of their fine Barbadoes molasses.

Cables to Rose & Laflamme state that large-size prunes are 1s. dearer at primary markets.

Caverhill, Hughes & Co. report the receipt of some fine lines of new-pack canned corn, peas, and other vegetables.

American buyers have taken 5,000 packages of tea off this market since our last report, further reducing stocks here.

The first carload of fresh smoked herrings this fall was received last Saturday. It sold quickly at 13 to 14c. per lb.

Sales of Ram Lal's tea have been heavy, recently, with Rose & Laflamme, and they are receiving many fresh enquiries.

Southwell's high-class jams and jellies have come to stay. Repeat orders are now being taken for delivery ex s.s. Brazilian, now due in Montreal.

Laporte, Martin & Co. have been large sellers of fine new Valencia raisins. Their stock of all leading brands is a well-assorted one.

Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, have received enquiries during the past week for samples of Robinson's patent barley and Robinson's patent groats from grocers in British Columbia and Prince Edward Island.

Hudon, Hebert & Co. are now fully established in their fine new warehouse on De Bresoles street. It is, indeed, a model place of business.

Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, report an improved enquiry during the past week for several lines represented by them, and are anticipating a good fall trade, especially in fancy confectionery. They expect shortly a full assortment for Christmas trade.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 25, 1894.

BUSINESS for the season of the year is quiet. In teas there is a stronger feeling, particularly in Oolongs. In flour the market is lower than last week. The demand for feeding flour helps to sell the better grades, as in most cases millers will not fill orders for full cars of low grade. The millers in the city grinding cornmeal have put their price down, as demand has been very light, but your correspondent understands that unless corn becomes cheaper they will have to advance again. One of the millers is talking of going into feed grinding, the low price of barley making such possible. There is practically no demand for cornmeal.

SALT—Stocks here are light, but so is demand. There is still some to arrive. Coarse salt, 52 to 55c. ex store; factory filled, $1 to $1.10; Canadian, 5-lb. bags in barrels, $3 25, 10-lb. bags, $3.10; American, in wood boxes, 20-lb., 20c.; 10 lb., 12c.

CANNED GOODS—In salmon most of our merchants find themselves short of stock. In this they are themselves to blame, as they were well informed by the brokers here of the true state of the market. One of the largest buyers, it is reported, is entirely without stock. Prices must go higher. Contrary to the expectations of a great many, the Association is showing staying power. Prices are higher than last year, and but very few good outside the Association are being offered. These reasons, together with the fact that dealers have learned lessons from overstocking in past years, have caused a falling off in orders of about 50 per cent. We quote: Corn, 95c.; peas, 95c.; tomatoes, $1; salmon, talls, $1.30 to $1.35; flats, $1.60 to $1.65; lobsters, $1.75 to $2; finnan haddies, $1.40; corned beef, 1's, $1.75; 2's, $2.75.

DRIED FRUIT AND NUTS—Except a few Valencia raisins via New York at the time of writing none of them bought direct are yet to hand, though of the time this is read at least those bought of one party will be on the market. New figs, prunes, and currants are here, all direct shipments; also new Grenoble walnuts. New California loose muscatels are being offered via New York for prompt shipment, if at anything lower prices than those which have been bought direct will cost, and they can be got here sooner. Prices at the Coast are quoted highes, particularly London layers. The early bought Valencias not arriving when expected a great deal of inconvenience has been caused dealers here. We quote: Sultana raisins, 7 to 7½c.; London layers, $2 to $2.10 for old; new Valencias, 4½ to 5c.; layers, 5¾ to 6c.; new French prunes, 11c.; new currants, brls., 3 to 3¾c.; cases, 3¾ to 5c.; new evaporated apples, 9½ to 10c..; new dried apples, 6¾ to 7c.; new figs, 13 to 16c.; onions, $2 30 to $2.50; Grenoble walnuts, 13 to 15c.; almonds, 13 to 14c.; Brazil, 11 to 12c.; filberts, 9½ to 10c.; pecans, 12 to 13c.; peanuts roasted, 9 to 10c.

GREEN FRUIT—Snow apples are almost a drag, as far as fall fruit is concerned. It looks as if someone will lose money. Reports from Florida point to oranges being higher than last year owing to heavy storms; also that care should be taken in buying early fruit offered, as there will be a large quantity of drops in the market. We quote: Gravenstein apples, 1's, $2; 2's, $1.25 to $1.50; other grades fall apples, 1's, $1.50 to $1.75; 2's, $1 to $1.25; peaches, $1.25 per basket; Messina lemons, $5 to $5 50; oranges, $5.50; bananas, $1.50 to $2; grapes 45 to 60c.; sweet potatoes, $4 to $4.50; Jamaica oranges, $6.50 per brl., $4 per box; quinces, $6 to $6 50 per brl.

DAIRY PRODUCE — Cheese is quiet; it hardly looks as if late makes would bring the price it was expected. It is a great shame the factories did not work more together, as something nearer the Ontario prices could then be obtained. As it is, factories will not put themselves in proper shape to do the business right. An effort in the right direction was made by H. B. White and J. Hunter White, by whom an exchange was formed, but their efforts, although fairly successful, fell short of what they expected. The butter market is rather firmer, with good dairy hard to get. Creamery is also higher, and a further advance is looked for. Eggs are in better demand. We quote: Cheese, 10½ to 11c.; butter, dairy, 20 to 21c.; creamery, 23 to 25c.; eggs, 12 to 13c.; price of cheese at factory, Julys, 9½ to 9¾c.; August and September, 10 to 10¼c.

MOLASSES—Business is quiet, but signs point to a firmer feeling, stocks being light. Barbadoes, 27 to 28c.; choice Porto Rico, 34 to 35c.; Fancy, 42 to 43c.; Antigua, 27 to 28c.; St. Croix, 27 to 28c.; Syrup, 35c.

SUGAR—During the past week German and Dutch samples have been shown both from London and New York, but no business has been reported. Granulated, 4¾ to 4⅞c.; yellows, 3¾ to 3⅞c.; Barbadoes, 3½ to 3¾c. Paris, lump, 6 to 6¼c; pulverized, 6 to 6¼c.

FISH—There is a prospect of the pack of Grand Manan pickled herring being smaller than usual owing to large quantities going to the American side for smoking. No large stock of fish are here. Bay caught cod are not coming in as freely as last year, while pollock are in better supply. Quite a few haddock are being caught. Bay herring are firmer. Dry fish easier. We quote: Large cod fish, $3.90 to $4; medium, $3.60 to $3.75; small, $3 to $3.25: haddock, $1.75; pollock, $1.75 to $1.85; shad, $5 to $5.50; half-barrels bay herring, $1.60 to $1.70; Shelborn, No. 1, $4 to $4.25, half brls., $2.25 to $2.40; canso, $5.25; Grand Manan medium smoked herring, 9 to 10c.; do., lengthwise, 8 to 9c.

PROVISIONS—Pork is lower. The demand for American clear is much lower than usual for this time of year. It is hard to say just why. Some say the falling off is to be accounted for by the extra quantity of native used. Beef is lower. Cottolene, for which there continues to be a good demand, is higher. Clear pork, $20.50 to $21; P. E. I. mess, $17.50 to $18; prime mess, $13.50 to $14.50; plate beef, $13 to $13.50; extra plate, $13.50 to $14; pure lard, 10 to 11c.; compound, 7½ to 9c.; cottolene, 10¼ to 10¾c.

ST. JOHN MARKET NOTES.

American potato buyers are agitating for storehouses through Carleton county, to be erected along the line of railway.

The largest handler of smoked herring in this market is John Sealy, who is said to be always ready to quote lowest prices.

Canadian Horse and Cattle Food, now sold in this market by J. Hunter White, is here, as elsewhere, finding a ready sale.

Edward Ganong, selling "Surprise" soap, paid his regular visit to the city this week. In spite of the sharp competition he reports his sales increasing.

Large quantities of flour from the west continue to come, via Boston, by schooner, the saving in freight being 5 to 10c. per brl. It seems strange the railways cannot give the merchants here the same rate they give outside buyers, whose flour comes to this port for export.

C. & E. Macmichael have now new currants, prunes, and Valencia raisins, which those buying will find, both in quality and price, such as suit the times.

T. H. Estabrook, having given particular care to the selection of teas in all grades, assured THE GROCER he was now able to offer the best values in the market.

C. & E. MacMichael are making a good thing out of "Diamond" baking powder. They have placed it in a number of retail stores where "Royal" was all the go.

Baird & Peters this week received the first car of California canned goods brought to this market. It consisted of some 450 cases, the freight on which was $224. There is another car on the way here for Dearborn & Co.

Theodore H. Estabrooks, St. John, who began a jobbing business in teas, molasses and cocoanuts some months ago, is working up a good connection. He exports cheese, butter, hay, oats, etc, to the West Indies, and receives molasses and cocoanuts in return. He says the change in the tariff admitting free of duty up to No. 16 Dutch Standard, is likely to result in the importation of more raw grocery sugars during another season.

Jardine & Co., St. John, are finding a good sale for Ireland Co.'s cereals, for which they are agents. They are agreeably surprised to find that the goods are as popular in the inland towns and villages as they are in the cities. That they will pay higher prices for a good article would indicate that they are tolerably well off financially.

PERSONAL MENTION.

JOHN Holden, formerly one of Smith & Keighley's travelers, is now on the road for the McAlpine Tobacco Co.

Arch. Wilson, grocer, 35 Queen street, St. Catharines, has taken Capt. Andrew Smith in as a partner in his business. The firm name will now be Wilson & Smith.

R. R. Cherry, eastern representative for Todhunter, Mitchell & Co., has just recovered from a six weeks' seige of typhoid fever. He is again on the road drumming up trade on his old route.

J. W. Borsberry, one of Eby, Blain & Co.'s travelers, is away on a shooting expedition. If he is as good a shot with the gun as he is with his persuasive powers, he ought to come back with a well filled game bag.

C. A. Leaney, W. H. Gillard & Co.'s North Shore traveler, has just reached home after a most successful trip, and reports business over his ground in a much healthier condition than when he last visited that section.

Fred. C. Perry, formerly manager for Graham, Horne & Co, of Fort William, has bought out the grocery stock of A. D. Sutherland & Co., of the same place, and with his experience and energetic business-like methods he should make a success of his new venture.

J. Albert McLean, of Hamilton, has severed his connection with the Canadian branch of L. Schepp's cocoa business.

WHERE THE 20 CENT PIECES COME FROM.

DEAR GROCER,—In the report of the meeting of the Toronto Retail Association, from the enquiry the secretary was instructed to make, I see that the 20 cent pieces are troubling the business men of Ontario as well as those in the Maritime Provinces. It is not the fault of the Finance Department but of the St. John Street Railway Company, which imported 5,000 of them from Newfoundland for the use of their conductors in giving change. A passenger frequently gives 25c. to pay a five-cent fare, and it is very convenient for a conductor to give back a 20c. piece.

These have gone into circulation in many places in New Brunswick. No doubt, those in the west are part of the same lot. They should be sent back. SUBSCRIBER.

Sackville, N.B., October 15th, 1894.

BUSINESS MAN AND POLITICIAN.

G. F. Marter, the new leader of the Conservative party in the Ontario Legislature, has been a successful business man as well as a politician. He is now senior partner of the spice manufacturing firm of G. F. Marter & Son, Toronto. Before that he was a general storekeeper in Gravenhurst, with branches in other towns. He removed to Toronto a few years ago. He was first elected to the Ontario Legislature in 1886. He was then a leading merchant of Gravenhurst, and had been reeve of that town and councillor of Waterford. He was re-elected at the general election of 1890. At the last general election, having removed to Toronto, he successfully contested the north riding of this city, and now the high honor of leader of his party in provincial politics has been bestowed upon him.

Thomas D. Millar, the well-known cheese dealer, of Ingersoll, died Wednesday.

Warren Bros. & Boomer have to hand their first shipment of choicest new crop Oolong teas.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol sell their figs allowing tares on same—not at so much a box. Their Eleme and Erbetti goods are in store

Fred Dixon, Davidson & Hay's head salesman, is a benedict. He was married Wednesday in St. Luke's church to Nana, eldest daughter of R. H. Matson, general manager of the Provident Savings Life Assurance Company. Mr. and Mrs. Dixon are spending their honeymoon in the eastern provinces. Fred is an energetic salesman, a good fellow, an ideal lacrosse player, and no doubt he will make an ideal husband. THE GROCER tenders congratulations.

DRY GOODS.

TORONTO MARKET.

SORTING orders continue meagre in volume owing to the continuance of mild weather. The better trade has not been so much affected as the rural trade, and from outlying districts the demand is not satisfactory.

Spring samples are getting on the road, and are receiving considerable attention. Orders for prints and carpets are said to be ahead of last season, showing that retailers are regaining confidence, and are looking forward to an increased volume of trade in the near future.

John Macdonald & Co. carry Wm. Ayr & Sons' famous horse-blankets. These are probably the best-finished goods of this class in the world. A special line of extra heavy jute blankets are also shown. Lined and unlined jutes are always carried in full range. Fawn blankets, 80 x 80, 7 lbs., and 80 x 80, 8 lbs., in squared and shaped, are good sellers. Some new things in fancy wools are shown in both square and shaped.

Samson, Kennedy & Co. are showing fine lines of nobby tweed effects in 42-inch goods. These are peculiar goods, some having a sort of mottled or heathery effect, others the same effect in green, blue and grey. Japanese goods in metal card trays and ash trays are shown in great range, as well as numerous other lines of this class of novelties. American novelties are also shown in long range, including workboxes, dressing cases, smoking sets, photo. cases in metal and wood effect, photo. frames, white metal card receivers, mirrors in bronze, oxydised and silver, white metal pin trays, candelabras, inkstands in bronze and white metal, and many other taking lines. Fancy pins in metal and horn, and brownie and enamel stick pins are re-stocked. Fancy cushions and headrests in the newest and latest designs; painted goods including panels, placques, paperweights, finger bowls, etc.; new and tasty fancy Christmas cards; purses in many varieties—all these are goods specially purchased for the coming holiday trade.

A line of Golf capes is just to hand with John Macdonald & Co., in tweed and fancy mixtures. They are shown in different lengths, and with plaid linings, and are quoted at popular prices. The design and finish of these goods make them specially suitable for the present trade.

MONTREAL MARKET.

The dry goods market has continued fairly active during the past week, while the firm tendency of values in the wool market and on woolen material generally is having some effect on buyers. Fine dress goods, winter underclothing, hosiery, and flannels, etc., have all shared in the good sorting demand that has been experienced this week.

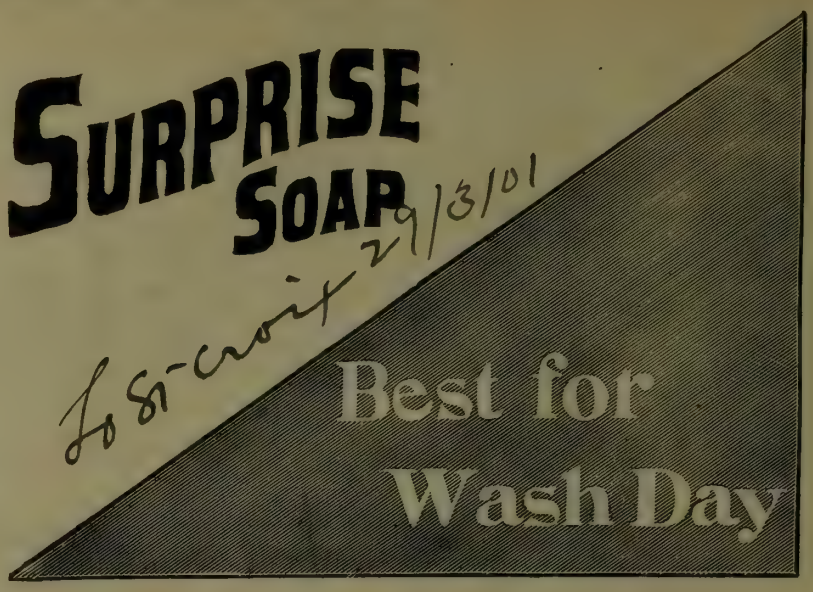
S. Greenshields, Son & Co report a continued active enquiry for cravenettes and other waterproof goods, and also for Priestley's fine dress goods.

Cape cloths have been an active line with Brophy, Cains & Co, and the fine line of stock, ex Sarnia, which has been already referred to, has been attracting quite a lot of attention.

COMBINATION ON WINDOW SHADES

There will be one less manufacturer of blinds, shades, awnings, etc., in Canada after December. The MacFarlane Shade Co., whose factory is on King street west, Toronto, just beyond the subway, has been bought by the Geo. H Hees Co. The MacFarlane Co. was organized by Mr. MacFarlane who was a partner in the MacFarlane, MacKinlay Co., also of Toronto. He showed the large profits to be made in the business and induced some local capitalists to go in. About $20,000 was invested, but the concern has never been profitable as it is said that Mr. MacFarlane has been too extravagant in his ideas.

This absorption will leave the Canadian field to two companies, and prices will be advanced to such a figure that both concerns, Hees & Co. and Menzie, Turner & Co., will make big profits. They have been working this year in combination and prices have been firmly maintained. Next year, as one of those interested remarked to THE GROCER, we will have the field to ourselves and the trade will have to pay our prices.



SURPISE SOAP Is offered for sale by all Wholesale Grocers in Canada of good standing.

ALASKA SALMON PACK.

UP to date of last mail advice twenty-seven vessels of the Alaska salmon fleet had arrived at San Francisco, bringing a total of 546,116 cases of canned salmon and 25,711 barrels of salted salmon. The total pack last season was 605,643 cases, and the indications are that the work for the season of 1894 will turn out to be quite as large. Of the receipts thus far this year about 431,000 cases went to the Alaska Packers' Association. The outside pack would thus be about 115,000 cases, or enough to have some influence upon the market. The Association have made no change in the prices and terms that were adopted last month. The outsiders stand just where they did at that time, and quote about 2½c. per dozen under the Association prices. Jobbers have been slow this season in the matter of placing orders. Commission merchants have acted conservatively also since the Association scheme realized only small profits last season. The export movement, apart from consignments by the Association, has been moderate. In fact, the general movement has been disappointing, and present appearances are that buyers are more than usually inclined to follow conservative policy in the near future. That such is the best plan is clear. In any event, statistics make it plain that there will be enough Alaska salmon to go around, and that the pack of Columbia River and outside fish has been sufficient to supply a good-sized outlet for these varieties. Jobbers' sales of salmon during the past six weeks have, according to most accounts, been rather below the average for the season, and it is therefore presumed that the consumption has fallen off. This, along with absence of anything in the situation indicative of relatively larger movement later on, seems to have more weight with jobbers than any other influence bearing upon the market.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

END OF THE PASS-BOOK.

One of the greatest impositions upon the retail dealer, remarks an exchange, is the pass-book system. He is not only expected to keep his own books, but also to keep those of nearly all his customers. While they expect the book to be properly kept and always correspond with the dealer's books, they are careless about bringing it, and endless annoyance and confusion is caused. This is bringing the coupon system more than ever into prominence.

It does away with bookkeeping, saves the dealer much annoyance and labor, prevents all loss in forgetting to charge the goods sold, and by offering them at a slight discount you can soon put your business on a cash basis. The customer likes them because their is no disputing at settlement and he knows that no goods can be charged to him by mistake.

THE CANADA MEAT CO.

It is understood that the difficulties of the Canada Meat Packing Co. were settled last week. The company was originally capitalized at $100,000, all of which was paid up. Recently they have been in deep water, the chief encumbrances being a mortgage of $35,000 and directors' notes to the extent of about $30,000. At the meeting referred to an offer of $64,750 was made and accepted.

This settlement will simply wipe out the shareholders' interest entirely, and it is understood to have been made by the directors who had given their personal paper to help the concern along. They will assume full control of the concern in the future.

BIG BUGS TAKE IT.

THE CANADIAN GROCER says: "Mrs. Partington has been equalled if not outdone by a Toronto woman. She had some 'commercial travelers' in the house, that she desired to drive out. So, summoning her little girl, she sent her to a near-by drug store with this note: 'Please give this little girl 10c. worth of Grocers Suppliment. It is for bed bugs.' What she wanted was corrosive sublimate."

Had it been THE CANADIAN GROCER'S supplement she required she did not put up enough money. THE CANADIAN GROCER is worth more than ten cents any time, without any supplement, and lots of "big bugs" take it too.—Herald of Commerce, Detroit

BOY WANTED!

"BOY wanted!" Two short words! Much depends on how you read them. A boy is wanted, but that is not all. A heart, a will, a brain, a soul is called for, and the applicant may answer the call earnestly or carelessly.

A boy was wanted, and the great merchant handed one bright but quiet looking boy who applied a business letter which he had just written and asked him to copy it with a pen. The merchant's letter had the word "separately" in it spelled s-e-p-e-r, but the boy wrote it s-e-p-a-r, and fearing that he might be misjudged, he pointed out the difference he had made. The merchant laughed, but the quiet boy was so sure that a dictionary was consulted, and he got the place. That boy was Thomas Tileston, afterwards one of the merchant princes of New York.

To hold your place, put purpose in your work. Your schooling will be past; make this a new line of education. If you consider it a slavery, it will be so. If you will make it a stairway by which to ascend to better things it will be so. Lift your work up and you will mount with it. "Seest thou a man diligent in his business. He shall stand before kings; he shall not stand before mean men."

Do not measure your work by the wages. A bookmaker at the races is better paid than a clerk in a bank, and a bartender gets more than a shipping-clerk, but they are paid more only because their positions are undesirable. Work cannot in all cases be measured by the wages. Two opposing pickets in the late war were chaffing one another. It was an Irishman who was on this side. "What are you fighting in the Yankee army for, anyhow?" asked the Confederate. "I'm fighting for thirteen dollars a month, and I belave you're fighting for eleven," was the quick reply.

Don't read trash. The dime-novel boy who jumps up from a dream of Indians, of love, of ransoms and of pirates, to do plain office duty, is rarely a success. Life is real, life is earnest, and the best way to work in it is to get your own living and do your duty in whatever place it has pleased God to put you. If you are preaching at one end of the world's great cathedral, or playing the organ at the other end, do your work with your whole soul. It may in the end be your work to be a poor missionary or, on the other hand, to be a promoter of great public works. Do either well, and do not think that by merely despising the world's honors that you will merit the favor of heaven. It may be idleness, not piety. One of the greatest preachers of the day said: "Whenever I hear a young man despising the world's honors, I know that he is afraid of the world's work."

Put some excitement into your work. Do you know that the world is betting on your success or failure? Two-thirds at least say that you will not succeed. The other third, including your relatives and friends, have their money up that you will. Then don't get tired. A lazy little boy said: "Pa, haven't I sawed enough wood to-day? I'm tired!" "Tired!" exclaimed the father. "Why, I bet your mother ten cents that you would have the whole pile sawed before supper." "You did!" shouted the boy, as he grabbed the saw and spat on both hands. "You bet ten cents on me? If the saw holds out, dad, I'll win the money." It is easy to work the muscles when the mind is enlisted in the service!

Do not sit idle and wait for orders. Try to find some work to do. A boy sat at his desk drumming with his idle fingers. "I can tell you what tune you are playing," said the manager. The boy drummed on and asked, "What am I playing?" "You are playing the fool," was the reply.—Artemus Ward, in Fame.

TRADE CHAT.

PHILIPS BROS. are erecting a creamery near Rednersville. It will be one of the largest in this section.

The Hamilton, Grimsby and Beamsville Electric Company, will, it is said, run cars on Sunday.

S. M. Bark, Winnipeg, is making up his sixth carload of butter and cheese for British Columbia this season.

Mr. O'Kelly, the soda-water manufacturer, Winnipeg, after a long struggle with typhoid, is able to attend to business again.

G. Redcliffe, grocer, Toronto, was thrown out of his buggy on his way to Woodbridge Fair last week. His arm was dislocated.

Hugh and Evan McDonald have returned from Orangeville, where they were disposing of a large bankrupt stock.—Guelph Herald.

J. B. Mothersill, butcher, Oshawa, has a cow which gave birth to triplets the other evening. The animals were all perfectly formed, and at present are doing well.

Fully 30,000 barrels of apples have gone forward already from Annapolis Valley to the English market, via Halifax, besides the large quantity of early fruit sent to Halifax, St. John and elsewhere.

Shipments of apples from the United States and Canada are increasing. During the week ending October 14th Atlantic ports and Montreal cleared 52,818 brls., as against 48,163 brls. in the same week in 1893. Montreal cleared 18,433 brls.

At a special meeting of the Toronto Board of Trade on Monday, a resolution was carried endorsing the present policy of the Council of the Board in agitating for a fourteen-foot channel from the lakes to the ocean by the St. Lawrence.

James McCaffrey has been appointed to the chief clerkship of the Customs House, Toronto, made vacant by the death of Thomas McLean, and John Cowan was appointed to the vacancy made by Mr. McCaffrey's promotion.

Mr. Carbonneau, manager for the Canadian Trading and Shipping Company, Montreal, has returned east. He has established agencies of his company at Vancouver and in Winnipeg, the latter with Velie, Carey & Co, Shipments of live stock from the port of Montreal for the week ending October 20 were: Cattle, 1,588; sheep, 6,881. Shipments up to October 20, 1893, 75,513 cattle, 753 sheep; shipments up to October 20, 1894, 76,132 cattle, 110,197 sheep.

There would appear to be a great scarcity of potatoes in the States, and the supply in Manitoba is being heavily drawn on. From the district of Portage la Prairie thirty carloads have already been shipped to St. Paul, Chicago and elsewhere. The consumers must pay a fancy price, for the potatoes are purchased at 25 cents a bushel at the Portage, the duty is 15 cents, and the freight about 18 cents a bushel, or a total of 58 cents a bushel. When the dealer has got his share of profit, potatoes must be recognized as a luxury for the rich only.

Within a comparatively short period Inspector Awde, of Toronto, has seized and destroyed 1,378 boxes of salt fish, a steer suffering from tuberculosis, and four hogs with measles. In addition to this the inspector has ordered the destruction of a quantity of diseased and decayed vegetables and fruit. Short weight bread and butter and short measure potatoes have also been confiscated in several cases.

The Telfer Bros., of Collingwood, are shipping daily large quantities of apples to the North and Northwest, and, notwithstanding the fact that the yield per acre is less than for many years past, the aggregate supply will compare favorably with past years, owing to the coming in of many young orchards. Fruit grown in the Georgian Bay district is much sought after, owing to its hardness and fineness of flavor.

During the 120 days the Sherbrooke creamery was in operation it received 553,185 pounds of milk and produced 24,563 pounds of butter. In July the quantity of milk used to each pound of butter was 23.11 pounds, in August 22.50 pounds, and in September 21 pounds. The amount distributed to patrons was $3,805, the average being 68 cents per hundred pounds of milk, or 19.22 cents per pound of butter.

The other evening while W. Osborne, grocer, of Bowmanville, was returning home from Oshawa, he was run into by another rig and thrown out of his buggy, sustaining several severe cuts on his head and being bruised generally. He was knocked insensible, and the parties who upset him drove off and left him lying there. His horse ran away and was stopped by two men who met it, and came along with a lantern looking for the driver. He was picked up and carried back to Oshawa, where Dr. Rae dressed his wounds. He was taken home, and has not been able to leave his bed since. One of the cuts is over four inches long.

QUEENSLAND SUGAR CROPS.

The statistics of the Queensland sugar crops have just been published giving the complete figures up to the end of last year. It is interesting to note that since 1892 the number of mills has been reduced by eleven, which points to concentration in manufacture. The increase of acreage under crops last year as compared with the present season was 3,852 acres, giving an additional 14,788 tons of manufactured sugar. Improved methods of dealing with the cane have resulted in obtaining 1.74 tons per acre sugar last year, as against 1.51 the year before. The value of Queensland sugar at ports of shipment is £12. The product of 1.74 tons of sugar giving nearly £21 per acre, contrasts favorably with 12.25 bushels of wheat, valued at say 36s. 9d. per acre, or 19.50 bushels of maize worth from £2 7s. 6d. to £2 17s. The present crop will produce a still greater increase, as nearly 100,000 tons of marketable sugar will be available. The increased production and a slight cheapening in distributing prices have promoted a more general demand for whites, and station owners are now adopting a better class of sugar for ration purposes.—London Grocer.

The Collar Expanded

Our latest specialty for the tea trade is a 1-lb. Folding Caddy, on which we have just been granted a patent by the Dominion Government. It is in appearance an exact representation of a regular China tea chest with matting, and as a tea package beats everything on the market for three reasons :

1st. Because it is much cheaper than a hand-made box.

2nd. Because being a knock-down box it takes up little or no room, and

3rd. Because being a machine-made box there is no paste or glue to taint the tea, which has been one of the greatest objections to the old style tea caddies.

CRANBERRIES AND THE TARIFF.

IF the culture of cranberries in Canada cannot be made a success it will be from either, or both, of these reasons. The people have not brains enough to cultivate them or they are not indigenous to the country.

As this latter reason could not be advanced, it is obvious that the fault will lie in case of failure with either the producers or those who have the preparation of the native berry for market.

One thing is certain, the Federal Government has not been unsolicitous for the welfare of the industry. The only question that may arise with some in this respect is whether the Government has not been too careful for its development. But that is a question for the politicians to debate.

Under the new tariff the duty on cranberries is 25 per cent., or at the price cranberries are selling to-day, $2 50 per barrel. The duty was 30c. per bushel under the old tariff.

The effect of this higher duty has been to lessen materially the importation of Cape Cod and Jersey cranberries and to turn the attention of the Canadian consumers more towards the domestic article.

The price of the imported berries is, according to our last week's market report, $10 to $11 per barrel against $6.50 to $7 per barrel a year ago. The gain, it will be observed, is thus nearly equal to the advance in the duty.

The domestic cranberries we are now getting on the Toronto market are received from Ontario and Nova Scotia. The quality of the fruit grown in the latter province is excellent and well takes the place of the imported kinds ; but the quality of the Ontario sort is unsatisfactory. No attempt appears to have been made to prepare them for market. White berries, small berries, and all kinds of berries are jumbled in together.

True the Nova Scotia cranberries are cultivated and the Ontario sort are wild, or largely so, but obviously the quality of the latter could be much improved by their being sorted before being shipped to market.

The Government has imposed a high duty on cranberries for the benefit of those engaged in the cultivation and marketing of them, and common decency should induce those specially benefitted to do all they can to supply the best possible article. It is scarcely necessary to say that these latter remarks are especially directed to the attention of the Ontario growers and shippers.

If they do not supply a better article they may wake up some morning and find that the feeding bottle has been taken away from them.

HIS BEST INVESTMENT.

"When cutting down expenses I have several times thought of giving up THE GROCER," said George Rackham, Charlottetown, P.E I, "but found that I would lose money if I did, for it is one of my best investments. Here is $2 for another year in advance."

EXEMPT ALL FACTORIES OR NONE.

WHILE various concerns are asking exemption from taxation in different parts of Canada, but especially in Ontario cities and towns, it will be interesting to the councils of these municipalities to know that in Nova Scotia they do not now grant exemptions.

The thing is being carried too far. A manufacturing concern has no difficulty in working the members of a council and the residents of a town by showing how the industry would benefit them. Like the company promoter or the lottery agent they catch the people easily with stories of the great future of their town—how it will expand in wealth and area once this particular factory is under way. The average citizen is very susceptible to flattery of this sort. The wish is father to the thought. He always thinks there is a greater future before his town if some one would only develop it. He is carried away and a majority vote is easily obtained. There are very few instances in which he would not vote the other way five years later.

A paternal government has decided that its subjects should be protected from lotteries by prohibiting them because the prospects of making money through them are so plausible that they cannot withstand them.

The Nova Scotia Legislature recognizes this principal and will not permit a municipality to exempt any industry. At one time a town would, by a majority vote, decide to exempt a factory and then ask the Legislature to pass an act permitting it, and they did so in a few instances. Now, however, they positively refuse to do so. Other provincial legislatures should do the same.

THE MOLASSES TARIFF.

PROBABLY no tariff, and its accompanying rulings, has ever been the cause of so much discontent among the grocery trade as that passed at the last session of Parliament.

The latest source of discontent is the ruling of the department in regard to molasses.

Clause 397, dealing with this article, reads :

Molasses produced in the process of the manufacture of cane sugar from the juice of the cane when imported in the original packages from the district where produced in the country where the cane was grown and which has not been subjected to any process of treating or mixture after leaving the country from which originally shipped. The packages in which imported, when of wood to be free.

(a) Testing by polariscope, 40 degrees or over, a specific duty of 1½c. per gallon.

From a careful reading of this clause one gathers that as long as the molasses is imported in the original package from the district where produced in the country where the cane was grown, and evidence was adduced to satisfy the Customs authorities that such was the case, the duty would be 1½c. per gallon. That appears clear.

No stipulations, it will be observed, are laid down as to where the molasses shall be bought in order to come under this clause. The only restrictions are as to package and non-mixture. Accordingly, the trade continued as before, to buy in New York.

In order to protect itself in this lat er particular the Customs department prepared an affidavit to which all importers had to subscribe when passing an entry. In this entry oath was taken that the package was the original package, and that the contents had been subjected to no process of treatment or mixture after leaving the country from which originally shipped.

This very affidavit is in itself evidence that no restriction was intended as to where the molasses was bought.

But aside altogether from the affidavit, the fact as to whether the package was of Cypress wood or not was pretty good evidence whether it was original or not, for not only are the barrels in which New Orleans molasses is shipped made of this wood, but they are of capacity peculiar to themselves.

For a time all was plain sailing. Importers purchased New Orleans molasses on the ba-is of 1½c. per ga'lon profit, and it was passed through the Customs at that figure.

But there was a bomb shell simmering, and one day it burst suddenly. An edict was issued to those who had passed entries that they must have them amended ; and then, to their consternation they were informed that a further addition of 5½c. per gallon had been made to the rate of duty, thus necessitating their paying 7c. per gallon instead of 1½c. per gallon. Of course they were wrathy, but all they could do in the meantime was to protest.

Then, and not till then, did the importers know that a new interpretation had been put by the department on clause 397.

According to this new interpretation molasses must be imported direct from the place of production in order to come in under the 1½c. per gallon duty.

Ordinary mortals can find nothing in the clause either expressed or implied that would warrant this interpretation being put upon it, and they are wondering what kind of glasses the Department wears that it can see what is not visible to them. Equally surprising to them is how molasses can qualify to come under the syrup clause, which stipulates a duty of seven cents per gallon.

Toronto, Hamilton, London, in fact all the Western importers at any rate, have got their guns trained on the Customs department, and are not inclined to cease firing till they get the anomaly removed.

To be compelled to pay a duty of seven cents will be a serious loss to a good many merchants, for not only have some of them sold to arrive on the 1½c. per gallon basis, but having paid for their shipments before they got the goods, as is customary, they have no redress from those from whom they purchased.

CURRANT AND FIG TARES.

ONE of the most simple and easy methods by which retailers are often deceived is in regard to tares.

Instances of this are frequently cropping up. Two were drawn to the attention of THE GROCER this week. One was in regard to currants and the other had reference to figs.

The most important is in regard to currants. It is alleged that some houses along the street are not allowing sufficient tare on them.

It is charged that they do not allow the retailer the marked package weights, but instead place on the invoice their own figures. For instance, a retailer buys ten half barrels of currants, but instead of allowing the marked weights, the wholesale strikes an average of, say 20 lbs. Clearly this is not right.

In regard to figs. Some houses sell by the gross weight, allowing nothing for tare, and sometimes no discounts for cash. They usually quote a cent or more pound lower than the house which sells net, consequently, not unfrequently the retailer who purchases at the higher figure pays really less than he who buys at the lower.

These are little matters that members of the trade need to keep their eyes open regarding, as it may prevent the loss of many good dollars during the course of a year.

BEST PLACE TO START BUSINESS.

WHERE is the best place for a young man with small capital to start a general store? This is the question that a correspondent signing himself "A. J. C." asks in a daily paper.

Yes, where? That is the question. Go into what city, town, village or hamlet one may there does not appear to be room.

Already competition has become so keen, we are told, that it is the death rather than the life of trade, nearly every merchant you meet informing you that not only is business now divided up among so many, but that the percentage of profits too has sunk almost to below a living point.

Obviously under such conditions it is a difficult matter to say "where is the best place for a young man with small capital to start a general s ore."

This does not mean, however, that there is no place in which "a young man with small capital" can start.

Crowded as may be the field, there is always room at the top for the young man with capital, experience, brains and perseverance. Where these are wanting poor are any young man's chances of success.

No matter how well qualified and fortified a young man may be for business it would be unwise for him to settle down haphazard anywhere.

Before the birds of the air build their nests they select the spots that their instinct tells them are the best. And as the young man starting into business should carefully select the locality and stand in which his better judgment informs him is the best.

Because a certain place or locality has a large number of stores it does not always follow that there is no room for more. There is probably not room for dull, dirty storekeepers. Likely enough there are too many of them already. But a live, wide-awake man settled down among them would shine out with a brightness that would put them entirely in the shade.

The character of the stock a young man proposes to carry should weigh with him when he is looking around for a store, especially in the cities and larger towns : The character of the stock should be in keeping with the locality.

"A. J. C." can find out better for himself where the best place is for him to start a general store. If he is not qualified for this he is scarcely qualified to be a general merchant.

BUYING COUNTERFEIT MONEY.

NOT very long ago the correspondence of a man who was offering green goods —counterfeit money—was captured by the authorities. The man was a Canadian who served an apprenticeship and traveled for a wholesale house in Toronto. He was the son of very respectable parents, and was engaged to one of the handsomest girls in the city, who is now the wife of a well-known and wealthy Toronto gentleman. Somehow things did not go right, and he drifted to New York about ten years ago, where he boasted that he was doing well. He was always on the lookout for Canadians visiting that city, and, putting himself in their way, generally contrived to show them the sights at their expense, and borrow a few dollars—for he knew that visitors were always flush. He pretended to be a stock-broker, and was always supposed to live at one of the best hotels. From time to time people in all parts of Canada received long letters, type written on foolscap, offering counterfeit Canadian bills at the rate of about $1,000 for $100, and showing how easily a man could in this way get enough to make him comfortable the rest of his life. The method of procedure is well known. The would-be handler of counterfeit exchanges his good money with a confederate for a $1,000 sealed package, which he is cautioned not to open until he reaches the secret recesses of his home. Instead of crisp bills it contains green paper.

What the ex-Canadian made out of the scheme is not known, but he had a great deal of correspondence. From the mass examined by THE GROCER, it was seen that a number of fairly well known business men were implicated ; a few of them even wrote on their own letter heading. Most of them are eminently respectable citizens.

There were two letters from a manufacturer who is a prominent figure in the general gatherings of his particular church, and who always wants to open all business meetings with prayer. He wanted to take $1,000 on trial. If these worked well he would take a large amount. He would not go to New York, but wanted to meet the seller at Brockville, which, he said, was just across from Ogdensburg.

Another feature was the number of letters from particular localities. One county in Eastern Canada was unusually well represented, and it is a remarkable fact that the business men in this particular locality are specially noted by travelers for frequent sharp practice in their dealings.

The green goods man is probably now in Canada, for he was seen in Montreal a short time ago. He is a rather handsome fellow, though showing a few signs of dissipation, and dresses very well. When the writer last saw him, a few years ago, he was entering the Grand Union hotel with a St. John merchant. It was known at that time what business he was engaged in, for a number of his circulars were signed with his correct name. Many readers will thus be able to place him. His name is withheld, because he is the idol of his mother's heart, and she knows nothing of his doings. To his credit, he has been extremely kind to her.

PEDLARS IN P. E. ISLAND.

THE members of the Prince Edward Island Legislature are probably more in touch with the people they represent than those of any other province. They have therefore done more to suppress the peddling system than any other province. Very many years ago, long before Confederation, they passed an act of the reign of William IV., which gave them power to license pedlars. This they still have and control, excepting in Charlottetown and Summerside, which have power to regulate them by their own by-laws.

Outside of these places the Provincial authorities now collect an annual license fee of $20 for a one-horse waggon and $10 for a packman or pedlar on foot. If a man takes two horses he pays an extra $20.

This act applies to residents and non-residents alike. The unfairness of this has been evident for some time, and at the last session of the Legislature an act was passed reducing the residents fee to $15 per annum for a man with a horse and cart, and $7.50 for a man alone, while non-residents were very properly to pay $50. Lieut.-Governor Howlan refused to assent to this bill, but submitted it to the Dominion Government. He did not give any reason for his refusal to sign it, but a member of the Government informed THE GROCER that it was probably due to a doubt in his mind whether the Legislature had power to pass such a bill. If this be the case, and it seems likely, it will have an important bearing on the action any of the other legislatures may take. To THE GROCER His Honor said he hoped the Governor-in-Council would report his decision on the bill by the first of the year.

In Charlottetown they have no regular pedlar's license, but they compel these people who assemble on the market square to hawk their wares to pay $1 to $2 a day. A man who does not compete with the local merchants is charged $1, while those who sell goods which are handled by any of the retailers in the town must pay $2 a day.

The people on the Island have had more or less trouble with these fakirs. Many of them are the worst class of foreigners. They have compelled people to buy their wares with threats. They have demanded food, and forced unprotected women to give it to them by pointing revolvers at them. These are the men some St. John merchants objected to decorate with numbered badges, fearing it might degrade their manhood.

It may not be generally known that every commercial traveler who visits the Island is compelled to pay a license fee of $15 before doing business. In case of neglect to do so, there is a fine of $200.

HOW TO SUCCEED IN BUSINESS.

MR. LOGAN has been 27 years in trade in Pictou, N.S. He knows his business thoroughly; and though he has not made a fortune, he has not been unsuccessful. He is given better than an average rating by the mercantile agencies. He has always paid his accounts in full, and is proud of it, as all business men should be. His experience is therefore worth something to the younger generation of dealers. He is still a yound man himself, about forty-seven.

To THE GROCER he said that his experience had taught him two important principles on which success in business was based : Always to sell at a profit and to collect the accounts. He had always made a profit on what he sold, but he had not been prompt enough in collecting his accounts. If he had he would have been able to retire with enough to live well the remainder of his life.

Te sell at a profit he found that it was necessary to handle honest goods, the best that his customers could use. In this way he worked up a permanent reputation for having reliable goods only. He did not offer any baits, as is done by many merchants by cutting prices on some lines or giving away pictures, books, crockery, etc., depending on making up by extra profits on other artfcles which most merchants found to their sorrow they were never able to do, for the customers somehow bought these other lines at some other store. Taking the year in and out customers will do as well with the man who does not offer baits. This they realize in time and become permanent customers. The desire of the price-cutter is to do a large business, but it is safer and more profitable to make 10 per cent. on a $10,000 business than 5 per cent. on $20,000. In the latter business there are greater losses from shrinkage and other causes.

His method of collection has been his weak feature. He had given too much credit, and like everyone else who had done the same had lost much money. Not only did he lose money by long credits, but they caused him much worry. When accounts were about due he would spend a great amount of valuable time in endeavoring to get portions of the amounts due him to meet them. This time should have been spent in his store attending to customers and watching his business. Many dealers do not charge a man's time in making collections against the account, but they should. Mr. Logan is now working his business into a cash basis. He is collecting monthly, and on good accounts quarterly, allowing 3 per cent. off for cash.

His views should be carefully considered by those who are not following them out. For every one who cuts prices, gives long credits and succeeds THE GROCER will name at least ten who fail.

MIGHT HAVE BEEN A MILLIONAIRE

ON Monday last, while THE CANADIAN GROCER was talking to Mr. Craig, of Hogg, Craig & Co., grocers and lobster packers, Pictou, N.S., a farmer named Porter, who lives near that town, stepped in o the private office. Before closing the door he looked round to see that he was not followed. When he felt safe he produced a bag containing eighty Spanish doubloons, and wanted to sell them for more modern currency. Mr. Craig, who at one time traveled for a London, Ont., biscuit house, is known all over Canada for his extensive collections of rare stamps and coins. From Porter's story the doubloons have been in an old stocking in his family for over 90 years, and the dates on them prove this They were accumulated by his grandfather and transferred to his father, who kept them intact all his life.

When Mr. Craig and THE GROCER figured what they would have amounted to had Mr. Porter's grandfather invested, instead of hoarding them, they found that he would have been more than a millionaire, which made the old man open his mouth. A doubloon was worth about $16 a hundred years ago. Eighty of them would have been equal to $1,280. Seven per cent. is not too high a rate of interest to figure on, for twenty-five years ago ten to fifteen per cent. was not rare. A sum will about double itself every ten years at seven per cent. compound interest, so that in a hundred years the eighty doubloons would have amounted to $1 317,120. There are many others just as thoughtless as were Mr. Porter and his ancestors. That gentleman is now looking for an investment.

INTERIOR STORE ARRANGEMENT.

FOR a store in which a large business is done, where no package is likely to lie on the shelves for any length of time, and where plenty of help is employed, glass casing for protecting the goods is not necessary. Some stores in the fly season use netting only; others distribute fly paper about freely and put nothing over the goods. They depend upon themselves or their clerks to keep the shelves dusted and the store clear of flies.

In one of the most attractive retail stores THE GROCER has been in for some time, the proprietor had gone carefully into the matter, and as a result, he fitted the part of shelves nearest the entrance with sliding glass fronts. The remainder he left untouched. The portion with glass fronts he used for his bread and cake, for he carries on a bakery in connection with his grocery business. The open shelving he keeps filled all the time, which gives the place a much more substantial appearance than most stores which put up a front line only and fill orders from the cases, under the counter or piled up outside. Sales are always made from the front line and a clean package is brought from the back so that it always has a fresh appearance. When there are so many packages on the shelves greater attention is required from the clerks to keep them in order. This takes a good deal of time and prevents any loafing which looks so unbusinesslike. When he finds a clerk neglects to dust them and leaves his shelves untidy he waits until closing time. He then draws attention to it and keeps the careless clerk half an hour later. He has seldom to punish him this way a second time.

WITH THE RETAILERS.

G. P. LEATH, of Spry, has just finished putting a large addition to his store. He has now one of the finest stores in the county of Bruce.

George Lang, grocer, Milton, has moved into his new store,

James R. Reynolds, grocer, Wingham, has sold out to a Mr. Snell.

D. A. McClure, groceries and crockery, Wingham, is selling out and retiring from business.

W. Woodcock, of Norland, who was burned out some months ago, has again started up.

Ruttan & Co., of Manitou, Man, are opening a Patrons' supply store at Crystal City, Man.

W. G. Davey, who recently returned from North Dakota, has bought out his son, W. Davey, Bobcaygeon.

James Firstbrook, formerly of Toronto, has bought out the grocery business of Mrs. A. Arthurs, of Acton.

James Timmins, who bought out the Nightingale stock at Alliston, will carry on business at the old stand.

H. A. Schuerman, grocer, of Waterloo, has moved his stock to Berlin, where he will continue business. Mr. Schuerman had been storekeeping in Waterloo for some years.

E. Noice, general merchant, Minden, has returned from an extended trip to the North-West. He had an enjoyable time, and comes back with a high opinion of the country in which he has been sojourning.

Henry Ursladt, one of the oldest grocers in Waterloo, is dead. He was one of the best known grocers in that part of the country. The wife and daughter of the deceased will, for the time being, carry on the business

M. Hopkins, general merchant, Kinmount, has extended his business lately. He has put groceries and provisions in one store, hardware in another, and dry goods and boots and shoes in a third. "Mr. Hopkins," said a traveler, "is one of the most prosperous merchants in the province, and in addition to his general business does a large trade in lumber."

Morton & Co., of Fort William, are giving up the dry goods department of their business, and are offering the stock at a rate on the dollar. The opportunity is said to be a good one for anyone starting into business at Fort William.

F. J. Gillespie, of Midland, general merchant, Justice of the Peace, and Warden of the county of Ontario, has been nominated by the Reform party of North Ontario to contest that constituency in the next Dominion election. Honors are heaping fast upon Mr. Gillespie these days, but he is worthy of them.

AN INJUSTICE RE PEDLARS.

The most important business up for discussion at the last meeting of the Property Committee of the Toronto City Council was what the Licensed Pedlars regarded as a gross injustice—the imposition of fees upon some pedlars, while others are allowed to go free of license, because the question as to the city's right to collect fees is now before the Privy Council. The magistrate has refused to convict those who have not paid their license fees, and M. W. Butler, who spoke for the 83 pedlars who have paid their $20 fee, demanded that the others who have not paid their fees should be forced to do so, or that the fees already paid should be returned.

Mr. Awde explained that, pending the decision in London of the case of Virgo against Toronto, as to whether the city can prevent pedlars from plying their calling on certain streets, the magistrate would give no decision. The city at present, pending this decision, was issuing licenses to peddle on all streets, but, for some reason, the men would not pay their licenses, although the litigation did not involve the point as to whether the city had the power to force hawkers to pay license fees, and which was secured by the Ontario Statutes.

It was decided, on the motion of Ald. Frankland, to obtain a legal opinion from the Solicitor.

The H. G. & B. trains carried big crowds of people Saturday and yesterday, and the trains all ran on time. The rails for the completion of the track in the city have not yet arrived, but they are expected in a few days. A deputation from the company will shortly interview the Beamsville Council in regard to the extension of the railway to that village.—Herald, Hamilton.

Surveyers are still out locating the line of the proposed Hamilton, Waterdown and Guelph Electric Railway. The chief difficulty they have met so far is to find an easy grade into Waterdown, and at one time it was thought a spur would be needed to connect with that village, but by choosing a slightly different location, it is now hoped this obstacle will be overcome.

The Assets Co. is the name of a new association with a capital of $200,000, whose object is to acquire bankrupt estates, either by purchase or otherwise, and to realize the same in the best manner possible. It is proposed to hold weekly sales by auction for the disposal of the merchandise. It is understood that goods will only be sold in limited quantities at a time, so that stocks will not be sold en bloc to retail merchants, as at present. A profit is expected from this process. The main object of the company, however, is to prevent the breaking of the markets by the slaughter of bankrupt stocks. The company will remove all merchandise which it purchases from the premises of the insolvents to its warehouse, where it will be put in saleable shape and disposed of in lots, so that no dealer will become possessed of an estate to the injury of his neighbor.—Gazette, Montreal.

Ye Ancient Ballad of Jack and Jill.

(ADAPTED TO DATE.)

Jack and Jill went up the hill
To fetch a pail of water,
Jack had great admiration for
Jill's mother's blue-eyed daughter.

"How tiresome it used to be"
Quoth lovely, laughing Jill,
"To carry those old wooden pails
For water up this hill.

That pail! with cracks twixt every stave,
We could not pause a minute,
But had to hurry all the time
To save the water in it.

So badly balanced! If you gave
A single glance at me,
A dreadful spill upon the hill
There straightway sure would be.

Until that day! that happy day,"
Here Jill gave way to laughter,
"When you fell down and broke your crown,
And I came tumbling after.

Then mother bought an Eddy's pail
Of Indurated Ware,
A perfect dream! No hoop or seam,
And balanced true with care."

"Why, yes," quoth Jack, "my darling Jill,
In June when we are mated,
We'll buy with care our household ware
Of Eddy's Indurated."

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Nov. 1, 1894.

GROCERIES.

THE week has been an uneventful one. No marked features have developed either in regard to business or prices. The volume of business is fair for the season; travelers' orders on the whole show a little improvement. Reports from country storekeepers indicate that business with them is still quiet, the mild weather keeping the farmers in their fields. They fully expect a better trade when the weather becomes less favorable for farming operations and more favorable for storekeeping. Therefore, although business is not as good with either wholesalers or retailers as would be desired, the outlook is viewed rather in a hopeful light than otherwise. Business in canned goods remain much as before. Rio coffees are still a scarce commodity. Sugar, while quiet with the wholesale houses, is brisk with the refineries, the trade being desirous of getting its supplies into the warehouses before navigation ceases. Syrups are in fair demand, but there is not much doing in molasses. Fairly active continues to be the tea market, with prices steady to firm. New season's foreign dried fruits are receiving fair attention. Eggs are firmer, while cured meats are easier. Dried and evaporated apples are quiet and lower.

CANNED GOODS.

There is the usual quiet and steady seasonable trade doing in tomatoes, peas and corn. We still quote tomatoes and corn, at 85 to 90c., and peas, 80 to 85c. Fruits are quiet at these quotations: peaches, $3 to $3.25 for 3's, $2 to $2.25 for 2's; raspberries, $1.65 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.90 to $2.10; apples, 3's, $1 to $1.10, gallons $2.65 to $2.80, and preserved fancy quarters at $1.35 to $1.40. Salmon is in good demand and firm at $1.30 to $1 35 for good red fish in tall tins, and $1.50 to $1.60 in flat tins; second quality is quoted at $1.20 to $1.25. Canned mackerel is quiet at $1 to $1.10. Lobsters is still only receiving slight attention, and prices are as before at $1.70 to $2 for tall tins and $2.25 to $2.75 in flat tins.

COFFEES.

The local market is still bare of Rio coffees, and the other kinds are not much wanted. We quote green, in bags: Rio, 21½ to 22½c.; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 21½ to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 32c.; Mocha, 27 to 28c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 22c.

N.Y. Journal of Commerce, October 30: For Rio and Santos growths holders are inclined to make a showing of firmness over all really useful stock, and some have valuation limits marked higher than it is possible to reach at the moment, as general demand continues cautious and unsatisfactory. In the way of speculative dealing business was moderate and the market generally of an unimportant character. The accounts received from Brazil were in much the old form regarding condition of market and current movement of supplies, with no further report in regard to crop, and Europe was a shade easier and quiet.

RICE.

Business is of the usual quiet seasonale character, with no change in prices. We quote: "B," 3½ to 3¾c.; extra Japan, 5¼ to 5⅜c.; imported Japan, 5¾ to 6¼c.; tapioca, 4¼ to 4½c.

SPICES.

Business is fairly good at unchanged prices. We quote: Pure black pepper, 12 to 14c.; pure white, 20 to 28c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 25 to 27c.; cloves, 25 to 30c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, 20 to 25c. per lb.

NUTS.

Nothing has yet developed that is worthy of special mention. We quote as follows: Brazil nuts, 11 to 11½c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Terragona almonds, 12½ to 14c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 13 to 14c.; Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 8 to 10c.; filberts, 9¾ to 10½c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

SUGAR.

Business along the street in this commodity is light, and wholesalers are quoting lower prices than they were a week ago. For granulated 4¼ to 4⅜c. per lb. is the ruling figure, and for yellows 3¾ to 4c. per lb. is the idea. Raw sugars we quote at 3¼c. for ordinary, and 3¾c. for Demarara. The lower prices that are being quoted for granulated sugar by the local houses is not warranted by any change in the views of the Canadian refiners. They, in spite of the declines of the 27th and 30th ult. in the price of raw sugar on the New York market, continues to hold their prices up, and trade with them for this time of the year has been good. This is one of the reasons why prices remain steady with the manufacturers, the latter being able to sell their meltings from day to day. But the prime reason for the steadiness of price is the near approach of navigation, which induces buyers to anticipate their wants in order to secure summer rates of freights. So great has become the demand for space on the Montreal boats that shippers have to secure freight in advance.

N. Y. Journal of Commerce, Oct. 30. The immediately available supply of raw, although quite large, is in the hands of owners who can carry it stubbornly if they so elect, and that appears to be the disposition of some of them at the moment. They have received encouragement to day in an increased demand principally for muscovadoes, which appears to be the grade most wanting for current meltings, but it is noticeable that when buyers were found willing to pay former rates they were met with promptitude. Refined goods were dull. The decline of Saturday, after being wired all over the country, has failed to bring an increase of business, and some operators complained that they did not find even the small increase of orders common at the commencement of the week. The price of sugars is now very low, and there is surprise that there is no more attention given them.

SYRUPS.

There is a fair trade doing, more especially in bright syrups selling at about 2⅜ to 2½c. We quote: Dark, 25c.; medium, 28 to 30c.; bright, 35 to 40c.; very bright, 45 to 50c.

MOLASSES.

Trade is quite at unchanged prices: We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 26 to 28c.; half-barrels, 30½ to 32c.; Barbadoes, barrels, 28 to 32c.; half-barrels, 30 to 34c.

TEA.

There is a fair trade doing in low grade Indian and Ceylon teas, which continues scarce on the London market. Young Hysons of all grades are scarce, and the few that are offering are bringing full prices. Japan teas keep steady in price, but there is very little enquiry for them, as jobbers are working on their old stocks, and are not inclined to enter the market at the advanced figures demanded by holders. There have been some invoices of Pingsuey gunpowders, and Pingsuey Young Hysons offering, and several transactions have taken place for the French trade in Quebec. China Congous of all kinds and grades continue to show excellent value, but the enquiry for them in London has been light since the last advices. At the auction sale in London, England, on Monday last the feature was a stronger market for Assam teas. Local wholesalers report a fair trade, but no new features have developed. Prices ruling are: Young Hysons, 16 to 18c. for low grade; 24 to 27c. for medium, and 30 to 38c. for high grades; China Congous, 16 to 18c.; Japans, 16 to 20c.; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 35c.

DRIED FRUITS.

Nothing materially new has developed during the week. New season's fruits are still arriving, a few Malaga raisins being among this week's shipments. There is a fair trade doing in Valencia raisins, but the unsatisfactory feature is the cutting that is going on in prices, some sales being reported below 4c. The fact of the matter is that there are Valencia raisins and Valencia raisins. Samples of damaged fruit were received on the market this week, but they were already sour, and the broker to whom they were sent would not offer them. We repeat a former warning, the trade cannot be too careful this season in ordering their Valencia raisins. The ruling prices for good Valencia raisins are: Offstalk, 4⅜ to 4½c., fine offstalk, 4¾ to 5½c.; selected, 5½ to 6c.; layers, 6 to 7c.

Currant trade is fair only, with prices much as before. We quote new fruits: Filiatras, half barrels, 4½c., barrels, 4¾c.; fine Filiatras, half brls., 4¾c., barrels 4½c.; Patras, 5½ in cases; Casalina, 5½ to 6c.; Vostizzas, 6½ to 7½c. in cases and half cases.

Sultana raisins are quiet and unchanged at 5½c. up.

Figs are not much wanted yet, the warm weather being unfavorable to business in this line. We quote: 14 oz., 10½ to 11c.; 10 lb., 11 to 12½c.; taps, 4½ to 5c.; 18 lb., 15c.; 28 lb., 18c.

Turkish prunes remain as before, quiet and steady. We quote: "A," 8c.; "B," 7c.; "U," 5¼ to 5½c; bags, 3¾c.; casks, 4½ to 5c. French prunes are quoted at 6½ to 9½c., according to quality.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The butter trade is still in an unsatisfactory condition, although for really choice dairy tub butter higher prices are quoted, but the trouble in really choice is practically unobtainable. In consequence of the condition of the market the wholesale houses are buying scarcely anything, nearly all the butter coming in being on commission. There is an enquiry for choice selected dairy tubs for winter's use of private families, and for which wholesalers claim they could get as high as 18 or 19c. There is a good deal of medium and low grade butter coming in, and large rolls are plentiful, and they are in fair demand. Dairy pound rolls are quiet. There are a good many dairy pound prints on the market, but for some reason or other they are less preferred than pound rolls and do not fetch within 1 to 2c. as much as the latter. The demand for creamery tub butter is light and creamery pound prints are not as much wanted as they were. We quote jobbing prices: Dairy—Choice tubs, 16 to 17c.; medium, 13 to 14c.; crocks, 20c.; low grade, 12 to 13c.; pound rolls, 18 to 19c.; large rolls, 16 to 17c. Creamery—Tubs, 20 to 21c.; pound prints, 22c.

Cheese market keeps dull. Offerings at 10¼c. for September cheese, delivered, and 10c. was bid. Jobbers quote 10½ to 11c.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Trade continues fairly active, although prices are a little lower than last week. Offerings of dressed hogs have dropped off a little owing to the warm weather, but offerings have been liberal. Sales of rail lots to arrive are reported at $5 65 to $5.85.

BACON—Long clear, 8c. for carload lots and 8¼ to 8½c. for small lots; breakfast bacon, 11 to 12c.; rolls, 8¾ to 9c.

HAMS—Large, 22 lbs. and over, 10c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 11½c.; small hams, 12c.; pickled, 10½ to 11c.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 8¾c.; tubs, 9½c.; pails, 9¾c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess $17 to 17.50; Canadian short-cut, $17.50 to $18; shoulder mess, $14 to $14.50; clear mess, $14.50 to $15.

GREEN FRUIT.

An increasing demand is reported for oranges. There are a few Jamaicas on the market, but they are not of good quality, and the Florida orange is practically receiving all the attention. Lemons are still in moderate demand only, but the supply is not excessive. Bananas are quiet and steady. There is a good demand for apples. A good many pears are still on the market, and they are selling fairly well. There are still a few domestic grapes to be had, and demand for them is fair. Sweet potatoes are selling well. We quote: Lemons—Floridas, $3.50 to $4; Sorrentos, $3.50 to $4; Missorias, $2.75 to $3 50, and 420's, $2.50. Oranges, Floridas, $3 50 for 176's and 200's, $3.25 for 150's, $3 for 126's. Bananas, firsts, $1.25 to $1.50; seconds, 80c. to $1.10. Cucumbers, 20 to 25c. per basket. Tomatoes, 25c. per basket. Apples, winter fruit, $2 to $2 50 per brl.; snow apples, $2 to $2.50; fall fruit, $1.75 to $2. Grapes, 2½ to 3c. per lb.; Almeria, $5.50 to $6 per brl. Sweet potatoes, Jerseys, $3 to $3.50 per brl. Pears, 25 to 50c. per basket. Cranberries, $3 per case.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Market remains quiet and steady at $1.35 to $1.40 for hand-picked; medium, $1.25 per bushel.

DRIED APPLES——Sales are reported at 4¾ to 5c. f.o.b. outside, and jobbers are getting 5 to 5½c. Trade is quiet.

EVAPORATED APPLES—There have been transactions at 6½c. f.o.b. outside, and more could be had at the same figure. Jobbers report trade quiet at 7½ to 7¾c.

HONEY—Quiet and unchanged. We quote comb at 12 to 13c., and extracted at 8 to 9c.

HOPS—Market is still dull. Yearlings are selling at 8 to 10c. and new at 12 to 14c. Pressed hops are quoted at 16 to 18c.

EGGS—There are not many strictly fresh eggs coming in, but there are plenty of second and third quality to be had. We quote strictly fresh at 17c.; ordinary fresh at 16c., and cold storage at 15c. Demand is active for the good stock.

ONIONS—Market is easier on domestic onions, Danvers now selling at 40c. per bushel; Spanish are selling at 85c. to $1, depending on quality and quantity.

POTATOES—Are quiet and easy. Offerings are liberal, but although stocks are not large there is not much disposition to buy. We quote carloads on track at 48 to 50c., and small lots out of store at 60c. per bag.

POULTRY—Turkeys are dull and not wanted, while for geese the demand is good. Chickens are in fair demand. We quote: Turkeys, 8 to 8½c.; chickens, 30 to 40c. per pair; geese, 6 to 6½c.; ducks, 50 to 60c.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

Deliveries of white fish have been freer this week than for some time, and demand has been good both for white fish and trout Kippered herring is in good demand, and Lake Erie herring is scarce and wanted. Halibut and cod are beginning to come in The close season for white fish and trout begins Monday, three days' grace having been allowed. After that day those wanting white fish and trout will have to take the frozen kinds. Oysters are in fair demand and lower. We quote as follows: Salmon trout, 6½c.; skinned and boned cod-fish, 6½c.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c.; "quail on toast," cod, 5 to 5½c.; Labrador herring, $2 50 per half keg and $5.50 to $5.75 per barrel; ditto, split, $3; fresh herring, 1½c. each; blueback herring, 4c.; blue pickerel, 4 to 5c. lb.; yel. ditto, 6 to 7c. per lb; white fish, 7 to 7½c.; pike, 5c. lb.; haddock and cod, 5½c. per lb.; steak cod, 5 to 6c.; finnan haddies, 7½c.; Digby herring, in bundles of 5 boxes, 15c.; ditto, lengthwise, 14c.; large halibut, 10c.; ciscoes, $1.35 to $1.49. Wm. Paterson & Son report a large sale on the new line of biscuits they introduced some time ago, called "Western Mixed."

H. P. Eckardt & Co. have received a car of evaporated apples, and are prepared to give close figures for quantities of same.

The attention of the trade is called to the fine quality of the "Eagle" Japan teas handled exclusively by M. Masuret & Co.

Perkins, Ince & Co. have to hand a shipment of Moynne teas in Young Hysons and gunpowder; also Panyong and Japan teas.

James A. Skinner & Co., Toronto, have just opened a line of glass bowls for growing Chinese bulbs, that will fill a long felt want.

James Turner & Co. have just received via the Escalona a large consignment of 'Duferns' French plums and prunes. They report quality this year of this well-known brand is better than ever.

Wm. Paterson & Son are introducing a fine "Cough Tablet," in 5-lb. decorated tins. Prices and samples on application to the firm.

S. Stewart, of Ayr, writes P. C. Larkin & Co.: "'Salada' is meeting with the most gratifying success here. Trade is increasing daily."

W. H. Gillard & Co. are in receipt of a consignment of extra choice plums from Dufour & Cie, Bordeaux, which are fine quality.

The latest thing in peels is Crosse & Blackwell's in 7-lb. tins. M. Masuret & Co. have them in stock and report them excellent in quality.

Sloan & Crowther have this week received a shipment of 500 cases of "Seal" brand salmon; also 500 boxes of fine Sultana raisins.

Nearly every grocer now handles B.F.P. Cough Drops. They pay a good profit, and being put up in an attractive glass front tin, are self-sellers.

Besides their English malt vinegar, Lucas, Steele & Bristol handle Wilson's vinegars; also Lefebvre's. Special figures for lots of latter brand given.

Grand Mogul tea exhibits were held at these stores during the week: Chas. Elliott, Bradford; W. E. Preston, Midland; A. W. Richardson, Orillia.

C. E. Copeland, Dorchester Station, had an exhibit of Grand Mogul tea at the fair there. The exhibit was much admired and many sales were effected.

"The grocer who does not handle B.F.P. Cough Drops misses making a good profit out of an easily kept article," report the Toronto Biscuit and Confectionery Co.

Any person desirous of shipping poultry, butter, eggs, apples, potatoes, onions or anything in the fruit and produce line, will do well to consign to White & Co., Toronto.

"In stock and to arrive we have the largest and best assortment of figs, prunes, currants, raisins, peels, dates, nuts, etc., we have ever imported," write Lucas, Steele & Bristol.

The St. Lawrence Starch Co. are exhibiting to the trade samples of syrups, and they demonstrate that this firm's products are well sustaining their reputation for excellency of quality.

This week Lucas, Steele & Bristol have received some choice Oolong tea in cads. Their values in Ceylon teas are still exceptional, their purchases having been made some time ago.

The British Board of Trade returns for September show a decrease of 3.6 per cent. in imports, and 4.5 per cent. in exports compared with the corresponding period last year. The greatest fall in value is in yarns and textile fabrics, then follow machinery, metals and apparel.

Dawson & Co. announce that they are in a position to handle apples to advantage on commission, not having this season gone into the trade as extensively on their own account as usual.

"Our range of currants this season comprise the very highest brands of the best packers in Greece," say W. H. Gillard & Co., "and our sales have been far ahead of any previous year."

"Salada" Ceylon tea is said to be practically in every grocers' in London to-day. "All handling it are well satisfied with the tea," said P. C. Larkin & Co., "but if they were not they can always return it."

"Imperial Congou still holds the lead in my territory," says John Mouat, "W. H. Gillard & Co.'s Northwest representative," and now I can hardly think of a man I call upon who does not keep it in stock."

Davidson & Hay have to hand another shipment of Eleme figs, which they claim to be offering at exceptionally low figures; also choice lines of new season's Vastizza currants and 3-crown extra fine Sultana raisins.

Savory, sage, mint, thyme, sweet marjoram, and poultry dressing are good sellers with Lucas, Steele & Bristol just now. This firm's L. P. & Co. brand extra choice mixed spice in 5 lb. tins is selling fast; quality finest.

Sloan & Crowther have in stock this week a shipment of A. C. Miller & Co.'s pack of "Little Chief Extra Faultless" corn in flat tins. The corn used in this brand is of a particular variety, and the quantity is unusually good.

Hillwattee tea is now a staple for the grocer. Lucas, Steele & Bristol will gladly mail a sample on application. This firm are at the moment showing very fine value in Young Hysons at 17 to 18 cents; also 32 to 35 cents.

As expected, the war in China has largely increased the demand for Indian teas. James Turner & Co. report they are unable at the moment to fill orders for Ram Lals, but they expect a further consignment in a few days, when they will fill orders in hand.

Buyers should not overlook J. M. Gillard & Co.'s tea card in page 6. This firm claims to have some of the finest Moyune Young Hyson ever imported, and purchase having been made prior to the sharp advance that took place on these grades, Gillard & Co. are offering what they report to be decided bargains.

Throughout Great Britain and her colonies there is a sweetmeat which for quality is unsurpassed and for purity has been pronounced by the oldest and leading medical journal, The Lancet, to be "really wholesome confectionery." This article is "Butter Scotch, and the manufacturers are Callard &

Bowser, of London. Agents have recently been appointed in the Dominion, and there should now be no difficulty in the public procuring this favorite of the Mother Country from any of our stores. The agents are Rose & Laflamme, of Montreal, and the Canadian Specialty Co, Toronto.

Owing to the damage to the Valencia raisin crop it is essential that every grocer should handle that put up by a reliable packer. James Turner & Co. have now in store Arquimbau select and fine off-stalk, the quality of which is second to none.

W. D. Ruttan, of Manitou, and C. Handford, formerly a farmer near Snowflake, Man., were closeted with the Patrons of Industry at Crystal City, Man., Monday night, October 22nd. The result of the conference is that Ruttan & Co. are opening a Patrons' store at Crystal City. It is stated they are to receive 15 per cent. advance on cost and show invoices.

George D. Longworth, Charlottetown, P.E.I., who has about 25 lobster factories on the Island, fills in part of the close season in packing mutton, beef, poultry, etc., for the English market. Last year they sent 2,000 to 3,000 cases to London and Liverpool. They buy beef and mutton at 2½ to 3c. per lb., dressed weight. Of course these are not the best qualities of meat.

John Rodgers, of Petrolia, writes P. C. Larkin & Co.: "Our people are not black tea drinkers, but we find that after they try Salada many take to black, who before favored Japan tea. The sale of Salada is increasing daily, and gives the greatest satisfaction to us as well as our customers. Instead of praising Salada often, we send you frequent orders."

Aunt Polly's Pancake Flour is put on the market this year in packages. It had a large sale last year in kegs. So many merchants desired this flour in packages that the manufacturers, the Lion Spice Manufacturing Co., finally decided to put it up in this way. "The demand," reports the firm, "has exceeded our most sanguine expectations."

James E. Patmore, of London, Ont., reports export trade in apples very satisfactory this season, as far as he is concerned. He has disposed of nearly 20,000 brls. this season in the European market. Mr. Patmore has facilities for making use of all the apples of an orchard, having added to the shipping or export department an evaporator and cider mill. Apples slightly bruised or damaged are picked out from those for export and immediately evaporated, the small and rough apples go to the cider mill. The evaporator is on the most approved plan, and has a capacity of 75 to 100 bushels per day, and some fine samples of evaporated apples are shown. The capacity of the cider mill is 200 bushels per hour. Mr. Patmore is prepared to supply the trade with evaporated apples and cider of first-class quality. Readers interested will do well to note this.

cables received by sales agents on Tuesday from Ceylon advised a substantial advance in that market. Sugar has ruled on the quiet side, but it is a significant fact that the refiners, though they do not note any increase in the movement, report more enquiry from buyers regarding values, etc., which they interpret to mean that supplies in second hands are thinning down somewhat. In syrups and molasses no special feature is to report, while a notification sent out to the trade here on Thursday last from the Western Canners' Association fulfills a prediction made in THE GROCER over a month ago, that after the first of November prices on canned tomatoes and corn from first hands might advance. In fish heavy receipts of salt stock have produced declines in most of the staple descriptions, and in other branches of trade there is no special feature to mention.

SUGAR.

There has been no radical change in the sugar market since our last report. Business rules quiet on the whole, but it is worthy of remark that refiners have during the past few days had more enquiry regarding prices, etc. In fact the impression prevails that more demand is on the tapis. On the whole the market gives signs of more activity than at the time of last writing. Round lots of granulated have changed hands at 4 3-16c., and smaller quantities 4¼c. from the refineries. Yellows have been enquired for to a greater degree, and business has been transacted at 3 3 16 to 3⅞c. as to quality at the refinery. In raw sugar there is not much change to note according to recent advices to refiners here.

SYRUPS.

The activity that we noted last week in syrups has been fairly well maintained, and business has to a certain extent been restricted in volume by the small stocks in first hands. These as noted in our last are very light and have not had material replenishment during the week. Demand has ruled active on the whole on the basis of 2 to 2⅛c. for bright grades, and 1½ to 1⅝c. for dark per lb. at the factory.

MOLASSES.

This market has furnished no important change, business ruling quiet as noted in our last. With the mild weather now experienced this state of affairs is apt to continue, but once a cold spell sets in sellers and dealers generally expect an improvement. Values rule steady on the whole at 27½c. for round lots, and 29c. for car lots ex-store, while single puncheons are quoted at 30c. for choice Barbadoes.

RICE.

The rice market continues active as already noted, in fact if anything the volume of business since our last report has been increased. The tone of the market is firm under this good enquiry accentuated, as it is by the fact of very firm advices from primary centres. We quote: Japan, standard, $4.25 to $4 40; crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B, $3.45; English style, $3.30; Patna, $4.25 to $5, and Carolina at $6.50 to $7.50.

SPICES.

The spice market has been rather quieter since our last report, but aside from this is unchanged in its ruling features. We quote mill prices as follows: Penang black pepper, 6 to 7½c.; white pepper, 10 to 12½c.; cloves, 7½ to 9c.; cassia, 9 to 10c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.; Jamaica ginger, 15 to 22c.

COFFEES.

The firm feeling in coffee is well maintained, though there has been no special activity to note during the week. The principal enquiry has been for Maracaibo stock, in which some round quantities have changed hands at 20½ to 22c. We quote: Maracaibo, 20½ to 22c.; Rio, 20 to 21c.; Java, 23 to 29c., and Mocha, 26 to 31c.

TEA.

Though this market is not characterized by the extreme activity of a week or fortnight ago, a fair trade is doing on the whole. There have been further enquiries from American buyers which have resulted in sales, while some round lots of low grade China and Japans have changed hands on home account. We quote Japans: Low grades, 13 to 14c.; medium, 14 to 17c.; fine 18½ to 32c., and choice, 24 to 31c.

DRIED FRUITS.

Continued firm advices from primary markets in Spain have induced continued firmness in dried raisins on spot, and to move any fruit now here from holders' hands means that buyers have to meet sellers' views. In fact sales of round lots of stock have been made on the basis of 4½c. from first hands, while selected have realized 5¼c. We quote as before: Valencia layers, 6 to 6¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c., and ordinary, 4½ to 4¾c. In California goods there has been very little business to note, and we quote 6 to 7½c. according to quality.

In currants no special activity is to note, but a good ordinary distributing trade is passing on the basis of 3¼c. in barrels and 3¾ to 4½c. in cases.

CANNED GOODS.

Quietness has been the ruling feature in canned goods, with nothing special to mention except a notification from the Western Cannery Association received on Thursday last that after the 1st of November tomatoes and corn will be advanced. It will be remembered bs readers of THE GROCER that over a month ago we intimated this as a profitable occurrence when referring to the fact that prices were upward in their tendency. We quote: Lobsters, per case, $6 to $8; sardines, $8.50 to $9.50; salmon, $1.35 to $1.40 per doz; tomatoes, 95c. per doz.; peaches, $2 to $2.10 per doz.; corn, 95c. to $1 per doz., and marrowfat peas, 85 to 90c. per doz.; strawberries, $2.75 per doz., and raspberries, $1.80 to $2·50; Australian canned meats, 1-lb. can boiled mutton, $1.80 to $1.90; 2-lb. can do., $3.10 to $3.15; 1-lb. can roast mutton, $2.05 to $2.10; 2-lb. can do., $3.35 to $3.40; 1-lb. can corned mutton, $2.05 to $2.20; 2-lb. can do., $3.35 to $3.40.

FISH.

Owing to the increased receipts of all kinds of salt fish during the past week, and the fact that supplies are far in excess of present wants, the tone of the market is weak, and prices generally have a lower tendency. Demand has been fair for small lots, but the movement on the whole is light, and will likely continue so as long as this mild weather lasts. The feature of the week has been a decline of 50 to 70c. per barrel in herrings, which is due to large arrivals consisting of Labrador, Cape Breton and North Shore. Sales of Labrador in round lots have taken place at $4.50 to $4.75, North Shore $4.25 to $4.50, and Cape Breton at $4.50 to $5; but in a jobbing way dealers are realizing $5 to $5.25 for No. 1 Labrador, $4.50 to $4.75 for North Shore, and $4.75 to $5.25 for Cape Breton. In green cod no further change has taken place, round lots are offering at $4 for No. 1, and in a small way $4.50 to $4.75 is being paid. B.C. salmon are unchanged at $11.50 to $12, and No. 1 Labrador at $12.50 to $13 per barrel. Bloaters are more plentiful and lower at $1.65 to $1.75 per barrel for Yarmouth and $1 for Bay. Receipts of finnan haddies have been larger and prices are ½c. lower at 7½ to 8c. for Portland and 6½ to 7c. for St. John. There has been large arrivals of fresh haddock and cod since our last, and in consequence prices are lower at 3½c per lb. for haddock and 2½ to 3c. for cod. Some sales of car lots of smoked herrings are reported at 10½c., but in a jobbing way dealers are getting 12½ to 14c.

GREEN FRUIT.

APPLES—The market is being drowned with receipts of both fall and winter apples. The former are very slow at $1 no $1.50 and the latter $2 to $3 per brl.

ORANGES—Oranges are dull and rather lower. Jamaica sell at $6 per brl. and Flordia $3.50 to $3.75 per case.

LEMONS—Are only in moderate call with sales of Malagas at $7.50.

PEARS—These continue in over supply at $2 to $3 for common and $3.50 to $4.50 for fancy domestic. California pears are $1.50 to $2 per box.

PEACHES—Meet a very slow demand at $1 to $1.25 per box for California.

BANANAS—Only a few bananas are offering at $2.25 per bunch.

CRANBERRIES—These are in good demand with Cape Cod $10 to $10.50 and Canadian $9 to $10.

SPANISH ONIONS—There have been good sized sales of Spanish onions at 67½c. per crate, but in a regular jobbing way we quote 75 to 80c. per crate.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The egg market rules steady with quotations unchanged from a week ago. Demand is fair at 13 to 14c. for limed and 15 to 17c. for boiling stock.

GAME—With mild weather and more liberal offerings partridges are easier, sales of No. 1 occurring at 45c., and No. 2 at 25c. per brace.

POULTRY—Some small lots of poultry have arrived but the stock is in poor condition. Turkeys have sold at 8 to 9c.; geese, 5 to 6c.; chickens, 6 to 7c., and ducks, 8 to 9c.

DRESSED HOGS—The market is weak and heavy with sales at $6 per 100 lbs.

BEANS—The market is quiet but steady. Western hand-picked beans sell at $1.40 to $1.45, and other kinds $1.20 to $1.30.

HONEY—The market is quiet and steady, sales of extracted being reported at 7 to 8c. in tins for new stock.; old selling ae 5½ to 6c.

POTATOES—Demand for these is fairly good and we quote 50c. per bag on the track and 55 to 60c. in a jobbing way.

ONIONS—Canadian onions are selling well but receipts are heavy. We quote $1.75 to $2 per brl.

PROVISIONS.

There is no important change in the local provision market. The demand for all lines was slow and the market ruled quiet, which is due to continued mild weather. Canadian short cut, heavy, $19 to $20; Canadian short cut, light, $16.50 to $17.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 9 to 11½c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 9½ to 10½c.; bacon, per lb., 9 to 11½c.; lard, com. refined, per lb., 7 to 8c.

BUTTER.

Butter continues unchanged. There is no export business doing and as the local demand is confined to small parcels of fancy late made creamery and dairy, the market is a difficult one to quote for business in a large way. We quote: Finest fall-made creamery, 20¼ to 20½c.; earlier makes, 18 to 19c.; finest Townships, 18½ to 19c.; finest Western dairy, 16 to 18½c.

CHEESE.

The cheese market rules dull and heavy, with buyers apparently more indifferent than ever. There is little new to report on spot, while at the wharf on Monday last the offerings from the French country comprised 3,500 boxes, the range being 9½c to 9⅝c. or about ¼c. decline on the previous Monday. We quote: Finest Ontario, fall made, 10¼c.; finest Townships, 10⅛c.; finest Eastern, 9½c. to 9¾c.; cable, 48s. 6d.

ASHES.

The ashes market took an up-turn on Monday last, and at the presant writing prices are 5 to 25c. higher per 100 lbs under continued light receipts and a good demand from abroad. We quote: Firsts, pots, $4.35c.; seconds, $4.00c.; pearls $8.25per 100 lbs.

MONTREAL TRADE NOTES.

Several good round orders for "Batger's peels" have been booked this week by Messrs. Rose & Laflamme; also for Ram Lal's tea.

L. Chaput, Sons & Co. show in their sample-room at present some first-class specimens of raisins, off-stalk and layers of well-known brands.

Laporte, Martin & Co. have received this week a large consignment of new-pack canned fish and vegetables.

Stewart Munn & Co. are offering for prompt delivery some of the very choicest brands of genuine Labrador herrings.

M. Lefebvre & Co. entertained a delegation of the Chamber of Commerce at their Berthierville sugar factory on Saturday last.

Advices to Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, report a decided improvement in the demand for Southwell's james, etc. These goods will soon be the most popular in the market.

L. Chaput, Sons & Co.'s advices from primary markets state that all fine grades of raisins have a higher tendency, but that inferior stock promises to be very plentiful and exerts a depressing influence.

Business in fancy groceries is improving in Montreal, so say Frank Magor & Co, St. John street, importers of Cadbury's chocolate creams, Southwell's jams, marmalades, etc.

Rose & Laflamme have been appointed agents for Quebec and Eastern Ontario for the American Cereal Co., manufacturers of Pettijohn's Breakfast Food and Quaker Oats. These specialties are already selling very readily.

A well-known broker on Friday last closed out another round lot of Pingsueys, amounting to 3,000 packages, to a New York buyer, on the basis of 16c.

Cable advices from Bordeaux to Rose & Laflamme cite an advance of 2s. 6d. per cwt. in fine French prunes. Other cables to the same firm advise an advance of 1d. to 1½d. in Ceylon teas.

FLOUR AND FEED

RETAILERS are finding that business in flour has fallen off a little during the week owing to the return of warm weather. Cereals are also quieter. There has been a little improvement in the demand for oats and hay. Owing to the fairness of the weather, and, consequently, the continuation of good pasturage, the demand for bran and shorts is not as large, and prices have not risen as much as was expected. It is reasonable to expect, however, that an advance in prices will take place during the month upon which we have just entered. Farmers are feeding a great deal of their wheat, and in comparison with the large crop that has been raised, very little has been marketed. This is not only a fact in Canada, but from all over the United States comes reports of the immense amount of wheat that is being used for feeding purposes. Farmers state that they are able to realize nearly double the amount on their wheat by so doing, and that at the present prices wheat is far cheaper to feed than corn. This may have a tendency to strengthen wheat prices, and should such be the case, an advance in flour will naturally follow. Prospects for business in flour and feed during the coming month are brighter than they have been.

THE MARKETS.

TORONTO.

FLOUR—Trade remains quiet. No changes in prices are reported. We quote: Manitoba wheat patents, $3.45 to $3.55; strong bakers', $3.20 to $3.25; Ontario, $3 to $3.15; straight roller, $2.80 to $2.90.

BRAN—There is a fair demand. City millers are offering at $13 per ton.

SHORTS—Business is quiet; $15 per ton is the price quoted by city mills.

SCREENINGS—A good demand is reported, but there is very little offering. We quote $15 per ton.

WHEAT—Trade quiet and prices unchanged. On the street wheat was sold at 53c. for white, 51c. for red, and 50½c. for goose.

BARLEY—An improvement in sales is reported. A considerable quantity changed hands during the week at 40 to 44c. per bushel.

OATS—There has been a fair quantity of oats arriving during the week and prices quoted are 1c. lower. Good oats are fetching from 30 to 31c. per bushel.

HAY—Trade quiet. No change in price. From $8.50 to $9 per ton is being paid for baled in car lots and $8 to $9 for loose.

STRAW—There is but little offering and prices remain steady at $8 per ton.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Trade is quiet in oatmeal, with prices unchanged. We quote. Rolled oats and standard oatmeal, $3.80 to $4 per brl.; granulated, $3.85 to $4.25 per brl.; cornmeal, $3.50.; split peas and pot barley, $3.75 per brl.

MONTREAL.

The flour market has been more active, especially for Manitoba grades, for which there is a brisk demand both on local and export account, and millers in some cases stated that Monday's was one of the largest day's business transacted this season. The general feeling was steady and prices show no change. On Monday sales were reported of 54 carloads on local account and 1,000 sacks for export. In Ontario grades business was not quite so active, but dealers report a fair trade doing. We quote: Winter wheat, $3.25 to $3.40; spring wheat, patents, $3.25 to $3.40; Manitoba patents, best brands, $3.35 to $3.40; straight roller, $2.80 to $2.90; extra, $2.55 to $2.60; superfine, $2.40 to $2.50; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.20 to $3.30; Manitoba strong bakers', best brands, $3.25 o $3.30.

There is an active demand for feed, and we hear of sales of 20 carloads of bran at $15.60 to $16. Mouillie and shorts are also well enquired for, and on the whole a brisk trade is doing at firm prices. Bran, $15.50 to $16; shorts, $17; Mouillie $22.

The market for oatmeal shows no important change. The demand is limited and values steady. Standard, brls., $3.90 to $3.95; granulated, brls., $3.95 to $4; rolled oats, brls., $4 to $4 05; pot barley, per brl., $3.75; split peas, per brl., $3.50 to $3.60.

ST. JOHN, N.B.

There is if anything a rather firmer feeling in flour on the side of the miller, and attempts are made to slightly advance prices. Manitoba, which has held its prices better than other flours is rather easier. This grade of flour will feel the increased freights more than any other. Hand-picked beans are firmer. Commercial middlings and oatmeal are all easier with light demand. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.20 to $4.25; best Ontario, $3.35 to $3.50; medium, $3.25 to $3.35; oatmeal, $4.15 to $4.20; cornmeal, $3 00 to $3.05; granulated, $3.50 to $3.60; middlings on track, $19.50 to $20; bran, $18 to $19; cottonseed meal, per ton, $30; N.B. oats, 35 to 37c.; Ontario, 38 to 40c. on track; P.E.I. beans, $1.50 to $1.55; prime, $1.45 to $1.50; split peas, $3 65 to $3.75; pot barley, $3.85 to $4; round peas, $3.65 to $3.75; hay, on track, $10.50 to $11; American timothy seed, $3.10 to $3.25; red clover, 11½ to 12c.; alsike 13½ to 15c.

articles he has handled for years, none are equal in quality to those packed by Maconochie Bros., London, Eng. This firm is the largest packer of fish in the world.

Gillespie & Co.'s advices state that since the departure of the second direct steamer from Denia large sales to arrive of Valencia raisins have been made, both on Montreal and on American account, for goods ex that vessel. These American sales will cut down our available supplies.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Nov. 1, 1894.

BUSINESS is better than at any time this fall, and from now till December a busy time is looked for. Supplies for the woods are being bought freely. New fruit, such as raisins, figs and prunes, are here, and dealers are busy filling orders taken ahead, particularly for raisins, which were so late in arriving. One merchant, talking to THE GROCER, stated he had paid over two thousand dollars in duties during the past week. New association canned goods are coming in freely, though in less quantity than last year, dealers deciding not to hold such large stocks. There are not many changes to note in prices. Markets are easy all round, except in salmon.

CANNED GOODS—All new goods are now largely to hand, and are being distributed by the wholesalers as quickly as possible. Values are firm in salmon. Stocks are light, prices are higher, and there may be a further advance at any time. Prices as last week: Corn, 95c.; peas, 95c.; tomatoes, $1.05; salmon, talls, $1.35; flats, $1.75; lobsters, $1.75 to $2; finnan haddies, $1.40; corned beef, 1's, $1.75; 2's, $2.75.

DRIED FRUIT AND NUTS—The long-looked-for raisins are now to hand. They do not altogether give satisfaction, being rain damaged, while buyers wanted to get selected fruit at prices of common off-stock. This cannot be done. If good fruit is wanted, a good price must be paid. Valencia raisins show a disposition to sugar; this, with other reasons, is going to give a good market for California loose Muscatels, which are this year showing splendid value, and those to hand find a ready sale at lower prices. The only prunes to hand now are French. They are better stock than the usual prunes sold here. Cleaned currants, as your correspondent wrote some time ago, are going to have a much larger sale then ever before. We quote as follows: Sultana raisins, old, 7c.; California London layers, old, $2; loose Muscatel, 6 to 6½c.; Valencia off-stock, 4½c., fine, 5c., selected, 5½c.; Valencia layers, 6 to 6¼c.; all new French prunes, 5½ to 6c., small boxes, 9 to 14c.; currants, new, brls., 3⅜ to 3¾c.; cases, 4 to 5c.; figs, new, 12 to 13c.; evaporated apples, 8½; dried, 6c.; Grenoble walnuts, 13 to 15c.; almonds, 13 to 14c.; Brazil, 11 to 12c.; filberts, 9½ to 10c.; pecans, 12 to 13c.; peanuts, 10c.

FRUIT, GREEN—Apples continue in large supply, six schooners being in the slip loaded with them at one time. Winter fruit is now beginning to come forward, and shows some splendid stock. Prices are low, a person buying a quantity for cash getting them almost at their own figures. Florida lemons are now here. West India oranges are about the only quality offering. They are now very firm. Immense quantities of Ontario grapes are arriving here, and, what our fruit men do not like, they are being shipped direct to the smaller towns. They have sold here as low as 30c. per basket. Quinces and pears from the same source are also to hand; also tomatoes. We quote: Apples, winter fruit, 1's, $2.25 to $2.75; do. fall, $1.50 to $2; oranges, 3's, $3.50 per box; West India do., $5 to $5 50 per brl.; Florida lemons, $4 to $4 50; peaches, $1.25 to $1.50 per basket; Lemons, Messina, $5 to $5.50; grapes, per basket, 30 to 50c.; tomatoes, 50c.; sweet potatoes, $4 to $4.50 per brl.; quinces, $6 to $6 50 per brl.; per box, 80 to 90c.

DAIRY PRODUCT — Cheese continues quiet, as our price was at no time as high as that in Ontario. There has been little or no decline here as yet. Buyers show little disposition to increase stocks, but as stocks of cheese in first hands in this province is not large holders feel confident they will yet get good prices. Stocks in the hands of jobbers being small, they will soon have to replace. Butter is very firm and the first-class article is hard to get. Creamery rolls are also getting scarce. Kingsclear creamery is closed down. This was the one that chiefly supplied the city, 7,000 lb. prints having been sent in in a little over two months. Eggs are in better demand than for some time, and prunes are higher, with small stocks on hand. We quote: Cheese, 10½ to 11c; factory price, 9¾ to 10½c.; butter, dairy, 19 to 21c.; creamery, 22 to 23c.; prints, 24 to 25c.; eggs, 13 to 14c.

MOLASSES—There is a large quantity moving now, principally on lumbermen's account. With light stocks here and in Montreal, buying in Halifax, where stocks are also limited, it looks like higher prices. Barbadoes, 27 to 28c.; Porto Rico, fancy, 42 to 43c.; choice, 34 to 35c.; Antigua, 27 to 28c.; St. Croix, 27 to 28c.

SYRUPS—The demand is now looking up with prices firm, a good Business should be done. There is practically no stocks here. Price 35c.

SUGAR—Markets are quiet. Demand is rather light and prices are easy. No change yet in jobbers quotations. Granulated, 4½ to 4⅜c.; yellows, 3¾ to 3⅞c.; Barbadoes, 3½ to 3¾c. Paris, lump, 6 to 6½c.; pulverized, 6 to 6¼c.

FISH—Receipts along all lines have been fairly large, and prices are easy. A few half-barrels of Gundy Bay herring are bringing good prices. They are as usual, extra fine. Shelburne and Yarmouth, as some say, are in good supply. Upward of twenty thousand boxes of smoked herring have arrived during the week. Prices are easy. As catch is good, further receipts are looked for. Large quantities of dry fish have been received in Halifax from Newfoundland. We quote: Large dry cod, $3.90 to $4; medium, $3.60 to $3 75; small, $3 to $3.25; haddock, $1.75; pollock, $1.75 to $1.85; shad, $5 to $5.50; half-barrels bay herring, $1.50 to $1.60; Shelburne, No. 1, $4 to $4 25, half brls.,

The fame of "KENT" Canned Goods is spreading.

"KENT" Tomatoes are the acknowledged standard, and the words "as good as Kent" are often heard when a comparison of qualities is made. No progressive retailer can afford to be without these goods on his shelves. Their fine flavor, uniformity of quality and solid packing recommend them to the consumer, who, having once had them, will be sure to ask for them again.

$2 40; smoked herring, medium, 9½ to 10c.; lengthwise, 9c.

PROVISIONS—A much better demand has been felt during the past week. Clear pork is much easier. Local dealers find a ready demand for all their hams and bacon good. Clear pork, $19.50 to $20; P. E. I. mess, $17.50 to $18; prime mess, $13.50 to $14; plate beef, $13.25 to $13.57; pure lard, 10 to 11c.; compound, 8½ to 9c.

ST. JOHN MARKET NOTES.

The West India steamer arriving this week had 275 brls. West India oranges on board.

John Ryan, the popular representative of M. Lefebvre & Co, is this week meeting with his usual good success among the trade.

Among the exports from Summerside during the week were 1,000 brls. oysters, 1,500 sheep and lambs, 600 geese, and 48,000 lbs. starch.

Northrup & Co. have received part of their shipment of off-stock and Valencia layer raisins which they are offering at especially low prices.

"Choice white medium codfish, the finest lot we have seen this season," is what Northrup & Co. said to your correspondent, and they certainly did look nice.

A new brand of oil, shipped by the Canada Oil Co., is now on the market. It is understood a written guarantee is given that the oil is as good as the best American.

It is stated that Yarmouth and Shelburne fish get mixed, and the former are branded and sold as the latter, and that the former being cheaper, it is hard for the real Shelburne to compete. Others say this is not so, but that this report is used by some who are trying for an extra price. Shelburne are the fatter and better fish. This is not the first time such things have been said, and unfortunately it is but too often true.

The Canned Goods Association think it strange that almost all their orders from here are for Delhi goods. This brand was first represented here by White & Titus. The goods have earned for themselves a deserved reputation. C. & E. Carmichael have a full assortment, which they are offering at lowest prices. It is the opinion here that the association should have sold under a label of their own, as most satisfactory to all parties.

The retail dealers here are being supplied almost entirely with hams and bacon by local curers, whose product is considered better than the Canadian. They also pack a large quantity of pork. The output is increasing from year to year. There is yet room for a greater development. There is no reason why local packers should not supply the whole market, except, perhaps, the heaviest pork.

Hickey & Nicholson, tobacco manufacturers, Charlottetown, who have been making twist tobacco for many years, are extending their trade to the mainland, and have just ordered machinery for making flat tobaccos, there being only a limited demand for twist. They now have only one brand each of chewing and smoking, but will put more on the market.

C. & E. MacMichael, St. John, are working into a fine wholesale trade in light and fancy groceries. They cover the best retail trade in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. They control the sale of Beardsley's shredded codfish, Maclaren's Imperial cheese, Paterson's Worcester sauce, J. H. Wethey's mince meat, Sheriff's extract and Gillard's Diamond baking powder.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Aaron Wenger, of Ayton, was in Toronto last week.

Geo. W. Lee, formerly with Davidson & Hay, is now on the road for T. Kinnear & Co. He takes the West.

C. S. Windsor, of the Steveston Canning Co., Steveston, B.C., was in Toronto last week. He afterwards went on to Montreal.

W. B. Hogarth, of Tilsonburg, was in Toronto this week, and reports that he is making trade every day with "Salada" Ceylon tea. In fact he says "Salada" has done more to change Japan tea drinkers to black tea drinkers than any other tea he ever saw.

George F. Anderson, cashier, Pure Gold Manufacturing Co., returned last week from Manitoba. He was away three months, and during that time traveled over the greater part of Southern Manitoba. Business, he says, while quiet up there, is improving, and the conditions are much healthier than they were. Implement agents, he claims, have been the curse of the province, having saddled the farmers with burdens they were unable to carry. "I was pleased to see THE GROCER in nearly every store I entered," he concluded.

TRAVELER CHAPMAN WINS.

THE GROCER is pleased to learn from the reports of Osgoode Hall proceedings, published in the daily papers, that L. Chapman, one of T. Kinnear & Co.'s travelers, has succeeded in setting aside the default judgment in the case of Vance vs. Chapman. Mr. Chapman has been fighting this suit since March last, and it is gratifying to know that he has gained what he believed were his rights, with all costs on the plaintiff. The case was regarding some property in Ingersoll.

A DISTINGUISHED TORONTO BOY.

The Oban Times, Scotland, of Oct. 13th contains the following item: "The late Malaboch war. Mr. Ramsay, of the Pretoria Contingent, acknowledged to be the pluckiest man at the front by Boers, British and blacks. Such is the handsome testimonial which foots a portrait of Mr. Ramsay in one of the leading Johannesburg journals. The tall, strongly-built young fellow of quiet manners had just the right sort of grit in him to develop into a hero when in action. Many in Oban will remember him as an occasional summer visitor to the land of Lorne." The subject of this notice is a Toronto boy, born at Deer Park, and educated at Upper Canada College and Merchiston College, Edinburgh, where several Canadian boys have been educated, including the late Lieut. Stairs, who lost his life three years ago in Africa, and was an officer with Stanley's expedition. Mr. Ramsay has been in South Africa for the past four years. When the war broke out he was commissioned by the Transvaal Government, and saw some hard fighting at the front. He is a son of Mr. Wm. Ramsay, formerly a wholesale grocer of Toronto, now residing on his estate of Bowland, in Midlothian, and a brother of Fred. Ramsay, of Ramsay & Aitkens, brokers, etc., Toronto.

THE FIRST.

In the office of THE GROCER there hangs this week the first package of matches to leave the factory of the E. B. Eddy Co. in their new patent match-box. This little pasteboard receptacle holds about twice as many matches as the box previously used. It is rectangular, larger, and more artistic in appearance. But its great feature is its lid, which opens upon a hinge, and is perforated, so that the box can also be used as a wall match-safe at a moment's notice.

This new package will do away with the necessity of leaving the box lying round on a table, with its contents half spilled, or the matches from being taken out of their original box before being placed in a wall or table match-holder. All that has to be done is open the lid, push aside a piece of pasteboard from a perforation, and hang the box on a hook or nail.

It is so simple that everybody will say, "Why didn't I think of that before?" But it is the simple inventions of this kind that make the greatest successes. This new package will not be on the market for a few weeks yet.

CUT IN WOODENWARE.

A cut is announced in the price of woodenware. The decision was arrived at on Monday last at a meeting of the Canadian Woodenware Association. The object is to prevent the importation of American woodenware, which has been coming into the country pretty freely of late.

BROOM CORN.

One of the largest consignments of broom corn from the Illinois district that has come to Toronto for some time is that just being received by Charles Boeckh & Sons. It consists of twenty-eight straight carloads, and aggregating nearly half a million pounds. It will probably be of interest to consumers of brooms to know that the price of broom corn has advanced fully 60 per cent. in the last three months owing to the almost total failure of the crop in Kansas and Nebraska. The best grade of carpet corn is grown in the state of Illinois, which fortunately had a heavy crop this season, but it has been almost entirely bought up by the larger manufacturers and Chicago dealers, and much higher prices are expected to rule before the next crop is harvested.

Reports from the boot and shoe trade in St. Rochis are much more encouraging within the last few weeks, and some factories have now all the orders they can fill.

Hausfrau (to dunning tradesman)—"If to-morrow is bad weather I shall be able to pay you. But if it is good weather you need not call, as we shall need the money to go to a picnic.

In a petition presented by the fruit dealers and grocers of Toronto to the City Council yesterday, the request is made that Dominion legislation be applied for, whereby for the protection of the trade and the general consumer, all fruit shall be graded, the baskets to have the grade, first, second and third class, stamped plainly on them.

PEDLARS AGAIN.

THE street pedlars' difficulty took on a new phase in Montreal last week. As already announced, the Ma.ket Commissioners had considered the proposition made by the grocers and butchers. They eventually came to the decision to rigidly enforce a market by-law which now exists, and which prohibits indiscriminate peddling on the streets.

Mayor Villeneuve, in his wisdom, however, saw fit to suspend the commissioners' action, and the City Council, at a subsequent meeting, endorsed the chief magistrate's course, so that pedling goes on as freely as ever.

It seems certain, however, that this state of affairs wont last long, for it is hard to believe that the Mont eal aldermen will be so foolish as to allow irresponsible people and farmers from the country to peddle their merchandi-e through the city without the imposition of some tax.

The law as it stands at present says that every pedlar in Montreal must pay an annual license fee of $20.

The utter absurdity and unfairness of the present position of affairs is shown when this ridiculously low tax is compared with the heavy assessments that are made upon legitimate grocers and butchers.

The latest body to take up the cudgels against this peddling business is the Butter and Cheese Association, so that with all the influences that are being brought to bear upon it, it looks very much as if the Montreal City Council is bound to take some action in the matter.

DRY GOODS.

TORONTO MARKET.

TRULY this has been an off week in the dry goods trade. The house trade has been of exceeding small proportions and very unsatisfactory. A few job lines in staples have been picked up, and there has been a movement in dress goods at cut prices to clear. Heavy woolens are selling, but orders are not large and the movement shows very little briskness. The great trouble has been, of course, the exceedingly mild state of the weather.

With regard to payments, the end of the month is usually exceedingly slow, as dealers hold up for the 4th of the month. But wholesale millinery houses who have a great deal of paper maturing at present are complaining that it is not being met satisfactorily. Cash remittances are less numerous than usual. On the whole the circumstances are discouraging.

Orders for spring goods are, however encouraging and up to the mark in volume, due no doubt to small stocks.

One wholesale house claims to have done $25,000 more business this month than in the same month last year. But this is a wholly exceptionable case.

MONTREAL MARKET.

The week has not furnished any special feature in the dry goods trade, as business has been very quiet owing to the exceptionally mild weather that we have had.

Reports from travelers plainly indicate that they have had a very quiet week of it.

What little demand there is, is for such seasonable goods as woolen dress fabrics, etc.; also tweeds and cloth suitings.

Remittances on the whole seem to be fair from the country, but the returns from city customers are very poor indeed.

A BLUFF MEETING.

The president of the Montreal Retail Grocers' Association was a mad man last week. All the daily papers in that city contained notices that a meeting of the Retail Grocers' Association had been called to meet in the National Hall on the Main street to consider the question of street peddling. This was a fabrication pure and simple, as the association had already met and taken the necessary action in the matter. The notices were in fact a clever dodge to get the retail grocers together to hear some remarks advertising a new collecting agency's method of collecting bad debts. It did not work, however, for there was hardly a corporal's guard in the hall.

When the grocers want to endorse anything by their presence they want first to be consulted in regard to the matter.

A BRITISH TEA HOUSE.

KNOWN unto all the trade is the phenomenal increase in the consumption of Indian and Ceylon teas in the British Empire during the last ten or fifteen years; but not so well known—to the people of Canada, at least—are the efforts that have been made to get these teas where they are to-day in the public favor.

Ever since tea had become an article of every-day consumption, China had been looked upon as the only tea-producing country in the world. To persuade people that this was illusionary necessitated almost an operation on the brain. At any rate, it demanded much patience, much perseverance, and the expenditure of much money to do so But the Indian and Ceylon tea growers and dealers have their reward in the fact that during the last thirteen years they have displaced China teas in the British market to the extent of 76,000,000 pounds.

One of the firms which has played an important part in bringing about this revolution is the British Tea and Trading Association, Limited, London, England, and its development has been in keeping with the increase in the consumption of British-grown tea.

When the association began business in 1863 it occupied a single room and gave employment to one man and a boy; to-day their staff is large and their premises extensive. In Dunster House, Mincing lane, it has its market office; in Southwark street its warehouse; and at Brooks wharf its export bonded warehouse.

The company is the proprietor, amongst other brands of the "Blue Cross" and "Imperial Mandarin" teas, the former of which consists entirely of the Ceylon and Indian growth, and the latter a blend of Ceylon, Indian and Chinese teas. The brands have not only acquired a home reputation, but they are well known in the foreign markets, as is evidenced from the fact that the company has its own bonded warehouse for packing and blending purposes, something, it is said, that no other firm possesses. The firm does a large trade with Canada and the United States, the West Indies, Chili, Argentine are large customers, while Africa is being opened up to "Blue Cross" and "Imperial Mandarin," as well as to European civilization.

The machinery used in blending and packing this association's teas is of the most modern and perfected type, and in the many diversifications through which the tea is put none of it is touched by hand. After the tea is put through the requisite operations preparatory to being packed it is first enveloped in a waterproof paper, then enclosed in lead, and finally packed, machinery here again being used. Before the packages are put up in boxes and cases for despatch to various parts of the world they are stored on shelves and exposed to a temperature ranging up to 90 degrees, thus drying them so effectively that there is no danger of the tea afterwards becoming musty.

The great success of the British Tea and Trading Association is due to the enterprise of J. Howard Moore, chairman, and F. Aldons, co-managing director, as well as to the quality of Indian and Ceylon tea.

CANADIAN EGGS IN BRITAIN.

Nash & Lightsyer, Charlottetown, P.E.I., are shipping eggs to Great Britain since August, and they have shown better profits than Canadian and American consignments. For the British market they are selected in two grades, large and small, no mixed cases being sent. They are put in 30-dozen cases with white cardboard fillers. The British buyers have now overcome their prejudice against this form of package, and many buyers there prefer them to the 120-dozen straw filled cases. They still insist on the long dozen, i.e., the 30-dozen case is counted as 300 eggs instead of 360. Canadians, however, should adopt the British custom of paying for eggs by weight. Selected eggs will run 15 to 16 lbs. to the hundred, and bring the best prices. Culls will not go over 12 to 14 lbs., and sell for less money. The buyers on Prince Edward Island are considering the best way of bringing about that custom there.

Their Flavoring Extracts are of the choicest quality.

GOOD BOOKKEEPERS often go astray in the preparation of Balance Sheets, Profit and Loss Accounts, and the adjustment of Capital Accounts. Unless you have competent inspection the errors pass uncorrected. My forte is a knack for dealing with them.

THAT MOLASSES TARIFF.

IN a dilemma is still the wholesale trade regarding the tariff on molasses. As already pointed out in THE GROCER, the Customs Department has ruled that molasses, in order to come in under the duty of 1½c. per pound, must be imported direct, at the same time specifically ruling that New Orleans molasses bought in bond in New York, although in the original package, as directed by the law, must pay a duty of 7c. per gallon.

When Controller of Customs Wallace was in Toronto a couple of weeks ago he was waited upon by members of the trade who entered a strong protest against the ruling, contending that it was foreign to the reading of the tariff.

Mr. Wallace promised the deputation an answer in the course of a few days, but a few weeks has passed and still the answer has not materialized.

In the meantime, it is understood Mr. Wallace has gone on a trip to the Maritime Provinces, presumably on a fishing tour, leaving the members of the trade who are awaiting his pleasure to fish for themselves. At any rate, they are being put to much inconvenience.

Mr. Wallace, as Controller of Customs, has power to say "yea" or "nay" in this matter. But it is understood that he prefers to await the return of Hon. Mr. Foster, the Minister of Finance, before issuing his final decree. Until such time as the latter returns from England the trade could hardly therefore expect to have the question settled once and for all; but if Mr. Wallace would not exercise his authority in the premises at once, the least he could have done was to have kept his promise with the merchants who waited upon him, informing them whether, after his conference with the Premier, he was still determined to withhold his final ruling until after he had conferred with the Minister of Finance, whose handiwork the tariff was.

Since Mr. Wallace became Controller of Customs he has generally lent a willing ear to the representatives of the trade, and has possessed the quality of acting promptly one way or the other. In view of this, his conduct in this instance is causing surprise as well as indignation.

THE GROCER can assure Mr. Wallace that he is losing his good name and that there is a growing belief among the trade that the department over which he presides is in its dotage.

RAW SUGARS FROM LONDON.

Some of the grocers in Western Ontario are bringing in raw sugar from London, England, to sell in competition with the domestic refined article.

"They are doing this," said THE GROCER'S informant, "because they cannot get all the grades of refined they require from the Canadian refiners. Furthermore, the raw sugars are about as cheap as the refined, while many people prefer their character."

WORK OFF OLD STOCK.

Most food products put up in tins will keep for many years, but it is always advisable to work off each season's supply before disposing of the new. Many houses do not do this.

A label gets discolored or damaged through exposure and instead of disposing of the goods at once they are held to the last. Before its turn comes a new supply is received and for some years it is a back number.

Finally the stock runs short and the old tins are sold. They are not up to the mark in quality and the grocer is blamed for keeping such goods, and the packer, whose name it bears, is listed as a man whose goods cannot be depended upon.

Always work off old stock before offering any new. This should be an instruction to all clerks.

THE PEDLARS' QUESTION.

W. P. Rogers, one of THE GROCER'S subscribers in Summerside, Prince Edward Island, contributes his share of information on the pedlar question. He writes :

"I am glad you are taking an interest in the pedlars' question as they are a nuisance to the trade in general, the foreign pedlars being especially so. The town corporation here tax all pedlars doing business within the limits $5 per week, or $1 per day, but they do not stay around the town much as the people of the country have more time to look at their goods, and besides, they take anything in trade from a goose egg to scrap iron.

"I hope this small bit of information will be of some use to you."

THE MISMANAGED GRAND TRUNK.

SIR HENRY TYLER, President of the Grand Trunk Railway Co, in his annual report ascribes the unsatisfactory result of the year's business to outside influences.

"Ifs" and "buts" have always been a feature of the annual report of the Grand Trunk's president.

No matter whether trade conditions in Canada and the United States are good or bad, never, as far as our memory serves us, have they been reflected in the annual reports of the G.T.R., and just as regularly does Sir Henry trot out his "ifs" and "buts" to mollify the shareholders. But it is in evidence that the day is waning when these shareholders will meekly swallow holus-bolus the lame and threadbare excuses which are annually made to do duty in various shapes and forms.

The fact of the matter is, the road is badly managed; and what has been apparent to the people of this country for some years, is gradually dawning upon the shareholders in England.

When a business, year in and year out, fails to pay it is due to one or other of two reasons: Either the management is bad or the business is unfavorably situated.

The failure of the Grand Trunk Railway to prove a successful investment for its shareholders cannot be ascribed to unfavorable situation.

It traverses through the very best and most thickly populated part of Canada and runs into the United States as far as the progressive city of Chicago; it carries about one third of the railway freight of the Dominion and about the same proportion of the passengers; it is one of the leading routes from the Eastern States through to the Western States; it monopolises the freight and passenger traffic of some of the cities of the Dominion—as these cities know to their sorrow; its earnings are from two to three thousand dollars per mile greater than any other railway system in Canada except the Canada Southern.

And yet in spite of all these advantages the results are persistently unsatisfactory.

One important outlet for the Grand Trunk's earnings is to be seen in the expenditure. The Government returns show that last year this expenditure was $4,036 per mile. This, omitting the Canada Southern, was nearly double that of any other railway in Canada. The expenditure per mile on the Canada Pacific, in spite of the enormous mileage it has to maintain, was but $2,189 per mile. Even the expenditure of the Intercolonial, that much criticised railway, was but $2,669, while the expenditure per mile on the Manitoba & Northwestern was as low as $763.

"Don," in Saturday Night, pertinently remarks that the Grand Trunk "is not only an Old Country concern, but it is an old time concern." And he is right. It is an old time concern, and no half measures will ever make it different.

Sir Henry Tyler may be a passable president, but even he is not accounted strong enough for the job by a good many. But whether he is or not, Sir Henry, or no other man, be he titled or untitled, can successfully "boss" a concern like the Grand Trunk three thousand miles away even if he has the cable at his elbow.

The head of an ordinary business house would scarcely be accounted wise were he to live even one hundred miles from his store or warehouse, only visiting the latter once or twice a year, relying on the telphone, telegraph or mail as mediums of communication the rest of the time.

But not only does the headquarters of the company need to be on the scene of active operations, but new blood must be infused into the officials in high places. The worst sin of many of them is not their inefficiency, but, eaten up by their own importance, they are brusque and imperious in their bearing toward those who have occasion to approach them.

Business men do not swallow the leak with any more grace because it is shoved down their throat by a big corporation. And the result is that when they can they give their patronage to some other road.

No one can gainsay it, there is a deep-rooted prejudice in this country against the Grand Trunk, and it is mainly because of the mismanagement and brusqueness of its officials. And the sooner the desired changes take place the better will it be for the country as well as for the company, for because of the gloomy reports which are presented to the latter so regularly the result can be anything but helpful to the credit of the former.

If there were no clouds, we would not appreciate the sunshine; and were it not that merchants have now and then to pull against the stream, it is a poor and effeminate class of business men we would have.

WHOLESALERS AND PATRONS.

EVIDENCE has been adduced within the last few days which proves that the practice of selling to Patron stores is more widespread among the wholesale trade than was supposed.

We can understand how a wholesaler, in the race there is for trade, can sell to a Patron store when he can sell to no other merchant in the village or town, but it is a sort of enigma to us why he is so short-sighted as to allow his travelers to call on and accept orders from Patrons where he has already customers doing a legitimate trade.

These Patron stores are started with the avowed object of running out of business the legitimate merchant. It is patent to everyone, and the Patrons themselves take no pains to conceal the fact. Yet, in spite of this, there are wholesale houses that will permit their travelers to go from the store of the legitimate merchant to the store of the illegitimate with their samples.

If a wholesale house desires to sell to the Patrons let him do so; but let him stick to that class of customers. For him or his representative to go to the regular storekeeper with his samples after catering to the wants of his avowed enemy is nothing short of impudence.

Any merchant who subscribes to such an agreement as that demanded by the Patron Association, namely, to supply its members at prices 15 per cent. on invoice figures, cannot pay 100 cents on the dollar and live up to the agreement.

Every wholesaler knows this, and yet there are some of them—and some of them who are leading and old-established houses—who will deliberately sell to such, thereby incurring the risk of losing money should these Patron concerns encompass the ruin of the legitimate storekeeper, and also from the collapse of the illegitimate storekeeper, whose failure must ultimately follow if it does not precede that of the former.

A reputable wholesaler would not deign to do business with a storekeeper whom he knew to be not conducting his establishment on business principles; and yet he is sometimes blind enough to court the custom of a Patron freak born of the most unsound of business doctrines and cradled in the most absurd of schools.

These Patron stores are ephemeral. This is one satisfaction, but until the day of their burial comes they will do a good deal of harm. The storekeepers themselves can help on the day of the demise of these concerns if they chose. Let them form village, township, and county associations, ascertain the wholesalers who are supplying the Patron stores, and then apply the thumb screws. A few applications will at least compel the legitimate wholesalers to cease filling orders for Patron stores, for they know on which side their bread is buttered.

LEADING RETAILERS.

MANY differences that crop up between wholesalers and retailers would have had no existence had the parties concerned been acquainted with each other. Realizing this THE GROCER has grasped every opportunity for urging personal contact between seller and buyer. During the last few years there has been a marked improvement in the desired direction ; but there is still room for development.

With a view to bringing about the desideratum THE GROCER has decided to branch off in another line while still retaining the old. We purpose producing the "shadows" of the leading retailers throughout the Dominion. In a word we intend producing pictures and sketches of them. No attempt will be made to publish them in order of merit or as the spirit moves us, but just as our staff of writers and artists can prepare their copy and pictures.

But while we hope to furnish a picture gallery of the retail merchants of the country, we have another object in view : We want to furnish the retailers with examples from the experience of their fellows that may help them to make their respective businesses more successful. And it is from this standpoint that the series of sketches will probably prove of most value to the retailers of the country. The subject of our first sketch is

J. A. HUNTER.

Mr. Hunter is an example of what push and application to business will do. His place of business is in Durham, and he carries a general line of merchandise. Originally he was intended for a lawyer; but the gods willed otherwise. He was educated at Upper Canada College, Toronto, that good old school of many merchant princes. There "Jim" was one of the foremost boys, as the trophies won in both the class and in the field testify. He matriculated in 1889, and in September of the same year began the study of law in the office of McCarthy, Osler, Hoskin & Creelman, one of the largest and best firms in Canada. In February, 1891, he was summoned from his studies to attend the death bed of his father, the late James H. Hunter, M.P.P. And then was abruptly closed his career as a law student. His father died intestate ; and there being no other member of the family available, James A. gave up law and undertook the management of his father's estate. He took out letters of administration for the estate, and acted as manager and attorney for the administratrix, his mother. He acted in this capacity till March 1, 1893, when he purchased the business from the estate and became proprietor.

"Pluck, energy and judicious advertising" is Mr. Hunter's motto, and he has been successful with it. He has a good staff of clerks, etc., around him, but he gives personal attention to every detail, and brings himself into personal contact with his customers whenever opportunity affords, giving them a cheery greeting as well as a vigorous shake of the hand. As a result of Mr. Hunter's enterprise his sales last year were 20 per cent. larger than the previous year.

J. A. HUNTER—Durham.

October 1st last Mr. Hunter adopted the cash basis, and he has found it to work most successfully. "We give no credit," he remarked to THE GROCER, "and feel satisfied that our new system will eventually prove a great success in our business."

Close as is the attention Mr. Hunter gives to his business he finds time to devote to public matters and field sports. Frequently he may be seen driving a pretty span of horses which he owns. In the summer season he takes an active part in lacrosse and cricket, while now and then he may be seen gun in hand, enjoying a day's hunting. This fall there is one black bear less in the world as a result of his prowess with the rifle. He is now sitting in the town council for his second term. Besides being a merchant, municipal councillor and sportsman, Mr. Hunter is a soldier, being a lieutenant in the 31st Battalion.

INTERIOR STORE ARRANGEMENT.

There is a small store in Pictou, N.S, kept by A. R. Lilly, which many of our subscribers might use as a model. Mr. Lilly is a small dealer in groceries, confectionery, cigars, and soft drinks. The arrangement, as a whole, is only applicable to smaller retail stores where, as a rule, the proprietor and a boy do all the work. In such a store the stock, not being turned over frequently, soils from long continued exposure on shelves, and gives the store a dirty appearance.

Mr. Lilly's store is 22 x 40 ft., with the door in the centre. All round he has put glass fronts on his shelving, which open and shut on hinges. The shelving begins three feet from the floor and is five feet in height and nine and a half inches deep. The glass fronts or doors are 24 inches wide and fit very tightly, so that dust does not penetrate. There are two panes in each door. The back-ground is fancy red paper. Below the shelving he has biscuit boxes set up at an angle of forty-five degrees covered with glass. The whole interior, which was fitted by Mr. Lilly himself in his spare time, presents a clean, sweet appearance, and from his experience would not be without this arrangement.

THE GROCER suggested improvements which he himself thought would be better—that is, sliding instead of doors on hinges.

Instead of shelves being 9½ inches deep, they should be made 18 inches, so that the biscuit boxes now below might be admitted. If the dealer could afford it, the fronts should be plate glass and the background mirrors, and the woodwork natural or stained a bright color, There are many busy stores which might adopt this arrangement in part for their bread, biscuits, confectionery and other goods which are easily affected by dust, etc.

TRADE CHAT.

J. S. LARKE, Canadian Commissioner to Australia, says the boot and shoe manufacturers of Quebec are hopeful of doing a good trade with Australia.

Canadian vessels caught 95,048 seals in Behring sea this season. This is said to be the largest catch on record.

The Indians of Manitoulin Island shipped 7,000 baskets of blueberries from Little Current during the present season.

Several Sarnia grocers have been victimized by female sharpers who passed three $5 spurious gold coins on them.

The arrivals of apples in England during the week reached a total of 120,000 brls, of which number 40,000 brls. went to London.

Saturday night R. H. Little's general store and post office, Lisle, was robbed of some money and stamps. Three years ago the store was robbed, the safe broken open and $275 taken.

English advices intimate that the final liquidation of the great Baring estate will shortly take place. The liabilities, which were originally over $100,000,000, have been reduced to a little over $12,000,000. It is expected that a large surplus will be secured ultimately.

A new company has taken hold of the Dominion Organ Co., of Bowmanville, and the ratepayers of the town have voted it a bonus of $5,000. "The merchants are in high feather over the matter," said a traveler who has just returned from Bowmanville.

The Collingwood Board of Trade is making arrangements for the formation of a fruit-growers' association in this district. The object of the society will be the distribution of all sorts of information for the growing of all kinds of fruit, its care, the proper methods of preparing to ship and to store, etc.

Mr. Goodfellow, postmaster of Macdonald, has placed on our desk three beautiful and mammoth apples of the King variety, which were raised by Mr. Albert Blakely, of North Fredericksburg. They measured 13½, 13 and 12½ inches around while their weight was 15¾, 14½ and 14 ounces respectively.—Tribune, Deseronto.

Export shipments of cattle, hogs and sheep from Manitoba and the North-West this season have grown to very large proportions, and those who are best posted on the subject declare that within four or five years the live stock trade of this country will exceed in importance the wheat exports One thousand head of cattle were shipped from here during last month.

P. D. Armour has been experimenting on the economy of using wheat as food for hogs. Feeding 18 pigs solely with 1 650 pounds of crushed wheat, they showed in two weeks 525 pounds gain, which at five cents per pound for hogs, made $26.25 increased value, or a little over 95 cents per bushel for wheat, against 53 cents, the market value of the grain at that time.

The net cost of beet growing in Germany is $50 per acre, the product is saleable for $66, leaving a profit of $25 per acre. The average yield is given as 12 tons of beets, value $66; 3 tons of tops, value $3 75; 35 per cent pulp, 8,400 lbs., value $6 30. Agricultural wages in Germany are less than one half what is paid in Canada.

The business men of Dundas and the members of the Board of Trade held a meeting Friday evening to discuss the application of the T. H. & B. for aid from the town in the shape of a bonus. The result of the discussion was the adoption of a resolution asking the Council not to negotiate with the company at present, but to appoint a committee to confer with a committee from the Board of Trade on the matter.

Returns have been received at the Dominion Fisheries Department of the collection of fish ova for hatching in the Government hatcheries. Upwards of 5,000,000 salmon eggs have been collected at the British Columbia hatchery; at Wiarton several million salmon trout eggs have been procured; the Atlantic hatcheries are now in the midst of the work of egg collecting; at Manitoba several million whitefish eggs have been laid down in the Selkirk hatchery.

At a general meeting of the Dominion Commercial Travelers' Mutual Benefit Society, held at the rooms of the association, in Montreal, on Saturday evening, the following were nominated officers and trustees for the ensuing year: Chas. Gurd, president; G. O. Stanton, vice-president; trustees, Fred Birks, J. T. Dwyer, E. H. Copland, F. Hughes, Robt. White, and Max Murdock. The above were all elected by acclamation. The annual meeting was fixed for Friday, December 14, at 8 p.m.

Judging from late statistics India still remains a magnificent country for sportsmen. In 1892, 21,988 human beings and 81,668 head of cattle were killed by snakes and wild beasts, the chief human mortality—19,025—having been due to snake bite. Tigers claimed 947 human victims, leopards 260, wolves 182, bears 145 and elephants 72. On the other hand, whereas only 4 498 cattle were killed by snake bite, no fewer than 20,969 were devoured by tigers, 30,013 by leopards and 6,758 by wolves

The well-known firm of Jackson & Hallett, established in Guelph in 1868, is being dissolved, Mr. Jackson, with his son Edward, taking over the grocery part of the business under the style of Jackson & Son. Mr. Jackson has been connected with the grocery trade of Guelph for the last thirty-five years, being salesman with Messrs. Rutherford and J. L. Lewis. Mr. Jackson, jr., has a thorough knowledge of the business, having occupied good positions in both wholesale and retail grocery firms in Montreal. Mr. Hallett, who will continue the wholesale and retail wine and liquor business at the old stand, came to Guelph from Langport, Somersetshire, Eng., in 1867. At Langport he served a five years' apprenticeship with Stuckey & Meade, one of the largest and most successful concerns in the west of England. He will also continue the business of exporting cheese and butter to the late firm's connections in England and Scotland, which business has exceeded $250,000 yearly since 1882. Mr. Hallett will import wines and liquors direct from Ireland, Scotland, France and Spain.

A man married a widow, and by some coincidence took her to the same hotel where she stopped with her first spouse. At table she said to Charles, the bridegroom: "Will you kindly pass the butter, John?" A vision of "John," his predecessor, flitted before the bridegroom, who indignantly replied: "My name is not John—it is Charles." "Excuse my mistake, Charles," she said; and then, tasting the butter, added reflectively, "but it is the same butter."—Boston Home Journal.

A "tell tale" milk jug has just been devised in England. It is a glass measure, graduated at every quarter pint. Below the pint and half-pint marks three lines are etched, showing the thickness of cream which should appear in milk of average quality, in good and in very good milk, thus measuring both quality and quantity.

The shipment of fish from the Lake of the Woods district this season has already reached nearly 300 cars. Mr. Hugh Armstrong, M.P.P., and his company have been the most active ones engaged in the operations. Their distributing points are St. Paul, Minneapolis, Chicago, Detroit, Buffalo, Cleveland, and Sandusky. Mr. Armstrong is at present organizing a company of his own to work the lake. The shipments means considerable cash to a large number.

A HINT TO BOARDS OF TRADE.

THE Truro Board of Trade has an important feature that might be adopted by many other similar organizations. The board was organized in 1889, with 30 members through the efforts of the present secretary, G. A. Hall, of the retail dry goods house of J. H. Crosscup & Co. It was found difficult to hold the members, though the assessment was only $3 a year. Many of them were anxious to have reports on and lists of delinquent debtors. At first it was arranged that they should be sent to the secretary by each member. Some reported, but others who were always ready to have a look at their neighbors' lists, did not furnish any themselves, which is always the rule in a case of this kind, and the scheme did not work. Mr. Hall then made an arrangement with the County Registrar to supply a weekly list of mortgages, sales, judgments, etc., for $50 a year. He also arranged for reports of judgments for small amounts by local magistrates. These were printed and sent free to members every week marked "confidential." And the scheme has been so successful that the membership has increased over the 100. All the members consider it a most profitable investment. The list has had a moral effect on slow paying customers that cannot be estimated. They now go to a merchant who threatens to sue them and pray him not to do so, as their name would appear on the list. The secretary mentions one man who saved $200 by a timely hint in their weekly report of a customer who had given a bill of sale. Other creditors who were not so informed got nothing.

The board is now grappling with the assessment question. Before their organization the city council paid no heed to representations of business men. Now they recognize them as a powerful factor, and have asked that a committee be appointed to confer with the council.

The board is wisely moving for the exemption of stocks in merchants' hands. At present a man who has an average stock of $12,000 may be assessed for $5,000, or vice versa.

Nearly all the business men in the town are now in the board.

PARAGRAPHS ABOUT RETAILERS.

J. A Taylor & Co., grocers, Stratford, are giving up business.

J. Fisher, of Newcastle, has moved his general stock to Callander, Muskoka.

W. H. Wilson, grocer, Woodstock, is dead. Deceased had been ill for some time.

Joseph Sharp, of Cadmus is, it is understood, buying out John Burns, of Jeannetville.

G. M. Long, general merchant, Omo, has sold out. Thomas Miller, of Oshawa, and Robert Barfett, of Newcastle, are the purchasers, and they will continue the business for the time being, at least, under the style of Miller & Barfett.

Mr. Andrews, one of Oshawa's general merchants, is in Muskoka, looking, it is understood, for a place in which to start up business, it being his intention to leave Oshawa. Mr. Andrews has sold out his Claremont branch to Thomas Castor.

George Hasenflug of the "City Grocery," Waterloo, bought the stock of the "Empire Tea Store," Berlin, put up at the mortgage sale last week. He bought the stock at a low price on the dollar and is already doing a brisk trade. He will make tea a specialty, and expects to handle large quantities.

DISCOLORED LOBSTERS.

When sampling a can of lobsters, portions of the meat which rested against the tin are often found to be black. This applies more especially to lobsters caught in particular sections in the Maritime Provinces. It will be observed that salmon, mackerel, cod, sardines, or other fish never discolor in this way. They are oily, while there is no oil whatever in the lobster, but there appears to be an acid. This acid, it is supposed, eats through the tinning on the inside of the can and thus causes the discoloration. Some of the packers will endeavor to overcome this, and are ordering for next season's pack a double-dipped tin plate, i.e., a plate with a heavier coating of tin than the ordinary stock used by canners.

DEVELOP NATURAL RESOURCES.

MANY towns in the centre of an agricultural district have given bonuses of $1,000 to $20,000, and even more, to induce various industries to settle there. A few of these have done well and have been a benefit to the community, but the majority have not given the results to the people who bonused them that they expected.

Many of them, in fact, have utterly failed, leaving the municipality sadder but with much more wisdom.

One town may be taken as an example. It was decided that something must be done to make the town boom. A miller not very well known to the residents told them that if they would give him $5,000 he would take over an old mill in the place and put in a new plant. The mill would be able to grind hundreds of cars of Manitoba wheat, and once they had started train after train loaded with flour would leave the town and it would boom.

The town voted $3,000. That was seven or eight years ago; and there has not been a single car of wheat brought in from outside yet. Another mill in the same town which did not receive any bonus is doing a larger and better business. The town in question has not benefitted a cent's worth, and they are still paying off the $3,000.

The aim of Canadian towns and villages should now be to develop their natural resources. These are mostly of an agricultural character. Let the merchants consider carefully what are the most profitable products their district can produce. Encourage the farmers to go into these

This has been done. A case in point: Two Prince Edward Island farmers were sitting in the store of one of THE GROCER'S subscribers a few years ago They were bemoaning the hard times and saying there was no money for anyone but storekeepers these days. Like most farmers they were plodding along in the same old way and never used their heads as business men would. The grocer suggested to them that there might be other lines in which they might make more money than in growing oats, etc, mentioning strawberries, which he was then importing. They tried the experiment; it was successful, and they and others who followed their example are now making $100 to $200 an acre clear on strawberries. They are paying cash for what they buy and they are buying more than they ever did.

It is the natural resources that put the most money in circulation.

AMERICAN APPLES IN ENGLAND.

Cables received on Friday by Otto G. Mayer & Co. say that although American apples continue to be in active demand in Liverpool and Glasgow, prices have fallen off somewhat on account of the large receipts. The prices at Friday's wholesale auction sales in Liverpool were from $2.88 to $3.60 a barrel for Baldwins, and from $2.50 to $3 12 for greenings, being an average of about 50 cents a barrel less than was realized at the opening sale in the latter part of August.

The steamships New York and Germanic, which sailed on Wednesday, took 3,000 and 5,000 barrels of apples, and the Etruria, City of Rome, and State of Nebraska, which sailed last week, also each took 6,000 barrels, making the total shipments from all ports for the week about 90,000 barrels. The total exports this season to date, inclusive, are 245,000 barrels, against only 941 barrels during the corresponding period of last year. Last year the domestic crop, like the present European crop, was practically a complete failure, and the total exports for the whole year were only 175,000 barrels, against 1,203,000 barrels in 1892 and 1,450,336 barrels in 1891, which was the "banner year" in the history of the American apple export trade.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

TO STOP A RUNAWAY HORSE.

Scarcely a week passes in any year that human lives are not jeopardized by horses taking flight and running away, says an exchange. The man who can devise some means which will surely prevent this will be a great public benefactor. Some one who professes to know states that runaway accidents seldom occur in Russia. The means used in preventing them is very simple.

It is asserted that in Russia a horse that is addicted to the habit of running away has a thin cord with a running noose around his neck at the neck-strap, and the end is tied to the dashboard.

"At Rome," says the informant, "I saw in the Corso a phaeton with two spirited horses bolt. They were driven by a lady, and I expected to see instant destruction. But the lady cooly grasped a thin cord and within thirty yards the horses came to a full stop. I afterward met the lady at Nice, and expressed surprise at the skill with which she stopped the runaways.

She treated it as a trifle, and told me accidents from runaway horses are unknown in Russia, as no one but a lunatic would drive without the cord. When a horse bolts he always takes the bit in his teeth and the skill of the driver is useless. The moment the pressure comes on the windpipe the horse knows he has met his master.

Ye Ancient Ballad of Jack and Jill.

(ADAPTED TO DATE.)

Jack and Jill went up the hill
To fetch a pail of water,
Jack had great admiration for
Jill's mother's blue-eyed daughter.

"How tiresome it used to be"
Quoth lovely, laughing Jill,
"To carry those old wooden pails
For water up this hill.

That pail! with cracks twixt every stave,
We could not pause a minute,
But had to hurry all the time
To save the water in it.

So badly balanced! If you gave
A single glance at me,
A dreadful spill upon the hill
There straightway sure would be.

Until that day! that happy day,"
Here Jill gave way to laughter,
"When you fell down and broke your crown,
And I came tumbling after.

Then mother bought an Eddy's pail
Of Indurated Ware,
A perfect dream! No hoop or seam,
And balanced true with care."

"Why, yes," quoth Jack, "my darling Jill,
In June when we are mated,
We'll buy with care our household ware
Of Eddy's Indurated."

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Nov. 8, 1894.

GROCERIES.

LITTLE is there in trade this week of an interesting character to note. No marked changes have taken place either in regard to volume of business or prices. Although the refineries are holding prices as before, yet the wholesalers are quoting lower figures than a week ago. Canned goods continue in a fairly healthy condition, with prices steady. The shipments of dried fruit ex Avlona are arriving this week. A good many complaints are heard regarding cutting in price of Valencia raisins, but dealers cannot be too careful in the fruit they buy. In teas, blacks are the kinds now being most sought after. Spice trade remains fairly good. Business is picking up in oranges, but other kinds of foreign green fruits remain much as before. The butter market remains much as before, but provisions are lower. There is still room for an improvement in payments.

CANNED GOODS.

Nothing new has developed. There is a fair seasonable trade doing in tomatoes, peas and corn at quotations, and canned fruits are if anything receiving a little more attention. Salmon is in good demand, but there is only a moderate enquiry for lobster. We quote: Tomatoes and corn, 85 to 90c.; peas, 80 to 85c.; peaches, $2.75 to $3 for 3's, $1.75 to $1.90 for 2's; raspberries, $1.65 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.90 to $2.10; apples, 3's, $1 to $1.10, gallons $2.65 to $2.80, and preserved fancy quarters at $1.35 to $1.40; salmon, $1.30 to $1.35 for good red fish in tall tins, and $1.50 to $1.60 in flat tins; do., second quality, $1.20 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1 to $1.10; lobsters, $1.70 to $2 for tall tins, and $2.25 to $2.75 in flat tins.

The Cohoe salmon season ended on the 30th ult., and all the factories are shut down. The season has been disappointing, the pack being only about 25,000 cases. Twenty-eight factories, being five more than last year, were operated this season, and each had a complement of 150 fishermen.

COFFEES.

Nothing new to report. The market is still bare of Rio coffees, and consequently business is insignificant. We quote green, in bags: Rio, 21½ to 22½c.; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 21½ to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 32c.; Mocha, 27 to 28c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 22c.

RICE.

There is still a fair trade doing at unchanged prices. We quote: "B," 3½ to 3¾c.; extra Japan, 5¼ to 5⅝c.; imported Japan, 5¾ to 6¼c.; tapioca, 4¼ to 4½c.

SPICES.

Trade keeps fairly good. Demand lately has been mostly for ground spices. We quote as follows: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 25 to 27c.; cloves, 25 to 30c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, 20 to 25c. per lb.

NUTS.

The only new season's nut on the market so far is Formagetta, but Tarragona soft-shelled almonds will be on the spot in a few days. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 11½c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds, 12½ to 14c.; Formagetta peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 13 to 14c. Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 8 to 10c.; filberts, 9¾ to 10½c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

SUGAR.

The refineries are doing a fair trade for this time of year, and prices with them have been well maintained. Refiners' stocks are light, and some of them are reported to be oversold on granulated. Local wholesale houses, however, are finding trade dull in sugars, and demand is almost altogether for small lots. Although refiners' prices are still unchanged the wholesalers are taking lower figures than they were a week ago. The ruling price for granulated with them now is 4¼c., although sales are reported at lower figures. Yellows are quoted as low as 3¼c. Raws are quoted at 3⅜c. for ordinary, and 3¼ to 3⅜c. for Demarara. The trade, especially the old-time members, will be pleased to know that fine Demarara sugars are coming on this market again. The samples shown are high test and very bright in color.

SYRUPS.

Syrups are still scarce and in demand. Some buyers state that the scarcity has never been so marked in their recollection. We quote: Dark, 25c.; medium, 28 to 30c.; bright, 35 to 40c.; very bright, 45 to 50c.

MOLASSES.

There is no change to note either in regard to business or prices. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 26 to 28c.; half-barrels, 30½ to 32c.; Barbadoes, barrels, 28 to 32c.; half-barrels, 30 to 34c.

TEA.

Trade keeps steady, with blacks, such as Indians, Ceylons and Chinas, occupying the chief attention from retailers. Prices ruling are: Young Hysons, 16 to 18c. for low grade; 24 to 27c. for medium, and 30 to 38c. for high grades; China Congous, 16 to 18c.; Japans, 16 to 20c.; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 35c. Brokers report the demand for all kinds of China Congous light. The feature of the market is that China teas, with the exception of greens show better value than has ever been known, while Indian, Ceylon and Japan teas have advanced and are bringing higher prices. Low grade Indian and Ceylon teas continue scarce.

A London, England, tea circular says that reports of all teas from Calcutta are likely to fall short of revised estimate by five or six million pounds, reducing the total probably to one hundred and fourteen to one hundred and fifteen million pounds, which with the smaller exports from Ceylon than was anticipated, and the diminished supplies from China, should establish a fairly healthy market if the offerings can be regulated to reasonable dimensions each week.

Mail advices received this week from Calcutta under date of October 3, state the competition for markets outside of London was keen, and all grades up to 8 annas per lb. had advanced.

DRIED FRUITS.

The direct shipment ex Avlona is arriving this week. This is imparting a little more life to trade, and an improvement in business may be looked for during the next few weeks. Valencia raisins are in good demand, but there is a good deal of dissatisfaction in regard to prices. The cause is the rain damaged fruit which some houses are quoting, and members of the trade must exercise a great deal of care if they do not want poor fruit palmed off upon them. "Some of the Valencia raisins," said a dealer, "is American staple and not as good as the Canadian. Both Denia and Patras in quoting offers will always quote the American staple is. lower than the Canadian." We quote good fruit as follows; Off-stalk, 4¼ to 4½c.; fine off-stalk, 4½ to 5¼c.; selected, 5½ to 6c.; layers, 6 to 6½c. There are some selected layers in 7-lb. boxes on the market this week.

The demand for currants is relatively smaller than for Valencia raisins. We quote prices as before. We quote new fruit: Filiatras, half barrels, 4½c., barrels, 4½c.; fine Filiatras, half brls., 4¾c., barrels 4½c.; Patras, 5½ in cases; Casalina, 5½ to 6c.; Vostizzas, 6½ to 7½c. in cases and half cases. A syndicate has been formed at Pyrgos to keep up the price of currants, and growers all over Greece are firm in their views, and only sell in small lots to keep themselves going.

Sultana raisins are in moderate demand only at from 5½c. per lb. up. The present crop is estimated at 25,000 to 26,000 tons, against 37,000 tons last year and 36,000 tons the year before. The primary markets are unchanged.

In figs the demand has slackened off a little for the moment. We quote: 14 oz., 10½ to 11c.; 10 lb., 11 to 12½c.; taps, 4½ to 5c.; 18 lb., 15c.; 28 lb., 18c. Importations are now all here or on the way.

There is practically nothing doing in Turkish prunes, nor will there be until the new crop arrives here, which will not be for another month yet. For French prunes a steady demand is developing, and prices are steady at 4½ to 5c.

In dates the only business doing is in the cold storage article at 4½ to 5c. New Persian dates by direct steamers are expected to reach New York 12th or 13th inst.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

No material change has taken place in the butter market during the week. The subject of most interest at the moment is the arrival on this market of a carload of low grade butter from Winnipeg. There are some 800 packages in all, and the consignees are asking for bids. Good dairy butter is still scarce and wanted, while low grade is accumulating. There are not many large rolls coming forward. We quote jobbing prices: Dairy—Choice tubs, 17 to 18c.; medium, 14 to 15c.; crocks, 20c.; low grade, 11 to 13c.; pound rolls, 18 to 19c.; large rolls, 16 to 17c. Creamery—Tubs, 20 to 22c.; pound prints, 22c.

The cheese market is looking a little better and some of the factories have made sales at ½c. above the previous week's figures. Jobbers report demand steady at 10½ to 11c.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Business in meats is still good, but at lower prices for most lines. Long clear is still the kind most called for, and it is scarce. Lard is weak. Dressed hogs are offering freely, and several carload lots have changed hands at $5.60.

BACON—Long clear, 7½c. for carload lots and 8c. for small lots; breakfast bacon, 11 to 11½c.; rolls, 8¾ to 9c.

HAMS—Large, 22 lbs. and over, 10c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 11½c.; small hams, 12c.; pickled, 10½ to 11c.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 8½c.; tubs, 9½c.; pails, 9¾c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess $16; Canadian short-cut, $16.50 to $17; shoulder mess, $14 to $14.50; clear mess, $14.50 to $15.

GREEN FRUIT.

Demand for oranges continues to increase nearly every day, showing a better business. Business in lemons is still fair. Malaga grapes are selling well, and the market is fairly well supplied. There are only a few domestic grapes on the market. Bananas are slow. Quinces are still in fair demand, although the season is about over. There are still a few pears to be had. Cranberries are in fair request. We quote: Lemons—Floridas, $4 to $4.50; Sorrentos, $5 to $5.50; Messinas, $3 to $4.50. Oranges, Floridas, $2.75 to $3.25. Bananas, $1 to $1.50. Cucumbers, 20 to 25c. per basket. Tomatoes, 25c. per basket. Apples, winter fruit, $2 to $2.50 per brl.; snow apples, $2 to $2.50; fall fruit, $1.75 to $2. Grapes, Concords, 25c. per basket; Niagaras, 30c. per basket; Catawbas, 35 to 40c., per basket; Rogers, 35 to 40c.; Malagas, $5 to $6 per keg. Sweet potatoes, Jerseys, $3 per brl. Pears, 30 to 35c. per basket. Cranberries, Nova Scotia, $10 to $11 per brl., and $3 to $3.25 per crate; Canadian, $2.75 to $3 per crate.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—There is just the usual moderate trade being done. We quote ordinary at $1.25 to $1.35 and choice hand-picked at $1.40 to $1.50.

DRIED APPLES—Deliveries are free and prices weak. Holders are asking 4¾ to 5c. f.o.b. and sales of small round lots are reported at 5c. on spot here. Jobbers are getting 5½c. for small lots.

EVAPORATED APPLES—The market is weak and tending downward. Factories that a few weeks ago refused 8c. f.o.b. are now taking 6½c. There is no export demand and the local demand is light just now. Jobbers quote 7½ to 7¾c.

ONIONS—Much as before. Spanish are selling at 90c. to $1 per crate, and Canadian at 90c. to $1 per bag.

HONEY—Business is still only moderate. Extracted is selling in 10-lb. tins at 8½c. per lb. and comb at 14½ to 15c. per lb.

HOPS—Dull at 12 to 14c. for new and 8 to 10c. for yearlings; pressed hops, 16 to 18c. per lb.

EGGS—Strictly new-laid are scarce and wanted at 17c. For other kinds demand is only fair. We quote limed at 14c. and cold storage at 16c.

POULTRY—Supplies are lighter than usual and demand is fair. We quote: Turkeys, 8 to 9c.; chickens, 30 to 50c. per pair; geese, 5½ to 6c.; ducks, 40 to 60c.

POTATOES—Quiet and easy, with sales at 50c. on track; dealers are selling as before at 55c. per bag.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

The close season being on there is, of course, no white fish or trout coming forward. Some attention is being given to frozen trout, but the movement is light yet. There is a fair business doing in haddock, cod, finnan haddies, ciscoes and mackerel. For oysters demand is good. We quote as follows: Frozen trout, 7c.; skinned and boned codfish, 6½c.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c.; "quail on toast," cod, 5 to 5½c.; Labrador herring, $2 50 per half keg and $5.50 to $5.75 per barrel; ditto, split, $3; fresh herring, 1½c. each; blueback herring, 4c.; blue pickerel, 4 to 5c. lb.; yel. ditto, 6 to 7c. per lb; Mackerel, 14c. each; pike, 5c. lb.; haddock and cod, 6c. per lb.; steak cod, 5 to 6c.; finnan haddies, 7½c.; Digby herring, in bundles of 5 boxes, 15c.; ditto, lengthwise, 14c.; large halibut, 10c.; ciscoes, $1.35 to $1.49. Oysters, $1.20 to $1.25 per gallon; select, $1.60.

SALT.

A goor jobbing trade has been done during the week at steady and unchanged prices. We quote: Barrels, 90c.; coarse sacks, 56c.; fine sacks, 60c.; dairy, $1.50; rock, $9.

HIDES, SKINS, WOOL AND TALLOW.

HIDES—There is a little better demand, but prices are unchanged, dealers paying 3½c. for green, and selling cured at 4½c.

SKINS—All lambskins and pelts coming in are taken, and stocks are beginning to accumulate. We quote lambskins and shearlings at 55c., and calfskins at 6c.

WOOL—Market is dull and prices unchanged. Dealers are paying 18c. for merchantable fleece and 20c. for very fine fleece.

TALLOW—Market is a little easier and the demand has fallen off, dealers paying 5½ to 5¾c. and selling at 6¼c.

PETROLEUM.

Trade is good. Prices are stiffening, and purchasers will in all probability have to pay higher prices soon. We quote, in 5 to 10 brl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 12 to 12½c.; carbon safety, 15c.; Canadian water white, 16 to 17c.; American water white, 17½c.; photogene, 20c.

MONTREAL MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Nov. 8, 1894.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market has ruled quiet on the whole and the tendency of values on some leading staples, though not quotably lower, is easier in tone. This is the case in sugar, for instance, and also in syrups. Complaints are also frequent about the offerings of trashy Valencia raisins that are being made at low figures. It will be remembered that we have called attention to the possibility of this happening some time ago, owing to the heavy rains that have been experienced at the growing centres. In canned goods the combine price on corn and tomatoes is being adhered to as a general rule, but in some cases outside sellers have sold the latter for less money. In fish prices remain much the same as they were, the supply offering, however, being plentiful. Other branches show no particular change.

SUGAR.

The sugar market has ruled rather dull since our last report and business has not been as active as it was. In fact, hardly a single large order has been put through since our last report. In sympathy with the tendency in New York, also, the tone has been easier and though at present writing no quotable decline has occurred, some predict that one will come shortly. Business here has been on the basis of 4 3-16 to 4¼c. for granulated and 3 3-16 to 3¾c. for yellows, according to grade.

SYRUPS.

The light stock of syrups in first hands imparts a firm tone to the market, and values are well maintained. In fact the refiners are experiencing some difficulty in filling all their orders, and while this is the case firmness is apt to rule. Recent sales of bright goods have been at 2 to 2⅛c. and dark at 1⅛ to 1⅜c. in round lots from first hands. The majority of wholesalers ask a a fair advance on these prices, but some of them sell the goods at cost or almost so, and this fact is causing complaint not only in syrups but in the case of sugar also.

MOLASSES.

There has been more activity in the molasses market since our last report, but no changes in prices are to note. The change is due to the fact that many jobbers had let their stocks run down pretty low, and when orders commenced to come in with the cold weather, had little stock to meet them with. As a result of this quite a quantity of Barbadoes has left first hands on the basis of 27½c. in round lots, and car lots have moved with considerable freedom at 29c. The regular jobbing price is firm at 30c. In Porto Rico stock one or two round lots that were offering here this week sold at 22 to 23c. ex store to local jobbers.

RICE.

There has been no special change in the rice market since our last report, but business has continued fairly active on the whole and prices are unchanged. We quote: Japan, standard, $4.25 to $4.40; crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B, $3.45; English style, $3.30; Patna, $4.25 to $5, and Carolina at $6.50 to $7.50.

SPICES.

The cold weather of the present week has improved the demand for spices to a certain extent, but trade is quiet on the whole and neither the millers or jobbers report any special activity. We quote mill prices as follows: Penang black pepper, 6 to 7½c.; white pepper, 10 to 12½c.; cloves, 7½ to 9c.; cassia, 9 to 10c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.; Jamaica ginger, 15 to 22c.

COFFEES.

The coffee market has ruled dull and with freer offerings of some goods, the tone of the market is easier, notably on Mocha, offers of which have been made in round lots at 25c., and sales transpired at that figure. We quote: Maracaibo, 20 to 22c.; Rio, 20 to 21c.; Java, 23 to 29c., and Mocha, 25 to 29c.

TEA.

The tea market has not furnished any special feature during the week, but the tone has been firmly maintained, while a fair quantity of stock has been moving from first to second hands, which is about all the business there is to note. Some round lots of last season's low priced Japans have been sold at full figures on London account, while quite a few enquiries have been received from Chicago, Boston, New York and Minneapolis, for China teas which have led to sales of the latter to a large extent. The distributing trade has been rather quiet, but are firm in every case. We quote Japans: Low grades, 13 to 14c.; medium, 14 to 17c.; fine 18½ to 32c., and choice, 24 to 31c.

DRIED FRUIT.

Despite the heaviness that has prevailed in New York on Mediterranean fruit the feeling here on Valencia raisins has been steady, and supplies have cost wholesalers fully as much money as they did a week ago. The chief feature of the week has been the arrival of the s.s. Avlona with 3,000 boxes of Valencia raisins. Of course a large percentage of these had been bought to arrive, and any buyers who held off in the expectation of better prices after the vessel's arrival have, so far, not obtained them. Round lots of off-stalk cost wholesalers this week 4c. for ordinary and 4¼ to 4½c. for fine, and 5 to 5¼c. for selected, while Four Crown layers have left first hands on the basis of 5 to 5½c. At such cost jobbers will have to get steady prices. There is some fruit offering here for less money than the above, but buyers of it will not be apt to find it readily saleable, for it is more suitable for distilling purposes than for anything else. Its price, therefore, is no fair criterion for good merchantable fruit. The competition of California raisins is not yet serious for the Spanish article. So far this fall only moderate quantities have arrived. It is worthy of remark, however, that their quality is much superior to the Mediterranean article, and the fact that they keep better make up for their additional cost with many buyers. We quote jobbing prices as before: Valencia layers, leading brands, 6c.; fine off-stalk, 5¼c.; selected, 5½c.; and ordinary, 4¼ to 4½c., according to grades; California raisins, 6 to 7½c., as to brand.

The currant market rules quiet and no large business is to note. We quote barrels 3¼c., half barrels 3½c., and cases 3¾ to 4½c.

The tenor of cable advices on prunes have been much firmer, and sales of the first lots of Bordeaux prunes have been made at a cost laid down here to the wholesaler of 4½ to 5c.

Figs are firm in tone, actual sales of large lots of new stock transpiring at 4¼ to 4¾c. for bag stock and 8½ to 12c. in cases laid down in Montreal. Of course jobbing prices are at an advance on these prices.

No transactions in new dates have as yet transpired on spot, and we can give no reliable quotations.

Offerings of evaporated apples are offering more freely and sales have been made here at 7 to 7¼c.

Dried apples show an easier feeling, and though we hear of transactions at 5½c. stock can possibly be had for less money than this figure.

CANNED GOODS.

The canned goods market on spot has been characterized chiefly by an increased demand for canned tomatoes, in which quite a large volume of trade from first to second hands has transpirrd. The combine price, 85c., is being generally adhered to, but in one case at least a lot of 900 boxes at 77½c. were sold. In salmon the feeling remains firm, and only about one-third of the orders are being filled. We quote: Lobsters, per case, $6 to $8; sardines, $8.50 to $9.50; salmon, $1.35 to $1.40 per doz; tomatoes, 95c. per doz.; peaches, $2 to $2 10 per doz.; corn, 95c. to $1 per doz., and marrowfat peas, 85 to 90c. per doz.; strawberries, $2.75 per doz, and raspberries, $1.80 to $2.50; Australian canned meats, 1-lb. can boiled mutton, $1.80 to $1.90; 2-lb. can do., $3.10 to $3.15; 1 lb. can roast mutton, $2.05 to $2.10; 2-lb. can do., $3.35 to $3.40; 1-lb. can corned mutton, $2.05 to $2.20; 2-lb. can do, $3.35 to $3.40.

FISH.

The fish market has not shown any improvement since our last report, and values, notably on salt fish, continue unsettled, as noted in our last report, Green cod is moving slowly, and a considerable quantity has been placed in store both for speculative purposes and to supply the ordinary demand Car lots have sold at $4 for No. 1 and $2.75 for No. 2. No. 1 large has realized $4.50. Jobbing prices are: Choice No. 1, $4.50 to $4 75; No. 1 large, $550; No. 2 do., $3.25. Fully 2,000 brls. of herring of different grades of Nova Scotia, Labrador and Newfoundland have been offered during the week. The greater part of the offerings are of an inferior quality and size. Breton are jobbing at $5 to $5.25; No. 1 Labrador, $5.25 to $5.50, and No. 1 Nova Scotia, $4.75 to $5. Few Labrador or Cape Breton salmon are coming in this market on account of the small catch this season. There are several lots of last season's stock still in market. Supplies of fresh and smoked fish of staple kinds continue plentiful ad prices steady.

GREEN FRUIT.

APPLES—There is no improvement in the apple market, receipts being in excess of the demand. We quote prices as before, however, at $1 to $1.50 for fall stock, and $2 to $3 for winter fruit.

ORANGES—The orange market rules steady at $6 per brl. for Jamaicas, and rather easier on Floridas at $3.25 to $3.50 per box.

LEMONS—No change is to report in lemons, which encounter a fair demand at $7.50 for Malagas per chest, and $3 to $3.50 per box for Floridas.

PEARS—Receipts are altogether too heavy for the demand, and prices on domestic are much lower at $2 to $4 per brl, according to quality. California range from $1.50 to $2 per box.

PEACHES—California are the only peaches offering, and they are steady and unchanged at $1 to $1.25 per box.

BANANAS—These are scarce and firmer at $3 to $3.25 per bush.

CRANBERRIES—Meet a good demand at steady prices; Cape cod, $10 per brl., and Canadian, $9 to $9.50.

GRAPES—There is a fair demand for these at 27½c. for Catawata per basket, and $5 to $7 for Almiria grapes per keg, according to quality.

SPANISH ONIONS—Round lots of these have left first hands at 65c., but we quote 70 to 75c. in a jobbing way.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The tone of the egg market is steady and values unchanged. Sales of limed occur at 13 to 14c. and fresh boiling 15 to 17c. per dozen.

POULTRY—A few small lots of poultry come to hand and meet a fair demand. We quote: Turkeys, 8 to 9c.; geese, 5 to 6c.; chickens, 6 to 7c.; and ducks, 8 to 9c.

GAME—Demand for partridge is fair and all the offerings were well cleaned up during the week at 45c. for No. 1 and 25c. for No. 2 per brace.

DRESSED HOGS—These are unsettled. Recent sales have taken place at $5.50 to $6.25 per 100 lbs.

HONEY—The market is slow, extracted ruling quiet at 7 to 8c. for new in tins and old stock 5½ to 6c.

HOPS—Brewers here have been paying 8c. for small parcels of new hops, but we quote 7 to 9c. as a range. Yearlings are lifeless at 4 to 6c.

POTATOES—Receipts of potatoes have been heavier, but prices have been maintained at 50c per bag in car lots on the track here and 10c. more for jobbing business.

ONIONS—These are coming in very freely, but demand keeps equal to the supply. Prices, however, are rather easier at $1.50 to $1.75 per brl.

PROVISIONS.

The demand for provisions continues slow, and the market in consequence is quiet, with business principally of a jobbing

FLOUR AND FEED

WHEAT is firmer than it has been for a long time, and there has been a total advance on the Chicago market during the week of about 5c. per bushel. The price remains firm at the advance. At the ruinously low prices that flour has been selling at for the past couple of months, it is reasonable to expect an advance, and holders are looking forward to it. Already Manitoba flours are advancing in price, millers claiming that it is impossible to continue selling at present figures. Feed is quiet but steady. City millers report a fair demand for both bran and shorts. Retail dealers are finding a little improvement in business. The colder weather is stimulating the demand for cerials and flour ; family flour is selling well. Hay is firm and all that farmers have offered during the week has found immediate sale. There has been a scarcity of good straw and prices are firm. Many of the city grocers are stocking up in flour in anticipation of increased demand, now that colder weather has set in. There is a much better feeling through the trade, and should these conditions continue it is generally thought that trade will improve materially.

THE MARKETS.

TORONTO.

FLOUR—There has been no definite movement except in the price of Manitoba patent, which has advanced 10c. Holders seem to be looking for an advance. We quote: Manitoba wheat patents, $3 45 to $3.55 ; strong bakers', $3.20 to $3.25 ; Ontario, $3 to $3.15 ; straight roller, $2.80 to $2.90.

BRAN—Steady. City mills are offering at $13 per ton.

SHORTS—Steady. Prices quoted by city millers are from $13 to $13.50 per ton.

SCREENINGS—Very little is offerings, and we quote $13 per ton.

OATS—Easier. Sales are reported on the street at from 29½c. to 31c. per bush.

BARLEY—Values are nominally unchanged. Sales of barley on the street ranged from 40 to 44c. per bush.

STRAW—Very little offering. It has been selling at from $8 to $8 50, with more wanted at these figures.

HAY—Much firmer. All that has been offered has been quickly taken at from $9 to $10 for timothy.

WHEAT—There is a much better feeling and prices are firmer. Ontario wheat, though quiet, is enquired for at 50c. for white. Manitoba wheat is firm with No. 1 hard selling at 65c. per bushel.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Trade is quiet in oatmeal, with prices unchanged. We quote . Rolled oats and standard oatmeal, $3.80 to $4 per brl.; granulated, $3.85 to $4.25 per brl.; cornmeal, $3.50.; split peas and pot barley, $3.75 per brl.

MONTREAL.

There is a brisk demand for Manitoba flour, and millers report a large volume of business doing, both on local and country account. The general impression is that prices have touched bottom and the feeling is firmer in sympathy with higher wheat markets, but no advance in values was established. We quote : Winter wheat, $3.25 to $3.40; spring wheat, patents, $3.25 to $3.40; Manitoba patents, best brands, $3.35 to $3.40 ; straight roller, $2.80 to $2.90 ; extra, $2.55 to $2.60 ; superfine, $2.40 to $2.50 ; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.20 to $3.30 ; Manitoba strong bakers', best brands, $3.25 to $3.30.

The demand for feed continues good and an active business is doing at firm prices. Bran, $15.50 to $16; shorts, $17 ; Mouillie $22.

There was no change in the oatmeal market, business being quiet and principally of a jobbing character. Standard, brls., $3.90 to $3.95; granulated, brls., $3.95 to $4 ; rolled oats, brls., $4 to $4 05 ; pot barley, per brl., $3.75; split peas, per brl., $3.50 to $3.60.

ST. JOHN, N.B.

In flour the price continues low and market dull, though millers are trying for higher prices, and report wheat firmer, but higher flour is not believed. Oatmeal rather lower. Beans show signs of strength. In cornmeal, as has been remarked in the report before the cut made by the millers, is not holding, the price of corn continuing high, they have had to advance their price again. On account of the lower price demand has somewhat improved. Middlings are easier and in lines of feed business is dull. Hay is lower. Manitoba flour, $4.10 to $4.15; best Ontario, $3.25 to $3.40; medium, $3.10 to $3.25 ; oatmeal, $4 to $4.10 ; cornmeal, $3 ; beans, $1.40, hand-picked, P.E.I., $1.30 ; middlings on track, $19 to $19.50 ; bran, $17.50 to $18. Buckwheat is in good supply and price is lower, $1.25 to $1.40. Port barley is scarce and higher. character. We quote as follows : Canadian short cut, heavy, $19 to $20; Canadian short cut, light, $16.50 to $17.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 9 to 11½c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 9½ to 10¼c.; bacon, per lb., 9 to 11½c.; lard, com. refined, per lb., 7 to 8c.

BUTTER.

The butter market is without change. No export trade is doing, and the prospects do not indicate the possibility of anything being done in this connection in the near future. English advices say that there are large stocks in England, while private cables state some limits, but they are away below the basis here, and besides stipulate for the latest made stock. We quote : Finest fall-made creamery, 20¼ to 21c.; earlier makes, 18 to 19c.; finest Townships, 18½ to 19c.; finest Western dairy, 16 to 18½c.

CHEESE.

There is little change in the cheese market in the absence of any improvement in the tenor of advices from the other side Both private cables and mail advices are not of an encouraging character. Aside from the transactions at the wharf on Monday, where 4,000 boxes of Septembers and Octobers were offered, there is little active business passing on spot. The wharf cheese above mentioned were all sold, the ruling price being 9⅝c. This is rather better than the ruling last Monday and on a par with the tenor of reports from country sections in the West and Townships. We quote : Finest Ontario, fall made, 10¼c.; finest Townships, 10c.; finest Eastern, 9½c. to 9¾c.

ASHES.

There is no change in ashes, business being quiet and prices unchanged. We quote: Firsts, pots, $4.35; seconds, $4.00; pearls, $8.25 per 100 lbs.

MONTREAL TRADE NOTES.

Orders for Ram Lal's tea continue to come in freely to Rose & Laflamme.

Laporte, Martin & Co. offer some first-class values in newly arrived Valencia raisins.

L. Chaput, Sons & Co. were large importers this week of well-known brands of Valencia raisins.

B. C. Canned salmon agents here have been compelled to refuse orders calling for immediate fulfillment this week.

There are several large lots of "Marshall's" fish goods near at hand on the way for importers both in Montreal and the west.

One of the refiners was comp'etely sold out of its stock of bright syrups at one time last week, and the other could hardly fill all the orders it had.

United States buyers continue to take teas of this market. Their purchases last week amounted to 1,500 packages of low grade and medium Japans.

The S.S. Avlona, which arrived on Monday, brought out 30,000 packages of Valencia raisins, the good merchantable brands of which are firmly held.

Laporte, Martin & Cie are just receiving their winter importations, amongst which is a considerable lot of their P. Richard brandies. The demand for those brandies has been such since a few weeks that Laporte, Martin & Cie have repeated their order so as not to be short of stock this winter. Connoisseurs are advised to give those brandies a fair trial. This firm has also received a part of its importation of figs and Sultana raisins, which are offered at good conditions

Over 500 puncheons of Barbadoes molasses have passed from first to second hands during the week, as several wholesalers had let their stocks run very low.

Stewart Munn & Co. have received several large lots of fresh and pickled fish during the week, notably herrings, and have placed some large lots with the wholesale trade.

Sales of Tetley's tea are reported to be still on the increase. The total sales for October are said to be away and above even the expectations of the firm's representative, Mr. Brown.

Caverhill, Hughes & Co. have just received a shipment of Marshall's Scotch kippered herrings, fresh herrings, herrings in tomato sauce, etc. Also Scotch salt herrings in kegs.

Marshall & Co., Aberdeen, Scotland, have large shipments by the State of Georgia's last trip for their Scotch fish delicacies and salt herrings in kegs, barrels, etc. This firm is building up a good trade in the Dominion.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Nov. 8, 1894.

BUSINESS for the past week has been good, and were it not for the extremely low values would be satisfactory. Payments both in and out of the city are fair ; if anything country payments are best. The business for October has been good, and much better than for the same month last year. The feature of the week is the strength in molasses. The price has been advanced, and it looks like a further advance. Stocks here are much lighter than usual ; and halifax market is in much the same way. St. Johns', New Foundland, has been a large importer from this point.

CANNED GOODS—It is strange how a good article will hold a price. Hoegg lobsters are an example of this : while lots of good lobsters can be bought at least $1.75, Hoeggs readily bring $2. It pays to so put up goods that they make a reputation for themselves. Values are firm at last week's prices. The only thing of particular interest is salmon, and holders are looking for a profit this year. California canned goods, which are in the market for the first time this fall, are meeting with a good sale, and are giving good satisfaction. One of the largest holders told your correspondent that out of a car which he received but a few weeks ago, he had less than one quarter of it now on hand. The prices are near those of Canadian goods: Corn and peas, 95c.; tomatoes, $1.05; salmon, talls, $1.35; flats, $1.75; lobsters, $1.75 to $2; finnan haddies, $1.40; corned beef, 1's, $1.60 to $1.75; 2's, $2.50 to $2.65.

DRIED FRUIT—It might be taken from the report in last week's issue that all Valencia raisins here are rain damaged. This was not intended, as some are in splendid condition, but as a whole, both on account of rain damage and other reasons, the importations are not altogether satisfactory, and some say it will have the effect of making the direct importations smaller next season. A few years ago the bulk of these goods came via London. Later on very large quantities came via New York, while for the last two years the bulk of the stock has been imported direct. California loose Muscatels, which went off in price in New York about ½c., are again firmer. The quality is finer. "Those who bought at the low price will have extra values to offer," said a large wholesaler during the week. "I can get almost a cent more for them than for Valencia layers." The favorite package in 1-lb. cartoon Nova Scotia dried apples are coming forward in large quantities. Prices are easier. Evaporated are also lower and buyers are very shy. Valencias are lower than last week's quotations. Stocks are not large. We quote as follows: London layers, old, $2; Valencias, 4½ to 4¾c.; layer Valencias, 5½ to 5¾c.; new California loose Muscatels, 6 to 6½c.; new French prunes, 5½ to 6c., small boxes, 9 to 14c.; currants, 3½ to 3¾c.; cases, 4 to 5c.; new evaporated apples, 8 to 8½c.; figs, 12 to 13c.

GREEN FRUIT—Supply is large. The stock comes to this market almost entirely by schooner and they find it slow work selling the cargoes even at low figures. Grapes are firmer. We quote: Apples, $1.50 to $2.25; Messina lemons, $5 to $5 50; Florida's $4 to $4.50; grapes, Canadian, 35 to 50c.; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $6; West India oranges, $6.50 per brl. and $4 per box; quinces, $6 50 to $7 per brl.; sweet potatoes, $4 to $4.50.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—The trade were pleased to see cheese firmer on the English market. This is what our report of last week foreshadowed, and we feel that cheese is all right and that at the present low prices asked, are good stock. Butter is in larger supply and hardly as firm; best article will, however, still bring a high price. Creamery butter is very firm, prints being hard to get. Eggs are much higher. They went up with a run, and retailers, when trying to replace stocks, were much surprised to find they had to pay an advance of 4c. and that they were scarce at that. It looks as if prices would be still higher. We quote: Cheese, 10 to 10½c; butter, 20 to 21c.; creamery, 22 to 23c.; eggs, 16c.

MOLASSES—This, as before stated, is the article of most interest in this market at present. Barbadoes is the molasses here, and stocks are far below the average. With other importing centres in Canada in the same position, and very little at the Island to be shipped; it looks like much higher prices. There has already been an advance of 1c. Syrup is in demand; at present stocks are light. New York parties are again offering. We quote: Barbadoes molasses, 28 to 30c.; Porto Rico, fancy 43c.; choice, 35c.; Antigua, 28 to 29c.; St. Croix, 28 to 29c.; syrup, 35c.

SUGAR—Granulated is dull and rather easier. We quote: Granulated, 4¼ to 4⅜c.; white extra C., 3⅞ to 4c.; bright yellow, 3¾ to 3⅞c.; yellow, 3½ to 3⅝c., dark, 3⅜ to 3½c.; Barbadoes, 3½ to 3¾c.; Paris, lump, 6 to 6¼c.; pulverized, 6 to 6¼c.

FISH—Smoked, on account of large arrivals, is rather easier, as are prices of dry and Shelburne herring. Stocks are, however, not large. The continued warm weather has somewhat stopped the shipment to Upper Canada. We quote: Medium cod fish, $3.75 to $3.80; large, $3 85 to $3.90; small, $3 to $3.25; haddock, $1.75; pollock, $1.70 to $1.75; shad, $5 to $5.50; half-barrels bay herring, $1.40 to $1.50; Shelburne, No. 1, $4 to $4 25, half brls., $2.25 to $2.50; Canso, $5,25; medium smoked herring, 9c.; lengthwise, 8c.

PROVISIONS—Pork and beef continues to fall in price, but demand is fair. We quote: Clear pork, $19 to $19.50; P. E. I. mess, $17 to $17.50; prime, $13 to $13.50; plate beef, $13 to $13.50; pure lard, 10 to 11c.; compound, 8½ to 9½c.; cottolene, 10¼ to 10¾c.

ST. JOHN MARKET NOTES.

Cream of tartar is reported scarce in this market.

Demand for salt for this season is light, as also are stocks.

Large quantities of potatoes are being shipped via steamer to Boston.

Twenty-five schooners in the market slip in one day is the record so far this fall.

T. H. Estabrooks, one of the largest handlers of butter and cheese here—if not the largest—said to your correspondent that, in his opinion, cheese was better stock than butter.

Among the exports via steamer from Summerside during the past week are 1,200 barrels oysters, 600 sheep, 160 cases eggs, 2,100 lbs. butter, 600 barrels potatoes, 16 barrels mackerel.

S. J. Cherry, the proprietor of the Cambridge Roller Mills, Preston, Ont., while here last week received a telegram informing him of the burning of his mill. Mr. Cherry has the sympathy of the trade.

To make a nice mince pie nothing can excel Wethey's condensed mince meat. It is no trouble, always on hand and fresh, is cheap and saves time. For sale by C. & E. Macmichael in 3-doz. cases, price $3.25.

The creamery at Nappan, Cumberland Co, Nova Scotia, is now turning out about 150 lbs. of butter per day. The whole winter output is contracted for in Halifax. The patrons of the factory are much pleased with the returns they are getting.

Reports of the formation of a wholesale grocers' association have been circulated, but it is understood that no definite steps have as yet been taken. There is room for such an association, and by united efforts many reforms in the trade could be accomplished.

Some excitement was caused by a report that Canadian railways were going to make a change in rates to Boston for export, throwing all charge upon the shipper. This, if so, would cause the rate via Boston to be about as much as all rail, where there has been a difference of about 5 to 7c. If this turns out to be true, it would stop the large importation now coming that way. So far your correspondent has been unable to obtain any information of a change.

WOODSTOCK, N.B., MARKETS.

WOODSTOCK, N.B., Nov. 8, 1894.

Business is active. The near approach of the time when the river closes tends to this, as does the crops now being marketed and the supplies going into the woods. It is a great inconvenience that the steamer cannot run more regularly between here and Fredericton, as the C. P. R. take advantage of their position and charge extreme rates. Even in carload lots goods can be sent from St. John to Edmundston at less rate of freight than from St. John here. It is said a little expense in the way of dredging would give us almost a regular boat. Hay continues very low. Eggs are scarce and have advanced in prices. Butter, though rather easier, is still worth a good figure. Yellow eye beans are about the only kind brought to market. We qnote: Hay, $6 per ton; oats, 28 to 30c.; potatoes, 70 to 75c.; beats, $1: carrots, 65c.; turnips, 50c.; cabbages, 3 to 6c.; buckwheat, $1.25 per cwt.; beans, $1.50 to $1.75; chicken, 40 to 50c.; pork, 6c.; geese, 40 to 50c.; lard, 10 to 12c.; butter, 18c.; squash, 1 to 1½c.; eggs, 14 to 16c.

SOMETHING FOR NOTHING.

On another page Messrs. H. A. Nelson & Sons are advertising some special drives which readers of THE GROCER should look into. They have secured control of these lines and wish to clear them out.

THE ETHICS OF TRADE.

"Look here," said a wholesaler yesterday, "why don't you write an article on the growth of the business of cancelling orders? It is certainly growing. If a jobber sells a bill of goods and another finds it out before delivery, and wants to have a slap at his neighbor, he cuts under and offers the goods even at a loss, it may be, for that purpose. The retailer snaps at the bait and cancels the first order. Or perhaps a falling market enables the second jobber to offer lower than the first could do at the time the order was booked. Perhaps the goods were sold to arrive. Of course a retailer is justified in making the best bargain he can, but when once he has closed a deal he ought to stick to it, unless it is clear that he has been swindled. Under no other conditions is it possible to conduct business."

"Just so," said a broker who was listening, "and while you are about it you might say something about the merchant who tells one agent's prices to another agent, so that the latter can go around and salt his competitor on the quiet. There is a great big field waiting for the man who wants to write articles on the tricks of trade."—St. John Sun.

NORWAY MACKEREL CATCH.

The Norway mackerel fishing, we are informed, closed on the 4th inst., says N. Y. Journal of Commerce. The season's catch is placed at 14,050 brls., in fisherman's order, against about 20,000 brls. last year. In connection with these statistics it may be proper to explain that Norway "fisherman's order" means round or unsplit fish, the average of which is about 170 pounds to the barrel. When prepared for the American market the fish are split and cleaned and packed 200 pounds to the barrel. It is therefore probable that statistics of the catch, as given above, may be misunderstood. Hence the explanation. Two recognized authorities, who handled 90 per cent. of the entire catch this season and last, estimate that 8,000 brls. will cover the entire supply this year of split Norway mackerel adapted to the American market, the balance having been retained in fisherman's order for the home trade, and that the shortage in the former is about 5,000 brls. In view of the liberal shipments already made and the fact that the greater portion of the goods received on this side of the Atlantic has been distributed, the statistics are at least suggestive.

SALMON NEWS FROM THE COAST.

Latest advices state "that the recent advance in the salmon market is barely maintained in England." The British ship Clan Robertson, 1,540 tons, Capt. Lane, is expected to sail for Liverpool to-day. Her cargo is comprised as follows: Shipped by Robt. Ward & Co, Ltd., 26 653 cs.; J. H. Todd & Son, 3,996 cs; G. I. Wilson, 5,000 cs.; Anglo B. C. Packing Co., 21,711 cs.; Federation Brand Canning Co., 12,448 cs. Total, 69,808 cs, valued at about $300,000.

It is reported that there were only 25,000 cases of cohoes put up on the Fraser River this fall. The British barque Coryvrechan, 1,299 tons, now loading at Victoria for London, is expected to complete her cargo and clear about the end of the week. The German barque Senta, 1037 tons, Capt. Thiemann, arrived Oct. 17 at Fraser River, and will load for Liverpool on account of the Anglo B. C. Packing Co.

There is one more vessel of this year's salmon fleet to arrive—the British schooner Rimac, 885 tons, which is now out 74 days from Santos, and will load at Victoria, for London, on account of Findlay, Durham & Brodie.—B. C. Commercial Journal, Oct. 23.

WHAT DOLLAR BILLS WEIGH.

Several customers were chatting in a Lafayette avenue, New York, grocery store one evening recently, says an exchange, when the grocer pointed to a half barrel of small beans, and asked how many of them it would require to make a bushel.

Various estimates were offered. One man recklessly put the number down at 50,000, which occasioned a laugh from all the others who had guessed a much lesser quantity, ranging all the way from 5,000 to 20,000.

"Well, gentlemen," remarked the grocer, "you are all wrong. There are approximately 119,000 beans in a bushel."

No one was inclined to believe him until he showed them that it took 60 beans, selected at random, to weigh half an ounce. The rest of the calculation was simple.

"Now, then," said one of the party, "since we are engaged in guessing contests, how many dollar bills would it take to weigh as much as a silver dollar?"

One said 100, another said 75, while the grocer, who knew all about beans, put the figure at 300.

"All wrong," remarked the man. "It takes just 22. This was proven to be the case by experiment.

WAITING TILL THE HEN LAID.

ON Tuesday week the first meeting of the creditors of John Hodgson, grocer and beer retailer, of Tune street, Barnsley, was held at the offices of the Official Receiver.—Debtor commenced business in January last, without capital, having previously worked in the pit. He got married in December last, and took over the wife and her debts, and he had paid those debts at the expense of the new creditors. He had now practically no estate, and owed £132 9s. 5d. He had book debts, which he estimated would produce £2 6d., and a bicycle £6, and had paid £12 to his solicitor, so that the deficiency was £112 3s. 5d., which he had managed to get since the beginning of January. Several debtors were pressing him, and the bailiffs were in possession, and so he sold out his stock and effects, and paid £12 to his solicitor. The furniture which the wife had before she was married to the present bankrupt she now claimed as hers.—The Official Receiver said the debtor seemed to have made no profit in his business, but had been living on his creditors, and paying his wife's first husband's debts. Mr. J. E. Barraclough said when the first husband died the shop was well stocked, and they were doing a good business, but as soon as the present debtor went there the stock began to go down, and trade fell off. He lived with the woman five months, and could not have paid lodgings, for he would not work. His (Mr. Barraclough's) man had been at the shop on a morning when they had been waiting for a hen to lay him a new-laid egg for breakfast. (Laughter.)—The Official Receiver: What, laid for him?—Mr. Barraclough: Yes; yes, my man has been there when he has been lying in bed waiting until the hen had laid an egg, that he might have new-laid with his rasher of bacon for breakfast. At the public examination which followed, practically no additional facts were elicited, and the inquiry was adjourned, the debtor being advised that his wife had better give up the furniture. Grocer's Review.

SOLD SHODDY GOODS.

Three cloth pedlars did a big business in this city a couple of weeks ago selling ends of cloth. They said they were from Leeds, England, and had a lot of fine cloths which they had used in a big display at the World's Fair and now wanted to sell cheap. The goods were of extra fine quality, and when any of the pedlars spoke of the Canadian duty he "winked the other eye." In many cases that settled the business and brought customers to time. Professional men, lawyers and merchants bought cloth at what they considered bargains. But by this time the purchasers are aware that they bought shoddy cloth from Montreal not worth half the price paid. The pedlars, while here on business, bought cloth for their own clothing at city tailor shops and had it made up.

But there was one firm that the pedlars didn't beat. Of course it was a law firm. The members bought over $100 worth of cloth and gave a cheque in payment. When the cheque was presented at the bank the holder was informed that there were no funds there to the credit of the firm.—Chronicle, Halifax.

WORTH MORE THAN FACE VALUE.

Some moneys that are in circulation among the trade are worth more than their face value on account of their age and scarcity. Others are worth less.

The 25-cent Canadian shinplaster dated 1870 with the capital letter A under the left hand side of the bill is worth easily $5. Collectors will pay that for them. They are passing every day at 25c. among the storekeepers in every part of Canada. Now and then one is found by the collectors and withdrawn from circulation.

The first issue of Dominion $1 and $2 bills are also at a small premium; those with an engraving of Jacques Cartier on the upper left hand corner.

There are a good many Mexican dollars in circulation throughout the Dominion. Many storekeepers accept them at their face value, $1, but for ordinary trade purposes they are worth only 80c. As Mexico has no gold standard for which they could be exchanged their intrinsic value is only about 49c.

THE SALMON SITUATION.

ALTHOUGH the situation in canned salmon has nearly passed the problematical stage as far as the pack is concerned, there is still enough of the uncertainty about it to make it interesting.

While there are contending influences at work, the indications favor a steady market rather than one of the opposite character.

The pack in British Columbia, while considerably short of last year, is above the average of the past five years. But the great factor which gives strength to the home market at least, is the fact that the great bulk of the pack has been sold on British account, and is now well on its way to that market. Another factor of a bullish character is the lightness of domestic stocks.

In the United States the situation is not materially different from that in Canada, although it is conceded that the Alaska pack is larger this year than it was in 1893. In the United States, in addition to the large quantities that have been shipped to Great Britain, several large blocks have been sold to China and Japan for use in the respective armies.

All the factors in the situation cannot however, be termed bullish, although of course they predominate. One thing particularly must be kept in mind: The purchasing capacity of the masses in Europe and America is somewhat curtailed at the moment and is likely to remain so for some months.

Then another thing not to be forgotten is that increasing quantities of other kinds of prepared fish are being put on the market every year. And the present year has been no mean imitator of its predecessors in this respect.

Naturally, if the price of canned salmon appreciates to any great extent, consumers will turn their attention to these other kinds of fish.

Although such large quantities of canned salmon have been sent to Great Britain, it seems to be the general opinion that they are not larger than that market is able to absorb. Be that as it may, neither a decline nor an advance there will hardly now make any material change in values here.

At present wholesale prices, therefore, canned salmon appears to be a good purchase.

COFFEE STOCKS.

FROM the circular of W. H. Crossman & Bro. the following extract is made: "We frequently receive advices from large coffee merchants in Europe upholding the opinion that present stocks are comparatively small, as if there were a famine in prospect, and claiming that present prices are fully justified, and so forth. In so doing they appear to overlook the fact that European stocks in December of 1891 ran down to 645,000 bags, with only 159,000 bags in Havre, and 67,000 bags in Hamburg, and yet there was no famine. In the situation now before us statistics show: Rio and Santos stocks (unsold), about 750,000 bags; afloats from Rio, Santos, Victoria and Bahia for Europe, about 750,000 bags; afloats from Java for Europe, about 122,000 bags; stock in Europe (October 1st, 1894), 910,000 bags; and yet with these two-and-a-half million bags of coffee within reach, reputable merchants are to be found who consider prices in Europe and Brazil of fully 20 per cent. higher than in October, 1891, quite justified. In looking for a reason for this, we must accept the old belief that the ruling sentiment in business is measured by the interest at stake. To-day the Europeans are desirous of selling their high priced purchases, and, therefore, wish to impress the rest of the coffee world that their stocks and prices are low. We detect the same idea with regard to the supplies in Brazil. In the 1891-92 crop receipts from 1st July to 16th October, were: Rio, 1,432,000 bags; Santos, 880,000 bag, making 2,312,000 bags; and in the present crop to date: Rio, 1,024,000 bags; Santos, 1,615,000 bags, making 2,639,000 bags, or 327,000 bags, so far, more than were received on a crop of 7,386,000 bags for Rio and Santos, and yet there are parties who seriously attempt to convince the coffee world that a crop which already is 327,000 bags larger than corresponding receipts of the 1891-92 crop will result a million bags smaller."

BRITISH COLUMBIA RESOURCES.

BRITISH Columbia is the largest Province of the Dominion, as large as Quebec and Ontario together. that is, almost 450,000 square miles. The delta of the Fraser, Okanagan, Nicola, the south of Vancouver island offer some of the finest and most productive agricultural land to be found in America.

The Government is pushing explorations and surveys with energy, and the report of the surveyors yearly bring to notice, large tracts of land fit for farming and grazing. Of all these little can be said now, but any man wanting a location can easy find it by looking over the different reports.

The Westminster district, the south of Vancouver island, and large tracts in the interior, offer the best inducements to fruit growers, and before long these parts should supply the great Canadian Northwest, where fruits cannot be raised.

It has been the policy of the Government to help railway enterprises. They can hardly do too much in that line, as no other Province is so dependent on railway facilities as British Columbia.

With our resources, with our climate, and with our energetic population, the first quarter of the next century should see British Columbia the richest and the most thriving province of Canada.

Our halibut, cod, oolachan, herring and more especially the skill, can find an unlimited market in the Canadian, American and European towns. Fish oil has been made with success, though made on a small scale, and without recent improved machinery. The narrow waterways of the coast teem with millions of dogfish, porpoises and other oily fish. Sturgeon, trout, and a number of other specie of fish could be shipped fresh, besides the salmon and halibut, which has taken all the attention until now.—B.C. Commercial Journal.

A BEET SUGAR FACTORY.

THE principles and theory of beet root sugar manufacture were thoroughly explained on Saturday, 27th ult, at Berthierville, Que., to a representative gathering from the French Chamber of Commerce, of Montreal. The occasion was the acceptance of an invitation from M. Lefebvre & Co., the well known vinegar, preserve, and pickle manufacturers, to visit the beet root sugar factory at above place, which they have taken over recently.

This factory was opened in 1881, but lack of beet root caused it to be closed at the end of the season, and until the Messrs. Lefebvre took hold of it last year its career was of an unsettled character. They appear to have made it a thorough success, as this year it is expected to show a net profit of between $30,000 and $40,000, which will be the first time its working has furnished such a favorable result.

The manufacturing season commences on October 1st of each year and lasts until the new year. The present season, however, will be of very much longer duration, there being sufficient orders on hand to keep the factory running until the middle of February or the beginning of March. The establishment gives employment to about 120 persons, work being carried on day and night during the season. From 150 to 200 carloads of beet root are received each week, and the output of sugar is from 1,590 to 20,000 lbs. a day, the yield of the manufactured article being about 10 per cent. of the raw material.

The Federal Government gives a bonus of two cents a pound on the sugar manufactured and the Legislature contributes fifty cents a ton toward the beets. The sugar sells at from 3⅞ to 4 1-16c. per lb., while the pulp that is left after the sugar is extracted can readily be sold for cattle feed during the winter months and realizes about $1 per ton.

The party that visited the factory was shown over the works by Ald. M. Lefebvre, the head of the firm, and Mr. de Musy, his manager, both of whom were the recipients of many compliments upon the evident prosperity to which they had brought an industry that is bound to be of great benefit to the farming class.

After the close of the interesting inspection an adjournment was made to the Hotel du Canada, where the Messrs. Lefebvre entertained their guests at dinner, ex-Mayor Grenier of Montreal presiding.

Ald. Beousoteil, replying for "The Federal Parliament," said that the farmers of Berthier, whom he had the honor to represent, were perfectly satisfied with the experiment of growing beet roots for the manufacture of sugar; in fact, so well pleased were they with the result that next year they intend to enter more largely into the industry, as it paid far better than anything else. Hay only realized from $3 to $4 a ton, while beets fetched from $70 to $80 an acre. The beet-root industry, he said, was destined to become of great benefit to the farmer.

The manager of the factory, Mr. De Musy, imparted some interesting information regarding the beet root sugar industry. The present factory was, he said, erected in 1880, and was opened in 1881, but after one season's working it proved so unremunerative that it was closed until 1883, when it was reopened. The same result, however, attended it as before, and again it was closed. The industry was restored in 1888, but once more failure attended it, and it was not until last year, when Lefebvre & Co. took hold of it, that it was reopened and proved successful. The premises, he said, occupied seventeen acres of ground, the factory itself covering four acres. The employes received about $120 a day in wages, and $1,000 per day were paid for beets. The coal bill amounted to $100 a day, and another $100 a day was expended in oil, grease, lighting, etc. The sugar manufactured was sold at from 3¾ to 4c. a pound at the factory but he thought that next year they would be able to sell it at from 2½ to 3c. a pound, as they had now considerably improved the machinery. The annual expenditure in connection with the factory was about $180,000. Until this year the industry had never realized a profit, but it was expected that this season's working would show a profitable balance of between $30,000 and $40,000.

The past season of the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company has been the most successful in the history of the company, and from present appearances it looks as though the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company will be in a position to declare a supplemental dividend in addition to the three per cent. already paid in the early part of last month. The special audit sheet shows a surplus of $150,000 up to September 30, and to this more than $10,000 has been added since. Deducting the $40,500 dividend already paid, the surplus on October 22 was $121,561.49. Reduced to a percentage, the surplus earnings already show a profit of 11½ per cent. on the capital stock. Another satisfactory feature of the season has been the small number of casualties, and these of minor importance. The total loss through accidents will not exceed 2,500.

The Collar Expanded

Our latest specialty for the tea trade is a 1-lb. Folding Caddy, on which we have just been granted a patent by the Dominion Government. It is in appearance an exact representation of a regular China tea chest with matting, and as a tea package beats everything on the market for three reasons :

1st. Because it is much cheaper than a hand-made box.

2nd. Because being a knock-down box it takes up little or no room, and

3rd. Because being a machine-made box there is no paste or glue to taint the tea, which has been one of the greatest objections to the old style tea caddies.

STOP AND THINK.

THIS, an age when the business world wants men of action as well as men of thought. But there is just a danger of the latter being sacrificed to the interests of the former.

In fact it is no exaggeration to say that men do not think enough.

This is a busy world. Most business men who are accounted live are on the rush continually. Steam is always up. They have no time to clean up and lubricate the machinery of their systems. Full speed they must keep up least a competitor gains an advantage or secures a customer that they claim by a sort of divine right to be theirs.

Push, perseverance and action are all right. But a business man needs more than these qualifications in order to w'n success.

He must be a tactician, a schemer, an inventor. These things a man cannot be if he does not stop to think. To think is not to dream.

The most successful merchants are those who originate new ideas to catch trade, or those who possess the faculty of being able to appropriate the ideas of others. But all this comes of thinking.

A man without brains is an imbecile ; and the man who attempts to run his business upon action purely may not be an idiot himself, but one thing is certain, his business will lack brains. And where this essential is wanting it does not require a prophet to tell what the end will be.

Every man, be he merchant, clerk or anything else, should take time to think. Think how to buy, think how to sell, and think how the stock may be best arranged and the window dressed.

As far as possible, it is best to have a regular time f r thinking just as one does for eating and sleeping. What that time shall be each is best able to decide for himself. During the early hours of the morning or the quiet of the evening are probably the best times for setting one's thoughts loose to hunt for ideas and hints. Reading, and par.icularly reading a good trade paper, will assist in the premises.

If you have not tried the experiment venture on it for a month say, and watch the fruits that will develop.

REMOVE THE STUMBLINGBLOCKS.

CANADA desires to trade with Australia and Australia desires to trade with Canada. And there is reason for this mutual desire : Both countries are the offshoots of the one parent stem, and each has articles to sell that the other can buy, while distance between the two countries has become of little moment on account of the swift steamers that now ply between each.

Canada and Australia have been transacting some business with each other ; and since the establishment of the direct line of steamships they have been buying and selling more than they did before.

But there is one great obstacle in the way of the full development of trade relations between these two parts of the British Empire. That obstacle is the tariff wall which Canada and most of the Australian Colonies have encircled themselves with.

The freer trade is, the better will it develop, and THE GROCER fears that as long as the tariff walls exist in their present shape, spent in vain will be the greater part of the efforts that are being made to stimulate intercolonial trade between Canada and Australia.

The cost of freight and insurance is heavy enough tax upon a trade of this character without excessive customs duties to increase its burdensomeness.

In the movement for the extension of trade between this country and the Australian colonies, Canada has been the prime mover. Hers is the lion's share which has contributed to subsidize the steamship line that now regularly plies between Victoria, B.C., and Sydney, N.S.W., and she sent her Minister of Trade and Commerce to the antipodes to make speeches and tell our brothers and sisters there how anxious we were to trade with them. All this was right, and did Canada a good deal of good, even if it did nothing but advertise her ; but these things all cost money. And now, aside altogether from the proposed Pacific cable and the subsidy to a fast Atlantic line, both of which have more or less connection with the scheme to develop Canada-Australia trade, the Government of the Dominion has appointed J. S. Larke, co nmissioner to Australia.

Mr. Larke's fitness for the position none but his bitterest political enemies will probably impugn. It does, however, seem to us that the first duty of the Government is not to go to the expense of setting up a species of court in Australia, but to busy itself about getting the tariff into such shape, whether by reciprocal arran.ement or otherwise, as will allow those Australian goods we desire to come in without being unnecessarily handicapped. That is the wise way for it to begin, for it is beginning at the foundation.

If, from some defect, a piece of machinery is not running smoothly, the engineer does not spend time and money in applylng lubricants. He gets right at the cause of the fri.tion and removes it. So, if trade between Canada and Australia is to develop as it should, the respective governments must see to it that, as far as possible, those things are removed that are preventing the machinery from running as smoothly as it should. Then will be time enough to appoint commissioners.

EVAPORATED APPLES.

UNSATISFACTORY indeed has been the market so far this season for evaporated apples.

As is usual, the good prices obtaining last season led a good many factories to expect that they would get the same or better figures in this year of grace.

The fally of such a hope must have been patent to every one who was at all cognizant of the condition of the apple crop of this continent. If every factoryman did not know that the crop was heavy it was his own fault. He should have known; it was his business to have known

But whether the evaporaters were in touch with the market or not, they have so far all season been playing a losing game.

With not a few of them the idea at the opening of the season was 11c. per pound, but since then they have gradually come down in these views, yet they appear to be still following at a distance.

To their sorrow, some factories have lately been compelled to take 6½c. where a few weeks before they might have had 8c.

It is all very well to hold an article for a price if a careful reading of the signs of the times encourages it, but how anyone could have been led to hold evaporated apples this season in the face of the obvious outlook is past man's understanding. The fact of the matter is some of the factories were either blind or could not read the auguries.

The prospects for an improvement on the present low prices are not by any means light. The local demand is said to be pretty well satisfied, while relief can hardly be expected from the export trade owing to the low prices quoted and taken by the factories in the United States.

It pays in the long run to take good prices when they are going; and many of the evaporated apple men no doubt realize this at the moment.

But gone as the market has against the evaporated apple factories, the responsibility for all the losses sustained by them does not lie with the market. Some of the fruit that has been offered on the Toronto market this season has been admirable. And what has been Toronto's experience has probably been the experience of other trade centres. For this the responsibility must lie with the factories themselves.

Never before does THE GROCER remember seeing so much bad stock on the market as there has been this season.

Case after case opened up has been found to be improperly cored, some being scarcely cored at all, while others were made from worm-eaten fruit, and presented anything but an inviting appearance. But by far the greater cause of inferior quality is improper curing, which in turn induces fermentation.

So large has been the quantity of poor fruit on the market this season that although more apples than ever before were evaporated, the quantity of really first-class stock is short rather than otherwise. In fact, one exporter told THE GROCER that he scarcely knew where to get a sufficient quantity of first-class fruit to fill an order that had just then been placed with him.

The season of 1894 has imported lessons that a good many of the manufacturers of evaporated apples will do well to "read, mark and inwardly digest" between this and the next evaporating season.

THE DUTY ON FIGS.

IMPORTERS of figs, dates, etc., at Montreal have petitioned the Board of Trade regarding the interpretation of the tariff on these fruits by the Customs Department.

The Montreal men, it appears, and very likely others in the trade in Canada, are in the habit of purchasing large quantities of both figs and dates held in bond in England and importing them to Canada.

The Customs Department takes the ground that the 25 per cent ad valorem, which is the duty imposed on the fruit, should be reckoned on the market value at the point of shipment.

They figure, therefore, that the market value of such goods brought from England should be their cost plus the 7s. per cwt. duty imposed by the English Government.

The fruit importers hold that this interpretation is a rank injustice to them, as the goods are bought in bond, and the English duty has nothing whatever to do with such purchases.

The matter has been referred by the Board of Trade to the Montreal Wholesale Grocers' Association, and that body will, no doubt, take action immediately to have the matter brought to the attention of the authorities at Ottawa.

Speaking on the subject to a leading Customs official in Montreal, THE GROCER was informed that it had always been the policy of the Government to induce the importation of all goods as direct as possible from point of production or growth. No doubt this policy was the cause of the interpretation put upon the fig and date tariff by the department, though he did not state so authoritatively. The advantages of direct importations were admitted by many people, but whether they were practical in the case of the fruits under discussion he was not prepared to say. If they were not—and the trade made the fact clear to the department at Ottawa—he did not doubt that their requests would receive a favorable answer.

In the meantime, several fruit importing firms in Montreal have paid the duty under protest.

CARE OF TEA IN TRANSIT.

Montreal tea importers and sales agents have had occasion to complain quite frequently of the manner in which tea that comes from Tacoma via the Northern Pacific and Grand Trunk is delivered.

It has been the custom for the railways to cooper up the packages, but in many instances this was not done on goods received over the route in question.

The other day representatives of the tea trade in Montreal were asked to wait on the agent of the G.T.R. in that place, Geo. Burton, and talk over the matter, as the company has refused to cooper or fix up cases of tea damaged in transit in the future.

The tea men, of course, refuse to accept this new rule, holding that the freight receipts call for shipments in good condition.

Two hours' conference that was held did not result in any definite understanding, but the railway people have promised to give the matter further consideration before enforcing the new rule.

SEND FOR FRESH LABELS.

Where goods are not disposed of quickly in stores, where they lie on the shelves for some time, some of the packages are almost sure to become more or less discolored. Even in the best city stores, where the stock is turned over frequently, they have trouble of this kind occasionally. Faded, soiled or fly-marked cans or packages are usually hard to sell. A dealer does not like to send them out, and a nice customer objects to take them, though the contents may be as clean and pure as possible. Often they are sold to a poorer customer at less than cost.

This need not be. At very little cost they can be made fresh. One of THE GROCER'S subscribers has adopted a plan which should at once be followed by all the trade. Whenever a label becomes soiled from one cause or other the firm sends to the manufacturer for a fresh one. When it arrives, the old label is washed off and the new one put on, or sometimes it is pasted on over the old one. Manufacturers are always ready to send labels for this purpose. It is as much, if not more, to their advantage that their packages should always be as clean and attractive as possible.

LEADING RETAILERS.

HUGH WALKER, OF GUELPH.

AN inspiration to any young man should be an acquaintanceship with the life and experience of Hugh Walker, of Hugh Walker & Son, Guelph. "I don't care, a man cannot, in this day and generation, be strictly honest and succeed," is in effect what one occassionally hears drop from the lips of some one who is discussing business morality. The life of the subject of this sketch is an emphatic denial of this contention. Hugh Walker has been honest—in fact it has been one of the planks in his business platform—and he has succeeded.

Hugh Walker was born and cradled in that land of strong men with strong characters—bonnie Scotland. And the land in which young men embracing mercantile callings—grocery particularly—are trained up in the way in which they should go.

Mr. Walker's connection with the grocery business dates from away back in 1850, when, as a stripling of about 14 years of age, he was apprenticed to a grocer in the city of Aberdeen, Scotland. After serving five years he came to Canada. That was in 1855, and his first engagement was with Adam L. Argo, of Fergus, as clerk, with whom he served one year. Then he moved to Guelph, where he became a clerk in the store of George Warren; and so faithfully wrought young Walker, that at the end of one year Mr. Warren gave him an interest in a branch store, the business being carried on under the style of Wilkinson, Walker & Co. Not bad for a young man only two years in the country.

The partnership was continued for four years, when Mr. Walker retired and started the business that is to-day known over a wide expanse of the country by the style of Hugh Walker & Son. Mr. Walker had not much capital at that time; about $150 was all he possessed. That is, rather, all he possessed in coin of the realm. But he had another kind of capital, without which abundance of gold is of little use. He had pluck, push and perseverence. Added to this was punctuality, honesty of purpose, and a general appreciation of what were the essential factors to success in business. To be brief, Mr. Walker believes that in order to make it a success, a man must know his business; must be honest, attentive, civil and obliging; must avoid extravagance; must keep first-class goods and sell at reasonable prices; must give little if any credit; and must use printers ink liberally.

The firm assumed its present style of Hugh Walker & Son in 1882, when Mr. Walker took his son George into partnership. The firm carries groceries, foreign and domestic fruits, oysters, finnan haddies, etc., and the bnsiness is composed of wholesale and retail branches. The wholesale fruit department is under the supervision of George Walker, and has become one of the firm's most important accessories, the trade for several miles round Guelph depending largely upon Walker & Son for its supply of foreign and domestic fruits.

POSITION OF RAISINS.

The importers of Valencia raisins in New York, according to the Commercial Bulletin, an extract from which is given below, have not had a profitable season on their importations. This depression in New York has, of course, had a certain influence on the Canadian market, but now the second direct steamer has arrived at Montreal, and the transactions in the goods that she brought out have not been at a lower level than those by the first steamer. In fact, operators in Valencia raisins at Montreal have made money so far this fall, and would no doubt have done better had not the depression above referred to ruled in New York.

With regard to the future the prospects seem to be fairly encouraging on the whole, the only depressing factor being the rather large receipts of cheap trashy fruit at Montreal recently, which is only fit for distilling purposes. No doubt cautious buyers will have nothing to do with it, but the fact of it being on the market will naturally exert an influence.

Statistically the position in Canada is strong. Our annual consumption is estimated tobe 300,000 packages, and the two direct steamers have brought only 90,000 packages, which are very small cargoes as compared with other years, and it is estimated that from other sources the supplies will average 60,000 boxes, making 150,000, or a shortage of 150,000 packages as compared with the annual consumption.

It is understood also that this may be even greater, as quite a large quantity of the fruit via the direct steamers to Montreal was sold to buyers in the Western States, though what the extent of these purchases are is not accurately known.

All in all, the position conduces to firmness, aside from these offers of inferior stock, and it looks as though good merchantable fruit was good property at what it has recently cost laid down in Montreal.

The N.Y. Commercial Bulletin, referring to the position at that centre, says:

"The season thus far has certainly proved unfavorable for importers of Valencia raisins. First shipments of the crop were received here, and prices obtained that permitted of some little profit margin, but of late the market has shown a decidedly easy tendency, and values now current are down to and in instances below the original import cost of the goods. If a halt could be made at this point and the remaining stocks placed at no greater depreciation, importers, we are certain, would consider they had good cause for congratulation, but in addition to spot supplies there is a quantity in transit which has a disturbing influence upon the minds of owners and stimulates thought as to how the goods are to be marketed without escaping serious loss. The indications for the fruit at the opening of the season were regarded as quite favorable; at the same time importers believing, as with the majority of business men, that speculation would not be fashionable this year, proposed to adopt a cautious policy. Acting upon this belief orders were sent abroad with considerable reserve, the trade upon this side of the water stating that if Denia packers were anxious for business they could consign the fruit, as they as importers did not propose to furnish letters of credit and assume all the responsibility of finding a profitable market. As a result of this policy the importations to date have been less than 50 per cent. of corresponding period last year, or, to be exact in the matter, 128,547 boxes this year, against 262 694 boxes same time 1893. There is now in transit to this port 248,000 boxes, though it is said a considerable portion consists of consigned goods, sent forward by Denia packers in the hope that the same will be needed and that some profit can be extracted from the sale. One serious obstacle to the sale of the fruit this season is the quality, rain during the curing period having damaged a large portion and created a doubt in the minds of buyers as to the condition of the entire crop. Some of the fruit landed has proved exceedingly poor in quality, and the trade are impressed with the belief that in the goods to arrive will also be found an abundance of inferior stock, hence there is a general reluctance shown to entertain offerings of the goods in transit. Cables from Denia recently have indicated a downward tendency to that market, with sterling prices quoted the equivalent of 4½c. for layer stock, Though this value is far below anything previously received this season, buyers hesitate to venture upon contracts lest the goods show upon arrival rain-damage, a condition that would make the sale exceedingly difficult in this market. The cheapness and exceptionally fine quality of California has also been an obstacle against which importers have been obliged to contend. The fruit from the Pacific Coast is abundant this year, and being offered at prices considerably below the imported, has been taken liberally by all markets. California growers have facilities for reaching the consumers of all sections not possessed by importers, and being fully awake to the importance of controlling the trade, they are promptly in the field and are prepared to open negotiations with the dealers in all cities and towns for the delivery of the fruit at their very doors, and upon terms fully as favorable as those named to the largest buyers. By following this line of action the small dealers are forced to co-operate in pushing the domestic product, and by the time Valencias are presented for their consideration they have already provided for their wants, and are unwilling to take on additional stock. It appears now only a question of a short time when the Spanish fruit will be compelled to give way entirely to the home growth. The once popular and favorite Malaga has been forced to step down and out, and its example will probably be followed by Valencia in the course of the next few years. California is abundantly able to produce all the stock necessary for the requirements of this country, and could also furnish a quantity to foreign markets. Prejudice, however, has thus far stood in the way of successful competition with the Spanish in England, but the time will come when the barrier will be razed and the merits of the California product fully and freely acknowledged."

GROCERY ASSOCIATIONS.

THE TORONTO ASSOCIATION.

MONDAY night last was the occasion of the nomination of officers of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association. There was a good attendance, and President R. A. Donald was in the chair.

These officers were nominated for the ensuing term:

President—F. S. Roberts and R. A. Donald.

Vice-president—H. W. McCulloch, A. Sinclair, A. White, P. Mulqueen, Frank Johnson, J. Butcher, W. J. Sykes, J. S. Bond.

Secretary—Robert Mills, R. A. Donald.

Treasurer—D. W. Clark, M. McMillan, J. G. Gibson.

Executive Committee—Messrs. W. Eddy, A. Sinclair, W. Thompson, J. Butcher, J. J. Settle, A. White, W. Sykes, J. S. Bond, A. G. Booth, P. Mulqueen, R. Donald, A. R. Williamson, J. A. McDonald.

After the nominations had been declared closed President Donald requested that he be allowed to decline nomination for a second term. "It is impossible," he said, "for me to accept the office for another year. Not that I cannot give the time, or that I have no desire to work in the interests of the Association, but I consider that the different officers should not occupy their positions for more than one year. But of course this does not apply to the secretaries, Messrs. Corrie and Mills. We could not well replace them. It is, I maintain, impossible for an Association to do itself justice if the same set of officers shall rule all the time. I believe in new blood. For this reason, if I had no other, I cannot allow my name to go before the Association for re-election. It was a surprise to me last year when I was elected. During the year I have done my level best in the interests of the Association. I have tried to give you some of my ideas as to business, and I have gathered useful hints from you. The meetings have been helpful to me; I hope they have been helpful to you. I thank you for nominating me, but I ask you to allow me to withdraw."

D. W. Clark: I think, Mr. President, that if you refuse to allow your name to stand in nomination it will set the ball rolling, and others will follow your example. Anyhow, it is a rule of this association that any member nominated for an office must notify the secretary in writing of his intention to decline the same.

To make doubly sure, however, it was decreed, on motion of Vice-President Roberts, that those declining nominations must notify the secretary in writing before the next meeting.

John W. Meyer, agent of the Mutual Horse Insurance Association in connection with the United Retail Grocers' Association of Brooklyn, N.Y., wrote re horse insurance. "Our fund," the writer stated, "started without a dollar, and at our next annual meeting in December I am in hopes of showing a profit on this year's business of $1,000. This, added to our resources of last year, will then give a balance of $3,000."

The communication was referred to a special committee composed of Messrs. Sykes, Marmion and Mills.

"What do you propose doing regarding our annual At Home," interposed the president. And long and animated was the debate that ensued.

D. W. Clark disapproved of an At Home, and wanted a committee appointed to arrange for a 25c. concert in Massey Hall. He moved, seconded by F. S. Roberts, to that effect.

J. G. Gibson then moved in amendment that an At Home be held. As far as he was concerned, he did not care what the character of the entertainment was, and he merely moved the amendment to find out why Mr. Clark disapproved of the old-time At Home.

D. W. Clark: "I don't care two straws either, but I have noticed that a good many grocers do not attend our At Homes, and I thought that perhaps the price kept some away, and dancing others."

Mr. Mills remarked that he held views similar to those of Mr. Clarke.

P. Mulqueen vigorously contended for an At Home. He claimed that it would be unfortunate if the association departed from its old-time custom. "Why, do you know," he added, amid much laughter, "that the grocers' At Home is looked forward to as one of the social events of the season, and I already know of a number of ladies who are thinking about what they shall wear at our next."

A. G. Booth could not see for the life of him what good the At Homes had ever done the association, "but if we are to continue them I don't think the old heads should continue to run them." (Laughter.)

J. S. Bond favored an At Home, but thought it would be unfortunate if the "old heads" had not a share in the management of it.

J. G. Gibson: The "old heads" enjoy themselves as well as the "young heads," and I have noticed that those who could not dance could flirt, much to their sorrow when their wives got them home at night. (Laughter.)

Frank Johnson wanted a banquet, and, seconded by W. Thompson, moved to that effect.

A. White and J. W. Sykes both recorded themselves against an At Home.

President Donald got out of the chair and spoke in favor of a banquet. "We could invite men prominent in trade to come and give us their opinions regarding matters commercial." He was positive such an affair could be got up at $1 per head provided the association would contribute about $35 for incidental expenses.

Then began the voting, and each motion was in turn bowled over.

An amusing incident occurred when the president was putting Mr. Johnson's amendment: "All in favor of a bald banquet will signify in the usual manner."

"Mr. President," interposed J. J. Settell, seriously, "before you put that resolution will you tell me what you mean by a bald banquet?"

The President: "One without any hair on it."

After the roars of laughter which followed had subsided, the meeting went on to business, which was still the unsolved entertainment problem.

Eventually, after three more resolutions had been introduced, that moved by Mr. Mills carried. It was to the effect that after the installation of officers at the January meeting, an entertainment with refreshments should be given in St. George's Hall, the price of tickets not to exceed 50 or 60c.

To the Executive Committee was delegated the duty of making arrangements for the entertainment.

The meeting adjourned at 10.45 p.m. The next meeting will be held December 10th, when the election of officers will take place.

THE MONTREAL ASSOCIATION.

At an adjourned meeting, held on Wednesday last, of the Montreal Retail Grocers' Association, several important subjects were considered in addition to the annual election of officers. President Johnston opened the meeting by stating that no reply had been received from the Market Commissioners as to when it would be convenient for them to receive a deputation of the association anent street pedlars. After some discussion, in which the commissioners were criticized, the matter was postponed, pending a reply from that body.

The election of officers was proceeded with, and resulted as under: President, Jno. Johnson, re-elected; first vice-president, S. D. Vallieres; second vice-president, John Scanlan; hon. secretary, S. Demers; treasurer, J. O. Levesque, re-elected; directors, T. Gauthier, A. D. Fraser, J. E. Manning, V. Raby, Jas. O'Shaughnessy and W. Willison; secretary, P. Gannon. The scrutineers were John Scanlan and N. Lapointe.

A vote of thanks was accorded the retiring officers, after which, on the motion of A. D. Fraser, it was decided to donate $25 to the General Hospital and a like amount to the Notre Dame Hospital.

James O'Shaughnessy called attention to what he considered a growing abuse in the city--viz., a certain packing house competing with retail grocers. No grocer, he said, should handle their goods, and he thought it would be well if a deputation were appointed to wait on the wholesale houses in reference to the matter. The packing house referred to was "cutting" in the very goods from which grocers made their living.

John Scanlan quoted the prices of several articles sold by the Packing Company, and said he believed that they contemplated handling canned goods, which were practically the whole grocery store. Grocers had it in their power to deal with the matter; they could simply boycott the firm. Particularly was this the case with the French grocers, who were in a majority, and were therefore, probably, those who sold the greatest portion of the firm's goods. The English houses had pretty unanimously concluded not to handle the firm's goods.

The president thought that some action should be taken in the matter. There was not a grocer in the city who should not refuse to handle the goods, and the wholesale houses that handled them ought to be interviewed.

S. D. Villieres considered that the best way to succeed would be through the wholesale houses.

On the motion of John Scanlan, seconded by J. O. Levesque, it was decided that S. D. Vallieres, N. Pointe, T. Gauthier, J. O. Levesque. James O'Shaughnessy, the president and the mover and seconder, be appointed to wait upon the wholesale houses in the matter.

EVERY ENTERPRISING GROCER.

One of our merchant friends in a manufacturing town writes us:

"You will be surprised to know the class of people we are selling Ireland Company's Foods to. About all of them are factory hands." Well, the factory hand is as good as any other man in this blessed country if he behaves himself; but why does the factory hand buy the Ireland Company's foods?

Because he gets more than is worth having for his money. Don't it strike you that about every consumer will come to the store that offers him that kind of goods? Lots of leading grocers say it pays them to crowd Ireland's Foods. We invite you to do the same.

TORONTO MARKET.

THIS week has witnessed a slight increase in the volume of sorting orders over last week. This was induced by the colder weather which has been general throughout the Dominion, and which had a clearing effect in retail stocks. Bright cold weather will revive trade slightly, but wholesalers are convinced that the sorting trade will not be any better than last year, and last year's was nothing to get excited over.

Spring orders are coming in very well, and these keep hope alive and keep dealers expecting better things soon. The volume of orders received from travelers who are out with spring samples is fully equal to that of orders placed to this date last year. The mistaken impression that prints had fallen in price, along with other colored cottons, seems to have retarded the sale of these goods, but only to a slight extent. Men who are authority on the subject declare that the print market is very steady and prices are exceedingly strong.

Payments are only average in Ontario. They are better from the other provinces.

Stock-taking is the order of the day with most of the wholesale houses.

MONTREAL MARKET.

The past week has witnessed some improvement in the wholesale dry goods trade in Montreal consequent upon the colder weather and sorting orders have shown up better while mail orders direct from customers have been largely increased in volume.

In addition to this, spring orders for many staple lines have been a feature of the week.

For seasonable goods the lines exhibiting the greatest activity have been heavy woolens, winter underwear, hosiery and cloakings, which is taken to indicate that stocks in country dealers hands are being broken into.

Payments remain much as they were, but in this respect the dry goods trade, according to all accounts, are quite as well off as other branches of trade. In fact, were it not for the failures that have occurred the position would by a satisfactory one, for returns from solvent customers have been better in most instances than last fall.

The city retail trade here has shown more life, and it is quite time that it should for the backwardness of the department has been one of the great drawbacks this fall.

ENCOURAGE CANADIAN SEAPORTS

THE Montreal Board of Trade at a meeting held last week discussed among other matters a copy of a resolution passed at a conference of the boards of trade of New Brunswick, at which representatives from Halifax and Amherst were also present, and asked the co-operation of the Montreal Board of Trade in bringing the matter it referred to before the Dominion Government. The resolution was to the effect that the managers of the Grand Trunk, the Intercolonial and the C.P.R., as well as the various boards of trade throughout the Dominion, be requested to promote the idea of conducting Canadian imports and exports over Canadian railways and from Canadian seaports, as far as practicable, especially by utilizing the Maritime Provinces' seaports during the winter season, when the St. Lawrence is closed to navigation. It was also resolved that the Dominion Government be requested to co-operate in every possible way, more particulary when arranging future steamship subsidy contracts, which should always stipulate for the use of Canadian ports only, and thus carry out the policy of "Canada for the Canadians."

The Montreal Council expressed its approval of the resolution, in so far as it favored the conducting of the import and export trade over Canadian railways and through Canadian seaports ; but it was apprehensive that it would scarcely be practicable to stipulate in future steamship subsidy contracts that Canadian ports only should be used, as during the winter months it would be almost impossible to procure full cargoes thereat.

AN HONORED GROCER RETIRING.

THE GROCER regrets to learn that W. H. Ferguson, the well-known retail grocer of London, has found it necessary, owing to ill-health, to advertise his business for sale with a view to retiring. Mr. Ferguson has grown up with London ; in fact he is a part of the city. His store is known by every farmer for miles around, and Mr. Ferguson knows every farmer within a radius of twenty-five miles of the Forest City. He is the father of the grocery trade in London and the West, and many will be the number who will regret the step that Mr. Ferguson, on the advise of his physician, finds necessary to take. It is gratifying, however, to note that his health will, in the opinion of the doctor, improve when, unfettered by the cares of business, he can get a change and plenty of fresh air. His store is one of the best stands in the city of London, abutting, as one of its fronts does, on the market square. THE GROCER hopes that Mr. Ferguson's mantle will fall upon whoever succeeds him.

MOST necessary requisite in the keeping of a grocery is to have the standard, the best, and the most favorably known articles for sale. You don't then have to explain their merits to your customer. They probably know as much as you, about that same article.

On the other hand, a poor unknown article of questionable quality and unquestionable price is something you haven't the time to experiment with, nor the inclination to risk your standing among good customers with.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Nov. 15, 1894.

GROCERIES.

FURTHER supplies of dried foreign fruits have been arriving, and most of the houses have now got their stocks of these goods well fortified for the holiday trade. Malaga raisins and almonds have been the chief seasonable goods arriving, stocks of Valencia raisins and currants having been completed earlier. A good many complaints are heard regarding business, but taken on the whole, does not appear to be bad. Some houses, in fact, are busy, and the evidences that such is the case are not wanting. Two or three houses have this week, unsolicited, told THE GROCER that business so far this month has been better than for the corresponding period of last year, both in respect to volume of business and to profits. Sugars are decidedly dull, and although the refineries are unchanged in their views regarding prices, yet some of the wholesale houses are quoting fractionally lower than a week ago. Canned goods are receiving fair attention for the season, fruits being enquired for a little more regularly. Teas are still without much life, although the firmness still obtains. Complaints are still heard regarding payments.

CANNED GOODS.

The slightly improved demand that sprang up for tomatoes a few weeks ago has been satisfied, and business is now again as it was before, quiet. There is not much doing in corn either, but the situation is stronger in this article than in tomatoes on account of the light pack. Much the same remarks apply to peas. Canned fruits have been going out a little better during the last week or ten days, the enquiry principally being for peaches, plums, pears, raspberries and strawberries. Wholesalers' stocks are apparently pretty well complete, for they are buying but very little. A continued good, active demand is reported for salmon, especially the better grades. The new pack of cohoes is beginning to arrive. Business in lobstes continues quiet, and the same may be said of soups, meats, etc. We quote: Tomatoes and corn, 85 to 90c.; peas, 80 to 85c.; peaches, $2.75 to $3 for 3's, $1.75 to $1 90 for 2's; raspberries, $1.65 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.00 to $2.10; apples, 3's, $1 to $1.10, gallons $2.65 to $2.80, and preserved fancy quarters at $1.35 to $1.40; salmon, $1.30 to $1 35 for good red fish in tall tins, and $1.50 to $1.60 in flat tins; do., second quality, $1.20 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1 to $1.10; lobsters, $1.70 to $2 for tall tins, and $2.25 to $2.75 in flat tins.

COFFEES.

The market is still bare of Rio coffee, but some shipments are nearly due. There is a little attention being given to Maracaibo kinds, but it does not amount to much. We quote green, in bags: Rio, 21½ to 22½c.; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 21½ to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 32c.; Mocha, 27 to 28c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 22c.

RICE.

Trade is of a quiet seasonable character without any special feature to note. We quote: "B," 3¼ to 3¾c.; extra Japan, 5¼ to 5⅜c.; imported Japan, 5¾ to 6¼c.; tapioca, 4¼ to 4½c.

SPICES.

Increased activity is reported in this line, especially for ginger, cloves, allspice, pepper and cinnamon. We quote as follows: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 25 to 27c.; cloves, 25 to 30c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, 20 to 25c. per lb.

NUTS.

New season's Valencias and Jordan shelled almonds and Tarragona soft-shelled almonds are arriving this week. This is, of course, the feature of trade in this line. We quote as follows: Brazil nuts, 11 to 11½c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds, 12½ to 14c.; Formagetta peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 13 to 14c.; Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 8 to 10c.; filberts, 9¾ to 10½c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

SUGAR.

The movement in this line is small indeed, and wholesalers' prices are fractionally lower than they were a week ago, 4 1-5 to 4¼c. now being the ruling quotations for granulated and 3¼ to 3⅜c. for yellows. Dark Demarara raw sugars are quoted at 3¼ to 3⅜c., and ordinary raws at 3¼c. The refineries are still holding prices steady. Yellow sugars are still scarce, some of the refineries seemingly having none to offer.

SYRUPS.

Demand for syrups is fairly good, particularly for bright goods at about 35 to 45c. per gallon. Good syrnps of all kinds are scarce. We quote: Dark, 25c.; medium, 28 to 30c.; bright, 35 to 40c.; very bright, 45 to 50c.

MOLASSES.

Demand is fairly good for the time of year. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 26 to 28c.; half-barrels, 30½ to 32c.; Barbadoes, barrels, 28 to 32c.; half-barrels, 30 to 34c.

TEAS.

Low grade Indian and Ceylon teas are in demand at firm prices, but trade in other kinds, especially Japans, is on the quiet side. Prices ruling are: Young Hysons, 16 to 18c. for low grade; 24 to 27c. for medium, and 30 to 38c. for high grades; China Congous, 16 to 18c.; Japans, 16 to 20c.; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 35c.

Mail advices under date of London, Nov. 2, state that in spite of the heavy auction sales of Indian teas, which at one time menaced prices, the market steadied up, and now that the October deliveries are known to have been very good both for Indian and Ceylon teas a generally firmer tone has for the present once more gained the upper hand. The demand for black leaf China teas has continued moderate, both for the home trade and for export, but a fair business has passed at firm prices.

DRIED FRUITS.

The feature of the trade this week is the general arrival of new season's Malaga fruit, and it is meeting with fairly active demand, especially black and blue baskets. We quote new season's fruit as follows: London layers, $2.25 to $2.50; black baskets, $3 25; blue baskets, $4.25; extra dessert clusters, $4 to $4 50; connoisseur clusters, $3.25 to $3.50; quarter flat connoisseur clusters, $1 to $1 15; Royal Buckingham, $5 to $5.50.

Valencia raisins are in fairly active demand at these quotations. We quote: Off-stalk, 4¼ to 4½c.; fine off-stalk, 4½ to 5c.; selected, 5½ to 6c.; layers, 6 to 6½c. We quote California loose muscatels at 6 to 7½c.

Currants are in active demand, especially the good grades, owing to the low prices ruling. We quote: Filiatras, half barrels, 4 to 4½c., barrels, 4⅛c; fine Filiatras, half brls, 4¾c., barrels 4⅝c.; Patras, 5½ in cases; Casalina, 5½ to 6c.; Vostizzas, 6½ to 7½c. in cases and half cases; Panarte, 8 to 8½c.

First shipment of figs is about exhausted, and people are now waiting for second lot to arrive, which will probably be about a week hence. Prices unchanged. We quote: 14 oz., 10½ to 11c.; 10 lb., 10 to 12½c.; taps, 4½ to 5c.; 18 lb., 15c.; 28 lb., 18c.

Demand for Sultana raisins keeps moderate at 5½c. up.

There is nothing but new season's French prunes on the market and further shipments of them have been arriving during the week, and there is a fair demand for them at 4½ to 5c.

No new dates have yet arrived, and old are nominal at 4½ to 5c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

In butter the situation seems to have improved slightly. Choice dairy tubs are coming forward a little more freely, and demand is a little better. A good many large rolls are coming in, but demand for them is only moderate. For dairy pound rolls, on the other hand, there is a good demand. Low grade butter is plentiful and cheap. Creamery tub butter is in fair demand. In creamery pound prints, both the supply and the demand are good. We quote jobbing prices: Dairy—Choice tubs, 18 to 19c.; medium, 14 to 15c.; crocks, 20c.; low grade, 11 to 13c.; pound rolls, 21 to 22c.; large rolls, 15 to 17c. Creamery—Tubs, August, 20c.; September and October, 21c.; pound prints, 22 to 23c.

The cheese market is quiet, with prices steady and unchanged.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Trade continues active in provisions, some large lots, principally in hams and long clear bacon, having changed hands during the week. Prices, however, are still tending downward. Dressed hogs are offering freely, and prices dropped as low as $5 25 on Tuesday, carloads changing hands at that figure; the range is $5.25 to $5.30.

BACON—Long clear, 7¼c. for carload lots and 7¾c. for small lots; breakfast bacon, 11 to 11½c.; rolls, 8½ to 8¾c.

HAMS—Large, 22 lbs. and over, 10c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 11c.; small hams, 11½c.; pickled, 10 to 10½c.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 8¼c.; tubs, 8¾c.; pails, 9¼c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess $16; Canadian short-cut, $16 to $16.50; shoulder mess, $13.50 to $14; clear mess, $14 to $14.50.

GREEN FRUIT.

Oranges are improving in quality, and there is a better demand for them, the movement now being somewhat free. Lemons are a little scarce. That is, those of good quality. Common stock is plentiful. Demand for bananas is limited. In grapes the only kind receiving particular attention are Malagas. There is a good enquiry for cranberries, and Nova Scotian are almost the only kinds on the market. The apple market is in better condition than it has been for some time. All the soft stock has been cleaned out, and demand is brisk for good fruit, but poor stock is not wanted. Strength is given to the market by the fact that there is not a large quantity of good stock in the vicinity of Toronto. We quote: Lemons—Floridas, $4 to $4.50 for fancy stock, with other kinds selling at $3 to $3 50; Malagas, $3 50 to $3 75; Verdelli, $2 50 to $3.35. Oranges, Floridas, $2.75 to $3 for 200's and 176's, $2 50 for 126's and 150's. Bananas, $1.10 to $1.50 for firsts, and 80c. to $1 for seconds. Cucumbers, 20 to 25c. per basket Apples, winter fruit, $2.25 to $2 75 per brl.; snow apples, $2 to $2.50; fall fruit, $2 to $2.25. Grapes, Catawbas, 35 to 40c. per small basket, and 3½ to 4c. per lb. for large baskets; Rogers, 4c. per lb.; Malagas, $5 to $6 per keg. Sweet potatoes, Jerseys, $3 per brl. Pears, 30 to 35c. per basket. Cranberries, Nova Scotia, $10 to $10.50 per brl., and $3.35 per crate; Canadian, $2.75 to $3 per crate. Cape cod, $3.50 per crate and $11 per brl.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Quiet at $1.25 to $1.35, and choice hand-picked at $1.40 to $1.50.

DRIED APPLES—None offering, and prices are unchanged at 5½c.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Supplies are more plentiful. Some small lots have changed hands at 6 to 6½c. f. o. b. outside. The idea for jobbing price is 7½c.

ONIONS—Continue dull and easy. We quote: Spanish, 90c. per crate; Valencia, $2.75 per case; domestic, 1c. per lb.

HONEY—Quiet and unchanged. Extracted is selling in 10-lb. tins at 8½c. per lb. and comb at 14½ to 15c. per lb.

HOPS—There is a fair demand, but prices are unsettled. Sales of 94's are reported at 8¾ to 9c. Pressed hops, 16 to 18c.

POTATOES—Are offering freely at 43c. on track, and 50 to 55c. per bag is asked out of store for small lots.

EGGS—Strictly new laid are scarce and wanted, and they are quoted at 18c. in small lots. Held stock is plentiful at 15 to 16c. Pickled eggs are beginning to come forward and they are quoted at 13 to 14c. There is a fair trade doing.

POULTRY—The market is over-shipped with poultry, while the demand is poor on account of the unfavorable weather. We quote: Turkeys, 9 to 10c.; chickens, 45 to 65c.; ducks, 50 to 70c.; geese, 6 to 7c.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

Trade is better than it was, but it is not yet as good as desired. Demand is principally for herring, salted salmon trout in packages, cod fish, finnan haddies. Salt salmon trout in barrels is scarce. There are a good many oysters selling, but there is a liberal supply. There is a good deal of cutting going on among oyster dealers. We quote as follows: Frozen trout, 7c.; skinned and boned codfish, 6½c.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c.; "quail on toast," cod, 5 to 5½c.; Labrador herring, $2 50 per half keg and $5.50 to $5.75 per barrel; ditto, split, $3; fresh herring, 1½c. each; blueback herring, 4c.; blue pickerel, 4 to 5c. lb.; yel. ditto, 6 to 7c. per lb.; Mackerel, 14c. each; pike, 5c. lb.; haddock and cod, 6c. per lb.; steak cod, 5 to 6c.; finnan haddies, 7½c.; Digby herring, in bundles of 5 boxes, 15c.; ditto, lengthwise, 14c.; large halibut, 10c.; ciscoes, $1.35 to $1.49. Oysters, $1.20 to $1.25 per gallon; select, $1.60.

SEEDS.

With present turn of weather, which makes outdoor work impracticable, a more liberal movement of the outside alsike crop is looked for. Market has remained fairly steady since last report, $5 still being the prevailing price f.o.b. at points of shipment for choice qualities, with lower grades proportionately less. Timothy is unchanged at $1.75 to $2.25. While there is yet no movement in Canadian-grown red clover, there is more enquiry, and prices are firmer at $5.20 to $5.30 per bushel f.o.b. at points of shipment.

HIDES, SKINS, WOOL AND TALLOW.

HIDES—Business is fair and prices unchanged, dealers paying 3½c. for green and selling cured at 4½c.

SKINS—Prices still stand at 55c. with business quiet.

WOOL—There is a little more enquiry from the mills, but it is chiefly for small lots. Dealers are still paying 18c. for merchantable fleece and 20c. for very fine fleece.

TALLOW—Is a little more plentiful with dealers still paying 5½ to 5¾c., and selling at 6¼c.

PETROLEUM.

Trade is fairly good in burning oils, but lubricating oils are quiet. We quote, in 5 to 10 brl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 12 to 12½c.; carbon safety, 15c.; Canadian water white, 16 to 17c.; American water white, 17½c; photogene, 20c.

The Petrolia Advertiser in its weekly report quotes: Petrolia crude: $1.11¼ per barrel. Oil Springs crude: $1.13 per barrel. Refined, 6¾c. in bulk; 9½c. in barrels in car lots f.o.b. here.

such a prominent place in the market. Mr. Hutton invites correspondence with any large exporter desiring to purchase a round lot of No. 1 Canadian apples.

D. Marshall, of the Aylmer Canning Co., has entered into partnership with Geo. C. Allworth, and they will in future conduct the Canadian Condensed Milk factory. They intend pushing it for all it is worth, and report that the sales are exceeding their expectations, as these goods are giving good satisfaction. No doubt there will be a large demand for their condensed milk and evaporated cream. The style of the firm is D. Marshall & Allworth. There has also been some change in the firm's agents, E. Erb & Co. representing it in Halifax and A. Harvey in Winnipeg.

The fire which visited the evaporating and cider factory of J. E. Patmore, London, Ont., while it did a good deal of damage has fortunately not compelled Mr. Patmore to cease operations. The damage was confined to the evaporating room which fortunately contained only two days output of evaporated apples, the rest of the stock having been cured and removed to another part of the premises where the fire did not reach. Consequently, their trade will be pleased to learn there will be no difficulty in filling orders, having considerable stock on hand. The cider mill and press were not damaged seriously, being in operation the next day. In a day or so the factory will be in running order as of yore.

MONTREAL MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Nov. 15, 1894.

GROCERIES.

THE approaching close of navigation has created more life in the jobbing demand for staple lines of groceries, and the volume of business in this sense is rather better than it was. Otherwise, however, there is little improvement to note. In sugar the feature is the scarcity and firmness of low grade yellows, while light stocks of syrups hold prices firm. Molasses furnishes no new feature, and the coffee and spice market rules steady. Tea is fairly active and strong, and the same is to report of prime merchantable grades of dried raisins, of which, however, there are large stocks of inferior fruit. Currants rule dull and easy. In canned goods low offers on pink salmon have been made, but leading brands of red fish are firmly held. Fish rule easy on most kinds under free receipts. Cables on apples are very dissapointing, and there is little else of importance to call attention to. Payments might be a good deal better than they are.

SUGAR.

The sugar market has been rather quieter in a strictly wholesale sense since our last report, and refiners find the demand slow. Low grade yellows are very scarce, in fact the stocks of them are almost exhausted, and prices are a fraction firmer. There is a fair demand for granulated at quotations previously given. In a distributing way jobbers have been experiencing a rather better demand since the present week opened, which no doubt is due to the usual demand that sets in previous to the close of navigation. We quote : Granulated unchanged at 4 3-16 to 4¼c., and yellows a shade higher in their range at 3⅞ to 3⅞c.

SYRUPS.

The syrup market continues fairly active under a good enquiry. Stocks are light and prices rule firm as a result of this, as stocks in refiners' hands have not had any material replenishment since our last report. No quotable change in prices has occurred, however, and we repeat our last week's range sales of bright grades transpiring at 2 to 2⅛c., and dark grades 1½ to 1⅝c. at the refineries.

MOLASSES.

The molasses market, though quiet, is firm under a moderately fair demand. Barbadoes in good-sized lots has changed hands at 27½c. ex store, and some Porto Rico at 22 to 23c. The combine price on good merchantable Barbadoes is well maintained at 29c. for car lots and 30c. for single puncheons.

RICE.

The market has continued fairly active and firm, with prices as before. We quote : Japan, standard, $4.25 to $4 40 ; crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5 ; standard B, $3.45 ; English style, $3.30 ; Patna, $4.25 to $5, and Carolina at $6.50 to $7.50.

SPICES.

The spice market rules steady and the cold weather has induced a rather freer movement since the opening of the week. We quote mill prices as follows: Penang black pepper, 6 to 7½c.; white pepper, 10 to 12½c.; cloves, 7½ to 9c.; cassia, 9 to 10c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c. ; Jamaica ginger, 15 to 22c.

COFFEES.

There has been a moderate volume of trade passing in coffee, the market showing no noticeable activity. The only large sales of the week have been some round lots of Maracaibo and Rio, which left first hands at about our inside prices. The distributing demand has picked up a trifle also during the week. We quote : Maracaibo, 20 to 22c. ; Rio, 20 to 21c.; Java, 23 to 29c., and Mocha, 25 to 29c.

TEA.

The tea market continues firm in tone, but there is no special change in the condition of the market. Demand continues good on the whole, and both importers and jobbers appear to be doing a fair trade both on local and country account. Some round lots of gunpowders changed hands at 10 to 12c. and some Japans at 20c. We quote Japans : Low grades, 13 to 14c. ; medium, 14 to 17c.; fine 18½ to 32c., and choice, 24 to 31c.

DRIED FRUIT.

The market is firm so far as prime brands of Valencia raisins are concerned. In fact the market is kept remarkably well cleaned up of them, and it would not be at all surprising if an advance had to be paid in some cases to secure fresh supplies. The stock in first hands is down to a very low ebb, there being only one large line here, and the holders of it have been compelled to lend customers of their's supplies out of it pending the arrival of other goods of the same brands which the latter have bought to arrive. Of cheap inferior fruit, however, the supply is large, and this is the disturbing element of the market. It has been offered as low as 3½c., but whether the goods in question would bear close inspection or not is another matter. For prime Valencias recent sales have been made of ordinary off-stalk at 5½c.; selected, at 5c., and layers at 5¼ to 5½c. for round lots from first hands, and we quote prime fruit, 4¾c. for ordinary brands ; 5¼ to 5½c. for selected, and 5¾ to 6c. for layers.

In California raisins there has not been much doing, but we note offers of 4¼ to 5½c. c.i.f. in bond Montreal, which is about equivalent to the prices we have recently quoted for ordinary business, viz., 6 to 7½c., according to quality.

The currant market is dull, with very little trade moving and prices easier, if anything. Filiatras and Provincials have been moved in a jobbing way at 3 to 3¼c. in barrels and 3½ to 4c. in cases, and there has been some enquiry for Patras at 4¼ to 4½c. in cases. Vostizzas are held firm, as they are generally of good quality, and sales of them are noted in jobbing lots at 6¼ to 6½c.

In prunes the only kind offering are Bordeax, which have been moving at 4 to 5c. There is no Bosnia here yet, but some good-sized lots are on the way, and are being offered to arrive at 54c.

In figs the feeling is much the same. Sales of some choice bag stock have been made at 4½ to 5c., and boxes 5½c. Some fancy figs in large boxes have been selling at 15 to 16c.

Evaporated apples show no material change. There have been offers during the week at 7c.

Dried apples rule quiet and rather easy in tone at 5¼ to 5½c.

NUTS.

Trade in nuts has once more assumed sufficient importance to warrant quotations. There has been quite a fair demand for shelled almonds at 23c., and for shelled walnuts at 23 to 25c. Sicily filberts have moved at 7 to 7½c., and peccans 7½ to 8c., while roasted peanuts are quotable at 6 to 7c.

CANNED GOODS.

The canned goods market has not furnished any striking feature during the past week, but it is understood that stocks of vegetables and fruit in outside packers' hands have been nearly all sold. Demand for canned salmon has been fair, and some round lots of this season's pack have changed hands at $1.35 to $1.40 for good red fish. Offers of pink salmon have been made pretty low, however, $1.10 to $1.20 being known of. In tomatoes the feeling is steady to firmer, and in other lines nothing of importance has transpired. We quote as follows : Lobsters, per case, $6.50 ; sardines, $8.50 to $9.50; salmon, $1.35 to $1.40 per doz ; tomatoes, 95c. per doz.; peaches, $2 to $2.10 per doz. ; corn, 95c. to $1 per doz., and marrowfat peas, 85 to 90c. per doz.; strawberries, $2.75 per doz, and raspberries, $1.80 to $2.50; Australian canned meats, 1-lb. can boiled mutton, $1.80 to $1.90 ; 2-lb. can do., $3.10 to $3.15 ; 1 lb. can roast mutton, $2.05 to $2.10 ; 2-lb. can do., $3.35 to $3.40; 1-lb. can corned mutton, $2.05 to $2.20 ; 2-lb. can do , $3.35 to $3.40.

FISH.

The fish market has furnished few features except that the tone is generally easy under increased supplies. There has been a good demand for fresh haddock and cod, and the large stocks of last week have been well cleared up, Prices are rather better, therefore, at 3½ to 4c. for haddock and 3 to 3½c. for cod. A large quantity of new fresh mackerel have been received, and sales have been made fairly at 10 to 13c. The demand for salmon trout rules good, with sales of two or three carloads at $4.25 to $4.50 per keg. A consignment of 700 to 800 brls. of Newfoundland herrings were received during the week, for which $3.75 was offered for No. 1 and $3.50 for No. 2. Other lines of fish show no change, and the market on the whole is fairly active.

GREEN FRUIT.

APPLES—The apple market locally is fairly satisfactory, the only unfavorable feature being the large supplies of inferior stock. Returns from abroad are very unfavorable, and, in fact, show heavy losses to shippers on this side. Cable advices from Liverpool state that the Mariposa's cargo is landing in very bad condition and that the average price will be 10s. This is equivalent to about $1.75 per brl. here, and on that basis the shippers stand to lose about 50c. per brl. Boston shipments have also been cabled 2s. lower. Last Friday's offerings at Liverpool were 40,000 brls., the largest on record, and the average price was 13s. These returns bear out the prediction made by conservative shippers early in the season that large offerings of wasty stock would depress the market. As it stands at present the prices that are being realized in Montreal are away above those elsewhere. Fine sound fruit are scarce here and firmly held at $2.75 to $3, but inferior stock is in large supply and almost unsaleable at $1.50 to $2. Letters from the west state that there are still from 15,000 to 20,000 brls. of apples in first hands, and also that there have been some enquiries from Chicago at full prices. In fact, some holders here are hoping that the demand from that section will enable them to let out on holdings of high-priced fruit at a profit. Some offers that they have received from Chicago, if they are bona fide—and there is no reason to doubt them—would net them a good profit, and it is likely that they will lead to sales there in preference to shipment to England.

ORANGES—The market is over supplied with oranges, in consequence of large receipt of Jamaica and Florida stock. The former have slumped off $1.50 to $2 per barrel to $4 to $4.50, and the latter $1 to $1.75 per box to $1.50 to $2.50.

LEMONS—There have been heavier receceipts of Malaga lemons, and prices are 50c. to $1 per chest lower, at $6.50 to $7.

CRANBERRIES—There is an increasing demand for cranberries, which are firmer at $9 to $10 per brl.

PEACHES, PEARS, ETC.—The market for these is a bagatelle, and they are hardly quotable.

GRAPES—There is a fairly good demand for Almeria grapes, but receipts have been freer, and the range is not quite so high this week. We quote $5 to $6 per keg.

SPANISH ONIONS—There is a free sale for these at 75 to 80c. per crate, and $2.25 for large cases.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The demand for eggs continues good and prices are well maintained at the figures quoted a week ago, 13 to 14c. for limed and 15 to 17c. for boiling stock per dozen.

POULTRY—The market this week is absolutely glutted with poultry. Demand is good, however, though prices are lower. Round lots of turkeys and ducks mixed sell at 6¾c, geese at 5c., and fowls 5 to 5½c. per lb. In an ordinary way turkeys sold at 8 to 9c., geese 6c., ducks 8 to 9c., and chickens 6½ to 7c. per lb.

GAME—There is a fair supply of game offered and it meets a good demand. The market is well cleaned up. Partridge is selling at 45c. per brace for No. 1, and 25c. for No. 2. Venison brings 9 to 10c. per lb.

FLOUR AND FEED

AS predicted in our last issue, there has been an advance in flour. Ontario wheats have advanced about 3c. per bushel and Manitoba some 5½c. As this advance makes a difference of 20 to 25c. in the cost of the production of a barrel of flour, millers necessarily have been forced to advance prices. Had wheat not advanced, it was universally admitted that the price of Manitoba patents and strong bakers' was being quoted at far too low a price for the miller to realize any profit. At these times of changing markets the grocer will do wisely to keep his eye open for any change, and stock accordingly. There are many grocers who watch the markets, and through judicious buying save money, while they are enabled in many cases to undersell their competitors in trade and still realize the same profit. Any commodity that is liable to rise and fall with the markets should be closely watched.

Now that flour has advanced, the next thing to think about is whether the present prices will hold or whether there is likely to be a still further advance. Prices have been exceedingly low. There are no large stocks being carried, and those who have depleted stocks will now wish to buy while prices are yet low. This will certainly stimulate the demand. Wheat is advancing and the markets are firm. Navigation is closing, which means higher freights. Prices on the European markets are firmer. All these are arguments in favor of still higher prices.

There has not been much loose hay offering on the market this week owing to the bad weather, and that which has been offered has found ready sale. Retail feed merchants complain of the poor quality of straw, and there is an increasing demand for good straw, while very little is being offered. Cereals are moving better. Business in flour and feed generally is quiet.

THE MARKETS.

TORONTO.

FLOUR—The market is firm, and owing to the advance in wheat millers have advanced their prices from 15 to 25c on all grades. We quote: Manitoba wheat patents, $3 60 to $3.70 ; strong bakers', $3.35 to $3.40; Ontario, $3.15 to $3.30 ; straight roller, $2.95 to $3.05.

BRAN—The market is firm at from $13 to $13.50 per ton.

SHORTS—There is a fair demand, and city mills are selling at $15 per ton.

WHEAT—There is a good demand and prices have advanced in sympathy with the leading European markets. Sales on the street were made at 55c. for white and 53c. for goose. Manitoba was held higher at 67 to 68c., west, and 70c. east.

OATS—There is a firmer feeling. Sales are reported at 30½ to 31½c. on the street. White, west at 27c., and cars on track quoted at 29½ to 30c.

HAY—Prices are unchanged at $8 to $10. Good hay is in fair demand.

STRAW—A fair demand is reported for good straw and very little offering. Price unchanged at from $8 to $9.

BARLEY—Market is firmer. On the street sales were made at from 42 to 44c.

MONTREAL.

There is an active demand for Manitoba grades of flour, and a large volume of business was transacted. Orders from the Lower Provinces are coming in freely, and some fair-sized lots were booked recently for future shipment. There is also a good enquiry from abroad, and cables are 9d. to 1s. higher than previous bids, but notwithstanding this fact little business transpired, as millers in some cases state that their output is all sold up to the 1st of December, and they do no care to sell what they have not got. The tone of the market here is firmer, and higher prices are looked for in the near future. We quote : Winter wheat, $3.25 to $3.40; spring wheat, patents, $3.25 to $3 40; Manitoba patents, best brands, $3.35 to $3.40 ; straight roller, $2.80 to $2.90 ; extra, $2.55 to $2.60 ; superfine, $2.40 to $2.50 ; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.20 to $3.30 ; Manitoba strong bakers', best brands, $3.25 to $3.30.

The demand for feed continues good and the market is active and firm with a brisk business doing. Bran, $15.50 to $16; shorts, $17 ; Mouillie, $22.

There was no change in oatmeal. Business was quiet and of a jobbing character at steady prices. Standard, brls., $3.90 to $3.95; granulated, brls., $3.95 to $4 ; rolled oats, brls., $4 to $4 05 ; pot barley, per brl., $3.75; split peas, per brl., $3.50 to $3.60.

ST. JOHN, N.B.

In flour the millers continue firm and talk of further advance. It is difficult to get the advance on spot goods. The change in freight via Boston will affect the shipments that way, and as the cost has been 10c. below the all-rail rate, that will tend to stiffen prices. Advance in price now is about 10c. Cornmeal is firm at an advance on last week. Pot barley is scarce and high ; beans are higher and firm. Oats and hay as last week, with demand light. We quote : Manitoba flour, $4.10 to $4. 50; best Ontario, $3.25 to $3.40; medium, $3.10 to $3.25 ; oatmeal, $4 to $4.10 ; cornmeal, $3 to $3.05 ; granulated, $3.50 to $3.60 ; middlings, on track, $19 to $19.50 ; bran, $17.50 to $18. MONTREAL MARKETS—Continued hogs continue light and the market quiet and easy at $5.50 to $5.75 per 100 lbs.

HONEY—Demand continues slow. Extracted sells at 5 to 8c., and comb honey 10 to 14c. according to quality.

HOPS—The hop market is quiet at 6 to 8c., with little or nothing doing.

BEANS—Demand is slow. Good to choice are quoted at $1.30 to $1.45, and ordinary, $1 to $1.20.

POTATOES—There is a fair demand for potatoes at 50c. an the track, and 55 to 60c. in a jobbing way.

ONIONS—These are rather scarce and firmer at $1.60 to $1.70 per brl., the stock here being practically all in the hands of one firm.

PROVISIONS.

The feature of the provision market is the weakness in pork, and prices have declined $2 per barrel, which is due to the more liberal receipts of dressed hogs and the lower prices of late. Sales of heavy Canadian short cut have been made at $17 to $18, and light cut has been placed at $14.50 to $15.50. The demand to-day was limited, and business on the whole was quiet. We quote: Canadian short cut, heavy, $17 to $18; Canadian short cut, light, $14.50 to $15.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 9 to 11½c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 9½ to 10½c.; bacon, per lb., 9 to 11½c.; lard, com. refined, per lb., 7 to 8c.

BUTTER.

There is little change to report in the butter market and little prospect of any immediately so far as indications go. Butter continues to arrive, but the only demand there is is for fine lots of fall goods. Other grades are completely neglected and nominal in price. We quote: Finest fall-made creamery, 20½ to 21c.; earlier makes, 18 to 19c.; finest Townships, 18 to 19c.; finest Western dairy, 16 to 17c.

CHEESE.

There is a rather steadier feeling in cheese, cables ruling higher since our last, while purchases in the country have been made at fuller figures, both in Ontario and Quebec. We understand, however, that some lots of Ontario colored have changed hands at rather better prices. At the wharf this morning 25,000 boxes were offered. The quality as is natural to expect at this time of the year, was not especially desirable, but the goods were all sold, the ruling price being 9⅝c. There is nothing new from the country. Finest Ontario fall-made, 10¼ to 10⅜c.; finest Townships, 10c.; finest Eastern, 9⅝ to 9⅞c.; under grades, 9 to 9¼c.; cable, 50s. 6d.

ASHES.

The ashes market has ruled lower since our last under increased receipts, but is fairly steady at the decline. We quote: First pots, $4.30 and seconds, $3.80, while pearls are away down at $7 to $7.50 per 100 lbs.

MONTREAL TRADE NOTES.

Low offers on Cohoes canned salmon have been made to wholesale grocers here during the week.

David Brown, of Tetley's tea, is at present in England. He will be away for three weeks or a month.

On apple shipments landing this week in Liverpool Montreal exporters are making losses of from 50 to 60c. per brl.

Settlements at Shanghai at close of October, according to mail advices to sales agents in Montreal were 30,000 half chests from tls. 11.25 upwards. United States and Canada shipments are expected to be about the same as usual.

The market has been glutted with both Jamaica and Florida oranges this week, and prices are from $1 to $2 lower than they were.

The shipments of apples last week to London, Glasgow and Liverpool were 93,000 brls., one of the heaviest shipments this season.

Private cables to sales agents here from Yokohama reported advances of 1c. per lb. in Japan teas. This is a gain of 2c. in the last fortnight.

The total settlements of Japan teas, according to mail advices from, Yokohama are 219,744 piculs, against 214,456 at the same time last year.

L. Chapu', Sons & Co. have been so rushed attending to business this week that they have had to keep their staff on until 9 or 10 in the evening.

Stewart, Munn & Co., have recently received some fine consignments of Labrador herrings. These fish are all well known brands and very choice quality.

Laporte, Martin & Co. offer a large assortment of Tarragona wines, Sicily wines, cherries, clarets, sauternes, etc., at very favorable prices for prompt shipment.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
ST. JOHN, N.B., Nov. 15, 1894.

BUSINESS continues good, though the weather during the week has been unfavorable, no storm ever causing so much damage to wires about the city. They were so mixed up that for two days there was no power, light or cars, and no fire or steam. The chief trouble was with the telephones, and merchants were being put to great inconvenience. It will be a week or two yet before all lines will be working. The "good old times" are often spoken of, but the business men would not like to again have to do without telephones. For two or three days it looked as if winter were here, and merchants along the river felt blue, for, as usual, they had left the getting of supplies till the last moment. Goods have now been hurried forward, but the outlook is milder and the prospects are for open weather for some time yet. New California dried fruit is now in the market and is showing good value. Flour continues to hold its advance, and molasses is a subject of interest, prices being very firm at an advance of 1 to 2c. The war came rather late to effect the tea market here and values, thongh firm, are no higher.

SALT—Spot stocks are very light with fair demand. Quite a quantity has been brought via schooner from Boston. This is salt shipped from England by merchants there. This is a regular trade, and the salt is never brought here except market is bare. There is, however, some 10,000 bags afloat to come here and a ship is now offering at Liverpool for cargo. Coarse salt, 55 to 60c.; factory filled, $1 to $1.10; Canadian, 5 lb. bags, $3 25 per brl.; 10 lb. bags, $3.10 per brl.; American wood boxes, 20 lb. 20c,; 10 lb. 12c.

CANNED GOODS—In speaking to a large wholesaler here he said he did more value of business in October of this year than last, but there would be a falling off n November in gross amount, owing to the small amount of canned goods he was handling compared with last year at this time, but he felt his net profits would not suffer on that account. All the larger houses say the same. Stocks are not large and prices firm. There are two grades of California goods in the market, standards and extras. When buying this should be kept in mind. We quote: Corn, 95; peas, 95c.; tomatoes, $1.05; salmon, talls, $1.35; flats, $1 75; lobsters, $1.75 to $2; finnan haddies, $1.40; corned beef, 1's, $1.60 to $1.75; 2's, $2 50 to $2.65.

DRIED FRUIT—In cleaned currants the change in duty in the States has put the price up, and new fruit is offering about 2c. above last year's prices, while old fruit is higher then the new was last fall. Although some is used in bulk, 1's cartooms is the favorite package. Owing to the advance, some of the merchants are thinking of cleaning there own; in fact some locally cleaned bulk currants have already been offered. New California dried fruit is now on the market, and one or two carloads are on the way. This fruit is proving a great favorite, and the extra low price has aided much in the sale. Prices are, however, firmer, and everything points to an advance. Evaporated peaches and apricots are being offered. New Malaga London layer, black baskets and Sultanas are also in the market. Dried and evaporated apples continue easy with light demand. We quote as follows: Sultana raisins, 7 to 7½c.; California clusters, $2.40 to $2.50; London layers, $2 to $2.25; loose Muscatels, 6¼ to 6½c.; Malaga London layers, $2 10 to $2.25; Valencias, 4½ to 4¾c.; Valencias layer, 5½ to 5¾c.; new French prunes, 5½ to 6c., small boxes, 9 to 14c.; currants, brls., 3½ to 4c.; cases, 4 to 5c.; new evaporated apples, 8½ to 9c.; dried, 6 to 6½c.; figs, 12 to 13c.

GREEN FRUIT—Apples continues in large supply. Some fine winter fruit is now coming forward. Demand for Gravenstein and other fall apples is lighter. Some nice sweet limes from the West Indies have been on the market. Malaga grapes are firm owing to short crop reports, and prices are likely to go higher. Jamaica oranges, which are now coming to hand nice and sweet, are lower, as are sweet potatoes. A few Florida oranges are now being received. We quote: Jamaica oranges, $5.50 to $6; boxes, $3.50; quinces, $6 50 to $7; Messina lemons, $5.50; grapes, 35 to 50c. per basket; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $6; sweet potatoes, $3.50 to $3.75; Florida oranges, $3.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—As foreshadowed in my last report, the outlook for cheese is better. The bulk of the early makes are now out of the market and the later makes are in demand, and though prices are easier than they were some few weeks ago, holders are not anxious to cut prices. Butter is rather slow. After the closing of the river, prices will no doubt be firmer. Creamery rolls are scarce, with demand good at full price. Eggs are scarce and prices outside are rather higher than they are here. It looks as though there must be a further advance. Cheese, 10½ to 11c.; creamery rolls, 24 to 25c.; creamery tubs, 22 to 23c.; dairy, 18 to 20c.; eggs, 16 to 17c.

MOLASSES—This continues to be without much interest. In speaking to THE GROCER one of the largest importers here said he expected the price of Barbadoes would be four or five cents higher before spring. There is a light stock here and none in outside centres to bring forward. We quote: Barbadoes, 30c.; Porto Rico, fancy, 43 to 44c., choice 35c.; Antigua, 28 to 29c.; St. Croix, 28 to 29c.

SUGAR—Price is easy, although there is no change in quotations yet. We quote: Granulated, 4¼ to 4⅜c.; white extra C., 3⅞ to 4c.; bright yellow, 3¾ to 3⅞c.; yellow, 3½ to 3⅝c., dark, 3⅜ to 3½c.; Barbadoes, 3½ to 3¾c.; Paris lump, 6 to 6¼c.

FISH—There is but little change in values, but the prospects are that the price of pickled fish will be higher, while that of smoked has a weaker tendency, and figures are likely to be lower. In dry prices are steady. A few hundred barrels of Alevives were sold to New York parties at $2.50 This about leaves the market bare. We quote: Cod fish, large, $3.75 to $3.90; medium, $3.65 to $3.80; small, $3 to $3.25; haddock, $1.75; pollock, $1.70 to $1.75; shad, $5 to $5.50; half-barrels bay herring, $1.50 to $1.60; wolves, $1 to $1.60; Shelburne, No. 1, brls., $4 to $4 25, half brls., $2.40 to $2.50; Canso, $5.25 brls.; Muddy River, No. 1, half-brls., $3.25; No. 2, $2.50; Grand Manan medium smoked herring, 9c.; lengthwise, 8c.

PROVISIONS—Market is weak. Cottolene is quoted ½c. lower. We quote: Clear pork, $19 to $19.50; P. E. I. mess, $17.50; prime mess, $13 to $13.50; plate beef, $13.25 to $13.75 ; extra plate beef, $13 50 to $14; pure lard, 10 to 11c.; compound, 8½ to 9½c.; cottolene, 9¾ to 10¼c.

ST. JOHN MARKET NOTES.

New Leghorn peels—citron, orange and lemon—are now being offered.

Appearances point to a larger lumber cut in this province this year than last.

California cider has made its appearance in this market. It shows good value.

Anticipating an advance in Malaga grapes, one firm has placed an order for 500 barrels.

Theo. H. Estabrooks received another large shipment of cocoanuts direct via last West India steamers.

C. E. Macmichael have received another lot of MacLaren cheese. Lovers of good cheese seem to multiply.

Northrop & Co. report increasing demand for their white medium codfish, and having lately landed a large supply, they can fill all orders at once.

A convention of lumbermen is to be held at Moncton on the 20th inst. The purpose is to try and have the rates of freight along the I.C.R. reduced.

A cargo of fish cleared from Halifax for Porto Rico during the past week. It was valued at $40,000, and was shipped via S.S. Alert. This is the largest cargo ever shipped to one island.

The railways have advanced their export rates to Boston and Carleton 7c. Direct rates will advance this week 5c. Large quantities of flour have been arriving during the past week via Boston, but the advance will stop any more coming that way, except in exceptional cases.

Report from the Custom House shows a decline in value of business for October compared with same month last year. Value of goods entered last October, $260,594, this, $254,736 ; value paying duty last October, $172,174, this, $164,600 ; free last October, $88,420, this, $90,119 ; amount of duty collected last October, $66,798, this, $66,431. Value of exports is rather ahead of October, 1893, the figures for this year being $333,128, against $310,393 last year.

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

HALIFAX, Nov. 15.

BUSINESS is fairly good at present. Orders are coming in from the remote parts of the Province for Christmas supplies. The local and immediate Christmas trade is not looked for until about two weeks before that date. Apples are in abundant supply with liberal demand. The stock is far ahead of former years. Canned goods are reported slow, with an upward tendency. Potatoes have taken a jump on account of the short crop in P. E. Island. Several schooners are discharging cargoes here with ready buyers.

CANNED GOODS—There is a good stock on the market. Prices are : Beef, 2's, $2.75; do., 1's, $1.60 ; tongue, $4 ; sardines, ¼'s, $14 per case : tomatoes, 3's, $1 ; marrowfat peas, $1 ; corn, $1 ; wax beans, $1 ; pears, 2's, $2 25; strawberries, 2's, $2 25 ; green gauges, $2.25 ; raspberries, $2 25 ; plums, $2.25 ; Lingapore pineapples, $2.40 ; oysters, 1's, $1.50 ; 2's, $2.40 ; lobsters, tall, $1.75 ; salmon, $1.75.

DRIED FRUIT AND NUTS—In dried fruits the market is unsettled, with the exception of raisins. There is a good stock of new French prunes. Following are to-day's quotations : Valencia raisins, 4⅝c.; Valencia layers, 5½c.; black baskets, $3; imperial cabinet, $2.60; and London layers, $2.30; currants, 4½c.; dates, 5½c.; prunes, 6 to 7c.; peaches, California, 17c.; apricots, 12 to 15c.; evaporated apples, 9c.; pears, California, 10c.

GREEN FRUIT—The season for Canadian grapes is over. There was a good supply on the market and prices ruled low. Malagas are showing up well, there being some good stock on the market. Prices are expected to advance on account of the short crop. We quote : Malaga grapes, $5 to $5.50; Elmira, $5.50 to $6; apples, No. 1 winter fruit, $2 to $2.50 ; No. 2 stock, $1.25 to $1.50. Auction sales bring less money. Jamaica oranges are fairly plentiful and are bringing $5.50 to $6 for real sweet stock. Floridas are arriving, but are not very good yet. They are quoted at $3 to $3.50 per box. Lemons are scarce and stiff in price, the only stock on the market worth speaking of being Malagas, which are of small size. Flordias are quoted at $3 50 to $4. There is little demand for nuts. We quote : Filberts, 10c ; walnuts, 10 to 12c.; almonds, 13 to 14c.; Brazils, 10 to 11c.; pecans, 14c.; peanuts, roasted, 11 to 12c.; do., raw, 10c.; cocoanuts, $4 50 per 100.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—The market in cheese is easier. Best stock can be had under 11½c., and some at 10½c. There is a fair stock both of Canadian and Antigonish cheese, but of earlier make. The demand for butter is slow while the stock is fair. We quote : Choice country butter, 19 to 20c.; roll, 18c.; Canadian, 17 to 18c. Eggs are in good demand at 17c. for choice fresh, with prospects for an advance.

The stocks in molasses are limited. We quote : Antigua, 28c,; Porto Rico, 32 to 34c.; Trinidad, 27c ; Barbadoes, 30c.; Demerara, M. R. brand, 33c.; Demerara, B. D. brand, 45c.

SUGAR—The supply is heavy with demand only fair. We quote : Porto Rico, in hhds., 3¼c.; refined cut loaf, 5½c.; granulated, 4⅜ to 4½c.; standard A, 4c.; white extra C, 4c.; standard yellow C, 3¾c.; extra C, 3½c.; yellow extra C, 3⅜c.

FISH—Large quantities of fish have been received from Newfoundland, principally for Whitman's fish dryer. West India market is easy and shipments are light. We quote : Dry cod, shore, prime, $3.25 to $3.75 ; cod, bank, $3 to $3.25 ; cod, bay, $2 75 ; cod, Labrador, $2.75 ; cod, shore, from store, large, hard, $5 ; hake, $2 ; pollock, $2. Herring are scarce. Bay of Island herring, No. 1 split, are worth $2.25. There are no Labradors. Alewives are selling at $2.50 and mackerel, No. 3 large, at $7.50. No. 1 salmon are quoted at $12, No. 2 at $10 and No. 3 at $8.

PROVISIONS—The supply of pork is about as usual and prices remain steady. Quotations are : American clear pork, $20 ; American, mess, $18.50 ; P. E. Island prime mess, $18 ; do., thin, $16 50. American beef is quoted at : Extra mess, $13.50, and extra plate, $15. Native beef, carcass, is selling at $6 and $7, sinking offal. There is no demand for mutton. Lambs are sold at $7 per cwt., sinking pelts.

HALIFAX MARKET NOTES.

New figs are higher than last season on account of the duty.

The Standard Oil Company are erecting a massive tank at the outskirts of the city. It is the first of the kind to be erected here.

The firm of Louis Green & Co., cigars and tobaccos, is now controlled by Oscar Jacobi, who has been manager since it opened business here a year ago.

Onions were never so low in the Halifax market. They are also very plentiful and are selling at 1½ cents. Some Spanish onions are bringing $1 per box.

Ontario dealers are offering poultry for the Christmas trade. Halifax depends almost entirely on Ontario for its poultry. There is only a fair supply in the market.

WITH THE RETAILERS.

MR. MEINARDIS, confectioner, has bought out the boot and shoe stock of McDavitt, Gravenhurst.

R. W. Murdoch, of Hepworth, has purchased the store in connection with the Sauble Mills.

James Hunter, reeve of Wiarton, and well-known grocer, is doing a large export trade in peas this fall.

A. McKay and James Matheson have formed a partnership to carry on the general business of W. McKay, father of the former, at Renfrew.

W. F. Hogarth, flour and feed, Fort William, has moved to more commodious premises, and now carries a large stock of groceries.

Baker & Co., general merchants, Rat Portage, have enlarged their premises and put in a large plate-glass front. They have now one of the most attractive stores in Rat Portage.

Fraser & Lloyd, general merchants, Pembroke, have dissolved, and the business will be carried on under the style of Fraser & Son. H. J. Lloyd has gone into business on his own account.

S. M. Warriner, of Stouffville, having found his present premises inadequate for his growing business, has added about 25 feet to the rear of his store, and will use it as a ready-made clothing department.

The firm of Wiley & Co., Gravenhurst, evidently are doing an extennsive as well as a successful business judging from the improvements lately added to their places of business. Their stores are neat, clean and attractive, and their different stocks are large and well selected. John seems to be an enterprising young man.

PERSONAL MENTION.

John D. Roberts, manager of the Pure Gold Manufacturing Co., Toronto, has returned from a four weeks' holiday. He spent some two weeks deer and partridge hunting in the northern part of Renfrew county. "We had a splendid time," he enthusiastically remarked to THE GROCER. "Deer were plentiful, but the weather was too warm. The deer would either rot after we shot them, or rot before we shot them—just as you like."

John Mouat, Gillard & Co.'s Northwest representative, states that his customers now seldom ask for anything else than their standard tea, Imperial Congou. "It is," he says, "specially adapted for alkaline water, which makes it specially valuable in the Northwest."

W. L. Hunter, formerly of J. W. Lang & Co.'s representative on the Midland, has opened a brokerage office in Montreal.

THE GROCER regrets to learn that J. Heyden, one of Sloan & Crowther's western travelers, is lying ill in the Guelph hospital suffering from an attack of quincey.

INTERESTING TO APPLE SHIPPERS.

THE following circular, which has been sent to the apple shippers in Montreal last Thursday by General Traffic Manager Olds, of the C.P.R., will be interesting to apple growers generally :

"We are advised by wire this morning that a carload of apples from Ontario, consigned to McMillan & Hamilton, Vancouver, has reached that point, and on inspection by a fruit inspector recently appointed by the British Columbia Government, he condemned the fruit as being infected by larvae of the codling moth, and owners have been instructed to either ship car out of country or destroy its contents by fire. There are about fifteen other carloads of apples on their way from Ontario for the British Columbia market, which may possibly be condemned in the same way. This Provincial Inspection Act appears to have been sprung on the trade in British Columbia without notice and will work a great hardship, not only on them, but on Ontario fruit growers who would have had an excellent market in British Columbia this year on account of the failure of the Oregon fruit crop."

"Professor Fletcher speaking of the matter said that the codling moth was the most destructive of apple insect pests.

"Mr. Anderson, the statistician of British Columbia, states positively that the codling moth is not found in British Golumbia. He made this statement in an official letter to the department.

"If this be actually true the Governmtnt of British Columbia are wise to take every measure to prevent its introduction. In the present case, however, which has arisen from the carrying out of the new law, it is possible that some more lenient interpratation of the Act would be justifiable and advisable. The natural history of the codling moth being well understood, it is known that the insects which are now in the apples in the larval condition will not produce perfect insects until next spring. As apples are a perishable product there is no doubt that the consignment now under discussion will be used before the spring ; and I am under the impression that if the barrels in which these apples are packed are destroyed and their contents carefully hand picked by a competent person, and such as are not infested by the insects transferred to new barrels, the infested apples being destroyed, there would be no danger of introducing this insect.

"This opinion, it must be understood applies only to the present case. There would certainly be danger if later shipments are made of late winter apples. It would be far better if shippers and purchasers were notified as soon as possible of the British Columbia law, so that they may purchase apples from some of the many fruit growers in Ontario who have adopted the advised methods of spraying with paris green for protecting their fruit against the attacks of the codling moth. This practice is now becoming widely adopted in Ontario, and I have no doubt that the addresses of fruit growers who have taken this precaution can be obtained from the secretary of the Fruit Growers' Association of Ontario.

"Mr. Fletcher further stated that in this vicinity the codling moth brings forth one and sometimes two broods in a season. In the neighborhood of London, Ontario, two broods ; in California three or four broods ; and probably if it were introduced in British Columbia the number of broods would be the same as in California.

"It will be seen from this statement of the natural history of the insect how important it is for the Province of British Columbia to prevent its introduction and spread by every possible means."

"Agents will hand a copy of this notice to such fruit shippers as may be engaged in shipping apples to British Columbia, that they may understand the risks involved in shipping apples affected with the larvæ of the codling moth, and that unless great care be exercised by them in this respect the company will be obliged to require all charges on shipments of this fruit to be prepaid."

THE COST OF BREAD.

AN agitation has been going on in a number of cities in the United States and Canada for cheaper bread. It has been claimed in many places that the price of bread has not been reduced in anything like the same proportion to the decline in the price of flour. In Winnipeg the matter has been discussed freely, and here, as elsewhere, a good deal has been written about the cost of making bread in proportion to the price of flour. In view of this, a bulletin lately issued by the United States Department of Agriculture on "The Cost of Bread," taken from the forthcoming report of Prof. W. O. Atwater on the nutritive value of foods, will be interesting. It says : "In practice 100 pounds of flour will make from 133 to 137 pounds of bread, an average being about 136 pounds. Flour, such as is used by bakers, is now purchased in the eastern states at not over $4 per barrel. This would make the cost of the flour in a pound of bread about 1½ cents. Allowing ½ cent for shortening and salt, which is certainly very liberal, the materials for a pound of bread would cost not more than 2 cents. Of course there should be added to this the cost of labor, rent, interest on investment, expense of selling, etc., to make the actual cost to the baker. In the large cities competition has made bread much cheaper, but even there the difference between the cost of bread to a well-to-do family, who bake it themselves, and the family of a poor man, who buy it of the baker, is unfortunately large."

In Winnipeg the price of flour is of course very much cheaper than in the eastern cities mentioned above, the highest grade of flour costing here only $3 per barrel, and strong bakers' grade $2.80 per barrel. At this price it can be obtained in small lots of as few as ten sacks. The Manitoba flour will also make more bread to the barrel than the eastern flours, so that on the basis of the Washington Agricultural department's report, there would be about one cent's worth of flour in a Winnipeg baker's pound of bread, or two cents worth of flour in the two-pound loaf sold here. The other expenses, such as labor, etc., would cost a little more here, and these of course cannot be estimated closely, as they vary in every shop, according to the manner of conducting the business. So far as the material is concerned, however, there would appear to be about 3 cents' worth of flour, shortening, etc., in the Winnipeg two-pound loaf. With the selling price at 5 cents, the bakers therefore have a margin of 2 cents per loaf, or about 40 per cent. to cover cost of labor, rent, expense of selling, etc., including their profits.—Commercial, Winnipeg.

THE FLOUR STANDARDS.

About twenty gentlemen from all over the Dominion, forming the "Dominion Board of Flour Examiners," assembled in the Montreal Board of Trade Building Wednesday, last week, to fix the flour standards for the year. They arranged them as follows : Patent Winter—Ogilvie's "Pride of Huron;" Patent Spring, Ogilvie's "Hungarian Royal Mill ;" Strong Bakers ; Ogilvie's Strong "Glenora ;" Mill Straight Roller, "White Lily ;" Extra—extra of Wolverton Milling Co.; Superfine, Ogilvie's "Hercules."

WHY IT PAID.

A Western grocer has been doing a thriving business in selling coffee pound packages, in each of which is placed a silver plated spoon, says an exchange. Many persons wondered how he could possibly give away the spoon and realize a profit on his coffee, but the secret of the scheme lies in the fact that the spoon is only a cast iron tinned one, costing wholesale at the rate of twelve cents a dozen, or one cent each, and the spoon when weighed is of less value than the same weight in coffee.

THE CORNER GROCERY.

DEAR GROCER,—As one of the boys who has served behind the counter for some time in a town not so very far from Toronto, and reads THE GROCER regularly, I would like to see the clerks take more interest in our own paper and have more enthusiasm in our calling. True, at times it does seem monotonous every morning opening at 7 a. m., then the usual sweeping, etc., placing our goods so as to catch the eye of the passer by, then the arranging of the store, polishing up our scales, scoops, show-cases, counters, etc., getting things in good order for the day. When the boss comes in how pleased we are if he gives us a word of praise, or when some customer says to a friend, Mr. So-and-so, our boss, keeps such a neat store! Then we have the travelers coming in and asking us confidentially when the boss is not around, how's the stock in our line, and we evade the question as best we can, for our boss will not allow us to give those tips. We have our "want" book and we put down in that what is needed, and our boss does the buying whenever he thinks best. Tell "Moyume" that we boys enjoyed his letter on the perfect storekeeper very much. I think he is right. No man can afford to neglect his stock or keep a clerk who stands around with his hands in his pockets or is slovenly in these days of keen competition. It is only right, boys, that we should be neat and clean, polite and attentive, and tie up a neat parcel. My time is up, I must get back to the shop and shovel sugar.

TOBY.

BRANDING PICKLED HERRING.

DEAR GROCER,—My attention has been called to the following paragraph in THE GROCER, relative to the branding of pickled herring at St. John:

It is stated that Yarmouth and Shelburne fish get mixed, and the former are branded and sold as the latter, and that the former being cheaper, it is hard for the real Shelburne to compete. Others say this is not so, but that this report is used by some who are trying for an extra price. Shelburne are the fatter and better fish. This is not the first time such things have been said, and unfortunately it is but too often true.

Will you kindly permit me to say with regard to the above that if there is any truth in the charge that Yarmouth herring are branded as Shelburne, and sold as such, it is done after they have been properly branded by me. It is true I do not always brand a name upon the package, but simply mark them "No. 1 split herring," or "No. 2," as the case may be, and it is possible that in such case a name might be added. While it is possible that this might be done, and while it is alleged to have been done, I have not learned of the charge been proved in a single instance, as certainly would have been the case were it a common occurrence. The self-interest of other merchants would insure that.

No St. John merchant ever asked or suggested that I should falsely brand a package.

I entirely disagree with the statement quoted above that the charge made is but too often true. That is not justified by the facts, and is a reflection on the honesty of St. John merchants.

I think this statement should be made in fairness to the merchants generally, whose reputation as a class is likely to suffer from general statement like that quoted.

F. W. THOMSON,
Inspector.

St. John, N.B., Nov. 10, 1894.

Remarks: THE GROCER publishes Mr. Thomson's letter with pleasure, and it is evident from what he says that the fraudulent practices are committed after the goods have passed through his hands.

THE EDITOR.

MOLASSES AND SUGAR.

DEAR SIR,—Am pleased to note your remarks re above articles. Some time ago I referred to them, but was rather taken to task by refiners' agents through your paper. This molasses tariff is a big b'under, but I think the iniquitous syrup duty a more serious one. The idea of our being saddled with a duty of seven cents a gallon on an article that our refiners cannot supply is absurd. For months no cheap syrups have been obtainable in Canada, and to-day they are as scarce as yellow sugars, none of which can be bought for love or money. When a few raw sugars are brought in to supply a want the refiners will then put plenty in the market as they have done before.

TRAVELERS' QUARTERLY MEETING

THE quarterly meeting of the Dominion Commercial Travelers' Association took place Saturday afternoon last in Montreal, in the rooms of the association in the Board of Trade building, the chief business being the address of the retiring president, David Watson, and the nomination of officers for the ensuing year.

In calling the meeting to order the president spoke briefly regarding the past year's work, which he considered had been eminently satisfactory. He likewise referred to the help and valuable counsel which the president had received from the vice-president, treasurer, and their able and indefatigable Board of Directors during the past ten months. "In a word," said the speaker, "I have received all the assistance from these gentlemen that I required at their hands, and, I may add, all that any one could possibly desire." (Cheers.) In support of the claim that 1894 would be considered a successful year, President Watson stated that the Dominion Commercial Travelers' Association had now 2,271 ordinary and 219 associate members, making in all 2,490, 400 being French-Canadians, or an increase of 96 to November 1st over the preceding year. Mr. Watson also evoked a cheer from "the boys" when he declared that the finances of the association were likewise in a satisfactory condition. "We will have," he said, "an increase over last year in our revenue amounting to $2,000, half of which has been brought in by the increase of membership just alluded to, and the balance is to be accounted for by a reduced expenditure in the yearly working of the association. Continuing, he announced that the last dinner accounts showed a deficit of $25, while the rent account for the past year would be less by $200 than that of 1893. The President regretted to say, however, that the death rate had been comparatively large this year, as the amount of claims so far reaches $21,059 97, being an increase over last year of $8,122.87. This, however, would be met without having to fall back upon the reserve fund, and there will be from five to six thousand dollars to the rest account. In order to show the members what they might expect during future years, Mr. Watson gave the amount of death claims for the past ten years. From 1884 to 1888, inclusive, the claims show a yearly average of a little over $6,000, as follows: 1884, $3,200; 1885, $3,700; 1886, $10,000; 1887, $6,400; 1888, $6,800; total, $30,100.

The figures for the five years following indicate that the average claims reached $10,185 per year: 1889, $7,600; 1890, $10,800; 1891, $6,175; 1892, $14,400; 1893, $11,900. Total, $50,925, which, as the president remarked, is nearly double the previous five years. He considered it his duty to make this as plain as possible, and it appeared to him that no uneasiness should be felt on the part of any member because of the steady accumulation of the reserve fund. They need not, in fact, cease their efforts to add to this fund until it had reached a quarter of a million dollars.

The chairman proceeded to discuss the question of members certificates. He referred to an instance where an application had been made by a gentleman who was drowned before such application had been acted upon by the proper body. "I took the ground," said the president, "that we could not elect a dead man a member of the association, and my contention was sustained by the legal gentlemen whom we had consulted." He then referred to the Prince Edward Island tax. Legal advice had also been taken in this matter, with the result that it appeared impossible to have the law upset. It was not a commercial, but rather a tax on travelers as individuals, and if one firm sent five men to the island, they would have to pay $25. The Ottawa Government had informed the association, through Hon. J. J. Curran, that the British North America Act permitted the Island Legislature to enact such a law, so at the present time steps are being taken by the association's solicitor in Charlottetown to see what can be done down there. The president likewise briefly treated of what is known as the excess baggage question, which, he declared, was a grievance that should certainly be adjusted. According to the present rules of the railway companies the rates charged were heavier than if the traveler sent his baggage by express, and the president suggested that they charge a rate equal to the double of first-class freight. President Watson, in concluding, called attention to the benevolent fund, which had not been treated as liberally as in former years, and he hoped that at least $500 would be placed at the disposal of that particular committee. Every cent spent had been subject to personal supervision, and the speaker dwelt upon several sad and deserving cases which they had attended to, all of which met with the hearty and sympathetic appreciation of the meeting.

Col. Fred. Massey was nominated for the presidency by Messrs. George Sumner, Geo. Cains, Fred. Hughes, J. A. Cantlie, J. T. Dwyer, J. N. Lassonde and others, while Mr. Joseph H. Morin is supported by J. Harries, J. D. Rolland, Gustave Piche, C. H. Cochrane, Geo. Beaudoin and others.

When the nominations for the vice-president had been handed in it was announced that the contest for that office would be between Messrs. Alfred Elliot, Jno. Taylor, Jno. Bryers and Max Murdock.

There will be no contest for the position of treasurer. Fred. Birks, who was absent in Toronto, was elected by acclamation.

A call for nominations to form a Board of Directors was then made, it being announced that Messrs. James Armstrong, Max. Murdock, F. X. de Grandpre, M. E. Davis, and L. W. Ewing were the retiring members, consequently the following gentlemen were nominated:—Messrs. Joseph Youngheart, C. Prevost, Newton Nicker, of Thos. May & Co.; C. H. Cochrane, of Messrs. S. H. & A. H. Ewing; J. T. McBride, of McBride, Harris & Co.; John Stewart, of St. John's, P.Q.; A. D. Gall, of the Royal Oil Co.; W. C. Wonham, John Fales, of Sherbrooke; James Armstrong and W. D. McLaren, jr., which makes eleven in all. The entire number, of course, cannot get there, but all have warm friends, and a good lively contest is in order.

After very little discussion it was decided to hold the annual meeting on December 15th at the Fraser Institute hall. Mr. Beauchamp fought hard for the Monument National, saying that he and his friends had been going west for a number of years, but now the English members should return the compliment. His amendment, however, failed to carry. The poll is to close at five o'clock p.m. on the day previous to the annual meeting, and F. X. de Grandpre, W. P. Beauchamp, O. E. Brewster, J. T. Dwyer, J. S. Bullick, Fred. Birks, T. H Clark and W. A. Craven were chosen as scrutineers.

A notice of motion was then given to amend article 1, clause 6, of the by-laws, which reads as follows:

"On and after February 1st any member having failed to renew his subscription shall cease to be a member of the association and shall be required to make application as a new member, but if re-elected within the current year he shall not be deprived of any privileges, acquired rights or benefits."

The president stated that the above had proved to be impracticable, and the following amendment would be offered;

"On and after the 1st of February any person having failed to renew his subscription shall cease to be a member of the association, but may be reinstated within the current year on production of certificates of good health, accompanied with a renewal application, without being deprived of any previously acquired rights or benefits."

Gustave Piche likewise gave notice of an amendment to article 6 for re-election of officers:

"Four of the ten directors shall be elected at each annual general meeting, and the then retiring president shall by right remain a director on the board for one year."

Frank Gormley gave notice of a motion that will bring into existence a fund for members who may be totally incapacitated for work, the mover adding that he had advocated some such a scheme for years past, yet nothing had as yet been done in the matter.

The president said that he was in sympathy with such a movement, and the time was certainly near at hand when the association would have to face the question.

A discussion then took place on "the annual reunion," as it was termed by the president, "where shall it be held, and what kind of a function will it be."

Fred. Birks had written from Toronto deprecating the idea of a banquet, but W. H. Callahan and others espoused the dinner canse, and a dinner it was decided to be by a big majority, the place and date being left to the decision of the following committee: Messrs. Joe. Morin, J. T. Dwyer, Jno. Taylor, U. P. Beauchamp, Lieut.-Col. Massey, Geo. Cains, Frank Gormley, W. Galbraith, J. H. Clark, W. H. Callahan, F. X. Grandpre, Alfred Elliot and Lawrence Wilson, with power to add to their numbers.

Before the meeting adjourned President Watson read a paper showing the state of the association's investments, which now amounted to $131,650. Of this sum $25,000 had been invested this year and $16,000 had been realized from mortgages which had been paid in. The details are as follows:

First mortgage bonds, real estate, 5½ per cent.	$ 21,500
First mortgage bonds, real estate, 5 per cent.	89,000
Montreal Harbor bonds, 6 per cent.	7,970
" " " 5 "	8,180
Second mortgage bonds, Board of Trade, 5 per cent.	5,000
Total	$131,650

You owe it to yourself

to squarely face this question.———

"Can I tell from memory how much is owing to me, and by whom?" You know you expect a fire someday, because you have got your stock insured, haven't you? Now supposing that fire comes this week—to-night—how about your books?

Do you realize your danger of loss if that ledger is burnt?

A NEW SUGAR ERA.

EVOLVING into conditions somewhat new appears to be the Canadian sugar market. And some of the factors bringing it about are old ones that are being resurrected.

The factors most potent in their influence are Demerara raw sugars and German granulated beet sugar.

The sugar whose influence promises to be the most permanent is the Demerara raw article.

Until the high tariff closed it out of the Canadian market, Demerara crystallized raw sugar was a staple article on the Canadian market, and its reappearance is welcomed as if it were an old friend.

The Demerara sugar is an excellent article, and some of that on the Toronto market at the moment is probably better than that seen during the "good old days." There are two kinds of bright Demerara sugars on the market, but they are both beautiful, light yellow sugars, testing about 96, which is but from two to three degrees below that of our own granulated, generally conceded to be the best sugar in the world.

But while a good deal of the Demerara sugar will probably be used in time again in this country it is hardly destined to occupy the place it once did in the consuming public's favor.

What may be termed a granulated taste has developed amongst the Canadian people, thanks to the tutelage of the Canadian refineries. To take from them this taste will require something more than a Demerara sugar. Its place will not be on the table, or at least only to a limited extent ; the kitchen will be its stronghold ; and the fact that refined yellow sugars are so scarce will help it to get ensconced there.

Anyhow, compared with the refined yellow, the Demerara article is superior for cooking purposes. In price the two are much about the same, but when it comes to comparing sweetness, the advantage is with the raw sugar by from 8 to 10 per cent.

The presence of the Demerara sugar on the market will naturally induce the refineries to devise means to minimize its influence, but in spite of this, and while the fact of the appearance of this particular raw article on this market to the extent it is, is due in part to the heavy stocks in the United States, yet the fact that an entrance has been effected, and that at a time when prices are so low, means a good deal.

That Demerara crystallized raw sugars have come to stay is generally conceded by the trade, for in addition to the reasons already ascribed it must be remembered that the new tariff removed an important obstacle to their entrance when it allowed them to come in free. Then a generally diffused movement has materialized in the West Indies, having in view the centralization of the sugar mills and the introduction of new and improved machinery and methods. This means, of course, cheapening in the cost of production.

The permanency of the German granulated beet sugar as a factor on the Canadian market is less possible. It is, first of all, not as pleasing to the eye as the home-made article, having a bluer tinge, while, in addition to this, it is not of as high a test. If, however, it can be put down here at a price sufficiently below that of our own granulated to induce consumers to give it the preference, the difference in color and in test will be overlooked by a good many people. The difference in the price at the moment is about ⅛c. in favor of the German article.

One result of the presence of the German and Demerara sugars on the market is the depression of the price of granulated sugars to the lowest point ever known in this country. Last year at this time the wholesale price of granulated was 4¾c.; in 1892, 4⅝c.; in 1891, 4⅞ to 5c.; in 1890, 6⅞ to 7c. In the last named year it is interesting to note that the price of Demerara raw sugar was 7c. per pound. That was about the same as granulated. Now Demerara is selling at 3¼ to 3⅜c., less than half the price ruling in 1890 and from ⅝ to ¾c. below to-day's figures for granulated.

The Canadian sugar market is indeed merging into a new era.

2 3-4c. COTTON.

A grey cotton at 2¾c. a yard, five pounds to the yard, is probably the cheapest that has ever been offered on the Canadian market. To meet competition, William Parks & Son, St. John, N.B, who are not in the combination, have put a line at this price on the market. The sample shown THE CROCER by a dealer is the best sample we have ever seen. Parks & Son are inundated with orders and requests for samples, but it is said they will only supply a limited quantity.

THAT MOLASSES DUTY.

HON. CLARKE WALLACE, Controller of Customs, has finally decided the question re duty on molasses

The Customs Department, readers of THE GROCER will remember, ruled recently, that molasses, in order to come in under the duty of 1½c. per pound, must be imported direct from the market of production, a duty of 7c. per pound to be imposed when not so imported.

THE GROCER protested against this ruling, pointing out at the same time that it was foreign to the reading of clause No. 397, the governing clause.

The decision of the Controller of Customs now concedes all that THE GROCER and the trade demanded.

He rules that molasses that has not been removed from the package of the district where produced from the cane may be entered in accordance with clause No. 397, notwithstanding the place of shipment. For example : Molasses imported from Louisiana to New York or Boston and thence distributed throughout Canada would be entitled to admission under the provisions of said clause, if agreeing with the requirements relative to test, and provided that the molasses has not been removed from the original package in which it was placed in the Louisiana district, where produced from cane.

Thus endeth satisfactorily a matter that has been giving the trade a good deal of concern and trouble ; and Hon. Mr. Wallace is to be congratulated upon being at last able to see eye to eye with the importers in this particular, and acting according to his light.

A SUSPICIOUS FAILURE.

SCARCELY has there a failure of late been attended with more suspicious circumstances than that of J. H. Strickland, the Cannington grocer, whose assignment to Henry Barber & Co. was announced a week or so ago.

If the intention was not to defraud the creditors, the appearance that such was the aim was so strong that the indignant creditors were not altogether without reason in insinuating that everything was not as straight as it might be, and threatening to invoke the law to settle the matter.

J. H. Strickland began business some five or six years ago, and under promising circumstances. He had had a good business training and was energetic and ambitious. He was also fortunate in having a father who was able to give him financial backing. Soon he was doing a good business, and he was looked upon as being upon the high road to success. And so he was. But, like too many young fellows, success carried away his common sense, and he undertook to do more than he was capable, financially at least, of doing. A big load of wheat was one of the first things that pressed heavily on his shoulders, and weakened, at the same time, his credit with the wholesale trade. Since then matters have got worse, instead of better.

Another thing that did not tend to improve Strickland's credit was the starting of stores at Balsover and Argyle. It was the general opinion that he was the owner of them. When the store at Argyle was opened, THE GROCER, in a news note, announced the fact, stating at the same time that it was started by Strickland as a branch store. In a letter to this journal he denied that he was the owner, remarking at the same time, "why, the wholesalers must think I am a fool to do such a thing." He averred that the Argyle store was owned by his brother, and THE GROCER made a correction, as requested.

Subsequent circumstances have demonstrated that either THE GROCER was correct in the first instance, or that Mr. Strickland has a generous lot of brothers who are willing to sacrifice their businesses for his benefit.

When Strickland assigned, it was the Cannington stock only he assigned. The two other stocks he, of course, did not own. The statement showed liabilities of $9,086 and assets of $2,214. According to these figures there was a deficiency of $6,872. But a little instrument held by Strickland's father made it still greater than this. The instrument was a chattel mortgage on the stock for $2,000, and was given but a week or so before the assignment took place.

Provided the stock realized the figure at which it was valued, it will be seen that there was but $214 with which to liquidate $9,086.

The meeting of creditors held last week was naturally a stormy one. To use the words of a gentleman present, Strickland was "taken by the throat and hustled." The outcome of this squeezing was that the stores at Argyle and Balsover were surrendered for the benefit of the creditors. The value of the two stocks is estimated at $1,500 and $2,000 respectively, so that where there were practically no assets, there are now at least $3,500 worth, while, if the chattel mortgage is set aside, as the creditors propose trying to do, there will, of course, be a couple of thousand dollars more. The estate has yet to be disposed of, notwithstanding that The Cannington Gleaner of last week announced that it "is pleased to know that J. H. Strickland will resume business next week."

A DISHONEST PRACTICE.

ALL the dishonest tricks of trade are not exhausted yet. Unfortunately we are from time to time having too many instances of that.

One of the latest to which the attention of THE GROCER has been drawn is in regard to herrings.

Between Labrador herring and No. 1 Newfoundland herring there is a difference of about $1 per barrel in price. In quality the former has, of course, the call, but in spite of this there are a good many merchants, not really fish dealers, who are unable to detect the difference between the two kinds of fish, provided they are not in their proper packages.

This ignorance on the part of many in the trade is being grasped by some fish dealers as an opportunity for perpetrating a fraud on the unsophisticated.

Their modus operandi is this : They take the packages containing the Newfoundland herring and, with a stencil, mark the words "Labrador herrings" on them. Thus fixed they are sold to the trade as Labrador herring, but at a price lower than that obtaining for the pure article.

Whether the practice is confined to Toronto or not, THE GROCER is not in a position to state, but it behooves merchants, everywhere to be on their guard. When a man pays for Labrador herrings he wants to get Labrador herrings and not the Newfoundland article, even if the price he is charged is not above that obtaining for the last-named fish.

DENIA VS. CALIFORNIA RAISINS.

THE future of California raisins in the Canadian market has attracted some attention in Montreal this fall from the fact that for the first time they have become a regularly quotable article. Though this is the case, it seems doubtful under present conditions that they will ever become the staple in Canada that the Denia fruit is. Among a number of other factors that will be apt to operate against them, when it is a case of competition with Spanish rivals, is the question of cost. The very lowest grade of California fruit costs, laid down in Montreal, in the vicinity of 6c., duty paid, from seconds' hands. This fruit, which is nothing like as dainty as the finer grades of Spanish raisins, has to be sold against the latter, which can be jobbed out at 5 to 6c. for the very best grades of selected or layers. Under ordinary circumstances therefore the latter should get the preference, and are likely to get it, not only because they are cheaper, but because the Canadian consumer is accustomed to the Spanish fruit, and habit as everyone knows is a great influence. Besides, the Spanish fruit possesses the advantage of having, at the most, only three or four stones, while its California rival has from six to eight. The former also boils well without swelling up and bursting its cover, a great advantage when cooking the fruit with rice and other farinaceous subjects. In a word the only advantage that the California fruit possesses is its keeping qualities. This is due to its thick cover, which prevents the saccharine matter from exuding. In fact, they can be kept for an indefinite length of time, owing to this thick skin ; but then again, it is found to be a disadvantage when the fruit have to be cooked in boiling water, as the skin swells up and bursts and the sugary matter gets out. Indeed, for cooking purposes they are not likely to become a serious rival of the Denia article, for these reasons, though the finer grades may fill a want as a table raisin.

WITH THE RETAILERS.

CHARLES WATSON, Guelph, of the firm of Watson Bros., has returned from a two weeks' hunting trip in Muskoka. Among his trophies are alleged to be a black bear and a chipmunk.

James A. Blain, of Gilford, has handled in the neighborhood of 2,000 barrels of apples this season.

W. E. Preston, one of Midland's merchants, has been ill for some days with a severe cold.

John Waddell, of Mount Forest, late of J. Waddell & Co., is now a clerk with R. Scott & Co., of same place.

Steele Bros., of Fergus, have received shipments of the finest selected Valencia raisins ; also a lot of velvet skinned Vostizza currants.

R. Scott has bought out the business of H. Stucky, Grand Valley. Mr. Stucky is at present fulfilling the duties of manager for Mr. Scott.

Arch. McKenzie, of Kirkfield, who has been to the eastern seaboard with a carload of farm and dairy produce for export, was in Toronto this week en route home.

John Waddell, of Harriston, against whom the corporation of that town had entered a suit for payment of taxes, obtained a verdict in his favor.

D. Lavrock, late general merchant at Port Elgin, is now in the grocery business in James street south, Hamilton. He is understood to be much pleased with the change. William Goble is selling out Mr. Lavrock's stock at Port Elgin.

A. Courtemanche, manager for James Stafford, Midland, has returned from a seven-day deer hunt. THE GROCER has seen none of the evidences, but it is understood Mr. Courtemanche bagged much game.

A process of condensing beer has lately been brought into use in Europe. The beverage is reduced to about a twelfth part of its original dimensions and can be kept for a long time under the most varying climatic conditions and temperature. Now if it could only be sold in chunks, says The Merchant's Sentinel, as it were, how handy it would be for "the boys!"

TROUBLE IN THE CUSTOMS.

OTTAWA, Nov. 20.—The articles in THE GROCER on the troubles between importers in different parts of Canada and the Customs Department have naturally attracted a good deal of attention here. The officials with few exceptions agree with you. The real cause of all the troubles is Mr. Thomas Watters, the assistant and acting commissioner. He was at one time accountant of the department and filled that important position as far as I can learn satisfactorily. He was a favorite of Hon. Mr. Bowell, who promoted him to the assistant commissionership, but this was an unfortunate move. With an autocratic tendency, his promotion developed that characteristic, and he now acts as if he owed allegiance to no man. It is his duty to render decisions on disputed points between importers and the department. He has not the business experience to do this intelligently or a disposition pliable enough to listen and adapt himself to the views of those who have. He jumps at conclusions without due consideration, and issues the decisions which have worried the Controller as well as the trade. These decisions are not based on any fixed rules or principles, for he affirms a principle one day and decides differently the next. When complaints are made no attention is paid to them. Importers have written time and again without receiving an acknowledgment of any kind. For all this Mr. Wallace has been blamed, but when care was taken to get the correspondence before him personally it received immediate attention.

I have it on the best authority that Mr. Wallace and his deputy are not working harmoniously. Mr. Wallace recognizes Mr. Watters' unfitness for the position, for he positively refuses to promote him to the vacant commissionership, though strong efforts have been made by other members of the Government to force him into it. Mr. Wallace stands by him very well, however, for it is only in the most important matters that he reverses the commissioner's decisions; but these have been quite numerous. This week, so far, two such decisions have been reversed, but only after weeks of correspondence and much discussion. At one time printed copies of such decisions were sent regularly to collectors in different parts of Canada, but recently, I am told, they have been afraid to make them public. The result is that each port gets a special ruling, and often an article comes in at one port at, say, 20 per cent., while at another 35 per cent. is asked.

B. M.

QUALITY NOT QUANTITY.

FAKE advertising methods have been exposed as often as there are days in a decade. But in spite of this the number of those who still allow themselves to be caught by its alluring bait is numerous.

Among the victims are often to be found men who in other things are accounted sharp and shrewd.

In ordinary business matters they are seldom, if ever, misled. They keep their finger ever on the pulse of trade, and are governed in their buying and selling according to the manner in which it beats. But when the projectors of fake advertising schemes open the flood-gates of their persuasive powers upon them they are carried away with little or no effort.

Among the latest evidences of this fact is seen in a case pending before the courts.

Some time since a firm whose business is to promote advertising schemes contracted with a well-known manufacturer to place a card, placard or some such device, in certain public places.

Now this manufacturer has representatives going through the country, and they were instructed to keep their eyes open for the advertisements. They did as bid, and the result is the suit which the deluded advertiser is now bringing.

Advertising is like every other branch of a man's business—it must be looked after. If it is not it will not pay, even if the advertisement is placed in the best medium on earth.

If a business man complies with the solicitations of the promoter of this and that advertising scheme without satisfying himself as to its soundness, he is obviously not careful for this important business adjunct.

Every manufacturer or merchant who hopes to succeed must advertise in some way or other.

There may be an odd one here and there who will pooh-pooh this declaration. But let the most sceptical of disbelievers in the efficacy of advertising to bring trade fathom the methods he employs to sell his goods, and if he is an honest man he will acknowledge that he preaches what he does not practice.

Business men must advertise; and they all do advertise in some way. But the trouble is that a good many, like the manufacturer referred to, do not advertise wisely.

The best advertising mediums are the legitimate newspapers; and when we say newspapers we include the daily and weekly newspaper, the trade journal and the magazine.

But in selecting a medium it is not always best to select that which has the largest circulation. The wise plan is to choose that which goes mostly into the hands of those whose custom he desires to cultivate.

In a word, judicious advertising is more a question of quality than of quantity.

CANADIAN SALT PREFERRED.

Toronto Salt Works have closed a contract with one of the largest packing houses in Canada to supply their salt for this season's packing. They are to be congratulated that their efforts on behalf of Canadian salts are meeting with so much success. In the past the packing house in question has used imported salts only, being particular as to the quality of their product.

'Twas twenty year ago to-night, so fur as I ken trace,
When Shadrach Brown, he come to me, wid business in his Whereat I says, "Dat's well enough; but whaih's de whaih-withal?"

De answer was, "Dere's lots o' folks a-livin' mighty near,
Wid turkey-gobblers on deir roosts, dey wouldn't use, dis year;
If dey would lend 'em to de poor, 'twould only serve em right;
You fin' de stingiest man in town, an' deal wid him to-night.
An' I will cook it on your stove, admit our famblies free,
An' have a big Thanksgivin' feast," says Shadrach Brown to me.

Now dat was not at all de way my early years was teached,
It won't agree wid any text dat ever yet was preached:
But Brown, he was a prosper man, an' owned his mule an' cow,
An' I was sort o' hypnertized, I s'pose dey'd call it now;
An' so I own—repentin' deep—I hope it ain't too late—
I started out to toil fur Brown, and do his biddin' straight.
I set an' studied half an hour to make de fac' appear
Who was de stingiest man I knowed in all de country near;
An' den I bor'd ob him dat night (I strongly 'sert an' vow,
I hope de Lawd forgives me dat—I wouldn't do it now);
An' Brown was standin' by my stove, at mornin's soonest ray,
An' helped undress de veteran, an' cooked him half a day.

An' den de famblies gathered roun', partakin' of de cheer,
An' grinnin' says, "Dere ain' no lack of gratitudin', here!"
An' every one dat turkey praised, wid floppin fork and knife,
To see him endin' usefully a long and peaceful life;
An' wid a wink an' wid a shrug, an' wid a smile of glee,
"We're dinin' wid de stingies' man!" says Shadrach Brown
to me.

An' all de festival went right, an' wouldn't have had a hitch,
If little Paminondas Brown didn' turn us in de ditch:
He spoke up: "Poppie, when I wen' to feed de chicks. dis morn,
De brindle rooster took de cake, a gobblin' of de corn;
I had a look aroun' de roost—I peeped into the well—
De turkey gobbler'd up an' gone we's fattin' for to sell."

Den Brown he kind o' looked at me like one ob us must die;
But I caressed de carvin' knife, an' gazed him in de eye;
I says, "Now Shadrach, look-a-here; you tol' me what to do;—
Of all de chaps in all dis town, de stingiest one is you."
An' den he sort o' wilted down, an' let de joke go free:
"I've cooked my goose an' turkey, too," says Shadrach Brown
to me.

MOST necessary requisite in the keeping of a grocery is to have the standard, the best, and the most favorably known articles for sale. You don't then have to explain their merits to your customer. They probably know as much as you, about that same article.

On the other hand, a poor unknown article of questionable quality and unquestionable price is something you haven't the time to experiment with, nor the inclination to risk your standing among good customers with.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Nov. 22, 1894.

GROCERIES.

LITTLE is there in trade this week of an interesting character to note. Business is only moderate, and until the movement of goods for the holiday season sets in it cannot be expected to get above that state. Sugar is comparatively about the least enquired for commodity on the market. A circumstance that is attracting some attention is the scarcity of Valencia raisins on the spot. Generally speaking, there is not much stir in the market in foreign dried fruits yet. Rio coffees are in good demand and scarce. A good trade is still being done in spices. The tea market continues quiet, with prices firm. Stocks in the country are, as a rule, in a healthy condition, and a fairly good trade may be looked for in a week or so when the demand sets in on holiday account, especially if we are blessed with a little sleighing.

CANNED GOODS.

The situation remains much as before. The only line in which there is anything like activity is salmon, which remains firm with the prospect of prices further appreciating, in the spring at any rate. Lobster is quiet and steady. Tomatoes, corn and peas are in moderate demand only. The improvement noted last week in canned fruits has continued, with the preference still being shown for peaches, pears and plums. We quote: Tomatoes and corn, 85 to 90c.; peas, 80 to 85c.; peaches, $2.75 to $3 for 3's, $1.75 to $1 90 for 2's; raspberries, $1.65 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.00 to $2.10; apples, 3's, $1 to $1.10, gallons $2.65 to $2.80, and preserved fancy quarters at $1.35 to $1.40; salmon, $1.30 to $1 35 for good red fish in tall tins, and $1.50 to $1.60 in flat tins; do., second quality, $1.20 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1 to $1.10; lobsters, $1.70 to $2 for tall tins, and $2.25 to $2.75 in flat tins.

COFFEES.

The local market is still bare of green Rio coffee. Some shipments are arriving, but nearly the whole of these have been sold to arrive. We quote: Green, in bags, Rio, 21½ to 22½c.; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 21½ to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 32c.; Mocha, 27 to 28c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 22c. In New York, while low grade Brazilian coffees have been easier, the better qualities show an improvement. Thoroughly standard is scarce At the same time the most pronounced and solid gain was with the East India growths. Recent advices from Aden show a strong feeling in Mocha coffee.

RICE.

Demand is fair for the season, the kinds most called for being fancy imported at about 5½ to 6c. We quote: "B," 3½ to 3¾c.; extra Japan, 5¼ to 5⅝c.; imported Japan, 5¾ to 6¼c.; tapioca, 4¼ to 4½c.

SPICES.

Spices are in fairly active demand, pure spices being particularly so. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 25 to 27c.; cloves, 25 to 30c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, 20 to 25c. per lb.

NUTS.

There is a good demand for shelled almonds. Tarragona almonds are quiet, with prices a little firm. We quote as follows: Brazil nuts, 11 to 11½c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds, 13 to 14c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 13 to 14c.; Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 8 to 10c.; filberts, 9¾ to 10½c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

SUGAR.

An odd mixed car has moved here and there, but business in sugar is on the whole dull. The price for granulated is down to 4⅛c., the lowest figure ever touched; and it is weak at that. The German granulated beet sugar that is on the market has been one of the factors to bring this about. The German article is quoted at 4c. The price of yellows ranges from 3¼ to 3⅞c. Dark Demerara raw sugars are quoted at 3¼ to 3⅝c., and bright at 3¾c.; ordinary raws, 3¼c.

SYRUPS.

Demand is fairly good for the better grades, suitable for table use, at 2¾ to 3¾c. per pound. We quote: Dark, 25c.; medium, 28 to 30c.; bright, 35 to 40c.; very bright, 45 to 50c.

MOLASSES.

Business continues quiet and prices unchanged. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 26 to 28c.; half-barrels, 30½ to 32c.; Barbadoes, barrels, 28 to 32c.; half-barrels, 30 to 34c.

MARKETS—Continued

TEAS.

A good many low grade China blacks at about 14 to 16c. have been moving during the week, but otherwise there is not much doing, country dealers being well supplied for the present, having bought rather freely in the early part of the season. Brokers report that the little enquiry there is from the wholesalers is for low grade Indian, Ceylon and Young Hysons. The London tea market continues to rule strong, particularly on Indian and Ceylon teas. Prices ruling are: Young Hysons, 16 to 18c. for low grade; 24 to 27c. for medium, and 30 to 38c. for high grades; China Congous, 16 to 18c.; Japans, 16 to 20c.; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 35c.

In spite of the heavy weight of Indian tea brought forward on the London market, competition has been strong and prices well maintained. Bidding was good on Ceylon teas and prices firmer on certain kinds. A London tea circular, referring to the market for October, says: "The tea market during the past month has remained firm for all kinds, and in some instances an advance has been made, especially in the common and low medium grades of Indian and Ceylons, and to some extent in China Congous up to 6d. per lb. The statistical position is now a strong one, and we look for a very firm market during the remainder of the season. The imports of the month for London are 26 856,000 lbs., against 29,202,000 lbs. last year; the deliveries for London are 22,938,000 lbs., against 22,491,000 lbs. last year; the stock in London on 31st October was 80,870,000 lbs., against 83,239,000 lbs. last year."

DRIED FRUITS.

The Christmas demand has not begun, and the market in consequence does not yet exhibit much activity. The local market is at the moment bare of Valencia raisins, especially off-stalk and selected fruit. How necessary THE GROCER'S warning was, calling upon the members of the trade to exercise judgment in buying Valencia raisins, is being evidenced, some of the brands, and those of satisfactory quality last year, already candying. Valencia raisins are unchanged in price, quotations still being: Off-stalk, 4¼ to 4½c.; fine off-stalk, 4½ to 5c.; selected, 5½ to 6c.; layers, 6 to 6½c. We quote California loose muscatels at 6 to 7½c.

Malaga raisins are not moving to any extent yet, nor are they expected to show much activity for a couple of weeks We quote new season's fruit as follows: London layers, $2.25 to $2.50; black baskets, $3 25; blue baskets, $3.25; extra dessert clusters, $4 to $4 50; connoisseur clusters, $3.25 to $3.50; quarter flat connoisseur clusters, $1 to $1 15; Royal Buckingham, $5 to $5.50.

Stocks of prunes are still confined to the French article, for which demand is moderate only at 4½ to 5c. New season's Turkish prunes are not expected for another two or three weeks yet.

Of all the foreign dried fruit on the market the most active demand at the moment is for currants, and particularly the better class of fruit, at reasonable prices. We quote: Filiatras, half barrels, 4 to 4½c., barrels, 4⅛c.; fine Filiatras, half barrels., 4¾c., barrels 4⅝c.; Patras, 5½ in cases; Casalina, 5½ to 6c.; Vostizzas, 6½ to 7½c. in cases and half cases; Panarte, 8 to 8½c.

Advices quote Sultana raisins a little firmer in primary markets. On the local market there is a moderate demand only at unchanged prices; namely, 5½c. up.

There are a few new season's dates arriving this week, but it will be a couple of weeks yet before the direct shipments reach this market. For those that are here 6 to 6½c. is being asked.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The condition of the market this week is not satisfactory. Choice dairy tub butter is still wanted, but, while it is scarce, medium and inferior is in abundance and overstocking the market. A good deal of the store-packed butter coming in is not fetching more than 11 to 12c. There is a good demand for large rolls, but a good deal of that coming in has the flavor of turnips about it. There is a good demand for dairy pound rolls, but there are not many of good quality coming forward. Creamery butter in tubs is plentiful, but a good deal is off flavor and not desirable. For the good article there is a fair demand. Creamery pound prints are not any too plentiful, and the price for them is firm. We quote jobbing prices: Dairy—Choice tubs, 17 to 18c.; medium, 14 to 15c.; crocks, 20c.; low grade, 11 to 13c.; pound rolls, 18½ to 19c.; large rolls, 15 to 16c. Creamery—Tubs, August, 18 to 19c.; September and October, 19 to 20c.; pound prints, 22 to 23c.

In cheese trade is quiet, with prices steady at 10½ to 11c.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Demand is still fairly good for provisions at old prices. Long clear is the chief article selling, and hams have been in fair request. A great deal of lard has also been going out. The market has been pretty well cleaned out of the dressed hogs that glutted it last week, and all now coming in are being taken care of at $5 to $5.15.

BACON—Long clear, 7¼c. for carload lots and 7¾c. for small lots; breakfast bacon, 11 to 11½c.; rolls, 8½ to 8¾c.

HAMS—Large, 22 lbs. and over, 10c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 11c.; small hams, 11½c.; pickled, 10 to 10½c.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 8¼c.; tubs, 8¾c.; pails, 9¼c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess $16; Canadian short-cut, $16 to $16.50; shoulder mess, $13.50 to $14; clear mess, $14 to $14.50.

GREEN FRUIT.

Oranges are beginning to move a little more freely, although the volume of business is yet light. Prices are a little easier. Lemons are a little scarcer than they were, while demand is good. New season's Messinas are arriving. Bananas are quiet and steady in price. Malaga grapes have advanced materially in New York, selling up to $10 per barrel. Here they are firmly held at quotations. There are still a few Canadian grapes on the market, but they are nearly done. Cranberries are scarce and higher. There are a few Jersey cranberries of long-keeping quality on the market this week, but they are held at high figures. There is not much demand for apples, but prices for the better varieties are higher. Sweet potatoes are in good demand, but prices are easier on account of liberal shipments. We quote: Lemons—Floridas, $4 to $4.50 for fancy stock, with other kinds selling at $3 to $3 50; Malagas, $3.50 to $3 75; Verdelli, $2 50 to $3.35. Oranges—Floridas, $2.75 to $3 for 200's and 176's, $2.25 to $2 50 for 126's and 150's. Bananas, $1.10 to $1.50 for firsts, and 80c. to $1 for seconds. Cucumbers, 20 to 25c. per basket. Apples, winter fruit, $2.25 to $2 75 per bbl.; snow apples, $2.50 to $3; fall fruit, $2 to $2.50. Grapes—Rogers, 35 to 40c. for 10 lb. baskets; Malagas, $4.50 to $6.50 per keg. Sweet potatoes, Jerseys, $3 per bbl. Cranberries, Nova Scotia, $10 to $10.50 per bbl.,

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Holders in the west have advanced prices 5c. per bushel, now quoting hand-picked at $1.25 and prime medium at $1.17 f. o. b. in carload lots. The market here is quiet at $1 25 to $1.35 for prime medium and at $1.40 to $1.50 for choice hand-picked.

DRIED APPLES—Transactions are reported at 4¾ to 4¾c. f. o. b., and all that can be got at these figures are being taken. Demand from retailers is light and jobbers are quoting 5 ¼c.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Are neglected. For round lots at outside points 6 to 6¼c. seems to be the idea, but no transactions are reported. Locally prices are nominally 7 to 7¼c. for small lots.

ONIONS—The supply is still liberal and demand light. We quote: Canadian, 75 to 90c. per bag; Spanish, 85 to 90c. per crate; Valencia, $2.50 to $2 75 per case.

HONEY—Market remains quiet and unchanged. We quote: Extracted, 8 to 8½c. in small quantities and 7½ to 8c. in large quantities; comb, 12 to 13c.

POTATOES—Market remains much as before. Carload lots have changed hands on the track at 43c., and bags are selling off the store at 50 to 55c.

EGGS—There are a good many cold storage eggs in sight, which has a tendency to hold the market down. Good fresh eggs are scarce. We quote: Fresh, 15 to 16c.; cold storage, 14 to 15c.; limed, 13½ to 14c. strictly new laid would probably bring 17c.

POULTRY—On account of the warm weather and the liberal supplies, the bottom fell completely out of the market the end of last week. Turkeys offered freely at 6 to 7c., chickens at 15 to 30c., ducks at 40 to 50c., and geese at 3½ to 4c. Several hundredweight of turkeys were picked up at 5½c. for shipment east and to the canneries. With the colder weather obtaining this week, there has been a recovery, and we now quote firm as follows: Turkeys, 7 to 8c.; chickens, 20 to 35c.; ducks, 45 to 60c.; geese, 5 to 6c.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

Trade is dull, attention being turned more to poultry on account of the low price for it. The price of fish remains much as before. We quote as follows: Frozen trout, 7c.; skinned and boned codfish, 6½c.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c.; "quail on toast," cod, 5 to 5½c.; Labrador herring, $2 50 per half keg and $5.50 to $5.75 per barrel; ditto, split, $3; fresh herring, 1½c. each; blueback herring, 4c.; blue pickerel, 4 to 5c. lb.; yel. ditto, 6 to 7c. per lb.; mackerel, 14c. each; pike, 5c. lb.; haddock and cod, 6c. per lb.; steak cod, 5 to 6c.; finnan haddies, 7½c.; Digby herring, in bundles of 5 boxes, 15c.; ditto, lengthwise,

SEEDS.

The market is steady for alsike at $4 to $5 f.o.b. points of shipment, with a trifle more being paid for extra choice fancy lots. An occasional sample of red clover is now being offered, for which $5 to $5.40 f.o.b. is being paid for good to fine samples. SKINS—Sheepskins are quiet and unchanged, dealers still paying 55c. Calfskins are dull and nominally worth 6c.

TALLOW—Much as before, dealers paying 5½ to 5¾c. for rendered, and selling at 6¼c.

PETROLEUM.

Trade is still good in burning oils, while lubricating oils are quiet. Prices are slightly lower, except in Carbon safety, which is higher. Dawson & Co. expect a shipment of new season's dates this week.

The attention of the trade is drawn to Wm. Paterson & Son's "facts" on page 6.

A slight mistake crept into the advertisement of the Toronto Salt Works last week. Windsor Dairy salt was quoted 15-20 lb. bags, $2, instead of $2.25. The number of enquiries this produced evidences the fact that the advertisements in THE GROCER are well watched.

Clemes Bros. have new season's dates arriving this week.

Long-keeping Jersey cranberries are to hand this week with Clemes Bros.

J. W. Lang & Co. have a shipment of Malaga raisins in stock in layers and black baskets.

Clemes Bros. have a car of Messina lemons arriving this week direct from the ship's side at New York.

Sloan & Crowther have experienced such a brisk demand for shelled almonds that already over two-thirds of their shipment have been sold.

Green Rio coffee has been a scarce commodity on the Toronto market for some time, but a shipment is now arriving for Warren Bros. & Boomer.

White & Co., of 70 Colborne street, Toronto, report that they have choice winter apples which they are prepared to furnish to the trade in small quantities.

Shredded codfish from the United States is being offered on the Toronto market this week. The quality, it is claimed, is not equal to that of the domestic article.

The Ireland National Foods Co. reports sales of self-raising flour still increasing. The firm says that its output of breakfast foods in packages is larger than ever before.

Ramsay & Aitkens, agents for Stewart Munn & Co.'s fish goods, are doing a big trade. In herrings alone they last week sold over two carloads, besides large lots of boneless codfish.

"Bee" brand Ceylon tea, the agency for which was secured recently by Warren Bros. & Boomer, is reported by that firm to be taking well with the trade. It is put up in pound and half pound packages enclosed in 30-lb. cases.

Imports of canned salmon into the United Kingdom during the ten months ending October 31st amounted to 586,303 packages, against 531,321 in the corresponding period last year and 461,658 in 1892.

Smith & Keighley are complaining that they are getting loaded up with butter of poor quality. "We get an occasional good tub," said a representative, "but the greater part is so bad that bakers prefer Cottolene to it."

Imports of Malaga grapes into New York this season are but 120,000 kegs, against 260,000 last year. As a consequence, prices there have reached as high as $10 lately.

The consignment of Valencia layers, 7-lb. flat boxes, brought on a few weeks ago by Warren Bros. & Boomer as an experiment, has sold well, and the firm has been induced to bring on a shipment of selected raisins in flat boxes of the same weight.

The Eby, Blain Co. are offering French prunes in four sizes; also California apricots.

The Eby, Blain Co. have a lot of No. 1 fresh water herring in stock, which they are selling at $3 per keg.

By a reference to the advertisement of the Eby, Blain Co. it will be noticed that that firm is placing on the market this week crushed coffee mixture—Java and Jamaica and Java and Mocha. This mixture is claimed to be virtually as good as the whole article. A percentage of chicory is added sufficient to give it color and sweetness. This coffee has been introduced extensively in the United States and in Europe, and is claimed to have taken well. The Eby, Blain Co. are sale agents for Ontario, the Northwest Territories and British Columbia.

The E. B. Eddy Co., Ltd, Hull, P.Q., are issuing circulars to the trade soliciting samples of paper sacks and bags now used by the different members, in order that they may have an opportunity of tendering for future requirements. One paragraph in the circular reads: "To our establishment, already the largest of its kind and the most unique under the British flag, we have added a complete modern paper bag making plant, and are now fully equipped to supply all demands of the trade in plain or corrugated manilla, and blue and white Duplex sacks and bags."

MONTREAL MARKETS.

MONTREAL, November 22, 1894.

GROCERIES.

THE week has witnessed a moderate degree of activity in the wholesale grocery market, and as a general rule prices of all staple lines are steady, with the exception of granulated sugar, which has ruled rather easier, though the demand has been good. In syrups, light stocks conduce to firmness, and there has been no change in molasses. Rice shows a fair degree of life, and prices are steady, and the same is to note in the case of tea, while the demand for coffee and spices has been improved with the colder weather that has prevailed. Dried fruits continue steady, and in canned goods there has been no special feature to report since our last. Green fruit and fish continue much the same as when last reported.

SUGAR.

The demand for both granulated and yellow sugars has been fairly good, especially for the latter, and it would be difficult at present to fill an order for a round lot of it. Prices on it are steady, but on granulated are lower by 1-16 to ⅛c than they were at the date of last writing. It is considered questionable, however, that prices will remain at their present level, with primary advices as firm as they are. We quote: Granulated at 4⅛c., and yellows 3 3-16 to 3¾c., as to quality at the refinery.

SYRUPS.

Light stocks of Canadian syrups have maintained the strong feeling on that article, and business is of narrow compass owing to the difficulty experienced in having orders filled. Some lots of American have been brought in to offset the scarcity of domestic, and the former is selling at 21c. per gallon. We quote: Canadian, 2 to 2½c. for bright grades and 1½ to 1⅝c. for dark grades at the factory.

MOLASSES.

Some round lots of Barbadoes molasses have been placed at rather lower values, viz., 26½ to 27c., but for ordinary business in a regular way there is no change in price, and we quote car lots 29c. and single puncheons 30c.

RICE.

The rice market has shown more activity since our last, both on local and export account. We quote: Japan, standard, $4.25 to $4.40; crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B, $3.45; English style, $3.30; Patna, $4.25 to $5, and Carolina at $6.50 to $7.50.

SPICES.

A better demand has been experienced for spices since our last report, which may be attributed to the cold weather. Prices are unchanged. Penang black pepper, 6 to 7½c.; white pepper, 10 to 12½c.; cloves, 7½ to 9c.; cassia, 9 to 10c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.; Jamaica ginger, 15 to 22c.

COFFEES.

The coffee market has ruled moderately active, with prices steady, as last quoted. Business in Maracaibo has been done at 20c. and in Rio at 20½c. We quote: Maracaibo, 20 to 22c.; Rio, 20 to 21c.; Java, 23 to 29c., and Mocha, 25 to 29c.

TEA.

There has been a fair distributing trade in tea, but so far as large business from first to second hands was concerned there was little of it. The only business in this way was the transfer of one or two small sized lots of low grade Japans at 12 to 14c. We quote: Japans, low grades, 13 to 14c.; medium, 14 to 17c.; fine 18½ to 32c., and choice, 24 to 31c.

DRIED FRUIT.

Business in raisins has been of moderate dimensions since our last, for the very good reason that supplies of good prime Valencia stock are limited. Values therefore rule firm,

FLOUR AND FEED

FLOUR has advanced considerably during the past two weeks, and there seems every possibility of it holding its own. It has for the past two years been dropping in price, and three weeks ago it was selling at a lower price than it was ever known to have been sold before. There has, however, been a reaction in wheat values all round, and in consequence the millers have been forced to advance their prices accordingly, as they have for some time past been selling at a ruinously small margin. One of the arguments advanced in favor of the continuation of better price is the amount of wheat which is being, and will be, fed to cattle. It is estimated that it will take 75,000,000 bushels, and about 40,000,000 of this has already been exhausted. It is calculated that if this 40,000,000 bushels had been exported the market would have advanced 10c., and therefore in the face of this we may still look forward to a further advance. English markets remain firm.

Many of the local grocers, flour and feed merchants and bakers, are reported to have been booking orders from city mills.

The colder weather has somewhat stimulated the demand for family flour, and in consequence the grocers and flour and feed stores are reaping the benefit, while the bakers will doubtless find a falling off in trade.

There is a tendency to sell family flour in the grocery store at a price that does not allow the retailer a reasonable profit. Flour is one of the best paying lines that the grocer now handles, if it is handled as it should be. Do not drive into other hands a line that is profitable and belongs to you.

Some of the city mills are now putting up their family flour in stones and half-stones. This practice will, no doubt, find much favor with grocers who are pressed for time. One of the advantages is the comparatively large display that can be made in the show window at a comparatively small outlay.

THE MARKETS.

TORONTO.

FLOUR—The market continues firm, and millers have advanced their prices 10c. all round on last week's prices. We quote: Manitoba wheat, patents, $3.70 to $3.80; strong bakers', $3.45 to $3.55; Ontario, $3.45; straight roller, $3.05 to $3.10.

BRAN—The demand is fair, and prices remain unchanged at from $13 to $13.50 per ton.

SHORTS—Trade is fairly good, and city mills are offering at $15 per ton.

WHEAT—The market is firm, and prices, both in Ontario and Manitoba, have continued to advance during the week. Offerings on the Toronto market have been small, holders having been influenced by the advance in outside markets; 53c. per bushel was asked for red and white wheat, north and west. Manitoba is firmer, with sales of No. 1 hard at 69c. Montreal freights, and 66c. and 67c. Toronto freights.

HAY—While the demand has been good, there has been but little really good hay offering on the street this week. Prices are unchanged at from $8 to $10 per ton.

STRAW—Prices unchanged at from $8 to $9 for good straw. There is a better demand for the better kinds.

OATS—Prices are steady, but demand is dull. Prices range from 30½ to 32½c. per bushel.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Oatmeal and rolled wheat are likely to advance 10c. per barrel if the advanced price for oats and wheat are maintained. We quote: Standard and granulated oatmeal, $3.85; rolled wheat, $2.10 in 1,000 lb. barrels; cornmeal, $3.50; split peas and pot barley, $3.75 per barrel.

MONTREAL.

The tone of the flour market is firm and the recent advance in prices is well maintained. The demand is good, and an active business, while the general impression is that there will be a further rise in values in the near future if the wheat markets continue to rule strong as they are at present. We quote: Winter wheat, $3.35 to $3.50; spring wheat, patents, $3.35 to $3.50; Manitoba patents, best brands, $3.65 to $0.00; straight roller, $2.90 to $3.00; extra, $2.65 to $2.70; superfine, $2.50 to $2.60; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.50 to $0.00; Manitoba strong bakers', best brands, $3.50.

In feed business continues active, there being a brisk demand for bran and shorts, and millers state they are considerably oversold. Bran, $17; shorts, $18; Mouillie, $22.

There was no new feature of importance in the oatmeal market, business being quiet and of a jobbing character at about quotations. We quote: Standard, bbls., $3.90 to $3.95; granulated, bbls., $3.95 to $4; rolled oats, bbls., $4 to $4.05; pot barley, per bbl., $3.75; split peas, per bbl., $3.50 to $3.60.

though offers of cheap inferior goods are made at low prices. For jobbing trade we quote: Prime fruit, 4¾c. for ordinary brands; 5¼ to 5½c. for selected, and 5¾ to 6c. for layers. California raisins, 6 to 7½c. as to quality.

Currants continue dull and prices rule much the same. Filiatrias and provincials have changed hands at 3 to 3¼c. in barrels, and 3⅝ to 4c. in cases. Patras are held rather steadier, 4¼ to 4½c., while Vostizzas are firm at 6¼ to 6½c. for extra quality, which is about the only kind offering of the latter description.

The first lots of new Bosnia prunes have been received since our last report. They are selling at 5c., while Bordeaux remain steady at 4 to 5c. according to grade.

There is nothing new to report in the case of figs, which rule steady at 15 to 16c. for fancy fruit, with ordinary stock 5½c.

NUTS.

There are only a few light lots of nuts yet offering here, no large quantities being received. We quote: Shelled almonds 23c., ditto walnuts 23 to 25c., Sicily filberts 7 to 7½c., and pecans 7½ to 8c.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been no great change in the canned goods market since our last report. The feeling generally continues steady and values show no change. Some canned apples have been moving at $2.10 per dozen. We quote: Lobsters, per case, $6.50; sardines, $8.50 to $9.50; salmon, $1.35 to $1.40 per doz; tomatoes, 95c. per doz.; peaches, $2 to $2 10 per doz.; corn, 95c. to $1 per doz., and marrowfat peas, 85 to 90c. per doz.; strawberries, $2.75 per doz, and raspberries, $1.80 to $2.50; 1-gallon can apples, $2.10; Australian canned meats, 1-lb. can boiled mutton, $1.80 to $1.90; 2-lb. can do., $3.10 to $3.15; 1 lb. can roast mutton, $2.05 to $2.10; 2-lb. can do., $3.35 to $3.40; 1-lb. can corned mutton, $2.05 to $2.20; 2-lb. can do., $3.35 to $3.40.

FISH.

A fair trade has been passing in fish, while the tendency of values has been lower as a rule. Newfoundland herrings have sold at $3.75 for No. 1 and $3.50 for No. 2, and green cod have changed hands at $4 for No. 1 and $2.75 for No. 2, and $4.50 for No. 1 large. In a small way jobbers are realizing $5 50 for No. 1 large and $3.25 for No. 2. Stocks of salt herrings are large, and are being jobbed out at $5.25 to $5.50 for No. 1 Labrador. $5 to $5.25 for Cape Breton. Salmon rules firm in tone, B.C. selling at $11.50 to $12 and Labrador $12.50 to $13. New fresh mackerel have been received during the week, and are selling at 10 to 13c. each.

GREEN FRUIT.

ORANGES—The supply of oranges continues large and prices easy at $1.50 to $2 for Floridas, per box, and $4 to $4 50 per barrel for Jamaicas.

LEMONS—The lemon market rules much the same and they meet a fairly ready sale at $3 to $4 50 per box.

CRANBERRIES—The active demand for these has continued, Cape Cod having a free movement at $9 50 to $10 per barrel, and Canadian $8 50 to $9 50 per barrel.

GRAPES—There is a good brisk demand for Almeria grapes at $5 to $6 per keg.

SPANISH ONIONS—Spanish onions meet a ready sale at $2.25 per case and 75c. per crate.

APPLES—The apple market on spot rules steady and it requires to be to keep exporters from losing heart altogether. Liverpool cables on Monday said that receipts of Canadian apples were 22,000 barrels, which had been offered in a very wet and damaged condition, selling at an average price of 9s. 3d. Boston fruit are usually 2s. below Canadian, but this week they have averaged 11s. 6d., or 2s. above, the position being exactly reversed. Spot prices on good sound apples still range from $2 to $3 per barrel.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The egg market is without change at 13 to 14c. for limed, and 15 to 17c. for fresh boiling stock.

POULTRY—Offerings of poultry are fair and meet a good demand. Turkeys, 8 to 9c.; geese, 6c; ducks, 8 to 9c., and chickens 6 to 7c.

GAME—A few small lots of partridges are offering and meet a fair sale at 45c. per brace for No. 1, and 25c. for No. 2. Demand for venison is slow at 9 to 10c. per lb.

DRESSED HOGS—Business in these rules rather quiet. Sales have been made recently at $5 25 to $5.75 per 100 lbs.

HONEY—There is little demand for honey and a few lots of extracted have been selling at 4½ to 5½c. per lb. New sells at 7 to 8c. per lb. in tins, and comb honey 10 to 13½c., according to grade.

BEANS—Rule quiet under a slow demand at $1.30 to $1.45 per bushel for handpicked, and $1.10 to $1.20 for lower grades.

HOPS—A few small parcels of hops change hands in an occasional way at 8c., and we quote 6 to 8c. as a range according to quality.

ONIONS—Canadian onions are in good demand at $1.50 to $1.70 per bbl.

PROVISIONS.

The demand for provisions continues slow, and the market rules quiet, with only a moderate amount of business doing at about steady prices. We quote: Canadian short cut, heavy, $17 to $18; Canadian short cut, light, $14.50 to $15.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 9 to 11½c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 9¼ to 10½c.; bacon, per lb., 9 to 11½c.; lard, com. refined, per lb., 7 to 8c.

BUTTER.

There is a small jobbing demand for late made creamery and any fresh parcels of Townships dairy or fine western rolls that arrive, and that is all. Otherwise the market is absolutely lifeless. We quote: Finest fall-made creamery, 20½ to 21c.; earlier makes, 18 to 19c.; finest Townships, 18 to 19c.; finest Western dairy, 15 to 17c.

CHEESE.

The cheese market remains steady, but fails to show an increase in activity of an appreciable kind. It is worthy of note, though, that fractionally better bids have been made in the country in several instances, which may be significant of something. Certainly if the little spirt that usually precedes the close of navigation is to come it will have to make its appearance soon. On spot business is largely confined to Eastern makes, and on Western values are more or less nominal, but it is doubtful if an order could be filled at less than 10⅜c. for anything that grades up pretty well. The public cable has advanced 6d. to 51s., but it will have to advance further yet before it will be on a parity with figures on this side. Finest Ontario fall-made, 10⅜ to 10½c.; finest Townships, 10 to 10⅛c.; finest Eastern, 9⅝ to 9⅞c.; under grades, 9 to 9¼c.; cable, 51s.

ASHES.

The market for ashes was quiet and without any change to note. We quote: Firsts, $4.30; seconds, $3 80, and pearls $7 per 100 lbs.

MONTREAL TRADE NOTES.

Offerings of B. C. canned salmon are made at $1.10 per dozen, but good red fish are held firm at $1.40.

The first receipts of lake trout this fall came to hand last Thursday. They were turned over at $4.25 to $4 50 per keg.

The decline in granulated sugar at the refineries that is noted this week will, it is expected, only be very temporary.

Both refineries were completely cleaned out of their stocks of Canadian syrup at one time last week.

The combine price on Barbadoes molasses has been retained in Montreal, but round lots have changed hands at 26½c. ex store.

The enquiry for Chas. Southwell & Co.'s high class jams, jellies and marmalades has been so brisk during the last fortnight that the agents, Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, have had to order out a further assortment by steamer to Halifax. These goods should arrive in time for the Christmas trade.

Fine brands of Valencia raisins are not plentiful in Montreal, but Messrs Laporte, Martin & Co. offer several leading brands to their patrons.

The first lot of Bosnia prunes offered this fall were brought in by Messrs. Rose & Laflamme. They were received last Tuesday, which is fully one week earlier than the arrival of the first shipment in previous seasons.

Frank Magor & Co., 16 St. John street, Montreal, are offering special lines of spices, Prepared mince meat and plum pudding are good commodities for the grocer to handle at this season. Atmore's is a good line to get, this firm's plum pudding and mince meat being made from the best materials. Rose & Laflamme, of Montreal, are agents for the Dominion of Canada.

Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, are now receiving ex s.s. Labrador at Portland the usual fall supply of Cadbury's fancy chocolate for the Christmas trade, a portion of the consignment being for their own stock, with which to supply any grocers who run short during the holiday season.

Eagle brand teas always give satisfaction. This well-known brand is a trade winner.

Davidson & Hay report the arrival of a shipment of fine Cassalina Patras currants in half-cases.

Ireland's buckwheat flour in 2½ lb. packets is having good sale with Lucas, Steele & Bristol.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. have secured a special line of French prunes, which they are offering at a low figure.

W. H. Gillard & Co., of Hamllton, are in receipt of all their Malaga fruit, and report the quality fine in all lines.

Seven cars of grain and one of potatoes were shipped from Amaranth station by Wm. Hannah & Co. this week.

Shipments of Ceylon teas, California loose muscatels and J. T. Morton's fish are to hand this week with Davidson & Hay.

The Eby, Blain Co. have just received in stock some extra choice Ceylon teas. They are handsome in leaf, fine in cup, with rich colors.

"New dates for shipment this week," report H. P. Eckardt & Co. "Only a limited quantity; send in your orders early for same."

Nap'es walnuts, Tarragona almonds, Sicily filberts and shelled Jordan and Valencia almonds are now offering by Lucas, Steele & Bristol.

James A. Skinner & Co. report a big increase in the demand for white French china for painting. Their stock was never more complete than at present.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol think people prefer good herbs to poor ones, and therefore are recommending savory, thyme, mint, sweet marjoram and poultry dressing they offer in 10 lb. tins. Their L. P. & Co., mixed spice in 5 lb. tins is a holiday seller.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol still have to offer a few cases of "Ontario" tomato catsup in glass and tins at old figures. It is made from ripe tomatoes and pure spices.

You cannot beat Hillsburg for potatoes. Wm. Hannah & Co. are located there and report trade brisk in car lots, though jobbing trade is somewhat dull.

On Saturday last one of Hendrie's teams took from the warehouse of W. H. Gillard & Co, of Hamilton, a load of groceries weighing 19,000 pounds. Not a bad load for one team.

M. Masuret & Co. report a continued growing demand for their Eagle brand of teas. These teas are put up in any size packages. The 6 lb. cannister is particularly attractive.

W. H. Gillard & Co. report that they are meeting with marked success in the sale of the "400" Select Congou. This is one of the special lines and the last put upon the market.

A large shipment of Demerara sugar arrived this week for Davidson & Hay. This sugar is 96½ degrees test, of good grain and color, and is being offered at an exceptionally low figure.

Rutherford & Harrison are issuing their third annual circular this week. Besides dealing with the firm's facilities for handling dairy and farm produce, the circular conveys information interesting to the trade.

"Our stock of Christmas fruits is now complete," write M. Masuret & Co. "We have new peels, figs, raisins, California peaches, nectarines and apricots, 4-crown muscatels, currants, prunes, etc."

"Having secured control of the 'Tip-Top' catsup," say H. P. Eckardt & Co., "we are prepared to offer to the trade a first-class article, equal to the higher grade goods, in pints, to sell at 25c. Try a case and be convinced."

W. H. Gillard & Co., of Hamilton, met with such success in the sale of their Panareta currants last season that this year they have to offer a large quantity of this choice fruit. They are the highest grade of currants grown in Greece.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol think teas will be higher and that buyers will find it out before long. We shall be pleased to send prices and samples to dealers at any time."

The American Packer is the name of a new venture in trade journalism. It is published in Baltimore, Md., and will be issued weekly. It is made up in modern trade paper style, is nicely printed, and the first number, which bears date of November 13th, is a credit to the publishers. The aim of The Packer, as set forth in its leading editorial, "is to extend to the packing interests of this broad country the really valuable aid which can be rendered by an honest, careful and judiciously conducted trade journal."

NEW BRUNSWICK LUMBER TRADE.

It is estimated that 28,000,000 feet of lumber will be cut on the Tobique (N.B.) river this year, against 20,000,000 last year. Much of the extra quantity will supply mills belonging to the American colony, formerly procuring it from the Aroostook Valley. The Chatham World says: "Private advices announce the failure of James Hallsall & Son, of Canada dock, Liverpool, one of the oldest firms of timber merchants in that port. Their creditors include nearly the whole of the trade in Liverpool, and the amounts range from $10,000 to $20,000 each. The correspondent adds: 'This catastrophe, following the failure of James Smith & Co., both of which are expected to show up very badly, naturally tends to further paralyze trade and shake confidence all around.'"

WE ARE ALWAYS RIGHT.

THE GROCER still adheres to its former announcement that the MacFarlane Shade Co., manufacturers of window shades, awnings, etc, would cease to exist after Dec. 1, 1894, notwithstanding the denials published in other papers in different parts of Canada. The stock-in-trade of the company will be taken over by their old competitors, George H. Hees & Co. and Menzie, Turner & Co., and the building will be leased by the latter concern for a term of years, during which the MacFarlane Co. agree not to go into business in Canada. Mr. MacFarlane himself will go to Detroit to manage a factory to be established there by himself and Hees & Co. The Canadian field will thus be divided between Menzie, Turner & Co. and G. H. Hees & Co.

FALL IN WHITE COTTONS.

When, a few days ago, the Dominion Cotton Co. declared a dividend of six per cent., the price on the stock market dropped very suddenly. Last year the dividend was eight per cent., and the year before ten per cent. The reduction in the duties and the stagnation in U.S. prices have done the work.

But the decline of the company's stock was not the only drop. The price of white or bleached cotton has dropped about one-quarter to one-half cent per yard. Grey cottons were reduced last March, so that they are now on a par. Raw cotton is declining in the States, and so is the manufactured article; hence Canadian prices were forced down.

KOOTENAY GOLD OUTPUT.

Up to this year, says The Nelson Tribune, British Columbia has owed its reputation as a mining country to the gold output of Cariboo district; but this year will prove that Kootenay is not only British Columbia's greatest silver and lead producing district, but that it has wrested from Cariboo the palm of being the great gold-producing district of the province. The gold output of Cariboo comes from gravel mines; none, so far, coming from quartz mines. The output of Kootenay is mainly from quartz mines, and as quartz mining in Kootenay is not fairly commenced, the present output is likely to be greatly exceeded in the near future. Gravel mining gives employment to but a few men, and at best is not a lasting industry. Quartz mining necessarily gives employment to a large number of men, and the industry is a lasting one. The gold output of Kootenay will this year approximate a total of $200,000, as follows:

Mining Division.	Gravel.	Quartz.
Trail Creek	.....	150,000
Nelson	8,000	20,000
Trout Lake	2,000	.....
Revelstroke	10,000	.....
Fort Steel	10,000	.....
Total	30,000	170,000

THE INTERIOR FRICTION OF OILS.

Petroff, who has occupied himself very extensively with the examination of lubricants, has investigated the interior friction of oils by means of an apparatus invented by himself, and has given his results in tabular form and graphically by a series of curves. According to his results, says an exchange, the degree of transparency of lubricants, the refinding process, viscosity, flash-point, and fire-point give no basis for estimating the degree of interior friction, though all are of importance. If two oils which at the same temperature possess different interior frictions be mixed, the mixed product will yield a characteristic curve corresponding to that of an oil the qualities of which lie between those of the two components. Consequently, the excessive friction of any thick lubricant may be reduced by mixing with it small proportions of solar oil, pyronaphtha or kerosene, or any oil possessing low interior friction. But this addition can be useful only when the added product does not separate to any great extent. The addition of such light oils can, of course, be easily detected through the flash-point and fire-point. The addition of various resinous materials increases friction in the machinery and in the lubricant itself, while these products have also an injurious chemical effect upon the metallic surfaces subjected to friction. It was also frequently observed that samples of the same oil that were received in the factory at different times did not yield the same characteristic curve, though filling all requirements. This fact is naturally important to consumers on economic grounds.

TOBE'S CORNER.

WE had just taken tea together, an old retail grocery merchant and I, after which we had settled down in a cosy, comfortable room for a talk. And as a sailor loves to talk of his ship, so our talk turned on our business. I had known him for many years as a trusty friend, and now, as he had far passed the meridian of life and had been for a long time in the trade which I expect to follow, I was anxious to hear his experience and have his ideas of trade in general. Said he:

"The average retail grocer's life is a hard one, as he serves his customers, now buying goods, then snatching a few minutes to write his letters, working hard early and late to keep his business under control, contending with difficulties on every hand. If there is a church to be built within ten miles, one of the first men they get after for a subscription is the local merchant. I frequently have had as many as half a dozen in a day for all manner of objects, such as Y. M. C. A. band, home for the aged, some lodge or other, house of providence, missions all over the world, tickets for this, that and the other, using the fact that they patronize me as a lever to extort from me for their various causes. I have actually had them come and say that they themselves had put my name down for a certain amount. I believe in charity as much as any man, but a man's first duty is to himself; and I also think that the most liberal men in this country are the retail merchants. In a town or rural district the man who has brought up a family comfortably, given them a good education and start in life, and paid 100 cents on the dollar—if he has done that, and only that—has done well. Ah! my boy, my mind reverts to twenty-five years ago or more, when I used to do business with Charlie Moore, William Ramsey, Geo. Michie, Jno. Morrison and others; when I used to pay 10c. a lb. for granulated sugar in those old days of long ago; when credits were longer, goods generally higher, and competition was less keen than now; when William Christie and Jno. I. Davidson used to call around, have a chat, and sell me goods. There was another old friend, now passed away, who used to call, look over my stock and put down what I required. That was Jno. F. Lyon, manufacturer of extracts and soaps—a gentleman of the old school, He was always so pleasant and chatty."

"Did he never overload you?" I asked.

"No, sir," he replied, "I had every confidence in him. Now I feel as though I should retire. Old friends drop off one by one, and after long years of business acquaintance it gives me quite a turn, as I have just read of another who has passed away. I do not think I shall ever feel otherwise. The old houses will always have a charm for me now. My own customers have changed. Very few of the old remain. But there is one thing that gives me comfort—that is, I have paid all my accounts in full, and what I have of this world's goods I have honestly come by. I sometimes think, as I look back over my past business life, if I had devoted the same amount of energy to other walks in life, would it not have produced better results financially. But what is the use of so thinking? It is past now, never to return. There are changes which I think must come. We must adopt the cash system. Almost every day we are having the price-lists of large stores in Toronto and elsewhere presented to us by our customers, and we cannot compete with them and sell for credit. And to me it is a question if we can and sell for cash, their buying power is so much greater than ours. Then, too, their running expenses are not any more in proportion, possibly less, than some small stores. I should not be surprised if in the larger towns of Ontario we have limited companies, with large capital, controlling the major part of the business. This will of necessity do away with a large number of retailers. Centralization and monopolies are the order of the times. It will be necessary for you young men to be awake to the changes which are coming—not wedded to old ideas, but up and alert at all times—and make the best use of the opportunities of life as they present themselves to you. My wish is that the coming retailers, no matter what the changes may be, will be men who will worthily fill their position with credit to themselves and their calling."

It was time for me to be getting home, so I departed from my friend, feeling that such men are ornaments to the trade.

NEEDS TO BE BROUGHT TO TIME.

THERE is an employe of the Canada Express Company concerning some of whose alleged practices his employers should promptly investigate.

The Canada Express Company secures a large part of its business, and, of course, its profits, from the merchants of the country. Therefore for it to engage, or to allow any of its employes to engage, in pursuits which compete with those upon whom they depend so largely would be unwise, not to say unfair.

Yet, if what is averred to THE GROCER be true, there is at least one of the company's servants who is systematically using his position as express messenger to line his own pockets at the expense of legitimate merchants.

This particular messenger runs between Goderich and Buffalo, on the Buffalo and Lake Huron railway, and the particular character of the complaint against him is that he regularly makes it a practice of buying goods in Buffalo, and in Brantford as well, it is said, and selling them to customers at points along the route who will bestow upon him their patronage. The chief outlet for his purchases is Goderich. Before leaving on his trips he makes a canvass of his customers, filling their orders on his return or subsequent trips.

The company is not charged with being a party to what this man is doing. It undoubtedly knows nothing about it. But now that the matter has been brought to its attention it should move in the premises at once. If the messenger is not paid a salary sufficient for him to live without earning a little on the "side"—and there is no evidence that he is not—he should be given what will. And if his salary is reasonable the company should demand that he either stop acting the part of a merchant or free him from its service, and allow him to devote the whole of his time to buying and selling goods. His present dual position he should not be allowed to occupy another day longer than is necessary.

Ice Case

Beg to draw the attention of the trade to the following lines of Fancy Ice Cases, Pie and Cake Collars, and Individual Crimped Cases, manufactured by

Mansell, Hunt, Catty & Co. Limited

LONDON, ENGLAND.

We are sole agents in Canada for these goods. Samples and prices on application. These Ice Cases are really handsome and are very suitable for dinner parties and receptions of all kinds. They can be used a number of times by replacing the inside cup. Made in large variety of styles ranging in price from $1.10 to $3.00 per doz.

THE PIE AND CAKE COLLARS as shown in cuts are the latest and most unique table dressing novelties in the market. Assorted colors, plain or striped. No live grocer should be without them. Send for sample gross.

The Collar Expanded

Our latest specialty for the tea trade is a 1-lb. Folding Caddy, on which we have just been granted a patent by the Dominion Government. It is in appearance an exact representation of a regular China tea chest with matting, and as a tea package beats everything on the market for three reasons :

1st. Because it is much cheaper than a hand-made box.

2nd. Because being a knock-down box it takes up little or no room, and

3rd. Because being a machine-made box there is no paste or glue to taint the tea, which has been one of the greatest objections to the old style tea caddies.

WE GIVE FAIR WARNING.

IN every issue of this paper notices of goods appear which have been received or are expected by jobbers and manufacturers' agents. Nearly all of these are gathered by our own reporters. A few are sent in. They are not published as an advertisement, but as news. They are not paid for. It is, and always has been, the policy of this paper not to allow a line of paid reading matter to appear unless specially marked "advertisement." These notices are inserted because they interest some section of our readers.

On several occasions this privilege has been abused by wholesale merchants and manufacturers, who gave information that was not altogether correct They have reported the arrival of a large shipment of something when it was a comparatively small one ; that goods which had just come in were extra quality, or very low in price, when they were only average quality and price ; that they had the cheapest goods ever offered ; that the orders were so numerous it was difficult to fill them ; that they were working every night to keep up with them, etc., etc., when the reverse was probably the case.

Such statements as these are often used in an advertisement, but even there it is poor policy. In a reading notice they are misleading, and we do not propose being responsible for them.

We have to ask that firms giving such information in future be careful not to exaggerate or mislead. If any do, we will not hesitate to expose them.

As stated, not a line of paid reading matter is ever allowed into these columns, and will not be at any price. Readers will therefore bear this in mind, and assist us by drawing attention to any misstatements. This, however, we trust, will not be necessary.

BUYERS ARE NOT CLAIRVOYANTS.

IN the issue of this journal of the 16th inst. appeared an editorial on the situation in dried and evaporated apples, incidentally in which reference was made to the difficulty one exporter was experiencing in getting a sufficient quantity of first-class evaporated fruit to fill a certain order.

A few days ago THE GROCER received a post-card which read as follows :

> We can furnish first-class evaporated apples made out of winter fruit. We evaporate nothing else. Tell the exporter he should buy from reliable houses, like
> AYLMER CANNING CO.

THE GROCER is not a clairvoyant, or, as a Cornishman would say, "ghost, witch or devil." Nor do we suppose the exporter is who wanted the first-class fruit. Of course, he may be ; and until our Chief Interviewer has sounded him it would not perhaps be wise to be positive. We only suppose he is not a clairvoyant.

The concurrent circumstances tend, in fact, to show that the exporter in question had no power to see into the future, or, at least, had not the faculty of seeing "over the country and far away" into the factory and storehouse of the Aylmer people. Few, if any, people have.

The Aylmer Canning Co., no doubt, have the fruit right enough. But how, in the name of common sense, is any mortal to get that which he desires, but of whose existence he knows not of, unless he has someone or something to direct him.

THE GROCER never knew that the Aylmer people were evaporators. We knew they were canners with a reputation for putting up a first-class article. But that is all.

If they had first-class winter fruit they should have told the world so. They should have advertised. Surely they were not waiting for those who desired first-class fruit to get up an exploring expedition and discover them.

If we all possessed that prescience which the Aylmer people, by implication, seem to think humanity is endowed with, how rich the most of us soon would be !

No matter how good a thing may be, it must be advertised if the trade and public are to become acquainted with it. Of little good would have been all the many wonderful things the genius of Edison has created if he had kept them locked up in his cellar ; and blessed little chance is there of a man making a good article sell if he keeps it away in his storeroom and tells no one about it through the medium of a good advertisement.

CHEAPER MONEY.

First-class investments for money are hard to get these days, and to get them those who have money to lend are accepting less interest. Good real estate loans are being made at 5 per cent., and loans on business paper at 5 to 6 per cent. are quite frequent. Many loan companies and banks which have been paying 4 per cent. on deposits have given notice that after January 1, 1895, they will pay only 3½ to 4 per cent. Bank managers have been endeavoring to come to an agreement to reduce the interest on deposits to 3 per cent.

THE SITUATION IN TEAS.

INTERESTING is the study that the tea market of this season affords. And while the war between China and Japan is one of the reasons for the present peculiar conditions, it is not the only one. In fact, there are at the moment at least three influences at work.

The most powerful of these influences appears to be the condition of the Indian tea market.

As every grocer is aware, the consumption of Indian tea has increased at a phenomenal rate during the last decade, until to-day its place on the London market is away above the China-grown article, which for generations occupied the premier position.

Now, owing to unfavorable weather in nearly all the producing districts in India, the pluckings have generally fallen below the estimates, and it seems unlikely that the increase of the crop to be dealt with in England, as compared with the previous season, will exceed three million pounds. On the other hand, the sales at public auction have been phenomenally large this season, with the result that already the equivalent to this increase has been offered at public sales. And furthermore, while the consumption of Indian tea is increasing, both within and without the British Empire, the quantity brought to auction for the whole of the season is not expected to exceed, if it equals, that of last year. This is one of the principal reasons for the strength of the market for Indian teas.

Another appreciating influence on the price of Indian tea is the diminished exports of tea from China to the United Kingdom during the present season, the quantity up to the beginning of last month only being 28,000,000 pounds, against 41,000,000 pounds for the same period last year; and it is to be especially noted that the falling off is particularly in the common descriptions of teas, which have been so constantly before the trade in former years. In fact, they have really disappeared, thus necessitating blenders turning their attention to Indian and other teas for substitutes. Then, of course, the fact of there being comparatively so few China teas on the market, would naturally conduce to the firmness of other growths, and especially those most akin to them.

With regard to Ceylon tea: The condition of the market for China teas has, of course, exercised an influence upon it similar to that which it has on the Indian-grown article. But strength has also been inherent in itself, the moderate manner in which supplies have been arriving on the London market having given an impetus to values, and this, in spite of the fact that disappointment had been felt at the inferior character and out-turn of the teas shipped from Ceylon this season. But the fact that the poorer quality of Ceylon tea came upon the market in a season when there were fewer of similar qualities of Indian and China growths to be had prevented the depreciation of prices that would in other seasons have been the result. It is of note, too, that these teas, instead of being a drag on the market, have all been taken care of, thus relieving the market of the danger of any deleterious influence developing.

The advance in Japan teas has been to some extent contributed to by the firm condition of the tea market generally, but the principal cause of the appreciation must be attributed to the war.

Tea must at the moment be conceded to be about the strongest staple in the grocery trade.

THE STRICKLAND FAILURE.

THE failure, in which J. H. Strickland, the Cannington general merchant, (some of the circumstances of whose failure were aired in last week's issue) is the principal, has reached a stage foreign to most bankruptcy cases.

J. H. Strickland, his brother Herbert, and a man named Kerr, understood to be his brother-in law, have been arrested on a charge of defrauding the creditors of the estate.

If all that was charged against J. H. Strickland in last week's GROCER were true, there was, it seems to us, sufficient ground for the interference of the law. But how much more is there in the face of later discoveries, claimed to have been made since then by the creditors! And unless Strickland can explain them away, the outlook is dark, indeed, for him.

It is alleged that for some time Strickland has been systematically planning to defraud his creditors.

Demonstrated is it beyond doubt that he has been purchasing goods which, instead of going into his store at Cannington, have been spirited away to the stores at Argyle and Balsover, claimed to be owned by his brothers, but which, under pressure from the creditors, were handed over to the estate since the original assignment. For instance, THE GROCER learns, on the authority of one of the creditors, that six weeks before the assignment Strickland purchased a $500 bill of boots and shoes, but the inspectors could find no trace of them in the store at Cannington. They were, it was subsequently learned, carted to one of the branch stores owned (?) by his brothers. The same fate befell, among other things, one hundred barrels of salt. Some other things, among which were coal oil and vinegar, were sold, it is said, to fellow merchants in the town.

Not satisfied with distributing goods among the two branch stores and selling odd lots to other retailers, Strickland hid goods away in places which he thought would escape the eyes of his creditors. Some of it may have, but a detective that was sent up from Toronto to investigate found between four and five hundred dollars' worth of goods stored away in a relative's house. This the creditors have now in their possession.

It is asserted by the creditors that within the last six months Strickland has purchased at least $10,000 worth of goods, while during that time the amount he has paid out in liquidating claims has not exceeded $600, while it is further claimed that during the 30 days alone preceding the assignment he distributed several thousand dollars' worth of goods among the two stores that he had purchased ostensibly for the business in Cannington.

At the Cannington station are two grain warehouses. These are alleged to be owned by brothers of Strickland, but the creditors have their doubts, and are taking steps to discover whether the insolvent ever did transfer them as claimed. They have in remembrance the fact that he claimed the Argyle and Balsover stores were the property of his brothers, and furthermore that he could not produce the evidence of this transfer of these premises. These warehouses are of recent construction, the account for the lumber supplied now being among the claims sent in against the estate. These warehouses are valued at about $2,000.

The outlook for the creditors is beginning to brighten. When the insolvent first met his creditors there was nothing in sight for them, the little stock there was in the Cannington store being covered by a chattel mortgage given to the insolvent's father a few days before the assignment took place. Now they have got the two stocks at Balsover and Argyle, valued at $3,500; the Cannington stock, valued at $2,214 and unencumbered, for the chattel mortgage has been withdrawn; and the $400 worth of goods stored away at a relative's house. Here are over $6,000 worth of assets where there were none before. Then, if the creditors succeed in their designs upon the warehouses in question, there will be a couple of thousand dollars more to be devoted to liquidating their claims.

After the stocks of the three stores had been assigned, the insolvent made an offer to purchase them at 50c. on the dollar, intimating that unless this was accepted sundry claims would be made against the estate, thereby decreasing the percentage the creditors would be likely to get on their claims. This threat it was that finally induced the creditors to send a detective to Cannington, and to subsequently secure the arrest of the persons already cited.

EDWIN GUILLET, OF COBOURG.

IN a staid old conservative town like Cobourg, it can easily be imagined how difficult it is to get out of the rut and conduct a staple grocery business on progressive lines. As a general rule, business in rural towns is slow, and there is little encouragement for a real live man to put forth his best energies and become a genuine hustler. The subject of the accompanying sketch, however, is a firm believer in the old precept of the "survival of the fittest," and, actuated by that impulse, he has succeeded in keeping the old established firm of Guillet Bros. in the van in the grocery trade of the Midland district. Though the firm does business as Guillet Bros., Mr. Edwin Guillet has for some time had the entire management in his hands, and to his perseverance and business industry is due the present high standing of the firm. Mr. George Guillet, the popular representative of West Northumberland in the House of Commons, is the senior member of the firm, but his public duties preclude his attention to business details.

The business conducted by Guillet Bros. has passed the half century mark as a prosperous institution, having received its inception in 1843, and continuing ever since under different regimes. At that time Mr. John Guillet organized the business, and conducted it until 1866, when his son, Mr. George Guillet, took charge. In 1874 Mr. J. W. Bickle was taken in as a partner, the firm being known as Guillet & Bickle. In 1885 Mr. Bickle retired to accept a Government appointment, and Mr. Edwin Guillet entered the firm, which has ever since been known as Guillet Bros. Mr. Guillet is 31 years of age, and has been connected with the institution as a clerk, and subsequently as a partner, for 17 years.

A few years ago Mr. Guillet came to the conclusion that the credit system must go, and inaugurated a sweeping reform in this respect. To this reform is largely due the large and profitable increase in the business. The firm is thus enabled to buy in the best markets and to the best advantage, and the purchasers get the benefit. Prices for spot cash have consequently taken a tumble, and the result is that it now takes two delivery wagons to deliver the orders where one performed the service before. The firm has also gone largely into fruit, and, by practising the same cash methods, are carrying off a large share of the business in this line. In order to carry on their business to advantage their shop premises have recently been enlarged, until now the store sports a plate-glass front 35 feet wide, and the building runs 100 feet deep. Several arc electric lights brighten up the interior, and serve to show the tables, laden with fancy china, etc., off to the best advantage to attract Christmas trade. Mr. Guillet is a firm believer in advertising, and judiciously employs a liberal space in the local press. With this helpful agency, backed up by good goods bought for cash and sold for cash, it is no wonder that Mr. Guillet's efforts to stimulate trade have been more than effective.

EDWIN GUILLET.

LOSSES ON APPLES.

EARLY in September THE GROCER had occasion to remark that the fall scramble for apples would, if some buyers in the west were not careful, result in heavy losses.

During the past few weeks Liverpool returns to Montreal exporters of account sales at the great British port have fully borne out this belief.

Just as the more shrewd and conservative exporters expected, the dumping of overwhelming receipts of poor washy stock has regularly swamped the Liverpool market, and each successive Monday has witnessed the receipt of cables quoting declines on Canadian apples. For instance, two weeks ago Monday returns on the Mariposa lot averaged 10s., or $1.75 per barrel, Montreal, despite the fact that the offerings on the previous Friday, 40,000 barrels, had been the largest on record in the Liverpool market. At this price many exporters in Canada stood to lose 50c. per barrel.

Since then, as our market reports show, matters have gone from bad to worse, for on Monday, the 19th, Liverpool cables quoted another decline in the average price of Canadian apples to 9s. 3d., which, of course, means a still heavier loss in the case of fruit which cost fancy prices at the orchards in Ontario.

A forcible demonstration of the unmarketable condition of the Canadian stock was had also in the fact that fruit from Boston realized two shillings more than the former.

If it goes on much longer in this way, the reputation that our rosy Canadian apples have won on the English market will soon be a thing of the past. In fact, the suicidal policy of loading up at speculatively high prices early in the fall, is getting a bad black eye this fall, owing to the poor average quality of our apple crop. And the prospects do not appear to encourage the hope of any improvement on the English market, so that operators who yet have stock to sell must be feeling pretty blue just about now.

It is estimated in this connection that there is still quite a large quantity to go forward from the West. It is controlled by people both in Montreal and Toronto, and they are hoping that the demand from the Western States, to which THE GROCER referred in its Montreal market report three weeks ago, will turn out to be something substantial, and enable them to offset some of their Liverpool losses.

Some of the more sober traders are hoping that the severe lesson which the wider speculative operators have received this fall will bear good fruit next season.

This hope is all very well, but the chances are that once the fun commences, next fall the same old game will be played out to the last dollar, as in every previous season since the export apple trade has assumed large proportions.

THE MOVEMENT A FAILURE.

The early closing movement has not been working satisfactorily in Winnipeg. Some time ago, it will be remembered, the Provincial Act providing for the early closing of stores was brought into force in Winnipeg. The law, however, has not been closely observed, and no effort has been made to enforce it. At the last meeting of the City Council, a deputation of retailers were present, who urged the council to enforce the law. It was stated that while many of the merchants closed upat the appointed hour, others kept open later. There appears to be some doubt as to the legality of the by-law, as well as to the mode of procedure in prosecuting cases of violation of the law. The matter was dropped by the adoption of a motion requesting the police commissioners to take such action as they may think fit to enforce he by-law.—Commercial

FRAUDULENT CHEESE BRANDING.

THE Montreal Butter and Cheese Association took up last week the accusation of the London Produce Exchange that Canadian and American cheese exporters have been selling London buyers June cheese and branding them as Septembers.

The London Grocer, in referring to the matter, intimates that the substitution of the brands was done at Toronto and in the west.

THE GROCER does not want any one to infer that it defends such a reprehensible practice as the one complained of. It would say, however, that every season these complaints and difficulties arise in the export cheese trade, and that the experience of Montreal cheese exporters, at least, is that British buyers and traders generally are not the innocent victims that they represent themselves to be.

How many cheese exporters are there in Montreal who will not say that, in trying to do business, they have been met with the reply, "Oh, your neighbors are offering for one shilling and sixpence less."

Now how can a neighbor offer bona fide goods at such a difference. The fact of the matter is that he cannot, and there are strong reasons for believing that the English buyer knows this as well as anyone else.

To be plain, they know very well that they cannot get September goods at June prices.

With regard to the fraudulent branding of Canadian cheese, the Montreal Association is determined to ferret out the guilty parties if they are on this side the water, which they are inclined to doubt.

They have received a cable from the London Association stating that a letter detailing all the circumstances is on the way. When it arrives it will be dealt with vigilantly.

One significant fact may be mentioned as having some bearing on the case in question, and that is that the first half of September make this year was soft and puttyish, and that there are cases now on where Montreal exporters are getting affidavits from the factory men to prove beyond a doubt that the goods are Septembers.

OIL TRADE IN PETROLIA.

Editor Herring, of the Petrolia Advertiser, was in Toronto last week. The Advertiser draws the greater part of its sustenance from oil, and the weal and the woe of this industry much concerns its estimable publisher. Just now oil is looking up; so is Mr. Herring. And his hopes for the industry were as high as the pinkness of the rose he wore in his buttonhole was beautiful.

"How is the oil trade in Petrolia?" queried THE GROCER.

"Good, sir; good," replied Mr. Herring, his face beaming with pleasure. "And why shouldn't it be, sir, with crude jumping in a short time from 92c. to $1.14. How's the production? The price, sir, is always a gauge of the production: As the price goes up the production increases. Our producers are now busy, and everybody is feeling in good spirits. Petrolia is awake."

BUSINESS WEST OF PORT ARTHUR

JOHN CAMERON, general subscription agent of THE CANADIAN GROCER, has just completed a successful trip from Port Arthur to the Pacific. He has been there since June, and has visited every place in that magnificent district, going over the ground more thoroughly than ever before. The result is that we have now nearly double the number of readers we had before. In several instances he had to drive nearly a hundred miles to see business men. He says the paper is doing more than any other factor in drawing the people of the different parts of Canada closer together, for it is read from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Through its columns the leading business men in the most remote districts are becoming acquainted and are taking an increased interest in each other's welfare.

Speaking of trade, Mr. Cameron says business is on a satisfactory basis. Merchants are giving less credit and are paying their accounts more promptly. They are, he says, if anything, generally more enterprising than eastern business men.

POOR CREDITORS!

THE curator of the insolvent estate of Edward Elliott, grocer, Montreal, F. J. Hart, of Hart & Tuckwell, has just declared a first and final dividend of 4¾ cents on the dollar.

The facts connected with this failure were pretty fully dealt with at the time by THE GROCER, and, though the dividend practically amounts to nothing, as on an indebtedness of $43,000 odd the creditors lose almost everything, they did not expect much better.

The total indebtedness was $43,028.74 and the estate yields to the creditors $2,043.87.

It cost $1,157.07 to wind up the estate, making the assets total $3 697.17. The privileged claims were, rent $400, and wages due to clerks.

The principal sufferers, with their claims, are: F. Nash, $4,687.14; estate of Wm. Dow, $3,276.50; D. A. McCaskill, $2,986.01; Molsons Bank, $2,971.51; Mrs. Mary Cassidy, $2,000; John B. Wood, $2,000; Howard Bottling Co., $1,186.40; Carter, Galbraith & Co., $928.76; Erie Preserving Co., $807.08; S. Harris & Co., $813.20; Kearney Bros., $678.60; Enoch James, $651; John Dwane, $621; W. H. Cunningham, $620; F. J. Hart, $489.17; J. A. Vaillancourt, $603.83; and N. Quintal & Sons, $984.54.

Besides these there are six other creditors over $400 each, eight over $300, twelve over $200, and thirty-one over $100. There are in all one hundred and forty-eight creditors, including lawyers, doctors and druggists, besides three firms in the grocery business.

SHORTER TERMS.

Edwin Guillet, Guillet Bros., Cobourg, said to THE GROCER that he had reduced his terms of credit to three months. With few exceptions, those who cannot pay in that time he finds they are just as well without; most of those who want a year are not generally ready to pay up then. From his experience in shorter terms he would not think of going back to the old system.

THE CORNER GROCERY.

COMMERCIAL travelers; how I used to envy them as they came in and chatted so friendly with our boss. I had heard of the large salaries they received; and as they were so well dressed and comfortable looking, I used to think when I was a man I would be a traveler. But I am not so enthusiastic now, for I number many of them as warm personal friends. Now I see behind the scenes and hear of the miscellaneous beds and meals, the long drives and rides in the heat of July and the blizzard of February. But to me the loss of home society is the most serious drawback to that calling, for the drummer's society must necessarily be that of fellow travelers and merchants and clerks; not, of course, forgetting our lady cashiers. Our bookkeeper often says to me: "Mr. So-and-So is such a nice man," and then adds, "I wonder if he is married?" But, married or single, our friends know him to stand in with the ladies. It does, however, seem to me that there are about twice too many travelers, particularly in the spice, soap and tea lines; and even general groceries is very much overdone. Our store has calling regularly one dozen grocery travelers, seven spice, eight tea, seven brooms and woodenware, ten soap, besides vinegar, biscuits and confectionery, paper and other lines. I think we are just an average store in this respect, and how some of these travelers make traveling expenses, say nothing of salary, is more than I can understand. Yet in the face of hard times, what is known as commercial traveling is on the increase.

I have heard some travelers complain that merchants do not treat them with proper respect, but I think this is rarely the case. There are rude merchants, and travelers who are not any better, but such are scarce; and I think the day is fast coming when they both will be extinct.

One of the boys of the grip told me he was out in a rural town, and, getting through in good time, went to a variety show to pass the evening, taking his grip with him, as it was some distance from the hotel. The doorkeeper looked at him and said:

"Can't get in here without a ticket."

"All right," said the man with the grip, "the audience will have to do without the cornet solo to-night."

"Excuse me, excuse me!" said the doorkeeper, bowing respectfully; "I did not know you, sir; pass right in." And the bold man walked in and took a good seat.

When he told me I went and got the hatchet and handed it to him; he needed to own one.

TOBE.

THE ADVANCE IN BROOM CORN.

One of our reporters, in interviewing the well-known firm of H. A. Nelson & Sons, who are the largest manufacturers of corn brooms and whisks in the Dominion, was informed that, on account of the scarcity of rain and the hot winds which prevailed in the far Western States last summer, the crops, outside of Illinois, were almost a total failure, and, in consequence, prices have advanced $40 to $50 per ton. Fortunately for Messrs. H. A. Nelson & Sons, before this year's crop was harvested they had secured of the 1893 crop 17 carloads at very low prices, besides which they have already received of the new crop 34 carloads, making in all 51 carloads, which, however, will not be sufficient to put them through until another harvest. This firm have now a capacity of 250 dozens per day, and are, with two or three exceptions, the largest manufacturers of brooms and whisks in the world. They state that, from the best information they can obtain, there will be a shortage of from 6,000 to 8,000 tons, and that in the near future the price of broom corn will likely be higher than it has been for many years, consequently the public must expect to pay more for their brooms.

W. A. English has opened up a grocery store in College street, near Bathurst street, Toronto. He expects to do a nice trade there.

Alex. Watson, Kinmount, is opening a branch store at Wilberforce, which is now the terminus of the Irondale and Bancroft railway.

Milligan & Co., grocers, No. 99 Queen street west, Toronto, have sold out to Standish Bros., who have taken possession. Mr. Milligan has gone to Nebraska in search of health.

The new store which Boddy Bros., of Bradford, are erecting in place of their premises recently destroyed by fire, is nearly finished. In the meantime the firm is occupying Bemrose's old stand.

McCauley Bro's. is the name of a new grocery and bakery in Newmarket. One of the brothers was formerly with Brunton Bros., and the other was with Mr. Robertson. Both are pushing and energetic young fellows, and should make their venture a success.

J. E. Varcoe, Orono, who was recently in financial difficulties, is again running his old business, having purchased the stock from the creditors at 65 cents on the dollar. "You will remember," said a traveler, "that Miller & Barfett bought G. M. Long's stock of the same place at 65 cents on the dollar, and I suppose Varcoe aimed to give an equal figure for his stock."

Senator Dobson, of Lindsay, another old and successful grocer, is retiring from business. Mr. Dobson is an honored ex-mayor of the town, the president of the Board of Trade and the Liberal-Conservative Association, and has always taken a lively and intelligent interest in the affairs of his town generally. His services to his country require so much of his time, together with advancing years, that it is necessary for him to dispose of his grocery stock.

SCOTCH WHISKY IMPORTS.

There is a steady increase in the consumption of Scotch whiskies in Canada and the United States, and they are gradually taking the place of the rye and corn products. In Canada the consumption of strong liquors is growing less, yet the imports of whisky show a steady increase, as may be seen by the following figures :

Imports year ending June 30, 1890..	$229 636
" " " " " 1891..	249,464
" " " " " 1892..	279,311
" " " " " 1893..	307,454

The Canadian distillers must feel the competition, and it is evident they do, for they have been pushing business more extensively than ever and have been doing more advertising.

In the Maritime Provinces if whisky is asked for, Scotch is always offered. If a man wants Canadian he has to particularly specify it. The quality of much of the Scotch sold in most places is not of the best. Some of it is vile stuff. Lately some of the better qualities have been coming to this country and are popular.

What is the future of the Canadian distillers ?

RAISINS IN GREAT BRITAIN.

Wholesale Grocers

TORONTO - - ONTARIO

MOST necessary requisite in the keeping of a grocery is to have the standard, the best, and the most favorably known articles for sale. You don't then have to explain their merits to your customer. They probably know as much as you, about that same article.

On the other hand, a poor unknown article of questionable quality and unquestionable price is something you haven't the time to experiment with, nor the inclination to risk your standing among good customers with.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Nov. 29, 1894.

GROCERIES.

TRADE is much the same as a week ago. In the country business is, if anything, improving, but city trade remains quiet. Foreign dried fruits continue to absorb the greater share of attention. And this week the interest is all the keener on account of the arrival of shipments of new nuts, such as walnuts, almonds and filberts. The tone of the sugar market is easier, the refineries having come down fractionally in their views. The long-expected shipments of Rio coffees are to hand this week, and have already been nearly sold out. There is a good demand for coffees. Teas are quiet on the spot, but the cables announce higher prices in some kinds on the London market. Canned goods are in much the same position as before. Dried foreign fruits are in fair demand, with the prunes on spot firmer, on account of the stranding of the Belgravia, the steamer that has on board large quantities of prunes for this market.

CANNED GOODS.

The packers are finding business quiet at the moment, and not much improvement is anticipated until after the new year. In the wholesale trade the movement in tomatoes is still reported to be light and prices unchanged. Peas are moving out fairly rapidly, and one house reports an enquiry from Great Britain for this commodity. The demand for corn is moderate only. Fairly brisk has been the demand for canned fruits, the enquiry being principally for peaches, in 2's and 3's, and for preserved apples. Salmon is still selling freely, the better brands especially so. Quite a few odd cases of mackerel are going out; quality of this fish is extra good this season. In lobster demand is fair for the season. We quote: Tomatoes and corn, 85 to 90c.; peas, 80 to 85c.; peaches, $2.75 to $3 for 3's, $1.75 to $1 90 for 2's; raspberries, $1.65 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.00 to $2.10; apples, 3's, $1 to $1.10, gallons $2.65 to $2.80, and preserved fancy quarters at $1.35 to $1.40; salmon, $1.30 to $1 35 for good red fish in tall tins, and $1.50 to $1.60 in flat tins; do., second quality, $1.20 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1 to $1.10; lobsters, $1.70 to $2 for tall tins, and $2.25 to $2.75 for flat tins.

COFFEES.

Shipments of Rio coffee arrived this week, but as a good deal had previously been sold to arrive, and the demand at the moment is still good, stocks promise to be again depleted shortly. Advices from New York report that Brazil growths have not yet attained the healthy position necessary to round up the market in satisfactory form. A great deal of stock has been handled this month, and the previous impression of considerable wants among dependent custom in a measure confirmed, but the market appears sensitive to speculative conditions, and changes in tone are frequent and annoying. Low grades are plentiful, but fine coffees are almost unobtainable We quote: Green, in bags, Rio, 21½ to 22½c.; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 21½ to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 32c.; Mocha, 27 to 28c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 22c.

RICE.

There is no special feature to note, business being of the usual quiet and seasonable character. We quote: "B," 3⅛ to 3¼c.; extra Japan, 5¼ to 5⅜c.; imported Japan, 5¾ to 6¼c.; tapioca, pearl 4½ to 5c.

SPICES.

There has been a good deal of pepper and ginger moving. In other lines there is no special feature worthy of note. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 25 to 27c.; cloves, 25 to 30c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, 20 to 25c. per lb.

NUTS.

Interest in this market centres in the fact that the direct shipments of new season's Grenoble walnuts, soft shell almonds and Sicily filberts, ex s.s. Letimbro, arrived this week. Their appearance was welcomed, for orders were being held awaiting their arrival. Estrine & Co.'s brand of Grenoble walnuts were the first to arrive, and the quality is fine, the color being bright and the form good. Other kinds of nuts will not arrive till about the middle of December. The crop of Marbot walnuts is turning out bad this year, being "wormy." In consequence of this some orders have been cancelled. Short as is the time the new walnuts have been on the market, it has been long enough for the trade to inaugurate a season of price cutting, some houses having taken orders verging dangerously near cost price. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 11½c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds,

MARKETS—Continued

13 to 14c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 15 to 17c. Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 8 to 10c.; filberts, 10 to 10½c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

SUGAR.

The refineries have receded somewhat from the firm position they occupied a week or so ago, having accepted orders at lower figures for granulated than they were previously asking. An odd carload or so of sugar is being sold by the jobbers, but as a rule orders are small and the volume of business generally light. Little or no attention is being devoted to the German granulated beet sugar that is on this market, in spite of its lower price. Business in Demerara raw sugars is improving. We quote: Granulated, 4⅛ to 4¼c.; yellows, 3¼ to 3⅜c.; Demerara raws, 3¼ to 3⅝c. for bright and 3⅝ to 3¾c. for very bright; Muscavedo raws 3c.

SYRUPS.

There is a good demand for the better grades selling at about 2¾ to 3c. There is a nice crystal syrup on the market which is selling at 2¾ to 2⅞c. We quote: Dark, 25c.; medium, 28 to 30c.; bright, 35 to 40c.; very bright, 45 to 50c.

MOLASSES.

There is no change, business being quiet, prices as before. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 26 to 28c.; half-barrels, 30½ to 32c.; Barbadoes, barrels, 28 to 32c.; half-barrels, 30 to 34c.

TEAS.

Nothing particularly new has developed on the local market. The wholesalers are neither buying much nor selling much. They would take teas at a price, but just what they want does not appear to be forthcoming. The little demand there is from retailers is principally for low grade Indian, Ceylon and China black teas. Young Hyson and Japan teas are very quiet. The market continues strong. Assam Pekoes are cabled equal to 1½ to 2½c. higher in London than they were a week or ten days ago. "Assam Pekoe Souchongs," said a broker, "are being bought at auction in London at 7½d., and the expense of laying them down here would be another 1d. without considering any profit. That will give buyers an idea what the market is like." The London market is about ½c. higher on both low and fine Congous. The higher grades of Indian and Ceylon teas are said to be now showing better value than the low grades. The tea market in China has been closed for the season, and practically all the tea there that now remains unsold is what has been left at the ports. We still quote ruling prices on the Toronto market as follows: Young Hysons, 16 to 18c. for low grade; 24 to 27c. for medium, and 30 to 38c. for high grades; China Congous, 16 to 18c.; Japans, 16 to 20c.; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 35c.

DRIED FRUITS.

Valencia raisins are in good request, with more attention than there was being given to selected article. Selected fruit in bulk is getting scarce, but another shipment is due in a week or so. This later shipment is not, however, to show as good quality as those already received. We quote: Off-stalk, 4¼ to 4½c.; fine off-stalk, 4½ to 5c.; selected, 5½ to 6c.; layers, 6 to 6½c. We quote California loose muscatels at 6 to 7½c. Mail advices to P. L. Mason & Co., from J. D'Arguimbau, of Denia, state that the stock of Valencia raisins remaining in Spain in growers' hands amounts to about 4,000 quintals (160,000 boxes) good fruit and 300,000 quintals of fruit unfit for shipment. It is evident from this that the position of good fruit promises to continue strong.

Malaga raisins are in fairly good demand, the blue table fruit being especially so. Some of the Malaga raisins on the market this season are showing poor quality, the fruit being small. We quote new season's fruit as follows: London layers, $2.25 to $2.50; black baskets, $3 25; blue baskets, $4.25 to $4.50; extra dessert clusters, $4 to $4 50; connoisseur clusters, $3.25 to $3.50; quarter flat connoisseur clusters, $1 to $1 15; Royal Buckingham, $5 to $5.50.

Demand is fairly good for Sultana raisins at 5½ to 7½c.

There are a good many California loose Muscatel raisins selling at from 6 to 6½c.

Prunes on the spot are firmer, owing to the stranding of the steamer Belgravia, which contained the larger portion of the new prunes afloat for this market. According to a cable received by Watt & Scott, the steamer has been docked at Leghorn. The only prune on the market at present is the French article, which is selling well at 4½ to 4¾c.

Currants are cabled as advancing under the influence of Russian buying. Demand on the spot is good for fine fruit, and extremely good value is being shown, particularly in the Patras article. We quote: Filiatras, half barrels, 4 to 4½c., barrels, 4⅛c.; fine Filiatras, half barrels, 4¾c., barrels 4⅝c.; Patras, 5½ in cases; Casalinas, 5½ to 6c.; Vostizzas, 6½ to 7½c. in cases and half cases; Panartes, 8 to 8½c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The butter market remains in much the same condition as it has been for some weeks. Poor dairy tub is still plentiful, and choice scarce. On account of this demand is almost nil. Roll butter is plentiful, but choice in this line is none too plentiful on account of the "turnipy" flavor that characterizes much of that arriving. In pound rolls supply and demand is fair. Demand continues to be only moderate for creamery tubs, and prices are kept low on account of the supply of the earlier makes that are still on the market. Creamery pound prints are in good demand. We quote jobbing prices: Dairy—Choice tubs, selections, 17 to 18c.; store-packed, 12 to 13c.; crocks, 18c.; low grade, 11 to 12c.; pound rolls, 18 to 19c.; large rolls, 15 to 16c. Creamery—Tubs, August, 19 to 20c.; September and October, 20 to 21c.; pound prints, 23 to 24c.

In cheese, the feeling if anything is a little firmer. Jobbers are getting 10¾c., and at the factories 10¼c. is the idea as to price.

GREEN FRUIT.

Oranges continue to improve in demand, while stocks are getting lighter. Prices, however, remain much as before. Lemons are quiet and unchanged. Malaga grapes are in fairly good demand at steady prices. Cranberries are scarce and firm, with demand increasing. The local apple market remains much as before. The market is almost bare of bananas, shipments recently arriving being "chilled," some of them selling at about 8c. per bunch; a lot of 50 bunches sold at that figure. In sweet potatoes, a good deal of poor stock is arriving, and it is selling as low as $1.50 per barrel. Good stock is worth from 50 to 75c. more. We quote: Lemons—Floridas, $4 to $4.50 for fancy stock, with other kinds selling at $3 to $3 50; Messinas, $4 to $5; Malagas, $3.50 to $3 75; Verdelli, $2 50 to $3.35. Oranges—Floridas, $2.75 to $3 for 200's and 176's, $2.25 to $2 50 for 126's and 150's; Valencias, $4.25 to $4.50. Bananas, $1.10 to $1.50, for firsts and 80c. to $1 for seconds. Cucumbers, 20 to 25c. per basket. Apples, winter fruit, $2.25 to $2 75 per bbl.; snow apples, $2.50 to $3; fall fruit, $2 to $2.50. Grapes—Malagas, $5 to $6.50 per keg. Sweet potatoes, $2 25 per bbl. Cranberries, Nova Scotia, $10 to $10.50 per bbl., and $3.35 per crate; Canadian, $1 to $1.25 per crate and $10 per bbl.; Cape Cod, $3.50 per crate and $11 to $12 per bbl.; Jerseys, fancy, $13.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—There is just the usual quiet business doing, at $1.20 to $1 25 for medium and $1.35 to $1.40 for hand-picked.

DRIED APPLES—There have been some transactions at 4¾ to 5c. f.o.b. outside, but a good deal that is on the market appears to be what has come in as consignments. The jobbing trade is quiet at 5 to 5½c.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Dull. Carload lots of good stock are worth about 6½ to 7c. f.o.b., and for the little that the jobbers are selling 7 to 7½c. is being obtained.

HOPS—The market is devoid of life. Good 94's in a small way are nominally worth 10 to 12c. Package hops are quoted at 15 to 16c.

ONIONS—The market remains much as before. We quote: Domestic, 70 to 80c. per bag; Spanish, 80 to 90c. per crate; Valencia, $2.50 to $2.75 per case.

HONEY—Is reported to be a little scarce, with demand fairly good; strained, 9c.; section, 14c.

MARKETS.—Continued

POTATOES—There is a little better feeling, sales on track in carload lots being made at 45c.; out of store 50 to 55c. is still the idea.

POULTRY—Demand is fairly good and supply is moderate. We quote: Turkeys, 8 to 9c.; chickens, 35 to 45c.; ducks, 40 to 65c.; geese, 5 to 6c.

EGGS—There are not enough of strictly fresh eggs to supply the demand. In consequence of this a good many are turning their attention to pickled in preference to cold storage eggs. We quote: Held, 15 to 16c.; cold storage, 14 to 15c.; limed, 13½ to 14c.; strictly new laid, 18 to 19c. for small lots.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

Sea fish are arriving more freely, and business is assuming a little more briskness, although there is yet room for improvement. The fish most in demand at the moment are cod and mackerel. Oysters are scarce on the local market, shipments from the United States having been cut off this week owing to the holiday there. Prices are 5 to 10c. higher in the United States, but so far the only effect of the advance on the local market is to cause a less disposition to cut prices, while an actual advance is looked for should the higher prices in the primary market be maintained. We quote as follows: Frozen trout, 7c.; skinned and boned codfish, 6½c.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c.; market cod, 5c.; steak cod, 6 to 7c.; haddock, 5c.; Labrador herring, $2.50 per half keg and $5.50 to $5.75 per barrel; ditto, split, $3; fresh water salt herring, $4 per bbl.; blueback herring, 4c.; blue pickerel, 4 to 5c. lb.; yellow ditto, 6 to 7c. per lb.; mackerel, 13c. each; pike, 5c. lb.; haddock and cod, 6c. per lb.; finnan haddies, 7½c.; Digby herring, in bundles of 5 boxes, 15c.; ditto, lengthwise, 14c.; large halibut, 10c.; ciscoes, $1.35 to $1.40. Oysters, $1.20 to $1.25 per gallon; select, $1.60.

SALT.

Jobbing trade is a little slower this week than it was a week ago, but several transactions in carload lots are reported. Prices are as before. We quote: Barrels, 90c.; coarse sacks, 56c.; fine sacks, 60c.; dairy, $1.50; rock, $9.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Trade has been fairly active in long clear, carload lots of which have changed hands at quotations. The tendency of prices generally is downward. Dressed hogs are offering liberally, and packers appear to have so far cut up more than is used by this time. We quote $5.15 to $5.25 for carload and small lots.

BACON—Long clear, 7¼c. for carload lots and 7¾c. for small lots; breakfast bacon, 10½ to 11c.; rolls, 8 to 8½c.

HAMS—Large, 22 lbs. and over, 9½c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 10½c.; small hams, 11c.; pickled, 9½ to 10c.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 8c.; tubs, 8c.; pails, 8¾c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess $15.50; Canadian short-cut, $16; shoulder mess, $13 to $13.50; clear mess, $13.75 to $14.50.

SEEDS.

The feeling is somewhat better, there being more enquiry both for Alsike and red clover. Timothy is about steady at former quotations. We quote f. o. b. outside points: Alsike, $4 to $5.25 per bushel; red clover, $5.25 to $5.50; timothy, $1.50 to $2.50.

HIDES, SKINS, WOOL AND TALLOW.

HIDES—Are firm, with supply and demand about equal. Prices are unchanged, dealers paying 3½c. for green and selling cured at 4½c.

SKINS—Sheepskins are offering liberally, stocks accumulating in the country. A lot of between 4,000 and 5,000 skins have arrived on the Toronto market from Chicago, which has had a bearish effect on the market. We still quote 55c., but this figure is not likely to be maintained. Calfskins are nominal at 6c.

WOOL—Demand from the mills is chiefly for small lots, and there is no foreign demand. The shipment of sheepskins from Chicago has naturally had a depressing effect on the market for pulled wools. Dealers are paying 18c. for fleece and super, and 20c. for extra.

TALLOW—Continues firm, dealers paying 5½ to 5¾c., and selling at 6¼c.; rough, 2c.

PETROLEUM.

Business is good, with prices firm aud unchanged. We quote, in 5 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 11½ to 12c.; carbon safety, 16c.; Canadian water white, 16c.; American water white, 17½c; photogene, 19c.

The Petrolia Advertiser in its weekly report quotes: Petrolia crude, $1.13 per barrel; Oil Springs crude, $1.14 per barrel; refined, 7c. in bulk; 9¾c. in barrels in car lots f.o.b. here.

First shipment of new Sicily filberts is now to hand with H. P. Eckardt & Co.

Blue Cross teas, put up by the British Tea and Trading Co., have just been awarded the only medal for teas at the Antwerp Exhibition.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are in receipt of a shipment of Loch Fyne herring in kegs, also No. 1 Lake Superior trout, fall catch.

James A. Skinner & Co. are having a big run on assorted packages of No. 20 glassware. It is, the firm claim, the finest in the market.

In addition to Cowan's icings in packets, Lucas, Steele & Bristol have the same pink and white icing sugar to offer that pleased so well last year.

Singapore pineapple in 2½ lb. tins is being offered by W. H. Gillard & Co. This is an attractive line and shows, the firm claims, good value.

Another lot of choice Ceylon teas in chests and half chests, to sell at 17 to 20c., is to hand with Lucas, Steele & Bristol. The firm will send samples.

"Diamond Baking Powder is becoming more of a favorite every day with my customers," says Jno. Mouat, Gillard & Co.'s Northwest representative.

The Pure Gold Manufacturing Co. report receipt of shipment from New York of pure spices of the highest quality obtainable. They will be placed on the market at once for Christmas trade.

"Yes, we think business is improving, and goods of all descriptions were never lower," report Lucas, Steele & Bristol. Can't see how dealers can err in replenishing their stocks."

Lucas, Steele & Bristol made delivery of new dates this week. They have a further shipment due about December 10. They report their Panareta currants, in cases and halves, selling fast.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are in receipt of their full complement of Valencia raisins, and are now able to fill all back orders and still have a reasonable supply for future demands, on account of their large shipments of these fruits.

"Our Malaga raisins have gone off very fast this season," report Lucas, Steele &

Bristol. "We do not expect to have any left after next week. Our fancy cartoons and quarter boxes are good sellers."

Wm. Paterson & Son have a new box for their 1 lb. sodas.

Masuret & Co. have a large consignment of Spanish onions, natural figs and layer figs in stock.

The Toronto Biscuit and Confectionery Co. are making fruit cakes for the Christmas trade, put up in 1-lb. fancy boxes.

This is the season for California fruits. Masuret & Co. have a carload now in stock of reputed fine quality.

The clever ad. of Wm. Paterson & Son in this issue is from the pen of their traveller, J. M. Carroll, whose headquarters are at Lindsay.

Masuret & Co. report an increased demand for their "Eagle" brand teas, both Japans and Congous. They invite the trade to write for samples.

The Eby, Blain Co. believe in advertising. Since they advertised their new blend of crushed coffee in THE GROCER they have sold about a ton of this commodity, half of which went out during the last three or four days.

Sweet tomato catsup is a new article on the market, and the Pure Gold Manufacturing Co. are delighted over reports from their eastern travelers who have been showing samples. The other travelers will have them next week.

The reduction Gowans, Kent & Co. have recently made in the price of the mammoth "Pittsburgh" lamps, owing to a cheapening in the cost of manufacture, has caused a heavy run on them, there being now very little difference in price between them and others of inferior make.

The Toronto Biscuit and Confectionery Co. are adding another storey to their building, and also putting on 50 feet extra room at the back. When this work is finished they will have one of the most complete factories in Canada. This looks like good times.

P. C. Larkin & Co. report that during the past week they have done the largest business with "Salada" in the city of Toronto that they have ever done in the same time. "We have sold fully 1 lb. out of every four lbs. consumed in the city," said a member of the firm.

"Grand Mogul tea is selling well in Toronto," write T. B. Escott & Co. "The new white porcelain sign in form of teapot is being put on the windows of the principal grocery stores in London. 'Grand Mogul Tea' in large black letters, stands out boldly on the face, a very neat and unique advertisement."

W. A. McClean & Co. the Owen Sound pork-packers, are making special efforts for the Christmas and New Year trade. In pursuance of this they have now ready "Diamond H" hams, breakfast bacon, etc. Their advertisement will further enlighten the trade on the matter.

Thompson, Carey & Leonard, who began a fruit evaporating and cider factory in Cobourg a month ago, seem to be doing well, judging from the quantity of apples they are buying. There is room at that point for a canning factory, and it is not improbable they may go into that business.

Warren Bros. & Boomer are this week showing fine off-stalk Valencia raisins almost equal in quality to selected fruit. Their shipment of 7-lb. selected bulk Valencia raisins, similar in style to layers, has also arrived. They have a carload of French prunes and a shipment of California loose Muscatels arriving.

The Phœnix Spice Mills (G. F. Marter & Co.) are placing baking powder on the market in ¼, ½, and 1 lb. packages. Each package is labeled "Gold Medal" and is attractive and convenient, obviating the necessity of the grocer weighing out ¼, ½, or 1 lb. lots of baking powder.

A Vancouver despatch says: Four more British Columbia salmon canneries have passed into the hands of the English syndicate. These are: the Light-House Cannery on the Fraser River, two on Naas River, and one on Skena River. The price paid for the Light-House cannery was $30,000.

MONTREAL MARKETS.

MONTREAL, November 29, 1894.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market has not been quite so active during the past week, in fact, it is getting between seasons now and a lull in trade is the normal thing. As a result most of the leading staples, such as sugar, tea, syrups, etc., have been dull and furnished no new features. Dried fruits continue much the same, and the same is to remark in connection with canned goods and fish. Prices as a rule have been steady all round.

SUGAR.

There has been no further decline in the sugar market since our last, but the market rules dull with only a small volume of business passing. Granulated is unchanged at the decline last noted, and supplies don't appear to be excessive in first hands. Light supplies contribute to the steadiness of yellow sugars and there is no alteration to note in their case. Domestic beet sugar is offering and is meeting a fair demand. We quote: Granulated, 4 to 4⅛c. per lb.; yellows, 3 3-16 to 3¾c. from the refiners, and Berthier granulated beet sugar 3¾c. in large lots, and 4c. from jobbers' hands.

SYRUPS.

There is no change in syrups and business has ruled dull this week. We quote: Canadian, 2 to 2⅛c. for bright grades and 1½ to 1⅝c. for dark grades at the factory.

MOLASSES.

Nothing special is to report in the molasses market, and few, if any, sales of round quantities have transpired since our last report. We quote as before for regular jobbing trade, 29c. in car lots and 30c. in single puncheons.

RICE.

The rice market has not presented any particular activity in the way of new business, but some fair sized lots have gone forward during the week, which represent orders placed with the mills some time ago. We quote: Japan, standard, $4.25 to $4.40; crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B, $3.45; English style, $3.30; Patna, $4.25 to $5, and Carolina $6.50 to $7.50.

SPICES.

There have been no new features in the spice market, for business has been quieter if anything during the past week. We quote mill prices: Penang black pepper, 6 to 7½c.; white pepper, 10 to 12½c.; cloves, 7½ to 9c.; cassia, 9 to 10c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.; Jamaica ginger, 15 to 22c.

COFFEES.

There has been a fair demand for coffees of all sorts during the past week, but trade during the last few days has been of restricted volume. Jamaica and Maracaibo were the only descriptions moved in a large way. We quote: Maracaibo, 20 to 22c.; Rio, 20 to 21c.; Java, 23 to 29c., and Mocha, 25 to 29c.

TEA.

The week has been very dull in tea with little or nothing doing in a large way, while the distributing from second hands has shrunk materially in its proportions also. We quote: Japans, low grades, 13 to 14c.; medium, 14 to 17c.; fine 18½ to 32c., and choice, 24 to 31c.

DRIED FRUIT.

The dried raisin market continues steady on the whole for all prime fruit, though offers of inferior stock have been made at concessions. This, however, has not had any effect on the shading of good, sound fruit, which is not in large supply and is held firm. Very little business is doing in a large way, but for jobbing business prime Valencia fruit can be quoted as follows: Ordinary brands, 4¾c.; selected, 5¼ to 5½c., and layers, 5¾ to 6c.

There has been a good fair trade doing in California 4-crown layers, which jobbers are turning over at 6 to 7½c.

The dulness in dried currants has not been lifted, and the average demand is of a slow and dragging kind for Filiatras and Provincials at 3 to 3¾c. in bbls., and 3½ to 4c. in cases. Patras, however, are held rather higher at 4½ to 5c., and Vostizzas, 7c.

New Bosnia prunes are selling for the first time regularly this week at 4½ to 4¾c. for Atlas brand in round lots, but we quote 5 to 5¼c. in an ordinary way. Round lots of French prunes move at 4½c., and we quote 4½ to 5c., as to quality. Cables from Bosnia are rather firmer in tone for cost and freight sales.

The first new dates have been offering this week and selling at 6½ to 9c., the outside being realized in the case of the very first lots which were forwarded by express.

There has been a quiet business passing in figs, fine Eleme stock selling at 8 to 18c., according to grade. Ordinary figs in 56 lb. boxes move at 6c., and in 56 lb. bags 5c.

NUTS.

The nut market continues much the same. New crop Grenoble walnuts are due here this week, but are hardly quotable yet. It is expected, however, that they will open at about 12 to 15c. Filberts are selling at 7 to 8c.; pecans 9 to 10c., and cocoanuts, $4 per 100. New shelled almonds range from 24 to 25c., and shelled almonds 25c.

CANNED GOODS.

The market continues steady under light stocks in second hands of staple description. We quote: Lobsters, per case, $6.50; sardines, $8.50 to $9.50; salmon, $1.35 to $1.40 per doz; tomatoes, 95c. per doz.; peaches, $2 to $2.10 per doz.; corn, 95c. to $1 per doz., and marrowfat peas, 85 to 90c. per doz.; strawberries, $2.75 per doz, and raspberries, $1.80 to $2.50; 1-gallon can apples, $2.10; Australian canned meats: 1-lb. can boiled mutton, $1.80 to $1.90; 2-lb. can do., $3.10 to $3.15; 1-lb. can roast mutton, $2.05 to $2.10; 2-lb. can do., $3.35 to $3.40; 1-lb. can corned mutton, $2.05 to $2.20; 2-lb. can do., $3.35 to $3.40.

FISH.

The fish market rules much the same as it was. We quote: Newfoundland herrings, No. 1, $3.75; No. 2, $3.50; green cod, No. 1, $4; No. 2, $2.75; No. 1 large, $4.50; Labrador herrings, No. 1, $5.25 to $5.50; Cape Breton ditto, $5 to $5.25; B.C.

MONTREAL MARKETS—Continued

salmon, $11.50 to $12, and Labrador, $12 50 to $13.

GREEN FRUIT.

LEMONS—There has been little change in the lemon market, Messina fruit selling at $3.50 to $4, and Malaga at the same range per box.

ORANGES—Jamaica oranges are in plentiful supply but steady at $4 to $4.50 per bbl., while Florida oranges are in good demand at $2 to $3 per box.

GRAPES—The feeling on Almeria grapes is certainly firmer in sympathy with advices from New York. They are scarce and firmer here at $5 to $6 per keg.

CRANBERRIES—There is no change in cranberries, which rule steady at $9 to $10 per bbl.

PINE APPLES—A few lots of pines are selling at 12½ to 17c. each.

APPLES—The spot apple market is steady for sound fruit. Choice brings $2.50 to $3.50 per bbl., and common, $1 to $2 per bbl.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The feature of the egg market this week has been the scarcity of strictly new laid stock, for which there is a good enquiry at 20 to 22c. per doz. Demand for other classes of goods are active, and the market rules firm at 15 to 16c. for good cold storage stock, and limed 13 to 14c. Offerings of culls are large, and they sell at 10 to 12c.

POULTRY—The poultry market is oversupplied and dealers in some cases state that it is difficult to dispose of stock in spite of exceedingly low prices. Demand is slow, turkeys selling at 7½ to 9c., chickens 5 to 7c., ducks 7½ to 8c., and geese 5 to 6c.

GAME—Receipts of partridge were light and met a good demand, sales being freely made at 40 to 45c. per brace for No. 1, and 25c. for No. 2. Venison moves slow at 9 to 10c. per lb.

DRESSED HOGS—Demand for dressed hogs is fairly active and steady. Car lots of nice fresh stock are selling at $5.40 to $5.50, and in a jobbing way, $5.25 to $5.75.

BEANS—A fair jobbing trade is doing in beans, the market ruling steady at $1 to $1.40 per bushel of 60 lbs.

POTATOES—Are selling well under light receipts, and prices are firmer at 54c. for No. 1 on the track and 60 to 65c. in a jobbing way.

ONIONS—Onions have been pretty well bought up in the country, and prices are 25c. higher at $1.75 to $2 per bbl.

PROVISIONS.

There is no important change in the local provision market, business being quiet and principally of a jobbing character to fill immediate requirements. We quote: Canadian short cut, heavy, $17 to $18; Canadian short cut, light, $14.50 to $15.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 9 to 11½c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 9½ to 10½c.; bacon, per lb., 9 to 11½c.; lard, com. refined, per lb., 7 to 8c.

BUTTER.

This market remains essentially the same. The demand for fancy creamery stock in a local way continues good, and full figures are paid for it, but they are not quotable as a possible basis for trade in a large way. Held creamery has been moved in some cases at 18c. and Western dairy at 14c. to 17c. We quote: Finest fall-made creamery, 20½ to 21½c.; earlier makes, 18 to 19c.; finest Townships, 18 to 19c.; finest

FLOUR AND FEED

THE Ontario grain market continues to grow firmer, with a fair advance in prices. In Chicago the market is still firm. Local business is fair, both for Manitoba and Ontario wheats, and car lots of red and white are selling at irregular prices.

Millers have been getting along during the past year with as light stocks as possible, and so far this year deliveries have not been much in excess of requirements for current trade. In places where the demand is urgent comparatively high figures have been paid, while in other places, where supplies have been more liberal, better terms have been made. Taking the outlook all round, prices are higher and the tendency is upward. Up to the time of going to press, flour had not advanced again in price, but in consequence of the advance in price of Ontario wheat, it is almost certain that the prices of family flour will again be advanced.

Flour was more in demand in the grocery store this week, and cereals moved better. The demand for bran and shorts was fair, but not large.

The recent advance in the prices of all grades of flour has had a slight tendency to stop the cutting of prices in the retail store, but there are many grocers who, though they are aware of the advance made by the millers, continue selling at the old figure, which in some cases is actually lower than the flour can be obtained at wholesale. These men are not doing justice to themselves or the trade.

THE MARKETS.

TORONTO.

FLOUR—Local business is fair, and prices are unchanged. We quote: Manitoba wheat, patents, $3.70 to $3.80; strong bakers', $3.45 to $3.55; Ontario, $3.45; straight roller, $3.05 to $3.10.

BREAKFAST FOODS—We quote: Standard and granulated oatmeal, $3.85; rolled wheat, $2.10 in 1,000 lb. barrels; cornmeal, $3 50; split peas and pot barley, $3.75 per barrel.

BRAN—Trade is fair and prices firm at $13 per ton.

SHORTS—A fairly good demand is reported. City mills are offering at from $15 to $15 50 at the mill.

WHEAT—Sales of red and white wheat have been made frequently west during the week at 55c. Manitoba wheat is firm, and sales west were made at 71c. Holders ask 72 to 73c. east. On the street white wheat is quoted at 59½c., red at 58c., and goose at 57c.

OATS—The demand is quiet, but the market is steady. White sold west at 27 to 27½c., and mixed were quoted at 26½c. Car lots of white on track are quoted at 30c. On the street oats are quoted at 31c.

HAY—There has been a little more offering this week. Hay marketed at from $9 to $9.50 for timothy and $7.50 to $8 for clover.

STRAW—There has been but little offered on the street during the week; $8.50 to $9 was paid for good straw.

MONTREAL.

The demand for flour was fair, and the market is moderately active, with a good business doing for this season at steady prices. There was also a fair enquiry from abroad for shipment by way of Boston, but up to a late hour no sales were made. Cables were firm at the last advance noted. We quote: Winter wheat, $3.35 to $3.50; spring wheat, patents, $3.50 to $3.65; straight roller, $2.85 to $3.00; extra, $2.65 to $2.70; superfine, $2.50 to $2.60; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.15 to $3.50.

In the feed market an easier feeling prevails in bran, owing to the larger offerings, and car lots of Ontario were offered to-day at $15, without meeting with a buyer. Shorts and mouillie are steady, and show no change. Ontario bran, $15 to $15 50; Manitoba bran, $17, shorts, $18; Mouillie, $20 to $22.

The market for oatmeal was weaker, owing to the increased offerings and the limited demand, consequently prices are lower. We quote; Standard, bbls., $3.50 to $3.65; granulated, bbls., $3.60 to $3.75; rolled oats, bbls., $3.75 to $3 85.

ST. JOHN, N.B.

In flour the market continues to advance west. Even Manitoba, which was slow to respond to the otherwise general advance, has at last been advanced by the millers. In this market, though prices are firm, the rise is not yet equal to that at the mills, and many still look for a falling off. Very few N.B. oats are coming forward. The people in this province should clean their oats better if they want to be in it with those from outside. The demand at present is principally supplied from Ontario. Feed is quiet in all lines. Beans and cornmeal firmer. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.20 to $4.25; best Ontario, $3.50 to $3.60; medium, $3.25 to $3 40; oatmeal, $4 to $4.10; beans, $1.45 to $1.50; western buckwheat meal, $2.25; cornmeal, $3.25; granulated, $3.50 to $3.60; middlings, on track, $19 to $19.50; bran, $17 to $18.; N.B. oats, 36c.; Ontario, on track, 37 to 38c.; split peas, $3.65 to $3.85; pot barley, $4 to $4.10; round peas, $3.65 to $3.75; hay, on track, $10 to $10.50.

CHEESE.

The cheese market continues steady and quiet. The decline in the public cable to-day of 6d was a surprise to the trade, but no importance is attached to it, more especially as private advices of late have indicated more disposition on the part of buyers across the water to do business. In this connection, we understand that some business was put through to-day over the cable at a rather better figure than was possible previous to the close of navigation. As to spot values, they continue greatly nominal, and there was little business at the wharf to-day to afford any idea of prices. Only a couple of hundred boxes were offered. Prices, therefore, continue more or less nominal, but for finest Ontario makes 10¼ to 10⅜c. is a fair range, the outside being for colored goods, which still command a premium. Eastern makes range from 9⅞ to 10c. Finest Ontario fall-made, 10¼ to 10⅜c.; finest Townships, 10c.; finest Eastern, 9⅞ to 10c.; under grades, 9 to 9¼c.; cable, 50s. 6d.

ASHES.

The market for ashes was quiet and weaker, with prices lower all round. We quote: Firsts, pots $4.10; seconds, $3.50 to $3.60, and pearls, $6.50 per 100 lbs.

MONTREAL TRADE NOTES.

Though there is on quotable change on granulated sugar the feeling is easy.

Geo. Childs & Co. are offering this week a choice line of California figs, put up in 3 lb. cartoons.

Cables to Rose & Laflamme advise an advance of 1s. 6d. in the cost and freight price of Bosnia prunes.

Whitehead & Turner, of Quebec, are just landing a shipment of California raisins from the well-known firm of Griffin, Skelly & Co.

Caverhill, Hughes & Co. are receiving this week a shipment of Lazenby's preparations. They consider the soup squares great sellers.

Kinloch, Lindsay & Co. are just landing a carload of choice California evaporated apricots and peaches, also California muscat raisins.

The last direct shipment to Montreal of Marshall's fish delicacies has arrived. The quality is the highest, and packages most attractive.

The first new Grenoble walnuts are expected to arrive here this week. No sales to arrive have been made, but they are expected to open at 12 to 15c.

Every firm of prominence in the Dominion is now handling Batger's Nonpareil jellies, to which Messrs. Rose & Laflamme call attention in their ad. this week.

Marshall's Scotch kippered herrings, fresh herrings and finest selected salt herrings in kegs, barrels, etc., are largely in demand and growing popular. Quality will tell.

Advices on Almeria grapes are firm and it is worthy of note that a cargo sold the other day in New York which averaged $6.25 per keg, while individual lots realized as high as $14.

Laporte, Martin & Co. have found the Ostrich brand prunes, which they received last week, first-class sellers. These were among the first arrivals of new Bosnia prunes in Montreal this fall.

Among the representatives of the Montreal wholesale grocery trade who left on Tuesday evening this week to atend the annual meeting of the Dominion Guild in Toronto on Wednesday, were: President Geo. Childs (Geo. Childs & Co.), Chas. Chaput (L. Chaput, Sons & Co.), D. L. Lockerby (Lockerby Bros.) and Wm. Kinloch (Kinloch, Lindsay & Co.)

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Nov. 29, 1894.

BUSINESS during the past week has been good, merchants being particularly active in getting off orders for the river boats, and for those ports in Nova Scotia which are reached by packets, as the schooners are making their last trips and the river may now close at any time. The weather has been much milder during the past week. The flour market is now a matter of interest, the advance of last week having been more than sustained. Manitoba, which was much slower than the Ontario flour to feel the strength, is up at time of writing 25c. per bbl. Money is hard to get, there being too much of a tendency than is well to close accounts with notes rather than with cash, and save the interest. Notes are, however, met promptly. In the country market there is little of interest to note. Fresh pork and turkeys are coming in freely. Butter is rather more than equal to demand, while eggs are scarce.

CANNED GOODS—Sales are on the whole quiet. A North Shore merchant with about 100 cases of blueberries found it impossible to place them, owing to no demand. He placed a few very fine Restigouche canned salmon. They are considered much ahead of the British Columbia fish. The other salmon (B.C.), however, owing to small stock, are not likely to remain long at their present figures. All canned goods are firm. We quote: Corn, 95c.; peas, 90 to 95c.; tomatoes, $1 to $1.05; corned beef, 2's, $2.75; 1's, $1.60; oysters, $2 to $2.25; Canadian yellow peaches, 2's, $1.90 to $2; 3's, $2 60 to $2.65; new gallon apples, $2 25 to $2.40; salmon, talls, $1.35; flats, $1.75; lobsters, $1.75 to $2; finnan haddies, $1.40. Some old — that is, last season's pack— gallon apples are being sold very low, it is believed at $1 per doz. They retail at 12c.

SALT—Stock is very limited in coarse salt, and for some time the market will have to depend for its supply on that which is received via Boston. Demand is, however, light. There is quite a quantity bought to come forward direct. Coarse, 60c.; fine, $1 to $1.10; Canadian, 5-lb. bags, $3 25 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $3.10 per bbl.; American wood boxes, 20 lb., 20c.; 10 lb., 12c.

DRIED FRUIT—One house reports having bought this season 10,000 boxes of dried fruit, principally raisins. The imports of Valencia raisins are hardly up to last year, but there were no California fruit here last fall to amount to anything. There have been upwards of 3,000 boxes bought this fall, mostly direct. This was quite a surprise, as it was thought very little would be done in them till after the first of the new year. The imports of Valencia raisins amount to about 14,000 boxes. The sale of evaporated California fruit, such as peaches, apricots and pears, increases from year to year. A quantity of the peels bought in England have been delayed in shipment which makes it rather unpleasant for merchants here. Leghorn peels have been on the market some time. Citron is being offered very low from New York. Owing to the new duty the Canadian curers of peel have had to stop manufacturing. This is to be regretted, as they were putting up a splendid article which was holding its own with the imported goods, finding a ready demand. We quote: Sultana raisins, 7 to 7½c.; Valencia, 4½c.; layers, 5½c.; currants, bbls., 3½ to 3¾c.; cases, 3¾ to 4¼c.; cleaned, 25 lb boxes, 6c.; 1 lb. cartoons, 7½c.; California loose Muscatels show an advance, and are likely to go higher, as are the California layers, 6½c.; layers, $2 to $2,10; clusters, $2.25 to $2.50; fancy, $3.50 to $4; Malaga, Londons, $2.10 to $2.25; black baskets, $3.25; prunes, fresh, 5½ to 6c.; small boxes, 9 to 14c.; figs, 13 to 16c.; Nova Scotia dried apples, 5¾c.; Ontario, 6¼c.; evaporated apples, 8 to 9c.; evaporated apricots, 14½c.; peaches, 13c.; pears, 11c.

GREEN FRUIT—Apples continue in very large supply; within two hours in one day upwards of 3,000 bbls. came in the market slip. The only apples at all scarce are Baldwins. Bishop pippins are plenty, and extra quality fall apples are very low, and the auction sales daily held are meeting small returns. Some lemons now on the market are poor quality. Ontario grapes are about out of the market. Malagas are higher. Merchants are looking forward to a large Christmas sale. We quote: Apples, No. 1 fall fruit, $1 to $1.50; winter fruit, $2 to $2.25; lemons, 3.50 to $5; Florida oranges, $3 to $3 25; West India, $3 to $3.25 per box, $5 to $5,50 per bbl. repicked; Malaga grapes, $5 to $5.50 per keg; Ontario grapes, 30 to 60c. per basket. A few baskets of quince are on the market but owing to lateness of the season there is no demand.

DAIRY PRODUCE—The report of last week would do for this, though cheese are firmer and parties are not over anxious to buy. Demand for early makes is about over; they are about all out of first hands. September finds a fair market; the feeling is they will lose nothing by not pushing sales. Butter is slow except rolls which, when first-class, find a ready market at good prices. Good butter is scarce, but it is hard to get callers to pay an extra price for it. Eggs are firmer and are about 1c. above price of last week. We quote: Cheese, 10½ to 11c.; dairy butter, 18 to 20c.; creamery tubs, 22 to 23c.; rolls, 24 to 25c.; eggs, 17 to 18c.

MOLASSES—Market is very firm, and already some holders have advanced another two cents. There is practically no Antigua or St. Croix molasses here. The stock of Porto Rico is all extra quality goods, and is also light. Barbadoes is about the only molasses here, and it is within narrow limits. The outlook is for higher prices at once. We quote: Barbadoes, 30 to 32c.; St. Croix and Antigua, 29 to 30c.; choice Porto Rico, 35 to 36c.; fancy, 43 to 44c. Syrup, for which there is now a fair demand, 30 to 35c.

SUGAR—Market is quiet and prices easy. Prices as last week. We quote: Granulated, 4¼ to 4⅜c.; yellow, 3½ to 3¾c.; Barbadoes, 3½ to 3¾c.; Paris lump, 6 to 6¼c.; Powdered, 6 to 6¼c.

FISH—Values are unchanged, though feeling is easy in smoked herring. Market is off one cent owing to very large arrivals. Stocks, except in smoked fish, are not large. We quote: Cod fish, large, $3.65 to $3.75; medium, $3 65; small, $3 to $3.25; haddock, $1.75; pollock, $1.70 to $1.75; shad, $5 to $5.50; bay herring, half-barrels, $1.40 to $1.50; Shelburne, No. 1, bbls., $4 to $4 25, half bbls., $2.40 to $2.50; Canso, bbls., $5.25;

ST. JOHN MARKETS—Continued.

Quoddy River, $2.50 to $3.25, half bbls.; medium smoked herring, 8 to 9c.; lengthwise, 8c.

PROVISIONS—About the only change is in plate beef, which has advanced about one dollar. Other quotations are as last week, with but light business. The demand from the dealers for smoked meat is light this season. We quote: Clear pork, $19 to $20; P.E.I. mess, $17 to $17.50; prime mess, $13 to $13.50; plate beef, $13 to $14; pure lard, 10¼ to 11c.; compound, 9 to 9½c.; cottolene, 9¼ to 10¼c.; hams, 11½ to 12c.; bacon, 10c.

ST. JOHN MARKET NOTES.

Linseed oil has advanced 3c. per gallon.

Woodstock reports a good demand for potatoes, large quantities being bought up at 80 to 90c.

J. C. Bowman, formerly agent for T. Lawry & Son, now represents the Laing Packing and Provision Co.

Best fall apples are selling by auction as low as $1 per bbl. There is no demand and the market is overloaded.

New Sultana raisins, the first of the season, have been received by Baird & Peters and Merritt Bros. & Co.

Northrup & Co. are offering what is claimed to be extra quality in Valencia layer and off-stalk raisins.

One thousand two hundred unplucked turkeys were sent to England last week by Hunter & Huestis, of St. John.

The advance in flour freight rates is rather more than usual, being 5c. from Toronto points and 7c. from further west.

Another lot of Beardsley shredded codfish has been received by C. & E. Macmichael. This is proving a great seller.

Two cars of pork have been shipped from Carleton County to Montreal during the past week. The price paid was 4c. on foot or 5c. killed.

Stocks of corn in the hands of millers are light, and not enough to supply demand for meal. There is, however, a quantity due. Prices firm.

Fred. R. Tippet sailed for England on the 24th inst. He goes on business connected with a number of agencies which he holds. His friends wish him a successful trip.

Priscilla Perkins' Pancake Flour, self-raising, ready for immediate use, is finding ready sale here. Northrup & Co. have secured the agency and can quote bottom prices.

The output for the season on the Island of cheese and butter is estimated at 480,000 and 45,000 lbs. respectively. A sale of 12 000 cheese to one packer is reported. They were for export to London.

Owing to the increasing practice of dealers through the province buying cars of flour direct from the miller, the stocks held in St. John are not as large as formerly. The feeling here is rather weaker.

Steamer Florida, sailing from Prince Edward Island on the 19th, had on board $70,000 worth of cheese and butter. This shows well for an infant industry, and is but one sign of many of the progress being made by this "Garden of the Gulf."

As noted some time since, brooms are firm, having had an advance of 35c. from the lowest point. The factory in St. John has now a capacity of 150 doz. per day. Owing to the large demand in the lower provinces the firm has not pushed brooms in the west as it has brushes, although a few are sold. The factory has now on hand orders from British Columbia. Last spring it sent a carload. An increase of business in Ontario is also reported.

The demand for lumber for the American market is much improved. The taking off of the duty by the American government is having its effect in larger returns for cargoes sent. The prospect for next season looks well. The British market is flat.

In talking to Thos. White, of White, Colwell & Co., THE GROCER was informed that the demand this season was not as large as last, but that they expected they would do about as much business as last year. They were not able to fill all their orders.

The business men of Chatham are trying to form a Board of Trade. Even in the smaller towns, where such has been successfully started, good work has been accomplished. It is hoped this important movement will receive the support it deserves.

Export business from maritime ports to the West Indies at this season is quite active. Beside that reported above from Yarmouth, there was from Summerside a cargo including 12,273 bush. oats, 6 sets harness, 33 horses, 46 sheep, 80 turkeys; total value, $7,700.

Quite a business has been done during the season by Theodore H. Estabrooks in cocoanuts, which he imports direct. He has sold a large quantity in Ontario and as far west as Winnipeg. He is looking forward to a much larger sale next season. Prices have ranged about $3 50 to $4.

Upwards of sixty thousand smoked herrings were landed here week before last. As twenty thousand were to fill a New York order for the West Indies, the whole quantity was not thrown upon the market, but the price has been forced down 1c. John Sealy has handled the bulk of those arriving.

Among the vessels which sailed out of Yarmouth during the past month were two schooners for the Spanish West Indies. One carried 692 bbls. potatoes, 572 packages codfish, 700 boxes smoked herring, 12,000 feet lumber. The other took 673 barrels potatoes, 200 packages codfish, 11,000 feet lumber.

Auction sales of apples continue twice a day on the market square. Never were soft apples so plenty and so low, and even Bishop pippins are sometimes found there. Prices range from 75c. to $1. It comes hard on the farmer. Apples such as do to send to the English market are, however, scarce and high, as Baldwins, Spies, etc.

Among the exports from Prince Edward Island during the past week were three cars of canned blueberries for the Boston market. There was also cleared from the two ports, Summerside and Alberton, during six days, $29,482 worth of goods, including 13,000 barrels oysters, 125 cases eggs, 7,659 lbs. pork, 2,275 bush. oats, 7,200 lbs. starch, 1,860 lbs. butter and 753 live geese; also 135 sacks wool.

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
HALIFAX, Nov. 29.

ONTARIO poultry came down here with a rush and the consequence is an overstocked market and low prices. Butchers are anxiously awaiting the awarding of the army contract. This is a big thing with Halifax, as it means the supplying of some 3,000 soldiers and staff officials with the best beef securable. Of late years nobody has made any money out of it, but this time the man who secures the contract will likely fare better. The butchers concluded the cut-throat policy was played out, and as the regulations raised the standard of the beef from 450 lbs. per dressed carcase to 560, they decided to meet it with a corresponding tender price. I am told on good authority that each of the tenderers asked $2 per 100 lbs. more than the accepted tender of last year. This has apparently paralyzed the war department, as none of the tenders have been accepted so far.

Molasses stocks are at a low ebb, but a cargo is due to arrive from the West Indies, and several others are on their way here.

CANNED GOODS—There is no change in this line. Prices remain the same as last quotations, and the demand is slow.

DRIED FRUIT—Stocks are arriving in good condition, and the demand is firm. Black baskets advanced 10c. during the past week. The quotations are: Valencias, 4⅝c.; Valencia layers, 5½c.; London layers, $2.30; Imperial Cabinet, $2.60; black baskets, $3.10. Prunes, currants and evaporated apples remain quiet, with no change in quotations.

GREEN FRUIT — Apple quotations in this market give no idea of the selling price, which ranges all the way from $1.10 to $2.50 per barrel. Large shipments are being made to London. Cranberries are likely to be stiff, the only supply in the market being a few Magdalens. Florida lemons are arriving in a very unsatisfactory condition. They are bringing $4 to $5. Mediterranean stock will arrive shortly, and will give better satisfaction. Jamaica oranges are worth $5 to $6 per bbl. repacked. Almeria grapes are arriving in good condition, and the supply is free, with quotations at $4.50 to $5.50. Pineapples are expected shortly.

DAIRY PRODUCTS—There is no change in cheese. Good butter is scarce. Fair Canadian is offered at 16½c., landed here. Native stock is worth 19c. Some fancy stock is bringing more money.

MOLASSES—There is no Cienfuegos or Demerara N brand in the market. The quotations are: Antigua, 28c.; Porto Rico, 32 and 34c.; Trinidad, 27c.; Barbadoes, 30c.; Demerara, M. R. brand, 38c.; Demerara, (B.) D. brand, 45c.

SUGARS—There are no new features in sugars. The steamer City of Lincoln, which is at St. John's, Newfoundland, in distress, has 2,200 tons for this port. The quotations are: Porto Rico, in hhds., 3¼c.; refined cut loaf, 5¾c.; granulated, 4⅞c.; standard A, 4c.; standard yellow C, 3¾c.; extra C, 3½c.; yellow extra C, 3⅛c.

FISH—The steamer Cuba takes about $22,000 worth of fish to Port au Prince this week. The Haytian trade is proving a bonanza for this port. Good prime cod are in demand. Fat mackerel are neglected, and large Bank fish are not much sought after. The unprecedentedly large catch of fall herrings has knocked 50c. per bbl. off the price. The quotations, tol quol., are: Bank cod, $3.25 to $4; Nova Scotia, shore, $3.25 to $3 90; fall split, hgs., $2.40 to $2.50; salmon, city inspection, No. 1, $14; No. 2, $12; No. 3, $10; alewives, No. 1, $2 90; July Cape Breton fat herrings, $5; haddock, per quintal, $2 50; pollock, $2; hake, $2.

PROVISIONS—Beef holds up well. Sales made to-day realize $7 for good heavy stock, while small stocks only realize $5 and $5.50. P. E. Island hogs sold from 6 to 6½c. P. E. Island mess is worth $17 50; do., thin, $16; American plate beef, $14; lard, pure, 10½c.; do., in cases, 11½c.

HALIFAX MARKET NOTES.

Onions still remain low and plentiful.

A carload of Ontario poultry has arrived to J. A. Leaman & Co. in prime condition.

Pears are finished and bananas are about over; some few bunches are arriving, but of no interest to jobbers.

A large fleet of vessels from Lunenburg will engage in the frozen herring trade this winter with Newfoundland.

Fresh eggs are in good demand. Case stocks sell from 18 to 20c., but fresh market are bringing 30c. at retail.

India and Ceylon teas are stiffening, but Chinas remain steady. There are stocks on hand to meet all demands for the next six months.

Dealers are slow about putting in winter stocks of potatoes. The prices remain stiff, but dealers anticipate they will come down. This is hardly to be expected, on account of the small P. E. Island crop.

Breadstuffs remain quiet. Agents report a probable rise of 25 to 50c. per bbl. in Manitoba and Ontario flour, but the fall stocks here will likely make it non-effective.

WOODSTOCK, N.B., MARKETS.

WOODSTOCK, N.B., Nov. 29, 1894.

There is little new in country produce and the volume of business is small. There is not any large quantity of oats offering. If the farmers would be more careful in cleaning their oats they would see an improvement in price. Hay is in large supply, and, though offered very low, does not find quick sale. In other lines dealers have been busy getting in stocks for Christmas. A busy trade is expected from now till then, but it is doubtful if it will be as large as last year. In eggs the market is firm. Butter is rather easier. In produce we quote: Hay, $6 per ton; oats, 29c. per bush.; beets, $1 per bbl.; turnips, 50c.; carrots, 60 to 75c.; cabbages, 35c.; squashes, 1c. per lb.; pumpkins, 3 to 5c.; beans, $1.50; butter, 17c.; eggs, 15c.; cheese, 9½c.; onions, $1.25 per bush.

THE CUT IN COTTONS.

The announcement in last week's GROCER that Parks & Son, of the St John, N.B. cotton mills, who are not in the combination, had reduced the lowest grade of grey cotton to 2¾c. a yard, has created a good deal of talk in trade circles. Mr. Morrice now talks of reducing their 3c. grade to 2¾c., and the 3½c. to 3¼c., but no announcement has yet been made.

The consumption of grey cottons has been much less this year. China, which took about 6,000 bales from Canada last season, has not taken one this year. It is said the Brantford factory will be closed for lack of work

The trade in fancy colored goods, such as Zephyrs, etc., has been satisfactory, and the Canadian Cotton Co. deserve credit for the improvements, it is said it contemplates making in these goods, both in quality and style. There was much need for it. It is not improbable that the St. Croix mills, at St Stephen, will run entirely on these lines as soon as they can put in some new machinery.

DOMINION GROCERS' GUILD.

The annual meeting of the Dominion Grocers' Guild was held in the Board of Trade, Toronto, Wednesday last. Hugh Blain, vice-president, was in the chair. The meeting was short and sweet, there being little business transacted outside the election of officers. Among those present were the following: George Childs and George Geoffrion, Montreal; George Bristol, S. Balfour, W. Macpherson, W. H. Gillard and Alexander Turner, Hamilton; M. Masuret, London; William H. Ince, sr., William Ince, jr., J. W. Lang, H. P. Eckardt, T. Kinnear, W. C. Crowther and W. Keighley, Toronto. W. H. Gillard, of Hamilton, was elected president and C. Chaput, of Montreal, vice-president. C. Heber, the retiring president, would not stand for re-election owing to ill-health, and a letter from him to that effect was read. The next meeting of the Guild will be held in Montreal. A banquet in the evening in the Board of Trade restaurant wound up the day's proceedings.

PROTESTED WITH GOOD EFFECT.

A small-sized war has been raging in Halifax between the police and the wholesale grocers and fruit men. Last winter the city council secured the passage through the legislature of an Act to prevent the obstruction of sidewalks. The Act turned out to be more far-reaching than its framers intended, and, when the police began to put it in force, the merchants became greatly embarrassed. The firm of Hessian & Devine, for instance, handle some days as much as 1,000 packages, and the new Act would not allow them to deposit their goods on the sidewalk. It was the same with C. W. Outhit, Bremner Bros., and all the rest. Every time goods were deposited on the sidewalks, even for a very short time, the merchant doing so was reported by the police, summoned to the police court along with common drunks, and fined $2 for each offence. They protested mildly at first, but latterly very emphatically. At last the matter reached such a climax that merchants talked about suspending business, and the city council was appealed to. That body could not tell the police not to enforce the law, but they did the next best thing, and passed a resolution to the effect that all cases of violation be reported first to the police commission, who, if they saw fit, would report to the court officials. Thus the matter is amicably arranged until the Act can be amended or repealed.

SWEET POTATO SITUATION.

SWEET potatoes have been very cheap this season, and just at present prices are unusually low. The crop was large in both Virginia and New Jersey, the States which supply this market with most of the stock. In Virginia 93 per cent. of an average yield was grown, and in New Jersey 99 per cent., or almost a full crop. The Virginia potatoes have sold mainly at $1 per barrel for a month only, a few known marks higher, and $1 was shaded on a good many within the last week, and this week it has been almost impossible to realize that figure, bulk of the stock selling from first hands at 75 to 90c. per barrel. These are the lowest prices of the season, and mean practically nothing for the grower, as the freight, cost of barrel, cost of digging and shipping, and the commission merchant's commission equal this figure, and doubtless in some cases exceed it. The receipts from Jersey have also been large, but are of better quality than the more southern potatoes and prices average higher, but so many dealers use the Virginia stock that the outlet for Jersey is small and prices low and unsatisfactory. The season is so far advanced, however, that most of the outdoor stock has been forwarded, and holders of cellar stock are not inclined to take the present low figures, and are holding until the Virginia are out of the market, when they expect to establish an advance. At present $2, possibly $2 25, is all that can be realized for finest Jersey from Vineland and other neighboring sections, while other South Jersey stock in double-headed barrels does not exceed $1.75, except a few extra fine kiln-dried, while prices range down for ordinary grades according to condition and quality. The Monmouth Co. and near by sweets are not as good as those received from more Southern Jersey points, and average best marks are not salable above $1.50 per barrel.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

P. G. McCarger has sold out the Trent Valley flour mills at Lakefield to Edwards & Babcock. The new firm have taken possession.

A number of Woodstock grocers and fruiterers have received drafts within the last few days from the firm of A. G. Gibson & Co., Toronto, for amounts ranging from $2 to $18, which had already been paid the traveler upon delivery of the goods. The local merchants are in a quandary as to whether they will have to pay for the goods a second time, Gibson & Co.'s traveler having levanted.—Journal, St. Thomas.

A letter received at Gloucester, Mass., from Capt. Daniel Ryder, of Newfoundland, intimates that the Government of that country will, this winter, place an export duty equal to the American tariff upon herring exported in foreign bottoms; and that in anticipation of this a number of vessels from Lunenburg, N.S., have been chartered to load herring at Newfoundland for American ports.

The grocers of Monongahela, Pa., held a meeting recently, and took preliminary steps toward forming an organization for protection against the fakirs and street hawkers, a number of whom have been selling vegetables, etc., without a license. It is the intention of the grocers to enforce the law covering street peddling, and require every vender to take out the proper license.

The Graham Evaporator Company, of Norwich, has been granted ten years' exemption from taxation by the village of Tilsonburg. Mr. Graham is to expend $5,000 in the village each year in connection with his business or to pay taxes. On Friday night last Graham's evaporator at Norwich was destroyed by fire, entailing a loss of $6,000 on contents and building; insurance, $3,000.

Yesterday a deputation from the Chamber of Commerce, composed of Messrs. D. Parizeau, M. L. A.; G. Boivin and J. H. Perreault waited upon Hon. Louis Beaubien, at the Local Government buildings, St. Gabriel street, and asked the Minister of Agriculture to see that circulars were sent to all the agricultural societies in order to ascertain how many acres of land would be available for beet root culture in Quebec province. Hon. Mr. Beaubien replied that he would be only too glad to comply with the request.—Gazette, Montreal.

AN EXPLANATION.

DEAR GROCER,—With reference to the following paragraph which appeared in your isssue of the 23rd, viz.: "John Waddell, of Harriston, against whom the corporation of that town had entered a suit for payment of taxes, obtained a verdict in his favor," I beg leave to say your informant must have been totally ignorant of the facts, or wilfully misrepresented them. I was not sued for taxes, as I owed none; but was brought up under a by-law relating to transient traders. After doing business in Harriston for nearly fourteen years, I moved to Chesley last year, and returned to Harriston last May. The corporation brought said action against me to make me pay the sum of $50 by way of transient trader's license, but they failed to prove me a transient trader, hence the verdict in my favor.

JOHN WADDELL.

DRY GOODS.

TORONTO MARKET.

ON the whole, the November sorting trade has been disappointing. October's demands were not large but they were steady, and a fair movement was kept up all through the month, even until the last day. November on the contrary has proved unsteady. For a day or two things will look brighter and then again the demand will drop off for a few days. The volume of wholesale trade for November will hardly exceed 50 per cent. of what it was two years ago.

Spring orders are perhaps almost as good as last year. This may be due to the fact that, owing to the decreased volume of retail trade, some dealers who generally import considerable quantities of goods are placing orders for spring goods with jobbers. This enables them to save a buying trip and purchase less. At the same time, the general state of trade enables them as buyers to get pretty close quotations and very favorable terms from the wholesalers.

Black beaver overcoatings have been in great demand the past few weeks, and wholesale stocks are almost exhausted. Meltons and naps are in good demand and in better stock. Friezes have sold fairly well.

Christmas fancy goods, fancy handkerchiefs, braces, gloves, mufflers, and all presentation goods are being pushed to the front by both wholesalers and retailers, and the wisdom of such a movement is apparent in the increased trade resulting.

MONTREAL.

There was little doing in the dry goods trade during the past week, the weather in the first place being against it, while the holiday had something to do also with interfering with the turnover. The decline of 10 to 20 per cent. in the price of white cottons has had the effect of curtailing the demand for those lines, as buyers are uncertain what to do.

There has been a fair sprinkling of sorting orders for heavy goods and the receipt of a few spring orders, but wholesale business has been very quiet aside from this.

Remittances have been fair and the city retail trade is commencing to pick up a trifle.

NEW WAY OF PRESERVING FRUIT.

The first carload of fruit shipped from California under the new process of preserving by carbonic gas, instead of refrigeration, has been disposed of in Chicago. The car was shipped from Sacramento on October 13th, and, owing to numerous accidents en route, did not reach Chicago until midnight on the 21st. Even then it was subjected to further delay in the yards, and did not reach the consignee's warehouse until twenty-four hours later. The car, explains Baltimore Journal of Commerce, contained two air-tight compartments, out of which, after the fruit had been loaded, the air was exhausted and the compartments charged with the carbonic gas. In one of the air radiants on the road the car was partially derailed, and one compartment sprung in such a manner as to permit the leakage of the gas. The other was not injured. When the fruit was unloaded, that from the damaged compartment was found to be partially spoiled, owing to the admission of air, while the fruit in the other was in as perfect condition as the day it was loaded. The prices it brought were as high as any on the market. Those interested in the new experiment are delighted with the success of this initial trip, and the assertion is confidently made that it will settle beyond a doubt the utility and value of their plan of preservation as compared with refrigerators.

OUTPUT OF CHEESE.

Prof. Robertson, Dominion Dairy Commissioner, has just returned from a trip to the Maritime Provinces. He says the output of cheese in the Government dairy stations on Prince Edward Island was 12,022 boxes. The value last year was less than $50,000. This year the increased production brought it to $80,000. The total quantity of milk received was 4,259 tons. Prof. Robertson estimated that the value of the cheese and butter for export from the island might reach $500,000 annually before ten years passed from the time he started the first dairy station there in 1892. It looks as though the estimate would be exceeded. Several of the young men from Prince Edward Island have come up to act as assistants at the new dairy school at Kingston, Ont. The department's work in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick is making nearly as much and as substantial progress.

MOST necessary requisite in the keeping of a grocery is to have the standard, the best, and the most favorably known articles for sale. You don't then have to explain their merits to your customer. They probably know as much as you, about that same article.

On the other hand, a poor unknown article of questionable quality and unquestionable price is something you haven't the time to experiment with, nor the inclination to risk your standing among good customers with.

A TWO-FOLD LESSON.

THE frauds recently perpetrated upon merchants in Stratford and Woodstock, by a sharper whom a couple of Toronto houses had sent out to sell fruit, should have the effect of imparting a two-fold lesson.

Wholesalers need to exercise much caution when employing traveling salesmen. The swindler in question was a stranger to those who employed him. In appearance everything was in his favor, but all that seems to have been known about him was what he supplied himself: He was an American, had been in Montreal, and was named "Mr. Rose." His operations show that "Mr. Thorn" would have been more appropriate, for he badly pricked a number of unsuspecting merchants by his sharpness.

Since the item announcing this man's swindling operations appeared, THE GROCER has become cognizant of his modus operandi.

His modes of working were not always the same, but that which he appears to have commonly used was this: After securing an order he would present himself to the storekeeper who had favored him and advance the plea that, as he was returning to Toronto, he would be much obliged if he would pay him, instead of waiting till the time designated by the terms on the invoice. In fact, the firm was a little short just then, and if the storekeeper could pay him he would make it worth his while by allowing him extra discount. In some instances, it is understood, he even agreed to remit the freight, in addition to allowing the discount. These inducements caught most, if not all, those to whom he had sold. And now, with one or two exceptions, they stand to pay over again. At least, that is understood to be the opinion of the legal gentlemen who have been consulted in the matter; and they base their conclusions on the fact that the terms fix the 1st and 15th of each month as the times when payments shall be made. "Mr. Rose" is now in his native land, although it is possible he may not always be, provided the arm of the law is able to reach him.

The merchants who were made the victims of this man's perfidy have learned a lesson that they will not soon forget. But there are others, not at all affected in the present instance, who may need to be cautioned, in order that they may not be caught in a similar trap should it be put in their way.

Never pay an account except through the regular mediums of drafts, cheques, post-office orders, or through an accredited representative. Remember this, and there is not much danger of anyone being deceived as were the Stratford and Woodstock merchants in the instances cited.

Make your customers feel at home in your place of business. Be social. Don't let a customer feel that your interest in his welfare ends with his pocket-book.

A JUSTIFIABLE BOYCOTT.

A retailer in a thriving town in Nova Scotia did a good general store business and made money. He did not make it as rapidly as he desired, and he began cutting prices.

To prevent him getting all the trade his competitors did the same, and in a short time business was more or less demoralized in that place; but the cutting kept on until he was forced to suspend, as is usually the case, for a house cannot sell goods at less than cost and live.

He then compromised with his creditors at 40c. on the dollar, and advertised extensively that he had secured his stock at that price, and had some rare bargains to offer. Buyers rushed to his place and other stores were neglected.

A number of the merchants of that town are pretty shrewd. They agreed not to purchase from any wholesale merchant or manufacturer who sold to the insolvent. This has had a beneficial effect. Travelers do not call upon him. Some houses have tried to work his business by mail but two of them have been found out and the other dealers have withdrawn their business. This is a hint which might be adopted in other places.

The moral pressure from a wholesale house can often prevent a retailer from cutting prices. Why should they not be asked to apply it?

Not altogether due to the high tariff is the scarcity of Cape Cod cranberries on the Toronto market. Destructive fires contributed no small share thereto These fires were in the swamps, where the berries grow, and appear to have been widespread. With a tariff favoring him at home and fires favoring him abroad, the Canadian grower could not expect much more, unless it perhaps be good times.

PACKERS AND BUSINESS METHODS.

"WELL, there is one good thing that has resulted from the combination of the Canadian packers. There is little or none of that breach of faith which at one time was all too common. What I mean is that a packer does not now agree to sell me all his pack and then go and put up more goods to compete with me."

This remark fell from the lips of a large wholesale dealer in canned goods a few days ago. And what he said was based on his own experience.

More than once he had bought what the packer had asserted would be his total pack for the season, say, for instance, 20,000 cases. "And more than once," to use the wholesaler's own words, "the packer had tilted his hat back upon his head, made a bee line for home, arranged with the farmers for increased acreage of, say tomatoes, and then put up 50 or 100 per cent. more goods than he had intimated he would."

True, what may be termed these surplus goods were not always placed on the Toronto market. Sometimes they were not even sold in the province. But they almost invariably came into competition with the goods sold in the first instance, and that often at a lower price, for, having sold what he originally intended to pack at a good price, he disposed of his duplicate pack at a lower figure, thus adding meanness to deception.

It is a strong thing to say, but it is nevertheless true: there are among the packers of this country too many men who know little or nothing of the ethics of business. If it were not so, why in the name of common sense, setting aside altogether the question of morality, would they perform such unbusiness-like acts as those cited?

And while associations with cast iron rules and heavy penalties may conduce to keep down such phases of fraud as those designated, they cannot effect a permanent cure.

Before this can be accomplished those members who have not yet done so must learn the A B C of business principles, for in them is included morality, as well as what may be termed the theory of business proper.

The packer who is to succeed to-day must, like any other man of business, have individuality, perseverance and a purpose.

It does not necessarily follow that to have these precludes his being affiliated with an association composed of his fellow manufacturers. But this is obvious: An association can, unless its tenets and objects are carefully guarded, bury a man's individuality, dampen his perseverance, and thwart his purpose. As far as the Canadian Packers' Association is concerned, THE GROCER fears that it is not altogether conducive to the best interests of the packers themselves or the trade in general. In spite of the organization, jealousy will not down, for, like a lot of sheep, when one discovers a spot of juicy green grass, they nearly all follow, instead of each independently starting out on a foraging expedition on his own account.

Competition is keen, but that is no reason why a man with a good article and a fair amount of capital should not succeed. There is always room at the top for the best; and the packing business is no exception to the rule.

But, good as an article may be, it must be pushed; it must be advertised, and advertised in the best possible way.

A man cannot know all the good things there are in a book until he has read it or until someone has recited to him its contents. Neither can the trade or the public know that a certain packer is putting up a good article unless he persistently and judiciously keeps dinning the matter into their ears.

But advertising through the trade and ordinary newspapers is not the only description of advertising necessary, or the only kind that requires thought. The label denoting the brand needs to be attractive, but not gaudy and cheap looking. Next, uniformity of excellence of quality must be cultivated, and with a righteousness that will allow the eye to wink at nothing. And of course the procuring of orders under false pretenses must be religiously eschewed.

The packer who will hew to these lines is bound to win success. It may not come in a season, but it will come eventually.

No one requires to be told that, as far as numbers are concerned, the field in Canada has a fairly big crop of packers. But it is another thing to say that the field is well planted as far as quality is concerned. A good many of them are at best poor stunted things, with little life, no ambition and no push. And their condition is made all the more striking in contrast with the firms who have adopted methods more akin to those followed by sound and progressive business men.

Still even those who are accounted the best and leading packers will need to look to their laurels. They do not at all times display that business acumen and enterprise that the character of their industries demands. And unless they put on a spurt and keep their eyes open for the appropriation of modern ideas, they too stand to get outstripped in the race.

Unless these passive firms wake up, it is obvious that in course of time they will be forced out of the field altogether by packers who will build their superstructure on modern and sound business principles.

CANADIAN FINANCIAL POSITION.

BRADSTREET'S, New York, in its issue Dec. 1, has an article by W. C. Cornwall, Buffalo, on business during the panic, which shows that trade in Canada is established upon a much sounder basis than in the United States. Bradstreet's says that during the strictly panicky season Canadian banks came through with only a 3 per cent. decrease in deposits, while those of the United States lost 20 per cent. Loans in Canada decreased 1⅓ per cent., while in the United States they fell off 12½ per cent. In the savings bank deposits the decrease in the United States was nearly 8 per cent.; in Canada they were stationary or slightly increased. Failures in Canada increased 5 per cent. over the previous year; in the States they were 51 per cent. greater. In the States 240 banks failed; in Canada, not one. Canada's bank-note circulation is limited in round numbers to $60,000,000. Yet, when New York banks could not get currency, excepting by resorting to the New York clearing house certificate expedient, Canada had a lee-way of $20,000 000 to $30,000,000.

Yet, in the face of this evidence from a disinterested source, some English journals say that Canadians are financially bankrupt, and advise no purchases of Canadian securities. There appears to be some truth in the hint from London that these articles are for the purpose of blackmailing the governments, municipalities, and corporations who are seeking to float bonds on the London market.

SMUGGLING PARTRIDGES IN.

Ontario dealers are not allowed to sell partridges, because the provincial law is anxious to protect them for sportsmen. A man may shoot them for his own use, or to give his friends, but he must not sell them.

The grocer's best customers want them, and, as there is a good profit, many of them are bringing in partridges from Quebec and the Maritime Provinces by express as chickens.

In parts of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia partridges are so plentiful that they can be bought for 10 to 25c. a pair. These are resold in Ontario cities and towns at 50 to 75c. a pair.

OUR LEADING RETAILERS.

F. J. GILLESPIE.

F. J. GILLESPIE, general merchant, Uptergrove, county of Ontario, first saw the light of day in the township of Adjala, in the county of Simcoe, on December 16th, 1855. His father, Owen Gillespie, shortly afterwards sold his farm in Adjala and moved to the adjoining township of Tossoronto, where the subject of our sketch was brought up on a farm. He was frequently engaged in clearing, hauling saw-logs, etc., and performing other duties incidental to pioneer life in a new and comparatively uncleared wilderness. Owing to the school being over four miles away, he was unable to attend such an institution until he was about 12 years of age, when a new school was erected some two miles from his father's farm. In four years and six months, a good deal of which time he was kept home, young Gillespie went from the alphabet to a third class certificate, which he secured in 1872. C.S. McMain, now of Toronto, but then of Everett, was his teacher, and, under Mr. McMain, young Frank overtook and passed nearly every one in the school. Rev. J. F. German, M.A., Rev. Wm. McKee, B.A., and Rev. P. Rey and many other school visitors predicted a bright future for the then brilliant youth. Mr. Gillespie began to teach in November, 1872, and continued for fourteen consecutive years, the last six of which he taught at Uptergrove, where he is now doing a successful business.

Mr. Gillespie began business in 1886. He bought and paid for, in cash, his business stand from William Maguire, now of Queen street, Toronto, and put in about $1,500 worth of stock. Since then the stock has constantly been added to, until to-day it is fairly large and well assorted. Mr. Gillespie attributes his success to his always having told the truth to his customers. On this account children are frequently large purchasers at his store, because the parents know they will get as good bargains as if they went themselves.

Honest, straightforward dealing has won for him the esteem, and more, the affection, of the people of Mara township, where he deservedly holds the highest office in their gift—that of reeve. Mr. Gillespie, besides running a general store, has bought grain for W. D. Matthews & Co, of Toronto, for nine years, and is still in their employ.

Mr. Gillespie represents the Liverpool, London and Globe, Royal Insurance, Sun Life, Worts Estate, R. Edwards & Co., and other money lending companies. To show how careful Mr. Gillespie is in his business habits it is only necessary to mention that he has been lending money on notes to the Mara public for R. Edwards & Co for nine years past, and in no year did he lend less than $2,000 in that way, and one year it was as high as $8,000, and yet R. Edwards & Co. have never lost one dollar through Mr. Gillespie's agency. In 1881 Mr. Gillespie was appointed clerk of the seventh division court for the county of Ontario, but as it is a very small court little or no time is lost in doing the work. Mr. Gillespie, during his business career, has not been indifferent to the duties of citizenship, for in January, 1890, he accepted the deputy reeveship of his township, and January last was elected reeve by acclamation. During the four years Mr. Gillespie was at the County Council as deputy reeve, he held the chairmanship of the committee on legislation, education and finance respectively. He was the first deputy reeve in the county of Ontario to ever hold the important chairmanship of finance. Mr. Gillespie's business methods and geniality of disposition won for him the confidence and esteem of the county council, and in January last he was elected warden of Ontario, one of the most advanced and wealthiest counties in Ontario. During the past eight and a half years Mr. Gillespie has worked hard, looking after his store, grain, division court office and latterly the township business. Apart from this business life Mr. Gillespie finds time to assist one or more societies. He is chief of Dunbarton Camp of the Sons of Scotland, and a member of St. Andrew's C. M. B. A., of Brechin. In May, 1881, Mr. Gillespie married Miss Christina McDonald, of Mara, by whom he has six children, three boys and three girls. The union has been a happy one, and Mr. Gillespie's business owes much to the assistance of his wife. A few weeks ago, readers of THE GROCER will remember, Mr. Gillespie was nominated by the Reformers in North Ontario as their candidate at the next general election for the House of Commons.

F. J. GILLESPIE.

AN INDUSTRY WANTED.

DEAR SIR,—At the suggestion of several members of the Council, I write you to be kind enough to say if you would recommend us to start a soap factory in our town. We want some profitable industry to boom things here, and I think there is more money in soap than anything else that would suit this town. We would not want to start very big at first, but employ only half a dozen hands and work up.—Yours, &c.

THUS writes the mayor of a town of 2,000 souls. We regret we cannot recommend them to start a soap factory. There are as many factories now as are necessary to supply the Canadian market, and the profits are not more than a fair in vestment on the capital. It would take a good deal of advertising for a new concern to gain a foothold. Several soap factories have already failed.

It seems to be an invariable mania for towns to encourage, not an industry which would develop their natural resources, but only such as would have to compete with good old-established businesses. The industries which have paid towns or districts are those which developed their natural resources. Factory towns are, as a rule, less prosperous than agricultural. A cotton factory will bring in many employes, and trade may boom for a time, but eventually they become poor customers, and worse citizens.

The town for which our friend writes is the centre of an agricultural district. We know, as a matter of fact, that its resources have never been developed. The merchants should organize a company of themselves and leading farmers to operate a creamery in one district and, say, a cheese factory in another direction. Many fruits grow to advantage, and if the merchants took an interest in their cultivation they could bring about a great improvement in the quality and the way of marketing. At present the ground is well occupied, but in time there will be an opening there for a canning factory for the consumption of these goods. An evaporating factory would pay now. Near the town there is an excellent limestone quarry, which could be developed.

Let Mr. Mayor and the prominent people of the town take "a night off" and think if the natural resources of their district are developed to their fullest extent, then hold a meeting and discuss their thoughts.—ED

THE CLOSED REFINERIES.

A BIG surprise was it to the trade when the announcement went out that the refineries at Boston, Philadelphia and New York, under the control of the American Sugar Refinery Co., otherwise known as the Sugar Trust, were to be closed down, throwing some 15,000 men out of employment.

Great successes are often followed by great failures. During the last session of Congress, the Trust proved more powerful than the will or interests of the people. The legislation enacted clearly proved this. But almost before the lovers of "Government of the peop'e, by the people, for the people," have stopped gnashing their teeth the intelligence comes that the Trust is compelled to close down.

Naturally, the subject is being discussed by the press—that of Canada, as well as that of the United States; and the conclusions as to the reasons for shutting down are arrived at according to the standpoint from which they are viewed. Consequently, there are a diversity of opinions as to motive.

One opinion that passes muster with not a few is that the prime object is to exercise an influence over Congress, which reassembled Monday, in order that it may keep its hands from meddling with the tariff and placing sugar on the free list. But the men at the head of the great Trust are among the sharpest and shrewdest in the United States, and consequently would hardly be so unwise as to play such a poor card as that—the worst they have in their hand.

Boodle was the right bower during the last session of Congress, and they would probably again prefer to play it than trust to a mere bluff that would be obvious to everybody.

It was anticipated, prior to its final adoption, that once the tariff question was settled a brisk demand would develop for sugar; and the Trust had big stocks on hand preparatory for it. But the brisk demand did not materialize. The continuance of the financial depression was the principal deterrent, but to make matters worse there has lately been a breaking up of the wholesale guilds and an accompanying unusually severe epidemic of price cutting, which did not help the Trust any, for it failed to induce large consumption. Cutting seldom, if ever, does.

The chief reason for the shutting down of the refineries may therefore be reasonably assigned to a desire on the part of the Trust to work off the heavy stocks now on hand, and thus give the demand a chance to catch up with the supply, something which is particularly desirable in view of the large crops of cane in Cuba and beet in Germany.

Mr. Licht's latest estimate of the sugar beet crop in Germany is 4,800,000 tons, an increase of 904,491 tons over last year. This aggregate is something like a million tons more than Europe can consume, and, as the United States is practically the only outlet for Germany's surplus stocks, it is not surprising that the Trust should exhibit haste to get relieved of its load. To-day even granulated beet sugar can be laid down in New York at 3.56c. per lb., duty paid, while the Trust's net price is 3.98c.

President Havemeyer, of the Trust, ascribes to the trade conditions the cause of the refineries being shut down. But it is not likely that the organization of which he is head will succumb yet awhile, or that he and his will need to solicit the assistance of his friends for some moons.

Before the Trust was re-organized some few years ago its profits were enormous; since then they have been—well, the N. Y. Journal of Commerce says $22,000,000 annually, or 220 per cent. on the actual value of the plant. Other authorities place the profits at 150 per cent. for 1892 and 165 per cent. for 1893.

President Havemeyer draws the modest sum of $75,000 annually for transacting the duties appertaining to his office, and his position as trustee brings him in another $25,000. Then Theodore Havemeyer gets $75,000 for fulfilling the duties of vice-president and trustee. Treasurer Searles gets $75,000 for what he does and a similar sum is divided among three other trustees. Here is a salary bill of $325,000 annually for the services of six men. Then there are the itching palms of sundry hungry legislators that have to be satisfied. With such demands as these upon its resources, of course the Trust would need to make big profits; and 220 per cent. is probably none too large.

MONEY.

IT is money that makes the mare go, and it is business that makes the money go—that makes it circulate. As a natural result of the caution which capitalists and banking institutions have been exercising lately, money is only being invested in what may be termed gilt-edged ventures. Consequently, of course, many good dollars are lying idle in the vaults of the monetary institutions, and money is getting cheaper and cheaper as a result. An evidence of this latter fact was exhibited last week, when business men and others, who have been laying away little "nest eggs" for rainy days in the savings departments of certain institutions, were notified that they would hereafter be only accorded 3½ per cent. instead of 4 per cent. This sum is still ½ per cent. higher than usually obtains with the regular chartered banks.

With money as cheap as it is, and with the trade prospects of the country obviously improving, opportune is it now for the floating of industrial projects such as are indigenous to the country; not exotic or wild-cat schemes. By-and-by money will be dearer, and then promoters of enterprises will be compelled to pay more for their powder and shot. I'm only a poor newspaper man; I wish I was a promoter.

About $2,000,000 was paid out in Montreal last week in dividends. Happy Montreal, and happy too, I expect, some of the recipients of these dividends were, for, although wiser in their generation than the people of Toronto in this respect, I opine that some of them are feeling the effects of chasing too far the wild will-o the wisp of a real estate boom.

Uncle Sam has succeeded in floating his $50,000,000 bonds and bringing up the depleted reserve to the $100,000,000 mark, and even a little past it in fact. But he has not yet solved the problem of how to keep the reserve to the tide water mark. Gold still has a tendency to flow Europe-ward, and on Saturday last it was only the fact that none but old coins were on hand that prevented a parcel of the yellow metal going where the conditions seem more congenial to its health.

Last week's statement of the New York banks caused a good deal of surprise. It was expected that, as a result of the floating of the $50,000,000 government bond, the cash items would show a much larger decrease than $19,531,900. While some expect that next week's figures will reflect further loss, others there are who contend that the comparative smallness of the decrease in the bank's figures indicate that there has been a large withdrawal of gold from institutions other than the associated banks.

NOT CANADA'S FAULT.

THERE is so much surplus wealth in England that capitalists are constantly looking for investments for it. They are easily led into subscribing stock in all sorts of concerns that promise fabulous dividends, without inquiring whether those organizing them are capable or responsible. Generally they induce some member of Parliament or nobleman to become president. Large sums are frequently subscribed in this way.

Some of these concerns are of a most fraudulent character, and deliberate falsehoods are told in the prospectus. Their nature is sometimes discovered before the promoters have succeeded in floating the full amount of stock.

Two of these—a dressed meat company and a colonization company—were nipped in the bud. The first was warmly supported by the Canadian press, and one of its directors was a titled member of the Dominion Government.

THE CANADIAN GROCER exposed the scheme, and the London papers took it up in time to prevent more than a few thousand being paid up.

Other investments of this sort are those which are good in themselves but which are so mismanaged that they fail to pay dividends.

Others again pay good dividends, but these are absorbed by the directors' and office expenses, and the ordinary shareholders get nothing. One such concern has just been brought to our attention.

It bought a going industry in Canada. At first it paid dividends, but for some years it has paid nothing. At the same time the Canadian office has been sending large sums of money across the Atlantic. Last year $32,000 was sent over as the year's profits, but the ordinary shareholders got nothing. This amount was eaten up in directors' fees, office expenses, etc., in London. As all the business is done on this side there is no necessity for the directors to meet more than once a year to pass dividends, etc., and a secretary at £100 a year would be well paid for the duties it is actually necessary for him to perform.

These experiences not only bring Canadian investments into disrepute, but they seriously affect the country. Such directors blame failures and no dividends on bad trade conditions, when business in Canada is admitted to have been all through the depression on a better basis than any other country in the world. British investors who have their money with reliable institutions here have done well. We know of an Edinburgh capitalist who lost a large sum in two wild cat investments in Canada and was denouncing the country until he paid it a visit. He then went into a reputable Nova Scotia investment, on which he is getting 8 per cent. on preferred and 16 per cent. on his common stock. He admits it is the most profitable investment he has.

HOW TO IMPROVE YOUR CLERKS.

"There is one feature in THE GROCER which I consider valuable," said S. M. Bentley, Truro, "it is its value to clerks. All dealers should see that their clerks read it. From my own experience I know it brightens them up; it is an incentive to better things; they take more interest in the business. It is an education to them. It is just as if they went into a big city and saw modern methods of doing business. If they are worth anything they can appropriate these methods and adopt them to their own circumstances. I would not be without it."

EGGS SCARCE IN TRURO.

Eggs are scarce in Truro. It is hardly possible to get enough to supply the demand, although 18 and 20c. have been offered. It is not a question of price but of supply. The farmers seem to be marketing less each year. This is a short-sighted policy, to which the trade generally should bring their attention. It costs nothing, as the hens feed themselves in the barnyard and are excellent scavengers. Average farmers do not see this; you have to drive it into them.

Don't Miss A Good Thing

CONCERNING RETAILERS.

JOHN WHITESIDES, general merchant, Huntsville, has moved into his new store. So has J. N. Mathew, of the same town.

George Lang, grocer, Milton, now occupies his new store.

A new grocery is being opened up in Chesley. J. Lockman is the proprietor.

Grocer Murphy, of Alliston, has added a boot and shoe department to his business. The results have so far been good.

C. V. Parks, grocer, Wiarton, is making preparations for the Christmas trade. Fancy goods will be one of his specialties.

There is a new store and a new general merchant in Belmore. The proprietor is W. J. McGrogan, and he opened Monday last.

W. Hay, Kincardine, has a good supply of fresh water salt herrings. He accounts the outlook for Christmas trade in groceries good.

"P. Anderson, of Guelph," remarked a traveler, "has got his warehouse filled to the roof with fruits and fancy groceries for the Christmas trade."

George Rutherford, who has been with Burgoyne & Co., of Fenelon Falls, for a number of years, has purchased the grocery and boot and shoe business of Samuel Newman, of that place. During Mr. Rutherford's long engagement with Burgoyne & Co. he not only learned experience but earned the good will of the people of Fenelon Falls, and should do well in his new venture.

Ed. O'Donohoe, grocer, etc., Midland, who was recently burned out, has moved what stock was saved from the fire to the large block formerly owned by N. Courtemanche.

McGillivray & Spears, grocers, Listowel, report business good, collections more satisfactory, and outlook for Christmas trade bright. This firm has a large stock of cheese on hand at the moment.

"George E. King, of Wingham," said a traveler, "is opening the eyes of the merchants up there with the values he is showing in groceries and dry goods. He has recently purchased extensively of fancy groceries."

James Philp, grocer, Fergus, has materially improved his store. Besides putting in a plate glass window, he has enlarged and redecorated the interior of the store. "Mr. Philp is one of the most active grocers on the W. G. & B." added THE GROCER'S informant.

Thos. Mulcahey, general merchant, Orillia, has sold his stock and good will to Crawford & Walker, who took possession 1st inst. Crawford & Walker are highly spoken of, and should continue to make the business the success it was under their predecessor. Mr. Mulcahey, who has been doing business in the same town and premises for nearly a quarter of a century, has well earned the rest he now proposes to enjoy.

OUR APPLE GARDEN VINEGAR.

IN spite of the quietness of trade, there are at least some manufacturers that are able to report an increasing business. The Dover Apple Co., of Port Dover, is one of them. This firm was established in 1891, and it launched out with the determination to manufacture and place on the market only the best and purest cider and white wine vinegars, and the success which has attended its efforts is its reward. The accompanying cut will convey an approximate idea of the proportions assumed by this firm's factory. The fact that the Dover Apple Co. uses the best fruits in the manufacture of its commodities means more than it would in some parts of the country. Port Dover is situated in the best apple-growing section in the country, and it is especially noted for the excellence of the Norfolk variety, which commands the best prices on the English market. It is to this fact, as well as to the enterprise of the firm, that is due the high quality of the Dover Apple Co.'s vinegars.

THE HEAVINESS OF SUGAR.

THE sugar market, not only in the United States but in Canada, is in an unsettled condition at present. The best evidence of this has been the recent declines in prices on granulated at the Montreal refineries.

First the figures were cut 1-16c, then ⅛c., and finally on Thursday last the figure took a tumble to the even figure, 4c, and it is weak at the decline.

This is a drop of ⅜c. since the weak feeling set in, and the heaviness is attributed by sugar operators in Montreal to the competition of cheap German granulated sugar. This stock can be laid down in Montreal at such a low figure that the article can compete with the Montreal granulated.

This is due to various causes; among others, that there has been an enormous crop of raw beet sugar in Germany this year, and that there are prospects of another large one next year.

So far, the offerings in Montreal of this German sugar do not commence to compare in quality with the domestic refined article, but the fact that they are offering has had its influence, as above noted, and if they are pushed still further, refiners in Montreal will have to meet the competition, so that still lower prices are not considered unlikely.

With regard to the sale of German refined sugar, it is doubtful if it will take the place of our Canadian granulated, for, as we have already said, it does not commence to compare with it in quality. Since it has been offered in real earnest, however, the Montreal jobbers say that the chances are that it will take the place of the higher-priced domestic yellows.

At present the German sugar is being jobbed from second hands at 4c.

ALMERIA GRAPES FIRM.

THE firm way in which the price of Almeria grapes has held up this fall in Montreal has been unusual. It has been customary in former seasons for the fruit to open at an extreme figure, and afterwards settle down under gradually increasing receipts.

This year the reverse has been the case. The price opened in September on a small shipment of 50 kegs or so at $5, and instead of sagging off, values remained steady at that until about a fortnight ago, when they stiffened up.

The receipts have been fair also, but the demand has kept them well cleaned up, and finally, last week, as noted in our Montreal reports, $5.50 to $6 per keg was made on that market for good to choice fruit.

In New York the same firmness has been noted, for as high as $14 per keg was realized in some cases early last week; while, as noted in last week's issue, a cargo sold at an average price of $6.25.

CLOSING ON HOLIDAYS.

There are still many live towns in which the merchants do not take advantage of public holidays. Truro, N. S., did not do so until about two years ago. Previous to that they were all open on these days and the poor dealer got no rest whatever. An agreement was prepared and signed by all the retailers to close on Christmas, New Year's, Good Friday, Dominion, Thanksgiving and Truro's natal day. The Board of Trade looks after the matter and publishes a notice a few days before each holiday. People are thus warned of the closing.

There is a good Board of Trade in the town, and there is no reason why the merchants should not carry out an agreement to close at 6 or 7 o'clock each evening excepting Saturday. It is done in many smaller places in Nova Scotia, and dealers who have got into the way would not think of going back to the old days.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Dec. 7, 1894.

GROCERIES.

A GOOD deal of activity is exhibited along the street this week, but the character of the business is not such as to enhance materially the profits of the wholesalers. What is going out is chiefly foreign dried fruits, nuts and other holiday goods, but, while orders are numerous, they are not large. Such staple lines as tea and sugar are quiet. This is especially so in the latter commodity, which is not only dull, but weak and unsettled in price. Coffees are in good demand and scarce. Canned goods remain in much the same featureless condition that they have been for some weeks. Filberts are dearer, and higher figures are being quoted in the primary markets for Turkish prunes.

CANNED GOODS.

Tomatoes, peas, corn and vegetables generally continue quiet and unchanged. The improvement noted last week in canned fruits has continued, peaches, pears and pineapples being particularly noted in this respect. Salmon is still in fair demand at firm prices. Lobster is quiet and unchanged. In mackerel there is scarcely anything doing. We quote as follows: Tomatoes and corn, 85 to 90c.; peas, 80 to 85c.; peaches, $2.75 to $3 for 3's, $1.75 to $1.90 for 2's; raspberries, $1.65 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.00 to $2.10; apples, 3's, $1 to $1.10, gallons $2.65 to $2.80, and preserved fancy quarters at $1.35 to $1.40; salmon, $1.30 to $1 35 for good red fish in tall tins, and $1.50 to $1.60 in flat tins; do., second quality, $1.20 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1 to $1.10; lobsters, $1.70 to $2 for tall tins, and $2.25 to $2.75 for flat tins.

COFFEES.

Stocks on the local market are again pretty low, while the demand keeps good. Advices to Warren Bros. & Boomer from New York, regarding Brazilian coffees, read: "Sensational telegrams regarding poor flowering of 1895-96 crop have excited no little commotion in the market. Besides this, there is cholera in the interior, and, as a result, quarantine interferes with railway traffic. As receipts have fallen off, prices, both in Rio and Santos, are tending upward." We quote: Green, in bags, Rio, 20 to 21½c.; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 21½ to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 32c.; Mocha, 27 to 28c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 22c.

RICE.

There is a better demand for fancy Japan and "B" rice. Outside these there is scarcely anything doing. We quote: "B," 3½ to 3¾c.; extra Japan, 5¼ to 5⅜c.; imported Japan, 5¾ to 6¼c.; tapioca, pearl 4½ to 5c.

SPICES.

Business is fair, with the preference still being shown for ginger and pepper. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 25, to 27c.; cloves, 25 to 30c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, 20 to 25c. per lb.

NUTS.

New season's Marbot and Bordeaux walnuts and Sicily filberts are arriving this week, and the market is now supplied with nuts for the holiday trade. Demand is good for all kinds of nuts. An advance of 1c. per lb. is announced in Sicily filberts. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 11½c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds 13 to 14c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 15 to 17c.; Marbot walnuts, 11½ to 12½c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 9½ to 10½c.; filberts, 10 to 10½c. for sacks and 10¼ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

SUGAR.

Dull and easy is the sugar market. To induce business, prices are being indiscriminately cut, but still the business does not come. Everybody is talking German granulated beet sugar, and most of the houses are making trial shipments. That now on the market is quoted at 4c, but shipments coming will be sold below that figure in all probability. An increasing demand is reported for Demerara raw sugar, some of the larger retailers taking 25-bag lots. We quote: Granulated, 4⅛ to 4¼c.; yellows, 3¼ to 3⅞c.; Demerara raws, 3c. up for gray and 3⅝ to 3¾c. for bright golden; Muscavedo raws 3c.

SYRUPS.

There is a demand for syrup, but more particularly for the very bright article, at 2¾ to 2⅞c. per lb. We quote: Dark, 25c.; medium, 28 to 30c.; bright, 35 to 40c.; very bright, 45 to 50c.

MOLASSES.

Business is of the character usually obtaining at this season of the year. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 26 to 28c.; half-barrels, 30½ to 32c.; Barbadoes, barrels, 28 to 32c.; half-barrels, 30 to 34c.

TEAS.

Low grade Japans, at about 12½ to 14c., are moving out freely, and a nice business is doing in the medium article at about 18c. In other lines of tea there is scarcely anything doing. We quote ruling prices on the Toronto market as follows: Young Hysons, 16 to 18c. for low grade; 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 38c for high grades; China Cougous, 16 to 18c.; Japans, 16 to 20c.; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 35c.

DRIED FRUITS.

In Valencia raisins the movement is brisk. Complaints of cutting in prices are still heard, but the practice appears to be largely confined to the poor quality fruit. A cable received on Tuesday from Denia by P. L. Mason & Co. advises a very firm market in selected fruit. Only moderate attention is being given California loose muscatels at the moment. We quote: Off-stalk, 4 to 4¼c.; fine off-stalk, 4½ to 5c.; selected, 5½ to 6c.; layers, 6 to 6½c. We quote California loose muscatels at 5½ to 6½c.

There are no 4-Crown California loose muscatels on the market. The only kind on the market are 3-Crown, which are not much wanted.

Malaga raisins are moving out fairly well, but not as briskly as the trade desire, buyers being disposed to hang back. Stocks this season appear to be lighter than usual, over supplies in past seasons having made the trade more cautious. We quote: London layers, $2.25 to $2.50; black baskets, $3.25; blue baskets, $4.25 to $4.50; extra dessert clusters, $4 to $4.50; connoisseur clusters, $3.25 to $3.50; quarter flat connoisseur clusters, $1 to $1 15; Royal Buckingham, $5 to $5.50.

Sultana raisins are still in moderate demand only, with prices unchanged at 5½ to 6c. for good, and 6½ to 7c. for fine.

There was a sharp advance of 2s. 6d. in Turkish prunes last week in the primary markets, and while later cables announce that the market is easier, there is still a distinct advance on the figures quoted a week or two ago. Turkish prunes to arrive are being quoted as follows: Sphinx, B., 6¾ to 7½c.; U., 5½ to 6c.: Atlas, B., 5¾ to 6½c; D., 5¼ to 5¾c. French prunes on spot we quote as follows: E., 4c.; D., 5c.; C., 6c.; B., 7c.

Currants are moving fairly well, particularly of the better quality. We quote: Filiatras, half barrels, 4 to 4½c., barrels, 4½c.; fine Filiatras, half barrels., 4¾c., barrels 4⅝c.; Patras, 5½ in cases; Casalinas, 5½ to 6c.; Vostizzas, 6½ to 7½c. in cases and half cases; Panartes, 8 to 8½c.

Figs are in good demand. Natural figs in boxes are on the market this week. We quote: 14 oz., 9 to 10c.; 10 lb., 9½ to 11½c.; 18 lb., 15c.; 28 lb. 17c.; taps, 4 to 5c.; naturals, 6½ to 7c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

About the only change to note is an easier feeling in dairy large rolls, on account of the poor quality which characterizes that kind of butter. The highest that can now be got for large roll butter is 15½c. There is a demand for the good article. Dairy tub butter is slow, there being scarcely any of choice and desirable quality coming in. A round lot of tub butter, good and bad together, changed hands on the spot at 11c. This would not net the outside dealer much more than 9c. Really good dairy pound rolls are not to be had. Creamery tubs are quiet, and there is still a good deal of poor quality butter of this kind on the market, some of which is selling down to 18c. Creamery pound prints are none too plentiful. We quote jobbing prices: Dairy—Choice tubs, selections, 17 to 18c.; store-packed, 12 to 13c.; crocks, 18c.; low grade, 11 to 12c.; pound rolls, 19 to 20c.; large rolls, 15 to 15½c. Creamery—Tubs, August, 18 to 19c.; September and October, 21 to 22c.; pound prints, 23 to 24c.

In cheese the feeling is if anything a little firmer, although prices are much about the same as they were a week ago. The jobbing idea as to prime is 10½ to 10¾c., and the factories are selling at 10¼c. delivered here.

GREEN FRUIT.

Further improvement is to be noted this week in the demand for oranges. Lemons are in fairly good request. The supply is plentiful and chiefly of the new season's growth. Bananas are in sufficient quantity to supply the demand, but the latter is easily satisfied at the moment. Demand for Malaga grapes is fair, with prices firm. Cranberries are selling well, in spite of the high figures ruling for them. Market is fairly active. We quote: Lemons—Floridas, $4 to $4.50 for fancy stock, with other kinds selling at $3 to $3 50; Messinas, $3.50 to $4.50; Malagas, $3 to $3 50. Oranges—Floridas, $2.50 to $2.75 for 200's and 176's, $2.25 to $2.50 for 126's and 150's; Valencias, $4.25 to $4.50. Bananas, $1.10 to $1.50, for firsts and 80c. to $1 for seconds. Apples, winter fruit, $3 per bbl.; snow apples, $2 to $2.50; fall fruit, $1.75 to $2.50. Grapes—Malagas, $5 to $6.50 per keg. Sweet potatoes, $2.25 per bbl. Cranberries, Nova Scotia, $10 to $10.50 per bbl., and $3.35 to $3.50 per crate; Canadian, $1 to $1.25 per basket and $10 per bbl.; Cape Cod, $3.50 per crate and $11 to $12 per bbl.; Jerseys, fancy, $13.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—There is still only the usual quiet demand at $1.20 to $1.25 per bushel for medium, and $1.30 to $1.40 for hand-picked.

DRIED APPLES—No transactions in lots are reported, most of the supplies arriving being sent in on commission. The idea as to prices outside is 4¾c f.o.b., and jobbers here are selling a few at 5 to 5¼c.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Are still dull. Holders are asking all the way from 6 to 7c. f.o.b., but no transactions are reported. Jobbers are quoting 7 to 7½c., but there is practically nothing doing.

HOPS—Are dull and nominal in price. Package hops are quoted at 18 to 20c., according to quality.

ONIONS—There is a big supply, but demand is limited. We quote: Domestic, 70 to 80c. per bag; Spanish, 80 to 90c. per crate; Valencia, $2.50 to $2.75 per case.

HONEY—Demand is fairly good; strained, 9c.; section, 14c.

POTATOES—Market is much as before, carloads on track being quoted at 45 to 48c., and small lots out of store at 50 to 55c.

POULTRY—There is no briskness in the market at the moment. Prices are without material change. We quote: Turkeys, 8 to 9c.; chickens 25 to 35c.; ducks, 50 to 70c.; geese, 6c.

EGGS—Poor stock is pretty well cleaned up, as far as city dealers can gather, and limed are beginning to move a little better at 14c. Fresh are quoted at 15 to 16c., and new laid in small lots would bring 18 to 19c.

FISH.

Business is quiet, but an improvement is anticipated shortly, the close season being over. Cod fish is in good supply, and there is a fair business doing. Haddock is again beginning to come in, notwithstanding the discouragements caused by the previous shipment. Mackerel are now being brought in frozen, and they are slightly dearer. Oysters are in good demand at unchanged prices. We quote as follows: Frozen trout, 7c.; skinned and boned cod-fish, 6½c.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c.; market cod, 5c.; steak cod, 6 to 7c.; haddock, 5c.; Labrador herring, $2.50 per half keg and $5.50 to $5.75 per barrel; ditto, split, $3; fresh water salt herring, $4 per bbl.; blue-back herring, 4c.; blue pickerel, 4 to 5c. lb.; yellow ditto, 6 to 7c. per lb; mackerel, 13c. each; pike, 5c. lb.: haddock and cod, 6c. per lb.; finnan haddies, 7½c.; Digby herring, in bundles of 5 boxes, 15c.; ditto, lengthwise, 14c.; large halibut, 10c.; ciscoes, $1.35 to $1.40. Oysters, $1.20 to $1.25 per gallon; select, $1.60.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

There is still a good turnover to report in business, and long clear is still the commodity most enquired after, some carload lots of which have changed hands at 7c. Lard is going out well. There are not many changes to report in prices, but those that have taken place are in the direction of lower values. A large number of dressed hogs are coming in and all are taken at $5 to $5.25.

BACON—Long clear, 7¼c. for carload lots and 7¾c. for small lots; breakfast bacon, 10½ to 11c.; rolls, 8 to 8½c.

HAMS—Large, 22 lbs. and over, 9½c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 10 to 10½c.; small hams, 10½ to 11c.; pickled, 9½ to 10c.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 8c.; tubs, 8c.; pails, 8¾c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess $15.50; Canadian short-cut, $15.50 to $16; shoulder mess, $13 to $13.50; clear mess, $13.75 to $14.50.

SALT.

Trade is good, both in carload lots and in a jobbing way. Prices are as before. We quote: Barrels, 90c.; coarse sacks, 56c.; fine sacks, 60c.; dairy, $1.50; rock, $9.

SEEDS.

There is considerable movement, especially in alsike, threshing of which has become more general since seasonable weather set in. We quote: Red clover, $5 40 to $5 65; alsike, $4 to $5.20; timothy, $1.75 to $2.50.

HIDES, SKINS, WOOL AND TALLOW.

HIDES—Are in fair demand at steady prices. Prices are unchanged, dealers paying 3½c. for green and selling cured at 4½c.

SKINS—Sheepskins are offering freely, while buyers, on the other hand, are disposed to hold off. Prices are, however, 5c. higher, quotations now being 90c. Calfskins are nominal at 6c.

WOOL—Market is quiet at unchanged prices. We quote: Supers, 18 to 19c.; fleece, 17 to 18½c.

TALLOW—Is easier, dealers now paying 5½c. and selling at 6 to 6¼c.

PETROLEUM.

Business is still good, with prices firm and unchanged. We quote, in 5 to 10 bbl. lots,

The Petrolia Advertiser in its weekly report quotes: Petrolia crude, $1.13 per barrel; Oil Springs crude, $1.14 per barrel; refined, 7c. in bulk; 9¾c. in barrels in car lots f.o.b. here. The Oil Exchange is assuming its old-time activity, and the attendance is daily increasing in numbers. Even a spirit of excitement is noticeable at times, and buyers rush their bids in their great anxiety to be first in the field for any crude that may be for sale. Sellers, on the other hand, are not easily found, and it is remarkably apparent that the raw material is getting scarce.

The Mazawattee Ceylon Tea Company, of London, Eng., have opened a wholesale branch at 30 Church street, Toronto, under the management of Charles H. Pegg, assisted by George D. Densham and Sydney Densham, sons of the proprietors. The staff in the old country consists of over four hundred hands, and the firm's output of tea in Great Britain alone is 15,000,000 packets annually. The Canadian representatives intend doing their trade in Canada entirely through the retail grocers, whom they will back up by extensive advertising.

MONTREAL MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Dec. 6, 1894.

GROCERIES.

THERE has been no change or improvement in the general demand for groceries since our last, the distributive movement from second hands being only fair. The most striking feature of the week has been the unsettled position of the sugar market, which has declined ⅛c., the causes of which are given elsewhere. Other lines have furnished no notable change. Syrups and molasses continue much the same, while tea is quiet, with little doing. Spices and coffee exhibited a little momentary life owing to the cold weather, but it was only a spurt. Canned goods are dull, and large receipts of pickled and dried fish have produced easiness. Payments are fair on the whole.

SUGAR.

Since the date of last writing the sugar market here has ruled heavy and unsettled, the refiners on Thursday last announcing a decline of ⅛c. per lb. on granulated sugar. This action on their part is due solely to the unsettled condition of outside markets and the competition of German refined beet sugar, the imports of which into this market are steadily increasing. In fact, many grocers have done more in it during the past week than they have in domestic high grade yellows. The German granulated beet is being jobbed out at 4c. from second hands, and at this figure is a dangerous competitor of domestic high grade yellows. Of course, this foreign granulated beet does not compare with the cane product, the output of our refineries, but the fact that it is being offered so low will have its effect on first cost in Montreal. In fact, though the refiners have not as yet announced any further change, some people look for a further reduction in refiners' prices shortly. At the present writing refiners' prices are 4c. for granulated and 3 to 3⅛c. for yellows, according to grade at the refinery. The Berthier raw beet product is jobbing also at somewhat lower prices than the above.

SYRUPS.

This market has ruled very quiet, with no striking feature to note. Stocks continue light in refiners' hands, however, and prices of domestic are nominally unchanged at 2 to 2¼c. for bright grades and 1½ to 1⅝c. for darker descriptions at the factory. There has been some fair business in American syrup from first to second hands on the basis of 19c. for round lots. Jobbing transactions have also transpired from second hands at 21c per gallon.

MOLASSES.

There has been no striking change in the molasses market. A moderate business is passing, and prices are unchanged, as before. Small lots of Barbadoes have changed hands at 27c., while a couple of 100-puncheon lots have been sent up the Ottawa on the basis of 26c. For ordinary single puncheon business the price remains at 29 to 30c. There is little doing in Porto Rico stock, which is held at 24c.

RICE.

There is a moderate jobbing call for rice, but otherwise the market is quiet. Buyers, as a rule, have filled their wants, and this, of course, makes large business difficult. The tone is steady, however, and prices are unchanged. We quote: Japan, standard, $4.25 to $4.40; crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B, $3.45; English style, $3.30; Patna, $4.25 to $5, and Carolina $6.50 to $7.50.

SPICES.

The cold weather at the close of last week led to a rather increased volume of trade in spices, but it has fallen rather flat again. Prices remain firm and unchanged. We quote: Penang black pepper, 6 to 7½c.; white pepper, 10 to 12½c.; cloves, 7½ to 9c.; cassia, 9 to 10c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.; Jamaica ginger, 15 to 22c.

COFFEES.

Though the demand rules on the quiet side, the tendency of values on coffee are rather firmer. We quote: Maracaibo, 20 to 22c.; Rio, 20 to 21c.; Java, 26 to 30c.; Mocha, 28 to 31c., and Jamaica, 18 to 25c.

TEA.

The tea market here is without particular change. Wholesale grocers are pretty well supplied for the time being, so that there is no general activity in a large way. In fact, the only business in this connection that has transpired was in Japans, on the basis of 14 to 16c., and the lots in question did not aggregate much over 150 packages. The distributing trade has been fair on the whole, and the tone of values is firm. In a wholesale way we quote: Japans, low grades, 12 to 13c.; medium, 14 to 17c.; fine 18½ to 32c., and choice, 24 to 31c.

DRIED FRUIT.

There has been no change in the raisin market on spot. No large business is doing, but a fair distributing trade exists, and when Christmas wants are really felt, the market may pick up, as stocks are not heavy. For all prime Valencia fruit prices remain firm and unchanged, but cheap, inferior fruit is being offered at a concession. California raisins are meeting a good demand at steady rates, while advices from the Coast on 4-Crown loose muscatels are firmer. Spot prices, however, are not affected as yet. We quote: Valencia, ordinary off-stalk, 4¾c.; selected, 5¼ to 5½c., and layers, 5¾ to 6c.; California 4-Crown loose muscatels, 6 to 7½c., according to quality, in an ordinary jobbing way.

The currant market shows no improvement whatever, ruling dull and unchanged. We quote: Filiatras and Provincials, 3 to 3¾c. in bbls., and 3½ to 4c. in cases; Patras, 4½ to 5c, and Vostizzas, 7c.

In prunes the spot market is fairly active and steady, with prices unchanged. Cable advices, however, report Bosnia higher and Bordeaux lower at primary markets. We quote: Bosnia, 4½ to 5c., according to quantity, and Bordeaux 4½ to 4¾c.

The new dates to which we referred last week have met a good demand at 6½ to 7c., as to quality.

There is no change in figs. Basket and bag stock move in a quiet way at 4 to 5c., while good box stock are held at 8 to 9c. for ordinary, fine 12c., and finest 14½ to 16c.

NUTS.

Demand for these is, if anything, improved, as stocks are small and jobbers are anticipating holiday wants. The new Grenoble walnuts that we referred to last week have been delayed, as they were not on the "Labrador," but they are expected this week. We quote: New Naples walnuts, 12 to 13c.; new Tarragona almonds, 13 to 14c.; filberts, 8 to 9c.; Brazil nuts, 11c.; small pecans, 10c.; medium, 13c.; extra, 15c.; new shelled almonds, 24 to 25c.

CANNED GOODS.

There is a fair demand for canned goods in a small jobbing way, but otherwise the market is quiet, as jobbers have provided for the immediate future, and are now holding off. No changes to report in prices. We quote: Lobsters, per case, $6.50; sardines, $8.50 to $9.50; salmon, $1.35 to $1.40 per doz; tomatoes, 95c. per doz.; peaches, $2 to $2.10 per doz.; corn, 95c. to $1 per doz., and marrowfat peas, 85 to 90c. per doz.; strawberries, $2.75 per doz, and raspberries, $1.80 to $2.50; 1-gallon can apples, $2.10; Australian canned meats: 1-lb. can boiled mutton, $1.80 to $1.90; 2-lb. can do., $3.10 to $3.15; 1-lb. can roast mutton, $2.05 to $2.10; 2-lb. can do., $3.35 to $3.40; 1-lb. can corned mutton, $2.05 to $2.20; 2 lb. can do., $3.35 to $3.40.

FISH.

The only change of a striking character in the fish market has been the uneasiness of salt herrings, prices in which having declined 50c. per bbl. Large receipts of inferior stock are the cause of the heaviness, the supply of No. 1 stock being exceptionally light. No. 1 bright herrings are selling in a jobbing way at $4.75 to $5, and other grades $3.75 to $4.50 per bbl., as to quality. A few cars of green cod offered met a slow demand, and prices are lower at $5.25 for No. 1 large, $4.50 for No. 1, and $3 to $3.25 for No. 2. No. 1 green haddock are also lower at $3.50. There is no change in salmon, B.C. selling at $11.50 to $12, and Labrador $12.50 to $13. Receipts of fresh haddock and cod are fair, and they have met a good demand and prices are unchanged at 3½ to 4c. for haddock, and 3 to 3½c. for cod, per lb. Finnan haddies are in fair request, 7½ to 8c. for Portland, and 7 to 7½c. for St. John's.

GREEN FRUIT.

APPLES—Locally there has been little or no change in the apple market. Receipts here are smaller and prices steady at $2 to $2.50 per bbl. In the export trade, recent returns from Great Britain have shown a decided improvement. Cables to shippers in Montreal, on Monday, stated that the stock ex Oregon had realized prices which netted $1.50 to $3 in Ontario for No. 1 fruit, and $1 to $1.50 for No. 2 fruit. The Canadian stock was also arriving in better condition, while the Boston shipments were landing soft and the Maine fruit unsatisfactory. In fact, first-class fruit continues as scarce as ever, and realizes full prices. Advices regarding the Parisian lot state that they had done very well, the prices being better, as follows: Baldwins, 8 to 9s. and 16s.; greenings, 12s. to 17s. 9d.; russets, 9s. to 15s. 6d.; spies, 18s. to 18s. 6d.; Ben Davis', 11s. to 13s. 6d.; and kings 18 to 23s. On Tuesday, also, a Montreal shipper had placed 1,000 barrels on London account at 17s., which is equivalent to about $3 here. Shippers here also continue to experience a small but steady demand from Chicago and the west for stock on the way. Several of them have sold from three to four carloads at a time on the basis of $2.50 f.o.b. for greenings, etc., and $3 f.o.b. on the cars for spies and snows. An instance of how different markets will turn was afforded the other day, when a carload of No. 2 stock was sent west from Brighton to Chicago that netted $2 40 f.o.b., while similar carloads shipped for export across the Atlantic only netted 30c.

ORANGES—There is a fair demand for oranges, and prices are steady and unchanged. Floridas, $2 to $3 per box, and Jamaicas, $4.50 to $5 per bbl.

LEMONS—These continue in good demand. The first shipment of new Messina stock got in this week, and are having a ready sale at $2.50 to $3.50, as to quality. Malagas move at $7 to $7.50 per chest, and Floridas, $3.50 to $4 per box.

CRANBERRIES—Continue to sell well at $9.50 to $10 per bbl. for Cape Cod, and $8.50 to $9.50 for Canadian.

GRAPES—The firmness of Almeria grapes noted last week is maintained, and we quote $5 to $6 per keg. Catawba move at 23 to 25c. per basket.

PINE APPLES—Meet a fair jobbing demand at 10 to 12c., according to size and quality.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The egg market rules firm. What few receipts of fresh boiling stock arrive command 22c. Limed stock are firmly held at 13 to 14c. for good, and 10 to 12c. for culls.

POULTRY—The cold weather has been beneficial to the poultry market and reduced some of the heavy stock of last week, and prices have improved as compared with our last range. We quote: Turkeys, at 8 to 9c., chickens at 6½ to 7½c., fowls at 5 to 6c., ducks at 7 to 8c., and geese at 5 to 6c. per lb.

GAME—There is a good demand for partridge, of which the offerings are small at 40 to 45c. per brace for No. 1, and 25c. for No. 2.

DRESSED HOGS—A fair business is transacted in dressed hogs, and all the small lots offering meet with a ready sale at $5.25 to $5.75 per 100 lbs.

POTATOES—There is a good demand for potatoes, sales of car lots transpiring at 54c. on the track, and jobbing sales 60c., with single bags 65c.

ONIONS—These are meeting a good demand at $1.75 to $2 per bbl.

BEANS—There is a fair demand for beans at $1 to $1 40, as to quality.

HOPS—Sales of new crop Townships have been made at 8½c., and we quote 8 to 9c. as a range.

HONEY—Is quiet, extracted selling at 4½ to 5½c. old and 7 to 8½c. new; comb honey, 10 to 13½c.

PROVISIONS.

In provisions business continues to rule quiet and principally of a jobbing character, with no change in prices. We quote: Canadian short cut, heavy, $17 to $18; Canadian short cut, light, $14.50 to $15.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 9 to 11½c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 9½ to 10½c.; bacon, per lb., 9 to 11½c.; lard, com. refined, per lb., 7 to 8c.

BUTTER.

There is a fair demand on local account for fine late-made creamery, and the feeling around by exporters, to which we referred last week, has become a little more pronounced, leading to some considerable sales on the basis of 18c. The tone of English mail advices indicates a marked improvement in the English market, which, no doubt, has something to do with it. We quote: Finest fall-made creamery, 20½ to 21½c.; earlier makes, 16 to 17c.; finest Townships, 18 to 19c.; finest Western dairy, 16 to 17c.; western rolls, 15 to 16c.; Kamouraska, 15 to 16c.

CHEESE.

There is no appreciable change in the position, but a feature is the enquiry for seconds, and anything that is available at 9¼c. or a little better is readily taken. Goods of this description, however, don't appear to be plentiful. Holders of strictly finest goods manifest no change in their firm disposition and are not likely to now. The

FLOUR AND FEED

WHEAT holders are inclined to accept less money. Prices outside vary. At points where there is an urgent demand, high figures are reported to have been paid. At others, where the demand is less urgent, prices approach an export basis. At most of the western points 57 to 58c. is an average quotation for red and white wheat. Manitobas are steady. There were sales of No. 1 hard, west, at 74c. to-day, and Canadian Pacific railway, east, at 75c. Shipments from all sources continue liberal, but a large proportion of the stocks afloat are too far off to affect the market. The statistical position is becoming more bullish. The world's visible showed a relatively small increase last week.

FLOUR—Quiet, but firm. The advance in wheat has created a stiff feeling. Millers say that flour must advance further or wheat must recede, as at present flour is below a parity with wheat. Straight rollers, Toronto freights, are quoted at $2.60 to $2.75.

MILLFEED—Quiet and unchanged. Bran is selling, Toronto freights, at $12 and shorts at $14. City mills quote ton lots at $13 and $15.

OATMEAL—Firm, but no higher. Car lots of rolled oats, in bags on track, are quoted at $3 60.

PEAS—Demand moderate and prices steady. Car lots of No. 2, north and west, are quoted at 52c.; middle freights west at 53c. and east at 54c.

OATS—Steady. White are quoted west at 28c. and east at 29c. Mixed are quoted west at 27 to 27½c. Car lots of white on track here are quoted at 30½ to 31c.

BARLEY—No. 1 is quoted outside at 43 to 44c. Odd cars of 50-lb. bright barley sold outside at 44c. No. 2 is quoted at 40c. and feed at 37 to 38c. One car of feed sold outside at 38c.

RYE—Unchanged. Odd cars sold east at 41c.

BUCKWHEAT—Cars sold east at 37c.

MONTREAL.

There was no important change in the flour market to-day, prices being steady and fairly well maintained. The demand was not so good, and business, in consequence, was rather quieter. There was some enquiry from abroad, but as cables have not advanced sufficient yet to cover the extra railway charges, no business was done. We quote: Winter wheat, $3 25 to $3.50; spring wheat, patents, $3.50 to $3.65; straight roller, $2.85 to $3.00; extra, $2.65 to $2.70; superfine, $2.50 to $2.60; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.15 to $3.50.

In Manitoba bran and shorts the feeling was weaker and prices declined $1 per ton, which is due to the larger offerings and the falling off in the demand. Ontario bran, $15 to $15.50; Manitoba bran, $16, shorts, $17; Mouillie, $20 to $22.

In oatmeal business was quiet and values steady. Standard, bbls., $3.50 to $3.65; granulated, bbls., $3.60 to $3 75; rolled oats, bbls., $3.75 to $3 85.

ST. JOHN, N.B.

The firmness in flour continues. The advance of five cents from Toronto and points east, and of seven cents from points west, in the present position of flour, adds firmness to the price. There are those, however, who still hold that flour will go well back to old figures, though, from the present outlook, there is little to sustain this opinion. Oatmeal and cornmeal continue firm at quotations. Beans show no change. Oats are rather higher, particularly Ontario. The demand for buckwheat is good. Quotations are: Manitoba flour, $4.15 to $4.25; best Ontario, $3.50 to $3.60; medium, $3.25 to $3.50; oatmeal, $4 to $4.10; Western Grey buckwheat, $2.25; cornmeal, $3; granulated, $3.50 to $3.60; middlings, $19 to $19 50; bran, $17.50 to $18 on track; cottonseed meal, $30 per ton; N.B. oats, 35 to 37c.; Ontario, 40 to 42c. on track; beans, $1.40 to $1.50; split peas, $3.67 to $3.80; round peas, $3.65 to $3.70; pot barley, $4 to $4.10; hay, on track, $9.50 to $10.

THE CURRENCY QUESTION.

The people of the United States have had two great questions to discuss the past two years. The repeal of the Sherman Silver Purchase Law settled one, and the Wilson Bill settled the other. The next session of Congress is to be devoted to a reorganization of the banking and currency laws. The existing National banking system is to be fused with a new system of currency, based upon general assets and redeemable in coin on demand. The currency will be a banking currency similar to the Bank of England notes, or to the Canadian bank bills. It will undoubtedly be opposed by those who are very anxious to have a silver standard adopted. But, as usual, the common sense of Congress may be expected to evolve something which will suit the occasion and the circumstance, though undoubtedly it will be in the nature of a compromise.

The first shipment of new Messina lemons (2,000 boxes) offered here this fall came to hand on Monday last. They are selling at $2.50 to $3.50.

Ottawa lumbermen have been responsible for the turnover of about 500 puncheons of Barbadoes molasses since our last report. The basis was 26c.

David Brown, Canadian manager of Tetley's teas, is expected back from England on Saturday next, via New York. Mr. Brown has been away about a month.

The importations of German granulated beet sugar are increasing steadily here. A jobber said to-day that his travelers found it got the preference over domestic yellows.

The supply of pickled and dried fish of all descriptions laid in by Messrs Laporte, Martin & Co. is an exceptionally large one in anticipation of the usual demand after Advent.

Roughly speaking, the receipts of salt herring during the past eight days have been 5,000 barrels, of which only 500 barrels are No. 1 fish. As a result, prices took a slump.

A. P. Tippet & Co. state that the first shipment of dried California grapes ever offered on this market will arrive this week. These goods are of the well-known "Malvoise" description. They also expect a lot of choice California prunes, samples of which are nice well favored goods.

Among the St. John, N. B., firms who have or are receiving shipments of the well-known "A Dufour & Co." brand of Bordeaux prunes are Messrs. A. L. Goodwin, W. F. Hathaway, V. S. White, Jas. Findley and Baird & Peters.

Rose & Laflamme have been appointed Canadian agents for "Plagniol's" olive oil, and also for the famous brand of "Carabauchle Bajo" pure Castile soap. A sample bar of it was submitted to a severe test, showing that the chief ingredient was olive oil.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
ST. JOHN, N.B., Dec. 6, 1894.

A BRISK business continues. Many of our merchants report they have all they can possibly do, but as they look forward to the quiet month coming they do not mind a little hard work or even extra hours. There has been a touch of winter during the past week. The river boats have stopped running, and a number of the packets for Nova Scotia ports have made their last trips. The steamers running to bay ports, except the City of Monticello, find it at times necessary to refuse freight. The retail stores report the holiday trade commencing, and some are already putting on holiday attire. It is rather strange, but for some time past almost every Saturday evening of late has been unpleasant. This tells against the retailer. They report the transient cash trade not equal to last year. They are hoping for clear, cold weather with good sleighing to make their Christmas trade satisfactory. In market prices there is little change.

SALT—Price is rather easier then last report. Stocks continue small, and are supplied from time to time as demand requires, pending arrival of direct cargoes now on their way from England, by shipments received from Boston. Price of coarse from ship side, 51c.; out of store 56 to 60c.; factory filled, $1 to $1.10; Canadian, fine, per barrel, 5-lb. bags, $3 25; 10-lb. bags, $3.10: American wood boxes, 20 lb., 20c.; 10 lb., 12c. Quite a large quantity of salt in wood boxes is now being received from Ontario. They also offer large sacks.

CANNED GOODS—Stocks of California canned fruits are light. They have met with good demand. Hoegg, the local canner of vegetables, having advanced his prices since the closing of the river, tends to give the market a firmer feeling. We quote: Corn, 95c.; peas, 90 to 95c.; tomatoes, $1 to $1.05; corned beef, 2's, $2.75; 1's, $1 60; oysters, $2 to $2.25; Canadian yellow peaches, 2's, $1.90 to $2; 3's, $2 60 to $2.65; new gallon apples, $2 25 to $2.40; salmon, talls, $1.35; flats, $1.75; lobsters, $1.75 to $2; haddies, $1.40.

DRIED FRUIT—If something is not done to prevent the arrival of California loose Muscatels in such bad order, the business must suffer. Some 900 boxes arrived the other day by steamer, and the boxes were so broken that the buyers would not receive them and the shippers had to have them put in shape. The floor of the steamer warehouse was literally covered with raisins. In looking at some of the boxes the surprise was how they arrived with any raisins in them at all. Demand for Malaga London layers continues good. THE GROCER, speaking to Mr. Fred. Dearborn, of the firm of Dearborn & Co., in regard to this grade of fruit, was told they could have sold many more than their importation, and that quality this year was extra. Stocks of Valencia layers are not proving equal to demand, and quite a number are being imported from New York. Dried and evaporated apples are easy. Demand for peels is active, and more nuts are being sold than at any other time of year. We quote: Sultana raisins, 7 to 7½c.; Valencia, 4½c.; Valencia layers, 5½c.; currants, bbls., 3½ to 3¾c.; cases, 3¾ to 4¼c.; cleaned, bulk, 6c.; 1 lb. cartoons, 7½c.; California loose muscatels, 6 to 6½c.; layers, $2 to $2,10; clusters, $2.25 to $2.50; fancy, $3.50 to $4; Malaga, Londons, $2.10 to $2.25; black baskets, $3.25; French prunes, 5½ to 6c.; small boxes, 9 to 14c; figs, 13 to 16c.; Nova Scotia dried apples, 5¾c.; Ontario, 6¼c.; evaporated apples, 8 to 9c.; evaporated apricots, 14½c.; peaches, 13c.; pears, 11c.; Grenoble walnuts, 13 to 15c.; almonds, 13 to 14c.; Brazils, 11 to 12c.; Pecans, 12 to 13c.; peanuts, roasted, 10c.

GREEN FRUIT—Some fine Malaga grapes have been received during the past week. Although West India oranges are still in the market in large quantities, Floridas are now the favorites. Lemons are firm. Apples still continue an overstock. On soft fruit almost everyone handling has lost money, but good reports are received of last shipments of hard fruit, and all are hoping to come out at least square. Soft apples can be bought from 50c. to $1. Bishop pippins, which are a large crop, but do not show signs of keeping, a fault of all apples this fall, will not bring over $1.50. Hard fruit, however, such as Baldwins, spies and russets, bring $2.25 to $2.50.; lemons, $5 to 5.50; grapes, Ontario, 45 to 75c.; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $6; West India oranges, per bbl., $5 to $5.50; boxes, $3 to $3 25; Florida, $3 to $3 50.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Good butter is scarce, and demand for rolls is good. Supply of medium quality butter is too large. Eggs come forward in fair quantities and of good quality, and find ready sale. Prices are firm and likely to advance. Cheese, firm and quiet. We quote: Creamery rolls, 25 to 26c.; tubs, 22c.; dairy, 18 to 20c.; cheese, 10½c.; eggs, 18 to 19c.

MOLASSES—The market in firm, stocks being, as before reported, light. Some good samples shown from New York find good demand. It would look as if this was the only market in which now to buy. Prices will likely go higher, as crops in the West Indies are reported late. We quote: Barbadoes, 32c.; Porto Rico, 30 to 32c.; choice, 35 to 36c.: fancy, 43 to 44c.; syrup, 30 to 35c.

SUGAR—The agent for the refineries here is always a bull in the market, and he reports market firm, but in wholesale grocery circles the feeling is easy, and the fact that some German sugars are expected does not strengthen the tone. We quote: Granulated, 4¼.; yellow, 3½ to 3⅝c.; powdered, 6 to 6¼c.; Paris lump, 6 to 6¼c.

FISH—Smoked herring continues easy. Stocks of dry cod and pickled herring are light, and prices remain as last week. Large cod fish, $3.65 to $3.75; medium, $3.55 to

$3.65; small, $3 to $3.25; haddock, $1.75; pollock, $1.70 to $1.75; shad, $5 to $5.50; Bay herring, $1.40 to $1.50; Shelburne, barrels, $4 to $4.25; ditto, half-barrels, $2.40 to $2.50; Canso, $5.25; Quoddy River, $2.50 to $3.25; medium smoked herring, 8 to 8½c.; lengthwise, 8c.

PROVISIONS—For some reason the quantities of goods in this line moving this season are away below last. The fact that some Ontario packers are selling direct to the retail trade may be one reason. Prices show no change. Clear pork, $19 to $20; P.E.I. mess, $17 to $17.50; prime, $13 to $13.50; plate beef, $13 to $14; pure lard, 10 to 11c.; compound, 9 to 9½c.; cottolene, 9¾ to 10¼c.; hams, 11 to 12c.; bacon, 10c.

ST. JOHN MARKET NOTES.

Some Maritime Province hotels are reducing commercial rates to $1.25 a day.

C. & C. MacMichael have received their annual shipment of English peels; also of figs.

Prince Edward Island produce brings good prices in Cape Breton. Some fifty cargoes have been sold there during the past season.

THE GROCER notes that Chase & Sanborn are now offering their Seal brand coffee in 1-lb. tins. This is a move in the right direction.

W. R. Miles, the popular agent of Francis Peek, Winch & Co., London, sails this week to spend his Christmas. THE GROCER wishes him a pleasant holiday.

A new brand of coffee is offered on this market. It is called Standard Blend; it is put up in an attractive paper package in ½ and 1 lb. sizes by Jardine & Co.

Canned goods orders are now all to hand, and the quantity received is found to be less than 50 per cent. of receipts last fall. The market is firmer than at that time, and the feeling better. The association is working much better than was expected.

Every year shows an increase in the quantity of goods canned in Prince Edward Island. They now can cherries, strawberries, plums, gooseberries, tomatoes, red and black currants, pears, apples, and blueberries, as well as a large quantity of lobsters.

Mr. Frank Hathaway, wholesale grocer, and president of the St. John Board of Trade, leaves shortly for a six months' tour in Europe. He first touches at Gibraltar, and spends a month in Spain, Italy, Egypt, Germany, France and Great Britain. He has been preparing for the trip for some time, and looks forward to a very pleasant excursion.

Your correspondent, reading in The Daily Sun that Porto Rico No. 2 was again being offered in this market, made inquiries, but could learn of no such brand being offered. N. W. Taussig & Co., of New York, are offering, through their broker, J. Hunter White, both Porto Rico and Barbadoes. Their molasses, of which large quantities were imported last season, give good satisfaction. Their prices, considering the state of the market, are low.

It is estimated that twice the quantity of apples have been shipped to St. John from Nova Scotia this season as last. THE GROCER, speaking to a large grocer in the Annapolis Valley, was told that the only thing that saved many of the buyers from losses which would have ruined them was that the farmers would not sell. Now they cannot sell.

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
HALIFAX, Dec. 6, 1894.

THE most noticeable feature in this market, since the last report, is the advance in flour. Although an advance was announced two weeks ago, a good deal of flour was disposed of in jobbers' lots at the old prices, the holders not expecting the advance to remain permanent. A general advance, however, has been made at from 25 to 35 cents, and the market remains steady. The contract for supplying the war department with beef has been awarded to the old contractors, J. A. Leaman & Co. The price is understood to be $7.90, which is an advance of over $1 on last year's contract.

DRIED FRUIT AND NUTS—There is some activity in dried fruits. Figs in boxes are quoted at 5 to 5½c.: choice bag figs are worth 5c.; evaporated apples 8½c.; new dates, 5½ to 6c., with prospects of a decline; prunes, 6 to 7c. The trade in nuts is steady, with advancing quotations: Almonds, 14c.; filberts, 11c.; walnuts, 10 to 11c.; Brazils, 11 to 12c.; peanuts, roasted, 12c.; do. raw, 10c.

GREEN FRUIT—Florida oranges are arriving more freely and the quality is excellent, with prices much lower, the quotations being $3 to $3.25. New Messena lemons are to hand and the quality is superior to the last lot received. The quotations for extra good stock are $4 per 300 count. Magdalen cranberries are quoted at $5 and $6. The American stock is too high to handle. Almeria grapes are higher, at $5.50 to $6. Bananas are quoted at $2 to $2.25 per bunch, with small stocks. Owing to the healthy prices on the other side the apple market has advanced for good keeping stock. The market is bare of good stock, but inferior is plentiful.

BEEF—The market is stiff. Small is quoted at $6 to $6.50; large at $7 to $8. There is no real choice native offering.

BETTER PROFITS are made by selling our fish. We are fishermen and ship direct from boat or curing house to your place. Two or three middlemen's profits are thus saved. We have every kind of fish. WRITE US.

MARKETS—Continued

Lambs are worth $6 to $6.50 and mutton $5 to $5.50. Hogs are worth $6.

POULTRY — Steamboats arriving have taken all the surplus stock of poultry off the market, and turkeys have gone up from 10 to 11c. Prime geese, for Christmas delivery, are offering at 62c. each. Chickens are worth 35 to 40c. per pair. Ducks are scarce. Rabbits are worth 10c.

BUTTER—There is very little doing in butter. Canadian is selling at 16 and 16½c.; new Canadian is quoted at 19c., and choice native at the same figure.

POTATOES—There is a drop in the Boston market of 5c. per bushel, which will have a tendency to weaken prices here, as P. E. Island vessels will sell here. The market is weak in Dakota reds, as they are poor keepers, and they can be bought from vessel at 25 cents. Calicoes remain unchanged at 32 to 35c. Turnips are selling at from 15 to 25c., the former being frozen stock.

CHEESE—The cheese market is dull, Antigonish is quoted at 10½ to 11c., while a lot was offered to-day at 10¼c.

EGGS—The market is not very brisk. Stocks are plentiful and quotations remain at 18 to 20c.

BREADSTUFFS—While we do not look for any further advance, we believe a steady market will be maintained und gradually strengthened. The local markets are quiet and steady at an advance of 20 to 25c. on flour and 10 to 15c. on oatmeal. Cornmeal is not in general demand, owing to high prices, though the millers say they are doing considerable business. Middlings and bran are steady, the former at 21c. and the latter at 20c. Wholesalers' quotations are: Manitoba, $4 to $4 15; Canadian extras, $2.65 in sacks and $2.85 in barrels; 90 per cents, $3.15 to $3.25; patents, $3 25 to $3.45; oatmeal, $3.25 to $3.45; cornmeal, $3.05 to $3.10. Jobbing and retail ought to be considerably higher, but they are not.

FISH—There is nothing in fish to speak of. Quotations, tol quol, are: Dry cod, shore, $3.25 to $3.75; do., bank, $3 to $3.25; do., large bank, $4; do., bay, $2.75 to $3; do., Labrador, large, $2.75 to $3; do., shore, from store, hard, $5. Haddock are worth $2 and $2.25; hake, $2; pollock, $2; Bay of Islands herrings are quoted at $2.25; shore No. 1, $3.50 to $4; round shore, $2.25 to $2.50. No. 1 salmon are worth $12, No. 2 $10, and No. 3 $8.

PROVISIONS—American clear mess pork is quoted at $20, P. E. Island mess at $17.50; do., thin, $16. American ex. mess beef is worth $13, plate beef $14, and extra plate $14.25.

SUGARS—The market shows no improvement. The quotations are: Porto Rico, in hhds., 3¼c.; refined cut loaf, 5½c.; granulated. 4⅜c.; standard A, 4c.; white extra C, 4c.; standard yellow C, 3¾c.; extra C, 3½c.; yellow extra C, 3⅜c.

MOLASSES—The market is dull and in keeping with the stocks. Demerara, the only stock on the market, is quoted at 38c. for M.R. brand, and 45c. for (B) D brand.

HALIFAX MARKET NOTES.

Pork has fallen in the Charlottetown market, and prime carcasses are selling at 5½c.

F. H. Langley, victualler, has taken the business formerly conducted by Isaac Durling, Halifax.

The Customs receipts at Halifax for November were $62,313.53, a decrease of $7,729 97 from November, 1893.

The meeting of the Acadia Sugar Refining Company, last Friday, was quite a breezy one. No dividend was declared and the balance to profit and loss was only about $7,000 for the 14 months. One of the largest shareholders said he was willing to sell out for 50c. on the dollar. Thomas Kenny, M. P., was elected president.

L. O. Neily & Co., Aylesford, have a frost proof storage for 4,000 bbls. apples, and they are now enlarging to 8,000 capacity. They have so far this season shipped 12,000 bbls. to the United States and 7,000 to the English market. Seven carloads of cranberries were shipped this season from Aylesford to Montreal, where they found a good market.

The following, signed by W. E. Thompson, secretary Halifax Exhibition Commission, was recently received by John Peters & Co., commission merchants, Halifax, and speaks for itself: "I am instructed by the Halifax Exhibition Commission to convey to you their thanks for the very attractive exhibit made by you at the Provincial Exhibition, held September 25th to 28th inclusive, 1894. They regret that the regulations prevent them from granting to you any special award, but are pleased to be able to highly commend your exhibit, and to say that for excellence and display it proved worthy of special mention."

WOODSTOCK, N.B., MARKETS.

WOODSTOCK, N.B., Dec. 6, 1894.

The value of united action of the merchants of a town through a well-organized board of trade, can be seen by the following, received by the president of our board from the general freight agent of the C.P.R.: "I beg to advise you that our general traffic manager has consented to a general reduction in the rates from points named to Woodstock, the reduction conceded being one-half the rates we have heretofore charged between McAdam and Woodstock, such reduction running from 12c. per 100 lbs. down to 5½c. on general goods, according to classification; and on flour and grain, 4c. per 100 lbs. in carloads." The cold weather and the near approach of Christmas are causing a general stir in business circles, and trade is good. In produce demand is good, and fair prices are obtained. Oats show a slight advance. Hay, still at $6; oats, 30 to 31c.; potatoes, 80c.; beans, $1.50; butter, 17c.; cheese, 9½ to 10c.; eggs, 16 to 17c.; pork, round hogs, $5 to $5.25; turkeys, 10 to 11c.; buckwheat meal, $1 per 100 lbs.

NEW CANNED GOODS.

A line of cannedgoods new to the Toronto market is being offered. They are put up by the Martin Wagner Company, of Baltimore, Md., oyster and fruit packers. The oysters are put up under the brand, "Dog's Head," and among the lines may be mentioned select spiced oysters in flat cans, select lunch oysters in flat cans, standard oysters in tall cans. Another line noticed by THE GROCER was canned pineapple. The labels on the goods shown are handsome and attractive, the lettering and brand marks being embossed. The label on the canned pineapple is particularly handsome. The coloring is rich and yet subdued, while the pineapple shown thereon stands out in bold relief in natural colors.

TO PUSH JAPAN TEA.

Three Japanese tea merchants spent a few days in Toronto this week. They were Mr. Noro, of Kobe, Japan, representing Mr. K. Sumitomo; Mr. Takenosuke Furuya and Mr. Hikonojo Komada, of the Japan Tea Traders' Association. "Their special mission here," said Mr. Musson, of G. Musson & Co., with whom they were conferring, "was to encourage the consumption of the better grades of Japan tea and to extend business generally, and they seem to consider the outlook hopeful."

SELLING COMPUTING SCALES.

A traveler has sold a number of computing scales in the Maritime Provinces. He goes into a town and tells them his price is $130, but in order to introduce them he will sell two in each town at $100. After that, they say, the manufacturers positively refuse to dispose of any at less than $130. It is hardly likely that this rule will be adhered to, however, as the company must have a very large profit at $100. The scale is a good one, and apparently accurate, but it is questionable whether it will pay the average dealer to invest at so high a price.

A greengrocer at York had in his window one week four giant mushrooms, which, at a moderate estimate, averaged a yard in circumference.

Ramsay & Aitkens, brokers, etc., Mincing lane, Toronto, have dissolved. J. F. Ramsay assumes the liabilities of the old firm, and will continue the business, retaining all the agencies appertaining to the grocery trade. These agencies are: J. Lewenz & Hauser Bros., teas, London; Burbidge, Pritchard & Bartleet, teas, London; Henri Lyon, sardines, etc., Paris, France; Stewart Munn & Co., fish, etc., Montreal; John Moir & Son, Ltd., table delicacies, London.

BEET ROOT SUGAR.

MR. M. LEFEBVRE, of the Berthier beet root sugar factory, speaking yesterday of an attack on the product of that institution by a local commercial journal, said: "We do not sell the product of our factory for refined sugar, but for a raw granulated sugar, and if they are a little off in color at times, the price varies accordingly."

Proceeding, Mr. Lefebvre said: "It is stated in the article I complain of that our sugars are far inferior in quality to the German make. This is quite untrue, and although I have nothing to say against the German sugars, I can say without fear of contradiction that there are no purer sugars on the market than ours. No sugars, in fact, leave our works without being duly tested by Government officers, the tests, as submitted from Ottawa, ranging from 99.9 to 100 in saccharine matter." Mr. Lefebvre went on: "The wholesale grocers of Montreal are to-day paying us a higher price for sugar than for the German article. A yellow refined sugar is soft, while everybody in the trade in this city and elsewhere knows quite well that ours is a dry granulated sugar."

With reference to the statement that the Berthier Company received $1.50 per ton for its refuse or beet pulp, the proprietors contradict these figures. "We sell the refuse," continued Mr. Lefebvre, "at from 75c. to $1, and after paying 25c. per ton for loading the pulp on the cars the price received is thus reduced to from 50 to 75c., which is quite a different figure."

Returning to the prices, Mr. Lefebvre says they sold last year all their sugars to the Montreal refiners, but the thing has been impossible this year, owing to the price of raw sugar ruling one cent less per pound than during 1893. "There is another statement," said Mr. Lefebvre, "which I do not wish to let go unchallenged, and it is that we made an annual profit of $2 per ton, or $40,000. This is erroneous from beginning to end. At the time of the recent visit of the Chamber of Commerce to our Berthier works, the manager stated that if a manufactory like ours could be run at the same advantage as is the case in France or Belgium, a profit equal to the amount given could be obtained, the calculation, of course, being based on the prices paid last year. To-day, however, we would be quite satisfied with a profit of from 50 to 75 cents per ton.

Speaking of the industry generally, Mr. Lefebvre remarked that it took twenty-five years or more for it to get upon a paying basis in Europe. "Here the production is yet in its infancy, and when we ask for assistance from the Government we feel that a great deal of good has already been done. We have paid this year $50,000 to the farmers of Laval, Maskinonge, St. Hyacinthe, Berthier, Terrebonne, Richelieu, Yamaska, L'Assomption and Champlain, and they will receive an additional sum of $25,000. The output this year has been from 2,500 to 3,000 barrels, which will be increased to 7,000 or 8,000 during 1895. We employ over 100 men, and the industry has been the means of a very considerable regain of prosperity throughout the district." Mr. Lefebvre concluded by saying that if The Gazette were not satisfied with his statements, all they had to do was to call upon such wholesale firms as Lockerby & Co., Laporte, Martin & Co., P. Grace & Co., L. W. Tellmosse & Co., Hudon, Hebert & Co., Chaput & Sons, Hudon & Orsali, Quintal & Sons, and others.—Gazette, Montreal.

FORTUNATE MIDLAND.

James Playfair. the well-known lumber man of Sturgeon Bay, will remove to Midland in the spring, where he is under contract with an American firm to cut in the neighborhood of 200,000,000 feet of pine. This fact has much brightened the outlook in Midland. Mr. Playfair has also secured the contract for lighting Midland with incandescent electric light. The electric light plant will be run in connection with the mill, and consequently the latter will be in operation night and day. It is estimated that it will take about ten years to complete the contract for lumber, and it is expected that one hundred hands will be given steady employment during that time.

Navigation has closed at Collingwood, all the steamers of the competing lines now being prepared for winter quarters. The harbor is full of vessels of all kinds, sizes and qualities. Watchers from the distant lighthouses are coming home to spend the winter with their families, and the town is alive with sailors and returned fishermen.

The new vessel building at the dock at Collingwood is getting along rapidly. The planking and steel plates will be put on at once. Every effort will be made to have this mammoth steamer ready for sea by the middle of April next. Two or three other vessels are to be constructed here before the opening of navigation.

At a largely attended meeting of the Retailers' Association held in Delmonico hall, a constitution and by-laws for the government of the organization was adopted and forty new members were added to the roll. Another meeting will be held in a fortnight, at which several questions of interest to the retail trade will be discussed. The membership fee has been placed at $1 for merchants and 50c. for salesmen.—Free Press, Winnipeg.

There was lately heard a case in which the plaintiff testified that his financial position had always been good. The opposing counsel took him in hand for cross-examination and undertook to break down his testimony upon this point. "Have you ever been bankrupt?" asked the lawyer. "I have not," was the answer. "Now, be careful; did you ever stop payment?" "Yes." "Ah, I thought we should get at it finally. When did that happen?" "After I had paid all I owed."

At a general meeting in London of the stockholders of the British Columbia Canning Company the directors submitted a statement that "a balance sheet made up to May 31, 1894, showed £7,754 9s. 4d. to the debit of profit and loss account. This includes a loss of £4,119 6s. 2d. resulting from the sale of the Naas River property." It was explained as regards the 1893 pack that the operations at two of the company's canneries showed a profit, but those on the northern rivers were unremunerative.

At the City Market yesterday Inspector Cunningham gave orders that all the boxes of fruit should be marked with the name of the producer and of the place where the fruit is grown. In future in terms of the regulations this requirement will be strictly enforced to enable the inspector readily to trace diseased fruit to the source of supply. It is intended as a protection to the merchant and also the consumer; and also to prevent the spread of fruit pests, which are calculated to do a great deal of harm in future. —Westminster correspondent Vancouver News.

A despatch to The Toronto Globe reads: The Tillsons, of Tilsonburg, seem to possess tireless energy and executive ability to direct it aright. Their latest undertaking is the construction of a branch railway from the mills to connect with the Michigan Central. The line is nearly a mile in length, and requires heavy grading. When completed, goods can be shipped right at the flour, pea and oat mills, and grain can be brought in without extra teaming. In addition to the railway a new steel flume, 30 inches in diameter and 200 feet long, is being placed in position in order to convey the surplus water of the upper pond to the oat mill, and this equalization of power will place all the mills in a position to be independent of steam all the year round.

BRITISH INDUSTRIES.

TINSLEY'S Magazine some time ago ran a series of articles on "British Industries." No. XII dealt with Day & Martin, blacking manufacturers, London. THE GROCER now submits the article for the perusal of the trade in Canada. It reads :

In our day the standard of commerce and not the laurel crown of conquest is the means whereby the capabilities of nations are gauged. In a country wise in commerce, what would seem to be insignificant manufactures can be transformed into eminently important industries. In a world of rapid change the small business of the day before yesterday becomes, to-day, the centre of a world-wide trade. Blacking is a production which may not be considered of vast importance in itself, but there can be no question as to its manufacture having become a most important British industry, thanks, mainly, to the firm of Day & Martin, whose name has grown to be almost synonymous with their goods. One cannot speak of Day & Martin without thinking of boot polish, although one may perhaps have occasion to anathematise blacking for not being "dayandmartin."

It is only natural that the names of the firm and of their production should come together trippingly on the tongue, for it is now something more than a century since their wares first came before the public, and their fame began to grow.

Some of the ingredients of their famous blacking are not exactly a secret, indeed, "Chambers' Encyclopædia" and other abundant books of reference, treat the firm of Day & Martin as the one important manufacturing house, and their class of production as typical of the whole trade.

If it is wished, the cause of so much brightness may be kept a secret, but the effect will always be widely known. Many more or less, especially less, authentic legends are told in connection with the original recipe. We give the only real and true account;

About one hundred and fifty years ago, when wigs were worn, there lived a maker of perukes at Doncaster. One day a soldier came to the shop to be shaved, and mentioned in the course of conversation, for our barber was cheerful and chatty, that he was obliged to return to his regiment, stationed in York, on foot, as he was without the necessary money for coach fare. The barber had known poverty in his day, and was pleased to help a neighbour, so he either gave or lent His Majesty's man the money for the coach. Unlike most good Samaritans, this one was rewarded at once. The soldier returned to York in due course, and wrote to Mr. Martin, the hairdresser of Doncaster, with the returned loan, many sincere thanks, and the recipe for a certain preparation which he said he had long used with excellent effect upon the boots of his officers. Mr. Martin tried the manufacture of this material and found it successful; he then turned his thoughts to London, where a friend of his, Mr. Day by name, carried forward a flourishing business in Tavistock street, then a rather more fashionable part of town than at the present time. Day & Martin decided that the soldier's recipe was good, they began to make their famous blacking from it, and thus were laid the foundations of one of the most splendid and flourishing business which London knows.

For very many years the house of Day & Martin found local habitation in High Holborn, to which address they had removed after outgrowing their original quarters in Tavistock street. Number "97" High Holborn managed to contain the commerce of this house for something over eighty years. As the business grew and grew, houses to right and left were requisitioned, and an embargo laid upon all purchasable adjoining property; but in such a busy London artery as Holborn this sort of extension cannot be carried beyond a certain point. Although the premises had at last become a vast block of buildings they were still too small for the increasing commerce of the firm, and the erection of a new factory became a burning question. To relieve the strain upon the London head-quarters, a branch factory was established in Liverpool some few years since. This move brought fresh business to Liverpool, but did not decrease the demands upon London in any appreciable degree; thus the new works became absolutely necessary to the proper conduct of the trade.

Day & Martin have been fortunate in finding a large site, suitable to their purpose, in the Borough-road, and almost adjoining the Borough-road station. Here, in the heart of a highly important industrial centre, they have raised the new factories, of which we give a full page illustration. A glance at this little picture will tell the reader much. It will be seen that the block fronting upon the Borough road is divided from the quadrangular factory by a wide street. The well-appointed offices and warehouses are situated in the first block; the manufacturing departments, packing floors, etc., in the second and larger building. The floors of both blocks cover a space of four acres; one may, therefore, suppose that the old Holborn difficulty—want of space—has been banished at last.

The factories at the back alone employ five hundred persons. The structure is built upon the "mill" principle, which has the advantage of insuring a plenitude of light and air; the building is five stories in height, each floor being lofty and thoroughly well lighted. Of course, the motive power, the machinery, the boilers, etc., are of the very latest description and of the best possible kind.

In passing through the factories, the firm's method of carrying out their ideas in regard to the construction of the works suggests to the mind a well-known phrase from the "Table Talk" of Coleridge — "The great desiderata are taste and common sense." In no building have we seen a more complete combination of these two qualities; in the construction itself, and in the laying down of the plant, the eminent desiderata of solidity, light, ventilation, protection against fire, convenience and adaptability of machinery, have been fully considered; in short, there are few factories in England at once so well designed as regards utilitarianism, comfort and appearance.

Day & Martin originated the idea of using tins some 60 or 70 years ago; they have always been popular, and of late years have come into very general use with both the army and navy by reason of their light weight and easy transit.

The packing-room is, of course, an immensely important one; when one considers the enormous tonnage which daily leaves this establishment, it becomes unnecessary to go into details. These goods go all over the world; the red-coated carmen and excellent teams of horses of this house are to be seen in all our streets and docks delivering goods.

Wherever Day & Martin have exhibited their goods, in London, in Paris, in the United States, and Australia, the highest awards have been received; were proof required, this international verdict of excellence would alone prove this house facile princeps in their trade.

In the illustration of the works, our artist has inserted a little sketch showing the old White Hart Inn, situated near the present site of Day & Martin's factory, which Charles Dickens has made famous in "Pickwick." At the time when Dickens wrote his "first and funniest" the house of Day & Martin was in its early youth, but already well-known and evidently well thought of by Dickens, as may be seen from the following quotation: The scene is the old "White Hart" where Sam Weller occupies the post of "boots"; Mr. Jingle and the spinster aunt have arrived—"Mr. Samuel brushed away with such hearty goodwill, that in a few minutes the boots and shoes, with a polish which would have struck envy to the soul of the amiable Mr. Warren (for they used Day & Martin's at the 'White Hart') had arrived at the door of Number Five."

It is well-known that owing to the careless habits of his father, and to the fact that his uncle, James Lamert, had become manager of a blacking warehouse, the to-be-great novelist, Charles Dickens, entered upon this trade and worked long and wearily at Hungerford Stairs.

Such a novelist as Dickens must use every experience of his life; so observant a man must know the practical as well as the artistic value of all that comes within his ken, and so we find that even his knowledge of the qualities of blacking is not allowed to die, but becomes immortal on his wittiest pages. Once upon a time, in his earliest days, he wrote a certain "copy of verse," singing the praises of a preparation, at one time somewhat of a rival to Day & Martin. Here they are:

"I pitied the dove, for my bosom was tender;
I pitied the sigh that she gave to the wind;
But I ne'er shall forget the superlative splendor
Of Warren's Jet Blacking, the pride of mankind."

Later experience proved to him—what the firm have so often told the world—that Day and Martin's Blacking is the best. This fact has been stated on almost inaccessible Alpine heights, and the Pyramids of Egypt have told of Peerless Blacking.

The shoeblack has long been an important person in the London streets; much of his fame he owes to Number "97," the trade mark of this house.

About the time that Mr. Martin was shaving the soldier at Doncaster, Mr. Gay, of "Fables" fame, was publishing a lively work, under the title of "Trivia, or the Art of Walking the Streets of London;" in which, as the Goddess of Mud, he addresses he fraternity of shoeblacks:

"Go, thrive; at some frequented corner stand;
This brush I give thee, grasp it in thy hand;
Temper the foot within this vase of oil,
And let the little tripod aid thy toil;
On this methink I see the walking crew,
At thy request support the miry shoe;
The foot grows black that was with dirt embrown'd
And in thy pocket jingling halfpence sound,
The Goddess plunges swift beneath the flood,
And dashes all around her showers of mud;
The youth straight chose his post; the labor ply'd
Where branching streets from Charing Cross divide;
His treble voice resounds along the Mews,
And Whitehall echoes—'Clean your honor's shoes.'"

There is no more interesting page in the history of this house than that which tells of their connection with the energetic army of shoeblacks now to be found in every part of the metropolis and all over the kingdom. It is said that nine out of ten of the boxes belonging to the Shoeblack Brigade bear the legend "Day and Martin." The stock in trade is the free gift of the firm, who thus fully equip many hundreds of men and boys, enabling those who would otherwise be unemployed to gain an extremely honest living and a very fair wage.

That this practical philanthropy of a commercial house should find its reward in extending trade is only a logical result. But apart from the Shoeblack Brigades, many acts of wise liberality are connected with this house; fortunes have been made here in which the deserving poor have shared. To mention one instance: Mr. Day, the founder of the firm, built almshouses at Edgeware and founded the Blind Man's Friend Charity, which he endowed with £100,000.

Although the ordinary boot blacking is the staple of this firm's trade, there are many collateral goods manufactured and supplied to dealers in large quantities. These include such accessories to the blacking trade as their celebrated Kid Renovating Polish, Russet Cream for restoring and polishing the brown leather boots, leggings, etc., which are now worn, and the like. Harness Blacking, paste, and other compositions of this nature, are also among their well-known productions. Brunswick Black, Berlin Black, Pouch Blacking, Waterproof Dubbin, Brass and Burnishing Polish and Paste, and Furniture Polish are all among the specialties which the firm have brought before the public in time to anticipate a demand.

The founders of this house have long since passed away; their successors have come into it bringing with them the energy and ability which have more than maintained the prestige of the firm. The present conduct of the trade is an important administration in itself, but "the work divided aptly, shorter grows," and this immense concern now runs along the road to lasting fame upon well-oiled wheels.

UNIQUE BRUSH EXHIBIT.

A WINDOW display, in order to obtain the best results, should be unique. The accompanying cut shows a display of the character indicated. The idea originated with a Norwich, Conn., firm, and was produced in last week's Iron Age. Everybody can gather from the cut that the display is a pig made up of different kinds of brushes. The foundation of the body is made up of six bushel baskets, five of which are nested and the other one inverted, and to these are wired floor, counter, and window brushes, entirely covering the baskets. A frame of ⅞ to 2 inch strips constitutes the head, to which brushes are wired, leaving a place for the mouth, in which an ear of corn is placed. Incandescent electric lamps form the eyes, connected to a wire running down behind the animal, and at night the lamps are lighted. The tail is made of hemp braided, and the legs of counter brushes with the handles down. After the pig is placed in the window the floor is covered with brushes, and the lower portion of the legs banked up, so that the counter brush handles do not show.

Referring to the display as seen in the Norwich firm's window, Iron Age says: "The window was also dressed with all the different kinds of brushes the firm handle. The animal when completed measured a little over 7 feet. The display proved a great success and attracted much attention.

Notwithstanding the cold weather, the brickwork of the cheese factory is being pushed rapidly forward. At the close of each cheese-making season, which will be about the first of November, Mr. Clancy purposes making butter in the factory and continuing its manufacture until the following spring.—Free Press Acton.

MOST necessary requisite in the keeping of a grocery is to have the standard, the best, and the most favorably known articles for sale. You don't then have to explain their merits to your customer. They probably know as much as you, about that same article.

On the other hand, a poor unknown article of questionable quality and unquestionable price is something you haven't the time to experiment with, nor the inclination to risk your standing among good customers with.

TARIFF DISCRIMINATION.

THE GROCER has more than once had occasion to compliment Hon. Mr. Wallace, Controller of Customs, for the satisfactory way in which he has administered the affairs of his department.

Two important reforms are still necessary: The present acting commissioner should be transferred to some other work for which, by his training, he is better adapted; and a Dominion Board of Appraisers should be established.

Mr. Waters, the acting commissioner, if we mistake not, was accountant of the department, and, on Mr. Johnson's superannuation, was given the appointment by Mr. Bowell.

Some men would have adapted themselves to the position, but not so with Mr. Waters, whose acts are a source of irritation and worry to the business men. His decisions are being constantly reversed by Mr. Wallace, and the impression is that more would be if the importers made stronger representations.

It cannot be expected that a head will interfere with the rulings of a man in his department, though he may know they are not correct.

Until there is a Dominion Board of Appraisers, there will always be inequalities in the ratings at different ports. There are constant complaints of these different ratings.

A London, Ont., firm has been underselling all other parts of Canada in a certain article, because it is rated for duty under a different heading. Toronto merchants have brought in Chicago goods via Montreal and paid the freight up, because it was cheaper to do that than pass them at the higher rate of duty obtaining in Toronto.

A certain large importer in Montreal can buy a particular line of goods much cheaper in London and New York than can a small dealer in Kingston, yet the latter has persistently undersold the large buyer; it was found that he was able to do so because the appraiser at Kingston allowed the goods in about 30 per cent. less than the Montreal appraiser asked.

Halifax and St. John firms have both brought in certain articles of dry goods and hardware through Montreal and western points.

All this, it can easily be seen, is manifestly unfair. The only remedy is a Dominion Board of Appraisers, such as they have in the States, composed of experienced business men representing the different departments of trade, together with a good lawyer—no party hack. There are plenty of capable men to be found in the wholesale and retail houses throughout the country. There are also many other questions of importance for such a body to deal with.

Have a set purpose and determine to achieve a certain object.

CREDIT, NOT CAPITAL, THE CAUSE.

WHEN a wholesale or retail merchant or manufacturer applies to a bank for a loan, or for a line of credit in the purchase of goods, he is usually asked for a statement of his financial position. He produces one, in which he generally shows a large sum due him on account.

This is usually classed as a valuable asset, and too frequently bankers and dealers do not take the trouble to inquire how many of these debts are worth anything at all.

As a rule, such a statement would be a valuable aid in getting at the character of the business done.

It has been shown that insufficient capital is put on record as the cause of a large proportion of the failures. On inquiry, insufficient capital means that the dealer began with enough, but by giving goods away on credit he had not the money to buy more.

He gets more goods on past credit, and gives them away on the same terms, and eventually he owes so much that his creditors refuse to sell any more unless he pays cash. He cannot do so because his original capital is distributed among many small people, to whom he gave it in the shape of goods on credit.

The creditors seize his stock. He is thrown on the street with a damaged reputation and no money, and he has to begin life over again. His failure is put down: "Lack of capital."

Many a trader could be saved if the firm from whom he buys goods, or the bank with which he does business, would frequently scrutinize his dealings with his customers, when the amounts he has on credit would show him the danger of the course he is pursuing.

BUSINESS MEN AND THE COUNCIL.

AWAKENING at last to a sense of their duty in municipal matters are the citizens of Toronto.

Suspected for some years have been the characters of the boodling aldermen whom Judge McDougall's court has been exposing during the past few weeks. And while some efforts were made to remedy matters, these efforts were passive and ineffectual, for, instead of getting better, matters have got worse.

First the wards were re-organized, it being hoped by this means to secure a better class of aldermen; but the results obtained were the very opposite of those desired.

Next the cry went up for sound business men in the Council, and because business men did not respond to the call with that alacrity which it was thought they should, they were charged with shirking their duty.

But all the fault was not with the business men. Some of the best of them that did volunteer their services in the city's behalf were rejected, and those who had either political or society influence, but no adaptability, accepted.

Discouraged and disgusted, those who had worked for reform along this line had about concluded that the electorate was not honest in its professions. And they certainly had some ground on which to base such a premise.

But as long as the present system obtains slim are the prospects for securing a city council of the desired calibre.

Business needs closer attention to-day than it ever probably has since man first took to commercial pursuits ; and while Toronto has to-day Cincinnatus' enough who are willing to devote some of their time for the good of the city, yet they cannot, nor should they be expected, give as much of their time as the office of alderman demands.

What is wanted is a separation of the executive and legislative functions of the Council, as suggested at the mass meeting of the citizens the other night.

Demand only that an alderman be required to attend the regular sittings of the Council and an occasional committee meeting, and there will soon be business men enough to volunteer their services for the honor of the thing whom the city could not now entice from their business duties by any remuneration it could afford to offer.

Honor is all right when it does not take the bread and butter out of a man's mouth, which is practically what the demands upon an alderman under the present system do—except, of course, the boodling aldermen : In their mouths it puts bread and butter.

BAD TIME FOR APPLE EXPORTERS.

PRACTICALLY all that THE GROCER predicted some months ago regarding the export apple trade has come to pass. It has been unsatisfactory, and the only apple men who are in pocket are those who refrained from exporting.

So bad has it become lately that the prices obtained in many instances have been little better than the freights.

The cause of a good deal of this is the unusual competition which Canada has had to encounter in the British market from the United States.

Last year the United States was not a factor : she was a buyer rather than a seller. This year the very opposite obtains, her exportable supply being larger than ever before.

Then, too—against the grain as it is to acknowledge it—the exporters on the other side of the line have been sending a better class of fruit, taking it all round, than have we. Not because the apples produced in the United States are better than those in Canada, for within the Dominion are to be found the best apples in the world. The Exposition at Chicago demonstrated that, if nothing ever did before. The reason our cousins to the south have been laying down uniformly better fruit in Liverpool is that they have sent only their very best, and kept the medium and poor fruit for home consumption.

It is to be regretted that Canadians do not profit more than they do by the object lessons that are repeatedly being taught them.

Upon the English butter market they are gradually counting for less, instead of more, as they should do, in view of the climatic and other favorable conditions for butter-making which this country possesses.

In cheese we are on that market without a peer ; but we have exporters who, for the momentary advantage they may reap, risk weakening the position we occupy by representing the article they are selling to be a different make from what it really is.

And in this matter of the export apple trade, there is the combination of the designedly careless and the ignorantly careless, the one of whom should be amenable to the law, and the other should be restrained from assisting in the killing of an important branch of the country's trade.

But one advantage that the American exporters have over the Canadian is that the former are putting their apples on board the steamers at about 50c. per barrel less than are the latter. Spies, Baldwins and Greenings grown in the New England States are even being laid down in Chicago at $2 to $2.10, which is obviously better than Canadians can do. In other words, apples are cheaper in the United States than they are in Canada, and this has given the apple men an advantage on the English market, as well as preserved to them their home trade. So Canadian exporters have had more against them than their own carelessness; but the one is no excuse for the other.

WELL DONE, MR. BARRON.

GROCER Barron, of Toronto, is to be commended for prosecuting the farmer from whom he bought apples which had been packed with a view to defrauding the purchaser.

According to the evidence adduced in court, what was practically a barrel of worthless apples had been "topped" with good fruit, and, of course, sold as the latter quality.

This practice is all too common, but seldom, for various reasons, are the culprits brought to justice. Sometimes their victims refrain from prosecuting because of the demands, etc., which such a process would make upon their time. Others again, as Mr. Barron might have done, are satisfied with getting back their money and allowing the dishonest seller to take away his apples. Obviously this latter way is the worst of the two, for practically it is compounding a felony.

The only right thing is to do as Mr. Barron did—call in the police. If for no other reason, it should be done in justice to the trade, in justice to society.

Have you got your store and window in shape for the holiday trade? If you have not, it is about time you had. Remember an attractive store and window count for much during the season when the love of the beautiful obtains more fully than at any other time of the year.

THE LAW RE ADULTERATED TEA.

AT the last session of the Dominion Parliament, a clause, it will be remembered, was inserted in the new tariff prohibiting the importation of adulterated tea. The clause describing the kind of tea that shall be prohibited reads :

> Tea adulterated with spurious leaf, or with exhausted leaves, or containing so great an admixture of chemical or other deleterious substances as to make it unfit for use.

This clause has not yet been enforced. The Government, however, has not been idle in the matter. The necessary Order-in-Council defining the law was passed a couple of months ago. And now the Customs Department is conferring with the trade with a view to getting an expression of opinion regarding the regulations before they are sent out to the appraisers at the different ports of entry.

As the prohibitory clause in the Tariff Law stands, obviously some ruling was necessary in order that the different appraisers might have some uniform and well defined line to follow in determining when tea is not fit for use. And this is one of the things which the Order-in-Council in question has done.

Tea, it says, shall be considered as adulterated which contains leaves other than those of the tea plant, or previously infused leaves or leaves of inferior quality to such an extent as to reduce the amount of extract or substance soluble in hot water to less than 30 per cent., or cause the proportion of ash soluble in hot water to be less than 2¼ per cent.; or any admixture of chemicals or other deleterious substances ; or such an amount of mineral matter as will cause the amount of ash to exceed 8 per cent ,reckoned on the samp'e dried at 1,000 degrees.

THE GROCER is given to understand that the rules for the guidance of the appraisers are full and explicit, and that no man of ordinary intelligence will experience any difficulty in interpreting them.

It is gratifying to know this, but it is still more so to know that a law is likely soon to be in operation that promises to shut out spurious teas.

The sooner the law is enforced the better. For too long has Canada been made the dumping ground of these undesirable teas. If they were so bad that the inspector at New York would not allow them entry at that port, it was, " Oh, send them to Canada," and to Canada they usually came. The game is now up.

MONEY AND STOCKS.

THE money market is very easy. Loans on first-class security, sharp call, rule at 4 per cent. Ordinary security, 4½ per cent. for time loans.

A large number of shares, especially in the loan companies, will be ex-div. to morrow, the 15th, consequently there has been very little dea'ing the pa t week.

A large number of the banks have just paid their dividends, causing a nice little sum of money to go into circulation.

In consequence of the approach of the holiday season and the adjustment of accounts at the end of the year, not much attention is being given to speculation ; nor will there be much until 1895 has made its bow.

The banks are cutting down their rates of interest on deposits. They declare they will pay no interest on current accounts and only 3 per cent. on savings bank accounts, and then only on money that has remained 30 days. This reduction in the rate of interest is calculated to put more money into interest bearing securities and industrial ventures.

Bonds are now in demand and it is difficult to buy those that will pay the investor better than 3½ per cent. On account of the usual declaration of dividends, cables are again stronger.

Insurance stocks are decidedly stronger, owing to the losses for the current year being very much less than in 1893.

It is probable that there will not be any lowering of discounts on commercial paper as a result of the decreased rate on deposits. Discounts are still 6 per cent. on gilt-edged paper and 7 per cent. on ordinary.

A trust has been formed in London by the family and friends of Baring Bros., whose failure startled the world some years ago. The object sought is the laudable one of paying off the amount still owing the Bank of England and nursing the remaining assets. The debt due the bank is about £1,500,000, but the assets remaining show a surplus nominally £700,000 in excess of that sum. Surprising as was the Baring failure, scarcely less so is the satisfactory manner in which the liquidation has been carried on.

The two statements of the New York Associated Banks, issued since the payments on the new $50,000,000 bond were made, show that the banks lost $39,705,200. It is obvious from what source came most of the gold that went to replenish Uncle Sam's depleted reserve.

According to reports received by the Director of the United States Mint at Washington, the gold production of the calendar year will be about $170,000,000, with the probability of it being more rather than less. The net result, even if it does not show a larger production than $170,000,000, will almost exactly equal the average value of the world's output of both gold and silver from 1861 to 1865. A like increase of $13,000,000 in 1895 will carry the output of gold alone to $183,000,000, which will almost equal the annual average output of both gold and silver from 1866 to 1873, just before the demonetization of silver in Germany. The production of gold alone, according to the mint estimates, already exceeds the amount of both gold and silver annually available for monetary uses during the years of the greatest production of the white metal, so that the world continues to be as largely supplied with new metallic money as before the suspension of the free coinage of silver.

ARGUROS.

Twelve and a half million bushels of Manitoba wheat were moved during the fall, and of this amount 90 per cent. was carried in American bottoms to Buffalo for export via New York, the Canadian export route, via Kingston and Montreal, having been this season more neglected than usual.

OUR LEADING RETAILERS.

H. T. BARKER.

PROMINENT amongst the retail grocery trade of Canada stands H. T. Barker, of Stratford. His untiring energy, strict integrity, and clear-sighted business ability, together with his ever-courteous, painstaking treatment of customers, have built up for him one of the best retail trades in the county of Perth, besides winning him a host of warm personal friends. To Mrs. Barker, however, must be conceded a goodly share of the credit, for in very truth has she been his partner, not only in social, but business life, and it was she who first entered the channel which has brought them to prosperity.

Mr. Barker is a thorough Canadian, and proud of the land of his birth. He was born in Galt in 1843, and spent his boyhood days on a farm, where he graduated in the art of clearing land, building stump fences, and generally roughing it; working hard all summer, and attending the old log school during the winter months. Drifting away from the old homestead, he finally learned shoemaking, and for several years contented himself with that at a very moderate salary.

At the age of twenty-five he married, and from that date he began to prosper. Mrs. Barker, taking an active interest in the new firm, and wishing to add to its capital, began a small grocery business, from which the present business sprung, while Mr. Barker continued his shoemaking. Soon, however, the interests of the grocery department grew, until it required the attention of both, and the shoemaking was given up for more lucrative and congenial employment. "Our first store," says Mr. Barker, "was eleven feet long, with a nine-foot counter. Our present store is one hundred feet long." H. T. Barker's is accounted one of the best equipped general stores in the west, for the proprietor does not confine himself strictly to groceries, but carries an extensive stock of dry goods, boots and shoes, etc.

Mr. Barker is a practical grocer in every respect, and attributes his success to carefully watching details, acquiring a good knowledge of teas, keeping posted as to prices and markets through the medium of some good trade journal, and above all things always having a pleasant and courteous word for his friends. In the matter of giving credit, he has struck a happy medium, and by keeping so well in touch with his customers scarcely ever makes a loss in this respect, although he believes that the time will come when a strict cash system will be universally adopted by the retail grocers of Canada. He is a strong advocate of integrity in business, and says: "I always make it a point to deal with honest travelers, who represent good houses, and when I find a traveler misrepresenting his goods he invariably loses the next order."

Mr. Barker believes in the old adage, that "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," and he and Mrs. Barker have taken several extensive trips, returning refreshed, invigorated, and loaded with new and broadened ideas for the advancement of their business interests. England, the Northwest and the World's Fair are amongst the places of interest visited.

Amidst the hurry and bustle of active business life Mr. Barker has found time to successfully represent his ward in the Council, and is known as an active and prominent worker in the Methodist church, besides being a liberal exponent of all matters charitable. Mr. Barker has been successful, he has deserved it, and THE GROCER wishes him many years of continued prosperity.

H. T. BARKER, STRATFORD.

INFERIOR CONDENSED MILK.

The public are not generally aware of the fact that certain brands of condensed milk are made of milk from which the cream has been removed by means of a separator. It is not always possible to discover by the label upon the package the real nature of the contents. Neither is it easy to test, by a cursory examination, the difference between this separated milk and milk which contains the normal amount of cream. But the great difference in the nutritive value of skimmed, or separated, milk and full cream renders it important to call attention to this fraudulent practice. Young children fed upon such milk would be almost certain to fall into a state of amaurosis (wasting) for lack of sufficient oleaginous material.—British Medical Journal.

A good, normal, condensed milk should contain 7 to 9 per cent. of fat, but some of the samples examined by the Government analyst showed only one-third of one per cent. A new milk has just been put on the Canadian market, which has been examined, and the percentage of fat varies from .99 to 1.38 per cent. This is utterly unfit to be fed to a child. It shows that the cream has been skimmed off and made into butter. No healthy cow's milk contains less than 3 per cent. of fat. Dealers should handle only the best brands, which are put up by responsible firms, such as Allworth & Co., Forrest Canning Co., and the Truro Condensed Milk Co. All of these, when examined by the public analysts, averaged over 8 per cent. of fat.

One of THE GROCER'S subscribers—a wholesale merchant—had an experience with one of these inferior milks. It was not until his child was at death's door that a skilful physician, brought from Philadelphia, discovered that the illness was due to non-nutritious milk. Another brand was used, and the child, with a little care, soon recovered.

There is more in this for the dealer than appears on the face. This fact should be impressed on all mothers. It should also be shown that much of the milk supplied by dairymen is unfit for infants' food. Doctors say that many diseases are contracted through germs in the milk from unhealthy cows, and from unhealthy surroundings. Condensed milk is first sterilized, when all such germs are destroyed. As a rule, the manufacturers inspect the herds from which their supply of milk comes, and owners are compelled to keep them clean and healthy. Every can of milk is tested at the factory, and it is impossible for farmers to work off skimmed milk. When consumers generally understand the dangers that lurk in milk as ordinarily supplied by dairymen, there will be an increased trade in condensed goods.

Grocers should encourage this trade; it means an increased business.

TWO WEAK POINTS IN TRADE.

THERE are two weak points which THE GROCER has observed in the business methods of many insolvent traders. In fact, they were common to all whose failure was a legitimate one.

They were poor collectors and carried over too much old stock.

If a firm is strong enough to have two members, one of them should devote his energies to the financial end, leaving the buying and selling to the other.

If there be but one, his first duty should be to look after his collections. Clerks can buy and sell goods, but they cannot be depended on to look after collections. Often a customer is lost by the merchant not insisting on prompt payment of accounts. He gets so far behind that he can never pay up. Knowing this, he avoids the store where he owes so much, and goes to another. If the latter insists on cash or regular settlements, he gets it and retains the trade. The buyer can always go to his store without fear of being worried about an overdue account or being told that he may have only a limited quantity of goods.

THE GROCER saw a stock in an insolvent's a few days ago that had been in his store for over sixteen years. The goods sold well at one time but are now practically worthless.

The merchant did not figure that his loss was not the original cost of the goods, but it was that cost, plus compound interest for sixteen years, which would amount to more than double first cost.

It is better to take a small first loss than to hold stock unti it is unsalable. But unfortunately few merchants see it in this light.

RATES OF INSURANCE.

IT is often the custom in these latter days to dwell upon the peculiar downward tendency of prices, bank rates, etc.

But there is one thing that is appreciating rather than depreciating, and that is fire insurance rates. Even life insurance is getting cheaper, but not so with fire insurance.

For some months past the big combination of insurance companies known as the Underwriters' Association has been engaged in the task of notifying the different cities that higher rates of insurance must hereafter be paid. Hamilton and Winnipeg are among the latest to be notified to this effect.

Turning to the last report of the Superintendent of Insurance, it is learned that the percentage of losses paid to premiums received was last year 74.37, against 67.22 in 1892, and an average of 69.52 during the last 25 years. Although the official report for 1894 has not yet been issued, the losses during the current year have been less than in 1893. Notwithstanding this, however, the Underwriters' Association persists in demanding higher rates.

Among insurance companies there are concerns whose expenditure, either from mismanagement or concurrence of unfortunate circumstances, last year exceeded their revenue. These non-paying companies, as well as those showing a balance on the right side of the ledger, were, of course, taken into consideration when the ratio in question was being compiled.

But, notwithstanding this, there is over 25 per cent. left for running expenses and the payment of dividends.

If the mercantile houses in the country could in the aggregate show the same results they would think they were doing pretty well, especially in times of trade quietude like the present.

If the insurance companies of the country are not making as good profits as desired, they should cut down expenses, and not, because they have the power, squeeze tighter the business men of the country who have already been paying high enough rates for the insurance they carry.

The air is at the moment full of schemes for the promotion of municipal insurance, and there has been nothing in modern days that has so stimulated these schemes as the arbitrary behests of the Underwtiters' Association.

A QUESTION RE CHEESE.

THE American trade papers have of late been commenting on the fact that the price of cheese in New York has ruled from ¾ to 1c. higher this fall than it has in Montreal; and they put the query: Has Canada taken to making skim cheese? and does her fall stock now consist of that class of goods? Or has the home demand so affected prices across the lines as to fix values on the American markets, irrespective of the export business?

The latter explanation is the correct one; it is the home demand in New York that keeps prices up, for it is a well-known fact that the great bulk of the export business this fall at that point was restricted to underpriced stock, as exporters could not afford to pay the prices that were asked for other goods.

This American home demand is expanding every year, and shrewd operators in the cheese trade at Montreal hold that the time is not far distant when the United States will consume nearly all the cheese that it produces.

For this reason Canada will have to fill a still larger void every year; in fact, it is possible that she may have to supply wants south of the line as well as in England.

As to the disparity in prices this year, the quality of the Canadian cheese has nothing whatever to do with it. The American consumer generally forces prices up across the lines every year at this season, and is doing so this fall. Then, again, speculation forced prices in Canada unduly high in the early part of September, and the market has not got over the reaction yet.

The best proof of the fact that Canadian cheese is in greater favor than ever in England is the largely increased exports from Canada this season, whereas those from New York are very little in excess of those for last year.

STILL CHEAPER SUGAR.

The unsettled feeling in sugar that we have already referred to continues, and on Thursday last the Montreal refiners decided to make a still further concession to the consuming public.

It looks very much, therefore, as if we were going to have very cheap sugar this winter, on account of the competition of German granulated, which is offering in round lots at $3.60.

The quality of it leaves much to be desired, but the low price tempts buyers; and increasing quantities of it are going into consumption every week.

As a result of this, the supply of yellow sugars, which, previous to the German competition, had been light, is increasing, and the tone on them is very easy also.

The quotable price for ordinary lots of granulated is unchanged at the time of writing, but, as we have said, on Thursday last several round lots left refiners' hands in Montreal at a decline of 1-16c., and it is possible that by the time this appears it will be the regularly established price.

C.P.R. GETS A NEW BRANCH.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company has bound itself to construct and operate the Montreal and Ottawa railway as far west as Alfred Village in 1895. By the agreement which the Canadian Pacific railway has entered into it is to expend $50,000 on construction, in addition to the $100,000 which it had in its agreement with the Dominion Government bound itself to expend during the year 1896.

Regarding the assistance asked from the Dominion Government for the building of the Hudson's Bay railway, Robert Rodgers, of Winnipeg, who has arrived home from Ottawa, says that he has the best authority for stating that it will be granted, and that the Government's answer to that effect will be announced in a few days. In this event the work on the road will be proceeded with at once.

Wholesale Grocers

TORONTO - - ONTARIO

REGARDING RETAILERS.

MRS. S. C. RAUSON is opening in the grocery business at Minnedosa, Man.

The stock of the estate of the late John Tindal, of Fergus, has been sold to C. M. Beatty.

Hugh Mitchell's general stock at Fergus has been sold at 50 cents on the dollar to Small & Co.

A grocery and provision business is being opened up in Coldwater by South & Orton in the store formerly occupied by J. A. Read.

Fred. S. Sneath is opening up a grocery store in the premises formerly occupied by Nicoll & Stewart, Augusta and Nassau streets, Toronto.

Mr. Slaght, of Slaght & Gordon, Woodstock, who dissolved a short time ago, is starting into business again on his own behalf in that city.

Barnes & Padget, Toronto Junction, have moved into their new premises. Their store is 100 feet long by 35 feet wide. In the rear of the store is a warehouse 40 feet square.

It was mentioned in last week's GROCER that the business of Thomas Mulcahey, Orillia, had been bought out by Crawford & Walker. The transaction, however, did not go through, as stated, Mr. Walker, for some reason, not materializing. The business was, however, purchased by Mr. Crawford, of Lynch & Co., who will carry on the business.

J. Armstrong, grocer, Peterboro, will move into a new store about the first of the new year. The store is in course of erection, is on the corner of two streets, and will be one of the finest in Peterboro.

J. Mitchell, of G. Mitchell & Son, groceries, provisions, etc., Cobourg, has gone to Montreal, where he has entered the butchering business. The Cobourg business is being carried on by G. Mitchell and another brother.

DON'T ASSIGN.

"I RECENTLY prevented a merchant from making an assignment," said Mr. Lightbound, the wholesale grocer, to THE CANADIAN GROCER, "and I wish other merchants would do the same. The man is now hustling about his work and doing more business than for many a day. He was discouraged because trade was quiet, and lacked grit. He was thoroughly honest and was afraid he would get into a deeper hole, if he continued. All he needed was someone to give him a little backbone, when he would come out all right. I have seen many who had given up when there was no necessity for it. Often they tell their troubles to their friends. They reach the ears of a trustee or assignee, who at once goes to them and tells them they are foolish to struggle any longer. 'Just assign and I will see you through,' are his words; 'you can then start afresh; buy in your stock and you can make money?' When the estate is wound up it is often found that it takes most of what it is worth to pay the assignee. There is little, and sometimes nothing, for the creditors. When a man is in difficulty, he should lay the matter before his creditors and take their advice. Often they can help him to tide over his troubles, for they are as deeply interested as he."

"Yes," chimed in P. C. Larkin who was standing by, "there are too many unnecessary assignments, for which these trustees are responsible. I do not think there are more than two or three trustees who can be depended upon to wind up an estate in any but their own interests." And this seems to be the opinion of many in the trade.

The merchants of Virden are indignant because the Manitoba grain combine are keeping the price of wheat at that town below what is paid at adjacent towns, and thus diverting trade from Virden. Accordingly, the merchants have decided to go into the grain business themselves, and have put buyers on the market with instructions to raise the price of wheat.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Dec. 13, 1894.

GROCERIES.

THE retail trade has been supplied with the bulk of the goods required for the holiday trade, and consequently the volume of business in a wholesale way has declined to small proportions. A good many orders are still being filled for foreign dried fruits. Currants, prunes and almonds are all higher in the primary markets. Nuts are at the moment receiving the most attention, stocks having been completed this week in all kinds. The market is brisk in this line. The sugar market is dull and demoralized, with prices ruling lower than a week ago. Teas are quiet. Some lines of Indian and Ceylon teas were lower on the London market last week, but the market is firmer this week. Very few Rio coffees are to be had on this market, and demand is good. Canned goods are quiet and prices steady, with prospect of a stronger market when the demand increases. Trade in foreign green fruits is brisk, with oranges firmer and lemons slightly easier. Payments show a little improvement.

CANNED GOODS.

Tomatoes, peas, corn and vegetables generally continue much as before. Prices are steady, with indications favoring a stronger market when a good demand is again experienced. Demand is fairly good for canned fruits, with peaches, plums and preserved apples still having the call. Peaches, especially 3's, are scarce, and the packers are talking of advancing prices this week. Business is brisk in salmon, with demand tending more towards sockeye fish. Lobsters continue quiet. There are no changes to note in any line of canned goods. We quote as follows: Tomatoes and corn, 85 to 90c.; peas, 80 to 85c.; peaches, $2.75 to $3 for 3's, $1.75 to $1.90 for 2's; raspberries, $1.65 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.00 to $2.10; apples, 3's, $1 to $1.10, gallons $2.65 to $2.80, and preserved fancy quarters at $1.35 to $1.40; salmon, $1.30 to $1 35 for good red fish in tall tins, and $1.50 to $1.60 in flat tins; do., second quality, $1.20 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1 to $1.10; lobsters, $1.70 to $2 for tall tins, and $2.25 to $2.75 for flat tins.

COFFEES.

Stocks of Rio growths are still light, with demand good at unchanged prices. We quote: Green, in bags, Rio, 20 to 21½c.; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 21½ to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 32c.; Mocha, 27 to 28c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 22c.

N. Y. Journal of Commerce, December 11: "Slightly contradictory statements were again heard among operators in expressing their views regarding the market for Brazils, but in the majority of cases there was an admission of the superior position occupied by strictly fine goods. Those are what buyers directly call for, both in jobbing lots and invoices; the offering of desirable samples is small, and to negotiate upon them requires the naming of full bids."

RICE.

Business remains much as before, with prices unchanged. We quote: "B," 3½ to 3¾c.; extra Japan, 5¼ to 5⅜c.; imported Japan, 5¾ to 6¼c.; tapioca, pearl 4½ to 5c.

SPICES.

Trade is fair, for the season, at unchanged prices. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 25 to 27c.; cloves, 25 to 30c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, 20 to 25c. per lb.

NUTS.

Shipments of new Marbot walnuts arrived this week, and, although the quality varies a good deal, it is much better than the trade was led, from reports, to expect it would get. Some, indeed, are showing excellent quality. The market is now well supplied with nuts generally, and trade is brisk. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 11½c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds 14 to 14½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 15 to 16c.; Marbot walnuts, 12½ to 14c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 12 to 13c.; Sicily filberts, 9 to 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

SUGAR.

The market is dull and prices are demoralized. Refiners' price for granulated is 4c. net, laid down, which practically means that the wholesalers are paying 4.04c. per lb., and yet in spite of this the latter are quoting 4c. to the retailer in most instances, and 4⅛c. in some instances. German granulated beet sugar is selling at 3⅞c., but it is claimed that that which has already entered into consumption has not given satisfaction.

MARKETS—Continued

Demerara raws are quiet at 3c. for gray, 3⅜ to 3½c. for bright, and 3¾c. for very bright.

SYRUPS.

Business is fair, and supplies are none too plentiful. The refineries report they are selling quickly at full prices all the bright they can produce. We quote: Dark, 25c.; medium, 28 to 30c.; bright, 35 to 40c.; very bright, 45 to 50c.

MOLASSES.

There appears to be a little more business doing this week. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 26 to 28c.; half-barrels, 30½ to 32c.; Barbadoes, barrels, 28 to 32c.; half-barrels, 30 to 34c.

TEAS.

At last week's auction in London prices fell about ½d. for medium Pekoes and Pekoe Souchongs. This decline was thought at the time to be only temporary, and that the New Year would bring an increased demand and higher prices. A cable to Steel, Hayter & Co., under date of 11th inst., announced that the market at this week's auction was firmer. On the local market business is quiet. The lines receiving the chief attention at the moment are medium Congous at 18 to 25c. and fine Congous at 35c. We quote ruling prices on the Toronto market as follows: Young Hysons, 16 to 18c. for low grade; 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 38c for high grades; China Congous, 16 to 18c.; Japans, 16 to 20c.; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 35c.

DRIED FRUITS.

A good many Valencia raisins are still going out. The prices at which they are selling are varied, much depending upon the quality. We quote good fruit: Off-stalk, 4 to 4¼c.; fine off-stalk, 4½ to 5c.; selected, 5½ to 6c.; layers, 6 to 6½c. We quote California loose muscatels at 5½ to 6½c.

Malaga raisins are in moderate demand, but it is anticipated that by the time the holiday requirements have been filled the market will be cleaned up. We quote: London layers, $2.25 to $2.50; black baskets, $3.25; blue baskets, $4.25 to $4.50; extra dessert clusters, $4 to $4.50; connoisseur clusters, $3.25 to $3.50; quarter flat connoisseur clusters, $1 to $1.15; Royal Buckingham, $5 to $5.50.

Sultana raisins are quiet and unchanged at 5½ to 6c. for good, and 6½ to 7c. for fine.

Turkish prunes are cabled 1s. 6d. per 100 lbs. dearer. The new season's Turkish prunes have not yet reached this market, the demand still being satisfied from the French article. Genuine Bordeaux prunes are giving good satisfaction, being of fine flavor and cheap compared with last season. The price for the four grades runs from 4½ to 7c., while for dried apples the price is 5 to 5½c. Turkish prunes to arrive are being quoted as follows: Sphinx, B., 6¾ to 7½c.; U., 5½ to 6c.: Atlas, B., 5¾ to 6½c; D., 5¾ to 5¾c. French prunes on spot we quote as follows: E., 4c.; D., 5c.; C., 6c.; B., 7c.

Currants are in fair demand, the better grades being principally wanted. Prices are cabled 1s. per 100 lbs. higher. Quotations here are unchanged. We quote: Filiatras, half barrels, 4 to 4½c., barrels, 4½c.; fine Filiatras, half barrels., 4¾c., barrels 4⅝c.; Patras, 5½ in cases; Casalinas, 5½ to 6c.; Vostizzas, 6½ to 7½c. in cases and half cases; Panartes, 8 to 8½c.

First shipments of new dates are due this week, and they are being quoted at 5c. for fine and 5¾c. for finest. There is not much demand.

There is an active demand for figs at unchanged prices. We quote: 14 oz., 9 to 10c.; 10 lb., 9½ to 11½c.; 18 lb., 15c.; 28 lb., 17c.; taps, 4 to 5c.; naturals, 6½ to 7c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The butter trade does not show any improvement. The demand is almost nil for dairy tub butter, on account of the difficulty of getting the choice article. People who have been taking the poor quality butter are now turning their attention to large rolls, which are coming forward freely. A large quantity of early made creamery butter is being offered, but the quality is so unsatisfactory that few, if any, sales are made. THE GROCER hears of one dealer that would be glad to take 15c. per lb. for this kind of butter, but thus far he does not seem to have been successful in finding a buyer. Much of the butter that is being offered at this low figure would probably have sold at 19 to 20c. if it had been put on the market when fresh. In creamery pound prints of winter make there is an increase to note both in supply and demand. We quote jobbing prices: Dairy—Choice tubs, selections, 17 to 18c.; crocks, 18c.; low grade, 10 to 12c.; pound rolls, 17 to 18c.; large rolls, 15 to 15½c. Creamery—Tubs, early makes, 15 to 18c.; late makes, 20 to 22c.

CHEESE—Continues firm at 10½ to 11c., but there is not much moving.

GREEN FRUIT.

Oranges have been scarce the past week or ten days, and while shipments are arriving it is not expected that the supply will be any too large for holiday requirements. Demand is good and prices higher. Valencia oranges are arriving, and in good condition. They are up 1s. 6d. in the primary markets. Lemons are in good demand, but prices are a little easier. Messina stock are in good order, while the Florida article is about done. California dried fruits are in good demand. Canadian and Nova Scotia cranberries are about out of the market, Jersey and Cape Cods being about the only kinds to be had just now. There is a fair movement locally. We quote: Lemons—Floridas, 150's to 176's, $3.50 to $3.75 per box; Messinas, $4 to $4.50; Malagas, $3 to $3.50. Oranges—Floridas, $2.50 to $3; Valencias, $4.25 to $4.50. Bananas, $1.25 to $1.75, according to quality. Apples, winter fruit, $3 per bbl.; snow apples, $2 to $2.50; fall fruit, $1.75 to $2.50. Grapes—Malagas, $5 to $6.50 per keg. Sweet potatoes, $2.25 per bbl. Cranberries, Nova Scotia, $10 to $10.50 per bbl., and $3.35 to $3.50 per crate; Canadian, $3.25 per bushel; Cape Cod, $3.50 per crate and $11 to $12 per bbl.; Jerseys, fancy, $12 to $14 per bbl. and $3 to $4.50 per case. California dried fruit—Apricots, 12 to 12½c.; peaches, 13 to 14c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—There is not a great deal doing, and prices are much as before, namely, $1.40 to $1.50 for choice hand-picked, and $1.20 to $1.25 for medium.

DRIED APPLES—Are quiet and unchanged at 5 to 5½c.

EVAPORATED APPLES—For the few that are selling the jobbers are getting 6½ to 7c., and the factories are asking 6c., f.o.b. outside.

HOPS—Are dull and nominal in price. Package hops are quoted at 18 to 20c., according to quality.

ONIONS—Continue quiet: We quote: Domestic, 70 to 80c. per bag, and 70 to 75c. per crate; Spanish, 80 to 90c. per crate; Valencia, $2.50 to $2.75 per case.

HONEY—There is not much doing. We quote: Strained in 10-lb tins at 9 to 10c.

POTATOES—The market is quiet. There have been some transactions in car lots at 43c. on track, but the ruling figure is about 46c. For small lots out of store the jobbers are getting 50 to 55c.

POULTRY—Geese, chickens and turkeys are hard to sell, there being an over-supply. The fact that the Street Railway Company is asking for tenders this week for the supply of over 600 turkeys will tend to keep the market up. We quote: Turkeys, 7 to 7½c.; chickens 15 to 40c.; ducks, 35 to 40c.; geese, 5 to 5½c.

EGGS—Demand is active for strictly fresh stock, but offerings of this sort are light. Country pickled eggs are offering liberally, and as low as 12½c. has been accepted. Good to choice limed eggs are quoted at 13 to 14c. We quote: Held fresh, 13 to 16c.; cold storage, poor, 10c.; choice, 15 to 16c.; limed, 13 to 14c.

FISH.

Demand is good for fresh fish, but frozen kinds are not much wanted. We quote: Frozen trout, 7c.; skinned and boned cod fish, 6½c.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c.; market cod, 5c.; steak cod, 6 to 7c.; haddock, 5c.; Labrador herring, $2 50 per half keg and $5.50 to $5.75 per barrel; ditto, split, $3; fresh water salt herring, $4 per bbl.; blueback herring, 4c.; blue pickerel, 4 to 5c. lb.; yellow ditto, 6 to 7c. per lb; mackerel, 13c. each; pike, 5c. lb.: haddock and cod, 6c. per lb.; finnan haddies, 7½c.; Digby herring, in bundles of 5 boxes, 15c.; ditto, lengthwise, 14c.; large halibut, 10c.; ciscoes, $1 35 to $1.40. Oysters, $1.20 to $1.25 per gallon; select, $1.60

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Trade is rather quiet, except in long clear bacon and barrel pork for the lumber camps. There has been some demand for fancy lines of breakfast bacon and hams for the holiday trade. Demand for lard has been active, and stocks are being pretty well sold up. This is no doubt due in a measure to the low price and the small quantity of lard there is in hogs this season. As a result of the low price of pure lard, sales of compound have dropped off, which, of course, is anything but distasteful to the manufacturers of the pure article. Dressed hogs are quiet at $5.20 to $5.25, with receipts light.

BACON—Long clear, 7c. for carload lots, 7¼c. for ton lots and 7½c. for small lots; breakfast bacon, 10 to 10½c.; rolls, 8 to 8¼c.

HAMS—Large, 22 lbs. and over, 9½c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 10 to 10½c.; small hams, 10½ to 11c.; pickled, 9½ to 10c.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 8c.; tubs, 8½c.; pails, 8¾c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $15.50; Canadian short-cut, $15 25 to $15.75; shoulder mess, $12.75 to $13.25; clear mess, $13 20 to $14.

SALT.

Trade is brisk, both for jobbing lots and car lots, and prices are unchanged. We quote: Barrels, 90c.; coarse sacks, 56c.; fine sacks, 60c.; dairy, $1.50; rock, $9.

VALENCIA RAISINS

We beg to advise the Trade that we have in stock JAS. MORAND & CO.'S "Off Stalk," "Selected" and "Ondara Layer" Valencias. This Fruit is undoubtedly the best cured and most carefully packed Fruit in the market this year and is Not Rain Damaged.

An English exchange says that figs are again much cheaper, but the quality of some of the recent arrivals is not quite so good, and in this way the actual decline is not so great as it at first appears.

The sweet tomato catsup recently placed upon the market by the Pure Gold Manufacturing Co. has taken well. "It will be welcomed in many homes this Christmas," remarked Manager Roberts.

P. C. Larkin & Co. have received letters from agents during the past week stating that they had done a larger business in "Salada" during the previous week than ever before in the same time.

"We ship orders same day as received," said the manager of the Ireland Co., "so that customers requiring an assortment of our attractive package goods to complete Christmas displays can rely upon receiving them promptly."

Wright & Copp, Toronto agents Surprise soap, report that they are overrun with orders, and that any customers who have not yet received a Surprise soap twine holder can have one sent by applying to the manufacturers or their agents. The twine holder is both useful and ornamental, and a post card is all that is necessary to obtain one.

W. H. Gillard & Co. write that they are in receipt of a further shipment of English blend Indian and Ceylon tea, "Mallawalla," in ½ and 1 lb. lead packages, 50 lbs. in a case. This tea has been on the English market twelve years. W. H. Gillard & Co. are the agents for Western Canada.

MONTREAL MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Dec. 13, 1894.

GROCERIES.

THE week has been a rather quiet one in the grocery market, the most prominent feature being the continued easiness of sugar, on which refiners at the close of last week conceded another fractional reduction. In other lines no change in values of a striking kind is to report, except that Maracaibo and Rio coffees are rather firmer here, while spices show considerable strength also. The tea market is quiet, with little doing, and the same can be said of canned goods, on which, however, holders' ideas of value are firm, so that if they maintain this stand buyers will not gain much by holding off. With Advent the fish market is more active, while the jobbing demand for raisins and other dried fruit, with the exception of currants, is good. The latter are dull as ever. Payments are fair.

SUGAR.

There has been a moderately active trade doing in sugar since our last report, despite the fact that the tone of the market as regards values is unsettled. Refiners on Thursday last conceded 1-16c. more for round lots of granulated, and now supplies can be freely had by wholesalers at 3⅞ to 4c., as to quality, for granulated. Yellows are more plentiful now, for the reason that the German sugar is taking its place to a considerable extent. Refiners, however, have experienced a moderate enquiry at 3 to 3⅝c., as to quality, at the factory, the outside figure for bright grades. From second hands the distributing movement is of a quiet character, but no one in the trade expects activity in the staple at this time of the year. Jobbers' prices rule fairly steady at 4⅛c. on domestic granulated, 3⅞c. on German stock and 3⅝c. on the Berthier raw beet sugar.

SYRUPS.

There has been a moderate demand for Canadian syrups, of which supplies are rather larger, but the tone continues fairly steady. We note sales of fair sized lots of bright goods at 2c. from first hands, and darker descriptions 1½ to 1⅝c. The demand from second hands is fair at an advance of about ¼c. on the above prices for jobbing lots. The demand for American syrups continues fair, but sales of small lots have taken place at a rather lower price, viz., 20c. In round lots business has been done at 19c., and we do not hear of any buyer getting better terms than that figure.

MOLASSES.

The molasses market has ruled quiet, and since the turnover of a few round lots of Barbadoes to lumbermen, no very large sales have been reported. The tone as regards values is steady, and no change is to note, prices ranging from 26 to 27c. for Barbadoes in a wholesale way, as to quantity, while the jobbing price is held at 29 to 30c. Some small lots of Porto Rico have changed hands at 24c.

RICE.

The situation of this market is essentially unchanged from a week ago, and only a small jobbing trade is passing. Prices are unchanged, as follows: Japan, standard, $4.25 to $4.40; crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B, $3.45; English style, $3.30; Patna; $4.25 to $5, and Carolina at $6.50 to $7.50.

SPICES.

There is a fair demand for spices in a moderate jobbing way, and prices are steady. We quote: Penang black pepper, 6 to 7½c., white pepper, 10 to 12½c.; cloves, 7½ to 9c.; cassia, 9 to 10c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.; Jamaica ginger, 15 to 22c.

COFFEES.

The firm feeling already noted in coffees is well maintained, but the demand is not active. Still, in pursuance of advices from outside, holders here are demanding an advance on Maracaibo and Rio of ½c., while other grades are firmly held. We quote: Maracaibo, 20½ to 22½c.; Rio, 20½ to 21½c.; Java, 26 to 30c.; Mocha, 28 to 31c., and Jamaica, 18 to 25c.

TEA.

The dominant feature of the market is quietness, as noted last week. A few small lots of Congous at 12 to 15c. and some Japans at 13 to 17c. have been the only business to note in a wholesale way since our last report. The demand experienced by wholesale grocers is equally quiet, and, as a whole, the market is a very dull one at present. In a wholesale way we quote: Japans, low grades, 12 to 13c.; medium, 14 to 17c.; fine 18½ to 32c., and choice, 24 to 31c.

DRIED FRUIT.

There is a fair jobbing enquiry for raisins from second hands, but very little doing in a large way. As the holiday wants become more pressing, however, stocks will have, no doubt, to be supplemented, for they are not excessive, but at present there is little sign of this. In a jobbing way ordinary off-stalk Valencias are moving at 4 to 4½c., selected 5 to 5½c., and layers 5½ to 6c. California 3-Crown muscatels meet a good enquiry at 5½ to 6c., and 4-Crown are very scarce and firmly held at 9½c. in a jobbing way, as supplies in a round way can be had from first hands at the usual concession on these prices. Sultana raisins, under scarcity, are strong also, at 5½ to 7½c., as to quality, for jobbing business.

The currant market is extremely dull, and even the ordinary distributing trade is quieter than usual. Prices, however, rule much the same, as follows: Filiatras and Provincials, 3 to 3¾c. in bbls., and 3½ to 4c. in cases; Patras, 4½ to 5c., and Vostizzas 7c.

The firmness quoted last week on Turkish prunes has been maintained, and cost and freight prices are 6d. higher than they were a week ago. On spot, however, a quiet jobbing trade is doing in both Bosnia and Bordeaux stock at 4½ to 5¼c., as to quality.

The fig market is steady and unchanged under a moderate jobbing demand. Basket figs move at 4 to 5c., and boxed stock 8 to 9c. for ordinary, with higher grades 12 to to 16c., as to quality.

There is only a quiet trade doing in dates at former prices, 6½ to 7c., as to quality.

NUTS.

Newly arrived stock has met a fairly good demand and prices are steady. We quote: Tarragona almonds, 13½ to 14c.; filberts, 8 to 9c.; Brazil nuts, 11c.; pecans, small, 10c.; medium, 13c., and extra, 15c.; Grenoble walnuts, 13½ to 14c., and Naples do., 13½c.; peanuts, 7 to 9c. for roasted and 6 to 8c. for raw.

CANNED GOODS.

The market continues quiet and steady, and holders' opinions are very firm, despite the absence of demand. A moderate sort of trade is doing at about the following prices: Lobsters, per case, $6.50; sardines, $8.50 to $9.50; salmon, $1.35 to $1.40 per doz; tomatoes, 95c. per doz.; peaches, $2 to $2.10 per doz.; corn, 95c. to $1 per doz., and marrowfat peas, 85 to 90c. per doz.; strawberries, $2.75 per doz, and raspberries, $1.80 to $2.50; 1-gallon can apples, $2.10; Australian canned meats: 1-lb. can boiled mutton, $1.80 to $1.90; 2-lb. can do., $3.10 to $3.15; 1-lb. can roast mutton, $2.05 to $2.10; 2-lb. can do., $3.35 to $3.40; 1-lb. can corned mutton $2.05 to $2.20; 2-lb. can do., $3.35 to $3.40.

FISH.

With Advent a better demand has set in for fish of all kinds, but though this has resulted in a steadier tone no change of importance is to note in values. Pickled herrings continue in large supply, and though no change is noted it looks as if lower prices would have to be accepted. A few small lots have changed hands at $5. Carload sales of green cod transpire at $4 to $4.10 for No. 1, and $2.75 to $3 for No. 2, while haddock rules steady at $3 to $3.25. Receipts of Labrador salmon are not heavy, and the light stock here is firmly held at $14 per bbl. B. C. stock is selling at $11.50 to $12. There have been some free receipts of sea trout, which move quietly at $10 to $11 per bbl. Tommycods are now in regular offering at $2 to $2.25 per bbl. Fresh fish keep well cleaned up, haddock meeting a brisk demand at 4½c. per lb., while cod are well enquired for at 3½ to 4c. Finnan haddies range from 7 to 7½c. for Portland to 6½ to 7c. for St. John.

GREEN FRUIT.

ORANGES—There is a fair demand for oranges, and prices are steady. Floridas, $2 to $3, and Jamaicas, $4.50 to $5.

LEMONS—There is a comparitive scarcity of lemons, and prices are rather firm. We quote: Malagas, $7 to $7.50, and Messinas, $3 to $4.

PINE APPLES—Meet a fair demand at 10 to 17c., as to quality.

CRANBERRIES—These are scarce and firmly held at $9 to $11 per bbl., an advance of 50c. since our last.

GRAPES—There is a ready sale for grapes as follows: Almeria, $5.50 to $6 per keg, and Catawba, 23 to 25c. per basket.

APPLES—The apple market on spot continues much as it was. Demand is quiet and prices unchanged at $2 to $2.50 per bbl.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Demand for eggs is fair and prices are steady at 13 to 14c. for limed, and 10 to 12c. for culls.

POULTRY—Receipts are heavy but the demand is good and prices rule steady, with a large volume of business doing. We quote: Turkeys, at 7 to 8½c.; chickens at 7 to 8c.; fowls at 6 to 7c.; geese at 5 to 6c., and ducks at 7 to 8c., per lb.

GAME—Owing to the light receipts of partridge, and the continued good demand, the tone of the market was firmer to-day and prices were slightly higher at 50c. per brace for No. 1, and 30c. for No. 2. Venison is arriving more freely since the cold weather has set in, and meets with a fair sale at 8 to 10c. per lb.

DRESSED HOGS—There is a good demand for dressed hogs, and prices rule steady and unchanged from a week ago at $5.25 to $5.75. per 100 lbs.

HONEY—This market is easy in tone at 4½ to 5½c. for old extracted, and new, 7 to 8½c. per lb. Comb honey is steady at 10 to 15½c.

HOPS—The hop market is quiet and unchanged, further sales of Townships stock transpiring at 6½ to 9c.

POTATOES—There is a good demand for potatoes, which sell at 54c on the track, and 62 to 65c. on spot, according to quantity.

ONIONS—There is a fair sale for these at $1.75 to $2 per bbl.

PROVISIONS.

Since the colder weather has set in the demand for provisions has improved some, and dealers report a fairly active business doing in a small way at about steady prices.

FLOUR AND FEED

THE MARKETS.

TORONTO.

WHEAT—The feeling was, if anything, easier. Red and white wheat were quoted nominally at 57c. west. There was a disinclination on the part of millers to do business at this figure. On offerings of red, high freights west were refused at 57c. Goose and spring are nominal. Manitobas continue firm. No. 1 hard sold west at 75c. There was free bidding at 74½c. Car lots, G.T.R. east, are quoted at 76c., and C.P.R., Montreal freights, at 77c.

FLOUR—Buyers are holding off, and prices are easy. Straight roller, in bbls., Toronto freights, offered at $2 60. We quote the range at $2 56 to $2.70.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Business is fair in oatmeal, with prices firm in sympathy with the advance in oats. We quote: Standard and granulated oatmeal, $3 85; rolled wheat, $2.10 in 100 lb. barrels; cornmeal, $3.50; split peas and pot barley, $3 75 per barrel.

MILLFEED—Carloads of bran, middle freights west, sold at $11, and shorts at $12. Demand is fairly active.

PEAS—Quiet and steady. Car lots of No. 2, north and west, are quoted at 52½c., and middle freights west at 53½c.

OATS—Offerings more liberal. Prices unchanged. White are in demand west at 28c., and east at 29c. Car lots on track here are quoted at 31c. Mixed sold west to-day at 27c.

BARLEY—Quiet and unchanged. No. 1 is quoted outside at 43 to 44c. No. 2 at 40 to 41c., and feed at 38c. There is a moderate enquiry for feed.

RYE—Two cars sold east to-day at 41c.

BUCKWHEAT—New York reports a dull market. Here dealers quote car lots outside at 35c.

MONTREAL.

In Manitoba flour, millers report a fair business doing for this season of the year. The demand for small lots is good, and prices are firmly held. We quote as follows: Winter wheat, $3 25 to $3.50; spring wheat, patents, $3.50 to $3.65; straight roller, $2.85 to $3.00; extra, $2.65 to $2.70; superfine, $2.50 to $2.60; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.15 to $3.50.

There was no change in the feed market. The demand was fair, and a moderately active business was done. Ontario bran, $15 to $15 50; Manitoba bran, $16, shorts, $17; Mouillie, $20 to $22.

A fair jobbing business was reported in oatmeal at steady prices. Standard, bbls., $3.50 to $3.65; granulated, bbls., $3.60 to $3 75; rolled oats, bbls., $3.75 to $3 85.

ST. JOHN, N.B.

In flour the market continues to advance, and orders are being given quite freely by merchants here. Cornmeal remains firm at quotations, with small demand. Oatmeal is firmer. Beans keep lower than was expected. Oats are quoted higher, as are middlings. Bran is expected to go higher unless wheat becomes cheaper. We quote: Manitoba flour, $4.15 to $4.25; best Ontario, $3.50 to $3.60; medium, $3.25 to $3 50; oatmeal, $4.10; Western Grey buckwheat, $2.25; cornmeal, $3 to $3.10; granulated, $3.50 to $3.60; middlings, $20 to $20 50; bran, $18 to $18.50; cottonseed meal, $30 per ton; N.B. oats, 35 to 37c.; Ontario oats, 40 to 42c.; beans, $1.40 to $1.50; split peas, $3.67 to $3.80; round peas, $3.65 to $3.70; pot barley, $4 to $4.10; hay, on track, $9.50 to $10.

WILL GOOD TIMES RETURN?

IT is commonly remarked among business men, in discussing the present situation and the outlook for the future, that the excellent business conditions of the past will never again return. Very often this assertion, says Business, is made in a way to convey the idea that a measure of prosperity equal to that with which the country has been blessed in past years, will never be seen again, while, in fact, something very different is really meant. We agree with several of our correspondents who have made the assertion that the "old times" will never come back, but we do not agree with the inference that is sometimes drawn from such an expression that the equal of the old times will never again be seen. No one wants the same times over again, but all want and expect still better times in the future.

In the vegetable kingdom plants sprout from the seed, have their growth, live their life, decay and die. They are influenced by climate, by seasons and by artificial conditions. So in the business world, under certain conditions, various forms of business enterprise are started. They grow to be apparently solid investments, but in time die of natural decay. They run their course to the end of their usefulness or their opportunity. Other industries or commercial ventures spring into existence by reason of favoring conditions, and are blasted by the winter of adversity. Still, others are like hot-house plants: they grow in the warmth of artificial conditions, and die when the glass protection over them is removed by intention or destroyed by accident. In the vegetable world, when one growth has been removed from the soil, either by the woodman's axe or by fire, some other and entirely different growth springs up. Nature is never idle, but, when stopped in one direction, keeps up her work in another. So it is with business. It never ceases. It sometimes ebbs, and again flows, but there is always business. When one class of enterprises have had their day and reached the end, others come to take their place, and, accordingly, there are no bare spots. The good old times are gone, but just as good or better, even though a little different, are ahead of us.

We quote: Canadian short cut, heavy, $17 to $18; Canadian short cut, light, $14.50 to $15.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 9 to 11½c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 9½ to 10½c.; bacon, per lb., 9 to 11½c.; lard, com. refined, per lb., 7 to 8c.

BUTTER.

Business in the butter market is strictly confined to a small local jobbing trade, which is restricted to fine fall goods. Other kinds continue neglected and easy in tone. We quote: Finest fall-made creamery, 20½ to 21½c.; earlier makes, 16 to 17½c.; finest Townships, 18 to 19c.; finest western dairy, 16 to 17c.; western rolls, 15 to 16c.; Kamouraska, 15 to 16c.

CHEESE.

The cheese market remains much the same. Demand is of a quiet character, and only leads to a small business in underpriced goods, as buyers and sellers are apart in their ideas of value on A 1 stock. At present prices, however, it may be remarked that fall goods are much cheaper than they were this time last year, so that when they are actually wanted on the other side, there will be no question of high prices to interfere with the consumptive demand. We quote: Finest Ontario fall made, 10⅛ to 10⅜c.; finest Townships, 10c.; finest eastern, 9⅞ to 10c.; under grades, 9 to 9¼c.; cable, 50s. 6d.

ASHES.

There is no change in ashes, which remain the same. We quote: First pots, $4.10; seconds, $3.50 to $3.60, and pearls $6.50 per 100 lbs.

MONTREAL TRADE NOTES.

Caverhill, Hughes & Co. received recently a large consignment of choice Hallowee dates, and also full lines of figs of all kinds.

Receipts of Valencia raisins, via New York, have comprised several thousand boxes, but business from first hands is very quiet at the moment.

The lowest price on record was reached last week on beet sugar, at Hamburg—viz., 8s. 10½d. f.o.b. at that port—which is 5s. to 10s. below anything before touched at the same period.

A large shipment of the Catling Packing Co.'s 4-Crown loose California muscatel raisins was received by Geo. Childs & Co. this week. This is a very scarce fruit at the moment.

Laporte, Martin & Co. were the recipients of a consignment of fine 3-Crown loose California muscatel raisins; and Birks, Corner & Co. also got in another lot. This fruit was also from the Catling Packing Co.

D. H. Renaldson has near at hand a large shipment of Batger's celebrated No 1 boiled confectionery. The merits of these fine candies are well known, and the attractive packages in which they are put up make them good sellers.

Mr. Laflamme, of Rose & Laflamme, is one of the "mighty hunters" of the grocery trade in Montreal. He has just got back from a hunting trip with five other gentlemen, and they bagged six deer, Mr. Laflamme getting one the very first day out.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Dec. 13, 1894.

BUSINESS continues good. A large number of merchants report an increase in their total sales compared with last year. Collections are rather slow. There is little change in teas here, stocks being in good condition and parties anxious to make sales. There is not much change in prices. Pork, beef and lard are rather lower. White fish are firmer. The feeling in flour is beginning to follow the market, and sales are being more freely made at the advanced prices. Retailers are now beginning to feel the Christmas trade, while the wholesaler begins to find it quieter.

SALT—Stocks are light, market continuing to be supplied via Boston. A small cargo arrived from that port this week was sold at 2c. at schooner's side. Ontario salt, in wood boxes, is being largely sold here. Before this American was almost the only kind sold in that shape. We quote prices ex store: Coarse salt, 58c.; fine factory filled, $1 to $1.10; 5-lb. bags, per bbl., $3.25; 10-lb. bags, per bbl., $3.10; wood boxes, 20 lb., 20c.; 10 lb., 12c.

CANNED GOODS—Quantity moving is not large. In salmon it is expected as soon as demand begins there will be an advance of 15c. in this market. Stocks are light. Some fresh canned Digby chickens, put up in Nova Scotia, are now offered. These goods have only been upon the market a few seasons, but are finding a good sale and are reported nice. They have the advantage of being cheap, price being $1 per doz. We quote: Corn and peas, 95c.; tomatoes, $1; corned beef, $2 60 to $2.75;; oysters, $2.10 to $2.15; lobsters, $1.75 to $2; salmon, $1.35 to $1.40; peaches, 2's, $2; 3's, $2.50 to $2.60; new canned apples, $2.40; haddies, $1.40.

DRIED FRUIT—New dates are to hand this week, some 800 boxes having arrived per last English steamers. They are meeting with good demand. The outside boxes are much cleaner than usual, a fact much appreciated by those who have to handle them. These, contrary to usual order, were bought direct from Persia. Prunes are not here yet. Market is, however, well supplied with French prunes. Citron is scarce in this market, first arrivals only being enough to fill standing orders. The demand for dried apples is good. It looks as if they were taking the place, in many cases, of evaporated. The lumbermen, particularly, appear to prefer the dried. They are low. Currants are cheap on spot. An extra quantity of small boxes of raisins have been used in this market this season. The nut trade continues good, the coming holidays causing the demand. We quote: Sultana raisins, 6½ to 7c.; Valencia, 4½ to 4¾c.; layers, 5½ to 5¾c.; California loose muscatels, 6¼ to 6½c.; London layers, $2.10 to $2.25; black baskets, $3.25; French prunes, large boxes, 5 to 6c.; small boxes, 9 to 11c.; currants, bbls., 3¼ to 3½c.; cases, 3¾ to 4¼c.; cleaned, 25 lb. boxes, 6c.; 1 lb. cartoons, 6¾c.; new dates, 5c. Walnuts, 11 to 13c.; peanuts, 10c.; filberts, 9 to 10c.; Brazils, 11 to 12c.; almonds, 13c.; pecans, 12 to 13c.

GREEN FRUIT—There is nothing new in the apple market. Auction sales continue daily. Prices are 60c. to $1. Bishop pippins would bring much better prices were it not that they incline to be soft. Oranges are lower. Florida lemons and Canadian grapes are about out of the market. Malaga grapes are very firm. Hard apples bring good prices and are in good demand. We quote: Soft fruit, $1 to $1.50; Bishop pippins, $1.50 to $1.75; hard fruit, $2 to $2.50; Florida oranges, $3 to $3.50; West India, repacked, $5 per bbl.; case oranges, to arrive this week, $5; keg grapes, 5 to 6c.; lemons, Messina, $4 to $5; Nova Scotia cider, $2 to $2.25 per barrel; Ontario cider, 25c. per gallon.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Cheese is rather firmer, though demand is not large. A few of this province's October makes are on the market. They are splendid goods. In butter the feeling is weaker, though demand is fair. In eggs the feeling is firmer and stocks light. The stock of medium grade butter in this market is large, and there is a good deal in the country yet to come forward. Extra quality is in demand. Good fresh pound rolls find ready sale. We quote: Eggs, 18 to 19c.; dairy butter, 18 to 20c.; creamery, 21 to 22c.; rolls, 24 to 26c.; cheese, 10½ to 11c.

MOLASSES—Stocks for this season are light. Good quality Porto Rico, Barbadoes and Antigua are being offered from New York in barrels and casks. It is expected prices will advance. In syrups demand is fair. We quote: Barbadoes, 32c.; Porto Rico, 32 to 35c.; fancy, 43 to 44c.; syrup, 30 to 35c.

SUGARS—Some nice samples of German granulated are now shown here at about ¼c. under refinery prices. Everything points to lower prices. It is said the native granulated gives much more satisfactory results. We quote: Granulated, 4¼.; yellows, 3⅜ to 3¾c.; powdered, 6 to 6¼c.; Paris lump, 6 to 6¼c.

FISH—Demand is not active. In cod fish the demand is almost all for medium. In smoked fish the quantities coming forward are large, with market weak. Pickled fish are firmer, and a few No. 1 mackerel are in the market. The season for frozen fish is now here, and dealers are preparing for a large business. Some herring which have arrived sold at 75c., and smelts at 5c. Demand has been light for smelts and a quantity was re-shipped to Boston. Demand for boneless fish is small. We quote: Medium cod, $3.50 to $3.75; small, $3 to $3.25; large, $3.70 to $3.90; pollock, $1.70 to $1.75; shad, $5 to $5.50; No. 1 mackerel, $9 half-barrel; Shelburne, No. 1, barrels, $4 to $4.25; Bay herring, $1.50 to $1.60, half-barrels; medium smoked herring, 7 to 8c.; lengthwise, 7c.

PROVISIONS—Market weak and demand light. Local curers have done a large business this fall, and this has had something to do in lessening imports. We quote: Clear pork, $18.50 to $19; mess pork, $16.50 to to $17; plate beef, $12.75 to $13; pure lard, 9½ to 10c.; compound, 8½ to 9c.; hams, 11½ to 12c.; bacon, 10c.; cottolene, 9¾ to 10¼c.

ST. JOHN MARKET NOTES.

The first vessel due with salt will arrive about the middle of January.

The lumbermen are looking good natured, expecting a fair output this winter and a good business in the spring.

There was some excitement at the unloading of the English steamer this week. A barrel of tar broke, and the contents went over a quantity of tea. It did not take the steamer's hands long to get the outside mats off the half chests, and it is thought that little damage has been done.

Canadian oil has been advanced here ½c. and linseed is reported firmer.

A large quantity of No. 1 Nova Scotia cider has been received by Northrup & Co., who make a specialty of this trade.

On Friday, December 7, eight cars of fresh fish left Moncton by special train for Boston, coming from North Shore points.

It is estimated that in the five northern counties of this province $5,000,000 worth of fish will be taken during the season, $300,000 being netted from smelts.

The extra large supplies of poultry have driven prices down, turkeys selling wholesale at 8 to 10c., geese 45 to 60c., ducks 50 to 60c., chickens 30 to 45c.

Large quantities of smoked haddies, bloaters and kippered herring arrive each week from Nova Scotia and Grand Manan ports. An improvement is shown in quality.

It has often seemed strange that every month the withdrawals from the savings bank here should exceed the deposits. Last month deposits were $68,807.76 and withdrawals $75,452.03.

The sympathy of THE GROCER is extended to the family of the late William Beer, of the firm of Schofield & Beer, who, after a long illness, died on Monday, 3rd inst. As a merchant and citizen he was well known and respected, being for many years a familiar figure on our streets. His large funeral reflected the high esteem in which he was held by the citizens.

The Custom House report shows the following total dutiable imports: November, 1894, $121,831; last November, $160,578. Free this year, $76,529; last year, $118 779. Duty collected this November, $54,431; last November, $66,785. Exports this November, $174,506; last November, $385 533. The great difference in this last particular is almost entirely due to the falling off in the export of lumber.

In teas the demand for the blended article is daily increasing. This is no doubt caused in one way by their evenness as well as by the extra flavor obtained by the proper union of the different grades, particularly the introduction of Indians and Ceylons. Theo. H. Estabrook reports receiving another lot of his Sterling blend in 50c. metal packages.

BAD AND POOR CLERKS.

The St. Louis Grocer asks: "Can you recall a case of a poor clerk making a successful merchant?"

Certainly, lots of them; in fact, most successful merchants began as poor clerks. Perhaps you mean bad instead of "poor." If so, why, that's different, though even many a bad clerk has been made good by a successful merchant, or a good trade journal. —Herald of Commerce.

RIGHT YOU ARE.

THE CANADIAN GROCER had an editorial in a recent issue, respecting a phase of trade journalism experience, which every publisher at times has to meet with.

Like ourselves, THE CANADIAN GROCER is glad to print, as news, any items respecting the arrival of new goods, etc., for its advertisers, and frequently has requests from correspondents for information as to where certain goods can be obtained.

These latter communications it replies to according to its knowledge, but in a recent case it did not possess the information desired by a correspondent, and honestly said so, only to be taken to task immediately afterward by the manufacturer of the article, who seemed indignant that the editor should not know the details of his (the manufacturer's) business, when the fact was that the manufacturer was one of those curiosities of the age—a business (?) man who does not advertise.

THE CANADIAN GROCER naturally stated, in replying to the manufacturer, that no one connected with the paper was a clairvoyant, and people must not be expected to know what a manufacturer has for sale unless he keeps it well advertised in the trade press.

THE CANADIAN GROCER is right.

Retailers are not clairvoyants either, nor are they expected to remember an article unless its claims are kept before their eyes in their trade paper.

There is no room in the present age for manufacturers who do not advertise.—Cash Grocer.

ZINC TO BLEACH MOLASSES.

THE adulteration of New Orleans molasses with sulphate of zinc is again attracting attention. The same question has been brought before the trade in various forms within the past ten years, but reports from various sections of the country now indicate a more vigorous investigation of the methods being practised by New Orleans and other shippers. According to a member of the New York trade, nearly 95 per cent. of molasses received in this market is adulterated, but, on the other hand, it is explained that it is hard to sell straight goods, and that molasses is brightened so that it will sell more readily. It is denied, however, that the introduction of sulphate of zinc is injurious, and to substantiate this several houses that deal in large quantities of molasses contend that zinc not only brightens the goods but purifies it. At any rate, the proportion of zinc used they say is so small that it is harmless.

It is claimed for the zinc that it has peculiar properties which allow it to precipitate all foreign matter, and rise to the surface as a scum, which is then cleared off and the molasses is left a pure amber color. The fact that molasses is "bleached" in order to compete with New Orleans wholesalers was freely admitted in the local trade.

It was said that the New Orleans Board of Health had prohibited the use of sulphate of zinc in the adulteration of molasses, and for some time the practice ceased. The manufacturers of preserves, etc., declared that the enforcement of such an order would practically ruin their business; but, nevertheless, it was heeded until recently, when fresh complaints were made to the health authorities that sulphate of zinc was entering into the clarifying process of molasses more largely than ever.

H. L. Hobart said, in reply to inquiries: "There is nothing in the story worth discussing. Zinc is used to purify and brighten molasses, but not in sufficient quantities to harm anybody. It is an old matter, often before the trade, and that's about all there is to it."

Mr. Post, of B. H. Howell's Son & Co., replied: "Sulphate of zinc is one of the ingredients used in a formula to clarify molasses. There are houses in this market that brighten molasses. I believe that the zinc precipitates any foreign matter which the molasses may contain, and then rises to the surface, where it is recovered. I don't think enough remains to harm us.

A member of the firm of Gustave, Jahn & Co., answered: "We have a formula for brightening our goods, but it is a common practice in the trade. Very few straight goods are received from New Orleans, and when we do get straight goods it is difficult to dispose of them when shown with brightened goods. It is a miserable practice, however, and I wish it could be stopped."

A dispatch from Columbus, Ohio, states that a plan of adulterating New Orleans molasses came to the attention of Dairy and Food Commissioner McBall, of Ohio. A very extensive dealer in molasses and preserves sent him two samples of the classes—one bleached and the other unbleached. The manufacturer in question stated that this "bleached" article is the unbleached with sulphate of zinc added. The zinc is poisonous.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

HE HITS THE NAIL.

The retail grocers of New York have been endeavoring to formulate schemes to fight the department stores, and one of their number has written The Sun anent the matter. He says:

"The members of the Retail Grocers' Association are proving that they are possessed of very poor business capabilities.

"If the dry goods houses feel like going into the grocery business, all the opposition, threatening, and baby talk of the association won't stop them. Of the two it will help them, as it is a first-class advertisement for the dry goods men.

"Now, here are the facts: No dry goods house can drive a live, up-to-date grocer out of business. It is a mistake to think the dry goods men are running grocery departments to advertise themselves. This is nonsense. Their grocery business is for making money. They may sell a few things cheap, but they will deceive no one but amateur housekeepers. Any good grocer can, on the whole, supply groceries cheaper than the dry goods men, for the simple reason that he is under less expense. Take my word for it, you can get more goods and better goods for a five dollar bill from a live grocer than you can at any bargain house in this town.

"What the members of the association want to do is to take the cobwebs out of their eyes, clean their stores up and make them look attractive, print signs for their goods, abolish the credit business, and look out for themselves and not for their opponents.

"The dry goods men may start soap factories, packing houses, or baby farms if they wish, but they can't scare a live grocer."

PREPARING COCOA.

In a recent article on coffee and cocoa, the eminent German chemist, Professor Stutzer, speaking of the Dutch process of preparing cocoa by the addition of potash, and of the process common in Germany in which ammonia is added, says: "The only result of these processes is to make the liquid appear turbid to the eye of the consumer, without effecting a real solution of the cocoa substances. This artificial manipulation for the purpose of so-called solubility is, therefore, more or less inspired by deception, and always takes place at the cost of purity, pleasant taste, useful action, and aromatic flavor. The treatment of cocoa by such chemical means is entirely objectionable. . . . Cocoa treated with potash or ammonia would be entirely unsalable but for the supplementary addition of artificial flavors by which a poor substitute for the aroma driven out into the air is offered to the consumer." The delicious breakfast cocoa made by Walter Baker & Co., of Dorchester, Mass., is absolutely pure and soluble. No chemicals, or dyes, or artificial flavors are used in it.—Advt.

THE GROCERY STOVE.

Can you see it? Big, ugly, cracked and dusty; with broken doors on rusty hinges, and with defunct legs, supplemented with bricks or blocks of wood. If it has stood in its place all summer and it seems expedient to use it again this winter, don't set it to work without giving it such a coat of polish that the tobacco chewer will not dare to leave his mark upon it. Attend to this important matter at once—delay is dangerous; for it may mean loafing, uncleanliness, and a whole train of like evils. The season is at hand when it is the stove that gives the cue to the rest of the store. Then give that wooden leg a lye bath, change the old brick for a vitrified one of the most approved pattern, keep the floor underneath and around the stove well swept and scoured, and depend upon it your customers will draw favorable conclusions as to the condition of your goods.—Merchants' Journal.

At the inquest on the burning of Dent & Co.'s store at Woodstock, the jury decided that the fire was the work of an incendiary.

TORONTO GROCERS' ASSOCIATION.

SLEET and rain did not prevent a fairly good turnout at the regular monthly meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association on Monday night in St. George's Hall. President Donald occupied the chair.

The principal task before the association was the election of officers for the ensuing year. The presidency went by acclamation, but it took three ballots to elect the vice-president, and an equal number to determine who should fill the treasurership. The appointment of secretary lies with the Executive Committee. R. M. Corrie is the present occupant. The election of recording secretary it was decided to defer till the next meeting, the present occupant of the office agreeing to continue his duties in the meantime.

The officers elected were :

PRESIDENT—F. S. Roberts.
VICE-PRESIDENT—A. White,
TREASURER—J. G. Gibson.
EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE—D. N. Sinclair, R. S. Bond, P. Mulqueen, D. W. Clark, A. G. Booth.

PEDLARS' LICENSES.

At the October meeting of the association a committee was appointed to secure information re pedlars in other cities, and to draft a circular for submission to the candidates at the ensuing municipal election showing the result of its labors, and urging a more stringent license law for the city of Toronto. Recording Secretary Mills announced that the committee had the draft report ready for the consideration of the association. The report, in part, read, as follows :

"From the returns received from various American and Canadian cities, the committee can say that the different civic authorities consulted protect their regular merchants much more effectively than do those of Toronto. After considering the question in all its bearings, this committee is of opinion that a larger fee should be imposed and more stringent measures adopted for enforcement of regulations attached to licenses. The question certainly would seem to merit more attention from our aldermen in view of the large amount of capital of grocers, butchers, and fruit dealers, amounting to some $4,500,000, and the more so when the business of men long identified with the interests of our city is being most seriously interfered with by those who have only recently come to our midst, and who have nothing at stake save their small license fee. The association, through this committee, ask, therefore, that you will do your utmost to ascertain the views of candidates for municipal honors in your division.

"We append list of license fees as levied in the following cities :

Denver	$100	Montreal	$100
St. Paul	100	Stratford	50
Minneapolis	75	Guelph	50
Buffalo	36	Vancouver	100
Chicago	25	Winnipeg	50

"We are of opinion that $50 should be our city license for horse and wagon with one man, each additional man, $10 ; push cart, $20 ; pedlar, with basket, $10 per annum. And that it should be under the supervision of the police department."

J. G. Gibson thought that the push cart should be made to pay the same as a wagon. "They are as big a nuisance as the wagon." He moved that the fee for push cart be made $50, and it was so decreed.

D. W. Clark considered that there should be a time limit, and he moved that a clause be added, stipulating that pedling should be prohibited between the hours of 5 a.m. and 1 p.m.

W. J. Sykes moved that baskets be taxed $25. Carried.

D. W. Clark and R. S. Bond both wanted shouting by hawkers prevented, and it was decided to so recommend.

The Executive Committee recommend that $15 be spent in advertising in the daily papers to the effect that no Christmas presents would be given by the trade this year to customers, and the meeting concurred in the recommendation.

TO HAVE AN "AT HOME."

Further consideration of the question of an At Home was suggested by the Executive Committee. At the November meeting it was decided to dispense with the usual At Home this season and merely to have refreshments and a sort of free-and-easy at the inaugural meeting in January.

After all last month's resolutions had been rescinded it was decided to have a program and refreshments at the inaugural meeting, and, in addition, to hold an At Home some time in February, the Executive being delegated to make the necessary arrangements.

The association adjourned at 10:20 p.m.

DRY GOODS.

TORONTO MARKET.

ROAD orders have increased for heavy woolens in general during the past two weeks. This is due to spells of cold weather experienced in various sections of the country, and the consequent inroads into retailers' stocks for this class of goods. Heavy dress goods, overcoatings, flannels, blankets, underwear, etc., have been reordered and wholesale stocks materially lowered.

Truly, trade has been very good for December, the volume being about equal to last December. Still the year promises to end very unfavorably, as far as the total volume of trade is concerned.

Prices are steady, and no abrupt changes have to be recorded. Cottons are firm and quiet.

Spring samples are coming in day after day, and travelers' lines are weekly augmented. Millinery travelers are mostly off the road now.

Holiday goods have sold fairly well for the Christmas trade, and those houses selling this class of goods have found a quick turnover.

MONTREAL MARKET.

The dry goods trade during the past week has been an exceedingly quiet one, and there are practically no new features to report. Values show no further change in any of the leading lines, and the actual movement has been confined to a small sorting trade, which is not calculated to develope anything striking. Stock-taking is nearly over with most of the houses in the trade, and it has revealed the fact that supplies in wholesalers' hands were never lighter than they are now.

PRODUCTS FOR BRITISH COLUMBIA

For the purpose of securing the rapid transport of dressed hogs, poultry, butter, cheese, etc., between Manitoba and British Columbia points, the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has decided to despatch a special car from Winnipeg at intervals during the winter, to carry such produce. This car is designed to carry less than carload lots, and will take the place of the refrigerator car service in the summer. Lots of the products named will be picked up at any point on the main line between Winnipeg and Moose Jaw, destined for shipment to Canmore, and points west thereof to the coast. This special car service will leave Winnipeg on the following dates: November 29, December 13 and 27, January 10 and 24, February 7 and 21, and March 7.

The refrigerator car service over this route during the past summer season carried 700,000 pounds of butter, cheese and eggs. All this was taken from stations between Winnipeg and Moose Jaw, inclusive, on the main line for British Columbia points.—Commercial, Winnipeg.

SALESMEN ORGANIZE.

The Association of Wholesale Grocery Salesmen, of New Orleans, is an organization that has been formed for the purpose of eradicating objectionable trade methods and weeding out illegitimate, unbusinesslike and unfair competition, and protecting their customers among the retail grocers against the competition of dealers who are not in the habit of paying for the goods they buy. Their interests and purposes are entirely identical with those of their employers, the wholesale grocers, and their customers, the retail grocers.

THE CORNER GROCERY.

THIS week we have been getting our windows arranged so as to look attractive and seasonable. Raisins, currants, peels, nuts, extracts, dates, figs, and pulverized sugar are starting to sell quite freely, and we are expecting a good Christmas trade.

———

One of our tinsmiths was complaining about some of our grocers selling a big tin pan with baking powder, and a milk tin with coffee. However, this will only be for a short time, as the gift business with baking powder has about reached the end of its tether.

———

This fall pedlars with tea, note paper, carpet sweepers, bake pans, views, and all manner of things, have been as thick as "June bugs in a tamarack swamp"; and this does not help the honest retailer who has to pay his rent or taxes, hands, light, fuel and his many other calls, but only makes his path more rough, rocky and steep.

———

Every week someone is coming into town, sampling and posting up bills, and then there is another article we grocers or the druggists have to keep, for a time at least. By the way, this sampling business has grown wonderfully of late. It was so noticeable at all our fall fairs this year. At my home recently there have been left samples of breakfast foods, yeast cakes, two or three kinds of soaps, liniments, etc., and no end of patent medicine literature. It must be enormous the amount of money that is spent in this manner.

———

It is confusing to the customer and annoying to the retailer, that there are so many brands of one line of goods. Take for example baking powder. Now, we have eleven kinds in stock, put up in glass jars, tin cans, paper packages and bulk, and we are asked for lines we do not keep. Of laundry soaps we have fifteen varieties, and a stock generally of over one hundred boxes, which for an ordinary retail business should be sufficient of laundry and electric soaps. But no, we are asked for soaps we do not have. Toilet soaps are nearly as bad; and look at the host of package teas, each with its own particular name. I'm sure, I can easily name twenty that are now on the market. And of blackings, washing compounds, can coffees, blues and numerous other articles, there are also too many kinds. Here is an instance: A lady came in and said to me: "Mr. T, I want some stove polish. What kinds have you?" I showed her James', Royal, Electric Paste, Lusterine, Silver Star, and Nonsuch. She said: "Are these all you keep?" I replied: "Yes Madam," then she said: "Well, which is the best?" I recommended one brand and made the sale. This is an evil we have to contend with every day, where we have so many brands of one article, and the only remedy I see will be in the future, the "fittest will survive."

TOBE.

GROCERS WHO CLOSE AT SIX.

THE Windsor, N.S., grocers close every night but Saturday at six o'clock. They began with two evenings, then three, but there was so much confusion, as people forgot which evenings they closed, that they agreed to close every night. The rule has been strictly adhered to, and it is not likely they will return to the old days, when the closing hour varied from eight o'clock to midnight.

Judging from this and two or three similar experiences where there are honorable business men in a town, there is no need of an early closing by-law, such as they have in Ontario, to compel them to keep an agreement.

What Windsor has done by mutual agreement other towns can do also. They must not expect that they can carry it out at once. There will be occasional trouble, due mainly to misunderstandings.

If a man happens to be detained by a customer for a half-hour or so beyond the time agreed upon, do not take it for granted he is violating the agreement. Give him some latitude, and you will probably find he has no intention of breaking it.

Once a man becomes accustomed to early closing he will not go back to the old system.

DATING TEAS AHEAD.

DATING ahead is not confined to the dry goods trade, nor to the average jobber in the Maritime Provinces, where long credits are common.

A Montreal tea house has been selling goods in Eastern Nova Scotia and Cape Breton, November delivery, and dating four months from March 1st. It delivers the goods at Picton, and the buyer pays freight from that point.

Halifax and St. John houses have been selling four months from January for November delivery, but now they are offering the same terms as Montreal.

This is discouraging news for those in the trade who have been earnestly endeavoring to put business on a cash basis. This particular jobber, who is interested in a retail business, does not follow the same lines in that department; in fact, his business is almost entirely cash.

It is to be hoped that those merchants to whom he has given long credits will not follow his example and increase their customers' credits. These are too long now. They should continue to curtail them and take advantage of their cash discounts, which in this case should amount to a good profit.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Charles Cherry, who has represented Todhunter, Mitchell & Co. for some time in the east, is now looking after the firm's interest in the city. S. Arnold has taken his route in the east.

J. Douglas Brack, with Todhunter, Mitchell & Co., returned last week from a business trip to the Coast. Business in British Columbia he reports quiet, although prospects are improving. In Winnipeg, both the wholesale and retail trade he pronounces good, and corroborates what others have already said, namely, that the capital of the "Prairie Province" has entered upon a period of steady and healthy development.

Maxwell Hall, who since 1879 has occupied the position of secretary, buyer, etc., with the Longford Lumber Co., Longford Mills, has severed his connection with the firm. Mr. Hall has had a wide experience in business matters, has made the best of it, and it will prove valuable to him in whatever sphere he may in future be found. He came to Longford Mills some sixteen years ago, and during that time has filled, with credit to himself and satisfaction to the firm and its customers, the position he occupied. He has always taken an active part in promoting the general welfare of the people of Longford Mills, and mill men, women, children and all regret that he is to leave them. Mr. Hall will, for the time being, at least, take up his residence in Orillia. He has been succeeded in the secretaryship of the Longford Lumber Co. by George Thompson, mayor of Orillia, and brother of the president of the company.

MANITOBA'S WHEAT EXPORTS.

The wheat shipments from Manitoba this year were larger than ever before. As nearly as can be figured the exports of wheat via Port Arthur and Fort William were 8,400,000 bushels of wheat; ground into flour, 2,500,000. of wheat; via Duluth, 1,000,000, equal to a total of over 12,000,000 of the crop exported during the season of its growth. Could the Hudson Bay railway, if built, do this? It is a significant fact that about 90 per cent. of the crop found its way to market via United States routes, the bulk of it being transhipped at Buffalo. Some vessel men claim this would not be if the St. Lawrence combines were busted. It levies an arbitrary rate of 2½ cents per bushel, no matter how hard times are or how low lake freights may happen to be. There were cases this year where the St. Lawrence charges for 200 miles of transportation from Kingston to Montreal were equal to the lake freight from Duluth or Port Arthur to Kingston, 1,000 miles. That is no doubt a strong reason why Canada is losing her carrying trade, and the cry goes forth about the decadence of Canada's lake marine. Fifteen hundred cars of stock have passed Port Arthur since January 1; 1,375 of these were cattle worth $750,000, besides the freight, nearly $250,000 more, the other 125 cars were horses, pigs and sheep.

PHILOSOPHY FOR A COLLECTOR.

A collector of unpaid bills has, says the Syracuse Post, a hard time of it, but one met a philosophical debtor recently who convinced him of some astounding facts. The collector said that he had been chasing the said philosophical debtor for about six months, and was getting tired. It was always "come around to-morrow," or "haven't got it now."

"Say," he said, when he made his last trip, "are you ever going to pay this bill?"

"Why, yes, some day," the philosopher replied. "But, look here, young man, I want to show you a thing or two. How many bills have you got in that pack?"

"About forty," said the collector.

"How long does it take you to visit all these people?" the philosopher inquired.

"About a day."

"What if all paid up promptly."

"Why, that would be great"

"Would it? What would you do for a living if all these debtors paid up in one day?"

The collector looked blank for a moment.

"Great Jerusalem! I'd be out of a job."

"Well, then, don't be so anxious to collect every cent due your people. One bill a day is enough. As for me, come around some time next week and I may do something for you," and the philosopher faded away.

A CLEVER COMPROMISE.

HALIFAX travelers have a story of the clever way in which a Westville merchant induced his creditors to agree to a compromise.

He failed, owing a considerable amount, distributed among a great number of creditors. The largest amount was $1,800, which he owed to a Halifax grocer.

He went to this house and said that if it signed an agreement compromising at 40c. on the dollar, he would give it all his trade in future. The bait caught.

He had no difficulty then in getting other creditors to sign. They felt that if the largest agreed to compromise at that figure, they were foolish to hold out. They patted him on the back, hoped he would now do well, and were very lavish in their attentions to him.

He started again, but he never would buy goods from any but the $1,800 firm, and this is how the secret agreement was found out; for, when travelers cannot sell goods, they soon find the why and wherefore.

Can this be considered an honorable compromise?

A DISCUSSION ON TAXATION.

W. W. Turnbull, the head of one of St. John's largest grocery firms, has come before the citizens with a scheme by which he proposes to revolutionize taxation. He read a paper outlining his scheme before nearly all the prominent merchants of the city in the Board of Trade rooms.

Mr. Turnbull's idea is to impose all taxation upon net income, whether from real estate, from the labor of a man, or from any other source, and to relieve from taxation all real estate not earning any income. James F. Robertson, of Manchester, Robertson & Gibson, dry goods, could not see that the scheme was feasible, and could not agree with Mr. Turnbull that a business house which had made no profit in a year should be relieved. He could not see why they should go before the mayor and council and say, "We have done no business this year, don't charge us any taxes." The idea, Mr. Robertson thought, was preposterous, when it had to be considered that every one would learn that the firm was financially cramped and would be wary of them while they were trying to keep a stiff upper lip in a time of depression. Mayor Robertson, who is also a grocer, Mr. S. Schofield, agent of the Turners' line of steamers, Mr. T. S. Simms, brush manufacturer, and others opposed the idea as set forth by Mr. Turnbull, and which Geo. C. Schofield, manager of the Bank of New Brunswick, favored. A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Turnbull for his paper, but the meeting took no action on it. The scheme is not one that commends itself generally to St. John citizens.

DIED FROM DRY ROT.

BE up to date. Machinery that ten years ago excited astonishment by the efficiency it displayed is a back number to-day. And what applies to machinery applies with equal force to storekeepers. An instance in point : There was until recently a storekeeper in a town in Western Ontario who had built up a large and profitable trade, until eventually he was worth in the neighborhood of $40,000.

There he stopped, and the moment he stood still dry rot set in, while, instead of devoting his time to new ideas, he began investing his money in outside ventures.

In the meantime storekeepers of the modern school sprang up about him. They bid for his customers ; and gradually they got them.

Instead of putting his best foot forward, the storekeeper of the Past meekly folded his arms, denounced the storekeepers of the Present, and bemoaned the unkindness of his old customers in transferring their patronage from him to his competitors.

Matters grew from bad to worse ; and at last he began to seek consolation in intoxicating liquors. This accelerated his fall, and a few weeks ago his stock was sold to satisfy the claims of his creditors.

The unfortunate man has passed the meridian of life, and now has neither store nor source of income, while he has on his hands a family of young children to support. Almost any wage would now secure his services.

The circumstances demand one's sympathy, but that does not make one blind to the fact that dry rot was the bottom of the whole trouble, and it is at the bottom of a good many other failures in business.

No man is justified in allowing his business to die of any such disease. With the trade papers there are to-day, and the facilities which retailers have for getting in touch with one another and with the trade generally, there is no need of any intelligent merchant getting behind the times and thus contracting the complaint.

The fact of the matter is that some little souls shut themselves up tightly within their own narrow spheres and will rub shoulders or exchange ideas with no one.

No man has a monopoly of ideas, and he who thinks he has may be safely put down as having but one idea, and that one in regard to the importance of himself.

The up-to date merchant is he who reads, associates with his fellows, and is always on the alert for new ideas.

Be up to date.

A BOARD OF APPRAISERS.

TWO important changes are necessary in the Customs Department. Mr. Watters, the acting commissioner, should be given another position where he would cause less worry and annoyance to the trade. He was a good accountant, and to that work he should be again assigned.

There should also be a Dominion Board of Appraisers, made up of capable men from the leading departments of business. With such a court there would be no such thing as importers at one place passing goods in free, another paying 20 per cent., and another 35 per cent., as is constantly done.

Attention was drawn to one article this week which pays $3.90 duty in Toronto, 80c. in Montreal, and has been brought in free at a number of outlying ports. Halifax dry goods men have brought goods in at Montreal and paid freight to that point. A Montreal wholesale hardware house says that a London firm can import at a less rate of duty than they can.

The United States tried to go on without such a board, but now it is recognized as a most valuable institution. Unfair rulings are often given, but this board sets them right. In Canada the importer generally has no appeal, and often suffers severe loss.

ANOTHER DECLINE IN SUGAR.

The unsteadiness of the sugar market, to which THE GROCER has referred from time to time, continues, another decline of ½c. in domestic granulated, and 1-16c. in domestic yellows being given out by the refiners on Thursday last.

This steady decline in prices is having a bad effect on the demand; in fact, buyers will not operate at all except for small quantities for actual wants.

At their present level refiners' prices are ½c. below what they were three weeks ago, and now no one will prophesy whether bottom has been touched or not.

PEACE AND GOOD WILL IN TRADE.

WHEN upon the world's first Christmas morn the angels sang, "Peace on earth and good will towards men," they heralded a message that was intended for business men as well as for individuals and nations.

Business men, seemingly at least, often forget this. At any rate "peace and good will," too frequently does not obtain among them.

It is everlastingly war to the knife. With low prices they try to cut each other's throats, draw customers from one another, and allow the "other fellow's" business to die for the want of that which gives it life.

"'Peace on earth and good will toward men!' We want none of it. Away with it. Give us all the trade of our neighborhood. Let none others enjoy it. Let us live and others die." It is thus that the price cutters act, if they do not say so in so many words.

Towns, too, jealous of their neighbors, pass by-laws prohibiting merchants from these rival places from coming and offering goods to farmers and others on market days. Brantford has done this; and now the Paris Council is being urged by The Review of that place to pass a "by-law prohibiting any person from other towns coming on our market on Saturdays, offering for sale goods manufactured in other towns."

There is no "peace and good will" about this. It is ill will. It is parsimoniousness. It is narrowness. It is born of that spirit — the spirit of selfishness — that is at the root of all difficulties between nations, between capital and labor, between storekeeper and storekeeper, between man and man.

Every community has the right to demand that outsiders who come into it to compete with the storekeeper for the custom of the consumer shall pay for the privilege of doing so. It is only fair that it should have this right. These outsiders pay no taxes, and if they desire to enjoy the privileges which the municipality affords a fee should certainly be levied upon them. But that is another thing from barring the door against them entirely.

In actual warfare the victor, as well as the conquered, suffers. And it is so in cutting prices. In fact, in every thrust the "cutter" gives his competitor, there is a return stab for himself which often wounds him deeper than it does him whose destruction he desires to accomplish.

Let every business man employ legitimately his best talents to improve and enlarge his business. Let him stock good and honest goods; let him display them in the most attractive and artistic manner; let him advertise as best he can; but he should live and let live.

The merchant who is bright, honest, acquainted with his business, and keeps abreast of the times, can always draw custom, can always outstrip the slow-going, passive contemporary.

One great fundamental difference between business enterprise and the policy of cutting prices is this: The one builds up business, the other destroys it.

Fortunately a good many are beginning to see this; and some are following the new light they have received. In business they are experiencing peace, and towards their fellow business men more good will.

Let merchants stop cutting each other's throats and there will not only be "peace on earth and good will towards men," as far as they are concerned, but their Christmas will be merrier, because their profits will be more satisfactory, and their New Year will be happier for the same reason, and furthermore, because jealousy will be less potent as a disturbing factor.

That this may be experienced is THE GROCER'S wish at this, the festive season.

HIS LIFE AN OBJECT LESSON.

CANADA could ill afford to spare Sir John Thompson. The trade policy of the party at whose head he stood is right or wrong according to the political spectacles through which we view it. But of the man there is no question.

Sir John Thompson was a man. Country came before party with him. Truth and honesty were to him more reliable forces to win by than untruth and dishonesty.

In a word, he was a newer and better type of politician, and his demise deprives the political arena as well as the country of its Premier.

Less than ten years ago he was scarcely known, outside his own province of Nova Scotia; at his death his reputation was world-wide. Less than ten years ago his face was not seen in the pictures showing the leading men of his party; at his death no face was better known, while mentally he stood head and shoulders above his fellows in politics.

To every young man starting out in the world, the life of Sir John Thompson is an object lesson Men of brawn, men of muscle, are often taught, by implication at least, that the goal of their ambition can be more easily and quickly attained by practices which, while perhaps not altogether dishonest, are sharp and questionable. "Always look out for number one. Never mind whose neck you trample on, or whom you elbow in the race; get there!" These are the methods that young men are too often urged by ill advisers to employ.

Sir John Thompson followed no questionable cross roads to fame. He went around by the reliable roads of intelligence and integrity. And where is there the man in modern times who, in less than a decade, has traversed from seclusion to the Premiership, and to a membership in the highest court in the British Empire—the Privy Council of Great Britain?

Give any young man intelligence, continuity and honesty of purpose, and he will seldom miss his goal. He may for a time be outstripped by the man who elbows, but the prize is eventually his.

MANITOBA IMPROVING.

MANITOBA is progressing. The "Prairie Province" has had its hard times, but travelers and the press tell us that a brighter day is dawning. The Government of the province has recently issued its last crop bulletin for the year, and it tends to brighten rather than dampen the hopes of the people of this country regarding trade prospects out there.

The province, according to the report, raised in the neighborhood of 18,000,000 bushels of wheat, or, with 2,000,000 in the Territories, 20,000,000 bushels, being an average of a little over 17 bushels to the acre. Nearly the entire crop graded No. 1 and No. 2 hard. All but about 6,000,000 bushels is out of the farmers' hands.

The Manitoba farmer has never experienced any difficulty in selling his wheat. About the only thing that bothers him is the price, and he has had good reason to be bothered in this respect; but the clouds appear to be lifting now. But while the farmer has been getting less for his wheat, he has been paying less for the things he buys, so there has been a gain as well as a loss.

The oat crop was 2,000,000 bushels, barley 3,000,000 bushels, potatoes 2,036 000 bushels, or 153 bushels to the acre, roots 2,000,000 bushels, peas 20,000, rye 60,000.

Manitoba has joined the farmers of the older provinces in the cultivation of mixed farming, and the report in question demonstrates this. During the year the province has exported 12,000 cattle and 8,000 hogs. Then, sold by the farmers, and consumed in the province, were 46,183 turkeys, 16,334 geese, and 200,000 chickens. For 2,516,200 pounds of butter $382,347 was realized.

Manitoba has inherent in her the properties that promise to make her one of the richest and best provinces of the Dominion, but, like all young communities, she has had lessons to learn, and she has had to pay for their learning. Now, long terms of credit are being abolished, and business in general is being done along better and more modern lines, and the different pitfalls that have caught respective merchants and farmers will not be fallen into with the same regularity as they have been.

Manitoba has entered upon an era of steady development, and there are none that will rejoice more thereat than the people of Ontario and the east.

Wishing You the Season's Compliments.

THE DEMAND FOR RAISINS.

THE raisin market is one of the interesting features of the grocery position at present. Business is not specially brisk, but there is a fair demand on holiday account, while the fact that supplies of Valencia and other Spanish fruit are higher than usual this season is an interesting one.

In former years our consumption of these raisins has been in the vicinity of 300,000 boxes. This fall our importations direct have been much higher than usual, and the same was the case last fall, as compared with the previous year.

The question that arises is, therefore: Is the California fruit cutting into the demand for Spanish raisins? As was intimated some time ago in the columns of THE GROCER, the friends of the latter say that this cannot possibly be. Careful consideration tends to the belief that they are both wrong and both right to a certain extent.

The fact that Spanish fruit can always be laid down cheaply, owing to low ocean freights, is a strong influence in their favor that under present conditions will be always operative. At the same time it has to be admitted that California raisins are making a decided impression upon Canadian consumers this fall, and one great reason for this is the fine average quality of the California offerings, as compared with the lot of cheap, trashy Valencia fruit that is offering.

This is certainly the experience of Montreal wholesalers, as expressed to THE GROCER, and what holds good on that market no doubt applies elsewhere.

Another ten days and the old year will have to give place to the new. Most merchants have got goods in stock which they would rather not carry over into the New Year, and a good many will make a "big push" to try and not do so. They will advertise, start bargain counters, and adopt every device to catch trade. Go thou and do likewise.

MONEY AND STOCKS.

THE local money market is without material change. Call loans are quiet at 4 for choice and 4½ for sharp call. Commercial discounts are unchanged at 6 per cent. for gilt edged and 7 per cent. for ordinary.

The strength in insurance stocks noted last week has not only been maintained, but increased. The advance during the past ten days has been something like 1½ per cent.

There has been quite an active demand for Toronto Street Railway shares at from 55 to 58. These shares sold at 65 about two months ago, the decline being partly, if not altogether, the result of the boodle investigation that Judge McDougall is carrying on. At the figures quoted there are good orders in the market.

The New York stock market is quiet, but firm, Sugar occupying the most attention.

Toronto real estate is beginning to improve. During the last few days quite a number of houses have been sold and rented; and a pleasing feature about the situation is that many of the houses being rented are not by people who are merely changing, but are being taken by strangers moving into the city. One agent last week rented three houses to outsiders——one family was from the United States, another from Montreal, and a third from the west. Another agent reported that a client who last year had an average of eight vacant houses, now only had three. Loans on real estate are, however, still dull.

The shareholders in a certain trust and loan company, whose headquarters are in Toronto, narrowly escaped getting any dividends this year. In fact, the directorate at one time, I understand, had actually decided to for once skip paying anything to the investors, so unsatisfactory had the year's business been; but before the annual meeting day came around it dawned on somebody that certain of the shareholders were in a tight box, financially speaking, and that if they were deprived of their annual dividends they would be deprived of the only source of income they had. Then the hearts of the directorate softened, and it was decreed that there should be a dividend of three per cent. ARGUROS.

It shows confidence in your goods to advertise them. Confidence is contagious and begets customers.

OUR LEADING RETAILERS.

ROBERT BARRON.

TORONTO is noted for her retail grocery stores. I have heard travelers say that there are none on the continent better. I have not been a "globe trotter," but I have seen a few stores on both sides of the Atlantic, and I am free to admit that there is at least one retail store in Toronto, taking everything into consideration, that excels anything I have yet seen in the purely grocery line. That store is at 726 728 Yonge street, and it is owned by Robert Barron, whose genial countenance the engraver's art has herewith reproduced.

The building occupied and owned by Mr. Barron is at Yonge and Czar streets. It is three stories high, has a frontage of 45 feet on the former and 110 feet on the latter street, and is of solid brick. Commodious as is the building, it is not in its extent, so much as in the character of the stock and the manner of its arrangement, that the uniqueness lies.

To those who have not seen the store it is a revelation. At least, that is the way it struck me the other afternoon when I sauntered into it. Hitherto I had only seen it from a car window.

We frequently see, hear, or smell something that carries our thoughts back to some anterior period. When I entered the northern doorway of Mr. Barron's store, and saw the way in which the goods were arranged, my thoughts were immediately carried back to displays of groceries I had seen at exhibitions.

The most conspicuous display was a counter circling one of the iron pillars. On this counter were glass cases filled with fancy confectionery, dessert delicacies, etc., while over all was a canopy of evergreens decorated with bright imitation flowers for the holiday season. Standing up in one part of the store was a twelve-foot pyramid of biscuit boxes bearing the name of Huntley & Palmers, the English biscuit manufacturers. At right angles from it was another pyramid of biscuit boxes containing the products of Canadian makers. There was a towering cone of fancy imported fruits in narrowne ked glass bottles, surmounted by a gigantic imitation bottle, while here, in circular form, tier upon tier, were imported French peas, with no other English words on the labels than "Robert Barron." And so on might be enumerated other piles of goods appertaining to the grocery trade, which were scattered with effect about the store.

The shelving is of cherry and elaborate. The effect that the shelves give in themselves is heightened by the delicacies, nearly all of which are imported, that grace them. Some of the rarest, and, at the same time choicest, goods on this market, I noticed were Pinard's pate de fois gras in different-sized flat tins, which are only retailed at $1 50 per ¼-lb. tin; mushrooms in truffes; truffes pelees; preserved ginger, in bottles and in tins; crystalized ginger; German stuffed prunes (prunes confites); Pinard's French plums, in tins, for table use; French peas, in bottles, as well as in tins; pickled green figs, and green figs in syrup; imported French mustard.

Truffes, I might mention in passing, are dug from the ground by muzzled hogs, and are gathered by the peasants who follow in their wake.

The northern part of the store is allocated to provisions, where smoked meats and dairy products are temptingly displayed. In this department the counter top, some thirty feet long, is of marble, and the shelves and the wall at their back are of the same material. The shelves are supported by handsome silver-plated brackets. "You see," remarked Mr. Barron, as he slowly rubbed his finger over one of the marble shelves, "that by having the shelves and counter of this material cleanliness is assured, as with a damp cloth a spot of dirt can be readily removed."

The store is 45 feet wide by 70 feet deep. It has three enormous plate glass windows, and is replete with modern appurtenances. All cash sales are registered, and the machines that Mr. Barron has for doing this also emit at the same time a numbered ticket, which, with the cash, is placed in a box and trasmitted to the cashier's office on an electric carrier which circumnavigates the store. Handsome electric light chandeliers are liberally suspended in the windows and about the store, and the effect at night is striking, the place being a blaze of glory.

In the store there are twelve clerks, besides Mr. Barron and his three sons. In the rear of the store Mr. Barron has a cosy little private office, above which is the quarters of the lady who takes the cash as it comes from the carrier. A wash and coat room for the clerks is also situated at the back of the store.

The cellar accommodation is ample and convenient. There are four or five cellars in all. The largest is the cold cellar, where are stored foreign dried and green fruits, canned goods, pickles, etc. Here, too, is situated the electric motor which drives the cash carrier in the store, and supplies the power for the fruit-cleaning machine and the coffee-grinder. Another cellar is devoted to soups and canned goods, a third to vegetables, a fourth to miscellaneous goods, and a fifth is the boiler room, where is located a large self-regulating steam boiler for heating the premises. In addition to the cellarage, there is a large room in the rear of the store where are kept such heavy groceries as sugars, soaps, etc., while over the store are two rooms which are used respectively for storing fancy goods and teas.

Mr. Barron imports a good deal of his stock direct, notably his teas and fancy French and Chinese goods. As a result of importing his fancy goods, he is able, he informed me, to sell them at a much lower price than he formerly could.

Nature intended Robert Barron for a grocer. At any rate he acquired a love for the business when, as a lad, he used to "chum" with the son of a woman who kept a store in Bonnie Scotland. But somebody, I don't know who, decreed that he should be a leather dealer; and a leather dealer he was made. But during the quarter of a century that he followed the business he never forgot his first love. And when thirteen years ago he forsook leather and hides for sugar and tea, it was like being married to one from whom he had long been separated.

Robert Barron is a Scotchman by birth. No one who knows him need be told that. His native place was Elgin, Morayshire. He was born in December, 1841, so that he is 53 years of age this month. He was apprenticed early to the leather trade, and served 17 years with his original employer. He came to Canada in 1872, and for nine years carried on his trade in leather and hides. Then it was that he embarked in the grocery trade. That was thirteen years ago. During the nine years that he spent in the leather business in Toronto he was however laying some of the foundations upon which his ultimate success in the grocery trade was built.

"Those nine years got me well acquainted with the farmers," remarked Mr. Barron to me, as he sat with one leg thrown carelessly across his desk. And that is a good thing for any storekeeper to do whether he be located in city or in country.

Mr. Barron's first venture in the grocery business was on the opposite side of the street from where he is now situated. The store he at present occupies he built himself, moving into it about six years ago. The building was then 25 feet by 110 feet, the additional 20 feet, which now makes it 45 feet wide, being put on last summer, the increase in business demanding it.

Mr. Barron has four delivery wagons and nine horses, two of the latter being for his own private use. None of the delivery horses are worked more than half a day at a time. "So you see I am good to my horses as well as myself," incidently remarked their portly and healthy-looking owner. To look after his stable Mr. Barron employs a man regularly. Within the last few days Mr. Barron has bought a lot 40x90 in the rear of his present premises, on which to erect a new brick stable.

"Tell me, to what do you owe your success, Mr. Barron?" I ventured when I had cornered him in his private office and the door was shut.

"Well," he replied slowly, as he modestly rubbed his chin and shuffled himself in his seat, "I don't know." Then warming up a little he added, as he leaned toward me: "But I'll tell you this: I have always made a study of my customers. In this way I have learned to know their likes and dislikes.

ROBERT BARRON.

Furthermore, I make it an obligation upon myself to make a personal supervision of the goods going out."

"What about the character of the goods you handle?" I ventured.

"From the very first, I made it a rule to handle none but the better class of goods, and I have stuck to it. A good deal of my stock I import direct, and cheap stuff I have nothing whatever to do with. And I'll tell you another thing, I never offer a thing to a customer before I have first tried it myself. My customers have got to know this, and not infrequently when I am pushing a new thing I am asked, 'have you used it yourself'? Having done so, I am of course able to give them my experience. I am always keeping my eyes open for new goods. The wholesale houses and the brokers know this, and when any of them have anything new arriving they telephone me, announcing the fact."

"What else have you found to be a help in business," I asked.

"This: I always pay cash and save my discounts."

Just then Mr. Barron's presence was demanded in the store, and I took my departure.

Farmers near Calgary find it quite profitable to feed barley to their hens.

Better train service is wanted between Toronto and Hamilton, and the Boards of Trade of the respective cities are co-operating in the matter.

Here's a hint for the patrons of the creamery and of the cheese factories. The Scientific American says that in Switzerland a milk maid or man gets better wages if gifted with a good voice, because it has been discovered that a cow will yield one-fifth more milk if soothed during the process of milking by a pleasing melody.

What Hamilton wants is a through express train, leaving Toronto about 9 a.m., bringing the Montreal mails in the winter, and connecting at Hamilton with the train due from the west at 11 a.m., and running express to Buffalo.

The annual meeting of the Commercial Travelers' Mutual Benefit Society was held in London Saturday. The number of new members during the year was greater than either of the two previous years, namely, 119. The financial statement showed the receipts of the year to be $13,034 90, the disbursements $10,029.68, and the balance on hand $3,005 90. The reserve fund amounts to $7,807.65. The various reports were unanimously adopted.

WHOLESALE AGENTS. HAMILTON, ONT.

RETAILERS ON THEIR MUSCLE.

THE trade in London is agitated over a tilt that is on in that city between the Retail Grocers' Association and certain wholesalers.

The cause of the difficulty is the starting in that city of a store known as the "Cash Store."

The owner of the store, immediately on starting, so it is asserted, began to sell at prices under those obtaining in the retail trade generally. This, naturally, ruffled the other retailers, but it was alleged that Lumsden Bros., of Hamilton, were backing the proprietor of the "Cash Store." When, however, it was discovered that the firm in question held a chattel mortgage against the latter, further evidence was held to have been adduced that the "Cash Store" was a supply store for Lumsden Bros.

Then the members of the association decided, so it is understood, to neither purchase goods from Lumsden Bros., nor from any wholesaler who handled any of their manufactures; and it is understood that the members are active and determined in the matter.

A gentleman who has just returned from London, in referring to the matter, said to THE GROCER: "The retail men have so far succeeded with their boycott that already to my knowledge two wholesale houses in London have agreed not to handle Lumsden Bros.' goods as long as the fight is on. As far as I can learn Lumsden Bros. have not yet been officially notified by the association of the action that has been taken."

A London man had this to say on the matter. "Now, the stand the retail trade take is that no wholesale firm or manufacturer should be a retailer, or lend himself to some one to do a retail trade on his capital, and when he does he is not worthy of the name of wholesaler or manufacturer, and cannot expect the retail trade to purchase from him while, so to speak, he lends himself to cut the throat of the retailer. Now, while the retail trade of London refrain from purchasing from such parties, and request the trade generally to support them in their action, no retail grocer is bound in any way to comply with the request. It is therefore no boycott. The retail trade consider that by the action taken they are working in the interest of the trade generally. The legitimate wholesaler, manufacturer and retailer are all interested in a healthy trade, and the ordinary competition is quite sufficient to prevent exorbitant profit."

THE GROCER wrote Lumsden Bros., and this is the answer that was received:

"We do not know of any boycott, nor any reason for one."

WHERE IS H. J. BRAY, JR. ?

ABOUT a year ago H. J. Bray, sr., fish and fruit dealer, for about the fifth time in his experience, became insolvent. He secured a settlement with his creditors at 75c. on the dollar, giving notes in payment.

Then his son, H. J., jr., took over the business, and continued it in his own name, having his father around him as chief adviser.

Lately Fortune has not been smiling upon Bray the younger, and a couple of weeks ago he sold out to the Port Fish Co. But he does not appear to have settled with his creditors, at least with some of them, for twice within the week have writs been issued against him—one by the Rossport Fish Co. for $1,583, and another by McKay & Clark for $120. It is only fair to note, however, that his father is associated with him as defendant in the former mortgage. He, however, is not here to associate with his father, or anyone else for that matter. He has not been seen for several days, and is said to be in Southern California, whether for the benefit of his health or permanently, rumor does not state.

It is said that something more formidable than a writ was also chasing him, to elude which is what induced him to leave Toronto.

BRITISH TEA TRADE.

THE last monthly report of the British Board of Trade gives some interesting facts regarding importation and consumption of teas in Great Britain. The most prominent among these is data showing the extent of increase in consumption of East India and Ceylon sorts and the falling off in the consumption of China teas in that country. It is shown that 107,588,679 pounds of tea from British East Indies were entered for home consumption during the eleven months end ng Nov. 30, 1894, an increase of 8,925,876 pounds over similar entries during the corresponding period last year. The importation of Ceylon teas this year foots up 67,119.464 pounds, or 7,489,194 pounds more than 1893. On the other hand, the entries of teas from China for home consumption have this year been only a little over 21 million pounds, against an average of over 30 million pounds during the preceding two years. As stated in the Board of Trade report, the English consumption of India growths has exceeded the importation by nearly 4,000,000 pounds, thus making considerable inroads upon the stock in bonded warehouses. It would appear also that all but about 4,800,000 pounds of the 67,119,000 pounds of Ceylon tea imported was retained for English consumption, whereas last year 8,500,000 pounds more were imported than taken by the home trade. Of the 39,000,000 pounds of China teas imported this year only 21,000,000 pounds, according to the records, were entered for consumption in the United Kingdom. The returns indicate that not only the consumption there but the distribution from English points to other countries has fallen off this year to the extent of 4,000,000 pounds. Interesting in connection with these data is the statement showing the stock of all teas in bonded warehouses at the close of last month to have been 95,860,000 pounds, against 100,000,000 pounds at the corresponding period in 1893, and 92,970,000 pounds in 1894. The use of India and Ceylon teas in the United States for blending purposes has increased somewhat. There is, however, says N.Y. Journal of Commerce in referring to the report in question, no sign of the goods having found larger outlet in that country except in that way, or of their gaining favor with consumers.

GERMAN SUGAR BOUNTY.

MONTREAL, Dec. 8, 1894.—Please state the bounty paid by the German Government on beet root sugar, raw and refined, when exported; and also the excise tax on same when consumed in Germany.

CANADIAN.

Reply.—The German export bounties on sugars are: On raw sugar, 1.25 marks per 100 kilogrammes, or about 13½c. per 100 pounds; on refined sugar, 2 marks per 100 kilo., or about 21½c. per pound. The internal revenue tax is 18 marks per 100 kilo., or about $1 95 per 100 pounds.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

CUTTING PRICES.

A case is reported where a dealer in a town not more than a thousand miles from St. Louis, says an exchange, concluded that he could advance his business interests by cutting prices below those charged by others in the same line. He began in a small way; marking off about 15 per cent. from the former figures. This was met by his competitors, and then he knocked off an additional 10 per cent., which was also accepted by the others. Things began to look serious about this time, and the dealer concluded to take the bit in his teeth, so to speak, and go his trade adversaries several points better. So he announced still another mark-down sale, and made a price on his goods, which were staples, that was at least 40 per cent. below his previous charge. Here was where the other dealers drew the line. They concluded to stop, for reasons that do not require explanation. The rest of the story—which is the narration of a fact that can be confirmed if necessary—is briefly told. He sold most of his goods, but at a loss or at figures that did not return a legitimate profit. He owed a considerable sum on these goods and when his creditors heard of the knock-down sale they immediately urged him for a settlement. Some of them were paid in part, but others were put off and the result was—the Sheriff. There is nothing else to the story excepting an expression of regret that past experience does not always dictate a different course.

SECOND CROP CALIFORNIA FRUIT.

THE free offerings of second crop loose California muscatel raisins in Montreal have been one of the interesting features of the situation this week on that market.

The quality of the samples of these fruits shown, so far, has not been very tempting, which is explained by the fact that the second growth in California is never as good as the first, being greatly deficient in saccharine properties, as compared with the first crop.

As this fruit is being offered from first hands at ½c. less than the first crop, and as some of them are branded "4-crown" and "3-crown," buyers should be on their guard when any comparatively cheap California fruits are offered them so branded.

The point of this precaution is easily understood when it is known that the leading houses on the Coast will not permit any of their second growth to be so branded, but sell it simply as second crop, because if it was branded it would damage the standing of their first crop "3-crown" and "4-crown" fruit.

The price at which these second crop fruits are being offered permits them to be sold at about 5¼ to 5½c., duty paid.

AMONG THE RETAILERS.

A NEW grocery firm has sprung into existence in Simcoe—Fountain & Backus. They have rented a store in the Battersby block.

D. C. Strachan, groceries and crockery, Goderich, has sold out to H. E. Snell, of Wingham, who takes possession after Christmas. Mr. Strachan has been in business nearly 30 years.

Burt & Co., grocers, Bracebridge, have dissolved partnership, Mr. Thompson having withdrawn from the firm. Style will be unchanged.

A. H. Carroll, Coboconk, has bought the stock of A. B. H. Carroll, Norland, and will move it to the former place.

Hugh Wilson, of Cannington, who purchased the Strickland stock at Bolsover, is carrying on the business at the latter place. On account of the Trent Valley canal operations there he expects to do a good business, and is improving his newly acquired premises with that end in view.

J. Patterson, of Lindsay, has bought the stock of A. Barnard & Co., Sutton.

GALLON APPLES.

DEAR GROCER,—Will you please let me know through your valuable paper the outlook for gallon cans of apples. I see they vary a good deal in price. I have a chance to buy some that were sent by mistake.

RETAILER.

Remarks: The outlook for gallon apples is fairly good. Quotations vary a good deal, or, rather, there is a wide range in them, but it is practically all on account of the difference in quality. The ruling prices with the wholesalers are $2.20 to $2.45, with the range running up to $2.65.

THE EDITOR.

CUTTING PRICES.

DEAR GROCER,—I notice in last week's issue, under the heading of "A Justifiable Boycott," an article dealing with retailers in cutting prices. Could you not recommend the same "Sauce" for the wholesaler? And is there not sufficient reason for such a movement just at this particular juncture? Ask some of them, and I feel sure the answer will come with such force as to convince and warrant THE GROCER in touching the wholesale as well as the retail trade on "Cutting Prices." SALESMAN.

Remarks: THE GROCER has "touched" the wholesaler, and frequently, upon the folly of cutting prices. THE EDITOR.

GOING INTO LIQUIDATION.

Sloan & Crowther, the well known wholesale grocers, Scott and Front streets, Toronto, are going into liquidation for the purpose of winding up the business. The partnership now existing will cease February 1, after which, it is understood, Mr. John Sloan, the senior partner, will carry on business alone in another warehouse. H. P. Eckardt & Co. will move into the premises vacated by Sloan & Crowther.

AMERICANS WANT JAPAN TEA.

On Monday and Tuesday visits paid by tea brokers to nearly every house in the grocery trade in Montreal, enquiring about tea, attracted considerable attention from the tea trade on that market.

THE GROCER saw one of the brokers in question, and learned that their enquiries were caused by orders from New York directing them to see if there was any nice Japan stock ranging from 17 to 21c. to be had in Montreal. It is quite probable therefore that before the week is out some 300 or 400 chest sales of Japans on this account may have transpired.

The local demand for tea has also been much better this week, and the fact that stocks have been light all along is stiffening the market.

MUSKOKA'S TANNERIES.

"Burk's Falls has a new tannery," said a traveler on Saturday. "It is the best and largest tannery in Ontario, and makes the fourth industry of the kind in the Muskoka district. Of the three others, two are located in Bracebridge and one in Huntsville. Did it ever strike you why Muskoka district is such a desirable place for tanneries? Well, I'll tell you: It is always easier to bring the hides to the bark than the bark to the hides.

"I don't know about that," interjected a punster. "I've seen hides run away from the bark—of a dog."

POOR TRAIN SERVICE NORTH.

Commercial travelers who have gone north of Gravenhurst during the past three weeks are complaining bitterly regarding the train service, the "way freight" that used to leave that place on the arrival of the 1.30 train having been taken off. The first train going north from Gravenhurst does not leave till about three and a half hours after the 1.30 train has arrived, thus causing passengers several hours of unnecessary delay. To commercial travelers, with whom time is money, this inadequate train service is particularly annoying.

THE CORNER GROCERY.

IN a few days we shall have the time honored festival, Christmas, with us again —the brightest day of all the year. It is the day of annual family gatherings and gift-giving, and with what pleasure we shall greet our friends once more! Going home for Christmas? Why, yes, every member of the family should be at home on that day. So whatever should be our circumstances, let us endeavor to make Christmas as merry and joyful to ourselves and those around us as possible.

I think the custom of giving presents to customers in return for their patronage during the year has pretty well died out. The profits of these days will not allow the custom to obtain any longer, and the merchant who continues to give presents to his customers finds out sooner or later that it is a mistake. The customers are generally dissatisfied; and if you do not treat everyone alike, what trouble you get into.

But we merchants should remember, at this season of the year, those who have met with reverses, and the sick and the needy. There are homes which contain sensitive natures who would shrink from the outstretched hand of charity. A reverse in fortune is the hardest thing in the world to bear; it is the keenest kind of poverty. Do not fail, if you know of such homes, to send something to alleviate their sufferings and brighten their Christmas. I wish every one of THE GROCER'S thousands of readers the merriest and gladdest of Christmas greetings. May health and happiness be in all your homes.

DRY GOODS.

TORONTO MARKET.

A MOVEMENT in holiday goods has been the only feature of the trade during the past week. Fancy goods and novelties have been well sold by those who carry them, while men's furnishings, gloves, handkerchiefs, fine parasols and umbrellas, silk scarfs, fur goods, etc., have been much enquired after. The movement has been in small parcels, mostly the result of letter orders, but very few buyers found time to visit the market.

Trade on city account has been quite active for the past month. This is usually attributed to the fact that the larger city stores imported less this year, and depended more upon the wholesale houses than usual.

Considerable comment is heard both here and in the west concerning the action of McIntyre, Sons & Co., of Montreal, in cleaning out a large stock of dress goods to Murray, of Toronto. This sale is said to have been made at 25 per cent. below cost, although some who claim to know assert that the price is even less than this. This deal caused a slump in the price of dress goods, and enabled Murray to make sad havoc in the smaller towns by sending out samples quoting untouchable prices.

Deliveries of colored cottons are now being received by the jobbers here. One buyer remarked that the quality, design, and finish of these goods were a credit to the Colored Cotton Co. The goods, he asserted, were fully up to sample, and opened up clean and fresh. Shipments are now beginning from the jobber to the retailer, and the latter will soon have the pleasure of showing these new spring goods.

Comments on the article in the November Dry Goods Review, concerning jobbers, are still heard, and the general opinion seems to be that The Review has done a great deal of good by opening up this important question of the interdependence of the retailer and jobber, and the evil results which flow from mutual misunderstandings.

The gold reserve of the United States has again dropped below its legal standard of $100,000,000. The cause was a further shipment of 3½ millions to Europe last week. The receptacle that is holding the gold reserve is like a vessel with a hole in it. You may, by pouring in a heavy volume—as the U.S. Government has been doing with the $50,000,000 loan—cause a momentary rise in the volume of contents, but the moment the inflow ceases receding begins. Currency reform is what the United States requires. Her leading financiers realize it, and the sooner the desideratum is secured the better.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Dec. 20, 1894.

GROCERIES.

THIS is practically the last week of the holiday trade, and business is taking its final brisk turn before lapsing into its usual seasonable quietude. The warehouses are in consequence the scene of a good deal of activity, office and shipping room staff being taxed to fill the orders. There are some good parcels going out, but as a rule the orders are small, and principally to complete stocks of holiday goods. Everybody is, however, in a hurry to have his order filled, many lots having to be sent by express. This is what is giving business its active appearance. There is a little more sugar wanted than a week ago, but the price is very low, the refiners taking less than a week ago. A slight improvement is also noticeable in the demand for teas at firm prices. Foreign dried fruits are in demand, and wholesalers are pushing sales with vigor, conceding, in some instances at least, lower prices in order to get rid of as much as possible while the holiday trade exists. Malaga raisins are pretty well cleaned up, and stocks in certain lines of Valencia raisins have reached a low mark. Canned goods are receiving only scant attention. There is a brisk trade doing in foreign green fruits, especially in oranges.

CANNED GOODS.

There is no material change in the situation. Tomatoes, peas and corn are still quiet but steady. The little activity that has been noted in canned fruits during the past few weeks is not so marked as it was. The same remarks apply to canned salmon at the moment, only an odd case or so going out. There has been a little better demand during the week for lobsters in flat tins, but otherwise business in this line has ruled quiet. We quote as follows: Tomatoes and corn, 85 to 90c.; peas, 80 to 85c.; peaches, $2.75 to $3 for 3's, $1.75 to $1.90 for 2's; raspberries, $1.65 to $1.80; strawberries, $1 to $2.10; apples, 3's, $1 to $1.10, gallons $2.20 to $2.65, and preserved fancy quarters at $1.35 to $1.40; salmon, $1.30 to $1 35 for good red fish in tall tins, and $1.50 to $1.60 in flat tins; do., second quality, $1.20 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1 to $1.10; lobsters, $1.70 to $2 for tall tins, and $2.25 to $2.75 for flat tins.

COFFEES.

Prices in Brazilian growths of the better kinds are about 1c. per lb. higher in the primary markets. Here the market is almost bare, although there is not much demand at the moment, nor is there likely to be until after the New Year. We quote: Green, in bags, Rio, 20 to 21½c.; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 21½ to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 32c.; Mocha, 27 to 28c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 22c.

RICE.

Trade is still quiet, and the little demand experienced is chiefly for the fancy imported Japan article. We quote: "B," 3½ to 3¾c.; extra Japan, 5¼ to 5⅜c.; imported Japan, 5¾ to 6¼c.; tapioca, pearl 4½ to 5c.

SPICES.

The spice market is quiet and unchanged. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 25 to 27c.; cloves, 25 to 30c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, 20 to 25c. per lb.

NUTS.

Demand continues brisk and stocks are getting low, especially in walnuts; in fact, some houses are already sold out. A good many complaints are heard from retailers regarding the quality of the nuts sent them, some questioning whether those they had received were this season's growth. The fact of the matter is that the quality of this year's nuts is not as uniformly good as usual, hence the poor quality of some of the shipments. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 11½c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 26 to 28c.; Tarragona almonds 14 to 14½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 15 to 16c.; Marbot walnuts, 12½ to 14c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 12 to 13c.; Sicily filberts, 9 to 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

SUGAR.

There is a little better demand for granulated than there was a week ago, but in this line the demand is only for small lots. Yellow sugars are quiet. Muscavedo raw sugar is enquired after, but there does not seem to be much demand for the Demerara raw article. Neither is the German granulated sugar attracting much attention. The refineries are lower in their views on granulated than they were a week ago, and although the wholesale houses quote ordinarily as before, yet THE GROCER learns of sales at ridiculously low figures. After this week trade will become quieter than it is even now, and, in the absence of demand, it is uncertain what the future of the market will be during the next few weeks. We quote: Granulated—Canadian, 4 to 4⅛c.; German, 3¾ to 3⅞c.; yellows, 3¼ to 3¾c. Raws—Muscavedo, 3c.; Demerara, 2⅞ to 3c. for dark; 3⅜ to 3½c. for bright, and 3⅝ to 3¾c. for light.

SYRUPS.

There is not much demand for syrups, although demand is fair for the season. We quote: Dark, 25c.; medium, 28 to 30c.; bright, 35 to 40c.; very bright, 45 to 50c.

MOLASSES.

There is a little demand for cheap New Orleans molasses at 28 to 32c. for baking purposes, but otherwise there is scarcely anything doing. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 26 to 28c.; half-barrels, 30½ to 32c.; Barbadoes, barrels, 28 to 32c.; half-barrels, 30 to 34c.

TEAS.

Business in this line exhibits a little more life than it did a week ago, and there is a fair demand for Assam, Ceylon, Japan and Congou teas. Some houses report a particularly good demand for low grade Congous at 12½ to 13½c. Young Hysons have been receiving a little attention. We quote ruling prices on the Toronto market as follows: Young Hysons, 12 to 18c. for low grade; 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums and 35 to 55c for high grades; Japans, 16 to 20c. for mediums; 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums and 30 to 45c. for high grades.

DRIED FRUITS.

Valencia raisins continue in good demand, with the market getting bare. There are only a few fine off-stalk and selected fruit, and layers of the better brands are scarce. Some of the houses are reported to be completely sold out of selected and fine off-stalk, and have this week found it necessary to purchase from their fellow-members in the trade. We quote good fruit: Off-stalk, 4 to 4¼c.; fine off-stalk, 4½ to 5c.; selected, 5½ to 6c.; layers, 6 to 6½c. We quote California loose muscatels at 5½ to 6½c.

Malaga raisins are moving out nicely, and stocks are getting light, some houses reporting that they are cleaned out. Prices are being shaded, however, by those who are well supplied. We quote: London layers, $2.25 to $2.50; black baskets, $3.25; blue baskets, $4.25 to $4.50; extra dessert clusters, $4 to $4.50; connoisseur clusters, $3 to $3.25; quarter flat connoisseur clusters, 90c. to $1.15; Royal Buckingham, $4.50 to $5.

Sultana raisins have been moving out briskly at 4¾ to 5¼c. generally. Quotations are: Ordinary, 4¾ to 5¼c.; good, 5½ to 6c.; fine, 6½ to 7c.; finest, 8 to 9c.

New season's Turkish prunes for this market are due to arrive in New York December 27, but will not reach here till after the New Year. It is expected that at least a portion of the cargo will be damaged, the steamer having twice stranded on the voyage. French prunes on the spot are meeting with a ready sale. "The chief importations of French prunes," remarked a broker to THE GROCER, "have been in small-sized fruit, which naturally did not meet with much favor with the consumer, but there have also been a few carloads of fine large fruit, and for them reasonable prices have been obtained. The character of this fruit is very dry compared with the Bosnia article, the latter being steamed, and prepared differently. For cleanness the French prune is superior. Turkish prunes to arrive are being quoted as follows: Sphinx, B., 6¾ to 7½c.; U., 5½ to 6c.; Atlas, B., 5¾ to 6½c; D., 5½ to 5¾c. French prunes on spot we quote as follows: E., 4½c.; D., 5c.; C., 6c.; B., 7c.

"WE NEVER SLEEP."
How could we?

Demand has been fairly brisk for currants, especially in the better grades, at 5½ to 6½c. We quote: Filiatras, half barrels, 4 to 4½c., barrels, 4⅛c.; fine Filiatras, half barrels, 4¾c., barrels 4⅜c.; Patras, 5½ in cases; Casalinas, 5½ to 6c.; Vostizzas, 6½ to 7½c. in cases and half cases; Panartes, 8 to 8½c.

Dates are in active demand at 4½ to 5c.

Figs are in fair demand, but there has been no rush for them. We quote: 14 oz., 8 to 9c.; 10 lb., 8 to 10c.; 18 lb., 12c.; 28 lb., 15c.; taps, 4¼ to 4½c.; naturals, 6 to 7c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The butter market continues inactive. Low grades are practically not selling at all. The only kinds moving are fresh creamery and large dairy rolls. The situation appears to be growing worse, and if no export trade springs up, it looks as if a good deal of butter will have to be sold at grease prices. The following has just been received by a large local produce firm from a prominent dealer in Chicago: "The butter situation here at present is demoralized. The receipts of fresh butter are larger than for many years, and the demand is exceedingly light. This may be largely due to hard times, and the great number of people who are out of employment. The stock of cold-stored creamery is larger than a year ago, and it is nominally worth 16 to 17c. there being none selling. We are buying strictly fresh finest roll butter at 11 to 11½c., and good solid bakers' boring tubs at 9 to 10c. We have never known of such a radical change in the butter market as that which has taken place within the last 60 days." Prices on the Toronto market are a little lower than they were a week ago. We quote jobbing prices: Dairy—Choice tubs, selections, 15½ to 16c.; crocks, 18c.; low grade, 10 to 12c.; fresh pound rolls, 17 to 18c.; large rolls, 14 to 15c. Creamery—Tubs, early makes, 15 to 18c.; late makes, 20 to 21c.; pound prints, 21 to 23c.

Cheese is in fair demand only, with prices unchanged at 10½ to 11c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Oranges are experiencing an active demand, and prices are firm. In the smaller sizes there is a scarcity, while in the larger sizes the supply is fair. Mandarins and grape fruit are on the market this week. A fair trade is reported in lemons, and the market is well supplied. Bananas are in good supply, but there is not much demand for them. Malaga grapes are in fair demand only, quite a number of the retailers having previously made the bulk of their purchases. Cranberries are firm and scarce; the only kind on the market is the Jersey article. There is a keen demand for California dried fruit, apricots especially being in request. We quote: Lemons—Floridas, 150's to 176's, $3.50 to $3.75 per box; Messinas, $4 to $4.50; Malagas, $3 to $3.50. Oranges—Floridas, $2.50 to $3; Valencias, $4.25 to $4.50; mandarins, $2.75 to $3 per half box; grape fruit, $4 to $4.50 per box. Bananas, $1.25 to $1.75 for firsts and seconds. Apples, winter fruit, $3 per bbl.; snow apples, $2 to $2.50; fall fruit, $1.75 to $2.50. Grapes—Malagas, $5.50 to $6.50 per keg. Cranberries, Jerseys, $12.50 to $13 per bbl. and $4 per box. California dried fruit—Apricots, 12½c.; peaches, 12½ to 13c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Market is quiet and prices unchanged at $1.40 to $1.50 for choice hand-picked, and $1.20 to $1.25 for medium.

DRIED APPLES—There are only a few passing. Wholesale dealers are paying 4½ to 4¾c, and selling at 5 to 5½c.

MARKETS—Continued

EVAPORATED APPLES — Scarcely any business is being transacted. The factories are asking 6 to 6½c., and jobbers are quoting 7 to 7½c. in a small way.

HOPS—Market continues dull and weak. There have been some sales of 1894 hops as low as 7c., but the quality was not good. Hops showing fair quality are worth 12c. Package hops are quoted at 18 to 20c., according to quality.

ONIONS—Much as before. We quote: Domestic, 70 to 80c. per bag, and 70 to 75c. per crate; Spanish, 80 to 90c. per crate; Valencia, $2.50 to $2.75 per case.

HONEY—Is quiet and unchanged. We quote: Strained in 10-lb tins, 9 to 10c.; comb, 14c.

POTATOES—Demand is fair at 46c. on track, and small lots out of store are quoted at 53 to 55c.

POULTRY—Receipts have been light the past week, and jobbers who were fortunate enough in being well supplied realized good prices. An unsatisfactory feature of the market is the irregular manner in which shipments have been made this season. Prices are better than a week ago. We quote: Turkeys, 7 to 7½c.; chickens 15 to 40c.; ducks, 35 to 40c.; geese, 5 to 5½c.

EGGS—Quite a quantity of cold storage eggs are on this market, the quality of which is not the best. This affects the price of good stock and has compelled dealers to turn their attention more to limed stock, which are more reliable. We quote: Held and cold stored, 10 to 15c., according to quality; new laid, 18 to 20c.; limed, 14 to 15c.

FISH.

Trade continues quiet on account of the poultry season being on. The little demand there is is principally for white fish and salmon trout. Oysters are in good demand, and dealers are again talking of the possibility of an advance being ordered in prices. We quote: Salmon trout, 6½c.; white fish, 7½c.; skinned and boned cod fish, 6½c.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c.; market cod, 5c.; steak cod, 6½c.; haddock, 5c.; Labrador herring, $2 50 per half keg and $5.50 to $5.75 per barrel; ditto, split, $3; fresh water salt herring, $4 per bbl.; blueback herring, 4c.; blue pickerel, 4 to 5c. lb.; yellow ditto, 6 to 7c. per lb.; mackerel, 13c. each; pike, 5c. lb.; cod, 6c. per lb.; finnan haddies, 7½c.; Digby herring, in bundles of 5 boxes, 15c.; ditto, lengthwise, 14c.; large halibut, 10c.; ciscoes, $1 35 to $1.40. Oysters, $1.20 to $1.25 per gallon; select, $1.60.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

The provision market keeps much about as before. There has been a fair demand for smoked meats for the Christmas trade; also for long clear for the lumber camp trade. Owing to the low price of lard, sales have been much more liberal, while compound, on the other hand, is not selling well. Offerings of dressed hogs are liberal but all are being taken at from $5 to $5 25.

BACON—Long clear, 7c. for carload lots, 7¼c. for ton lots and 7½c. for small lots; breakfast bacon, 10 to 10½c.; rolls, 8 to 8¼c.

HAMS—Large, 22 lbs. and over, 9½c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 10 to 10½c.; small hams, 10½ to 11c.; pickled, 9½ to 10c.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 8c.; tubs, 8½c.; pails, 8¾c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $15.50; Canadian short-cut, $15 25 to $15 75; shoulder mess, $12.75 to $13.25; clear mess, $13.25 to $13 50.

SALT.

A brisk trade continues to be done. Demand is especially good from the packers, the bulk of the trade being on their account. We quote: Barrels, 90c.; coarse sacks, 56c.; fine sacks, 60c.; dairy, $1.50; rock, $9.

SEEDS.

Deliveries of alsike continue heavy and of red fair. Timothy is offering in small quantities, and prices of same are firmer. Quotations are: Red clover, $5.40 to $5 60 for choice to fancy alsike, $4 to $5 for low grade to medium samples, and $5.25 to $5.40 for choice to fancy lots; timothy, $2.25 to $2.50.

HIDES, SKINS, WOOL AND TALLOW.

HIDES—There is a fair supply, but demand is good and stocks are kept from accumulating. Dealers are paying 3½c., and selling cured at 4½c.

SKINS—Sheepskins are plentiful and demand poor at 65c.; calfskins are dull and weak at 6c.

WOOL—There is little or nothing doing, and prices are unchanged at 18 to 19c. for supers, and 17 to 18½c. for fleece.

TALLOW—Is a little weaker, dealers paying 5½c. for rendered, and selling at 6c.; rough, 2c.

PETROLEUM.

Trade continues fair at unchanged prices. We quote, in 5 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon Toronto: Canadian, 11½ to 12c.; carbon safety, 16c.; Canadian water white, 16c.; American water white, 17½c.; photogene, 19c.

The Petrolia Advertiser in its weekly report quotes: Petrolia crude, $1.15½ per barrel; Oil Springs crude, $1.17 per barrel; refined, 7c. in bulk, 9¾c. in barrels, in car lots f.o.b. here.

The British Tea and Trading Association, of London, England, write that Blue Cross teas are increasing in sale beyond their expectations. Retail firms in towns of 1 000 inhabitants should write either to the London house or the "British Tea and Trading Association," care of CANADIAN GROCER, and secure sole agencies.

Mr. D. R. Ross, the Embro oatmeal miller, was in Toronto last week. He reports business good and finds a steady demand for his rolled oats, the same customers ordering month after month, being satisfied with the quality and prices. During the dry season after harvest, finding the water power not sufficient, Mr. Ross ordered a new engine, which was completed a few days ago, and plenty of power will now be had at all times. Dealers not satisfied with the quality of the rolled oats they have been using, should write to Embro for samples and prices.

Gowans, Kent & Co. have a new line of tumblers away down in price, and, as every storekeeper throughout the country handles this class of goods, there should be a big demand for them. They are a line of cheap table tumblers modelled after high class patterns. Their advertisement gives a cut of them.

The following new agencies have been opened for the sale of "Salada" Ceylon tea since December 1 : Benmore & Benson, Belleville ; John S. Willoughby, Cookstown ; Mathison Bros., Whitby ; J. A. MONTREAL MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Dec. 20, 1894.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market is without any great activity at the moment, but the week has furnished some interesting features. The unsteadiness of sugar continues and prices have declined still further at the refineries. Molasses is firmer, with sales at an advance of 1 to 2c. per gallon, while enquiry for tea has been brisker, and American demand is being experienced. The holiday jobbing demand is noting considerable activity in dried raisins, nuts, etc. Other lines furnish no special feature.

SUGAR.

The unsettled feeling in sugar noted last week continues, and business, owing to this fact, is restricted, as buyers hardly know what to do. Last Thursday refiners here decided upon another decline in price of ⅛c., and though the jobbing basis is not much changed business is being done from the refineries at ⅛c. less than last week in granulated. Yellows have also eased off 1-16c. Recent sales of granulated in round lots have been at 3⅞c., and yellows at 3 to 3⅛c., as to quality at the factory. Jobbing prices are still 4 to 4⅛c. on domestic granulated, and 3¼ to 3¾c. on yellows. German beet stock continues to change hands in a jobbing way at 3⅞c. for granulated, while Berthier raw beet sugar is quoted at 3⅝c.

SYRUPS.

The syrup market has been fairly active in a wholesale way, and it looks as though stocks in some cases had run down pretty low. Bright grades in round lots from refiners' hands have changed hands at 2c., and dark grades 1½ to 1⅝c. American syrup is dull and values unchanged at 19 to 20c. per gallon.

MOLASSES.

The steady tone that has characterized this market of late is, if anything, stronger this week, and Barbadoes in round lots has actually sold 1 to 2c. per gallon higher. This strength is due to the fact that supplies in first hands here are exceptionally light, being confined practically to two firms. The jobbing demand, however, is slow, and the volume of business in this connection very small at 29 to 30c., ex store, according to quantity. Porto Rico is dull and nominal at 24c.

RICE.

There is only a limited demand for rice, and the market rules quiet and steady. Prices are unchanged, as follows : Japan, standard, $4.25 to $4.40; crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5 ; standard B, $3.45 ; English style, $3.30 ; Patna, $4.25 to $5, and Carolina at $6.50 to $7.50.

SPICES.

There is a fairly active business in this line, due to the demand on holiday account, the sales being small individually, but of considerable volume in the aggregate. Prices are steady and unchanged. We quote: Penang black pepper, 6 to 7½c., white pepper, 10 to 12½c.; cloves, 7½ to 9c.; cassia, 9 to 10c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c. ; Jamaica ginger, 15 to 22c.

COFFEES.

The firm tone of the coffee market continues and the advance noted in our last on both Maracaibo and Rio is firmly maintained. In fact, it is said that positively none of the former can now be had under 20½c., so that last week's range is still a firm one. We quote : Maracaibo, 20½ to 22½c.; Rio, 20½ to 21½c.; Java, 26 to 30c.; Mocha, 28 to 31c., and Jamaica, 18 to 25c.

TEA.

The tea market has shown more activity since our last, and the fact that American buyers have been in this market during the week has spurred up buyers a trifle. Low grade gunpowders and Japans have been the kind of goods most in demand, the former changing hands on round lots at 9c. and the latter at 10½ to 15c., as to quality. The American demand is for medium grades. In a wholesale way we quote : Japans, low grades, 12 to 13c. ; medium, 14 to 17c.; fine 18½ to 32c., and choice, 24 to 31c.

DRIED FRUIT.

This market has shown more activity in raisins in a jobbing sense, owing to the holiday enquiry, but the fact has not led to much business in a round way as yet. That it must, however, is certain, for jobbers are not any too well supplied with fruit. With regard to the stock in first hands, it is very light. The demand for California raisins has been fair, on the whole. We quote as follows: Off-stalk Valencias, ordinary, 4 to 4½c.; selected, 5 to 5½c; layers, 5½ to 6c.; sultanas, 5½ to 7½c.; California, 3-crown loose muscatels, 5½ to 6c.; 4-crown ditto, 7½c. Second crop Californias are offering for the first time this week at ½c. less than first crop.

The currant market remains quiet and dull, with only a quiet jobbing trade doing. Prices, however, rule much the same, as follows: Filiatras and Provincials, 3 to 3¾c. in bbls., and 3½ to 4c. in cases; Patras, 4½ to 5c., and Vostizzas 7c.

Prunes are fairly active and firm at 4½ to 5½c. for both French and Turkish, according to quality.

Figs remain much the same under a steady demand. We quote: Basket stock, 4 to 5c.; boxed, 8 to 9c. for ordinary, and 12 to 16c. for higher grades.

Business in dates is quiet and steady at 6½ to 7c., as to grade.

NUTS.

There is a good demand for nuts on holiday account; in fact, they, with dried fruits, are one of the brisk jobbing points of the market. Grenoble nuts are very scarce and 1c. per lb. higher. We quote as follows: Tarragona almonds, 13½ to 14c.; filberts, 8 to 9c.; Brazil nuts, 11c.; pecans, small, 10c.; medium, 13c., and extra, 15c.; Grenoble walnuts, 14 to 15c., and Naples do., 13½c.; peanuts, 7 to 9c. for roasted and 6 to 8c. for raw.

CANNED GOODS.

The market continues quiet and steady under a moderate enquiry. Some round lots of B. C. salmon put through since our last at $4.25 f.o.b. have been one of the notable features of the week. Corn and tomatoes are also advised firmer from first hands. We quote: Lobsters, per case, $6.50; sardines, $8.50 to $9.50; salmon, $1.35 to $1.40 per doz; tomatoes, 90 to 95c. per doz.; peaches, $2 to $2.10 per doz.; corn, 95c. to $1 per doz., and marrowfat peas, 85 to 90c. per doz.; strawberries, $2.75 per doz, and raspberries, $1.80 to $2.50; 1-gallon can apples, $2.10; Australian canned meats: 1-lb. can boiled mutton, $1.80 to $1.90; 2-lb. can do., $3.10 to $3.15; 1 lb. can roast mutton, $2.05 to $2.10; 2-lb. can do., $3.35 to $3.40; 1-lb. can corned mutton, $2.05 to $2.20; 2-lb. can do., $3.35 to $3.40.

FISH.

Demand for fish continues active, and the volume of business has been larger on the the whole. A feature has been the large arrivals of fresh fish, such as Manitoba white, pike, haddock, cod, and several car loads of tommy cod. In consequence of these large receipts a weaker feeling has prevailed and the prices are rather lower. White fish have sold at 6 to 6½c., pike at 4 to 4½c., haddock and cod at 3½ to 4c. per lb., and tommycods at $1.20 to $1.25 per bbl. A number of fresh herrings have also been received, but the bulk of them are of a small size, and sales are reported at $1.25 per 100. Smelts are plentiful and well enquired for at 4 to 5c. per lb. In salt fish there are no new features to note. The supply of herrings is large, for which the demand is limited, and, we understand, some round lots are offering at pretty low prices. In a jobbing way choice stock is selling at $4 75 to $5 per bbl. Green cod are moving fairly well in a small way. Round lots are offering at $4 to $4.10 for No. 1 ; $2.75 to $3 for No. 2, and haddock at $3 to $3.25. New Labrador salmon is scarce and firmly held at $14 per bbl. B. C. are changing hands at $11.50 to $12. Sea trout are selling in a jobbing way at $10 to $11 per bbl. The market for smoked fish is quiet. ORANGES—There is a good demand for oranges, due to the holiday trade. Prices are steady at $2 to $3 25 for Floridas, and $4.50 to $5 for Jamaicas.

LEMONS—There is a good demand for lemons of all kinds. Messinas sell at $2.50 to $3.50 per box, and $7 to $7.50 per chest.

PINE APPLES—Meet a fair demand at 10 to 20c. each.

CRANBERRIES—Are scarce and firm, being $1 to $1.50 per bbl higher than last week. We quote $11 to $12 per bbl.

GRAPES—There is a good demand for these ; Almeria at $5 to $6 50 per keg, and Catawba, 23 to 25c.

SPANISH ONIONS—These are firmly held at $2.25 to $2.50 per case.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The market is steady with a fair demand at 13 to 14c. for limed, and 10 to 12c. for culls.

POULTRY—Notwithstanding the recent spell of mild weather the poultry market rules steady, and prices are fairly well maintained. The demand is good and sales are made freely. Turkeys sold at 8½ to 9½c.; chickens at 6½ to 7c.; geese at 5 to 6c., and ducks at 7½ to 8c., per lb.

GAME—The demand for partridge is good and all the offerings are taken at 55c. per brace for No. 1, and 30c. for No. 2. Venison is fairly enquired for at 5 to 5½c. by the carcass and 10c. by the haunch per lb.

DRESSED HOGS—The receipts of dressed hogs are liberal, for which the demand is good, and sales are being made freely at $5.25 to $5.75 per 100 lbs., according to quality.

POTATOES—These are a little easier, car lots having sold at 53 to 54c. per bag on the track, while jobbing prices can be quoted at 60 to 62c., and 65 for the single bag.

HOPS—Are quiet at 6½ to 9c., as to quality.

HONEY—Rules easy at 4½ to 5c. for old extracted, and 7 to 8½c. for new, with comb stock 10 to 13½c.

BEANS—There is a moderate call for good to choice hand picked at $1.30 to $1.45, and poor to fair, $1.10 to $1.20.

ONIONS—There is a good sale for onions at $1.65 to $2 per bbl.

PROVISIONS.

A fair amount of business is transacted in provisions, there being a better demand for small lots at about steady prices. We quote : Canadian short cut, heavy, $15.50 to $16; Canadian short cut, light, $14.50 to $15.; hams, city cured, per lb., 9 to 11½c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 9½ to 10½c.; bacon, per lb., 9 to 11½c.; lard, com. refined, per lb., 7 to 8c.

BUTTER.

The butter market rules quiet on the whole, under the small jobbing demand. In fact, the prospects of held stock of any kind do not improve much as time passes. Liverpool mail advices say : "The demand is not large, and all sorts of prices have been taken. Importers tried to make from 110s. to 115s. at the beginning of the week, but were quickly compelled to reduce quotations considerably in order to try and clear ; even at the lower prices most houses have some left unsold. Irish creameries have declined in sympathy with Kiels, but not to the same extent. Dairy butters have been in good request owing to the small supplies, and prices remain about unchanged. Quotations are : Extra fancy Danish Kiels 105s. to 110s., with some fancy dairies making 114s.; seconds, nominal. Irish creameries about 110s.; finest Tipperary dairies, 90s. to 94s.; seconds, 80s. to 84s." We quote as follows : Finest fall-made creamery, 20½ to 21½c.; earlier makes, 16 to 17½c.; finest Townships, 18 to 19c.; finest western dairy, 16 to 17c. ; western rolls, 14 to 16c.; Kamouraska, 14 to 16c.

CHEESE.

The cheese market rules much the same. The public cable is unchanged, but as noted last week private cables from time to time lead to business, and we understand that something further has been put through today on the basis of 10¼c. for white goods. Liverpool mail advices speak as follows : "Market all the week has been gradually hardening, some houses advancing quotations for best factories, especially of colored, which are very scarce, and sell at a premium over white. There is a fair enquiry for well-kept summer goods at about 46s. to 48s. Market closes firm. Quotations are : Extra fancy September cheese, white, 51s. to 52s.; colored, 52s. to 53s.; fancy Augusts, 50s. to 51s.; finest summer makes, 48s.; mediums, 35s. to 42s." We quote : Finest Ontario fall made, 10⅛ to 10½c.; finest Townships, 10¼c.; finest eastern, 9⅞ to 10c.; under grades, 9 to 9¼c.; cable, 50s. 6d.

ASHES.

In ashes business is quiet and the market is steady, with no change in prices to note. We quote : First pots, $4.10; seconds, $3.50 to $3 60, and pearls at about $6.50 per 100 lbs.

MONTREAL TRADE NOTES.

The scarcity of Grenoble walnuts has led to an advance of 1c. per lb. all round.

Kinloch, Lindsay & Co. received this week a consignment of choice Imperial plums.

A fine lot of Imperial plums were passed into stock by Birks, Corner & Co. this week.

Grenoble walnuts are not a plentiful article here, but Caverhill, Hughes & Co. are prepared to execute orders promptly.

California prunes are new on this market, and their fine quality is tempting buyers. Birks, Corner & Co. have a consignment.

Frank, Magor & Co., Montreal, have this year imported an assortment of fancy boxes of chocolate creams, candies. etc., and offer them to the trade on exceptional terms.

FLOUR AND FEED

THE returns from the correspondents of the statistical division of the United States Department of Agriculture, relative to amounts of wheat fed to stock, estimate the quantity already fed up to October 30, 46,030,000 bushels, and the estimated amount to be fed, 29,273,000 bushels, making a total amount of 75,303,000 bushels. These figures on wheat feedings are merely the meagerest estimates from those states where the correspondents have complied with the request of the Department, and must not be taken as anything more than an attempt at an approximation of the total feeding of wheat from the present supply. The severity and length of the winter will necessarily influence the final figures upon this question. The Modern Miller's estimate, issued several weeks since, indicated a feeding demand that would take a little more than 63,000,000 of this season's supply.

According to latest information, crop conditions the world over are favorable, says N. Y. Post. In November and December the Argentine wheat is ready for harvest, and the prospects are for a larger crop than last year. Thereafter the sound of the harvest sickle is continuous. In quick succession follows Australasia, India and other eastern countries of less importance. Then (in June), France leading the column, the other producing countries gradually swing into line like great battalions for the final issue of the harvest year. Except in this country old crop supplies of wheat are diminishing naturally for replacement by the new crops. The other exporting countries—notably Russia and Argentine—either from necessity or foresight, have met the low price with free sales and reduced their surplus to usual proportions. But at home there has been a shrinking from competition and a disposition to withhold for improvement.

WHEAT—There is not much doing. We quote: White, 62c.; red, 62½c.; goose, 58c.

FLOUR—Business continues flat, and no improvement is expected till after the new year. We quote: Ontario straight roller, $2.65 to $2 70; Manitoba bakers', $3 40; patents, $3.65 to $3.70.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Are in fair demand at steady prices. We quote: Standard and granulated oatmeal, $3 85; rolled oats, $3.75 to $3.85; rolled wheat, $2.10 in 100 lb. barrels; cornmeal, $3.50; split peas and pot barley, $3 75 per barrel.

OATS—Are steady and quiet at 32c.

BARLEY—Quiet at 43 to 45c.

PEAS—The market is not exciting much interest, and we quote 43 to 46c.

RYE—Is steady at 50c.

BUCKWHEAT—Dull at 42c.

MONTREAL.

The tone of the flour market is steady, and values show no change. The demand from local buyers is fair, and a good business is transacted for this season of the year. We quote as follows: Winter wheat, $3 25 to $3.50; spring wheat, patents, $3.50 to $3.65; straight roller, $2.85 to $3 00; extra, $2.65 to $2.70; superfine, $2.50 to $2.60; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.15 to $3.50.

A fair trade is done in feed on local account at about quotations. Ontario bran, $16 to $16 50; Manitoba bran, $17, shorts, $18; Moullie, $20 to $22.

The market for oatmeal is quiet and steady. Standard, bbls., $3.50 to $3.65; granulated, bbls., $3.60 to $3 75; rolled oats, bbls., $3.75 to $3.85.

ST. JOHN, N.B.

Flour continues firm, and the buyers are accepting the situation. Oats are firm, and oatmeal rather higher. Middlings and beans also show firmness. Beans are firm at prices. Hay is quiet and continues low. The millers report that if wheat does not fall off flour will have to go higher. We quote: Manitoba flour, $4.10 to $4.25; best Ontario, $3.50 to $3.60; medium, $3.30 to $3 40; oatmeal, 4 to $4.10; cornmeal, $3 to $3.10; granulated, $3.50 to $3.60; middlings, $19 50 to $20; bran, $18 to $18.50; local oats, 36 to 37c.; Ontario oats, 40 to 42c.; beans, $1.40 to $1.50; split peas, $3.65 to $3.85; round peas, $3.65 to $3 75; hay, $9.50 to $10 on track.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Dec. 20, 1894.

CHRISTMAS being so near makes business quiet among the wholesale houses, and they expect it will continue so for the next two months. They are, however, satisfied with the way in which the year's business has rounded up. The feeling is that the spring will show an improvement. Among the retailers it has been a great week. No city in Canada can, probably, show finer retail grocery stores, or a larger number, for the size of the place. At this time everything possible is being done to have them reflect the brightness of the season, and they are to be congratulated on their success, the display of goods being most attractive. A little colder weather and a little snow is all that is wanted to gladden the hearts of the retailers of St. John.

SALT—Market same as last week. Stocks are light, but all orders are filled promptly. We quote: Coarse, 58 to 60c.; fine factory filled, $1 to $1.10; 5-lb. bags, per bbl., $3.20; 10-lb. bags, per bbl., $3.10; wood boxes, 20 lb., 20c.; 10 lb., 12c.

CANNED GOODS—Demand is fair, but not large. Canned Finnan haddies show a larger sale this season than ever before. This is not only caused by the fact that there are more canneries putting them up, but they are growing in favor with the consumer. The sardines which are put up in this province do not find much demand here. Prices are firmer. We quote: Peas, 90c.; corn, 95c.; tomatoes, $1; corned beef, $2 60 to $2.75; oysters, $2.10 to $2.15; lobsters, $1.75 to $2; salmon, talls, $1.35 to $1.40; peaches, 2's, $2; 3's, $2 50 to $2.60; new canned apples, $2.40; haddies, $1.40.

DRIED FRUIT—A quantity of good that were on the Halifax City for this market will be too late for the Christmas trade. As a number of kinds of dried fruit are scarce in this market, this will be a great disappointment to those to whom these goods belong, but the delay is the fault of no one, as the steamer, meeting very heavy weather, had some of the flanges broken off her propeller, and had to put back. Unfortunately, many of the goods were sold to arrive. New walnuts are now here. Citron is scarce, as are London layer raisins. In fact all raisins are light stock. Cleaned currants, in cartoons, have been in demand this season, though the quantity sold has been small, owing to the fact that none were packed in Canada, and the change in the American tariff, putting a duty on currants, caused the cost to be much higher than last year. A number of our wholesale houses have cleaned their bulk currants, and find an increased demand for goods in this shape, even at the higher prices. We regret to have to report cutting among the retailers in raisins and currants. If people are to pay their debts they must make a profit, and the selling of goods at cost and below does great injury to the trade in general, and must tend to dishonesty. Currants are being retailed as low as 3½c. Market is firm at following prices: Loose muscatels, 4-crown, 5 to 5¼c.; 3-crown, 5¼ to 6c.; Sultana raisins, 6½ to 7c.; California clusters, $2.25 to $2.50; London layers, $2.20 to $2.25; Valencia, 4¼ to 4½c.; Valencia layers, 5¼ to 5½c.; French prunes, large boxes, 5 to 6c.; small boxes, 9 to 11c.; currants, bbls., 3¼ to 3½c.; cases, 3¾ to 4c.; evaporated apples, 8½ to 9c.; dried apples, 5¾ to 6½c.; figs, 11 to 18c.; dates, 5 to 5½c.; cleaned currants, cartoons, 6¾c.; bulk, 6c.; new walnuts, 11 to 14c.; almonds, 13 to 14c.; Brazils, 11 to 12c.; filberts, 9½ to 10c.; pecans, 12 to 13c.; peanuts, 10c.

GREEN FRUIT—THE GROCER had a talk with Capt. Woodworth, of Port George, one of the captains bringing the largest quantity of Nova Scotia apples to this market, and he said he had sold three thousand barrels this season of soft fruit. He had to sell a large quantity by auction, but for Bishop Pippins and other harder fruit he had got prices running from $1 50 to $2.50. He was well satisfied with the season's work. Apples are rather firmer, the quantities of soft fruit getting pretty well out of the market, and hard good fruit is difficult to get. Good Bishop Pippins can still, however, owing to their being rather soft this fall, be bought for $1.50. Demand in all lines of fruit is good. The Christmas trade being large, prices are firm as follows: Apples, $1.50 to $2.50; lemons, Messina, $4 to $5; Malaga grapes, 5 to 6c.; Florida oranges, $3 to $3 50; West India, $4.50 to $5 per barrel; Nova Scotia cider, $2 to $3.25 per barrel; Ontario cider, 25c. per gallon.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Demand for butter is rather better, and were it not for the large quantity of poor quality in the market a better price could be obtained. Cheese is very quiet, but holders are not pushing sales, as they look for better prices. Stocks are not large. Eggs are firm, with demand fair. Parties buying are particular in regard to quality. We quote: Eggs, 18 to 20c.; butter, 18 to 20c.; creamery, 21 to 22c.; rolls, 24 to 25c.; cheese, 10½ to 11c.

MOLASSES—Stocks are light and prices firmer. Some beautiful samples from New York are shown, and a good trade is the result. Barbadoes, Antigua and Porto Rico are scarce, and those fortunate enough to have any are getting good prices. American syrup is also offered at prices which enables business to be done. We quote: Barbadoes, 32c.; Porto Rico, 32 to 35c.; fancy, 43 to 44c.; syrup, 30 to 35c.

SUGAR—In this the retailers are also trying to see how much money they can lose; and the arrival of the German granulated has added to the sharpness of the competition. First it was 24½ lbs. of granulated for $1, then 25, 26, 27, and now 28 lbs. is offered. Quite a quantity of the German granulated in bags is now here, and more is on the way. As far as can be learned, though not equal to our own granulated, it gives good satisfaction at the price, and enables people to offer granulated at what appears a very low figure, and yet make a profit. The price of sugar is off about ⅛c. Demand is good. We quote: Granulated, 4 to 4¼c; yellows, 3¼ to 3½c.; German granulated, 3¾ to 4c.; powdered, 6 to 6¼c.; Paris lump, 6 to 6¼c.

FISH—Demand is rather quiet. In cod, stocks are not large, and it is understood that the quantity to come forward is small. Prices are firm, and higher quotations are looked for. Pollock are easy and stock large. Frozen cod, haddock and herring are now coming forward, but weather is rather soft. We quote: Medium cod, $3.50 to $3.75; small, $3 to $3.25; large, $3.80 to $3.90; pollock, $1.60 to $1.70; frozen herring, 75c. per 100; bay herring, $1.50 to $1.60; Shelburne, $4 to $4 25; half-barrels, $2.40 to $2.50; medium smoked herring, 7 to 8c.; lengthwise, 7c.

PROVISIONS— Market easy and demand fair. We quote: Clear pork, $18.50 to $19; mess pork, $16.50 to $17; plate beef, $12.75 to $13; pure lard, 9¾ to 10c.; compound, 8½ to 9c.; hams, 11 to 12c.; bacon, 10c.; cottolene, 9¾ to 10¼c.

ST. JOHN MARKET NOTES.

The soft weather is causing poultry to sell cheap, and the supply is large.

For canned clams Northrup & Co. say they can quote very low prices.

One city firm reports the sale of 60,000 pounds of tobacco during the past year.

The increased interest taken by the merchants in the pushing of tea shows itself from week to week. W. Frank Hatheway has always given this branch of his business particular attention, being among the first to import direct from China. He now has a city traveler devoting his entire time to tea.

Northrup & Co. report a good demand for Nova Scotia sweet cider, which they handle in large quantities.

Sardines in oil, ¼-lb. tins, Northrup & Co. are, it is said, offering low, and are doing a good trade in this line of goods.

A. L. Goodwin has received his first shipment of this season's Valencia oranges. They are nice, fresh fruit. They sell at $5 per case.

It is not generally allowed that the cut of lumber this winter will be large, and there are those who think that the wise will see that lumber goes forward early if intended for the American market.

If the weather continues as soft as it is at present, it will be a great disappointment to the fish dealers, as cold weather is all that is needed to cause a large movement in frozen fish, there being plenty of fish.

Mr. John Moore, manager for E. V. S. White, has spent the past week in New York in connection with the lumber business. He was accompanied by C. T. White, one of the largest lumber dealers in Nova Scotia.

J. Hunter White, the agent for "Buttermilk" toilet soap, reports sales this season larger than ever. That this soap has won a place for itself in the market is shown by the fact that a Boston house is now putting on the market a soap in a wrapper so like that of "Buttermilk," that at a little distance they cannot be told apart.

WOODSTOCK, N.B., MARKETS.

WOODSTOCK, N.B., Dec. 20, 1894.

The stores are doing a good Christmas trade. They are looking their best, and are offering goods at low prices. We quote as follows: Hay, $6; oats, 30c.; potatoes, 75c.; buckwheat, $1; pork, 5¼ to 5½c.; butter, 18c.; fresh eggs, scarce, at 20c.

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

HALIFAX, Dec. 20, 1894.

THE panic in Newfoundland will not affect business in this province to any great extent. Fish merchants are of the opinion that it will eventually help business in this line. Cables have been received offering a few cargoes of fish at low rates. Nova Scotia does a large business with the firm of J. & W. Pitts, St. John's. The banks here wired the Messrs. Pitts that their paper was being held, and Mr. J. S. Pitts, a member of the firm, immediately left for this city. He came prepared to protect his paper, as he brought $25,000 in specie with him. The general tone of business is good. Jobbers' Christmas trade is about over, but the city trade is remarkably good.

BREADSTUFFS—The tone of the market in breadstuffs is slightly easier. Stocks on this market are comparitively light. The demand does not seem to be quite so active as it was ten days ago, but the prices are fully as high, as those holding stocks want to get the full price that new receipts would have to call for. Oatmeal and oats are steady and very firm. Cornmeal is unchanged. Bran and middlings are slightly higher, the former quoted at $20 to $20.50 a ton, and the latter at $21.50 to $22 per ton. We change our quotations slightly; they rule a shade higher on Manitoba and other flours, namely, $4 to $4.15 for Manitoba; $2 65 in sacks and $2.85 to $2.95 in barrels for extras; 90 per cents. are worth $3 25; patents, $3 35 to $3.50; oatmeal, $3.95 to $4; cornmeal, $3 05 to $3.10. Jobbing and retail prices are from 5 to 10 per cent. higher.

FISH—There is very little doing in fish, and prices rule low. We quote, tol quol: Prime shore cod, $3.25 to $3.75; bay cod, $3 to $3 25 for small and $4 to $4.25 for large. No. 1, West India market, fall herring, are down to $2; No. 1 alewives, $2.75; mackerel (city inspection), No. 1, $14, No. 2 $12, extras $16.

POULTRY—The market is overstocked, and Christmas dinners will be secured cheaply. Stocks from P. E. Island, intended for Newfoundland, have been thrown upon the market. We quote: Turkeys, 10c; chickens, 25 to 35c. per pair: geese, 8c. per lb. Ducks are scarce.

PROVISIONS—The market is fairly well stocked. Good Christmas beef is quoted at $7 and $9; lamb, 5c.; mutton, 4½c.; pork, 6c., weak.

EGGS—The egg market is flat. Dealers are asking 18c., but will take less.

BUTTER—There is lots of butter in the market. Fine Canadian roll is offered at 17 and 18c., and a good article at 16c. There is no domestic butter on the market and no demand for it.

GREEN FRUIT—The fruit trade is very brisk and stocks are good. Florida oranges are worth $2.50 to $3, and Valencias $4.50. Messina lemons are sold at $4 and $4.50. They are not good stocks. Grapes are firm, with every prospect for an advance; Malagas are worth $5.50; a few American 5-lb. baskets are being sold at 30c. The apple trade is still good for first-class stocks Good Gravensteins are quoted at $2, and choice King of Tompkins at $2.50 to $3.

POTATOES—The open weather is having the effect of keeping dealers from laying in stocks. A good article can be had for 30c. from schooners.

ONIONS—Stocks are about all cleared up, but quotations remain at 1½c.

DRIED FRUITS AND NUTS—There is a general activity in dried fruit and nuts.

Figs in boxes are quoted at 13 to 13½c.; choice bag figs 5c.; evaporated apples, 12c.; new dates, 5½ to 6c.; prunes, 6 to 7c. Almonds are quoted same as last week, viz., 14c.; filberts, 10c.; walnuts, 10 to 11c.; Brazils, 11 to 12c.; peanuts, roasted, 12c.; do. raw, 10c.

MOLASSES—The markets remain dull, with light stocks. Quotations remain unchanged as follows: Demerara, 38c. for M. R. brand, and 45c. for (B) D. brand.

SUGARS—There is no improvement in this line, and quotations are unchanged: Porto Rico, in hhds, 3¼c.; refined cut loaf, 5¼c.; granulated, 4⅜c.; standard A, 4c.; white extra C, 4c.; standard yellow C, 3¾c.; extra C, 3½c.; yellow extra C, 3⅜c.

CANADA AND GREAT BRITAIN.

WHILE Canada has not been forcing itself on the notice of the Mother Country, remarks The Mail, a good deal has happened lately to bring and keep us conspicuously before her eye. A well-favored colony like this, has everything to gain from such prominence. We have wants, and Britain has to spare nearly everything that can satisfy them. She can give us capital, population, trade connections, trade itself, and has it in her power to give liberally. To her we have to look for men to fill and till our prairies, for money to develop our mineral wealth, build railroads, improve canals, and establish steamships, and for a market for a great part of our produce. She will give us these talents if she is assured we will turn them to profitable account, both to her and to ourselves. But to be assured, she must know as much about us as possible, and we should take care that she does. The country must be forward to show its parts, if it would hold its own against other competitors for British favor.

The United States drew hundreds of millions of capital and millions of population from Britain, and to no other foreign assistance is its extraordinary material advancement due. But it left nothing undone to attract the attention of those classes in Britain who could furnish the means it wanted. No important undertaking within its boundaries lacked booming on the British money market. It is a nation of born advertisers, and it owes as much of its success to that fact as to its wealth of natural resource.

Canada might, with profit, take a leaf out of the book of its neighbor. The circumstances that are pushing us on the attention of Great Britain just now will undoubtedly prove useful to us. The Colonial Conference has been fruitful of advertising in the right quarter. Its proceedings received liberal attention from the British press. The fact that it was held in Canada, and that Canada would be the central span in the proposed Imperial trade route, caused interest in the scheme to settle chiefly on this country. The favorable report of the Earl of Jersey heightened and widened that interest, with us still in the foreground. The proceedings of the Colonial Institute, notably the paper read by Sir Henry Wrixon, have had a similar effect, and so have the steady agitation and discussion in London of the fast Atlantic steamship line. The cable scheme has likewise been turned over a good deal in the minds of British investors and British shippers, and the cable always brings up Canada.

The Statist has kept the question of an Imperial Customs union before the minds of its readers, and has stimulated interest in it by the offer of a prize of $5,250 for the best scheme of such a union. Canada is on both oceans, and must come in for special consideration in the treatment of this question, which involves British control of the sea as well as preferential trade. But we have been brought into British notice by other things besides the Colonial Conference and its issues. The last loan showed the British public that with their own moneyed class our financial rating was A1. Our High Commissioner in London, Sir Charles Tupper, has not let the British people think we are an insignificant colony, and his steady vindication of the health of our cattle has kept the name of Canada before them, and will prove of service, it is to be hoped, for securing the removal of the embargo.

The fame of our cheese makes Canada better known in Britain. Our increasing trade with the Mother Country cannot but lift us to a higher standing there. The visits of our Governor-General to all parts of the country, and his study of the resources, industries, and trade facilities, must be valuable as a means of improving Britain's knowledge and appreciation of us. Canadian affairs are rising in importance as topics of discussion in the British press. We were talked about a good deal in Britain in connection with the Behring Sea question.

DISINFECTANTS.

A writer in The Medical Magazine who has witnessed the Berlin method of disinfecting a room, describes the cleansing of an apartment in which a child had died of diphtheria: "Four men were engaged. After everything that could be subjected to steam without detriment had been removed to the disinfecting station, all the things were removed from the walls, and the men began rubbing these with bread. Ordinary German loaves are used, forty-eight hours old. The loaves are cut into substantial chunks about 6 inches square, the back of each piece consisting of the crust, thus allowing of a good purchase. The walls are systematically attacked with strokes from above downward, and there can be no question as to its efficacy in cleaning them, nor does the operation take as long as one would imagine. The crumbs are swept up and burned. After this the walls are thoroughly sprinkled with a five per cent. carbolic acid solution. The floor is washed with a two per cent. carbolic acid solution, and all the polished wood work and ornaments as well."

TOO MUCH SUGAR.

Willett & Gray remark as follows: "The fact is there is too much sugar in the world for the good of anybody in the trade. Even the consumer receives little benefit from present prices, for the reason that his retail grocer has overloaded at higher prices, and will not come down. There are towns in New England, and probably elsewhere, where consumers are paying 6c. per pound for granulated sugar, and within thirty miles of the refiners' distributing market. There's a screw loose somewhere in the sugar business of this country. * * It had been expected that grinding on some estates in Cuba would begin on the 15th, but our cable advices to-day report that harvesting is delayed. Other West India crops are reported favorable, but requiring rather more rain."

ROBERT S. MUNN DEAD.

Robert S. Munn, head of the firm of John Munn & Co., of Harbor Grace, Nfld., the largest house on the island engaged in the Labrador fishing trade, is dead. The deceased was the eldest son of the late Provost Munn, of Rothesay, Scotland, and brother of Stewart Munn and father of W. A. Munn, senior and junior partners, respectively, of the firm of Stewart Munn & Co., commission merchants, Montreal city. R. S. Munn, who was 64 years of age at the time of his demise, settled in Newfoundland four decades ago, in connection with the firm of John Munn & Co., of which house he has been chief partner for twenty years past. The deceased was also for many years a director of the Union Bank, was a member of Parliament, and ever took much interest in all that affected the welfare of his adopted land. He leaves a widow and eleven children.

FROSTY SHOW WINDOWS.

A CORRESPONDENT wrote Metal Worker the other day, asking for a receipt for keeping show windows from frosting. The following was the reply:

"Various means have been adopted for overcoming the difficulty mentioned by our correspondent, and we cannot do better than refer to some of those described by members of the trade and published in earlier issues of the paper. According to one correspondent, the plates of the show windows are first encased inside with glazed sash, well fitted. One and a quarter inch holes are then bored about 6 inches apart through the outside panel, under the floor of the show window. Then half-inch holes, 2 inches apart, are bored through the floor of the show window, as close to the outside plates as possible. At the top of the window, either through the sash or ceiling, the same number of holes of the same size are made as in the base. This arrangement is said to secure entire freedom from the frost collecting on the glass.

"Another dealer has the windows made in sections, matched together and placed on the outside of the plate glass, with the desired results. He has two windows 7 feet wide and 9 feet high, and three windows 2½ feet wide of the same height, with a light transom sash over each. Still another writer has sliding sash, well fitted, at the back of his show windows, leaving a space for the display of the goods between the sliding sash at the rear and the plate glass in front. Half a dozen ¾-inch holes are bored in the outside sash and bottom and as many more at the top of the sash. As a result of this arrangement, he says that for ten years he has had clean windows, while those of his neighbors are obscured by frost in cold weather. Lamps or gas cannot be used in the window without the glass frosting, but electric light can be employed without any ill effects. In one of the cities in Michigan there are a number of stores having the show windows arranged with a ventilator at the bottom, admitting the cold air from the outside, and a conductor pipe at the top of the window, leading into a chimney, which causes a circulation of air, resulting in about the same temperature on the outside and inside of the plate glass, which keeps it free from frost. Still another plan for preventing the gathering of frost on show windows is to case the windows on the inside with sliding sash, thereby keeping out dust and making a good show-case for the display of goods. Over the door is a transom 3 x 4 feet, which is never closed within 6 inches, it being hung from the bottom, and serves as a ventilator, taking air from the ceiling. When the show windows are lighted in the evening one of the sliding sashes is left open, in order to secure the benefit of the transom ventilator. The store is steam-heated, although a stove or furnace-heated store will probably work under the same plan. A correspondent in the State of Maine writes that he had two show windows in his store encased with glazed sash for the display of cutlery, guns, and other goods of iron and steel. Noticing that one of the windows remained entirely free from frost, while the other one was completely obscured by it, he examined the frosty one and found that the carpenter, in putting up the inside sash, had not made a close fit between the sash and the walls. This permitted the warm air from the store to enter and come in contact with the outside glass, where it condensed and formed a thick coating thereon. This opening was stopped, and there was no further trouble with frost. Neither of the inside sashes were air tight, but the correspondent states that they need to be reasonably tight and the doors kept closed as much as possible. A window without inside protection may be kept clear of frost by creating a circulation of the air in contact with it by means of a revolving fan or other contrivance for keeping the air in motion."

STEPS TO SUCCESS.

WHILST writing of or to my fellow-merchants, I have in my mind anticipated a question after this manner, says a writer in an exchange: How, or by what means do you consider you were made, or became, or grew into a trained and successful merchant? Now, I will take it as if my readers are putting precisely the same question to me, and will endeavor to answer it. How did I make my way in the trade? I, like all self-made men, found the road by no means an easy one, and I will set before our rising, or would-be rising, assistants some of the principal steps by which I raised myself to my present point of experience.

I must confess that often when giving a method for others to work upon, or a line of conduct to be observed; we, who are in a sense preaching, forget that our hearers may not have the same aptitude or inclination as ourselves, or, on the other hand, our rule may be far too slow for them. Possibly, a revelation of my curriculum may not seem to everyone to indicate a perfect course. But it is assuredly sound, and it may come in useful to many aspiring youthful merchants, and may open the eyes in one or two directions of those of mature experience.

When starting ourselves, or helping another to start, upon any course of study, there are usually a few preliminaries to go through. We have to provide books of help and reference, and if the study be a scientific one, instruments needed in its research have also to be found. In our study, we have to consider what is required to start, and after starting to complete, the well-informed and thoroughly successful merchant? Are there any manuals, any directories or first principle treatises, which the diligent pupil will find useful? Yes, there are; though to say that a standard trade library exists, would perhaps be erroneous. Yet, notwithstanding, there is a library, and of that and the other aids necessary to the merchant I will hasten to speak.

Very soon after emerging from the embryotic state of his business, and when, as a junior assistant, I began to think upon matters connected with the trade for myself, I felt my impotency in gauging the relative values of the goods that were continually day by day passing through my hands. Happily, with this knowledge of my great ignorance came a corresponding fervent desire to remedy this weakness. To have the desire was admittedly good; but I floundered about for no inconsiderable time before I could bring my mind out of its chaotic state to anything like definite determination as to the mode of operation. At last an inspiration seized me. What I lacked was the habit of keenly observing every trade matter passing before me. What I should first set myself strenuously to do was to learn the actual cost of those things, the successful selling of which was making my master's profits, and which I should one day sell on my own account. And so I determined to jot down in my spare time during the day—or, failing that, to keep in my mind till after business hours—the invoiced price of all things that came before me. Surely this would represent at least a start! It was more than a start; it enabled me quickly to acquire information of essential value. Then, of course, being an assistant of fair training, and being in a general business, I had to undertake the selling of every description of goods kept in stock, and had all the selling prices of the establishment at my fingers' ends. This knowledge, any assistant, without an excessive amount of exertion, can acquire; and if he does not, well, all I can say is, that he is not likely to become one of the men at the head of the trade. He is letting opportunity at its golden age slip by, and, besides, he is neglecting a good chance of strengthening his memory.

By taking the utmost pains to acquire knowledge in these two important directions I drew up for myself a tabulated list of the cost and sale prices, so that whatever the transactions in the shop with which I had to deal, I knew at once, without the need of any person who might consider himself superior to myself informing me, just the true state of affairs in respect to any article without the hindrance of enquiry. What self reliance I soon found I had! I knew the price goods could be sold at and show a profit, and daily made sales where others would let the customer slip. I was, of course, never foolish enough to abuse the power this knowledge gave me; but now and again I allowed it to flash out so as to strike the responsible proprietor or manager, whom I occasionally surprised by exhibiting more than ordinary intelligence with regard to exchange and mart.

Often, when a customer demurred at the price of an article, I was able, and sometimes did, suggest to the principal that we might really supply it cheaper; and when asked why, I mildly remarked the proper cost price for it should be such a figure. It brought me under the eye of the master as one of his best informed and smartest assistants. Knowledge of this description I found helpful in enabling me to judge how to act towards my customer in respect to what worries many assistants—the quantity of time which must profitably be spent with him in suiting him with his requirements. For instance, I could readily tell whether the article offered or required allowed of much or little time to be expended in the sale of it, and thus regulate my actions by reflecting upon the profit obtained on the sale. The practice made me, and would make any really intelligent assistant, a very smart salesman.

I know of no quicker way to enable a young man to qualify himself for a buyer than by the plan I suggested at the commencement. The knowledge of the cost and selling prices must be gained, and add to that what can now so easily be learned from the trade journals: the names of firms and their addresses, with the goods they supply.

Having dealt with those important points, observation and reading, let me pass to my last: that of examination—examination not by others, but by ourselves. Once, when applying for a fresh situation, the thought whether I was capable began quite to haunt me. Well, I jotted down roughly what I expected would be required by the new people, not cutting the duties short, but rather extending them to their fullest. By the side of each want I put a candid answer whether I could fulfil it or not. I was astonished to discover how quickly the plan revealed my true state. I wonder if many of our merchants' assistants ever used such a plan as this. It is a good one. It enables you to find out what you know and what you are worth

These, then, are the three principal ways in which I submit all sharp, intelligent men of our trade are made. Each is very important in its own way, yet calling forth all the energy of the assistant concerned. Without perseverance in each and in all, the result is impaired Attention to all will enable my youthful friend to develop into the valuable, sharp, and keen (because well-read) merchant, who can sell because he is no mere machine, for he knows the meaning of the prices and their importance. He likewise understands what the customer wants, and he can furthermore push the article, for his knowledge, by reading, acquaints him with the maker, and therefore of the article's reliability.

H. Barker and John Mackie, of Mansfield & Gold's general store, are branching out on their own hook, having secured a store on the corner of Shuter and George streets, Toronto, and decided to go into the produce and commission business. We hope they will be successful.—Chronicle, Whitby.

THE WAY OF CLERKS.

CLERKS, says an exchange, are a very important part of the store. In the larger establishments they have an importance that is almost equal to that of the proprietor, since they come into more frequent and direct communication with the customers, and on their treatment of these customers depends a great deal of the merchant's success. If they are careless, inattentive, or "smart," as many of them are, the merchant may lose through them what he has built up by his own efforts, or if they are ignorant regarding such details of the business as are placed under their care, he will be quite certain to fail in making many sales, because no one cares to buy from a clerk, or any one else, who does not know all about what he is trying to sell. Practically speaking, the clerk is the merchant's representative or agent, and his sins of omission or commission are chargeable to his principal.

No merchant has a right to expect that his clerk will be any better than himself. Subordinates are very apt to base their business behavior on what they see in their superiors, and if the latter are remiss in any of the trade duties which they are supposed to observe, there is certain to be a similar neglect on the part of those who are given a pointer in the wrong direction and, probably, have every opportunity for following it. "Like master, like man," is an old saying that has its application in almost every store in the country. Some one has said, with truth, that an employer cannot expect his clerk to be honest when he himself resorts to practices that are not strictly in line with the straight and narrow path, and this has such a wide application that it may be said to cover and apply to all the relations existing between employer and employe.

There is one point, at least, in which the average clerk is sadly lacking. He is not always able to distinguish between true courtesy and that which is merely an imitation, or else is inclined to judge customers entirely by their appearance—when they are strangers to him—and to gauge his treatment by his ideas of their pocket books. Every merchant expects that his clerk will show him the ordinary politeness. He receives it, because the clerk knows he will lose his position if he offends his employer, but if the clerk could be shown at least his comparative share of consideration in this respect he would not be quite so tempted to go astray in the matter of courtesy when dealing with his employer's customers.

PERSONAL MENTION.

J. H. Simpson, of Guelph, was in Toronto this week, and made THE GROCER a call.

Mr. Albert French, the B. C. agent of the Pure Gold Mfg. Co., left this week for his ground.

MASSEY IS PRESIDENT.

LAST Saturday night, in the rooms of the Dominion Commercial Travelers' Association, in Montreal, the result of the contest for office holders for the ensuing year was made known.

The vote for the presidency was as follows :

Lieut.-Col. Fred. Massey	1,086
Joseph H. Morin	632
Majority for Massey	454

Last year the poll stood for the same office :

David Watson	1,085
L. Wilson	530

The votes cast for the four candidates running for the vice-presidency are as follows :

Alfred Elliot	525
Max Murdock	464
John Rogers	350
John Taylor	331

Mr. Alfred Elliott is, consequently, elected vice-president of the Dominion Commercial Travelers' Association, while the new directors are the first five in the following list, with the number of votes cast for each of the eleven candidates :

James Armstrong	988
C. A. Prevost	920
W. D. McLaren, jr.	713
N. Tucker	709
J. T. McBride	705
C. H. Cochrane	562
N. C. Wonham	533
A. D. Gall	341
Joseph Youngheart	333
Jno. Fales	303
Jno. Stewart	260

The retiring president, after paying an especial and well merited tribute to the ability of Mr. Wadsworth, the secretary, and the other officers, went on to declare that economy had been the order of the day, and said that an examination of the report which had been placed in their hands would show that every item of expenditure had been carefully weighed and considered before entering upon it. Tenders had been invited for printing, etc., and by so doing a saving of from $500 to $700 had been effected.

The increase in the membership had given them $1,200 additional, although, the death rate had been quite large, "since our last annual meeting," added Mr. Watson. "No less than 22 members who were then in good health have passed into eternity. The amount of claims for the mortuary benefit is large, but we must remember that it means the widows' and orphans' all."

Mr. Watson then proceeded to accentuate his remarks made at the last quarterly meeting anent the Mutual Benefit Association, and expressed surprise that more of the members, and especially the young men, did not take advantage of it. "How can you," the speaker asked, "find a more profitable investment?" Out of this year's death roll there were not less than seventeen who had failed to become members of the Mutual Benefit Association, and consequently their families were deprived of $17,000, a sum that would have accrued to them had the heads of these families been contributors to the association in question. The speaker likewise dwelt very earnestly upon the project of establishing a fund for disabled or worn-out members of the Dominion Commercial Travelers' Association.

Here a very solemn and touching tribute was paid to the dead. All the members arose, and while they bowed their heads the secretary slowly read the past year's death roll, as follows : Geo. Knowlton, Ed. Heuser, M. Mackeand, P. J. G. Labbe, W. E. D. Sutherland, Saml. Mills, Frank Burch, M. P. Lynch, John Ross, H. W. Downey, Alex. Drew, J. M. Humphrey, W. Finlay, H. J. Farmer, J. H. Hill, John Martin, Alf. Francois, Geo. Forbes, T. P. Pearce, A J. Ackhurst, John Stewart, S. A. Brazier (accidental), J. M. Ingersoll, J. M. Leonard, Chas. Cooper, H. Laws.

J. A. Cantlie delivered a telling speech in support of a fund for widows and orphans, and strongly urged that a benevolent fund be set apart and controlled by a committee that would see that no loafer or lazy person drew any benefit therefrom.

Mr. Watson having vacated the chair, Lieut.-Col. Massey, the president-elect, entered at once upon his new duties, and was greeted by applause that fairly made the Fraser Institute tremble as the gallant colonel rose to reply. Col. Massey said that, acting upon the advice of his excellent friend, Mr. Watson, he had tried to prepare two speeches, one for victory and one for defeat, but having failed in both he would throw himself upon the well known indulgence of that body of men which had just placed him at its head. "I greatly appreciate this honor," said the colonel, "and I trust that all will be able to say that the president of 1895 has done his duty as well as the gentleman who presided over us in 1894. Col. Massey also supported the scheme referred to by Mr. Watson and Mr. Cantlie, and intimated that the new brand would endeavor to carry out the wishes of the members.

Mr. Morin, who was then called upon, made a brief but loyal address. He said : "Gentlemen, I have fought a hard battle and have lost. I accept defeat manfully. I thank those who voted for me, and I entertain no ill-feeling towards those who marked their ballots for the colonel. I shall continue in the future to take the same interest in the Dominion Commercial Travelers' Association as in the past." (Cheers.) Mr. Morin then advanced and shook hands with the president-elect, while the "boys" yelled with delight.

The secretary read the report of the Educational Committee, which shows a balance on hand of $138.49. During the past year only one application for the scholarship had been made, but in this case the child was under age, so that there are now six vacancies at the disposal of the board. Mr. David Watson was elected to replace Mr. Fred Birks on the Educational Committee, and the report was adopted.

The following amendments to the by-laws, notice of which had already been given, were adopted, and will read as follows :

On and after February 1, any person having failed to renew his subscription shall cease to be a member of the association, but may be reinstated within the current year on production of certificate of good health, accompanied with renewal application, without being deprived of any previously acquired rights or benefits.

The president, vice-president, treasurer and four of the ten directors shall be elected at each annual general meeting, and the then retiring president shall by right remain a director on the board for one year.

After some remarks from Messrs. Logan, Gormley and Wilkins, the meeting adjourned.

ADVERTISING HONESTY.

BY NATHANIEL C. FOWLER, JR.

IN my last article, "Correct Catalogues," I touched on honesty in publicity. In this article I refer to nothing else.

Business men have tried every method of advertising.

They've lied bald-headedly.

They've lied all the time.

They've lied part of the time.

They've lied a little of the time.

They've lied once in a while.

That is, some business men have.

They have exaggerated.

They have burned red fire around their goods.

They have covered up the deficiences, and double varnished the good points.

Rivalry in business has appeared to force advertisers to say anything and do anything which they think will sell goods and keep the other fellow under them.

This article will not discuss honesty and dishonesty from moral standpoints.

It will treat them from the cold-blooded standpoint of hard business.

Dishonesty in advertising is overdone.

Exaggeration in advertising is as common as the everlasting breezes.

Mis-statements are expected, and almost universally indulged in.

Lying advertisements are the order of the day.

Ninety-nine per cent. of people don't believe advertisements, and they have a perfect right not to.

To-day honesty is originality.

Honesty is never overdone.

Honesty cannot be overdone.

Honesty is the only thing that is left to the advertiser, for everything else is overworked.

One should be honest from policy, irrespective of being honest from principle.

The honest advertiser always does the business.

The honest store always makes more money in the long run.

The dishonest store may make more in the short run.

If the advertiser intends to do business for a week or a month very likely he can make more profit by lying, but if he is in business to stay, to establish a local or national reputation, and proposes to do business year in and year out, and leave his business to posterity, he will find that honesty will pay him.

Extreme honesty, so long as it isn't made ridiculous, will be considered by the public as a manifestation of startling originality, and will be appreciated.

One thing is certain, the public believe all men are liars, particularly all men that advertise.

The public believe that there are few goods as they are represented to be.

Nearly every advertisement is in big type, with bold headings, filled with deliberate lies or with the truth peeled so thin that the microscope cannot reveal the dividing line between cripple truth and direct dishonesty.

There are firms in New York City, and in all large cities, which have become rich through misrepresentation. But ask the cashier of the bank they do business with if he will discount as much of their paper as he will of the straightforward, honest concern, and the answer, if he dares to give an answer, will teach a lesson in honesty which can never be forgotten.

I do not believe in over-conservatism.

I do not believe that conservatism is necessarily a part of honesty.

I believe a man can be just as much of a boomer, just as much of a hustler, and be honest, as he can by practising any other method of business-drawing.

Honesty can be bold. It simply must be handled carefully.

Honesty can be made the leader of the store.

It isn't necessary for a man to advertise that he is honest.

If he does, folks will believe he is lying, but he can so present his goods and so run his store, that people will learn for themselves that his word is as good as law, and that everything he sells is just what it is represented to be.

The honest advertiser is practically above competition, because competition cannot reach him.

There is always room for honest advertisers.

The public will find the outs of every article advertised, whether the advertiser calls their attention to them or not, and if the advertiser takes particular pains to cover up the shortcomings of his goods, the public will find these shortcomings, and so magnify them that they will appear to be more serious than they are.

Let me illustrate my argument by taking a very simple example.

I have a horse.

I want to sell it.

I know that the horse cribs.

Otherwise he is all right.

I know it is possible to break him of cribbing.

The horse trots well, is gentle, and, so far as I know, a perfect horse outside of cribbing.

I can advertise that the horse is perfect, that there are no outs about it, and the chances are mighty few that people will call to look at him, because they will believe I am lying.

A horse without an out isn't generally for sale.

They will imagine that the horse has a good many outs because I say he has none.

If I advertise that the horse is all right except that he cribs, and that because he cribs I am willing to sell him for a certain price, horse buyers who want horses will come to look at the horse, and they won't believe that cribbing is half as bad as it really is.

They will believe they can cure the horse of cribbing, and so they can if they take time.

I have presented to them the out of the horse.

I have disarmed their argument, and have told them exactly what they are likely to find out themselves.

I have not injured the sale of the horse. I have simply made it easier to sell the horse.

This same argument applies to every line of goods, whether sold at wholesale or retail.

The outs are going to be discovered, or the buyer is going to imagine that he has discovered them.

If the advertiser presents the outs he will disarm argument, and will take from the mouth of his prospective buyer opportunity to kick.

It doesn't cost much to take back goods, if the goods are not satisfactory, even though the dissatisfaction is entirely the fault of the buyer.

A buyer comes in to buy something.

He becomes dissatisfied.

You are not to blame; the goods are not to blame.

The buyer is fussy.

Take back the goods.

Show the buyer that you propose to treat him even more liberally than you would yourself.

You will make of him a perpetual advertiser, who will, mean though he may be, give his whole trade to you and make all those under his influence come to you.

It practically costs nothing to be honest.

It may cost a great deal to be dishonest.

You never know what dishonest advertising is going to bring forth.

Honest advertising will never do you any harm.

Tell the truth, and not only tell the truth, but the whole truth. Tell it so the people will believe you, and stand by you.

They will occasionally go to the Cheap John store, but the honest advertiser and

"Build to-day then, strong and sure,
With a firm and ample base."
—Longfellow.

DO YOU?

Wish thus to build, an advertisement in the CONTRACT-RECORD, TORONTO will bring you tenders from the best contractors.

the honest business man will get the bulk of the trade and hold the bulk of the trade.

Honesty in advertising means permanency in business.

Dishonesty in advertising means transient profit, with great opportunity for sooner or later failure.

Never advertise goods at less than cost unless you can prove that you are selling them for less than cost.

Never advertise unparalleled bargains, unless you present with the statement positive evidence that the bargains are what you say they are.

People think that the man who is advertising goods at less than cost is a liar.

They won't believe that your "unparalleled bargains" are unparalleled, unless you prove it.

Place yourself in the place of the buyer, criticise your own advertising as you criticise the advertising of others, and see if you take any stock in statements of "less than cost," "tremendous sacrifices," and "fire, smoke, and water."

Talk to your wife about it.

Talk to your brother.

Talk to your brother-in-law.

Talk to all your relations.

Talk to yourself.

Find out where you all go when you want to purchase something good for anything.

You go to the store which never lies in its advertisements, and which sells goods you can depend upon.

If you and yours demand honesty in advertising, why shouldn't others demand the same thing of you?

You and your relatives represent the great masses.

Never advertise, and never do yourself what you wouldn't appreciate if done by others.

If every advertiser would enter his own store as a stranger, and criticise his own business methods as he criticises the methods of others, there would be a wonderful change in advertising and a wonderful change in the management of every business under the light of the business sun.

WORTH REMEMBERING.

It does not always follow that the grocer who sells the most goods makes the most money.

The man who would advertise his competitors should speak disparagingly of their business and methods.

The grocer of to-day who uses the scales which his grandfather wore out can't expect to make a howling success.

Business is not adapted to rules of debate; therefore when a man is inclined to argue with a customer he should stifle the feeling.

Every grocer's stock should include everything within the wants of customers. But judgment should be used in buying goods.

If you desire to be in a position to sell everything a little bit lower than your neighbor, buy for cash and sell for cash. The more you follow that plan the more trade you will have.

Their yeast is giving much satisfaction, where introduced. Their travelers are systimatically leaving a sample with every housekeeper, and only ask a trial to convince anyone of its merits. The firm has made a great hit in the handsome and attractive tin box, with hinged lid, which they have adopted as their trade mark. This box keeps the yeast free from contamination with other articles, and also preserves its strength much longer than in the old fashioned wooden boxes. The company occupy a large five storey factory at 79 Esplanade east, Toronto, which it has equipped with every modern appliance for turning out the purest and best yeast possible. Since the reorganization of the company took place a good trade is being opened up in the Eastern Provinces and the Northwest Territories, which confirms the fact that its goods are giving satisfaction.

TAKE STOCK.

TIMES there are when inspections or examinations are in order for everybody and everything. Many calamities would have been avoided had this always been done.

Something goes wrong with a man's organism. He omits calling in a physician to ascertain what is the trouble, and he dies; a mariner neglects to study his chart, and his longitude and latitude, and he drifts on the rocks; an elevator cable is not examined, and suddenly the car falls; and so on, ad infinitum.

The year 1894 is near its close, and in three or four days it will have been supplanted by the New Year. In order, therefore, is it now for every merchant to inspect his affairs and ascertain where he stands.

In a word, it is time to take stock, or at least to make preparations for doing so in the near future.

This is a duty that devolves upon a business man, whether the trade conditions be good or whether they be bad. But if there ever was a period when it was more necessary than at any other it is now.

The commercial world is crystalizing into a new condition; and it needs be that merchants should conform themselves to it. This they cannot do intelligently unless they make periodical, careful examinations of their business.

And taking stock is the only way by which this examination can be satisfactorily done.

It is not enough that a merchant's bank account is larger or smaller, or that he owes more or owes less than he did at the end of 1893.

To do business successfully, and especially under the new conditions that are evolving, he must, like a mariner, know where he can with advantage shorten sail, and where it is possible to put on more. In other words, he must know what lines it is better for him to give less attention to and ascertain those that it would be wise for him to push more vigorously.

Through an inventory is the only reliable source this information can come.

Take stock.

WHO MAKES THE TARIFF?

THE Canadian Customs Tariff was adopted after thorough consideration by the Parliament of Canada. That body is composed of a good many able and experienced business men and lawyers. They knew what they wanted and what was in the best interests of the country and importers. When the bill passed it was considered a satisfactory tariff.

Lately there have been so many decisions by departmental officials that it is difficult to recognize it as the tariff adopted by Parliament. In fact, it has become a departmental tariff rather than a parliamentary one. It is, therefore, no wonder that it is a source of constant irritation and loss to business men generally.

That these decisions are not according to the intention of Parliament is shown by the fact that Hon. Clarke Wallace has reversed them on many occasions recently, making them accord with the interpretation of them by the trade.

It will be impossible for Mr. Wallace or any Controller to attend to the many questions raised by importers and appraisers. Steps should therefore be taken, as THE GROCER suggested last week, to organize a Dominion board of appraisers, composed of representative business men, to deal with such questions.

In the meantime a Commissioner of Customs should be appointed who would be able to give intelligent decisions—decisions which it will not be necessary for the Controller to reverse a week or a month hence.

AN INCENTIVE TO TRAVELERS.

Commercial travelers are, as a rule, pushing and energetic. No class of business men are more so. But, at the same time, an incentive to better results is possible.

With the competition that there is to-day there is more or less temptation for a traveler to take an order at a figure lower than he really should, and not infrequently below the figure his principals will accept. In other words, there is practically a never-ceasing struggle regarding profits between the centrifugal and centripetal forces, as represented in the traveler and house respectively.

The loss of much of this energy might be avoided if each wholesale house were to set aside a sum of money to be distributed pro rata between the different travelers, according to the measure of their respective profits.

The idea is not original. It has been tried; and the fact that the same firms maintain it year after year is evidence that it is satisfactory.

GROCERY TRADE OF 1894.

PECULIAR in the history of commerce have been the trade conditions that have obtained during the year 1894

This peculiarity is largely native to the North American continent, and Canada, while probably not so much exercised over the matter, is influenced to some extent.

For the direct cause of the new order of things that is developing one must look to the depression that has been sweeping over the civilized world, beginning with the Baring failure some three or four years ago.

The countries which in the long run felt this depression the most severely were, as a rule, principally the younger countries.

While Canada was touched by this depression, fortunately it was not heavily so. In fact, Canada has felt the financial crisis less than any other country in the world. Financial men and writers in both the United States and Great Britain attest this. The greatest sufferer was the United States.

To the new order of things which the period of depression has induced, such countries as the United States have been more susceptible, and the results have in consequence in them been more marked. To briefly particularize, profits have become smaller, more energy in business is demanded, and newer methods are coming into vogue.

The grocery trade has not altogether escaped the changes that have been evolving in the commercial world.

The article whose position is probably the most unique on the grocery market is sugar. Never before has the price of granulated touched the figure it is ruling at to-day. Just imagine, granulated sugar of home production being sold wholesale at a fraction under 4c. per lb., a price not even dreamed of a year ago.

The present condition of the sugar market in Canada is born of more than one cause. In the first place, the prolonged period of depression in the United States kept both the consumptive demand and prices below the anticipated mark. Then, in the midst of this condition of affairs, Demerara raw sugars, which had been practically driven out of the market for some years by the tariff, again made their appearance in Canada as a result of the modifications in the new tariff. Following upon these came the German granulated beet sugar, which, after paying a duty of 64-100c. per lb., could be sold lower than the price obtaining for the domestic article.

This German article promises to be hereafter an element in regulating the price of granulated sugar on the Canadian market. Compared with the domestic product, it is much inferior in quality, and lacks uniformity. Yet it sells lower, and, therefore, although it may not always be on the market, it can always be depended upon to put in an appearance when prices appreciate to any extent in this country. The German Government allows a bounty of about 21½c. per 100 lbs. on refined sugars when exported, so that about one-third of the amount the German refiner contributes to the Canadian Customs comes from the treasury of the Fatherland.

While sugar has been about the weakest commodity in the grocery trade, tea has been the strongest. The war between China and Japan has, of course, been the chief cause of this. And not only upon this season's trade, but that of next as well, is the influence likely to be felt. China will certainly be compelled to pay Japan a war indemnity, and practically the only way she can raise the necessary money in order to do so is by levying a duty on exports, the internal revenues being already heavier than the people can bear. The fact that the crop of British grown tea has not been as large as anticipated has also materially added to the strength of the tea market.

Foreign dried fruits have on the whole been strong, although the presence of large quantities of damaged fruit, in Valencia raisins particularly, has prevented prices from appreciating to the extent they otherwise would have done.

Canned goods have ruled steadier in price than for some years, and to the agreement between the packers must this be largely attributed. To the smallness of the pack and the largeness of the exports is due the strong position of the market for salmon.

A feature to be noted in connection with canned goods is the cautious buying that has characterized the trade in the matter of canned vegetables and fruits During the last few years the wholesalers carried over from season to season considerable quantities of these goods, steadily losing money thereby. This season they bought new goods just when they wanted them, instead of buying futures, as was largely the custom of the past, and sold off at special prices the goods they had carried over from the year before. They were thus enabled to make a little money this year from canned goods.

A little money was also made in sugar by those who refrained from speculation. Profit, too, has been obtained from foreign dried fruit.

But in none of the lines appertaining to the trade have the profits been as good as they might have been.

The whole season through, careful buying has been characteristic of the retailer, and in the competition there was for the orders he chose to give, prices were cut unmercifully in some instances.

On the other hand, as a counteraction to the practice of cutting prices, it is to be noted that there has been a closer scrutinizing of accounts, while there has been a general tendency all round to cut expenses down—to lop off the mouldering branches without causing impairment.

But the saving entailed in these particulars, seems hardly, from what can be gathered from a canvas of the trade, to have made up for losses in other respects, and consequently the grocery trade of 1894 must be put down as not being altogether satisfactory.

There is one thing, however, that is better than it was a year ago at this time: The prospects are better. A year ago the pall of depression was gathering in consequence of the commercial crisis the world over, and in the United States particularly, naturally weakening confidence among the people of this country, in spite of the fact that the Dominion had no crisis to contend with. Now the depression is lifting the world over, while in our own Dominion the signs of returning commercial activity are met with on every hand. Our merchants and manufacturers are following more closely well defined business lines; they are doing away with fifth wheels; and capitalists are turning their attention more to the development of those natural industries for which Canada is famous.

There is, indeed, hope for the consummation of the wish that 1895 will be a happy and prosperous year for the people of this, the country which Providence has blessed more than any other on the globe.

Swear not to give long credits the New Year, and your chances for happiness will be all the better.

CAUGHT BY A WELL-WORN TRICK.

TWO young men, described by the despatches as "slick" Yankees, have been victimising the merchants of Hamilton by a dodge that has become threadbare by frequent usage. In a word, they were caught by fake advertising.

The particular scheme of the aforesaid "slick" young men was a shopping list. The cost of an advertisement in it came high, but then, not only would there be a large circulation, but the benefit would accrue to the Y.M.C.A.!

Of course, the number printed and distributed did not aggregate what the fakirs said they would. They never do. To come within 90 per cent. of the stipulated number is not a bad average. But the fakirs in this instance were more honorable than have been many of their prototypes.

They seem to have printed about 50 per cent. of the stipulated number. Their victims have thus reason to be thankful that their lot was not as bad as that of some of their predecessors who have fallen into similar traps. A case was cited to THE GROCER once where a circulation of 20,000 was promised by the promoter of a guide book. But the books were merely distributed where the advertiser would be most likely to look for them; and then, instead of 20,000 copies being printed, the sum total was only about 500.

Advertising, just the same as buying and selling goods, needs to be looked after. If it is not, it is scarcely possible to make it profitable, even if the medium be a good one. How much less possible is it, therefore, to expect good results from fake schemes gotten up by irresponsible persons?

THE GROCER has urged it before, and it urges it again: Leave fake advertising schemes alone. Advertise, by all means, and be alive and bright about it, but do so through the well-tried and responsible mediums.

THE TRAVELERS' DINNER.

THE annual dinner of the Dominion Commercial Travelers' Association came off as usual at the Windsor Hotel, in Montreal, on Saturday evening last and was as great a success as ever.

The new president, Lt.-Col. Massey, presided, and was supported by His Excellency Lord Aberdeen, Governor-General of Canada; Hon. G. E. Foster, Hon. J. J. Curran, Solicitor-General; Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. P. Mitchell, T. G. Shaughnessy, vice-president C.P.R., Dr. Anderson, consul-general of the United States; Hon. A. Marjoribanks, Lt.-Col. Strathy, A.D.C.'s to His Excellency; ex-President David Watson, and Edgar Judge, treasurer of the Board of Trade. The speeches were above the usual order, that of Lt.-Col. Massey, His Excellency, and the Hon. Geo. E. Foster, especially so. Among the notable facts mentioned by Co'. Massey was that the association had a capital of $134,000 safely invested in such a way that shrinkage was impossible, and they had paid out to the families of 26 members deceased $23,000 during the past year. Fitting references were also made to the sad death of the Premier, the importance of the travelers as a body of business men, etc., and the gathering finally broke up in the wee sma hours. The speakers, besides His Excellency, were United States Consul-General Anderson, Hon. Geo. E. Foster, Ald. J. B. Rolland, T. G. Shaughnessy, Hon. W. Laurier and others. Among those who sent letters of regret at inability to attend were: Premier Taillon; Hon. J. S. Hall, M.L.A.; His Worship Mayor Villeneuve, M.L.A.; Ald. Kennedy, M.L.A.; Mr. Parizeau, M.L.A.; James Sargent, president D. C. T. A. of Canada; Alf Robinson and R. S. Struthers, president and secre ary respectively of the C. T. A. of London, Ont., and C. C. Van Horn, C.T.A. of Canada.

The gentlemen to whom the success of the dinner is largely due was the following Dinner Committee: Lieut.-Col. Fred. Massey, chairman; W. P. Beauchamp, Fred. Birks, Geo. Cains, W. H. Callahan, J. H. Clerk, J. T. Dwyer, F. X. de Grandpre, Wm. Galbraith, Chas. Gurd, Fred. Hughes, Major J. T. McBride, J. H. Morin, Max Murdock, Major John Rogers, John Taylor, David Watson, L. A. Wilson, W. C. Wonham, H. W. Wadsworth, secretary.

The officers of the associa'ion for 1895 are: Lieut.-Col. Massey, president; Alfred Elliott, vice-president; Fred. Birks, treasurer. Directors, one year, T. L. Paton, John Hughes, E. D. Marceau, C. H. Bishop, J. L. Gardner; two years, Jas. Armstrong, C. A. Prevost, W. D. McLaren, Jr., S. Tucker, J. T. McBride. H. W. Wadsworth, secretary.

MONTREAL WHOLESALE GROCERS.

The Montreal Wholesale Grocers' Guild held its annual meeting on Friday afternoon last. As usual, the press were not admitted, Secretary Irwin merely handing out afterwards a statement to the effect that President Childs had submitted a short resume of the business of the association, which was adopted and ordered to be printed. The election of officers resulted as follows:

President, Mr. Geo. Childs.

Vice-President, Mr. Chas. Chaput.

Treasurer, Mr. A. Hebert.

Directors—Messrs. J. E. Quintal, H. Laporte, and H. H. F. Hughes.

Committee of Arbitration—Messrs. G. E. Forbes, W. Kinloch, S. J. Carter, A. Birks, and D. C. Brosseau.

MONEY AND STOCKS.

THE November statement of the chartered banks of the Dominion was issued on Saturday. It was not altogether satisfactory compared with the same time a year ago. Current loans, for instance, were $6,172,273 less, while compared with October last a decrease of over three millions is shown. The liabilities are $11,826,395 larger than a year ago, and the assets $7,710,753 larger. The notes in circulation are nearly eleven millions in excess of November, 1893 If loans for business purposes are smaller than they were a year ago, the opposite is the case in the matter of funds wanted for investment in stocks, call loans showing a gain of over 3¼ millions. Deposits, both payable on demand and on notice, show an increase.

The Ontario Bank is an institution whose stock periodically takes a weak turn, the reason for which no one seems to have a good explanation to offer. It had one of those weak spells some six years ago; and now it has another, during the last three or four weeks its stock on the open market having dropped from 107½ to 92, and there is no appearance that the end is yet. Its stock has come into favor before after being in disfavor, and it is to be hoped it will again.

This is a quiet week on the Toronto and Montreal stock exchanges, both having been closed Monday and Tuesday on account of the holidays.

The daily papers announced a few days ago that the Banque du Peuple had effected a loan on the London market for $1,000,000 on behalf of the city of Montreal, at 3½ per cent. net. This was hardly correct. Last spring Montreal negotiated, it will be remembered, a loan on the Royal Bank of Scotland, London, for $1,000,000 at 3½ per cent., with the privilege of renewing at the end of six months, and it was simply taking advantage of this privilege that Montreal was doing last week.

Elgin county bonds, to the amount of $15,000, were last week sold on the Toronto market. They bear interest at 5 per cent., and are payable in ten annual instalments. George A. Stimson was the purchaser, and he is understood to have given a good premium.

It is said that the Quebec Government will in all probability effect a temporary loan for $300,000 on the Montreal market shortly, to be followed by a permanent 4 per cent. loan for $2,500,000 under the Act of 1890, authorizing a loan of $10,000,000, of which $3,500,000 is not yet borrowed. It is gratifying to note that Canada is becoming a lending as well as a borrowing nation

ARGUROS.

THE DETENTIONS OF TEA.

IT transpired on Thursday last that the Montreal Customs authorities, not satisfied with the muddle they got into over the recent jute seizures, have stopped some large parcels of Japan tea consigned to Messrs. Morrow and Ewing of that city. THE GROCER learns that the trade, one and all, condemn the detentions in question, and state that there are other parcels of tea so detained, as well as the lot above mentioned. It agrees entirely with the remarks made by The Trade Bulletin in regard to the most recent action of the Customs authorities, to the effect that fine teas shipped from New York are detained, while stuff that has been rejected in New York and afterwards shipped to Great Britain, is reshipped out to Montreal and passed by the Customs authorities. The latter cannot exercise too much caution in such cases, unless they want to seriously injure the chances for direct trade between Canada and the tea producing countries. It is understood that the matter is not to be allowed to rest, but while it is being adjudicated upon at Ottawa the traders in Montreal are put to inconvenience and loss without any prospect of recompense, and this is exactly where the shoe pinches.

TAX ON COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS.

THE commercial travelers in the Lower Provinces are up in arms. The City Council of Halifax adopted a new assessment scheme the other day, and that scheme included the item, "$25 on commercial travelers." Protests are being sent in from all quarters, and correspondents are writing to the papers to show that the city has not the power to enact such a law. But the item is not to remain in the scheme. It was never intended to remain there. The framers of the scheme say they put that item and several others in the scheme which they did not intend to vote for themselves. By a ruling of the Chair the scheme could not be discussed clause by clause, and had to be adopted as a whole. In order to weed out the objectionable parts, the promoters carried a resolution relegating the scheme to a select committee, who are to prepare an Act in accordance therewith for submission to the Legislature. The tax on commercial travelers will not appear therein.

BREAD WAR AT HALIFAX.

HALIFAX has a bread war. It is decidedly interesting, particularly to the consumers, who are enjoying bread at the rate of 4 cents per loaf, instead of 5 cents. The whole affair arose over the army contract. This means the supplying of some 350,000 loaves per year to the imperial forces. Up to a few years ago the contract was secured by speculators, who re-let the contract to a baker. A good deal of money was made this way, and the bakers came to the conclusion that they might as well have all the profit. So they began tendering. Last year Messrs. Moir, Son & Co., the largest baking concern in Halifax, had the contract. The price was 6¾ cents per loaf. This year Messrs. J. J. Scriven & Sons have the contract, and the price is 6½ cents per loaf. Messrs. Moir, Son & Co. can put out forty thousand loaves per week, which is equal to the total output of all rival concerns. They say that rather than discharge their hands, and to use up the large supply of flour on hand, they have decided to inaugurate a campaign of education. In other words, they have cut the price to induce housekeepers to buy bakers' bread. They are doing it. No housekeeper can bake bread for four cents per loaf. But the small dealers are feeling the situation keenly. They say if the cut continues they must go to the wall. Some are trying to meet the cut, in the hope that it will not last. Messrs. Moir, Son & Co., however, say they are prepared to come down half a cent lower. Whatever the outcome will be, the present effect is a bad one.

COL. SKINNER IS DEAD.

COL. JAMES A. SKINNER, senior partner of the firm of James A. Skinner & Co., Toronto, died at his home, Dunelg, near Woodstock, on Monday morning last. Dropsy was the cause of death. Deceased was born at Tain, Rosshire, in the Highlands of Scotland, on October 26, 1826, and was thus in his 69th year. He received such a sound education as was afforded by the parish schools of Scotland at that time, and shortly set sail for America, bearing with him a warm letter of commendation from his parish minister. He settled in Hamilton and entered the service of Kennedy, Parker & Co., then large wholesale importers. The experience that he acquired there and the knowledge that he obtained of Hamilton as a wholesale centre led him subsequently to enter upon business himself, in company with his brother, the late Andrew Skinner, who had followed him some two years later from Scotland. Hamilton was then almost, if not quite, as important a wholesale centre as Toronto, and the business of Jas. A. Skinner & Co., wholesale china, crockery and glassware, soon became one of the leading establishments in the trade. Col. Skinner retired from active partnership in the business some 30 years ago, but he still remained the senior partner, and it is satisfactory to know that the business, which was removed to Toronto about four years ago, and is under the chief management of Mr. R. A. Skinner, still continues to occupy a foremost position in the Canadian trade.

Col. Skinner was one of the best known figures in Western Ontario. He was the first mayor of Hamilton, and afterwards colonel of the Thirteenth Battalion. He successfully contested one of the Oxfords for the Dominion Parliament, and sat in the House during the Mackenzie Administration. Since 1878 he has lived a quiet life, devoted to his books, of which he had a magnificent library, said to comprise nearly 4,000 volumes. Deceased was buried at Hamilton on Wednesday with military honors.

DAYS OF GRACE.

New York banks are notifying customers of the new law, which goes into effect on January 2, which declares that "On all notes, drafts, cheques, acceptances, bills of exchange, bonds, or other evidences of indebtedness made, drawn, or accepted by any person or corporation after this Act shall take effect, and in which there is no expressed stipulation to the contrary, no grace, according to the custom of merchants, shall be allowed, but the same shall be due and payable as therein expressed, without grace."

In Port Huron two loaves of bread are sold for 5 cents, and it is expected coal will go down to $2 per ton. There is a war on among butchers and coal dealers, and the poor do not mind it a bit. Port Huron must be a great place for breeding bankrupts.

Gold still continues to leave the United States Treasury, and people are beginning to speculate upon the necessity of the Government's negotiating another $50,000,000 to replenish the reserve, which is again below the $100,000,000 mark. The withdrawals from the Treasury are in part due to the replacement of bank reserves which were reduced by the recent purchase of bonds. But exports are still playing a no insignificant part, the amount that went out last week on this account aggregating $4,000,000. Since December 8 over $20,000,000 in gold has been withdrawn from the Treasury.

THEY WANT THE EARTH.

THE insatiable desire of New York dealers in particular, and Americans at large, to control various lines of business is so well known to our readers that no apology is necessary from us in referring to it. That it is not in the interests of consumers or buyers, except in very rare instances, if at all, is a view we hold very strongly, as we do not think these friends are filled with any particularly philanthropic views, and while it is a natural tendency of the day, there are many large dealers in various lines who persistently oppose the idea, holding that the principle is unsound from an economical standpoint, and militates against the consuming public.

The latest effort in the way of control from New York, being one in which Canadians have a growing interest, is worthy of note, and the clever way in which the attempt has been made is very liable to catch many dealers both in the United States and Canada.

This particular move has been the attempt of the New York houses who have branches in California to get control of the California raisin market, their lamblike proposition being that all shipments for the east should be made to New York city, and distributed from there "as a matter of expediency and convenience."

If this were carried out it would effectually cut off all the eastern towns from importing direct, from Philadelphia to Montreal, and practically speaking, levy on them a tax varying in volume according to the distance the goods would have to be carried from New York; more than this, it is not to be supposed that our innocent New York friends had only the idea of working for the benefit of the railway companies. In all probability all outside of New York would have to pay an additional price for their raisins which they have hitherto been receiving direct from California, and at the same cost.

The largest handlers of raisins in California, who have agents in all the principal towns of the United States, and Canada as well, have persistently set their face against the idea as embodied in the proposition of the New Yorkers, holding that, in the first place, all California products, as far as possible, should be distributed direct from that state, both as a matter of business economy as well as protection. Their persistent opposition has led to a vigorous attack upon them on the part of those who want to dictate the terms; but there is no question that the ultimate interest of every buyer and consumer will be best served by endorsing and supporting the views held by these handlers, for whatever present inducements their opponents may offer it goes without saying that the moment they might succeed in effecting the proposed deal all such inducements would rapidly vanish and our Canadian merchants and consumers, as well as those over the line, would have to pay for it, for the benefit of the New York dealers.

While it is true Canada and Canadian dealers have not yet become very deeply interested in this matter, we propose to keep our readers thoroughly warned against all attempts of this kind.

THERE IS GROWTH HERE.

C. R. Somerville, London, Ont, the manufacturer of "Mexican Fruit Chewing Gum" and other nice things, has just completed a large addition to his factory. He has spent $2,500 on this addition, and, besides, has put in $2,000 worth of new machinery. He closes the year with as complete a factory as is to be found in Canada. He has introduced electric power, electric lighting and the latest system of heating and ventilation he could obtain. Mr. Somerville reports a good business for 1894, and looks forward, confident of better things for 1895.

A despatch from Quebec reads: The movement to separate the grocery and liquor traffic is beginning to assume serious proportions, and yesterday again numerous petitions on the subject, from all sorts and conditions of people apparently, were presented in the Legislative Assembly.

"PURE GOLD" AT HOME.

IT is a good thing to see employers and employes dwell together in unity, and that is why I like to attend the annual At Home of the Pure Gold Manufacturing Co., for there it is that the public gets a glimpse at this desirable yet seldom seen condition.

The At Home held on Friday night in Webb's parlors, like its predecessors, reflected the good feeling that exists between the company and its employes, and, like its predecessors, was successful. Everybody seemed to have pure gold enjoyment. At any rate I failed to discover any alloy either in word or gesture among those present. And it could not well be otherwise. Admirable arrangements had been made for the entertainment of the employes and their friends, for the firm's munificence extended outside the immediate circle of employes. There was, of course, dancing, and to Glionna's orchestra too, by the way. But there was more than dancing. Admittance to one-half the main hall was denied to the votaries of Terpsichore—that was, of course, when they were worshipping her—which was allocated to those who desired a nice little tete-a-tete, a game of cards, or one of the many other games which the care and foresight of the management had provided. In addition to this there was a smoking and card room upstairs. No one had, therefore, any excuse for not enjoying himself or herself; and Mr. J. D. Roberts, the manager of the firm, kept his eye open to see that no one found an excuse, for the moment he spotted a loiterer in the whirl of amusement, that loiterer was led to where entertainment was to be found; and what he missed, Mr. George Anderson, the cashier of the firm, looked after, while Mr. Jardine, the senior partner, pleasantly chatted to this group and then to that, ever and anon kindly patting some young employe on the head or shoulders, and venturing a pleasant remark. Thus the evening whiled away till supper was announced, about 1 a.m.

Mr. George Anderson presided over the destinies of the supper table, "on account," as he said, "of the native bashfulness of Mr. Jardine." While the company feasted and made merry, the orchestra from the balcony above dispensed sweet music.

The toast list was brief. After "The Queen" had been honored, came "The Pure Gold Manufacturing Co," coupled with the names of the two members of the firm present, Messrs. A Jardine and J. D. Roberts. But before the speakers replied, Mr. T. H. Litster gave this solo, all present joining in the chorus:

It's no secret on the Mart, sweet Marie,
The truth I now impart, love, to thee,
Every grocer knows right well
Pure Gold goods are best to sell,
If the truth he'd only tell, sweet Marie.
If he tries to introduce, sweet Marie,
Goods that really are no use, hark to me,
Don't you let him work his bluff,
Don't you listen to his guff,
Say you must have Pure Gold stuff, sweet Marie.

CHORUS—Every lady in the land
Loves to use the P. G. brand;
Not because it is so cheap, sweet Marie,
But because it can't be beat,
For it is so pure and sweet,
You should use it all the week, sweet Marie.

It would really take too long, sweet Marie,
If I told you in this song, don't you see,
Of the many lines they make,
For the list is far too great,
But you bet they "take the cake," sweet Marie.
If you have a grocer friend, sweet Marie,
An order let him send, love, with thee;
Write to Glover or Munro,
Egan, French, or Frank Gallow,
And his trade will quickly grow, sweet Marie.

—By T. H. L.

When Mr. Jardine arose to speak, his face radiant with smiles, he was long and loudly cheered. "It is," he said, "about eleven years since the Pure Gold Company was started. Some of you have been with me all that time, and a good many have been with me seven, eight and nine years. Some of the ladies present were little girls then." (Laughter.)

A Voice—"Some have got married." (Renewed laughter.)

Mr. Jardine—"Yes, that is true, and while I do not want to lose one of them, yet I am always pleased to see my girls get good husbands and settled happily in homes of their own, for it is the married life that is the happy life."

Mr. Frank Gallow—"Hear, hear."

After further indulging in some pleasantries Mr. Jardine continued: "The business is getting along nicely. All with me are interested in the business, and all are doing their level best to get out the nice goods mentioned in the song just sung by Mr. Litster. I indeed feel thankful that I have such a nice, bright and friendly lot around me. It is enjoyable to know that we are all happy together, and pleasant to think that we can as employers and employes and friends meet in gatherings of this kind once a year. Since our last At Home Mr. Roberts has become a member of the firm. (Cheers) He is a better speaker than I am. You shall now hear him."

Mr. Roberts arose, smiled pleasantly as the applause greeted him, and then assumed a solemn mien as he said: "Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, I might say that one of the most solemn moments of my life is when I am called upon to make a speech. I don't want to make you sad to-night. Therefore, I won't make a speech." Then he thanked them for coupling his name with the toast, wished all the compliments of the season, and sat down.

"The Ladies" was responded to by Mr. Sutton and Fred Ramsey.

Songs were rendered between the speech-making by Robert Aitkens and James Milne.

It was 2 o'clock by the time the toast list was exhausted, and the dancers returned to their particular amusement.

SITUATION IN MANITOBA.

ALTHOUGH there has been a good deal of agitation this season directed against the grain trade, it seems probable to The Commercial that the Manitoba wheat crop has been handled on a smaller margin than ever before. With prices so low as they have been, it is but natural to expect considerable grumbling on the part of farmers, and also from those who look upon the farmers as their customers and patrons. Many persons do not look beyond the local grain buyers to find the cause of low prices. When prices are low they conclude at once that there is an agreement among the local buyers to keep down prices. This no doubt accounts for so much talk this season about the "grain combine." But, combine or no combine, the grain has been handled this season on a closer margin than ever before, and it has been handled, so to speak, with "neatness and despatch." First of all, the railways have done exceptionally well in moving the crop without entailing any serious delays at any time during the rush of wheat for export. The Manitoba grain trade has also proved itself fully equal to the occasion, and in the short season between the conclusion of harvest and the close of navigation, over 12,000,000 bushels of wheat (flour included as wheat) have been successfully handled and shipped out. While grain men have worked on a small margin, they have done a vast business. They have bought and sold promptly and shipped the stuff out at once, not holding with the expectation of enlarged profits. The business has been strictly legitimate and unattended with speculative features. The margin of profit has, we believe, been about 2½ per cent. on the prices paid to farmers, which is certainly small enough to leave no ground for complaint. If the farmers were their own shippers, they would not be able to handle the business individually on this margin.

There is sufficient wheat left to speculate upon in carrying over until next summer. Possibly this may prove one of the years in which there will be good money in carrying wheat. We hope it will turn out this way. The great bulk of the crop has already gone out, but there is enough left to give holders a good sum should prices advance sharply. Manitoba grain shippers and millers have not had a very comforting experience during recent years. The general course of the markets has been against them, and many of them have dropped a good deal more money than they have made in the trade. There will, therefore, be no reason for jealousy if they come out well next spring. Prices in Manitoba, however, have shown a tendency to advance, rather than decline, since the close of navigation, and with the higher prices now being paid to farmers here, and the cost of carrying wheat over winter, we will require to have a considerable advance in foreign markets to enable local dealers to come out with a profit on their holdings next spring.—Commercial, Winnipeg.

U. S. IMMIGRATION.

According to figures published by the Bureau of Statistics, the immigration into the United States for eleven months of the current year has been less than half as great as for the same period of 1893—or 233,891, compared with 486,276. There has been a noteworthy increase in the proportion of women immigrants, the number of male immigrants being reported as 300,884 for eleven months of 1893, and female, 185,392, while this year there have been 132,546 male and 101,345 female, and during November there were more than 7,000 female immigrants to 8,000 male. "Assuming," remarks N.Y. Journal of Commerce, "the immigration of the present month to be no larger than that of November, the total for the year will be barely 250,000, or not more than half the average annual immigration since 1880, while, according to figures published by Superintendent Stump, the current record of steerage passengers from and to this country by the transatlantic lines shows the number of departures to be greatly in excess of arrivals."

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

TORONTO MARKETS.

TORONTO, Dec. 27, 1894.

GROCERIES.

PRACTICALLY all the travelers are in the houses this week, and the little business that is being done is in small sorting-up parcels to complete the holiday trade. The holiday trade has been a fairly brisk one, large quantities of such seasonable lines as foreign fruits, nuts, etc., having been turned over, and the market is in consequence pretty well cleaned up. The most unsatisfactory feature in the Christmas trade was the cutting in prices. No changes have taken place on the spot in reference to prices. Cable and mail advices from primary markets denote a firm market generally in foreign dried fruits, especially currants. Most, if not all, the houses are busy this week taking stock.

CANNED GOODS.

There is nothing special to note, business being quiet and prices unchanged, as follows: Tomatoes and corn, 85 to 90c.; peas, 80 to 85c.; peaches, $2.75 to $3 for 3's, $1.75 to $1.90 for 2's; raspberries, $1.65 to $1.80; strawberries, $1 to $2.10; apples, 3's, $1 to $1.10, gallons $2.20 to $2.65, and preserved fancy quarters at $1.35 to $1.40; salmon, $1.30 to $1.35 for good red fish in tall tins, and $1.50 to $1.60 in flat tins; do., second quality, $1.20 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1 to $1.10; lobsters, $1.70 to $2 for tall tins, and $2.25 to $2.75 for flat tins.

COFFEES.

The situation, both at home and abroad remains much as before. We quote: Green, in bags, Rio, 20 to 21½c.; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 21½ to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 32c.; Mocha, 27 to 28c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 22c.

RICE.

There is still a little doing in fancy kinds, but otherwise trade is quiet. We quote: "B," 3½ to 3¾c.; extra Japan, 5¼ to 5⅜c.; imported Japan, 5¾ to 6¼c.; tapioca, pearl 4½ to 5c.

SPICES.

There is nothing new to note in this line. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 25 to 27c.; cloves, 25 to 30c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, 20 to 25c. per lb.

NUTS.

A little sorting up is being done in this line. We quote as follows: Brazil nuts, 11 to 11½c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds, 14 to 14½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 15 to 16c.; Marbot walnuts, 12½ to 14c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 12 to 13c.; Sicily filberts, 9 to 10c. for sacks and 10¼ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

SUGAR.

The dulness noted a week ago still obtains and prices are weaker, granulated being quoted by the wholesale houses as low as 3⅞c. We quote: Granulated—Canadian, 3⅞ to 4c.; German, 3¾ to 3⅞c.; yellows, 3¼ to 3¾c. Raws—Muscavedo, 3c.; Demerara, 2⅞ to 3c. for dark; 3⅜ to 3½c. for bright, and 3⅜ to 3¾c. for light.

N.Y. Journal of Commerce, 24th inst.: The market for raws remains under the influence of very certain evidence of an impending gigantic supply and a decidedly uncertain demand, and until matters become clearer as to how the latter may shape it is practically useless to attempt drawing deductions upon the chances of the market, and few of the trade are doing so. Refined have been very dull and without new feature worthy of note. A few straggling orders have come in, and, as usual of late, indicated that the buying was of necessity only by parties who had to keep up a working assortment, no evidence of a tendency to anticipate the future being manifested.

SYRUPS.

Business remains quiet at unchanged prices. We quote: Dark, 25c.; medium, 28 to 30c.; bright, 35 to 40c.; very bright, 45 to 50c.

MOLASSES.

Cheap New Orleans molasses for baking purposes is still in demand at 28 to 32c. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 26 to 28c.; half-barrels, 30½ to 32c.; Barbadoes, barrels, 28 to 32c.; half-barrels, 30 to 34c.

TEAS.

There is no new feature to note on the local market, but at last week's auctions in London Ceylon tea was stiff in price on account of small offerings. Japan teas are stronger, particularly in New York. We quote ruling prices on the Toronto market as follows: Young Hysons, 12 to 18c. for low grade; 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high

Advices to P. L. Mason & Co. from Malaga state that stocks of raisins there are almost exhausted. The local market is pretty well cleaned up. We quote: London layers, $2.25 to $2.50; black baskets, $3.25; blue baskets, $4.25 to $4.50; extra dessert clusters, $4 to $4.50; connoisseur clusters, $3 to $3.25; quarter flat connoisseur clusters, 90c. to $1.15; Royal Buckingham, $4.50 to $5.

Sultana raisins are in fair demand at unchanged prices. Quotations are: Ordinary, 4¾ to 5¼c.; good, 5½ to 6c.; fine, 6½ to 7c.; finest, 8 to 9c. Advices from the primary markets state that the demand for the continent and the United Kingdom is being well maintained.

There is nothing new to note in the prune market. The first direct shipment of new season's Bosnia prunes was due to arrive in New York yesterday. Turkish prunes to arrive are still being quoted as follows: Sphinx, B., 6¾ to 7½c.; U., 5½ to 6c.: Atlas, B., 5¾ to 6½c; D., 5½ to 5¾c. French prunes on spot we quote as follows: E., 4½c.; D., 5c.; C., 6c.; B., 7c.

A cable was received by R. S. McIndoe on Monday from Patras stating that the currant market was very firm, with the probability of higher prices obtaining, Russia and the United States being buyers. Present stocks in Greece were estimated, the cable said, to be between 35,000 and 40,000 tons, which is likely to be exhausted before the new crop comes in. On the Toronto market trade is quiet and prices unchanged. We quote: Filiatras, half barrels, 4 to 4½c., barrels, 4½c.; fine Filiatras, half barrels., 4¾c., barrels 4⅝c.; Patras, 5½ in cases; Casalinas, 5½ to 6c.; Vostizzas, 6½ to 7½c. in cases and half cases; Panartes, 8 to 8½c.

Dates have been in fair demand at 4½ to 5c.

Advices from Smyrna state that stocks of figs there are practically exhausted, and that the small stocks remaining consist of naturals. Business remains fairly good on the local market at unchanged prices. We quote: 14 oz., 8 to 9c.; 10 lb., 8 to 10c.; 18 lb., 12c.; 28 lb., 15c.; taps, 4¼ to 4½c.; naturals, 6 to 7c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The receipts of fine dairy tub are not large. There is a fair demand for all the best offering, and the market is firm for choice packages. Large rolls are in demand, Dairy pound rolls are steady. Creamery is in fair demand and steady. We quote jobbing prices: Dairy—Choice tubs, selections, 15½ to 16c.; crocks, 18c.; low grade, 10 to 12c.; fresh pound rolls, 15 to 16c.; large rolls, 14 to 15c. Creamery—Tubs, early makes, 15 to 18c.; late makes, 20 to 21c.; pound prints, 21 to 23c.

Cheese is steady. We quote in small lots: August and September makes, 10½ to 11c., and half sizes at 11 to 11½c. Small Stiltons are quoted at 12 to 12½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Trade has been brisk and stocks have been pretty well cleaned out. A weakening tendency is to be noted in lemons, demand not having been as good as anticipated, although an improvement is looked for with the cold weather. The cranberry market has been brisk, with stocks light. Apples have been in good demand on account of the lower prices. We quote: Lemons—Floridas, 150's to 176's, $3.50 to $3.75 per box; Messinas, $3.50 to $4. Oranges—Floridas, $2.50 to $3; Valencias, $4.25 to $4.50; mandarins, $2.75 to $3 per half box; tangerines, $2.25 to $2.50 per half box; grape fruit, $4 to $4.50 per box. Cranberries, Jerseys, $12.50 to $13 per bbl. and $4 per box. California dried fruit—Apricots, 12½c.; peaches, 12½ to 13c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Business continues quiet at $1.40 to $1.50 for choice hand-picked and $1.20 to $1.25 for medium.

EGGS—Cold storage stocks are pretty well cleaned up, and the result is a better feeling in limed eggs. Strictly fresh are in good demand. Prices are much as before. We quote: Held and cold stored, 10 to 15c., according to quality; new laid, 18 to 20c.; limed, 14 to 15c.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

A fair trade has continued to be done in hams and breakfast bacon on holiday account, and a good business is reported in heavy mess and long clear for the lumber camps. Dressed hogs have been easy, $5 to $5.10 only being paid for select weights.

BACON—Long clear, 7c. for carload lots, 7¼c. for ton lots and 7½c. for small lots; breakfast bacon, 10 to 10½c.; rolls, 8 to 8¼c.

quote 17 to 18c. for fleece and 19 to 21c. for combing. In pulled wools the movement is slow and the market is dull. Prices are steady. We quote supers at 18 to 19c. and extras at 20 to 21c. Foreign wools are offering very low, but the demand is not at all active.

PETROLEUM.

There is still a fair volume of business doing at unchanged prices. We quote, in 5 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon Toronto: Canadian, 11½ to 12c.; carbon safety, 16c.; Canadian water white, 16c.; American water white, 17½c.; photogene, 19c.

The Petrolia Advertiser in its weekly report quotes: Petrolia crude, $1.15½ per barrel; Oil Springs crude, $1.17 per barrel; refined, 7c. in bulk, 9¾c. in barrels, in car lots f.o.b. here.

MARKET NOTES.

The primary market is firm on shelled almonds.

New Nagasaki Japans and Hysons are to hand with Davidson & Hay.

Dawson & Co. received a carload of Florida oranges on Wednesday of desirable sizes.

Davidson & Hay received this week a large shipment of imported Castile soap.

For the last time this year W. Paterson & Son call the attention of the trade to their cough drop ad. on page 6.

The Toronto Salt Works report these sales for the week: Three cars coarse, one barrel coarse and one car of fine sacks.

M. Masuret & Co. are offering California fruit—peaches, apricots, etc., and muscatel raisins—at what are said to be very low prices.

D. Gunn, Flavelle & Co. report that receipts of tub butter, off in flavor, continue heavy, while that even the low price of 8c. does not induce purchases.

As is their custom, W. Paterson & Son will devote the first week of 1895 to clearing up and taking stock. Meanwhile they wish all their customers a happy and prosperous New Year.

Fine Christmas fruits to close; also layer Valencias, prunes in 14, 28 and 56 lb. boxes figs. etc., are to hand with M. Masuret & Co., who say they have had a good Christmas trade. The few blue raisins they have left they will sell at low prices.

"Reindeer" brand condensed coffee now appears in a handsome new label. Four grades of these goods are manufactured. They present an attractive appearance.

P. C. Larkin & Co. received a direct shipment of Ceylon tea from Colombo on Monday morning. Among this firm's recent purchases is a line of Rungmook Darjeeling tea at a cost of 2s. in London.

Davidson & Hay have received a shipment of Moir's table jelly powder in all flavors; also kippered paste and bloater plate, in tins, to retail at 5 and 10c. Davidson & Hay have recently been appointed Toronto agents for Moir's products.

MONTREAL MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Dec 27, 1894.

GROCERIES.

THERE has been a fair sort of business doing in wholesale groceries, but it has been restricted to few lines. There has been a moderate distributing trade in tea, but no large business has been put through, as the offers on American account, to which we referred last week, have not materialized in any business as yet. Coffee continues steady at former values, and a fair trade has been done. There has been no further change in the sugar market, while syrups are firm, and the same can be said about molasses. In fact, the latter shows an upward tendency. There is no new feature in dried fruit, but a fair trade is doing. Canned goods, fish, etc., continue much as they were.

SUGAR.

The sugar market here has ruled quiet and steady since our last. Refiners complain that the demand is slow, the orders that are coming in being for small quantities only. We quote 4 to 4⅛c., and yellows 3¼ to 3¾c. for ordinary jobbing trade, but the former has left the factory at 3⅞c. and the latter at 3 to 3⅝c., as to quality. In raw sugar we understand that the refiners have been making further purchases to those already noted last week.

SYRUPS.

There is no change in syrup, which rules firm in tone. Bright grades of domestic are held at 2c., and dark grades 1½ to 1⅝c American syrup has moved at 20 to 21c., as to quality.

MOLASSES.

This market has a much firmer feeling, although there is no great activity to note. The very best price on Barbadoes is 28c., and that is only in a large way, while we hear of sales of good-sized lots between dealers at 29 to 30c., and the outside figure represents the basis for jobbing business.

RICE.

The rice market is perfectly steady, but business is on the quiet side. We quote: Japan, standard, $4.25 to $4.40; crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B, $3.45; English style, $3.30; Patna; $4.25 to $5, and Carolina at $6.50 to $7.50.

SPICES.

The spice market has been fairly active during the week, and the steady tone is well maintained. We quote as follows: Penang black pepper, 6 to 7½c., white pepper, 10 to 12½c.; cloves, 7½ to 9c.; cassia, 9 to 10c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.; Jamaica ginger, 15 to 22c.

COFFEES.

The market maintains its firm tone and prices are steady all round. In fact, round lots of Maracaibo have changed hands at 20½c., and we advance our range a trifle. We quote: Maracaibo, 20½ to 22c.; Rio, 20½ to 22c.; Java, 26 to 30c.; Mocha, 28 to 31c., and Jamaica, 18 to 25c.

TEA.

The demand to which we referred last week from Americans for Japan tea in this market owing to scarcity in New York has not materialized in anything as yet. Otherwise the market is quiet with a moderate distributive trade going on, the only large sale during the week being a line of Japans on local account at 16c. In a wholesale way we quote: Japans, low grades, 12 to 13c.; medium, 14 to 17c.; fine 18½ to 32c., and choice, 24 to 31c.

DRIED FRUIT.

There has been little doing in this market in a large way, but naturally the distributive demand from jobbing hands has been good, and this will possibly lead to larger business later, when it comes to a question of replenishing supplies. In Valencia raisins no change is to note, prices ruling steady, and the same can be said of California fruit, which meets a brisk jobbing enquiry. We quote as llows : Off-stalk Valencias, ordinary, 4 to 4½c.; selected, 5 to 5½c ; layers, 5½ to 6c.; sultanas, 5½ to 7½c.; California, 3-crown loose muscatels, 5½ to 6c.; 4-crown ditto, 7½c. Second crop Californias ½c. less than first crop.

The currant market is quiet and unchanged and prices are repeated as follows : Filiatras and Provincials, 3 to 3¼c. in bbls., and 3½ to 4c. in cases ; Patras, 4½ to 5c., and Vostizzas 7c.

There is a fairly good jobbing demand for prunes at 4½ to 5½c., as to quality.

There is no change in figs, which have moved well in a jobbing way. We quote : Basket stock, 4 to 5c.; boxed, 8 to 9c. for ordinary, and 12 to 16c. for higher grades.

Dates rule quiet and steady at 6½ to 7c., as to grade.

NUTS.

There has naturally been a brisk demand for nuts of all kinds, the scarcity of Grenoble walnuts continuing a leading feature of the market. We quote as follows : Tarragona almonds, 13½ to 14c. ; filberts, 8 to 9c. ; Brazil nuts, 11c.; pecans, small, 10c.; medium, 13c., and extra, 15c.; Grenoble walnuts, 14 to 15c., and Naples do., 13½c.; peanuts, 7 to 9c. for roasted and 6 to 8c. for raw.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been very little of special importance to report in the canned goods market since our last. The jobbing demand for certain lines of fruit has been rather better in some cases, due to holiday wants. We quote : Lobsters, per case, $6.50 ; sardines, $8.50 to $9.50; salmon, $1.35 to $1.40 per doz ; tomatoes, 90 to 95c. per doz.; peaches, $2 to $2.10 per doz. ; corn, 95c. to $1 per doz., and marrowfat peas, 85 to 90c. per doz.; strawberries, $2.75 per doz, and raspberries, $1.80 to $2.50; 1-gallon can apples, $2.10 ; Australian canned meats : 1-lb. can boiled mutton, $1.80 to $1.90 ; 2-lb. can do., $3.10 to $3.15 ; 1 lb. can roast mutton, $2.05 to $2.10 ; 2-lb. can do., $3.35 to $3.40; 1-lb. can corned mutton, $2.05 to $2.20 ; 2-lb. can do., $3.35 to $3.40.

FISH.

Large arrivals of fresh fish have had a depressing effect on the fish market, and the tone as regards value is weak. In salt fish a fair jobbing trade has been done. Salt herrings are plentiful, but sales of round lots are difficult to make at present. In a jobbing way No. 1 Nova Scotia herrings are selling at $4 to $4.50, No. 1 green cod at $4 to $4.25, No. 2 do. at $3, and No. 1 green haddock at $3 to $3.25. Round lots can be bought at lower figures. Labrador salmon are selling at $14 per bbl., and B.C. at $11.50 to $12. Sea trout have changed hands at $10 to $11 per bbl. Choice fresh herrings, medium size, are selling at $1 to $1.25, and large at $1.50 per 100. Tommy cods are moving fairly well at $1.25 to $1.50 per bbl., haddock and cod at 3½ to 4c. and steak cod at 4½c. per lb. Smelts are plentiful and cheap at 3 to 5c. per lb. The demand for smoked fish is slow, but prices rule steady. Finnan haddies are quoted at 7 to 7½c. per lb. for Portland brands, and 6½ to 7c. for St. John's.

GREEN FRUIT.

APPLES—Trade is slow, but prices are unchanged at $2 to $2.50 per bbl.

ORANGES—The holiday demand has created some activity in oranges. Prices are steady at $1.75 to $3 for Floridas, and Jamaicas $4.50 to $5 per bbl.

LEMONS—There is a ready sale for lemons at $2.50 to $3.50 per box.

PINEAPPLES—Are in fair demand at 15 to 25c. each, as to size and quality.

PEARS—California pears sell at $2.20 to $2.75 per box.

CRANBERRIES—There is a very active demand for cranberries at $9 to $13 per bbl., according to quality, the outside for unfrozen stock.

GRAPES—Almeria grapes meet a ready sale at $5.50 per bbl., and Catawba 25c. per basket.

SPANISH ONIONS—Spanish are scarce and very firmly held at $1 per crate.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There is a good demand for eggs at 13 to 14c. for limed and 10 to 12c. for culls.

POULTRY—There continues to be an active demand for poultry, of which the offerings are large, and a brisk business is doing at steady prices. Turkeys sell at 8½ to 9½c., chickens at 6½ to 7c., geese at 5 to 6c., and ducks at 7½ to 8c. per lb.

GAME—The market for partridge is steady. Demand is good and the offerings meet with a steady sale at 55c. per brace for No. 1 and 30c. for No. 2. Venison sells at 5 to 5½c. per lb. by the carcase and 9 to 10c. by the haunch.

DRESSED HOGS—There is a fair demand for dressed hogs at $5.25 to $5.75 per 100 lbs.

ONIONS—There is a good demand for onions at $1.75 to $2 per bbl.

POTATOES—Are in better demand this week, car lots selling at 53 to 55c., and jobbing lots 65 to 70c.

HONEY—Rules easy at 4½ to 5c. for old extracted and 7 to 9 for new. Comb honey is steady at 10 to 13c.

BEANS—There is no change in beans. Good hand-picked sell at $1.30 to $1.45 and poor to fair $1.10 to $1.20 per bush.

HOPS—Are quiet and unchanged at 6½ to 8c., as to quality.

PROVISIONS.

There was no change in the local provision market. The feeling generally is steady and prices show no change. Owing to the continued mild weather buyers are holding off to some extent, consequently the volume of business doing is small. We quote: Canadian short cut, heavy, $15.50 to $16; Canadian short cut, light, $14.50 to $15; hams, city cured, per lb., 9 to 11½c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 9½ to 10½c.; bacon, per lb., 9 to 11½c.; lard, com. refined, per lb., 7 to 8c.

BUTTER.

There is only a small jobbing trade doing in butter, and though no change in prices is to note, it is just possible that if a holder wanted to realize he would have to concede something substantial. What business there is is confined to finest varieties, and the constant cutting that stock here is being subjected to is not apt to be beneficial to the residue. For creamery in lots the appended quotation, 20½ to 21½c, is a fair range, while the position on the different grades of dairy stock is also fairly outlined by the respective prices given below: We quote as follows: Finest fall-made creamery, 20½ to 21½c.; earlier makes, 16 to 17½c.; finest Townships, 18 to 19c.; finest western dairy, 16 to 17c.; western rolls, 15 to 17c.; Kamouraska, 14 to 16c.

CHEESE.

The cheese market fails to show any change of importance. What demand there is, is not of a very urgent character, and, in the majority of cases, offers do not permit of business in finest goods, on which holders are firm. In fact, as we have pointed out before, a very quiet business is now looked for until after the turn of the year. We quote: Finest Ontario fall made, 10¼ to 10½c.; finest Townships, 10¼c.; finest eastern, 9⅞ to 10c.; under grades, 9 to 9¼c.; cable, 50s. 6d.

ASHES.

The ashes market is rather quiet, but easier. We quote: First pots, $4.05; seconds, $3.45 to $3.60, and pearls at about $6.50 per 100 lbs.

MONTREAL TRADE NOTES.

At the lemon sale in Boston, Hart & Tuckwell purchased several carloads at prices ranging from $1.50 to $3.50 per box.

There are very few Grenoble walnuts on this market, but Laporte, Martin & Co. are prepared to execute orders promptly.

Further purchases of raw sugar have been made on behalf of Halifax refiners.

The second crop California raisins that have been offered here are not meeting with a very ready sale.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,

ST. JOHN, N.B., Dec. 27, 1894.

CHRISTMAS is now over, and even the retailers are enjoying a rest. The holiday trade has been good, but not as satisfactory as if there had been snow, as there is a large trade outside the city which is lost to the traders if there is no snow before Christmas. The display in the country market was, as usual, very fine. Noticeable was the very fine Ontario beef on exhibition. It was shipped here alive. Among the poultry were some very fine 24-pound turkeys. The only thing of which there was not an extra supply was ducks. Chickens were slow sale. The fine pork display was also a feature. In market, the movement being light, there is little change in prices. Sugar continues to be weak, and flour rather better than holds its own at the late advance. In tea the feeling is firm, and with increased business as the new year opens better prices are looked for.

SALT—Demand at this season is always light, but, as stocks are the same, prices are maintained. Canadian salt in wood boxes continues to grow in amount received on this market, and it looks as if the monopoly so far held by the American article was at an end. We quote: Coarse, 58 to 60c.; fine factory filled, $1 to $1.10; 5-lb. bags, per bbl., $3.25; 10-lb. bags, per bbl., $3.10.

CANNED GOODS—Market is quiet, except that the very low prices at which gallon apples were offered caused questions to be asked, when it was found that they were old pack. However, quality was all right, and, at the price offered—$1 per dozen—they were extra value. Dealers who have handled the California goods report demand much better than they expected. Canned clams put up in different ways are finding a larger sale. They are becoming better known. All prices are firmer at quotations, and in some lines, particularly salmon, higher prices are expected. We quote: Peas, 90c.; corn, 95c.; tomatoes, $1; corned beef, $2 60 to $2.75; oysters, $2.10 to $2.15; lobsters, $1.75 to $2; salmon, talls, $1.35 to $1.40; peaches, 2's, $2; 3's, $2 50 to $2.60; new canned apples, $2.40; haddies, $1.40.

DRIED FRUIT—California loose muscatels do not continue as firm as was expected; in fact, higher prices were looked for, which so far have not arrived, and good 3-crown goods are now offered here from New York at a price which, when landed, will be very little, if any, higher than the lowest bought direct shipment, in quantities not less than a carload. The layers continue scarce, but, Christmas being past, the demand will now be light. The merchants here, feeling that 50 lb. boxes were rather large, and not being able to import the loose muscatels in smaller boxes at a right price, have themselves put them up in neat 7 pound boxes. Of late quite large quantities of Valencia and Valencia layers have been received here from New York. Prices and quality have compared well with the direct shipment received. In citron the market is bare. A little more could have been sold, but a short stock is better than a too large one, as sales after the holidays are small. In dried and evaporated apples, demand is but fair and prices easy. French prunes appear a favorite this season, prices and quality being considered rather better than the Persian. Loose muscatels, 4-crown, 5¾ to 6c.; 3-crown, 5 to 5¼c.; Sultanas, 6½ to 7c.; California clusters, $2.25 to $2.50; London layers, $2.20 to $2.25; Valencias, 4¼ to 4½c.; Valencia layers, 5¼ to 5½c.; French prunes, large boxes, 5¼ to 5½c.; small boxes, 9 to 11c; currants, bbls., 3¼ to 3½c.; cases, 3¾ to 4c.; cleaned, 5 to 6c.; 1-lb. cartoons, 6¾ to 7c.; figs, 11 to 18c.; dates, 5 to 5½c.; evaporated apples, 8½ to 9c.; dried apples, 5¾ to 6½c.; nuts show no change.

GREEN FRUIT—For some reason all apples appear poor keepers this season. Your correspondent was shown a carload of Bishop pippins received by a commission man, and, though beautiful apples, they showed such signs of poor keeping that even low prices would not induce storekeepers to buy, except in very small lots, and among them what looked to be beautiful apples had to be sold at auction. Real hard fruit is scarce and brings good price. In oranges large quantities are now coming forward and lower prices may be looked for. Good Malaga grapes are scarce and higher. We quote: Apples, soft fruit, $1 to $1.50; hard fruit, $2 to $2.50; lemons, Messina, $4 to $5; Malaga grapes, 5 to 6c.; Florida oranges, $3 to $3.50; West India, repicked, $4.50 to $5; Nova Scotia cider, $2 to $2.25 per bbl.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Eggs are slow sale and price is rather weaker. Stocks are not, however, large. Butter continues to keep in good supply. Demand is, however, light. Though good is rather scarce, the quantity of poor in the market keeps prices down. Creamery has fair demand. Roll, when good and fresh, brings good prices and finds ready sales. Cheese, though firm, moves slowly. It is expected the demand when the quiet season is over will induce good prices, as stocks are not large. We quote: Eggs, 17½ to 18c.; dairy butter, 18 to 20c.; creamery, 21 to 22c.; fresh rolls, 25 to 26c.; cheese, 10½ to 11c.

MOLASSES—Prices are firm, and the fact that the crop at the West Indies is reported late means higher prices just through the holidays. Demand light, but, with the demand which must come, holders are hoping for a profit. It is to be hoped they will not be disappointed, for many lines have this year shown but little margin, and in some sales have been made through the season on a continually falling market. We quote: Barbadoes, 32 to 33c.; Porto Rico, 32 to 35c.; fancy, 43 to 44c.; syrup, 30 to 35c.

SUGAR—The war between the retailers, spoken of in our last report, is over. It did not stop too soon. One of its evil effects was noticed in the fact that one dealer did not give as much weight as he advertised. As in everything, quite a difference is noticed in the lots of foreign granulated coming into this market. Some being much better sugar than others, buyers when getting prices should not forget to look at quality. Market is weak, and sales at cut prices are reported. We quote: Granulated, 4 to 4⅛c.; yellows, 3¼ to 3½c.; German granulated, 3¾ to 4c.; powdered sugar, 6 to 6¼c.; Paris lump, 6 to 6¼c.

FISH—If this cold weather only holds, a large movement in frozen fish will be the result, as the fishermen are meeting with good luck. Smoked herring continue very low. This is somewhat made up by the firmness in pickled fish. In cod and other dried fish prices are as last week. We quote: Medium cod, $3.50 to $3.75; small, $3 to $3 25; large, $3.80 to $3.90; haddock, $1.75; pollock, $1.65 to $1.75; shad, $5 to $5.50; bay herring, $1.50 $1.60; Shelburne, $4 to $4 25; half-barrels, $2.40 to $2.50; Canso, bbls., $5 25; smoked herring, 7 to 7½c.

PROVISIONS—Local packers report splendid business, though at low prices. Importations have not been near as large this fall as usual, demand being rather light. Prices are easy. We quote: Clear pork, $18.50 to $19; mess pork, $16.50 to $17; prime mess, $13 to $13.50; plate beef, $12.75 to $13; pure lard, 9¾ to 10c.; compound, 8½ to 9c.; cottolene, 9¾ to 10¼c.

ST. JOHN MARKET NOTES.

The St. John correspondent wishes the readers of THE GROCER the compliments of the season.

T. S. Simms received a large quantity of broom corn from the west this week. It came via schooner from Boston.

Said a prominent broker to THE GROCER the other day: "Your paper has shown a wonderful improvement during the last few years."

C. & E. Macmichael, making it a point to keep the best goods only, are glad to be able to recommend their last shipment of dates, just to hand.

Theodore H. Estabrooks, having succeeded in picking up a choice lot of Barbadoes molasses at a fair figure, is now open to give his customers the benefit of his fortunate find.

Northrup & Co. having received a few barrels of extra Porto Rico molasses, are able to supply those wanting small packages. They also have the larger packages when these are wanted.

J. Hunter White has been appointed agent for the fruit improver of Messrs. Beamer & Ryan, for this province. The large sales and the satisfaction this machine has given in the west cause him to look forward to a good demand.

Brokers might say, with the policeman, "that their lot is not a happy one." They are between the upper and nether millstone. At one time it is the producers, who, after the broker has spent time, trouble, and expense in putting their goods before the public, and is beginning to get some reward, take away the agency, and the broker has simply been made a convenience. Again the buyer, after using him to get prices and information, orders direct, and again the broker is only a convenience.

The remarks in St. John market reports in regard to the California loose muscatel packages is said by the importers here to have been the right thing in the right place, and all unite in the wish that they may meet the eyes of the packers and result in an improvement.

Some time ago the Canadian oil people fixed a price for both the wholesaler and retailer. During the past week they have advanced the price another ¼c., making an advance of ½c. since the arrangement. But as far as THE GROCER could find out, the retailer is supposed to stand the loss of the advance, as his selling price remains the same.

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER,
HALIFAX, Dec. 27, 1894.

THE holiday trade is fairly over. The open weather did not help it, and the panic in Newfoundland threw additional stocks on the market, which tended to lighten prices. This was particularly noticeable in the provision and fruit lines. The monthly shipments of poultry, beef, etc., by Halifax dealers, to Newfoundland, averages $2,000. This, with what was in transit from other parts of the province and which was thrown upon this market, made stocks too plentiful for comfort, and prices came down. Alderman John Ryan is a shrewd dealer, and while prices were low he made big purchases. The day before Christmas the dealers found themselves low in stocks, but Mr. Ryan was able to supply them, which he did at quite a profit. He disposed of nearly two tons of poultry in three hours. The market is now bare. Private advices from St. John's show a more hopeful state of affairs. Merchants there who handle goods for Halifax houses write that they expect to be able to remit in a short time. Halifax merchants have every reliance in their Newfoundland brethren, and state they are willing to give them all the time they require.

BREADSTUFFS—Stocks remain light, and there is no activity in demand. Oatmeal remains steady and firm. Bran and middlings remain at last week's quotations of $20 to $20.50 per ton for the former and $21.50 to $22 for the latter. Quotations

FLOUR AND FEED

IT is to be noted that bags of flour are quite an effect in holiday window dressing in Toronto.

During a recent discussion before the British Medical Association it was repeatedly stated that flour began to deteriorate soon after it was ground. A contributor to The British Baker, Confectioner and Purveyor holds decidedly different opinions, and writes: "In this connection it is important to note the opinion almost universally held by both millers and bakers, that flour definitely improves by keeping. No doubt such improvement depends more or less on the character of the flour and also on the conditions of storage. Damp warehouses, in which evil odors of any kind are present, will injure any flour whatever, and it may be safely laid down that deterioration commences the very moment flour is subjected to such conditions. But given dry, airy stores, with ventilation between the bags or sacks, then in almost every case the flour improves for some time. To start with, the moisture of the flour itself dries off, and this is an advantage; the color improves more or less (perhaps not to such an extent as the miller would have us believe). Stored under such conditions, there is no agency at work which tends to injure or decompose sound flour; and often a miller will ask for an enhanced price for a parcel of flour, simply because it has acquired age."

The record has again been broken. We told last month how the Duluth Imperial Mill had made a run of 7,900 barrels in 24 hours; and we awarded it the belt. But now we will have to take the belt back and give it to the Pillsbury "A" once more, which, on Monday, November 19, turned out 9,551 barrels of flour. This thing is getting as interesting as lowering the records of the Atlantic liners. We suppose the end of the contest has not yet been reached.—Modern Miller.

THE MARKETS.

TORONTO.

WHEAT—Keeps firm and quiet. We quote: White, 62c.; red, 61½c.; goose, 58½c.

FLOUR—Business is still confined to odd lots at unchanged prices. We quote: Ontario straight roller, $2.65 to $2.70; Manitoba bakers', $3.40; patents, $3.65 to $3.70.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Demand is fair at steady prices. We quote: Standard and granulated oatmeal, $3.85; rolled oats, $3.75 to $3.85; rolled wheat, $2.10 in 100 lb. barrels; cornmeal, $3.50; split peas and pot barley, $3.75 per barrel.

OATS—Firm and quiet at 32½c.

BARLEY—Steady and higher at 44 to 46½c.

MONTREAL.

The demand for flour to-day on local and country account was good, and an active business is reported in Manitoba grades at the recent advance in prices. The tone of the market is strong for the above grades, and a further rise in prices is looked for in the near future, owing to the continued strong and advancing wheat markets in Winnipeg. We quote: Winter wheat, $3.50 to $3.75; spring wheat, patents, $3.50 to $3.65; straight roller, $2.85 to $3; extra, $2.65 to $2.70; superfine, $2.50 to $2.60; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.40 to $3.75. There is a firmer feeling in the feed market, but prices are unchanged as yet. The demand is improving and a larger volume of business doing. We quote: Ontario bran, $16 to $16.50; Manitoba bran, $17; shorts, $18; mouillie, $20 to $22. The demand for oatmeal is slow and the market is quiet and steady. We quote: Standard, bbls., $3.50 to $3.65; granulated, bbls., $3.60 to $3.75; rolled oats, bbls., $3.75 to $3.85.

ST. JOHN, N.B.

In flour demand continues rather improved, and though many are still found who say prices will again be lower, they find that to meet present wants markets are firmer. There is quite a difference in the prices asked by different millers for the same grades of flour. Middlings continue firmer with fair demand. Beans are rather lower here than Ontario prices would seem to warrant, and an advance is looked for. In cornmeal price is firm at quotations, with fair sales. Oats and oatmeal are firm. Hay is slow and low. We quote: Manitoba flour, $4.10 to $4.25; best Ontario, $3.50 to $3.60; medium, $3.30 to $3.40; oatmeal, $4 to $4.10; Western grey buckwheat, $2.25; cornmeal, $3 to $3.10; granulated, $3.50 to $3.60; middlings, on track, $19.50 to $20.50; bran $18 to $18 50; oats on track, local, 35 to 37c.; Ontario, 40 to 42c.; beans, $1.45 to $1.50; split peas, $3.65 to $3.85; round, $3.65 to $3.75; pot barley, $4 to $4.10; hay, on track, $9.50 to $10.50.

FISH—Beyond a slight stiffening in dried fish, the market is very dull. There is nothing doing either in the export or local trade, and low prices continue. We quote, tol quol: Prime shore cod, $3.25 to $3.75; bay cod, $3 to $3.25 for small and $4 to $4.25 for large. No. 1, West India market fall herring are down to $2; No. 1 alewives, $2.75; mackerel (city inspection), No. 1, $14, No. 2 $12, extras $16

PROVISIONS—There is nothing doing in beef or mutton, and there will not be for the next week. No stocks are offering, and there is no demand. Some P.E. Island hogs sold for 6c. to-day.

POULTRY—The market is now bare. Turkeys are selling at 12½c. to jobbers and 14½ to 15½c. retail. Geese are worth 10c. per lb., and chickens, 35 to 45c. per pair.

EGGS—There is a fairly good demand for eggs. Cases are selling at 20c., and choice as high as 35c.

BUTTER—There is a lot of very fine Canadian in the market which is selling for 19 to 20c. Some domestic has been received, but it is very inferior.

GREEN FRUIT—This line remains as last week. Florida oranges are coming in freely and of good quality. They remain at $2.50 to $3. Valencias are not plentiful, and sell readily at $4.50 to $4.65. Messina lemons are worth $4.50, poor stock selling at $4 and less. Malaga grapes are selling at $5.50 to $6 for good stock. American 5-lb. baskets sell at 25c. The apple market remains quiet. There is lots of fruit in the market, which can be purchased all the way from $1 to $2.25 per bbl. There is a steamer here loading for London, which will take about 20,000 bbls.

POTATOES—The schooner trade is over and dealers only have light supplies. Calicoes are quoted at 30 to 32c.

DRIED FRUITS AND NUTS—This is the most active line at present and the most staple. Quotations are: Box figs, 13 to 13½c.; bag figs, 5c.; evaporated apples, 2c.; new dates, 6c.; prunes, 6 to 7c. Almonds remain at 14c.. filberts 10c., walnuts 10 to 11c.; Brazils 11 to 12c.; peanuts, roasted, 12c., raw 10c.

SUGARS—There is nothing doing in sugars. Quotations are: Pulverized, 6 to 7c.; granulated, 4 to 4½c.; extra C., 3¾ to 3⅞c., standard, 3⅝ to 3¾c.; yellow, extra C., 3½c.; yellow C., 3¾c.

MOLASSES—Stocks are easier, and so is the demand. A prominent West India importer said to THE GROCER to-day that it did not seem to matter whether there was any article on the market or not. Low stocks never seem to affect the prices. The low price of sugar is relegating the molasses trade entirely to the woods. Quotations are: Trinidad, 28 to 30c.; Porto Rico, 32c.; fancy do., 33c.; Demerara, M.R., 36c.

HALIFAX MARKET NOTES.

The Christmas trade was only an average one. Travelers report business slow through the province. The city trade was good.

The statement that Nova Scotia partridges were selling in the Upper Provinces at a low price is not entirely correct. Partridges were decidedly scarce here this year and brought good prices.

THE GROCER asked Messrs. Hessian & Devine to-day if there was anything doing on this market in gallon apples. They said there was very little doing. On account of the low price of native apples, it is impossible to get people to buy the canned article.

This is the season when unique ideas are developed. The Mechanics' Supply Co., of Quebec, has not been backward in this respect, as is demonstrated by a foot rule in cardboard which it has issued. One side is an almanac, and on the other is inscribed inches up to twelve and centimetres up to thirty. The rule is nicely designed, and folds in a size convenient for the pocket.

THEY BUY EARLIER.

J. S. Leighton, of Orangeville, was in Toronto on Wednesday. "The holiday trade has been fair," he said to THE GROCER, "but we have not experienced that rush this season that we did in years gone by. The fact of the matter is, people do not now leave the making of their purchases to the last few days preceding Christmas. They now begin a week or so earlier than they did, thus spreading their purchases over a longer period."

CONCERNING RETAILERS.

W. H. Ryckman & Co., grocers, Hamilton, have a branch store at London under the management of one of their clerks, named Harris.

Harry Pethwick, better known as "Little Harry," and Charles Tuttle, grocers, Orillia, were partially burned out the other evening. Both places are closed for repairs.

Mr. East, who bought out the Cannington stock of the insolvent J. H. Strickland estate, is selling the goods off by auction.

E. B. Morgan & Son are said to have one of the best-dressed grocery windows in Oshawa.

J. H. Strickland & Co. have opened up in a small way in Cannington in the old post-office building.

SICILY FILBERTS.

PROSPECTS in Sicily filberts have improved during the week by the purchase of some 500 bags, this parcel having been held by an outside importer who had no legitimate channel through which to distribute the goods. With the knowledge that this parcel awaited a market, and that the holder was desirous of closing up the account previous to the ending of the year, a pressure was brought to bear upon the jobbing price which tended to weaken the local situation, and produce a feeling of weariness upon the holder of the invoice. From 6½ to 7c. the market was lowered by fractions until the jobbing price touched 6¼c. During this receding period overtures were made for the sale of this last remaining block in first hands, but the prospective buyers when interviewed simply pointed to the sagging tendency of the market, and lowered their bids to correspond. Though persistent effort was made by the importer to stay the current against him, arguments being brought forth to show the strength and favorable statistical position abroad, the counter fact of a fairly liberal supply among local holders was presented, and this, coupled with a seeming indifference to additional quantities, was influence sufficient to change the tide in the interest of buyers. With this parcel hanging over the market, the situation was given an easy appearance, but, when once obtained, the grand transformation took place, and the market is now reported as strong, with an advancing tendency. Though no special activity has been noticed in this class of fruit during the season now closing, yet a steady regular distribution has been going on, and in the aggregate a large quantity has been distributed. The stock in this market today is placed at a liberal estimate to not exceed 2,000 bags, while some regard 1,600 as fully representing the available quantity. From Messina we learn from reliable sources that the sales of new crop this season have reached a total of 50,000 bags, which leaves a remaining stock of about 11,000 bags, certainly a very limited quantity for this period of the year. In view of this heavy reduction, the market there has been showing a stronger tendency of late, with an appreciation cabled to 35s., or, say, a bare cost to import of 6c. When it is considered that the annual consumption of this country alone is 20,000 to 25,000 bags, the strength of the present situation can readily be discovered. Though the Sicily product is given the preference by the majority of consumers upon this side, there is some call for the fancy long nut from Naples. Of this variety some 1,500 to 2,000 bags are imported annually, though none in the trade are accustomed to carrying any considerable quantity at one time, the comparatively high cost and limited sale acting as a check upon any large ventures. The imports since September 1 have been 15,110 bags, and the total quantity now in transit is 800 bags.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

DRY GOODS.

TORONTO MARKET.

A QUIETNESS has settled down on the wholesale houses this week and made itself quite noticeable. The holiday trade is over, and the cold snap came three days too late to make furs enjoy a spirited movement. Retailers are this week pushing out slow sellers and broken lots and are not buying anything. There is absolutely no sorting trade.

The city retail trade have had an excellent month. They were prepared to accept less than they received last year, and were agreeably surprised by the spiritedness of buyers. True, the sales were small and in many cases trivial, but the number of buyers was quite up to the usual standard. People bought sparingly, carefully and lightly, but, nevertheless, they bought.

All attention, in the wholesale houses, is now being turned to spring lines. Domestic goods of some kinds are being received from the mills and opened up. Colored cottons are coming in, and such lines as white and colored shirts, prints, etc., are being passed into stock or cased and stored ready for later shipment.

Most buyers leave next week for European markets to look up fall goods. Millinery buyers are still busy with spring fashions.

AN EXPLANATION.

Mr. H. J. Bray, Sr., states that some of the statements made in last week's GROCER in reference to his son's affairs were not altoge her correct. The writ issued by the Rossport Fish Co. was, he claims, for $453 instead of $1,583, as it appeared in the lists of one of the commercial agencies, and as THE GROCER stated. He furthermore states that the account was a disputed one, the Rossport Company having made a breach of contract in not supplying his son with fish in proportion to the catch as stipulated in the agreement. "As far as the rest of the article is concerned, all I can say," added Mr. Bray, "is that my son has sufficient assets to pay all he owes; that is, I mean there is enough due him to meet all his liabilities; and as these accounts are being collected I am paying off the bills."

ADDING A PROFIT.

How shall a profit be calculated on a heating job after the cost has been estimated? asks an exchange. Shall it simply be a lump addition, or should some other method be used? After a season when the shop has been busy and several men have been employed the employer often wears a long face because the profits expected fail to materialize. Has he considered rent, interest, insurance, light, heat, power, boy, horse and salesmen in the cost of every bid he has made, besides a generous allowance for the unexpected which is said to always happen? If he has not, it is quite probable that they have eaten up what he added for a profit. They must be counted in the cost, then a percentage added on for a profit, in preference to a lump which is largely guesswork. If a percentage plan is followed there is less probability of losing some jobs by the price being too high, and, what is worse, losing money on others by the price being too low. The percentage to be put on will require some judgment in determining the amount, as a larger business will reduce the amount each job will have to bear of the fixed expenses. In some cases it may be good business policy to reduce the profit to keep the shop going, but they are rare; in other cases to raise the profit, so as to lose the work of a poor payer. Without the profit, however satisfactory the work and however popular the house, business failure must sooner or later be the outcome.

MAKING THE DISCOUNT.

THERE is nothing that pleases a wholesale dealer more than to have his customers make the discount, says a writer in an exchange This refers to the special discounts given for cash payments, and is true, though a reduction in the profit on the sale is one of the results. A case in which the d scount was made recently, however, while very clever, has brought no comfort to the wholesaler. Two concerns, whose wares are used by the same class of trade without conflict of interests, have their office and salesroom together. A man came in one morning and asked to see the line of goods that occupies the greater portion of the showroom. A salesman sold him quite a bill, for which he paid cash, showing a business card from a business house in a nearby town, and as he had taken an interest in the construction, management, and proper setting of the goods, he gave the impression of a live dealer. He asked more questions than usual of a pertinent character, and showed intelligence and enterprise in preparing to do a larger business in the line of goods being investigated, so an extra discount was given him as an incentive to continue his dealings. While he was talking with the salesman the goods of the other concern were being shown to another buyer and attracted his attention. He was introduced to the manager by the salesman, and again his intelligence and interest secured him the discount, and paying his bill he stated he would send the local express for the goods the next day, which he did. In praising his intelligence to a third party the man whose card was presented heard of it and said he had never been in the place and knew nothing of the transa tion. He never had any use for such goods, as his work was not in that line. It was clearly evident that someone had impersonated him profitably, but, as the bills had been paid, he could not see where he had suffered. The imposter had made the discount with two bright business men and good salesmen. Efforts to secure trade prices by outs ders are not unusual, but are seldom successful, and those in the trade are often unable to make the discount because of the long credit they ask for.

A PHENOMENAL TELEGRAPHER.

The little village of Brechin, North Ontario, has a phenomenon in the shape of a youthful telegraph operator. His name is Howard W. Byam, and is only 8 years of age, yet he is an expert telegrapher, sending off and receiving messages with the sang froid of an old-timer at the keys. His father is the station agent at Brechin, having succeeded the old and respected Wilfred Gaudrie. Young Howard is the father's right-hand man, and one of the attractions of the passengers who are waiting for their trains is to watch the precocious boy, mounted on a high stool, manipulating the "ticker."

YOUR MONEY OR YOUR GOODS.

There is a certain class of grocers who will not be staying up all New Year's eve, wondering where the money is to come from to carry on business for 1895, and they are the grocers who sell for cash.

They have either got the money or the goods, whereas many a credit grocer, this holiday season, has neither got the goods nor will get the money for those goods, which by this time have been resolved by the chemistry of nature into other elements, and are not returnable.

It seems to us that there must be a great deal of pure philanthropy in the breasts of those grocers who persist in supporting entire families in whom they have not the slightest interest, and sometimes scarcely know; and yet this is exactly what the credit grocer does.

He not only loses the profit on the goods he sells, but he must also pay the principal on those goods to his jobber.

What a splendid time it is to change from such a losing style of transacting business by adopting a strictly cash basis for the coming year.

We warrant you there will be no desire to return to a credit basis, after a few months' trial of exclusively cash sales.

For cash is the golden rule.—Cash Grocer, Philadelphia.

THE DRUMMER'S ORDEAL.

MY fellow-passenger drew a long breath through the cigar stump between his teeth until it burned like a crematory furnace, and enveloped me in a haze of smoke; then he lighted his third cigar, settled himself back in his seat, and began:

"Six years ago this coming January 19th I reached Spikers Station on the 5.14 train in the afternoon. I was traveling for a wholesale grocery firm, and was engaged in working among the stores in this part of the State. Spikers is a little place.

"Only one local train a day stops here. The place consists of a forlorn station, a few poor frame dwellings, a store kept by a Scotchman, a saloon and a blacksmith shop. This, you know, is a sparsely-settled region. At intervals in the broad expanse of scrubby woods there are small farms and an occasional ore bank or sawmill upon which the few inhabitants depend for their livelihood.

"I got off the train and hurried over to the store. As it was already dark the place was filled with loafers, rough-looking fellows, who stared in a vacant way as I unpacked my sample cases and spread the goods upon the counter. I knew the storekeeper and had no trouble in selling him a bill, so that when I finished business with him at the end of an hour, I felt amply repaid for my trouble. Then I began to look about for a place to spend the night.

"I found that the Pittsburgh express stopped at Schmucker's Junction, three miles up the track, and that by good, brisk walking I would be able to catch it comfortably. I made arrangements to have my cases sent on by the local train next day, and then took my leave, after having received explicit directions to follow the beaten path along the railroad.

"As I left the store I noticed, but did not heed, the sinister glances that three of the loafers who were sprawled along the counter cast upon me.

"It was a clear night; the moon was just rising above the mountains in the east; the air was cold and crisp and the ground frozen hard. In a few moments I passed the last house, reached the railroad, and was reeling off rod after rod of the hard white path that stretched before me. I soon arrived at the woods and was plunging deep into their heart. I had set for myself a brisk, bracing pace, and at first felt not the slightest uneasiness at my lonely condition, dark and forbidding though the woods seemed. When I had gone about a mile and a half I found myself within a few yards of what appeared to be a wood road, that wound out from among the trees, crossed the track, and then lost itself in the blackness on the other side.

"I had just passed this road, when I was startled by the sudden sound of a footfall behind me, and, before I could turn, two horny hands had seized my throat and held me fast. I tried to cry out, but my effort was stopped by a firm clutch of the strong fingers. Then two men appeared, and in another instant I lay helpless on the ground.

"The three ruffians were big, burly fellows, so heavily muffled up that, beyond a few stray whiskers, I could make out nothing of their faces. All my efforts at kicking and struggling proved vain. One sat on my legs and coolly tied my feet; another bound my arms, and then the clutch on my throat was loosened, and I was allowed to breathe. In a few moments they had taken everything of any value on my person—a watch and my money; not much, only a few hundred dollars.

"This done I thought I would be allowed to go, but reckoned wrongly. One seized my hands and another my feet and then laid me across the track. My horror knew no bounds when I realized what this meant. One of the brutes tied my feet hard down to the rails. I begged and threatened, pleaded and expostulated, offered them a reward for my release, and dire vengeance if they left me there, but in vain. They coolly wrapped the rope round and round my ankles and under the rail, and then, fastening my arms at the elbow, they proceeded to secure my body.

"The tighter I felt the rope drawing to hold me until the express freed me from the track and the world the more I pleaded. The final answer was a blow on the mouth and the information that they wasn't going to have me telling tales. Then they left me.

"I heard the rattle of wagon wheels as they drove away. And then I was alone. I twisted and tore and writhed, in my frantic efforts to free myself, until exhausted. Time passed slowly. I pictured myself lying in pieces along the track.

"At last I heard a ringing in the rails, a low, plaintive ringing that told me that the express was coming. In a few moments and it would be on to me. I twisted and writhed in one last desperate struggle for freedom. I tore and kicked until the ropes cut deep into the flesh, and my clothes where the thongs were grew hot from friction.

"The ringing became louder, until at last it developed into a roar. I looked down the track and saw the faint gleam of the headlight as the engine rounded a curve. One more minute!

"Frantically I struggled. Nearer and nearer came the flying train; louder and louder became the roar and ringing in the rails—so loud that it drowned my wild screams. The headlight was blinding me—all was over. No. I continued to struggle. Then I felt a burning sensation in my legs—a terrible heat—and an odor of burning clothing followed. I raised my head and the gleam of a flame met my eyes. There was a sudden flash, and in an instant my feet were enveloped in fire. I realized it then—the friction of the thongs, in my tremendous struggles, had set fire to my trousers.

"Suddenly, almost miraculously, the ropes unloosed—they had burned off, and my feet were free. I raised myself on my back and waved my blazing legs in the air. There was a whistle for down brakes, a jarring of the rails as the wheels slipped over them—the headlight was right over me, blinding me by its brilliancy—but too late! I felt the cow-catcher's nose gently rub my back and then it stopped. I was saved!

"The whole train crew and all the passengers rushed up. In a few seconds the fire was extinguished, and I was carried by kind hands into one of the cars. Ah! that was a terrible experience. I hope I may never have another such."

"So do I," I joined in heartily.

The speaker paid no attention to me, but continued: "I lost fifteen pounds in fifteen minutes, a gold watch, and $300. My trousers, a new pair not yet paid for, were burned into knickerbockers. The bruises I recovered from. It was just six years ago, and ——"

He blew out a great puff of cigar smoke and was about to continue when above the buzz of conversation and rattle of the train arose the nasal tones of a farmer in the seat behind us as he exclaimed to his companion:

"Et do beat all th' way this 'ere kentry's growin', Sam. Two years ago they wasn't a house or store at Spiker's Station, an' now its gettin' quite a place.—Evening Sun.

WHY CUT PRICES ON STAPLES?

We cannot but wonder more and more, remarks a contemporary, as we consider certain phases of the retail grocery business, why it is the retail grocery puts out self-selling goods as leaders, instead of that class of goods on which the margin would justify him in making a drive. If the retailer must cut prices to win trade, is it not a part of ordinary wisdom and mercantile common sense to make drives in the direction of developing a line of trade that cannot be developed without hard pushing, but which, when developed, brings large returns? There is no consumer who must not have flour, sugar, bread and oil, and yet these are the very goods that retail grocers cut the quickest of all. They are goods which sell themselves and do not need pushing; it is not necessary to make a drive on them in order to have the consumer buy them; the consumer must buy them. On the other hand, there are lines of canned goods, and other fancy groceries, that consumers do not need to buy, and, in order to develop trade in them, it seems to us that the retail grocer might have some reason for cutting prices, if he is ever justified in cutting. Moreover, he can afford to cut such goods, because the margins permit, and yet evidences multiply continually that the retail trade cut only to cut off their noses.

CAPE COD CRANBERRIES.

THERE is a general misconception of the natural advantages and disadvantages of Cape Cod, which, known from its shape as "the right arm of Massachusetts," extends over sixty miles into the Atlantic Ocean very much like the arm of a boxer when on guard, except that the hand is open and not clenched, says St. Paul Trade Journal.

At its extremity it boasts of few trees, and little fertility, and along its whole northern and much of its southern shores huge sand-dunes and long levels covered only with beach grass, beach plums, high-bush cranberries, and whortleberries, speak of the additions made by ages of wave and wind, and sometimes of invasion of what where once green meadows, fields and forests. In the main, however, these sand hills, held together by the strong, wiry roots of the beach grass, have preserved the more fertile salt marshes, low meadows, and peat swamps, ancient farms, and still more ancient wooded lands of the interior. Not over thirty miles at its broadest part, it is a curious fact that a large proportion of "the cape" has never been devoted to cultivation since the first settlement of the pilgrims at Manomet, about 1622. The lands along the coast are seldom cleared more than two or three miles back from the low meadows, which are belted with peat swamps and broad salt marshes, traversed by tidal creeks, and protected by sand hills from the sea beyond. Across this narrow peninsula sweep the moist sea breezes, giving a milder climate than elsewhere exists in Massachusetts, and generally ample rains and heavy dews. The soil is usually light and easily worked, although heavier clayey loams and deposits of peat exist in due proportion, and the orchard has always been an important resource of the farmers of the upper part of the peninsula.

The peat swamp, cleared of its trees, vines and upper soil, covered with clean sand, and diked and ditched to allow of prompt overflow or sufficient drainage, and the low meadows and salt marshes, cut off from the high tides by dikes, with huge water-gates and tide-valves, are the main sources of wealth of the Cape Cod cultivator, and in 1892 produced over 200,000 barrels of cranberries, averaging $4.50 per barrel, or about $900,000 to $1,000,000. This year the crop has not much exceeded 50,000 barrels, but these are selling in the best grades at from $10 to $13.

This unexpected shortage is due to three causes, or rather to three separate results from one general cause, i.e., the unexampled drought of the past summer. This, in the first place, lessened the growth of the vines and the full development of the berry in the higher plantations. Then the cranberry worm began its ravages, and there was often a lack of water in the upper springs, and the vines could not be flooded and the worms drowned; and then early frosts, which would have been innocuous had the land been wet, as is usual, took a large proportion of the ungathered berries.

The result has been a shorter crop of cranberries than has been known for over thirty years, and the loss is a serious one. It is certain that prices will be maintained until the present stock is exhausted, and it may be that even higher prices will be realized.

CROSS-LAKE TRAFFIC.

Rumors are prevalent of enterprises to establish a ferry system between some port in Ohio and Port Dover or Rondeau, in the one case to connect with the Grand Trunk, and in the other with the Lake Erie and Huron. It is believed that there are possibilities of working up a large cross-lake traffic in coal, and it seems probable that the next season of navigation will witness a regular freight service to some port on the north shore of Lake Erie. It is to be hoped that Messrs. Walker will succeed in making Port Stanley the objective point of this traffic. The London and Port Stanley road is well adapted to act as a feeder to other roads entering St. Thomas and London, and when the L. E. & D. R. R. is completed from Ridgetown to St. Thomas, the Walkers will have an opportunity of reaching the western part of the peninsula over their own line.—Journal, St. Thomas.

Ira Marks and Richard Bennett were in the grocery business on College street, Toronto, and Marks retired. Bennett sued him for an account of business transactions, but the judge of the Common Pleas Division relieved him of this trouble.

A. A. Allan, McMaster & Co., and John Caulder & Co., of Hamilton, have begun action to restrain Samson, Kennedy & Co. from proceeding to sell the stock of Brown, Waite & Co. at Smith's Falls under a chattel mortgage for $3.370.

A writ has been issued by E. B. Eddy against Geo. C. Taylor, who formerly traded under the style of Taylor, Scott & Co. Taylor failed and assigned. Eddy held claims against the estate for over $3,000. They only realized about $1,000, and now he is suing for the balance—$2,153.

The Bank of Montreal is expected to supply the support necessary for a reconstruction of the Union Bank, St. John's, Nfld., the Commercial Bank being hopelessly ruined. The People's Bank of Halifax has abandoned all attempts to begin business there, owing, it is alleged, to the obstructions thrown in its way by a combine of merchants who are interested in the Union Bank, and who, it is charged, want to control the whole commercial situation in the future.

The McClary Manufacturing Co, M. Masuret & Co., and several other prominent business men of London, sent W. M. Gartshore to Toronto to attend the sale of the steamer Persia. It was the intention of the London syndicate to buy the vessel, to be used as a freighter between Port Stanley and Montreal. Nine thousand dollars was offered by Mr. Gartshore, beyond which the London people declined to go, the boat selling for $9,700.

The report of the Department of Customs at Washington, for the quarter ending Sept. 30th, 1894, shows exports from Collingwood, Ont., to exceed $850,000, a larger amount than is shown from any other town in Canada, Montreal not excepted, as that city only shows an export to the United States for the same time of $550,000 in round figures. These figures are taken from advance sheets issued officially by the department in Washington.

The London correspondent of The Edinburg Scotsman says: "From time to time rumors have been current that, in consequence of its greatly reduced net earnings, the Grand Trunk Railway Co. of Canada would be unable to meet the interest on its debentures. I am, however, in a position to state that, notwithstanding that the net earnings to date are about £100,000 short of the interest, funds have been provided to make up the deficiency, and that the directors will, in the course of the next few days announce the payment on the due date."

CINNAMON FIRM.

Later advices report the foreign markets for cinnamon as very firm, and stimulating influences are found in an extract from The Overland Ceylon Observer, which states that "the deficient rainfall in 1892, which resulted last season in one of the smallest crops on record, has also had a disastrous effect on the outturn for the current season, the growth of the bushes having been seriously affected. Crop prospects have been rendered still more unfavorable owing to harvesting operations having been hindered by insufficient rain the latter part of the year. It is, therefore, likely that the crop 1893-94 will also be below the average. Owing to the persistent low price of the bark, which not very long ago sold locally for a rupee and more per pound, cinnamon has lost favor with the villagers, and in those cocoanut gardens, which in the days of high prices were planted up with the fragrant laurel to the detriment of the existing palms, the work of uprooting it had gradually gone on for years, till it received an impetus in the extraordinary advance in the price of cocoanuts in 1893. Scarcely any cinnamon is now to be seen in the village where it had been planted in every available spot up to the very threshold of the dwellings. In the Negombo district generally, even on some of the larger high-class estates whose spice has a reputation in the London market, cinnamon has been and is being superseded by cocoanuts where the soil is considered suitable for the latter, and the acreage under the former has decreased year by year." Another report states that "the cinnamon bushes have not had a decent flush of young wood for nobody knows how long, and the sticks are in consequence stunted in growth, thick in the bark, and most difficult to peel."

REGARDING CANADIAN CHEESE.

Canadian cheese exporters are inclined to re ent the complaints which British importers have brought against them. They will, we think, be much wiser to see exactly what it is in the method of shipment as adopted in Canada of which their friends here disapprove, and give friendly attention to the demand for the marking of each cheese with the date of its make. The cheese trade with this country has been built up with a care and foresight which does Canada great credit, and we are sure that when the complaints are understood in Montreal a sensible desire will be shown to meet the reasonable demands of the British market.

Speaking of cheese recalls the fact that a very interesting development is taking place in the Canadian trade. Australasian cheese-makers are doing their best to secure as good a foothold in British markets as Canada has gained. What, we wonder, will they say when they find Canadian cheese reaching their home markets? The other day, so The Montreal Trade Bulletin tells us, Messrs. Kirkwood & McKinnon, of Sudbury, Ontario, sent a sample lot from their stock to Sydney, New South Wales, and now learn that the analysis of this cheese at Sydney proves it to be 5 per cent. richer than the best New South Wales cheese, known as Bodella, which took the prize at the Agricultural Exhibition at Sydney The fame of Sudbury is evidently not to be dependent alone upon nickel ores and copper mines.—Canadian Gazette, London.

FAILED AFTER THIRTY YEARS.

To be in business thirty years and then fail is hard. Yet this is the fate that has just befallen a Butterley (England) grocer named John Farnsworth. The insolvent began business thirty years ago, having succeeded his father as a grocer. The business was then solvent, and he had £200 of his own. In 1887 he made a composition, and paid 5s. 6d. in the £. His liabilities then amounted to between £600 and £700. He went on trading, but kept only a day book. He found he was insolvent twelve months ago, during the miners' strike. His losses on bad debts amounted to £344. His trade depended almost solely on the workmen of the Butterley Steel and Iron Co., but consequent upon the coal strike, the men were out of work.

TO KEEP OUT SPURIOUS TEAS.

A movement is on foot in the United States to inaugurate a more uniform system for the inspection of teas. "I have," said Inspector Byrne, of New York, to a representative of The Journal of Commerce, "been seeking a uniform action at all points, and have been working in harmony with the appraiser at Chicago. What teas we have condemned have been shipped to Canada, and, to a great extent, were reimported via Chicago. By virtue of the provisions in the statute certain consignments are allowed to pass exterior ports and examined at the port of destination. This, in many cases, is radically wrong, because interior ports as a rule do not employ inspectors expert enough to examine teas. Some consignments of recent date are far too low to pass, and must necessarily be rejected.

"The tea inspectors claim that we are getting purer and better teas than we did thirty years ago. An inspector in the department said on Saturday: 'The law prohibits the importation of any teas for sale adulterated with spurious leaf, or with exhausted leaves, or which contains an admixture of chemical or other deleterious substance as to make it unfit for use. From every lot of tea imported a sample is taken by the examiner and tested. If it does not come up to the standard merchants are notified and they can then have the consignment re-examined by three experts, one for themselves, one for the Government and another that both may select. Their decision is final, and if they find the tea to be below the standard it must be exported. Such teas were formerly shipped to Canada and then smuggled back into the United States; but restrictive laws have recently been passed by Canada, similar to those in vogue in European countries and our own.'

"During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, about 34,000 cases, or more than 1,000,000 pounds of tea, were rejected at this port

"No one can tell from the looks of the tea whether it is good or bad. Two samples that look alike are entirely different. For instance, one may result in a light amber color, perfectly clear, with a delicious aroma, the grounds being composed of leaves clean and green. The other sample probably would result in a darker liquor, with a muddy sediment, with the grounds filled with black leaves, and smell like a decoction of dried herbs. The latter is exhausted tea leaves and leaves from other plants, filled with dirt and colored with a mixture of soapstone, Prussian blue and rice water paste.

"The exactness with which a tea expert can detect a grade of tea by test is wonderful, for, from a single drawing an expert can tell out of which case from among two hundred previously examined, and all different, it was taken.

"There is no difference in the leaf of green and black teas, the only difference being in the manufacture.

"The only way to stop importations of spurious tea is to outlaw them. The teas rejected are for the most part what are known as Pingsuey teas, which are grown in that part of China south of Shanghai, and called the Ningpoo country. The importers find no fault with the law, but that the inspectors are too strict in their enforcement of the law. The importers, by their right to have a rejected consignment re-examined, have by arbitration succeeded subsequently in having a large percentage of tea rejected by examiners passed by the Arbitration Committee. The inspectors say that if the present grade of importations continues, it will be a continual fight with the importers, but they are duty bound to reject teas that do not come up to the standard."

Dear Sir,—At different times I have made comparative tests of the different brands and makes of salt, for use in the manufacture of butter. Butter salt from the Windsor Salt Works is being used in our Dominion Dairy stations during the present season, and I find it to be the best salt for butter which I have ever tried. I find it pure, clean, and in the form of fine crystals of nearly uniform size, which dissolve readily and completely.

I am, yours very truly,

A QUESTION RE TARIFF.

A NEW YORK firm, signing itself "A. D. & Co.," writes as follows to The Journal of Commerce of that city :

"We shipped to P.P., Canada, in bond, one bale corks, value $98, and paid duty 20 per cent.—$19 60 P.P., could not get the bale without paying an additional duty on the value of the bale, as if it had been sold here after paying American duty. With this our bale shipped in bond paid in Canada two duties. Thinking it was wrong, we wrote first to the collector of the port, and later on to the Commissioner of Customs, Ottawa, Canada. The Commissioner answered us to-day 'that the Collector of Customs at the port of Canada was correct in assessing duty upon a value including the amount of the United States duty, which ordinarily would have been paid upon the goods if they had been sold for consumption in the United States, and that this principle is also recognized by the Government of the United States in fixing the values of goods purchased in bond in any foreign countries where duties on such goods are imposed.' If it is correct, then it is useless for us, the importers, to ship goods in bond, and we can consider the Canadian and other foreign markets closed, as the buyers cannot afford to pay two duties on goods and the same price as if they were sold in New York after paying American duty."

In reply, The Journal of Commerce says : "Some time ago we called attention, in this column, to the fact that goods shipped to Canada from a bonded warehouse in the United States were now required to pay duty on the 'duty paid fair market value for home consumption' in the United States, and not merely on value in bond, as formerly. The Canadian Commissioner of Customs is correct in saying that our Treasury Department has directed that duties be assessed upon the same system on goods imported into the United States. It should be noted, however, that when the question came before the Board of General Appraisers they decided adversely to the Treasury Department. An appeal from this decision was taken by the collector, and the question is now in the courts."

THE PRIZE TEA PACKAGE FAKIR.

Still in existence is the fakir with his prize packages of tea. He was in Winnipeg the other day, and we leave The Commercial of that city to tell the rest. In its issue of Dec. 17 it said :

"A gambling business in the tea line has just been suppressed in Winnipeg by the authorities. A concern called the Globe Tea Co. recently opened business in Winnipeg, and advertised that they would sell choice teas, giving a valuable present in every package. Gold watches, diamonds, etc., were among the presents advertised as to be found in the packages of tea The cans were sold at $1 each, and quite a business was done, until the authorities very properly dropped in and laid complaints of violation of the law regarding lotteries against the proprietors. The tea sold, which was advertised as something very choice, is said to be very inferior stuff."

NEW BACON-CURING PROCESS.

A recent issue of The Melbourne Leader contains some interesting particulars respecting a new process of bacon-curing, which is said to have been introduced into New Zealand by Mr. Vecht, the representative of an American meat company. We express no opinion on the matter, which is essentially one for the judgment of experts, but simply give the data as they have reached us through the medium of our Antipodean contemporary. We learn that the discoverer of the new process, the late Mr. William Oake, of Ulster, in the course of an experiment found that the antiseptic properties of salt were to be found in Nature apart from chloride of sodium (salt), and that the obnoxious effects of dissolving the albumen in the curing process could, therefore, be avoided. This is really the key to the new system of curing. By the new style of treatment the bacon and hams, although thoroughly cured with the very essence of salt, still retain all the albumen originally in the meat, and yet do not taste salty to the palate. The lean, instead of being a secondary consideration as under the old process, becomes at once the nutritious delicacy it was intended by Nature to be. By the new process the lean of the bacon cured remains soft and juicy, and natural in color. No chemicals are used. Mr. Vecht states the bacon is subjected to the antiseptic which in salt does the curing, but the product is absolutely free from any chemical whatever. The best proof of the value of the system is the fact that where the "mild cure" has been adopted the hams will keep for any length of time in any climate. A great deal of labor, it is said, is saved by the new process, while the article put on the market is declared to be much superior in taste and flavor and quality to bacon cured on the old system.

LAKE SHIPPING.

UPON the departure of the last grain fleet from port The Chicago Inter-Ocean reviews the lake navigation season. This year has been worse than last, and that was the worst year that had ever been experienced up to that time. There was a deficiency of grain to transport, the season opened a month too early for the interests of the vessel men, and rates went down beyond any precedent. The western movement of the milling trade increased the flour shipments, and the scraping up of iron ore off the surface of the ground with steam shovels increased the ore shipments. The average rate on corn from Chicago to Buffalo was 1.19c. per bushel, as compared with 1.43c. last year; the rate on ore from Chicago to Lake Erie ports was 46.12c. per ton, as against 56.16c., though the ore rate from Duluth was less than a cent below that of last year; the rate on coal from Buffalo to Duluth averaged 24.98c. per ton, as against 29.16c., while there was an increase of a little more than a cent a ton on coal from Buffalo to Chicago. The rate on corn did not go below one cent a bushel last year, but this year it touched three-quarters. The half million bushels of wheat sent to Ogdensburg is said to have been destined for New England for feeding purposes, and it is conjectured that 800,000 bushels of the wheat shipped to Buffalo and Erie was for feeding purposes, and in addition to this large quantities of "ground wheat" came east for feeding purposes.

For the year, compared with 1893, the flour shipments by lake show a large increase. From Chicago and South Chicago they amounted to 2,190,385 barrels, as against 1,472,060 in 1893; wheat fell off more than 5,000,000 bushels, which is over one-fourth; corn fell from 63,000,000 to 35,000,000 bushels, in round figures, and oat shipments fell about a third, 7,500,000 bushels.

The total shipments of iron ore by lake greatly exceeded those of last year, being 7,776,547 tons, against 5,880,918 in 1893 and 8,545,313 in 1892. Lumber shipments from Lake Superior increased, but from Lake Michigan, Green Bay and Lake Huron the business has been bad.

The lake lines are said to have done more business than ever before in carrying merchandise east and west. Never before were they such sharp competitors of the all-rail routes.

A few vessels have earned six or seven per cent. this year, but many have lost and many have earned little, and two per cent. is estimated as an average dividend. Better business is expected next year; ore shipments promise to be large, the vast quantities of wheat stored in Chicago will go east some time, and better general business in the spring is counted on. Two months of rates that a short time ago would have been thought very moderate would send orders to the lake shipyards for more steamers of 3,000 and 4,000 tons burden.
